AGGIE DOPE LOOKS GOOD

LOWMANITES WILL GIVE JAYHAWKERS HARDER FIGHT ON SATURDAY THAN DID DRAKE TEAM LAST SATURDAY.

TEAM HAS IMPROVED MUCH

Lowman Backfield is Equal of Any in Valley Aside from Nebraska—Can K. U. Circle the AggieEnds as Did Nebraska?

What's the dope on the game tomorrow? And the second most-universally heard question: Are you going to Lawrence tomorrow? And answering the latter first: You can bet your last sheckel on us. We're sure going to see that game. And the answer to the first queery:

Last Saturday, Kansas played Drake on Drake's home field and succeeded in being returned a winner, 32 to 7. Drake has but one old man on the team this year, a tackle and captain, Diltz. This man weighs 174 pounds and is by ten pounds the heaviest man in the front rank. Kansas made all her gain through the line.

Now stop to consider this fact. The Aggies are slightly better than Drake in two ways as far as the line goes. The Lowman tribe has three better men in the line and two or three other men who have played varsity ball before this season. The men also have more weight than the Drake bunch. Conclusion: It will be a trifle harder for the Jayhawkers to gain through the Lowman line.

Captain "Red" Agnew.

Next, pause to ponder over this side of the question. Kansas did not make any great amount of ground around the Drake ends, and moreover, they are both new to the game and according to parties who witnessed the fray, very inefficient in their playing. The Aggies have a fair little pair of ends. True, Nebraska hammered the off-tackle plays to death and shot play after play around the Lowman wings, but that was Nebraska. Can K. U. get away with it?

When it comes to backs, we'll put the Lowman backfield up against any, aside from Nebraska, in the conference. Haucke and Hartwig are good groundgainers. Enns is a little demon himself when it comes to making a few yards when badly needed. Captain Agnew's fighting and steady team-play stamps him, beyond the shadow of a doubt, the best man at his style of play, in the state. Of course the Lowmanites looked a little high schoolish in their interference work, compared with Stiehm's gang, but the other Valley teams will perhaps look as sheepish and probably more so.

And as each week's practise rolls by the team improves. Lessons are learned from every game. Improvement must be taken into consideration on the part of the Aggies in tomorrow's game with the Jayhawkers.

Archie Marble, Left Tackle.

CONDUCTS SOCIAL SURVEY.

Rev. Walter Burr is Doing Such Work at Barrett.

Rev. Walter Burr of the extension department is conducting a social and educational survey at Barrett, in Marshall county. Mr. Burr is co-operating with the Epworth League.

IS HOLDING MOVABLE SCHOOLS.

Great interest is being taken in the movable schools in domestic science being conducted by Miss Marion P. Broughton. Miss Broughton is dated up until the end of the term and already letters of inquiry are coming in concerning the work after the first of January. At each place where a movable school is held five lessons in cooking and five lessons in sewing are given.

Miss Frances L. Brown will have a movable school at Lost Springs beginning with November 2. Miss Broughten's schedule follows:

October 19, Belleplain; October 26, Marion, R. F. D.; November 2, Garfield; November 9, Beloit; November 16, Cawker City; November 30, Muscotah; December 7, Oswego, and December 14, Garnett.

TRY TO RANK VALLEY TEAMS

Dust from Saturday's Missouri Valley football games has settled and the dopsters already are figuring the relative strength of the leading teams

Nebraska to the Front.

Nebraska's great work against the Kansas Aggies brought Coach Steihm's eleven to the front. Nebraska got a slow start this season but its showing Saturday indicated wonderful progress. Several University students saw the smearing of the Aggies and say the Cornhusker backfield will be hard to stop. The Nebraskans are all big, evenly balanced men who have team work down to a fine point. Their wide end runs with perfect interference made the Aggies bite the dust throughout the game.

Oklahoma Works Forward Pass.

Oklahoma is another team which promises to come to the front this season. The Sooners are not in this Valley conference, but they play several games with Valley teams. Oklahoma had little trouble defeating Missouri 13 to 0. Their backfield is swift and the Sooners are said to work wonders with the forward pass.

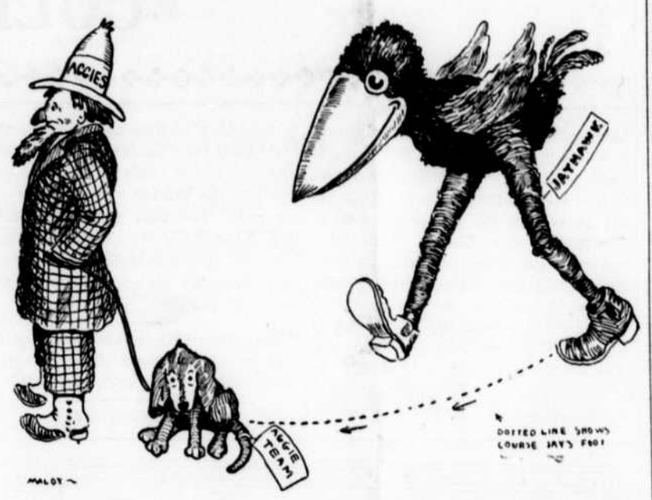

Drake Out of the Fight.

Drake was eliminated from the running by Kansas Saturday and the Cornhuskers blighted Aggie hopes the same day. Washburn was forced to take medicine from Nebraska early in the season. Washington is weak this year and Ames will not be a title aspirant.

Too Bad, Missouri!

Missouri's season has been a disappointment to the Tiger rooters. Rolla and Oklahoma have both stepped on the Tiger's tail. Dopsters do not expect the Tigers to lay down, however, but are looking for a rversal in form and expect a well polished team when Missouri meets Kansas at Lawrence this year.

JAYHAWKERS ARE CRIPPLED

LINDSEY AND REBER ARE OUT

Stryker at Full and Gray or Craig at Half will Complete a Strong Backfield—Russell or Wood Will do the Kicking.

Lawrence, Kan., Oct. 22.—A bunch of cripples met Coach Bond at practise yesterday afternoon and the Jayhawker outlook for the game against the Aggies is not as promising as it was immediately after the Drake game. Lindsey, the Kansas punter, is on crutches today, nursing a badly wrenched knee. There is little chance of Lindsey entering the Aggie game Saturday and he may be kept out of the Oklahoma battle a week later. Bonnie Reber, the big Kansas end, injured an ankle at Des Moines and may be laid up Saturday. Coolidge and Detwiler developed "charley horses" and Gray has an injured leg. Most of the crips will recover in time for Saturday's game, but Lindsey and Reber will probably watch the game from the sidelines.

In spite of the cripples, Kansas will present a strong line-up when the Farmers invade Lawrence, Saturday. Detwiler is back in the game and worked well against the Drake Bulldogs. Stryker at full and Gray or Craig at half will complete a strong backfield. Russell or Wood will kick while Lindsey is on the sidelines. The Jayhawker line was strengthened by sending Coolidge to end. Heath or Fiske will replace Reber and the rest of the forwards will be the same.

Kansas surprised itself by walloping Drake and the victory has filled Wheaton's men with confidence. The Jayhawker rooters expect to defeat the Aggies Saturday, but as Coach Wheaton says before every game, "We will be satisfied to win by a touchdown."

Earl H. Martin, '12, holds the position of director of agriculture in the schools of Nashwauk, Minn.

AGGIES TROUNCED KANSAS

BUT IT HAPPENED IN 1906

Down on the Old Gridiron Where the Bluemont Public School Building Now Stands—Tide of Battle Turned and Aggies Won 6 to 3.

(By E. H. Smith.)

For many years back, no one cared to remember the exact number, a confident, much-hobbled, and vain strutting bird, dubbed in collegiate circles Jayhawker repeatedly sank his football spurs into the flesh of the Kansas Aggies. But the worm in this case as ever, eventually turned, and the exact date of its turning was the year of Nineteen Hundred and Six, A. D.

It was down on the old gridiron where the Bluemont public school now stands. "Sammy" Forter, the greatest dropkicker the West has ever seen, had negotiated a perfect 55-yarder between the Aggies' goal posts in the first half and the score stood as it had many times before 3 to 0, or worse, against the Manhattanites. The elevens were evenly matched. The work of the two lines was a sight to remember. First one way, then the other, fluctuated the tide of battle. Neither set of forwards could claim honors above the other. The University team had the weight, especially in the rear rank, while the Aggies had that ever indomitable spirit to do or die. Mallon on one side, "Buster" Cave at fullback, and Sholtz on the left hand seat of the throne, had been fighting a battle against great odds, odds that were measured only by the greatness of "Sammy" Forter's superb kicking pedal.

And it came to pass that in the heat of the fray of the second chapter Kansas held the ball in mid-field and the great and peerless Forter was called upon to add three points to the K. U. score via the drop-kick route. Cave playing safety position dropped back behind his goal praying that the kick might go wide, hoping against great odds that he might have the privilege of returning the ball a few yards at least. Mallon and Sholtz played wide in defense. The crowd drew a short breath and refrained emitting same.

Forter dropped back to his customary position, signaled for the pass and backward spiraled the oval, as neat a pass as was possible. A momentary hesitation, a downward drop of the ball, a dull thud as Forter's boot caught the seam and the ball as footballs many times do, failed for once to respond. The peerless Forter "had struck out." Smack against a K. U. player's back crashed the oval, back toward the Jayhawk bird's goal it bounded. And on came the flying Mallon, into his anxious arms flopped the once unillusive pigskin. But for want of having seen the run we had best permit "Buster" Cave finish this little tale.

"I never in all my life," says Buster, 'have seen a man apparently stand still and yet cover up the ground so fast. Mallon's knees bobbed high, he seemed to be running all in one spot, and before I could grasp the meaning of it all the crowd was surging across the side lines and I knew it was all over but the shouting. The goal kick was easy as was the rest of the game for the Kansans, although playing desperately all the way, were dazed by the suddenness of the turn of the tide, and before any of us realized the fact, the final whistle blew and in the year Nineteen Hundred and Six A. D., it was recorded on the books that the Kansas Aggies had defeated Kansas University by a final count of 6 to 3."

Henley Haymaker, Quarterback.

OFF FOR JAYHAWKER CAMP

"Hail! Hail!! Hail!!! The gang's all here; so what the what do we care; so what the what do we care; will be chief melody of a train load of Aggie rooters that leaves Union Pacific depot, Lawrence bound, at 9:30 tomorrow morning. The team and band will make the K. U. trip on the same train. Anxiety to pluck a few feathers from the proud and haughty Jayhawk bird is the primary cause of it all.

Arrangements have been made by the Kansas athletic management to reserve special sections of the McCook Field stands for the Aggie rooters and band. Every Aggie rooter should place special stress on being in these sections.

Hartwig, Fullback.

CELEBRATE PRINTING INVENTION

Guttenberg's Discovery Will be Honored by The Quill.

Sometime during November, the Quill of K. S. A. C. will hold a banquet in honor of Guttenberg, the Father of Printing. A program on the subject will be followed by a banquet down town. Johannes Guttenberg, a German living at Mainz, invented the present system of printing with movable types sometime between 1438-1450, and several copies of the pope's "Indulgences" remain today as samples of his work. The Quill celebrates Guttenberg's birthday as being symbolical of a great revolution in the history of literature.

SEND BAND TO LAWRENCE

Are you doing your part toward sending the band to Lawrence with the team tomorrow? We all know how the music helps at the games here; how it stirs up enthusiasm, and gives swing and "pep" to both team and rooters. Then how much more good it can do away from home. It can take away much of that "stranger in a strange lyand" feeling from the team. They will do better playing as a result of the inspiration given by the feeling—perhaps only sub-conscious, but present—that through it all their own old College band is over there on the bleachers; that its interest and above all its loyalty are with them throughout the game.

About a thousand tags have been sold, but it is not enough. The tag sellers are doing their part. Let's all help, and send the best band in the state to Lawrence.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1914.

LOYAL ROOTERS.

Every football team wants loyal rooters to support it, but such support as the Aggie team received at the hands of the rooters at the Nebraska-Aggie game on Saturday was worse than none. In short, it was not only a disgrace to the team and the College, but even to the word sportsmanship.

Such rooting can not be classed as coming from a bunch of students who wanted to see clean sport. It can only be classed with rowdyism and unsportsmanship. If you can not be a gentleman in your support of the home team, then it would be better to remain unheard from.

What an impression the Nebraska team and following must have taken back to Lincoln with them! From Saturday's demonstration they would be led to believe that sportsmanship does not exist at the Kansas Agricultural College.

EVERLASTING LIFE.

He that heareth my word, and believeth on Him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life.—St. John 5, 24.

TO LAWRENCE.

Saturday morning the football team, accompanied by a large bunch of Aggie rooters, will leave for the camp of the Jayhawkers. The game is going to be a hard fought one and the loyal support of every rooter is needed. Loyal support, the kind which keeps the pep ball on the bounce all the time is wanted. Don't take on a long face and say that the game is over when the Kansans cover a little ground. Keep yelling, even though the game isn't going just like you would like to see it go. And make up your mind before you ever get aboard the special that you are going to be a real sport and show people that you can be a good loser when you have to. Let's not stand for any such demonstrations as were pulled off at the Nebraska game.

We are all good winners but how small a number of us are really good losers. You know it takes grit and courage to keep up a bold face when the team is losing. Let's show the people of the university town not only that we know how to win, but that we are unsurpassed as losers.

'Tis looking downward makes one dizzy.—Browning.

JUST CRITICISM.

'An article appeared in the Kansas City Star Tuesday night criticising with ungloved hands the conduct of the Aggie rooters at the Nebraska-Aggie football game on Saturday. The criticism was just—no one will deny it. It is to be lamented, however, that such an article concerning the sportmanship at the Kansas Agricultural College should have gone out over the state. We do not believe that the spirit shown Saturday is emblematic of that fostered at this institution. The article undoubtedly will do harm to the College and it will be a long time before the rooters can set themselves at rights, if they can.

THE LITERARY TRAWLER.

I have vowed to Almighty God that after the example of my forefathers, I will be a just and clement chief to my people; that I will foster pity and the fear of God, and that I will protect the peace and promote the welfare of the country; be helpful to the poor and distressed, and a true guardian of the right.—The Kaiser.

The Kansas Aggie cheer-leaders will have the opportunity to make good with the writer of the article which appeared in the Tuesday edition of the Kansas City Star, upbraiding them for their unsportsmanlike conduct at the Nebraska game last Saturday on College Field, when they lead the Aggie rooters at Lawrence tomorrow. The writer of that article will referee the K. U.-Aggie game and will certainly keep an eye open for further openings for criticism. It is up to the cheer-leaders to make good and we are sure the rooters will all be in there pulling for them to do so.—E. H. S.

ARMY GOSSIP.
H. B. Dudley.

The first shipment of the new uniforms has been received at the commandant's office. They are satisfactory in every way and have been accepted by the commandant. The other shipments should arrive each day until all are received.

There have been many inquiries concerning the way in which the profits of the United States Marine Band concert will be spent. All that is made clear, will go toward the building of an indoor rifle range in the Armory. This range will accomodate more men and will be of a greater distance than the present range. The new range is to be built over the gymnasium floor in such a way that it will not interfere with any department of athletics. It will be built on the girders of the Armory. At present there are no indoor ranges of this sort in the West. With this equipment we should be able to rank up well in the National Rifle Association shoots that will be held this winter. At present the old range is being used to practice on by all members of the rifle club that wishes to do so. There have been several good scores made so far by the men and it is the wish of the commandant that everybody who has any interest along this line would apply to the commandant for the indoor range keys and try out. The men should remember that there are three cups offered each year by the department to the men that make the highest scores on either of the ranges.

Corporals will be appointed by the officers at the next drill period or upon orders from the commandant.

OLD FOOTBALL WAS FOOTBALL.

Some think the football of the present is rather vigorous but it seems to be tame compared with the game of former years, comments the Daily Kansan. The "Old Grad" in an article in last Sunday's Kansas City Star emphasizes the fact that K. U. students of a decade ago played "real football."

"Did we play football?" he asked. "Doubtless you are too young to remember it, but ten years ago we played football at K. U. in a way which makes your present milksop, hybrid basket-ball variety of sport look like tiddledewinks. Did we play football? Just get out a few old annuals and look up the scores. We played real football at K. U. in those days."

INTERCLASS FOOTBALL STARTS.

First Contest Will Be Between Juniors and Seniors November 7.

Interclass football workouts have begun and the first contest of the schedule between the juniors and seniors will be played November 7. Numerals will be awarded to 16 players on each class team providing the men have played at least two twelve-minute periods of a scheduled contest. The following is the schedule:

November 7—Juniors vs. Seniors.

November 7—Sophomores vs. Freshmen.

November 13—Sophomores vs. Seniors.

November 13—Juniors vs. Freshmen.

November 20—Seniors vs. Freshmen.

November 21—Juniors vs. Sophomores.

JAYHAWKERS SURPRISE INDIANS

Coach Wheaton sprinkled a few new plays into the Jayhawker squad at practice Tuesday afternoon and when Bert Kennedy brought out his Haskell Indians, the Kansans showed them a few surprises. The Varsity used a shift play and worked several good passes. However, most of the ground was gained by end runs and line bucks.

Lindsey was unable to be out yesterday but Coach Wheaton and Wood punted before scrimmage while the line charged the kicks.

The Indians came to McCook about 4:30 o'clock and scrimmaged until dark. Kansas took the ball first and scored several touchdowns on the Redskins. Kennedy's line tightened after the third touchdown and the Jayhawkers made slow progress. When the Indians took the ball they found the Kansas line hard to pierce but continued hammering brought results.

START BASKETBALL WORKOUTS.

Six K Men Will Meet Coach Merner Monday to Arrange Practice.

Basketball workouts will begin in Nichols gym next Monday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. Captain E. C. Jones and Coach Merner will meet the men for the first time and discuss the rules and arrange for the workouts.

With at least 15 old men back the 1915 team should be a winner. Last season's five finished the season in second place in the conference race, K. U. nabbing the top position.

Much new material from the last season's freshman squad will add greatly to the strength of the team. Coach Merner wishes to emphasize the fact that there is plenty of room on the squad for tyros and wishes that all interested in the indoor game would turn out for the initial workout.

Captain Jones, Thomas, McIlrath, Leonard, Bengston, and Adams are the six K men out for the team. Jones is the only guard in the bunch. Thomas, McIlrath, and Leonard, won their letters last season playing the center position. Bengston and Adams are forwards. McMillan, Shelly, Russell, Gunning, and Ramsey, are other candidates for guard positions. Johnson, Reynolds, and Green, played in the forward positions on last season's freshman team and will try out for this year's varsity.

Head-Coach Lowman has not announced the 1915 basketball schedule as it will not be approved until the Missouri Valley heads meet to make the final arrangements and choose the officials for the season's battles. The Aggies have a running start on the coming season already with this prime bunch of basketeers to pick the varsity five from, and should give any school in the conference a good run for first honors in the clique.

INSTITUTE SCHEDULE COMPLETE.

Three Hundred Sessions Will be Held Before the New Year.

The institute schedule of all sessions to be held before Christmas has been practically completed. During November a series of seventy-five institutes will be visited by at least two lecturers from the College. In December one hundred will be held. Approximately three hundred sessions will have been held before the new year.

BLEACHERS FALL, INJURE THREE

Three persons were injured, and a score were bruised, when a section of the College bleachers fell during the Baker-College game yesterday afternoon, says College Life of Emporia. The seriously injured are:

Miss Alice Underwood, bruised, about the back and spine.

Miss Sara Charles, sprained ankle.

Miss Beulah Altman, sprained wrist.

The stand collapsed during the second half of the game. The section was located in midway of the college bleachers on the west side of College field and was occupied for the most part by college rooters. About forty persons were on the stand.

According to those near the stand, the fall did not come with any sudden movement on the part of the crowd in the bleachers. The stand fell backwards, and many persons were carried free by the direction of the fall. Nearly all of the occupants of the stand were women.

Miss Underwood and Miss Charles were taken to the hospital in the girls' dormitory. It was said late last night that the condition of Miss Underwood was not dangerous. Miss Altman was taken to her home on College Hill.

According to persons near the stand the accident was caused by insufficient supports under the stand. The bleachers were part of a section built so as to be torn down, and moved into the gymnasium during the basket ball season. They were built of two inch planking, with planking braces.

HELD A SPECIAL CHAPEL.

Margaret Hill McCarter was the speaker at a special chapel held yesterday morning in the Auditorium. An exception to the rule of no Thursday chapel services was made in honor of her presence at the College. The attendance was unusually large.

The short talk made by this noted Kansas writer was well adapted to her audience. She spoke of the opportunities open to the young people of today and of the increasing demand for energetic, intelligent, trained workmen; for the ones who can do things. She ascribed the leading position held by our nation today to the character of the people; and the leading position held by Kansas in the nation to the character of Kansas people.

"Not all can be leaders," said Mrs. McCarter, in closing, "but the worth of each one to the commonwealth is none the less great. * * * * * * * Above a cabinet in the state house at Topeka containing the flags of all the Kansas regiments there is an inscription, which reads, 'These are the flags of those who made history, and left a record of unfailing glory.' Each of us—though unrenowned—can help to make history and leave a record of unfailing glory, by doing to the very best of our ability those tasks that are ours to do."

VOLUME 21. NUMBER 13. KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1914. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

CLASS BOOK STAFF IS BUSY

W. N. SKOURUP, EDITOR, AND W. J. LOOMIS, MANAGER, HAVE BEEN COLLECTING MATERIAL FOR THE BOOK DURING SUMMER.

IS ROYAL PURPLE VOLUME 7

Class Book This Year Will Have Three Styles Styles of Binding—Snapshots Will Have an Important Place—Contracts Have Been Let.

Royal Purple, Volume Seven, will be the best book ever published by a senior class of the Kansas Agricultural College, decided the class book committee at its meeting last week when it laid plans for putting out this year's annual. W. J. Loomis, manager, and W. N. Skourup, editor, have been working during the summer making preparations and gathering material for the book.

This year the book will be made with three styles of binding. An attractive De Luxe edition with Spanish sheep skin binding will be given exclusively to the members of the senior class. The book with black Morocco leather binding will be sold for $2.50, and the one with cloth binding will sell at $2.00. The book will consist of 456 pages and will be printed on Dominion paper. The fly sheets will be made of Suisse Keith's Onyx paper.

The senior class has voted an assessment of $11.00 to be paid by each senior to the class book committee. This assessment is $1.00 more than last year because the dollar which has heretofore been paid to the photographer will now be paid directly to the committee, enabling the editor to demand uniform and better pictures. This will be necessary to insure the best engravings. The senior pictures should be taken as soon as possible and not later than Thanksgiving.

Snapshots will take an important part in Volume Seven of Royal Purple. The films should be handed in whenever possible as they will be more satisfactory than the prints. Snapshots can be given to C. W. Shaver, W. J. Loomis, or W. N. Skourup.

The contract for the engraving work of Volume Seven has been given to the Electric City Engraving company of Buffalo, N. Y. This company makes a specialty of doing engraving work for the leading colleges and universities of the United States. The printing will be done by the Union Bank Note company of Kansas City, Mo.

The class book committee requests the cooperation and support of the faculty, alumni, and student body in their effort to put out the best college annual in the middle west.

AGGIES WERE OUTCLASSED

(By E. H. Smith.)

Statistics of last Saturday's football game between the Aggies and the University of Kansas eleven at Lawrence, show that the Lowman warriors drew the largest in one lone column, the penalty column, therefore the Wheaton eleven won; the final count being one point more than that piled up by the Mosse Kansas eleven on College Field last year, 27 to 0. To say that the Aggies were outclassed is hardly putting it right. The Aggies simply never had a lookin in the contest. Through the Aggie line, or around its ends, and when these failed, kicks from placement, gained the necessary pointage for the Lawrence team.

The Kansas team was many pounds heavier than the Lowman eleven. Their backfield worked more nearly in unit fashion than did the Aggies. The best groundgainer for the Lawrence eleven was a modified Dartmouth shift formation. In this play the line spread from the guards out, to shift the defense of the opposing eleven and the backs lined two deep back of the guards. The runner took the ball on a direct pass and made for any hole through which the possibility of a gain appeared.

As the Kansas forwards were more powerful on offense than the Aggies were in defensive tactics, this play proved a great groundgainer for the Lawrence aggregation. Coleman, Graig, and Detwiler tore off many yards on this play, and Wood, the shifty little Kansas pilot, was a demon at carrying the ball both on returning punts and from snap-back.

Neither team was able to handle the forward pass successfully. Each side broke the play in twain for the opposing team and several nice gains were registered on intercepted passes. On one such came the Lowman elevens nearest chance to a score. Hartwig pulled down an aerial shot from Russell, and raced up the north side-line only to be downed on the Kansas team's 30-yard line following which the ball was lost on downs.

Haymaker kicked for the Aggies and staged some pretty boot work, but it availed nothing, for the Kansas eleven returned the major portion of the kicks for almost as long a distance as the kick itself went. Haymaker's average was 39 yards and that of the Kansas kickers, a trifle less than 35. Kansas attempted eight forward passes and failed on all while the Aggies failed on 12 attempts to gain by this method. K. U. made 18 first downs from scrimmage to five for the Lowmanites.

Many who saw the Aggies work against the Nebraskans the Saturday before said that the Lowmanites did not drive as hard against the K. U. team. Certainly, the Kansans did not play the hard game that the Cornhuskers evidenced when they appeared on the local field. The Kansas team did not stage the hard, fierce, tackling that characterized that style of play with the Nebraskans. The Wheaton eleven appeared better than the Steihm Roller in but one place and that at quarter, where the clever Woods played Saturday. The Cornhusker system will about level this player to the hospital lists though if such a thing becomes necessary.

As said before, the Aggies did not appear to have the drive at all, against the Kansans. The backfield seemed to be trying hard enough but every attempt was smothered effectually by the Kansas defense. Enns played well while in the game, but neither Haucke nor Hartwig stood out prominently. Captain Agnew was too handicapped by injuries, received in the Nebraska game, to gain consistently although he played a game battle while he lasted. Marble was good on offense and was the best groundgainer for the Lowmanites, on the defense neither he nor any of the linemen looked like stars. The summary:

FIRST QUARTER.

The Aggies won the toss and chose to kick west on McCook Field. Agnew kicked off 43 yards to Reber who returned to the Aggies' 20-yard line. Graig mad 4 and Detwiler 5, and Craig came back for first downs putting the ball inside the Aggies 10-yard line. Detwiler made 4 on split play and Craig hit the line for 3 more and Detwiler went over for the touchdown. Strothers missed the goal. Time 3 minutes. Score: Aggies 0, K. U. 6.

Strothers kicked off to Hartwig 45 yards and Hartwig came back 5. Haymaker failed to gain, and Enns made 1 through the line. Marble swung around for a gain of 1 yard, and Haymaker punted 25 yards to no return. Craig hit the Aggie line for 2 yards, and Detwiler failed to gain. Russell kicked 36 yards to Haymaker who came back 5. Enns made 4 off-tackle, and Agnew gained 3 more. Haymaker made a pair. Haymaker punted 35 yards to Russell who came back 3. Kansas ball on Kansas 38-yard line. Russell lost 5 yards when Barnard threw him and Russell punted out of bounds 35 yards. Agnew made 5 on a shift play and Enns hit the line for 4 yards. Marble pulled 7 on a tackle swing and Haymaker fumbled the oval and some fortunate Aggie recovered, the fumble costing the Aggies 3 yards. Hartwig hit the line for 4 yards and Marble gained 3 on a tackle swing. Haymaker was forced to kick 45 yards to Russell. Kansas ball on K. U. 20-yard line. Russell reversed and kicked 36 yards to Agnew who failed to run it back. Enns plowed through the line 4 yards and Hartwig fumbled the ball to K. U. on the Kansas 45-yard line. Craig made first down on the initial play and Detwiler plowed through the Aggie line for a second first and ten only to be set back five for offsides play. Detwiler was held and Craig made 2 through the line. From here Strothers failed to score on a 32-yard place kick the ball going to the Aggies on their 20-yard line. Haymaker fumbled and recovered on the 20-yard line and Marble made 5 on a swing play. Haymaker kicked 39 yards on the next play and Craig failed to return. Craig hit the line 3 yards and Russell failed. Craig came back for 4 more around the right wing and Russell punted 30 yards to no return by Haymaker. Enns failed and came back for 1 around right end. A CRY FOR HELP.

I beg you in your happy, safe America to deny yourself a cigar, a theater seat and an extra hat and hurry us to help them. Ten cents will buy a child ten rolls of bread. Fifty cents will cover little feet which nevr again will b carrssd by a mothr. A dollar will buy a shawl for a widow. Give, give, I beg of your generous hearts. America has led the world in charity for less worthy causes. Compassion knows no nationality. Pity blesses the giver and the poor. You mothers, when you tuck your children safely into bed at night, remember these little beings reared in no less care and luxury, who are adrift in a world which has used them ill. The aged, too, like older children, having lived, have earned rest before death, yet they, too are cast out from homes, knowing nothing of where dear ones are, their sons at the front fighting the enemy which has destroyed them for honor's sake.

All Europe is one great slaughter house. Paris no longer can send us money from our bank accounts and could you see this tragic procession file out from beneath St. Malo's Eleventh Century gates, all one's wealth is not enough to heal their broken hearts and bodies.

In the name of pity and human sympathy, I implore your aid, for America is the only place which we can turn to now. Dry these tears. Comfort these children. Will you give? Of course you will give, quickly, before the tide of suffering swamps our powers to compete with it.—From "A Letter From France" by Nina Larrey Duryea, published in Life.

GAMBLE CONCERT IS FRIDAY

ERNEST GAMBLE CONCERT PARTY WILL BE HEARD IN THE AUDITORIUM FRIDAL EVENING—ORGANIZATION RANKS HIGH.

IS SECOND LYCEUM NUMBER

The Party is Composed of Ernest Gamble, Basso cantante, Miss Verna Leone Page, Violinist, and Miss Aline Kuhn, Pianist.

The second number of the Society Lyceum course will be given Friday evening by the Ernest Gamble Concert Party. The members are: Ernest Gamble, basso cantante; Miss Verna Leone Page, violinist; and Miss Aline Kuhn, pianist.

This company is small in numbers but it holds a very high rank among musical organizations. Each member is chosen for individual merit and for artistic value to the program as a whole. Each is a product of the greatest European masters, and they present an ideal combination of violin, voice, and piano.

Ernest Gamble, the basso cantante, has achieved a position among the foremost concert singers. He has filled over two thousand engagements. To a voice of wonderful depth and richness, he adds a charm of manner and a personal magnetism that always secure the support of his audience.

Miss Verna Leone Page, concert violinist of the Gamble Concert Party, is one of the few women violinists who has achieved a great popularity with the public. Her playing has a charm and sympathy that reaches the heart, and it is this personal note in her work that is the secret of her invariable success.

Miss Aline Kuhn, pianist, is gifted with a fine musical perception. To this she has added a brilliancy of technique that is highly effective.

MARINE BAND GAVE CONCERT.

The Marine Band gave a concert in the auditorium Friday evening. This is a musical organization of an unusual type comprising exceptional talent. The two features of the evening were the playing of the flute soloist, Robert E. Seel, and the rendition of "Aggie Loyalty" composed by Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Ackert.

The band came under a $600 guarantee and it was amply worth the money. The attendance was large and all expressed pleasure at teh privilege of hearing a band of this nature.

Algene Smith, the son of Librarian A. B. Smith, has a broken arm, the result of an accident while at play.

TO HOLD LIVE STOCK SHOW

WILL EXHIBIT COLLEGE STOCK

Purpose is to Advertise the College and Animal Husbandry Department. Breeders from Over the State Will Judge the Stock.

A minature International stock show will be held by the Jawhaker Saddle and Sirloin club in the new barn north of the campus on Friday, November 6th. The purpose of holding such a show is to advertise the College and the animal husbandry department, and give the students of this institution a chance to see the show stock owned by the College.

The regular show stock of the College which will later be shipped to the International held at Chicago and the American Royal held at Kansas City, will be displayed. This will include classes of hogs, sheep, cattle, and horses. Breeders from all over the state will do the judging and will make the awards.

A general admission of 25 cents will be charged. During the afternoon stunts will be pulled off showing the advantages of breeding good livestock. Although similar shows are held at other colleges this will be the first one to take place here. It is hoped that it will create an added interest in the animal husbandry department.

MAKE STATE INSTITUTE PLANS.

Plans are now being made for the State Farmers' Institute to be held at the College from December 28, 1914 to January 1, 1915.

A number of associations including the Swine Breeders,' the Dairy Producers,' the Crop Improvement, and the Poultry Federation will meet during the week, and their programs will be given a prominent place.

Special programs for the boys and girls are to be given each afternoon. The mornings will be devoted to regular class work, as is customary. In addition to this, an advanced course will be offered giving the results of recent experimental work.

This course will be conducted by the departments of animal husbandry, dairying, agronomy, and others. It is intended particularly for county agricultural agents, alumni, and progressive farmers who have made a study of the sicence of farming.

Mrs. C. R. Burnham, of Kansas City, visited her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Burnham, last week.

The Gamble Concert Party Comes to the Auditorium Friday Eevening.

MAY TWIST TIGERS' TAIL

The Kansas Aggies will present a ragged lineup in the Missouri game at Columbia next Saturday afternoon. Injuries to Captain Agnew and "Nick" Enns handicap the worthiness of these players to such extent that the Aggies may be minus their services. Captain Agnew has not been permitted to share the whole of either of the last two gridiron battles with his team. Coach Lowman will take a squad of 18 men, leaving Manhattan via the Rock Island roadroad Friday noon.

From advance dope the Aggies stand a goodly chance of winning from the Tigers. Missouri has dropped three battles of the four played this season. First to the Rollo Miners, second to Owen's Oklahomans, and lastly to the Ames Aggies at Columbia last Saturday. Just where the weakness of the Missourians lies, the Aggies have yet to determine.

Coach Lowman announced today that the Colorado game had been cancelled owing to a conflict arising with the Utah team on the Colorado schedule. The Utah game is the big battle for the Coloradoans and they persuaded Coach Lowman to shift the 1914 game into the 1915 schedule. The game with the Oklahomans scheduled for Saturday afternoon, October 31, has been set ahead a day, Friday, October 30, to permit the Manhattan townspeople to see Bennie Owen's eleven battle with the Lowmanites. This shift should meet the hearty approval of the business men of Manhattan and turn out a huge crowd to overbalance an already huge deficit in the athletic board's coffers.

SIXTY MEN OUT FOR BASKETBALL

That Many Turn Out at Lawrence for First Practice.

Nearly sixty men were out in suits for the first basketball practice of the season Tuesday night in Robinson gymnasium. Of this number only twenty-five announced themselves as seeking places on the Varsity five.

After dividing the Varsity and freshman squads into three smaller squads, Coach Hamilton had the men practice dribbling and goal shooting. A practice game between the quintet of freshmen scrubs and the Varsity was played. The old College five were also given a chance to line up against the freshmen.

Nearly all of last year's veterans were out in suits including Captain "Stuffy" Dunmire, Sproull, Weaver, and Folks. The next practice will be held tomorrow night.

FROSH "WANTA BE LOOKED AT."

The freshman class will have a double page group picture in the Jayhawker this year if their campaign which started Tuesday carries through says the University Daily Kansan.

The Jayhawker has made an offer to the classes to run large group pictures of each class if the classes will pay the cost. The Freshmen are the first class to take the matter up and a committe will start to work collecting twenty-five cents from each member of the class who wants to see his likeness in the annual.

FAIRMOUNT HAS NEW PRESIDENT

Dr. Rollins Becomes Head of Wichita School—Is From Iowa.

Dr. W. Rollins, the successor to Dr. Thayer as president of Fairmount College, is now in Wichita and has taken up his new duties. Dr. Rollins comes from Waterloo, Iowa, at which place he was pastor of the largest Congregational church in that state. He received his degree at Dartmouth and since that time has been engaged in religious work. Dr. Rollins has always been a friend of young people and will doubtless make a good college president.

TEAM TOOK SECOND PLACE

DAIRY JUDGING TEAM REPRESENTING KANSAS AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE AT THE NATIONAL DAIRY SHOW, CHICAGO WINS.

16 COLLEGES REPRESENTED

Ohio Won First Place—Team Brought Back Two Silver Loving Cups and a Gold Medal—Took First Judging Ayrshire Class.

The dairy judging team representing the Kansas Agricultural College took second place in the students' cattle judging contests of the National Dairy show held in Chicago, awards of which were announced Saturday. The team is composed of James Linn of Manhattan, Victor Stuewe of Alma, A. W. Aicher, of Manhattan, and W. S. Morrow of Kansas City, alternate.

The Ohio state university headed the list of sixteen state schools with 3,748 3-4 points out of a possible 4,800. The Kansas Agricultural College was second with 3,619 1-2 points, the University of Maine third with 3,556 1-4 points, and the team from Missouri, which won the last two contests and two scholarships, was fourth with a score of 3,504.

The team representing this College was first in judging of Ayrshires. Jas. W. Linn was third in the judging of this breed. In the Guernsey class, Louis C. Aicher was third in placing his judgment on this breed.

The competition was close this year, thus accounting for the fact that none of the team were successful in winning scholarships. Four $400 scholarships were awarded, the first one to the man winning first on Holsteins, the second scholarship to the man winning first on Jerseys, the third to sweepstakes man, and the fourth to the sweepstakes team. A man from Maine won the Holstein scholarship, the other three being won by the Ohio team. The work of the men in the individual contest was closely contested. Victor F. Stuewe won fourth in the individual contest.

Although the team did not secure any of the scholarships offered, it did bring back with it two silver loving cups, one gold medal, and several minor prizes. The team had an enjoyable trip and visited a number of famous dairy herds in Iowa and Wisconsin, including the famous Holstein herd of W. J. Gillett at Rosendale, Wis. Other visits were made at Fon du Lac, Waukesha, Oconomowoc, Whitefish Bay, and Milwaukee. The team was accompanied on the trip by J. B. Fitch, instructor of dairying.

NOT SATISFIED WITH CHEERING.

Kansas Cheerleader Says They Were Out-Yelled by the Aggies.

The University Daily Kansan says that Cheerleader Jo Berwick is not satisfied with the yelling of his rooters. "We need more yells," says Berwick, 'and new yells." The Aggies out yelled us at Saturday's game. They had more, and with the exception of Rock Chalk, better yells than we."

Berwick asks students to submit new yells to him at 1330 Ohio or leave them at the Daily Kansan office. They will then be tried out Friday at a pep meeting.

That Kansas students have pep to demonstrate was shown by the Friday morning rally and that of the evening.

At that time four hundred students bubbling over with pep, met at Fraser Hall Friday evening and started the enthusiasm that helped win the Aggie game Saturday. The band playing "Boola Boola" as the students gathered in the chapel had much to do, no doubt, in putting the "pep" in evening.

The first speaker was Chancellor Strong, who pleaded for unity among the students, cheerleader, and the faculty. Other speakers were: Captain Detwiler, Coach Hamilton, Uncle Jimmy Green and Cheerleader Berwick's talk was a plea for clean cheering, which showed its effect at the game Saturday.

The agricultural committee from the Kansas Bankers Association will meet at the College Thursday afternoon and evening.

Clarence E. Reid of the engineering department went to Arkansas City Thursday to deliver a paper before the Kansas Gas and Electric Light association.

To have joy one must share it. Happiness was born a twin.—Byron.

IDEAS.

It is the person with ideas who succeeds. Most anyone can be a machine, it is a mere matter of practice. How few there are, though, who have ideas, suggestions which can be used in the business world, in the world of literature, art, politics, or in the world of industry.

To the man of ideas the world is ready to bow. He it is who can revolutionize an industry, startle the world of literature and art with his productions, reform politics, and overthrow the much aired theories of science. Notice the successful men of today. Watch carefully the leaders in the various lines of business, of art, science, literature, education, politics, and industry. Invariably you will find them men of ideas, men of originality, men of initiative. It is the man who thinks just a little ahead of the other fellow, who lies awake nights working out a new theory in science, who grows brain-weary working out an idea into a practical invention, who has the initiative to step out and stand for some reform in politics—it is these men whom we find at the top of the ladder.

Now, while we are securing our education, while we are preparing ourselves for contact with the outer world, is the time for us to get into the habit of trying out our ideas. But first, of course, we must have ideas to try out. If we do good solid work, think hard and long, and develop our brain power while we have the chance the ideas will come. And once we have the ideas don't think that the world will not give us a chance to try them out. Every line of business activity, each form of industry, in fact the whole world is looking for men and women with practical ideas. While we have the chance to attend a practical institution, let's fill our brain cells, as we would a store house, with practical ideas.

LEAD ME, O LORD.

Lead me, O Lord, in thy righteousness because of mine enemies; make thy way straight before my face.—Psalms 5:8.

For the benefit of the working men and women of Lexington, the University of Kentucky maintains a night school.

Bethany College, Lindsborg, is conducting a campaign to complete an endowment fund of $200,000. This amount is required by the state board of education to make an institution a standard college.

Evidently Alma Mater is dropping out of the football world, but the dairy judging team has put it on the map by winning second place at the National Dairy show held in Chicago.

Defends the "Aggies."

Manhattan, Kas.—To the Star: The students of the Kanshas State Agricultural College were very much shocked to read in The Star concerning their rooting at the Nebraska-Aggie game last Saturday. The article has been the talk of the campus ever since and the students and townspeople are very indignant. It is true that Coach Lowman severely reprimanded one of the cheer leaders and that a few indulged in rooting that was unsportmanlike, but this body of unwholesome rooters constitutes a very small proportion of the student body and is in the same proportion of the rotten rooters that are to be found in any school. Sometimes roasting the officials serves them right, and last Saturday's officials were rank, as both sides admitted. The article in The Star was a great injustice to the student body and was written by a man who always tries to say something against the institution.

A Student.

Granted that the students as a whole did not approve or take a hand in this demonstration. Let the matter drop. The party who wrote this to The Star was clothed in all the ignorance of infancy. Step forward and tell us who scribed the article in the Kansas City Star's "Over the Cross-bar" column, and the dog business belongs to you, chain, collar, and all. Lend us your ear, who-so-ever you may be, and we will tell you the great secret.

A vile, bad, man from Lincoln, Nebraska, wrote the "Cross-bar" article and sent it to Claude Johnson, sporting editor of the Kansas City Star. C. E. McBride sporting editor of the Kansas City Times, refereed the Nebraska-Aggie game, and got all the credit for the story. C. E. Sherman, of the Lincoln Journal penned the much criticised story. Mr. McBride was not working for the Star the week the story was published. He was taking a vacation at Marshall, Missouri.

And so, you see, dear little informer, your judgment against the man who "always trys to say something against the institution" is a piece of rank injustice. Your writing to the Kansas City Star might also be taken as a piece of rank injustice. "Lick your own wounds" applies to your case. "Good sportsmanship" must forgive, if anything was necessary in the forgiving line, any fault we might have with the officials.

"Umpire baiting" is a thing immemorial to sport of all kinds. The school or community of sport followers who make a habit of baiting the officials always comes out the small end of the tooter. Let this be a warning.

MOTHER.

'Two pictures.—Which are you painting?
A gray-haired woman with vacant eyes,
And features pale and thin,
A shrunken form that breathes in sighs,
A heart of lead within.
Sits alone with a crust of bread,
In a corner where none can see,
And murmurs in tones from which love has fled,
"He's not what he used to be."

There's a gray hair here and a gray gray hair there,
There's a line or two on her face;
And her walk has a youthful grace.
Her smile is a pleasure to see,
As she whispers low, "I thank thee, Lord, He's all I could wish him to be,"
—John L. Shroy.

The pledges of the Eta Beta Pi sorority entertained the members of the sorority and their friends at a Hallowe'en dance Monday night in Aggieville hall. The hall presented a festive appearance in its decorations of yellow and black. On the yellow shaded lights were jaunty black witches and cats, which also decorated the curtains. Long streamers of yellow and black crepe paper hung down from the large center light, and on one wall the letters H B P were made of stripes of the twisted paper. Corn stalks enclosed the orchestra, and were used around all the walls of the room. In the corners were cosy seats whose backgrounds were masses of corn stalks. Lighted pumpkins completed the Hallowe'en idea. One very enjoyable feature of the evening was a favor dance when high pointed paper hats were presented to the young men and tall crepe paper caps to the girls. The color scheme was carried out in the refreshments served at Harrison's. The gold-edged place cards were decorated with witches on sticks, and the center piece of each table was a large lighted pumkkin. Pumpkin pie a la mode, with coffee and marshmallows were served. Professor and Mrs. Gutche and Mrs. Ida Hoffman were chaperons for the evening. The hostesses of the evening were: Dorothy Norris, Gladys Hoffman, Claudine Rathman, Alice Neiman, Donna Crane, Ruth Crane, Mary Brackett, Florence Wayrick, and Pauline Richards.

FOOTBALL RESULTS SURPRISING.

Saturday's football results combined some of the greatest surprises of the 1914 season. Washington and Jefferson trounced Yale as the biggest Eastern surprise and the smothering defeat Nebraska handed the Michigan Aggies at Lincoln ranked one above the defeats of the Missouri Tigers and the Kansas Aggies at the hands of Ames and the University of Kansas in the West. Yale looked mighty good, following her victory over the Notre Dame giants last week end, but when the Blue dropped Saturday's encounter to the tough little Western Pennsylvania college eleven the Yale stock for Eastern intercollegiate championship honors dropped far below par. Penn State handed the strong Harvard eleven a goodly shock Saturday, too. Tieing the Crimson at 13 all, the Penn Staters staged a wonderful fight and now demand to be ranked with the best in the Eastern division.

In the Middle West, Chicago and Illinois performed true to advance dope and carried their colors through Saturday's encounters victoriously. Chicago trimmed the Perdue Boiler Makers and did the job neatly with old style football. Notre Dame came back against the husky South Dakota eleven and won 33 to 0.

Nebraska advanced another rung toward the Mid-Western honors when she defeated the strong Lansing Farmers 24 to 0. Missouri and the Kansas Aggies went out of the Missouri Valley race and Oklahoma lost out in the South to Texas when the latter team overwhelmed the men of Owens with the forward pass. In Kansas Hargis' Normals and Grey's Washburn eleven look like the top notchers and their contest next Saturday will be the best of the season's Kansas contests.

FOOTBALL RESULTS.

Nebraska, 24; Michigan Aggies, 0.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 24.—The Michigan Aggies were virtually swept off their feet this afternoon by the University of Nebraska. The final score was 24 to 0. Nebraska could not be denied and the Aggies frequently were forced to punt, despite the hard hammering of Captain Julian of the Aggies on the Nebraska line and the wide sweeping runs of B. Miller.

Nebraska scored early in the first quarter, hammering its way into the shadow of the Michigan goal and then falling back for Captain Halligan to kick a goal from placement. Receiving the kickoff on the resumption of play on his own ten-yard line, Chamberlain, the Nebraska right half, behind perfect interference, swept across the field, shaking off all tacklers and scored a touchdown. In the fourth period, Nebraska again opened up and with a series of forward passes, end runs and line smashes, registered two more touchdowns and kicked goal.

Texas, 32; Oklahoma, 7.

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 24.—The University of Texas defeated the University of Oklahoma football team here today 32 to 7. Forward passes won the game, Oklahoma scored its only touchdown in the first ten seconds of play, left half, M. Johnson, catching Texas' kickoff and running it back 85 yards through the center of the Texas team for a touchdown. Texas scored three minutes later on a long run by Barrel and three line bucks. There was no more scoring until the second half when Texas began using forward passes on nearly every other play, turning them into four touchdowns.

Columbia, Mo., Oct. 24.—Line bucks and a thirty-five-yard end run by Moss netted a touchdown for Ames here this afternoon, enough to win from Missouri, 6 to 0. Moss was the star ground gainer for the Iowans and many times held the ball in scoring distance but blunders in using the forward pass prevented them from scoring. The Missouri aggregation was outplayed from the start. Ames' offensive plays bewildering the Missourians, who were outweighed five pounds to the man. Referee, Grover (Washington University); Umpire, Quigley (St. Marys); Head linesman, Thomas (Purdue). Time of periods, 15 minutes each.

Drury, 27; Washington, 26.

Springfield, Mo., Oct. 24.—Drury college defeated Washington university in a hard fought football game here today 27 to 26. Pothoff, Washington's left halfback, started from the kickoff. He made every Washington touchdown. Drury's gains were made largely by line plunging. Washington had a chance to tie the score a minute before the final whistle. A touchdown had been made and Pothoff kicked for goal but failed.

Navy, 48; Western Reserve, 0.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 24.—Showing form which was sadly missing during their last two games, Navy today overwhelmed Western Reserve university of Cleveland, 48 to 0. A feature of the Navy's marked improvement was the exceptional work of Miles, a new man at quarter.

Washburn, 21; C. of E., 2.

Topeka, Oct. 24.—Making most of their gains on straight football, the Washburn eleven today defeated the College of Emporia team by a score of 21 to 2. The game was more stubbornly contested than the score indicates, and the Emporia team showed flashes of the form that enabled them to hold Kansas university to a low score early in the season. Generally the Emporians were unable to get their forward passes away. Whenever the new football was attempted the Blue found itself at a disadvantage.

Harvard, 13; Penn State, 13.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 24.—Harvard narrowly escaped defeat today by the Pennsylvania State College team which outplayed the Crimson in all departments of the game. The score was a tie, 13 to 13.

The visitors outrushed, out-kicked and out-maneuvered the Crimson, but lost a chance for victory through two costly fumbles.

Pennsylvania State rushed 54 times for 173 yards gain, while the Crimson players made but 95 yards on 72 rushes. Pennsylvania State had six first downs, while Harvard made but two.

Pennsy, 7; Carlisle, 0.

Philadelphia, Oct. 24.—Two forward passes greatly aided Pennsylvania in defeating the Carlisle Indians football team on Franklin field today, 7 to 0. The Redmen outplayed Pennsylvania in the first half and the Quakers were lucky that Carlisle did not score on them. A fumble or a poorly executed play saved the Pennsylvania team several times.

There was almost a complete reversal of form in the last two periods, when Pennsylvania showed more aggressiveness while Carlisle seemed to have lost her power on the attack The single touchdown of the game came in the last period.

Chicago, 21; Purdue, 0.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 24.—Playing with old-time dash and daring, Chicago's gridiron champions swept Purdue's stalwarts off their feet on Stagg field today. In a triumph of "straight football," helped by the best of the breaks in luck, the Maroons downed the Boilermakers, 21 to 0.

Dope Ranks Nebraska High.

Nebraska easily defeated the Michigan Aggies at Lincoln Saturday 24 to 0. The Lansing Farmers held Michigan 3 to 0 last week which dope puts Nebraska among the best American elevens.

Score from Kick-off.

Two big teams scored touchdowns from the kick-off Saturday. Chamberlain ran 100 yards with the kick-off against the Michigan Aggies at Lincoln and an Oklahoman crossed the entire Texas defence at Houston.

Aggie Captain a Favorite.

The playing of Red Agnew the Aggie captain brought much applause. Agnew started the game in a crippled condition and would not quit until Coach Lowman escorted him off the field.—University Daily Kansan.

SECOND QUARTER.

Haucke replaced Hartwig and Woods went to quarterback for the Kansans. Haymaker punted 35 yards and Craig fumbled on the first play to Bernard on the Aggies 45-yard line. Agnew shot offtackle for first and ten and Haucke hit the mass for a lone yard. Agnew came through again for 8 yards and Haucke made 1 more, but the Lowmanites lost 15 for illegal use of hands and Scanlan was held. Haucke to Haymaker was fumbled and Maloy for K. U. recovered. Craig and Wood each failed to gain and Wood kicked 40 yards to no return. Agnew hit the line 4 yards and Haymaker kicked 33 yards to Wood on the Aggies 25-yard line. Craig was held and Wood made 7 and Householder was held. Wood made first down around left end and Craig made 2 through the line.

Wood made 2 more and Householder was held up on the Aggies 10-yard line. Strothers missed a 10-yard place kick and the Aggies took the ball on their 20-yard line. Marble made 4 and Enns was held. Agnew made 5 and the Lowman eleven lost the ball on failing to make the distance on the next play. Kansas ball on Aggies 30-yard line. Craig made 15 yards and first down on the next play and Wood was held to a 1-yard gain to the Aggies 14-yard line. Detwiler to Householder failed and Kansas lost 15 yards for holding on the play. The ball was now in play on the Aggies 28-yard line and after a 5-yard plunge by Wood, Strothers scored on a place kick. Score: Aggies 0; K. U. 9.

Fiske replaced Coolidge for Kansas and Strother kicked off 35 yards to Marble who returned 10. Enns made 1 and Marble lost ground. TWIST TIGERS' TAIL TODAY

LOWMANITES HAVE ADVANTAGE OF WEIGHT BUT TIGERS ARE SPEEDY—THE AGGIE LINE IS IN GOOD CONDITION.

ONE TOUCHDOWN WILL WIN

Missouri Has Lost Three Contests but They Have Been Close and Hard Fought—It is Fallacy That Tiger Eleven is Weak.

(By E. H. Smith.)

Prediction has it that a touchdown either way will decide the Missouri Tiger-Kansas Aggie football game at Columbia today. The Missourians have not been going at top form this season, having won but one gridiron battle of four played. But that the Missourians should be rated a weak eleven is a fallacy. Every contest they have dropped has been close and hard-fought throughout. The Rollo Miners won 9 to 0, by presenting a finished eleven that has successfully met its opponents since the Missouri battle, proving that the win over the Tigers was not in the least a fluke.

Coping with heat and a clever speedy eleven the Missourians were downed by the University of Oklahoma team, at Normal, by a count of 13 to 0. Bennie Owens always has something in the way of a football aggregation each year; a team that has fought the best Missouri Valley teams to a standstill every season. Ames won by a single tally at Columbia last Saturday, many experts claiming that the score failed to show the evenness of the two teams.

The Lowman huskies have the weight in the front rank to stop the rushes of most any old football team. And they have been doing it by spurts all season. The eradication of this spurt system today may throw a surprise into the Missouri camp that will be long remembered. The linemen are all in good condition. Marble is fast rounding into his old time form on the offense. Scanlan has also been handicapped in his offensive playing by a game starting foot. This however is said to be improved and gains by this player are anticipated in today's battle. Coxen developed a "charleyhorse" in the Kansas game but is reported in fighting trim for today.

The punishment meted out to Captain Agnew in every battle so far this season has proved disastrous to the welfare of the Lowman eleven. Agnew is usually a clever man on the offense and there is no better man on the team when it comes to the old fight, but injuries which began with his drubbing in the Nebraska game and increased in the Kansas game threaten again to keep him on the sidelines the larger part of today's game.

In "Chief" Haucke and "Fritz" Hartwig, Coach Lowman has brought out two of the best backs in the conference, best on defense at least. At the beginning of the season, dopesters claimed that what one of these players held the other did not, that is to say, one was good on defense and poor on the offense, and the other was an offensive star and weak in defense. The work of these players has completely upset the dope. On the defense they formed an excellent secondary line against the Normals, Nebraskans, and the Jayhawkers. Offensively they are leading the backfield players of the Lowman crew.

"Nick" Enns failed to show his usual form in the Kansas game either offensively or on the defense, Handicapped by injuries he was weakened to a great extent. Inability to pick the holes also cost him many failures to gain against the Jayhawkers.

The kicking of Haymaker looked good against the Kansan's star and he is expected to out-boot the Missourians today with their star booter, Shephard, out of the game. Haymaker averaged better than 39 yards against the Wheaton machine

Missouri claims her line to average but 171 pounds. This being the case the Aggies will meet for the first time this season, a line near their own weight. The Normals, Nebraska, and Kansas, all had the advantage in the avoirduapois column at the start. The Tiger bcks are said to be slightly heavier than the Aggie backfield players. Also the whole team is reputed to be one fighting machine. Ames had at least a 17-pound advantage over the Tigers but could not kill off the Missouri fighting spirit long enough to score more than 6 points.

GAMBLE CONCERT PLEASES

Work of Each Member of Ernest Gamble Concert Party was Enjoyed by an Attentive Audience.

The Ernest Gamble Concert Party appeared at the Auditorium last night for the second number of the Society Lyceum course. The members of this company are: Ernest Gamble, basso cantante; Miss Verna Leone Page, concert violinist; and Miss Aline Kuhn, pianist.

The first number on the program was given by Mr. Gamble who sang an aria from "Pomp and Circumstance." He has a very pleasing voice, clear, strong, and finished in tone, and his easy, natural manner on the stage won for him, even during the opening number, the hearty cooperation of his audience. His songs were so well chosen that he won a hearty welcome at each appearance.

Miss Kuhn is a pianist whom it is a joy to both see and hear. She has a lightness and rhymth of touch which, when combined with her real power and mastery of the instrument, render her playing unusual in quality. Her solos were heartily appreciated, and she is a sympathetic accompanist.

Miss Page is one of the best violinists appearing upon lyceum circuits. She introduces a personal element into her playing which brings her into close contact with her hearers.

The nature of the program was so varied that at no time was there the slightest strain upon the attention. The company is an aggregae of stars and their entertainment was more than satisfactory from every standpoint.

SENIORS VOTE ON CLASS DUES.

Must Pay Dues Before Pictures Will Appear in Royal Purple.

At the senior class meeting Thursday, a motion was passed that dues should be fifty cents for each of the three terms this year. It was also added that those who wished to pay class dues for the entire year would have the opportunity of paying $1.00 for the three terms if paid this term. As most seniors know, all class dues must be paid before their pictures will be printed in Royal Purple Volume Seven. The seniors should pay their class book assessment at once. When doing this, the class treasurer, R. C. Erskine, should be consulted to find out whether all back dues are paid, then pay the assessment to W. F. Smith, treasurer of Royal Purple.

TALKSTERS ARE WORKING

"PROSPECTS ARE GOOD FOR WINNING TEAMS," SAYS DR. JOHN R. MACARTHUR, COACH OF THE DEBATING SQUAD.

TRI-STATE COMES NOV. 13

The fall tri-state debate wil take place on Friday, November 13, when the affirmative team of the College will debate here with the negative team from the University of South Dakota. The negative team will debate the same night with Iowa State College at Ames, Iowa. The subject of the debate is, "Resolved, That Immigration to the United States Should be Further Restricted by a Literacy Test."

From the way in which the Aggie squad is showing up it looks as though Friday, November 13, would be an unlucky day for Iowa State College and the University of South Dakota.

The first scrimmage debate between the affirmative and negative teams was held last week. Practice work in rebuttal is now being done and the teams are fast gaining form. Prof. A. E. Shower, of the public speaking department, is busy coaching the squad in delivery.

"The men are working hard," said Dr. John R. Macarthur yesterday, "and the prospects are good for winning teams."

The try-outs for the alternates has been postponed until Monday, owing to the fact that J. V. Quigley, affirmative alternate, was called to his home in Topeka by the illness of his mother.

STOCK JUDGERS ON A TRIP

The boys will visit the C. R. Kirk Importing company at St. Louis, Mo., today. Here they will have a thorough workout on some of the best draft horses in the Missouri valley.

On Sunday the class will visit the farm of Edward Steglin at Holton. Mr. Steglin has one of the best Polled Durham herds in the state. This herd has won many prizes in competition at the various stock shows and the animals are not to be excelled by any other herds of this breed.

The men out on this trip are: Dr. C. W. McCampbell, L. B. Mann, E. H. Hostetler, C. F. McIlrath, W. H. Wilson, G. H. Bunnell, Pat O'Connell, Evan Jenkins, Crumbaker, and Loyd.

HOW TO CAST YOUR BALLOT

ATTORNEY GENERAL JOHN DAWSON TELLS HOW STUDENT AWAY FROM HOME CAN VOTE AT THE ELECTION TUESDAY.

EVERY STUDENT SHOULD VOTE

That is Opinion Expressed by Pres. H. J. Waters at Chapel Exercises on Wednesday—Prof. J. E. Kammeyer Tells Where to Vote.

"It is the duty of each member of the student body to study the issues in the coming election and to cast his vote at the polls next Tuesday," said Pres. H. J. Waters at the chapel exercises on Wednesday when he spoke on the subject, "Why We Should Vote." Prof. J. E. Kammeyer explained how a student may cast his vote although away from home.

Students whose names begin from A to E inclusive, will vote at the city hall. Those whose names begin from F to J inclusive, will vote at Winter's carpenter shop, on North Fifth street, between Moro and Bluemont. Those whose names begin from K to R inclusive will vote at the Y. M. C. A. Those whose names begin from S to Z inclusive will vote at Rockwell's carpenter shop on the west side of Eighth street between Colorado and Pierre.

The following opinion of John S. Dawson, attorney general of Kansas, on the Absentee Voters Law makes clear what an absent student must do to vote.

"Chapter 181 of the laws of 1911 extended this privilege to all qualified electors and provided in substance that any elector who is unavoidably absent from the county where such voter resides on election day may vote elsewhere in the state for state officers, members of congress, county and district officers and members of the legislature for the county where such voter resides."

The students need but to go to the polls and fill out the following affidavit which the election judges shall hand him. After filling out the blank he will be given the general ballot, which he shall mark as hereafter directed.

"State of Kansas,————County, ss.

"I, ... do solemnly swear that I have resided in the state of Kansas more than six months, and in the township of ————or, in the .....ward of the city of ..... in the county of ..... in said state, more than thirty days next preceding this date, and am in all respects a duly qualified elector of said ..... that I am ..... (duties, occupation or business) and because of my duties as such..... I am required to be absent from my township or ward on this day, and have had and will have no opportunity to vote there; and that I have not voted elsewhere at this election."

"An absentee voter who appears at the polls and makes oath in the form set out above MUST be given a general ballo t. The election officers where this privilege is requested are not concerned about such voters' qualifications, registration, etc. Any irregularity will be corrected in the county where the voter resides and where the ballot is sent.

"There is no longer a separate blank ticket or blank ballot as contemplated in the original lays in 1901, but the new general ballot has a blank line under each office to be filled that answers the same purpose. More is necessary that the voter write on this blank line the name of every person for whom a vote is cast. The candidates for state office for United States senator and for the Supreme Court are already named on the general ballot, and likewise the candidates for congress, and for district judge, provided the voter's home is in the same congressional district and judicial district as the precinct where he or she votes.

"In such a case a cross mark in the square after the printed name is the proper manner of voting, and it is necessary to write in the name of candidates only when they do not already appear on the ballot, as in the case of county officers.

"And in canvassing the vote the county commissioners must bear in mind that irregularities because of the ballot used and for which the voter is not responsible will not invalidate the ballot. In this connection I might say that the words "duties or occupations or business" do not limit the right to vote away from home to those engaged only in gainful occupations. The ancient and most honorable duties of the housewife are among these occupations of those who are entitled to vote in Kansas. Any woman who is absent from her county, engaged in any of the numerous activities of womanhood has this privilege.

"STUDENTS AT THE VARIOUS SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES AND THE KANSAS AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE ARE ENTITLED TO VOTE UNDER THIS PROVISION OF THE STATUTE."

TO HAVE NEW POULTRY MAN.

R. M. Sherwood Will Cooperate with Farmers Through Institute Work.

R. M. Sherwood, assistant professor of poultry husbandry at present in the Iowa State College, has been appointed to take care of the poultry work in the extension division of the Kansas Agricultural College. Mr. Sherwood is a graduate of Iowa State College, has had two years' experience in the Ohio experiment station and two years' experience in the Iowa experiment station.

Mr. Sherwood will take charge of the poultry subjects in the farmers' institutes and judge poultry at the various shows during the winter. During the spring and summer he will organize egg circles among the farmers' wives, establish poultry clubs among the boys and girls, and hold poultry schools throughout eastern Kansas.

According to Wm. A. Lippincott, professor of poultry husbandry in the Kansas Agricultural College, the total value of the poultry produced in Kansas in one year aggregates $30,000,000. This shows the tremendous importance of the poultry on the farm and it will be the work of Mr. Sherwood to cooperate with the farmers through the institute department of the College. All of his time will eb scheduled by Prof. Johnson of the institute department.

Mr. Sherwood will arrive in Manhattan tomorrow.

DRAMATIC CLUB WILL MEET.

Several Sketches and Dialogues Will be Presented Tuesday Night.

The Dramatic club will hold its next regular meeting in G-56, Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. An interesting program is promised. Several sketches and dialogues wil lbe presented, after which Professor A. E. Shower of the public speaking department will give instructions and a demonstration in the facial makeup of characters. Preparations are now being made for the annual play which will be given in February.

"HEAVIER THAN AMES"

SO SAYS PROF. C. L. BREWER, DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS IN THE UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI, REGARDING THE AGGIES.

TO BE WEIGHT AGAINST SPEED

"The Aggies have a Big Team, Bigger even than Ames," says Coach Brewer—The Tigers Look For a Hard Game.

"It's to be weight against speed, like in the Ames game, only more so," says Prof. C. L. Brewer, director of athletics in the University of Missouri, referring to the Missouri and Kansas Aggie football game to be played this afternoon.

"The only thing we know for certain about the Aggies," said Professor Brewer Thursday afternoon, "is that they have a big team, bigger even than Ames. They are a bit green, however, as shown in their game against Kansas. The Jayhawkers made most of their touchdowns on fumbles and intercepted forward passes.

"I look for the game Saturday to be as hard as the one against Ames. Graves, Shepard and LaRue will not play. The team will be an experiment, with a backfield that has never been in a game together. Our backfield will be light, speedy and fast."

Guy Lowman, coach at Missouri in 1908-1909 and 1909-1910, now is coach at the Aggie school. While with the Tigers, he taught baseball, basketball and part of football.

James Masker, who has handled the Kansas game six years, will referee Saturday. E. C. Quigley, the National League umpire who served at the Ames game, will umpire again Saturday. L. L. Hoopes of Wesport High School, Kansas City, will be head linesman.

TEACH SIXTH GRADE GIRLS

Household Arts in Their Relation to Whole Life of Child Taught by Practice Teaching Class.

The practice teaching class met for the first time Monday afternoon with fifteen girls from the Central school as pupils. This class will alternate with classes of the same grade from the Avenue and the Bluemont schools.

The plan being tried in this work is a new one. Its purpose is the teaching of household arts in their relation to the whole life of the child, rather than the employment of the cut-and-dried methods which have been in use for so many years.

The central theme around which all the lessons are grouped is: "What must a girl of the sixth grade know about the household arts in order to be most helpful in her home after schools hours?" Upon this lessons will be based dealing with the essential things to be included in simple menus; arranging tables and serving meals; the food value of some of the common foods; the care of rooms; and the problem of meeting unexpected company.

The idea of helping with supper is the first one to be developed, and in a few weeks the girls of these classes will serve a simple home supper. In thiz way they will get not only the principles of serving and cooking, but also the social value of the family meal.

A little later the girls will be given lessons in the care of living rooms, bedrooms, and bathrooms. The work will be of such a nature that it can be done easily by any girl of this age.

Following this will come the development of plans for Sunday night suppers, and the problem of meeting unexpected company. In this latter phase, the value of a supply shelf will be emphasized. Work will be given in arranging the table and planning and serving a meal at short notice, but above all, the idea of helpfulness and the spirit of true hospitality will be brought out.

This course in practice teaching is being offered this year for the first time, and is under the direction of Miss Haggart, of the domestic science department.

Miss Josephine Perry of Topeka is substituting in domestic science during the absence of Miss Helen Greene. Miss Perry graduated last June from Simmon's College, Boston.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1914.

I beg you take courage; the brave soul can mend even disaster.—Catherine of Russia.

A COLLEGE SUNDAY.

At the University of Kansas there is a special committee which has the duty of seeing that the university students attend church. A certain Sunday is set aside each month, special sermons are preached in all of the churches of Lawrence, and the committee tries to get all the students to attend church on that day.

Why can here not be a similar attitude towards the churches of Manhattan by the faculty and students? Why not have a committee to see to it that the students attend church at least once in a month? The pastors of the various churches of Manhattan would doubtless be glad to cooperate with such a movement and would set aside one Sunday each month at which time they would preach sermons that would be of particular interest to students of the College.

FORGIVE ONE ANOTHER.

Be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake, hath forgiven you.—Eph. IV, 32.

FRESHMAN HEADGEAR.

Up at the University of Nebraska last week a sale of freshman caps was conducted and over 400 of these verdant pieces of headgear were disposed of. Certainly there must be a lively bunch of freshmen. Also there must be some school spirit, the spirit which characterizes their winning football team and does things in all other lines of college activities.

At the University of Kansas the freshmen wear caps, and they do not dare to appear on the campus without them.

What is the matter with the freshmen of the Kansas Agricultural College that they do no take up with this movement? Certainly they should adopt this custom. Freshmen let's see your spirit!

HAVE POULTRY JUDGING SCHOOL

Will be Held at College Week of December 30-January 1.

One of the most interesting announcements that has come from the poultry department of the Kansas Agricultural College in recent years is that of the free school of poultry judging to be held at the College during the field meeting of the Kansas State Poultry association, from December 30 to January 1, inclusive.

The Manhattan fanciers and the College are co-operating in the holding of a poultry show at the time of the field meeting. This show will not be judged in the ordinary way, where the judges walk down the aisles and place the ribbons, no one knows how or why. Instead the judging will be done upon a platform, surrounded by comfortable chairs, where those interested may see everything that is done, and ask questions. Instead of looking like a Chinese puzzle to the uninitiated, every award in the entire show will be carefully explained in detail. This judging is to be done by the most representative and best known judges in the state.

Where they desire to do so, fanciers may enter their own birds in the show, and have the judges discuss them thoroughly and make suggestions as to how the stock may be improved. This judging school is a part of the program of the meeting of the Kansas State Poultry federation, held in connection with the state farmers' institute. The admission to all the meetings of the State Poultry federation, as to the farmers' institute and the judging school, is free.

D. S. GRADUATE MAKES GOOD.

Miss Dorothy Buschow, '14, Delivered An Interesting Address.

Miss Dorothy Buschow delivered a very good address on "The Best Way to Cook Meats" and a large crowd of the cooks of the county assembled to hear it. Miss Buschow is a graduate of the domestic science department of the Kansas Agricultural College and takes a great interest in all matters pertaining to her work. By the aid of a large chart she had prepared she showed the ladies how to cut the different meats and the best manner of cooking them to make them tender and palatable. Miss Buschow is a Thomas county girl who has grown to womanhood here and this made her talk all the more interesting to her listeners. She had her subject well in mind and did not lack for word to express her thoughts.—Colby Free Press.

ARMY GOSSIP.
H. B. Dudley.

The new army sweaters are on exhibition at the commandant's office. They are are of two styles, a "V" necked sweater and a coat sweater. They are regular $6.00 sweaters but due to the fact that there has been quite a number ordered they will be sold for $3.50 each.

There are a few sabers at the commandant's office for those officers of the corps last year that have not sabers. They are the same price as last year, $8.50.

Company G will go on a hike next Monday afternoon out to Wild Cat where they will have a company campfire and cook supper. They will be excused from drill after the company has been assembled and will march out to Wild Cat. They will leave at 3:30, and arrange to get back by 8:00 o'clock.

Any cadet hearing anything that will be of interest to the corps is invited to insert it in the Army Gossip column. Hand it in at the Collegian office marked Army Gossip.

An announcement that will interest the cadets has been made from the office of the commandant. The following letter has been received from Jacob Reed's Sons, the firm that has the contract for the uniforms: "Your communication at hand. As instructed will ship one dozen of both styles sweaters. The first shipment of uniforms will go forward the first of the coming week." This means that all of the new uniforms will be in by the last of this week or the first of next.

The regiment was lined up Wednesday as it will be in dress parade and the line extended from the east wall of the campus to the walk running in front of the armory. This makes the longest line of cadets that has been in the military department since it was organized. Including the band there are at present 750 men drilling. They are divided into three battalions of four companies each. In each company there are from fifty-seven to sixty men.

All officers wil please report to Sergeant Clearen with the measurements for their leather leggins. These measurements will be taken by Captain Frank at Knostman's. This should be attended to at once.

FOOTBALL ⁂ TRACK ⁂ INTRA-MURAL

BY ERLE H. SMITH

HAVE TRACK TRYOUTS MONDAY

Every Varsity or Freshman Candidate must be Out—Merner Squad Weak only in Pole Vaulting.

The fall tryouts in track and field athletics will be run off on College Field next Monday afternoon. Every varsity or freshman candidate is expected to put in an appearance and enter the events. Records made in this meet will stand as college records, according to Coach Carl J. Merner's announcement.

The varsity track men have been working out since the first week of the term and many of the runners and field stars are reported in tip-top shape. Especially the cross-country men are expected to make good showings in Monday's meeting in the distance runs.

The Merner squad promises to be a dandy this year, weak in but one lone event, that the polevault. Last year's freshmen failed to unearth a capable high vaulter with the exception of Edwards and he will not be in College this year. The College record in this event is shamefully low, 10 feet, 7 inches, and certainly will not stand many more seasons.

CLASS FOOTBALL STARTS.

Keen Rivalry Shown in Last Year's Contests is Not in Evidence.

The keen rivalry so evident last year in the interclass football contests has not shown itself this fall K. S. A. C. classes never lacked spirit and the class teams have been known to recognize their superiors and lay back rather than play loosing games, but of course this lack of pep and spirit cannot be attributed to the present superiority of the sophomores.

Last year these sophs spanked the senior eleven while the present seniors were doing the same to the present juniors. In the final games, the present seniors trounced this year's juniors, thus winning the championship without defeat.

To stimulate interest in interclass contests Coach Guy S. Lowman offers a cup to the class which wins the championship three years in succession. The seniors of last year came the nearest to winning the cup of any class so far, winning the championship two years in succession. The sophs are after their first third on the cup and from all dope the stars are inclined their way.

One day last week, one senior warrior, and three juniors in overalls, spent a pleasant afternoon in the city pasture kicking the oval among themselves. In the meantime more than fifteen sophomores scrimmaged the two ag school elevens and ran off signals in a fashion that bade all comers for the 1914 class championship to look to their laurels.

Coach Lowman has weeded out all material that he will be unable to use on the varsity squads this season and has sent the men back to the class team workouts. It has not been definitely determined whether or not the seniors will put a team in the field. There is plenty of good material in the upper class and they should turn out a team for the appearance of the thing and defend the honors they won last year.

Marble, Weights.

SOONER GAME ONE DAY EARLIER

Date Changed so Manhattan Business Men can See the Game.

When Coach Lowman announced that he had persuaded the Oklahoma management to play their date here a day earlier than originally scheduled, Friday, November 13, the move was one purely of financial recuperation. A movement was immediately started to close up the business houses of Manhattan on that day.

At Lawrence Bennie Owens' teams are always one of the big attractions of the football season. Owens has developed into one of the most widely known and praised football coaches in this section of the country, beginning with his wonderful successes with the Bethany Swedes when that team went by the name of the "Terrible Swedes." This will be the first time the clever one-armed mentor has brought his eleven to Manhattan and a large turnout is anticipated.

Don't forget the date. If your parents are planning a visit to the College this fall arrange matters so that they may be present at this game.

Welsh, Hurdler.

PRIZE TO BEST GYMNAST.

Loving Cup Will Be Given by College Book Store.

The College Book store, dealers in A. G. Spaulding & Bros. athletic goods, offers a handsome 13 inch silver loving cup to the best Aggie gymnast of the winter term's intramural classes. This is the first time that gymnastic workers have ever gained recognition and it is a step in the right direction. In many of the colleges and universities over the country gymnastic meets claim equal attention with indoor track and basketball.

WEAVER WINS CROSS-COUNTRY

Time for Annual Five-Mile Race was 28 Minutes, 59 Seconds—Teeter Not in the Race This Year.

Four laps around the track on College Field on top of two trips around the College campus and all in the good time of 28 minutes and 59 seconds, was the feat of Joe Weaver, the ner when he won the annual five-mile cross-country race yesterday afternoon. The next four men to finish were: Baird, Keyes, Seeber, and Neighbors. This quintet will represent the Aggies in the annual Missouri Valley cross-country run which will be held at Ames, Iowa, Saturday, November 7.

Some surprise was voiced by the spectators when the runners lined up at the starting mark yesterday and Teeter, last year's crack two-miler, failed to start. Teeter will not be in College winter term and possibly not spring term, and had he ran in this, the Missouri Valley cross-country meet, it would have cost him a year of Valley competition. Rather than take the chance on his being in school spring term to complete the year, Coach Lowman advised him not to run November 7.

QUIGLEY IS BACK FOR WINTER.

Former St. Marys Football Coach is Now National League Umpire.

With the old familiar smile that won't come off and with an appearance of happiness, contentment and prosperity, E. C. Quigley, former coach of St. Marys football team and now a star National league baseball umpire, was in Topeka Wednesday afternoon shaking hands with his many friends and giving the old town the once over.

Mr. Quigley and a number of friends motored up from St. Marys and returned the same afternoon as his "Royal Umps" was anxious to get back home where he is spending the time these beautiful Kansas days in covering up flowerbeds and shoveling in his winter coal. Mr. Quigley and his family will hibernate in St. Marys and by way of recreation the former coach will officiate in inter-collegiate football and basket ball games. Saturday he will umpire the Aggie game at Columbia, and he will also officiate in the Washburn-St. Marys game and the Aggie-Washburn games here and at Manhattan.

Quigley is undobtedly the biggest thing in the way of a sport official Kansas ever turned out, and as such the state does him honor along with her great pitchers, poets and political celebrities. The Celt's work in the National league this past season was not only satisfactory in every way, but was a distinctive feature. As a recognition of this work, he was chosen to officiate in the Chicago series between the Cubs and Sox. He sees 'em where they almost "aint," and he is as fair as a summer sun on a somnulent sea. However, Kansas knew he was all of these things before he went up, and his making good was nothing more than was expetced.

Mr. Quigley refused to discuss baseball in any form, but "opened up a little" on the football situation.

"I think Wheaton is one of the best football coaches in this part of the country," Mr. Quigley said. "His past record has been remarkable, and he may be expected to drive K. U. at her fastest pace.

"Lowman at Manhattan is also a great coach," the Umps said, "as is your man Gray at Washburn. Both of these men make whatever football material they have and deserve a great deal of credit for the showings they make."

Mr. Quigley said he had not studied the St. Marys squad this season, but praised McLaughlin as a coach and said he thought the boys would come out of their slump in a short time and get back in old time form.

TIGER BACKFIELD WEAKENED.

Missouri Will Resort to Trickery and Speed for Gains.

The Tiger attacking force, which for various reasons has not shown up good this season except in the William Jewell game, will be greatly weakened for the game with the Farmers from Kansas. Shepard and Graves will be out of the scrimmage because of injuries. It will be too dangerous to run the risk of being injured for the season. The game with the Jayhawkers is too important for that. This means that Missouri will have to resort to trickery and speed for gains. And judging from one of the blunders of a squad of men in a trick play attempt last Saturday, Missouri cannot hope for much on this count unless cooler and clearer heads are developed.

A scrimmage will be held this afternoon when the scrubs, after a day of training, with the Kansas Aggie slashing attack, will meet the Varsity squad which is short three regulars. The scrubs were given a short scrimmage last night and worked with plenty of aggressiveness because of the nipping weather.

MRS. SHAW SPOKE THURSDAY.

Last night at the Methodist church Mrs. Etta Saddler Shaw, national evangelast for the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, gave one of the most inspiring addresses ever heard by a Manhattan audience. Her subject, "The American Siamise Twins," was upon the liquor traffic and the social evil. The speaker made it plain that when the liquor traffic died, out of necessity the social evil would die a natural death. Mrs. Shaw is a forceful speaker and handled the subject with a clear cut outline.

First, she told in an interesting manner how, in 1862, President Lincoln was practically forced by congress to sign the liquor revenue bill that placed the United States government at that time upon record as a partner of the liquor traffic.

Then, in 1892, the United States supreme court, upon one occasion, declared this to be a Christian nation, and Blackstone declared the Bible to be the foundation of all common law. She showed clearly that this is a Christian nation, the supreme laws of our land declaring it to be so. At the same time the liquor traffic, the business partner of the United States government, is hourly breaking each and all of the Ten Commandments.

"Thou shalt have no other gods before me," but the god of the liquor traffic is gold. "Honor thy father and thy mother," but the liquor traffic knows only lust and greed for gold.

They steal daily, by actual statistics, 150 innocent girls through the white slave traffic. They murder 300,000 of our boys with a drunkard's grave yearly.

Then Mrs. Shaw showed us how Kansas had been very selfish about her temperance work. We have done nobly in our own state, but had sounded no note of the war in other states. We have worked for state more than national prohibition. Why did we allow a senator from Alabama to be the first to sound the great cry? Why did not our own senators do it 30 years ago? The work of Kansas must not be so selfish.

At the close of the address an appeal for pledges for the support of the work of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was made. Money responded generously and a number wished to sign the pledges of the union. SUBMITTED.

ARE AFTER PURER WATER NOW.

Commercial Club Will Take Matter Up at Next Regular Meeting.

At the regular weekly luncheon yesterday the directors of the Commercial Club discussed the matter of assisting the city officials in supplying purer water for the city than it now has. After the question was discussed at some length, the directors decided to bring the matter up at the next regular meeting of the club.

The directors also extended a vote of thanks to Alfred Docking for his efforts in securing the next meeting of the Anti-Horse Thief association for Manhattan.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN.

VOLUME 21. NUMBER 15. KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1914. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

HAVE STOCK SHOW FRIDAY

MINIATURE INTERNATIONAL WILL BE PUT ON BY SADDLE AND SIRLION CLUB OF THE COLLEGE ON THAT DAY.

TO DISPLAY COLLEGE STOCK

Show Will be Held at New Barn North of Campus—Proceeds to be Used to Defray Expenses of Judging Team to the American Royal.

A miniature International Stock Show will be put on by the Saddle and Sirloin club of the College at the new barn north of the campus Friday afternoon, November 6th, at 3 o'clock.

The College show stock consisting of cattle, horses, sheep, and hogs will be exhibited. The purpose of the exhibition is to give the students of the College a chance to see the show stock owned by the College, and to raise funds with which to defray the expenses of the stock judging team to the American Royal.

The livestock contest in different classes for ribbons, the awards being made by well known Kansas judges who are not connected with the College. There will be sideshows, stunts, and novelties to furnish amusement. A Farmer's Band will furnish music during the afternoon.

This exhibition gives the people of Manhattan and vicinity as well as the students a chance to see the live stock that will be exhibited by the College at the American Royal this winter. The new barn will be the center of attraction during the afternoon. This barn is one of the finest college barns in the United States.

The proceeds of the fair will be used to defray the expenses of the stock judging team which represents the College at the American Royal. At the present time each member of the team pays his own expenses, thus only the men who can afford the trip can make the team. This means that many a good judge of livestock rent off the team because of his lack of funds to pay the expense of such a trip. It should be the duty of each one to attend this fair Friday and help support the stock judging team, just as he supports the other activities of the College.

TO SPEAK IN WASHINGTON.

Cochel Will Deliver Address Before Society of Animal Production.

W. A. Cochel, professor of animal husbandry, leaves Thursday for Washington, D. C., to be present at the annual meeting of the American Society of Animal Production which takes place November 10-11.

On Tuesday, November 10, Professor Cochel will deliver an address before the society on the subject "Causes of the Deficiency in the Meat Supply and the Probable Remedies."

TO HAVE HOLIDAY NOV. 13

Will Give Teachers Chance to Attend State Teachers Meeting—Oklahoma Game Comes that Day.

All exercises of the College will be suspended on Friday, November 13. The purpose of the holiday is to give the members of the faculty a chance to attend the Kansas State Teachers association which will be in session in Topeka at that time.

Incidently the Aggie-Oklahoma football game comes in that day. This will give each student in the College a chance to attend this game. There should be a record breaking attendance at the game. The date of the game has been changed from Saturday November 14, to Friday, November 13. The purpose of changing the date of the game was to give the business men of Manhattan a chance to attend the game. A movement is on foot to have the business houses of Manhattan close on Friday during the hours of the game.

ENGINEERS TO PUBLISH JOURNAL.

Magazine, Appearing Once a Term, Will be of Interest to Engineers.

The engineers association met Monday in the amphitheatre for their regular monthly meeting. Plans were outlined and the following officers were elected to issue an engineering journal once a term: manager, P. E. Jackson; assistant manager, J. Hagan; editor, W. A. Lathrop; assistant editor, F. R. Rawson. This journal will include the papers read at the various engineering societies and also all events and happenings of interest to engineers.

DR. H. J. WATERS VIEW OF THE BELGIAN SITUATION.

"The United States is at peace. We are prosperous and rich. There are seven million Belgians who have been driven from their homes by a war which is not their fault. They are some of the best people in the world. They are frugal and thrifty, but they will need help until spring to keep them from starving. The United States should grasp as a privilege this opportunity to care for these people. I am heartily in favor of the campaign that has been launched and will do all in my power to make it a success."

DR. M. J. EXNER TO SPEAK

He Will Deliver Lectures at the Y. M. C. A. on Thursday and Friday Nights of this Week.

Dr. M. J. Exner, student secretary of the international committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, will deliver two lectures at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium this week, the first one Thursday evening at 6:45 and the second Friday evening at the same hour. These lectures will be full of the knowledge, inspiration, and constructive help which every young man needs to aid him to self-mastery and to high ideals.

Dr. Exner has the degrees of Bachelor of Science, Doctor of Medicine, and Master of Physical Education. He has been a director of physical education in colleges and Young Men's Christian Associations for twenty-three years. He introduced association physical training into China, spending three years in that country. In connection with physical education, he has dealt personally with thousands of boys and young men with reference to sex matters. For two years he has been making a special study of the sex question and preparing literature upon it. Dr. Exner seeks to lift sex education to a higher plane than has yet been reached, and deals with the subject fully from the viewpoint of manhood, character, standards and ideals. His message is thoroughly constructive.

This is the first Association rally of the year and it is urged that members of the Association come out in force, bringing with them as many new men as possible.

PLAN MANY NEW FEATURES

Many Lectures and Demonstrations Will be Given at Farmers' Institute at College Week of Dec. 28.

Many special features have been planned for the Kansas State Farmers' institute, which is to be held at the Kansas Agricultural College December 28 to January 1. The afternoon programs will be conducted by the different associations of the state. The morning programs will be given up to lecture work and demonstrations, while the evening programs will be devoted to general programs and receptions.

The Kansas Hog Breeders' association will meet Tuesday afternoon. Wednesday afternoon, the Kansas Crop Improvement association will hold its annual meeting. Thursday the Kansas Poultry federation will meet, and on Friday, the Dairy Producers' association holds its meeting. The Horse Breeders' association will also meet in the week, but has no definite time scheduled.

An advance course of lectures will be offered all the week to the county agents, the alumni of the College, and to the many other progressive farmers who have attended the state institute several times before. This work will consist of lectures on the experimental work in animal husbandry, dairy, crops, soils, and horticulture.

The regular courses in judging and agronomy will run throughout the week as heretofore. An interesting program has been arranged by the engineering departments. Instruction will be given on steam and gas traction engines, stationary engines, and in electricity.

The boys and girls will not be neglected. They will find many lectures and exhibits in which they will be interested. Monday evening, December 28, will be boys' and girls' evening.

Tuesday evening, December 29, the general reception will be held in Nichols gymnasium, while Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings will be devoted to general gatherings and lectures by men all over the country.

KING ALBERT'S CALL FOR RELIEF

Albert, King of the Belgians, has asked the American people through the American commission for relief in Belgium to help feed his starving people during the coming winter. The king's message, written under fire in the battle before Dunkirk, follows:

"I am informed that American officials and citizens in England and Belgium are working to save my people from the horrors of the famine which now threatens them. It is a great comfort to me in this hour of sorrow and misfortune to feel that a great-hearted, disinterested people is directing its efforts to relieve the distress of the unoffending civilian population of my country.

"Despite all that can be done, the suffering in the coming winter will be terrible, but the burden we must bear will be lightened if my people can be spared the pangs of hunger with its frightful consequences of diseases and violence.

"I confidently hope that the appeal of the American commission will meet a generous response. The whole-hearted friendship of America shown by my people at this time always will be a precious memory. "ALBERT."

WATERS TO SPEAK IN EAST

PRESIDENT OF COLLEGE WILL DELIVER ADDRESS BEFORE SIXTH ANNUAL CONVENTION OF FEED CONTROL OFFICIALS IN U. S.

WILL SPEAK IN MISSOURI ALSO.

President H. J. Waters leaves Thursday for Washington, D. C., to attend the 28th Annual Convention of the Association of American Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations and the 25th Annual Meeting of the Society for the Promotion of Agricultural Science. Dr. Waters is a member of the executive committe of the Association of American Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations and president of the Society for the Promotion of Agricultural Science.

Dr. Waters will stop in Adrain county, Missouri, enroute to Washington and will give an address before the Adrain County Round Up on Saturday on the subject, "Permanent Progress in Agriculture."

On Tuesday, November 10, Dr. Waters delivers the presidential address at the joint session of the Society for the Promotion of Agricultural Science and the American Society of Agronomy. On Friday afternoon, November 13, he will deliver an address at the Sixth Annual Convention of the Association of Feed Control Officials of the United States. The subject of the address will be, "What is the Matter with Corn as a Feed?"

HAVE SOME GRASSHOPPER SALAD.

In the Philippines They Harvest the Insect Crop for Food.

"Dried grasshoppers are used as food in the Philippine Islands," said Henry Jackson Waters, president of the College, in a talk before the agricural society siety in the Kansas Agricultural College. "Three thousand tons of grasshoppers were marketed in Manila in a year. Some good and tempting dishes are prepared from them.

"There is a grasshopper plague every 10 years in the Philippines," says President Waters, "and the problem of combatting the grasshoppers in a warm climate like the Philippines is more difficult than in countries where cold weather serves as a check.

"There are many acres of unsettled country which serve as breeding places for the grasshoppers. The method used in capturing the grasshoppers is to organize a drive. A large shallow tank is constructed which has wings of galvanized iron. The tank is filled with kerosene. The natives then start the drive three or four miles away and close in gradually, driving the grasshoppers before them into the tank. The grasshoppers are then dried and sent to market.

SPEED WINS OVER WEIGHT

AGGIES DROP GAME TO SPEEDY TIGERS SATURDAY, BY A SCORT OF 13-3—AGGIES WEAKEN IN THIRD QUARTER.

DUNCKEL WAS TIGER STAR.

Bill Dunckel was the Tiger hero last Saturday at Columbia. Twice he was sent in the game against the heavy Kansas Aggies and twice the smashing Tiger fullback gathered the ball under his arm and charged through the heavy line for touchdowns. The score was Missouri 13, Kansas Agricultural College 3—two touchdowns against one field goal.

The score does not tell the story of the Tiger strength. The Missouri football team should have won the game by four touchdowns, and this with the light backfield composed of two recruits and three regulars. But time after time during the game this light backfield with pretty interference raced around the Farmers' ends for goodly gains always to be thwarted when within a few yards of a touchdown. It was Bill Dunckel, heretofore referred to by some as the mediocre plunger, who was ordered from the bench to go into the game. In the third period, after the Aggies had their score of a single field goal, Dunckel went in. He gave a new life to the team and his smashes through the line for consistent gains soon gave Missouri another chance. It was here—at the 1-yard line—that Dunckel made the first Missouri score. He was borne from the field because of temporary injuries from the heavy piling up on him.

He Scored Again.

But later this same Dunckel, with his grin, went in again and in this fourth period with the Farmers battling near their own goal line, Dunckel lunged through again to score the last touchdown of the game. Lake kicked the goal.

The Kansas Aggies made a grand rally after this and resorted to much forward passing. At one time by two long forward passes they went deep into Missouri territory but failed on a pass beyond the goal line. During this final period, statistics show the Farmers failed to gain a single yard by rushing the ball.

The single Aggie field goal was made in the second period. It shouldn't have been made at all had the Missouri defense been up to taw. The Aggies, when they had failed to break through the Tiger defense on the 20-yard line ordered Captain Agnew, one of the backs on the Farmer team, back to kick a field goal. He attempted it from placement. The ball bounded beyond the goal line and should have been Missouri's ball on the 20-yard line. Instead, because Herndon was offside, the ball belonged to the Kansas Aggies again at Missouri's 15-yard line after a 5-yard penalty. And it was from this play that Agnew's toe scored the only points against Missouri after the ball had been kicked from placement at the 23-yard line.

The Onside Kick.

The Aggies got within striking distance of the goal for the first time by an onside kick, a play which puzzled the Missouri rooters. Bernard, an end on the Aggie team, in an onside kick went to the backfield while one of the backs took his position in the line. The ball was kicked and Bernard raced down the field catching the ball. This caught the Tigers unawares as they considered Bernard an offside man and did not know he was eligible to catch the, seemingly, punt. A short forward pass, Haymaker to Reports of Hunger Are True.

Direct advices received from the representatives of the American commission for relief in Belgium are extremely conservative. Ambassador Page says in a cable message:

"Need in Belgium cannot be exaggerated. Owing to shortage of food here and in Holland, it is imperative that a supply be started from the United States immediately."

Chairman Herbert Hoover of the London committee cabled:

"Situation is daily becoming more critical and it is very important to arrange for shipping supplies from New York at once."

SEVEN MILLIONS TO BE FED

Relief Funds for Belgians Will be Handled by American Commission for Relief in Belgium.

The American commission for relief in Belgium is an official body recognized by the various governments for the transmission of foodstuffs into Belgium. It is the only channel through which food can be introduced into Belgium, and by its association with a committee in Belgium has the only efficient agency for the distribution of food within the country. H. C. Hoover, chairman of the commission, which has headquarters in London, makes the following appeal to all American newspapers:

"We have received reports from members of this commission who were sent into Belgium. They have the assistance of the national committee of relief and its branches throughout Belgium, together with the help of the American ministers and consuls and local officials.

Seven Millions to Be Fed.

"Their reports show that there are still some 7 million people in Belgium. In many centers the people are receiving an allowance of a little more than three ounces of flour per capita daily.

"This is not a question of charity or relief to the chronically poor—it is a question of feeding an entire population. The situation affects the wealthy and wel-to-do as well as the poor. It touches every home in Belgium. Our experts calculate that in order to avoid actual starvation Belgium must have every month a minimum of sixty thousand tons of wheat, fifteen thousand tons of corn, five thousand tons of peas or beans and a limited amount of bacon and lard.

"This will allow rations to ten ounces per capita daily, which is about half the usual soldier's rations. All this will cost 4 millions or 5 million dollars monthly. Ther is no money in Belgium. The whole credit machinery has ceased. Eighty per cent of the people are unemployed.

Some Will Pay When They Can.

"A plan may be devised whereby such Belgians as possess property may give obligations to pay when the war ends, but even if we could realize on these obligations, we must still have at least $2,500,000 monthly in food, or money with which to buy it. That the figures are no exageration is proven by the fact that Belgium imports in normal times an average of 230,000 tons of cereals monthly, This, together with its own production, which with accumulations, is now exhausted.

"During the past week we have received and expended in emergency food $600,000, and yet this is only four days' supply. The problem is immediate. The Belgians are helping themselves, but they can do little. The British and French are under such strain that they also can do little. Besides these nations, together with the Dutch, have a million refugees on their hands. Americans must feed Belgium this winter. There never was such a call on American charity, and there never was a famine emergency so great.

"Will you, therefore, in the interests of humanity, open a subscription among your readers earmarked "for the sole purpose of purchasing and transporting food? Every dollar so raised will be used to purchase food in the United States. Information as to what centers and what relief agencies in the United States will undertake the purchase and dispatch will be cabled later.

(Signed) " H. C. Hoover, Chairman."

J. B. Marcellus who inspected the cement work of the engineering department for the American Portland Cement Company, was in town Saturday looking over the result of the work.

TO CARE FOR 500 BELGIANS

CAMPAIGN IS LAUNCHED WITH TODAY'S COLLEGIAN TO RAISE FUNDS TO HELP ALLEVIATE SUFFERING BELGIANS.

ALL AMERICA IS RESPONDING

A Thousand Dollars Will be Needed—Seven Million Belgian Non-Combatants Must be Cared For During the Coming Winter.

MUST HAVE UNITED ACTION.

A great many of the Belgian refugees have fled to Great Britian. This country is already burdened with the expense of the war and so is barely able to take care of those who have come to her shore for protection. The other nations of Europe have all they can do, so it is up to the United States to come to the aid of the stricken people of Belgium.

Germans are Giving Aid.

The Germans have offered to retire from the country as fast as possible and are already doing so from places which it is not necessary to hold. They have offered the use of their transports to help get food to the suffering

With today's issue of the COLLEGIAN a campaign is launched the purpose of which is to raise a relief fund to help alleviate the suffering of the non-combatants in the country of Belgium. The campaign will be extended to include the city of Manhattan and funds will be raised to care for 1000 homeless Belgians through the winter. The College will take care of half of the burden and the slogan will be, "We're Going to care for 500 Belgians this winter."

All America Responds.

In every village, town, and city of the United States the urgent call of Albert, king of the Belgians, is being answered and supply ships are preparing to leave New York harbor at once for the stricken nation. The colleges and universities of the country are carrying on campaigns or are starting them. It is a time when quick action is needed and the Kansas Agricultural College should respond heartily to the call.

United States Must Help.

people, and are aiding the relief work in all possible manner.

There are over seven million Belgians who will have to be cared for during the winter and until the spring harvests begin. This means that about every ten Americans will have to care for one Belgian. Thus Manhattan and the College are doing no more than their share by raising funds to take care of 1000 of the sufferers.

It must be remembered that the Belgians are not engaged in the present sanguinary conflict because of their own wishes. Their country lies between two of the powerful warring nations, and the war has been thrust on them. Their country has been invaded, their homes torn down, crops some way the wantonless destruction of invading armies.

Arrangements have been made with J. T. Lardner, financial secretary and purchasing agent of the College, to take charge of the relief funds. He will receive amounts of any size from twenty-five (25) cents to $10.00. Mr. Lardner's office is opposite the Post Office. Money can also be left with the secretary of the Y. M. C. A. or Y. W. C. A., and with Dean Mary Pierce VanZile.

Campaign to Burden None.

The campaign is not going to be a burden on anyone. If each member of the faculty and student body will give the sum of twenty (20) cents the required sum $1,000, will be raised

This means that it is united effort which is going to make the campaign a success. Surely there is nobody but who can spare the small amount of $0.20. But think what it wil lmean, if you can, to the many sufferers of Belgium. To you it will mean only a little less candy, a little less chewing gum, a smaller number of cigars, and not quite such frequent visits to the moving picture shows.

The names of contributors together with the amount given will be published in each issue of the COLLEGIAN, thus keeping everyone informed as to how the campaign is progressing.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Be great in act, as you have been in thought.—Shakespeare.

BELGIAN RELIEF CAMPAIGN.

With today's issue of the COLLEGIAN a campaign is launched to raise funds to aid in the relief of the Belgian sufferers. At the urgent call of King Albert of Belgium the newspapers of the country are raising funds to alleviate the suffering of the war-stricken people of Belgium.

The homes of the people of Belgium have been destroyed, the fields have been laid waste, and the able bodied men have answered the call of their country, leaving none to prepare the fields for sowing of wheat. Thus there will be no wheat crop in the spring. But the people must live and it is America's duty to help the suffering. Belgium is a cold country in winter and clothing will be needed. Shelter from the icy blasts of the winter must be had. Are you going to take this opportunity to help the suffering? Are you willing to buy a little less candy, chew a little less gum, attend a few less picture shows, smoke a few less cigars? Of course you are. The cry for help is at hand and we dare not let it pass. Let's lay aside all feelings of nationality and answer heartily the call of suffering humanity. It's a time for action. Every minute is like a month. While you hesitate countless numbers are suffering from hunger, cold, exposure, and want.

Let's fall in line and answer the call. Everywhere over the country the universities and colleges are raising funds for the suffering. At the University of Kansas almost $500 has already been raised. At Princeton university the movement has been started and one-third of the proceeds of one of the large football games has been donated to the cause. It is a call for united action. Can the Kansas Agricultural College afford to be left out in the movement? Shall it be said of her that in the time of a nation's need she was found wanting?

The movement has become a national one. All over this great prosperous, peaceful nation of ours thousands of dollars are being raised for this worthy cause. Let's answer the call, men and women of Kansas Agricultural College. Lets give cheerfully of our abundance. Let's show the universities and colleges of this great state and nation that the Kansas Agricultural College is awake, that she is mindful of the suffering of humanity, that she is ready and anxious to do her part toward the alleviation of the suffering of a stricken nation.

WHEN THOU ART BIDDEN.

When thou art bidden, go and sit down in the lowest room; that when he that bade thee cometh, he may say unto thee, Friend, go up higher: then shalt thou have worship in the presence of them that sit at meat with thee.—St. Luke XIV, 10.

UNITED EFFORT.

United effort marks success in everything. In the campaign that has been launched by the COLLEGIAN for the raising of funds for the people of Belgium, united effort will spell success. This means that every student and member of the faculty must get behind the movement. It means that each organization of the College has a part to do. No matter how small that part you may have to do, see to it that you do it. It's the little things which added together make the whole.

It should be the duty of each fraternity, each sorority, each literary society, each county club, each organization in the Kansas Agricultural College to vote something towards this movement. There is no cause which is more worthy, no need more insistent.

Let's get together on this movement. Let's give something, no matter how small the amount. "It's not the gift, but the spirit in which it is given." Let's not let the University get ahead of us. If they can raise a thousand dollars why can't we? If each member of the faculty and student body would give twenty cents toward the movement the $1000 would be raised. You would not miss twenty cents, but think of what it would mean to the suffering people of that stricken country. What answer are you going to give to this question, "Have you given your twenty cents?"

What do we live for, if it is not to make life less difficult to each other?—George Eliot.

CHAPEL TALKERS.

Perhaps, you, too, have sat in chapel trying to follow the thought of the speaker, only to be frustrated in the attempt by the continual buzz kept up by some interested person behind you. Interested, but not in the speaker.

Perhaps you have thought it strange. But really there is nothing very strange about it. The chapel talker is one of those personages whom nobody takes very seriously and consequently their actions are taken with considerate regard. If it is a continual buzz during the announcements it is all right, if it continues through the prayer you try to forget it, but when it runs on in endless cessation through the lecture or speech you really feel somewhat sorry for the one who is enduring it all. And when you leave you cannot help but turn around to see who the considerate person is.

The chapel talker comes to chapel not because of his own accord, but because the crowd leads him that way. Not possessing that power which characterizes the individual who strikes out for himself, the chapel talker is drawn along by the to him irresistable tide of humanity. He is like the barge which possesses no means of steering itself but must depend upon being directed by some tug, or which floats with the current.

The next time you are disturbed in chapel by one of these garrulous persons take a good look at him or her before you leave. Perhaps you will be surprised, but more likely you will say to yourself, "Well, no wonder."

Sainthood.

One knelt in tears all night before the altar;
One wrought a shrine with unaccustomed toil;
And both wore lilied peace that keen assaulter
Was impotent to soil.

And one assailed the haze of tropic ocean,
Some solitary lepers to befriend,
And lent her youth in pitiful devotion
Where gay-plumed birds ascend.

Those won their haloes. This, a simple maiden,
Consoled her kinfolk; but a wintry pair;
She sang and danced in lime-light, sorrow-laden,
With roses in her hair.

Auto Polo Thrills.

Sitting on the dege of his seat and watching for spills is the spectator's chief diversion in the latest in sportdom, that being the new game of Auto-Polo, which pleased the crowd at the Stadium yesterday afternoon. They came not knowing exactly what they were going to see, but hoping, nevertheless, that whatever it was it would be full of thrills. It was. They could not have been more interesed if one side had been the home team and the game decided the pennant series. The women wrung their hands and gasped and said, "Oh," and "O-u-u," and the men cheered and wrangled with the umpire. Auto-Polo is a stirring sport from the spectator's standpoint, and the match was a real contest.—Kansas City Star. Adv.

Auto-Polo Makes Hit.

The newest sport has arrived, and judging from all indications, bids fair to remain. It is the game of Auto-Polo. Invented only a few weeks ago, the sport has made a tremendous hit wherever it has been shown. Yesterday was the first time that Kansas City sport fans have had a chance to see this newest of dare devil events, that continually toys with death. That may seem ambiguous, but it is the truth. The drivers battled with one another to prevent an upset and wer successful, but there were times innumerable when it looked to the spectators as if the ambulance call would be the next order on the program.—K. NOTES OF INTEREST TO ENGINEERS.

The office of the dean of engineering has received over 150 letters from inventors over the state during the past week, all of which ask for aid on new inventions.

A Character and Personality Record is being kept of all the students in the division of engineering. In this a man is graded on ability, accuracy, cooperation, courage, decision, disposition, earnestness, energy, initiative, leadership, mental balance, originality, personal appearance, reliability, tact, technical ability, and use of English. K. S. A. C. is the first college to use this system of grading as it is Dean Potter's own idea.

The A. S. M. E. meets Thursday night at 8:00 o'clock in the Engineering Amphitheatre. Prof. Sluss of K. U. and F. Pattison of the division of engineering will speak. All engineers are urged to be present.

M. E. Hartzler, C. E. '14, was on the hill Saturday. He is engaged in railroad work for the government and was going from North Dakota to Oklahoma where he will be located this winter.

There are eight K. S. A. C. graduate civil engineers engaged in railroad valuation work for the government.

In addition to this Miss Borelli holds an interest in the profits of the film here and abroad. Also, she has a contract with the makers which prohibits them from showing the film in a city where she is playing a regular stage engagement at the time.

Rugby Pass Won for Yale.

New Haven, Conn. Oct. 31—Colgate lost to Yale today 7 to 49. The Rugby passing game completely baffled the visitors. In the third period Yale played its entire second team, and it was then that Colgate scored. Yale played its regular team again in the fourth period. The game abounded in spectacular runs by Legore, Ainsworth and Scovil of Yale and West and Swarthout of Colgate.

Wilson played great ball for the Haskell Indians, rushing through lines for gains of five and ten yards.

SPRINTS FEATURE TRYOUTS

Osborne Wins Century Dash in 10 2-5 Frizzell Takes the Fifty Yard High Hurdles.

The sprints were features of the fall track tryouts on College Field on Monday afternoon. The century dash uncovered a real race at the tape, Osborne beating out the speedy Dutton, in the fast time of 10 2-5 seconds. In the 120 dash, Dutton came into his own by winning easily in 12 3-5 seconds.

Welsh dropped the fifty-yard high hurdle race to "Duroc" Frizzell in the best blanket finish of the afternoon's program. Cromer won the 880 as he pleased in 2:12 2-5. Weaver did not run in the meet but galloped around the track over the two-mile route preparatory to his running in the Missouri Valley cross-country run at Ames next Saturday.

Rodke won the K. U. cross country tryout at Lawrence last Saturday, the time being very close to that by which Weaver won the Aggie tryout last Friday. The Aggies will enter a five-man team in the conference race next Saturday.

Washington and Drake in a Tie.

St. Louis, Oct. 31.—Washington and Drake battled to 7 to 7 tie on the gridiron here this afternoon. Washington scored its points in the second quarter. Potthoff after a series of line bucks and end runs, brought the ball to the Drake 1-yard line from which he plunged through for the touchdown. He also kicked goal. In the third quarter a forward pass of fifty-five yards enabled A. McDonald to cross Washington's goal line. Blackburn kicked the goal .

The game was Missouri speed against Kansas Aggie beef and long forward passing. Speed won with the aid of Bill Dunckel. Lake, the shifty Tiger halfback, made the first good gain of the game, 30 yards around end. The good interference, the speed of Lake and Miller, and the smashes of Woody for short gains through the line were some of the bright facts in the Missouri attack. Captain Clay, too, lugged the ball for a long gain 25 yards by the fake used successfully at times last year.

Tigers Show Spirit.

After the Farmers had scored their field goal from placement, the Tigers began the real fight which won the game. By continual smashes and end runs the ball was rushed for four first downs until the Aggie 12-yard line was reached. Here a forward pass beyond the goal line failed. Later the Tigers rushed the ball back into Aggie territory to the 20-yard line but Miller was thrown for a 15-yard loss.

Undaunted and with as much fight as ever the Tigers began the second half. Miller and Clay carried the ball for 50 yards, but at the Aggie 12-yard line again failed on a forward pass to Miller who was on the goal line. The Tigers soon fought the Aggies back and a forward pass, Lake to Speelman, gained 20 yards. Speelman crossed the goal line with this pass but had stepped out of bounds and he had to be satisfied with 20 yards. Later the ball was rushed to the Aggie 4-yard line and again the Tigers failed to go across the goal line. But the Tigers strengthened and rushed the Aggies back until Dunckel went through a yard for the first touchdown. He made the second touchdown in the final quarter.

First Quarter.

Captain Clay won the toss and chose the west goal, a stiff breeze coming from the west. Coxen kicked off, Lake returning 15 yards. Lake failed to gain on the first play but on the next made 30 yards around end. Missouri made a few short gains but suffered a penalty of 15 yards for holding. Miller punted.

The Aggies failed to gain through the Missouri line and on their own 10-yard line punted. The Farmers lost 5 yards because they were offside and Lake raced 20 yards. A bad pass to Lake cost Missouri 10 yards. After Miller punted, the Aggies again failed to make downs. When Missouri began an attack again Lake fumbled and an Aggie recovered the ball. The quarter ended with the Aggies in possession of the ball on their own 25-yard line. Score 0 to 0.

Second Quarter.

Haymaker, with the wind behind his back, punted 60 yards. The Aggies by an onside kick and a short pass, after Missouri punted, attempted a field goal from placement. Missouri's offside penalty cost the Tigers the ball and the Aggies, Agnew kicking a field goal from placement, scored the first points of the game.

Miller kicked off. The Aggies failed to make substantial gains and also lost 15 yards by holding. The Tigers then rushed the ball for three first downs. Dunckel went in for Woody and smashed through the line for 10 yeards. The Tigers carried the ball to the Aggies 12-yard line, but failed on a forward pass. Later Missouri rushed the ball to the 20-yard line and again failed on a forward pass to the goal, Lake to Miller. The quarter ended with the score, Kansas Aggies 3, Missouri 0.

Third Quarter.

Lake kicked off and the Aggies failed to gain consistently. Missouri penalized for holding. Missouri pushed the Aggies back slowly and Miller made 2 5yards around end. Clay made 30 yards on a fake play. Missouri, at the Aggie 12-yard line, failed on a forward pass beyond the goal. The Tigers, Dunckel conspicuous by line smashes, advanced in Aggie territory where Lake to Speelman on a forward pass netted 20 yards. Later Missouri worked the ball to the 4-yard line and lost on downs.

Miller later tried an onside kick which fell behind him, Woody getting the ball outside of bounds. The Aggies resorted to forward passes and Lake intercepted one. The Tigers rushed the ball toward the Aggie goal until Dunckel plunged a yard for a touchdown. Miller missed goal. The quarter ended with the Aggies in possession of the ball on their own 40-yard line. Score, Missouri 6, Kansas Aggies, 0.

Fourth Quarter.

The Aggies began forward passing, one for 25 yards, Haymaker to Skinner, being perfect. From the 30-yard line Agnew attempted a field goal from placement, Missouri getting the ball on the 20-yard line. Missouri rushed the ball for three first downs but was penalized 15 yards for holding. Lake threw a long forward pass out of bounds in the Farmer territory, a good play since no punter was in the backfield at that time.

Collins intercepted a long forward pass and the Tigers advanced to the Aggie 8-yard line. Dunckel was sent in here and soon went over, after a 2-yard plunge, for a touchdown. Lake kicked goal.

The Aggies by two long forward passes advanced to Missouri's 30-yard line where a pass beyond the goal failed. Lake later made 25 yards and the Aggies became desperate with forward pass attempts but with no success. The Quarter ended. Score, Missouri 7, Kansas Aggies 0.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

This column will appear at least once a week and will contain items of general interest concerning chiefly the Young Men's Christian Association and its work. It will aid materially in making this venture worth while to have contributions submitted by anyone who can and will do so. All such material should be as concise as possible, and should be mailed to C. E. Roach, at the College P. O., or handed to Secretary W. W. McLean, at the "Y."

Other reports also gave an expression of the appreciation of the enormous size of the work laid out before us. The field has hardly been touched and we do not have one-tenth of the men actively and earnestly engaged in association work that we should have. The way is open for every Christian man in college to jump in and make his influence count for something worth while, for something lasting. The man with the least ability along this line is worth having, and the opportunity is worthy of the efforts of the man with the greatest ability.

Work has been started in the gymnasium at the "Y" to make it a more attractive meeting place. The entire room is being ceiled over, thus hiding the bare roof timbers and making the room easier to heat. It is expected that the walls will be refinished, and everything possible will be done to make the hall comfortable. The improvements will not hinder the use of the gymnasium as such in any way, and plans are going forward toward the formulation o f abasketball organization which will begin operations as soon as weather conditions prohibit outdoor exercise.

Engage a time for a sitting—so as not to be disappointed, or you may come when it suits you best.

CAMPAIGN IS PROGRESSING

MEMBERS OF FACULTY HAVE RESPONDED HEARTILY TO CALL FOR FUNDS TO ALLEVIATE SUFFERING OF BELGIANS.

RELIEF FUND IS NOW $36,75

If Each Student Gives Twenty Cents the $500 will be Raised—Pay at Office of Financial Secretary Opposite Post Office.

The campaign which was started Wednesday to raise funds to help alleviate the suffering of the Belgian non-combatants is progressing rapidly. At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon $36.75 had been contributed with contributions coming in every little while.

The members of the faculty have responded heartily, but so far the student body has not shown much interest. This is due no doubt to the fact that the proposition has not been put before the student body as a whole. The campaign will be pushed energetically this coming week and will be kept before the entire College through the student assembly.

Surely there is no cause which is more worthy and no call as insistent. Every minute that we wait the suffering increases. An Aggie's dollar will keep twenty Belgian women and children in food for one day. The call comes from a distant nation, but a true Aggie man will not let distance dull the edge of his natural human kindness.

The generous sympathy of the American people has been aroused by the suffering of the women and children and other non-combatants of Belgium, who have been made homeless and destitute by the invasion of their country Prosperous towns have been destroyed and peaceful villages have been laid waste. Thousands of people have nothing in the world left, no money, no clothes, no chance of earning a living of any sort while the invasion lasts, not a roof over their heads, and no food. With the object of relieving a part at least of this suffering a central committee has been formed in America. The money raised in the campaign being conducted at the College will be sent to the branch of this committee at Kansas City, Mo.

Winter is now coming on, in fact the cold weather has already begun in Belgium, and the lack of food and clothing is every day more intensely felt. Why should we not give of our abundance to suffering humanity? It does not mean that a burden will be placed upon anybody. If each one will do his part the money will be raised and 500 Belgians wil lbe cared for through the winter by the faculty and student body of the Kansas Agricultural College. Surely each member of the student body wishes to have a part in this campaign. Remember that if each one will give the small sum of $0.20 the funds will be raised. It means little to you but it means everything to the people of stricken Belgium.

It is the small contribution that is needed, that is the help of each member of the student body. Everyone should get behind the movement and consider it his duty to do his part. It is the united efforts of each student of the College which is going to make the campaign a success. Funds can be paid in at the office of the financial secretary of the College opposite the College Post Office, at Dean Mary Pierce Van Zile's office, at the Y. W. C. A., and at the Y. M. C.

The following contributions had been made to the relief fund up to 4 o'clock Friday afternoon:

Wm. A. Lippincott	$10.00
R. K. Nabours	5.00
J. T. Lardner	5.00
H. E. Porter	5.00
Estella Boot	5.00
R. G. Taylor	2.00
M. G. Kirkpatrick	1.00
Annette Leonard	1.00
L. E. Conrad	1.00
Ada Rice	1.00
Mr. Resmick	.50
A student	.25
Total	$36.75

J. W. Zahnley, '09, is professor of science in the Eldorado high school. Mr. Zahnley will appear on the program of the Agricultural Round Table at Topeka next week.

COMPANY L WENT ON HIKE.

Each Company of Cadet Corps Will Make Similar Trips.

Company L had a hike to Mt. Prospect Wednesday, November 4. There are forty members in this company. They left the campus at regular drill time, marching out in company formation. The entertainment consisted of a wienie roast.

All the companies will make similar trips, in turn. They go out under the command of their captain, and are dismissed by him upon their return to town. Lieutenant Hill hopes in this manner to promote company spirit and to insure a firmer social relationship between individual members of the same company. The plan is an innovation here, but seems to be a very successful one.

URGES IDEALS IN ATHLETICS

National Collegiate Athletic Association Carries on Educational Campaign—Says Sport is Not Fun.

In an article headed "Right and Wrong Views of Athletic Sport," which it is distributing to the students in universities and colleges throughout the United States, the National Collegiate Athletic Association makes a defease of intercollegiate athletics. In its appeal for ideals it makes the significant statement that to gain a position of dignity athletic sport "must be saved from many of its friends." The article says in part:

"Athletic sport, if honorably and wisely conducted, can hold its own in any institution of learning: but to gain a position of dignity, it must be saved from many of its friends, and maintained on so high a level that no reasonable man can question its value. Rightly administered it strengthens the weak, improves the weak places in the strong, clears the brain, teaches boys and young men to respect their bodies and to know the relation of a clean, vigorous body to an active mind and an honorable life. Rightly conducted it is a school of manly skill, courage, honesty, self-control, and even of courtesy; wrongly conducted it is a school of bad manners, vulgarity, tricky evasion, brutality—the ideals not of a sportsman but of a sporting man.

Sport not Mere Fun.

"We are constantly told that in England men play for the sake of winning. The more serious the question of winning, the more serious the need of winning honorably. Sport in America is not mere fun, it is a test of character, and nothing that makes the player less a gentleman belongs to it. The football player who wantonly injures his rivals, the baseball player who persists in shouting to rattle his opponents, the schoolboy or student who takes money for summer baseball and conceals the fact, should be put out of the team. Nor should any school or any college have secrets as to the legitimacy of its athletic representatives.

HELD A WELL-FARE MOVEMENT.

Otis E. Hall Spoke at the Movement Friday Afternoon and Evening.

Otis E. Hall of the extension department of the College was in Franklin county Friday where he spoke in the afternoon and evening before the Community Well-fare Movement of that county.

Rev. H. L. Burt, a minister at Centropolis and nearby points, has been holding a campaign this week to help build up the rural life of the community. Mr. Hall was one of the speakers of the week.

AGGIE TEAM WILL NOT GO

Lack of Funds Keeps Cross-Country Team From Entering Missouri Valley Cross-Country Run.

Owing to lack of funds, the Kansas Aggies will not be represented in the Missouri Valley crosscountry run to be held at Ames this afternoon. This announcement caused a great deal of disappointment among the Aggie track following, but brought the keenest disappointment to the five men that have been training for the meet.

Every other school in the conference will send at least six men to the starting mark. Compared with the tryouts held at other schools the Aggies stood a good chance of finishing well up in the race. Joe Weaver won the Aggie 5-mile trial. in less than 29 minutes, over a course that has it on any in the Valley for roughness. Baird also evidenced good condition and running ability in the trials.

Pres. H. J. Waters left for Washington, D. C., yesterday afternoon.

Seven Million Belgians Are Starving

Seven million Belgians, mostly women and children, are starving. The daily ration is three ounces of flour, about two-thirds of a cup and nothing else. The absolute minimum of food necessary to sustain life, the American-Belgium Relief Committee says, is ten ounces per day, which is only one-half the army ration.

To supply this requires a minimum of from four to six million dollars per month.

Holland is doing its share, and more; France has opened its doors; England is taking care of thousands upon thousands and, in addition, the Government is giving $750,000 per month; Red Cross is giving $50,000; the Rockefeller Foundation is giving freely of its millions; BUT THE MAGNITUDE OF THE TASK IS SO GREAT THAT EVERYBODY'S HELP IS DESPERATELY NEEDED.

America has led the world in charity for less worthy causes. Compassion knows no nationality. Seventy-five (75c) cents will feed a child a month; five cents (5c), for two days. No contribution is too small, and none too large. Dry these tears! Comfort these Children.

FROSH SURPRISE VARSITY

SHOWING OF REGULARS WAS ANYTHING BUT GOOD IN OPENING PERIOD—LINE LEAKED BAD AS EVER.

FINAL SCORE WAS 24 TO 7.

The varsity attended a big surprise party when they bumped into the strong Merner freshmen in a 60-minute battle royal on College Field yesterday afternoon. The final score was 24 to 7 for the regulars. Three touchdowns by Hartwig and a goal from field by Captain Agnew summed the scoring by the Lowmanites. Ptacek tallied the yearling score and Cockrill added the odd point.

The showing of the regulars in the opening period was anything but good. The line leaked as badly as ever and the hard tackling tyros nailed the runners in order. In the second period the regulars began to hit their pace. Two touchdowns were counted in this round.

Cockrill, Dutton, Barnes, Randells, Slattery, and Ptacek were the most brilliant players for the yearlings. Captain Agnew and Hartwig played well for the varsity.

CLASS FOOTBALL TO BEGIN

The 1914 interclass football series will begin this afternoon with two contests, freshmen and sophomores, and juniors and seniors. The lower classmen will play in the city park and the high brows will perform on College Field. The games will be called at 4 o'clock.

The senior team appears as one of the most formidable contenders for the cellar championship. This team held its first practise in the main hall of Anderson yesterday morning during chapel period. This sort of a meeting is tabooed by the authorities but the seniors raved on so as to prove their bravery to the others. It is rumored that the seniors will hold signal practise a-la-I. C. S., and also that every member of the team will wear a wrist watch so that he can time the exact arrival of the end of the periods. Advise from the other training camps seems to point to the need of an adding machine in the press box when the seniors play.

The real contenders in this series will be the freshmen and the sophs. The juniors will have an outside lookin and may do something.

ELECT CLASS BOOK CHAIRMAN.

Juniors Chose W. C. Calvert at Meeting Thursday.

At the regular meeting of the Junior class Thursday morning, W. C. Calvert was elected class book chairman for the Royal Purple Volume 8, by a unanimous vote. A motion was also passed to leave the entire power of selecting assistants in the hands of the chairman. A tabulating committee was appointed and will have all the class dues of every member of the class brought up to date.

Mr. Calvert is at present the president of the junior class.

Y. W. HAS NEW VICE PRESIDENT.

Miss Ethel Corey Succeeds Miss Ruth Brown who Resigned.

Miss Ethel Carey has been elected vice-president of the Y. W. C. A. to succeed Miss Ruth Brown, whose resignation took effect last week. Miss Carey will have charge of organization of the second cabinet, for which plans are now being made.

DRAMATIC CLUB GAVE SKETCHES

The Annual Play Will be Given Some Time in February.

The Dramatic club held a meeting in the basement of the library building Tuesday evening. An excellent program of four dialogue sketches was presented. The first sketch was, "Our Guide in Genoa, Italy," an extract from Mark Twain's book Innocence Abroad. The parts were taken by P. D. Buchanan and Zeno Rechel. The second dialogue was, "Five Minutes from Yale College," presented by E. Giles and W. T. Brink. The other two sketches were extracts from the comedy, "Facing the Music," which will be presented by the Dramatic club as the annual play, sometime in February. Lois Noyes and Corinne Myers took the parts in one of these sketches, and Helen Robinson and H. S. Coith, the other.

Following the sketches, Prof. A. E. Shower gave an instructive demonstration in makeup. Miss Carrie Harper was elected to membership and several persons were initiated. The next meeting will be held Nov. 16th. Visitors are invited to attend the programs.

R. H. Whitenack, chairman of the Lyceum committee, will present the banner publicly at one of the early lyceum numbers to W. S. Taylor, president of the Athenian society.

Miss Virginia Sherwood will be hostess to the Campus club Tuesday evening. The entertainment will take the form of a vacation party.

MATH. CLUB TO MEET.

Program Schedule Has Been Completed for the Year.

The Mathematical club has completed a program schedule for every meeting during the year. This club is composed of members of the department of mathematics, and students taking that subject. Prof. B. L. Remick is chairman of the club. He and the other members of the department are doing all they can to make mathematics a live subject at the Kansas Agricultural College.

The first meeting will be held today at 10:30 in A-74. The program for this meeting is as follows: Prof. B. L. Remick, "Recent Movements in Mathematics;" Elliott Ranney, "Mathematical Paradoxes;" R. W. Haege, "History of the Duplication of the Cube."

COLLEGE GIRL IS HONORED

Miss Wilma Burtis Appointed Member from Local Y. W. C. A. to Field Committee of Western Field.

Miss Wilma Burtis has been appointed annual member from the local Young Women's Christian association to the field committee of the western central field. She is the student member of the board and represents three colleges, the University of Kansas, Washburn College, and the Kansas Agricultural College.

The plan of sending a student member to the board is a new one, and Miss Burtis is the first Kansas girl who has ever held a place on such a committee. Consequently the appointment is important and carries with it no small degree of honor.

Miss Burtis takes the student's point of view before the committee, and returns the committee's view to the student body. The result will be a closer contact and heartier cooperation between student workers and officials.

One of the early meetings of this field committee will be held in Denver.

A. I. E. E. TO MEET MONDAY NIGHT

STOCK SHOW WAS SUCCESS

MANY SIDE SHOWS, STUNTS, CLOWNS, AND GIRLS' HORSE RACE KEPT THE LARGE CROWD INTERESTED.

OVER $100 WAS TAKEN IN

A real stock show and country fair was put on by the Jayhawker Saddle and Sirloin club of the College at the new stone barn north of the campus yesterday afternoon. Something over $100 was taken in which will be used to help defray the expenses of the stock judging team at the American Royal the 16th of this month. Many of the people of Manhattan made use of the opportunity to see the College show stock on display.

The stock show began at 2:30 and there was not a dull moment all the afternoon up until the last awards had been placed. A number of interesting side shows, clowns, shooting gallery, girls' horse races, a milking contest, and other features kept up the interest of the crowd.

All of the College show stock which will be shipped to the American Royal was on display. The excellent quality of the show steers, horses, sheep, and hogs, excited the admiration of the visitors. The live stock contested in classes. The judges were: W. L. Blizzard, sheep; Carl Thompson, hogs; Colonel Brady and W. L. Rhodes, horses; and John Tomson, cattle.

The classes of show steers and calves were exceptionally strong. John R. Tomson, a Shorthorn breeder of Dover, Kansas, judged these clsses. Mr. Tomson has judged at some of the largest stock shows in the country, including the International and American Royal. He wa was highly pleased with the class of stuff which the College had on display. "I have seen a better class of yearling steers this afternoon," said Mr. Tomson, "than I have seen at any of the state shows this fall."

The big show of the country fair was held in a large circus tent. The show was a combination os stunts put on by the Ionians and Hamps, the Phi Kappa Phi, Lambda Lambda Theta, and Eta Beta Pi sororities, and thePi Kappa Alpha fraternity. Admission to the "big" show was one dime.

Out in the open a milking contest was put on by the freshmen of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity. The contest was won by Ernest Ptacek.

Four small wall tents housed as many side shows. The names of these ide shows were: "The Big Championship Swimming Pool," "The Laughing House," "The Wonder House," and "Better Kids for Kansas,"

One of the features of the afternoon was the girls' horse race. This was won by Grace Curry. Catherine Munger was second and Lucile Maughlin third.

The "Dipper" afforded the crowd a great deal of amusement. A man sat on the end of a teeter board, his position being just above a large tank full of water. The board was held parallel by means of a trigger arrangement, which was released when a board about a foot square was hit by a ball, thus precipitating the man into the tank of kater.

This show is one of the best stunts that has been put on at the College in a long time, and the Saddle and Sirloin club deserve credit for their undertaking. The show was a success in every way and plans are already being laid to duplicate it next year.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1914

The blessed work of helping the world forward, happily does not wait to be done by perfect men.—George Eliot.

GIVE NOW!

"He gives by halves who hesitates to give."

This quotation from Broome is particularly applicable to the Belgian relief fund situation at the College. It is a time when immediate action is needed. He who waits to give accomplishes only half of what he accomplishes who gives today.

Many are planning to give but are waiting for the other fellow to start it, or they have neglected to do so either because of unconcern or indifference to the campaign. Don't wait for the other fellow to start it. No doubt he is waiting for you. Be a person of initiative, one who starts things.

The time to give is today.

GRUDGE NOT ONE ANOTHER.

Grudge not one against another, brethern, lest ye be condemned, behold, the judge standeth before at the door.—James V, 9.

IN THE NAME OF HUMANITY.

At the present time there are over seven million women, children, and old people in the stricken country of Belgium suffering from the lack of clothing, shelter, and food. Not a day passes by but we hear of the reports of terrible suffering, agonies under gone which seems unbearable. From the field hospitals come staggering reports of operations undergone without anaesthetics. We picture a land made desolate by war. The once waving golden fields of grain have been trampled under foot. The quaint rural dwellings are to be found no more. The beautiful villages with their old-fashioned churches and dwelling houses are in ruins. The streets once peopled with happy, busy throngs are quiet and desolate. Instead of the joyous laugh of the child we hear the pitiful groan of the wounded. Instead of the cries of the peddler we hear the report of guns and the clash of swords. Instead of the noises of a city full of life we have the silence of death.

In the name of humanity let us respond to the call of the hungry, the cold, the suffering, the wounded, the dying. Let us give of our abundance. Let us give heartily. Let us give cheerfully. The cry is just as pitiful, the need as insistent, from the fields of stricken Belgium as if from our own United States of America. An Aggie man's dollar will keep twenty starving women and children in food for one day. Let us give today men and women of the Kansas Agricultural College. Let us respond today to the call which is pulling at the very heart strings of the nation. Let us not be mindful of the great distance of the call. A true Aggie man and woman will not let distance dull the edge of his natural human kindness.

Who does not in some sort live to others, does not live much to himself. —Montaigne.

"WE ARE OVERWHELMED."

The editor has received the following letter from the Belgian consul at Kansas City, Mo.:

Consulat de Belgique

Dear Mr. Heppe,

No time today to give any information. Put in your paper all you can, the cause is worthy and we are overwhelmed. I send you an appeal every newspaper in Kansas will publish.

Help with all your heart and your might. We thank you. Our souls are bleeding and we trust ourselves and our children, mothers, sisters, and brothers to you kind Americans.

Hurrah! for the United States, Hurrah! for Manhattan. Thanks.

Yours sincerely,

BEAT WASHBURN.

It is up to the rooters to stand behind the team at this last game off the 1914 football season. The game comes the day before Thanksgiving but there will be plenty of time to see the annual gridiron scrap and then catch a train home. The turkey will taste just that much better after seeing the Aggies pull the feathers from the Washburn bird. Let's all remember that it is the duty of each one off us to stay and see the Thanksgiving game.

HOSPITALITY.

"Hospitality is enjoying with others that which is our own; dividing with them the bread for the body, sharing with them the experiences and fancies for the mind. The one from the outside brings with him something of pleasure and thought and fellowship which he leaves in that home; he takes away with him a share of the cheer and warmth of that fireside."—Selected.

"IF"

(With apologies to Rudyard Kipling.)

If you can punt the ball, when all around you,
If you can gain a foot, when they have downed you,
Forgetting all about your chance to shine.
Iff you can run and not be tired by running,
Or, being hit hard, don't sit down to rest,
Or, in a hole make use of all your cunning,

If you can pass and not miss on your aim,
If you can meet with triumphs and disaster,
But play to win and not to lose the game.
If you can bear to hear your signals twisted
By backs intending only good,
If you can watch your understudy
Driving your team the very way you would.
If you can muster all your football spirit,
And stake it all upon the game at hand,
And lose and come to practice next day,
And come with gusto that will show you've got the sand,
If you can force your weakly bandaged ankles
To stand the strain long after they are gone,
To stick the pace, when they have gone their limit,
And stand the weight once more of all your brawn.

Or walk with girls and do not boast too much,
If you can pass your subjects all without fear,
And swell your heart within your sweater and such,
If you can fill the speedily passing season,
With a clean record full of glory won,
Yours is the school and everything that's in it,
And which is more, you'll be captain next, my son.
—Stanley Koch, inthe Ohio State Lantern.

Auto-Polo Makes Hit.

The newest sport has arrived, and judging from all indications, bids fair to remain. It is the game of Auto-Polo. Invented only a few weeks ago, the sport has made a tremendous hit wherever it has been shown. Yesterday was the first time that Kansas City sport fans have had a chance to see this newest of dare devil events, that continually toys with death. That may seem ambiguous, but it is the truth. The drivers battled with one another to prevent an upset and wer successful, but there were times innumerable when it looked to the spectators as if the ambulance call would be the next order on the program.—K. Sigma Tau, national honorary engineering fraternity, announces the following pledges: James Hagan, Shelby Fell, and B. M. Andrews.

The A. I. E. E. meets Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock in C-60. Some very interesting papers will be read and all engineers are urged to be present.

All of the engines in the steam and gas laboratories are being fitted with individual prony brakes, thus the work of preparing for tests on the various engines is greatly decreased.

Bulletin boards have been placed in both the applied mechanics and hydraulics laboratories. Information for students in these subjects will be placed on these boards regularly.

The machine shops recent'y received an electric drill of the portable type, which will take drills up to three quarters of an inch. A balancing machine for balancing and trueing up belt pulleys has also been received.

Work has been started on the new thermal testing room in the middle bay. The cork lining for the walls arrived this week and Professor Simmering has been busy all week getting the room in shape to receive the lining. The room will be completed in about two weeks.

The ceilings of the shops and of the boiler room have been treated to a coat of yellow paint. Signs have been placed in all the laboratories and in the shops which tell the visitor just what shop or laboratory he is in. The names of the various engineering instructors have been placed on their respective office doors.

L. V. Fickel and P. E. Jackson have taken for their thesis work the determination of whether individual motors will be more efficient and cheaper than the present power system used in the Jackson Mill at Downs. This will necessitate a great number of tests being run at the mill, and will probably take the rest of the year to complete.

The foundry has recently cast a 300 lb. weight which will be used to break pig iron for the cupola. This weight is raised about fifteen feet in the air by means of a power hoist and there it is tripped and the weight falls on the pig iron and breaks it up. Professor Grant says that this is a decided improvement over the old method, by which a student armed with a 30-pound sledge did the work.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

So far this year most of the effort of the cabinet men has been toward promoting Bible study. W. C. McConnell has charge of this work and reports several classes organized and ready to go ahead with a number of others, moving rapidly toward a permanent organization. This work will continue to be emphasized and President Irwin is exceedingly anxious that a large number of groups be organized for Bible study. Some of these classes meet in the churches, and one or two at the Y. M. C. A., but most of them are located in the men's rooms. It is very urgent that the Christian men of the College do what they can to organize every individual group to spend an hour or so each week in quiet, thoughtful, helpful discussion of moral and religious problems. Keep this in mind, men, and let each one do his part.

Owing to an unforseen change in the leadership of the association, the loss of President A. E. Jones, and a general plan of reorganization, the year's work has possibly been a little slow in getting under way. Things are moving nicely now, however, and the reports at cabinet meeting on Tuesday evening were very hopeful.

F. S. Hawkins, member of the cabinet in charge of extension work, is planning some important Gospel Team work, especially during the Christmas holidays. He is also formulating plans whereby athletic clubs will be organized in various small towns in Riley county. One of the vital aims of this latter movement is the elimination of Sunday baseball. Rev. Walter Burr of the extension division of the College is co-operating heartily with Mr. Hawkin's committee, and it is expected that much good will result from this work.

VALLEY LEAGUE CHANGES LITTLE

Kansas and Nebraska are Only Teams Left in Race.

Saturday's football results made little change in the standing of the Missouri Valley football teams; with the exception of the elimination of Ames by the Cornhuskers. Kansas and Nebraska are the only teams left in the race and the Nebraskans lead with three conference victories while the Jayhawkers have two.

Ames' elimination leaves the championship to be decided by the Kansas-Nebraska game at Lincoln, November 14. Nebraska looks stronger and if the figures mean anything, Coach Wheaton will have a big job whipping the Steihm roller.

Missouri rallied Saturday and beat the Kansas Aggies by a small score. Kansas overwhelmed the Farmers the week before and the two games give a line on the Jayhawk and Tiger.

Ames lost to Nebraska 20 to 7 after a hard battle, Washington and Drake, already out of the running, had a consolation scrap at St. Louis with a 7 to 7 score. Washburn suffered a stinging defeat in the hands of Bill Hargiss's Kansas Normals.

KANSAS WILL SEND TEAM.

Six Men Will Compete in Annual Cross-Country Championship.

On the basis of their showing in the cross country tryout before the Oklahoma game, six men will be sent to the annual cross-country championship of the Missouri Valley Conference, says the University Daily Kansan. Captain Edwards, Rodkey, Grady, Howland, and either Young or Poss. The team will leave here Friday morning, arriving at Des Moines that evening, where the men will be quartered until time for the meet, when they will proceed to the Ames campus, about 15 miles from the city.

Little is known of the strength of the other teams. Ames has a well balanced team and will have the added advantage of being familiar with the course. Kansas has not a very well balanced team but if Rodkey and Captain Edwards come through with what is expected of them, the team may win. It will take a good runner to beat Rodkey to the tape and Captain Edwards may be counted on to finish in the first five.

The course at Ames is five miles in length and over a level road. The present Conference five mile record is expected to be approached if weather conditions are favorable.

SHEPARD IS PLAYING AGAIN.

His Return Will Add Strength to the Tigers.

Columbia, M., Nov. 6.—Paul Shepard was out on the grass in a Tiger uniform last night, booting neat little "tip-over" spirals for the other members of the squad. Shep appears to have recovered from his battering in the Ames game and looks fit.

Last night's practice was mostly signal drill. Followed by coaches Brewer, Schulte, Gibson, Wilson and Klein the Tiger regulars chased up and down the field to get the stiffness out of their muscles. The same program composed the afternoon's work of the scrubs and for Van Gent's freshman fire-eaters.

Toby Graves viewed the workout from the grandstand. If Tubby's little brother could make as quick recovery as Shepard has done the Tiger stock would go up several notches.

Members of the team fully expect to make a comfortable score against Drake Saturday and to beat Washington the following week by a decisive count. The Drake game will be played at Des Moines and the Washington game at home. Drake and Washington played a tie game last Saturday. Kansas defeated Drake in the early part of the season.

The return of Shepard will add tremendously to the strength of the team, for Shep's 42 centimeter boot is feared by all safety men in the Valley.

WANTS HEAVY, RANGY, PLAYERS.

University of Missouri Will Play New Style of Basketball.

The basketball season at Missouri will begin this year with a stroke of bad luck, says the University Daily Missourian. George Palfreyman, captain, is in the hospital with typhoid fever and probably will be out of the game for the first of the season. Last year a "hoodoo" seemed to follow the Tiger team. Captain Taafe was lost on account of a protest against the degree amendment of a Missouri Valley rule, two good men were out because of poor scholarship, and later Bernet was out of the game with an injury.

Eugene Van Gent, the new basketball instructor, issued a call for all candidates to report at the gymnasium Wednesday evening. Mr. Van Gent was center at Wisconsin for three years and will teach a new style of game. His preference is for heavy, rangy players. It is certain that the center position, formerly held by Bernet, will be filled by a tall man of weight if Van Gent can find such in school.

SOONERS AND JAYHAWKERS TIE.

The Game Wase a Weird Football Battle.

Two safeties and touchdowns apiece gave the University of Kansas and Oklahoma a total of 16 points each in the weirdest football game played on any university or college gridiron throughout the country last Saturday. The score alone places Kansas a couple of touchdowns better than the Missouri Tigers who lost to the Sooner eleven, 13 to 0, at Norman two weeks ago. By comparative scores the M. U.-Kansas Aggies result gives the Jayhawkers practically the same lead over their ancient rivals.

Missouri, Ames, and the Kansas Aggies are outsiders in the conference race this season. Ames defeated Missouri and in turn lost to the University of Nebraska eleven last Saturday when that team hibernated for three periods and staged a finish that won 20 to 7. K. U. overwhelmed Drake early in the present season and Washington could but tie the Bulldogs Saturday, proving by the comparative scores method that these teams are practically the tailenders in the Big Muddy clique this year.

By this same method, Nebraska ranks high in the United States in football circles. Michigan barely won from the Lansing Aggies, 3 to 0, and lost to Harvard Saturday, 7 to 0. Nebraska trounced the Michigan Farmers 24 to 0 a week ago and on scores appears better than the Eastern leaders.

Nebraska looms up as a fourth-time winner in the Missouri Valley conference with Kansas the runner-up. K. U. has a wonderful team in the process but has been handicapped this season by many injuries. Anyway the Cornhusker-Jayhawker battle will be one well worth going many miles to see.

THOSE EMPORIA REMARKS

Emporia papers have been cutting in their remarks over the refusal of the Aggie coach to play the Hargiss Normals at Emporia today. True it is that the Emporia management offered the Lowmanites double the guarantee that Coach Lowman gave that team when they played on College Field earlier this fall. But why would it not have been worth double the tax? The Kansas Aggies rank second only to the University of Kansas as a drawing card in the state.

Hargiss also knew good and well enough that he was making a safe move when he yelped out his "double" proposition. He knew that Coach Lowman purposely permitted the Colorado date to remain open throughout the entire football season knowing that his proteges would need a good rest following their trip to Missouri, with Owens' tribe coming on as one of the hardest games on the card.

"Coach Lowman's fine line of excuses" may be interpreted to mean many things by the Emporians, but one thing that no Aggie follower can miss-read is that the eleven would be afraid to tackle the Hargiss bunch again. The Aggies have not depreciated in their playing since the Normal-Aggie game and we do not feel that the Emporians have climbed high enough on the ladder to trounce the Lowmanites. The Washburn-Emporia game was good in spots but it was easy enough to tell that the same old bunch of "Teachers" were out there playing for the big boss. Even "Bill" himself said after the Normal-Aggie game that the Lowman eleven should have won by a pair of scores. But at that we should have enjoyed the little trip to Emporia to watch the fun.

Auto Polo Thrills.

Sitting on the dege of his seat and watching for spills is the spectator's chief diversion in the latest in sportdom, that being the new game of Auto-Polo, which pleased the crowd at the Stadium yesterday afternoon. They came not knowing exactly what they were going to see, but hoping, nevertheless, that whatever it was it would be full of thrills. It was. They could not have been more interesed if one side had been the home team and the game decided the pennant series. The women wrung their hands and gasped and said, "Oh," and "O-u-u," and the men cheered and wrangled with the umpire. Auto-Polo is a stirring sport from the spectator's standpoint, and the match was a real contest.—Kansas City Star. Adv.

Salina high went down before the Manhattan high school eleven on College Field yesterday afternoon by a final count of 32 to 7. The Salina eleven counted on a mystifying delayed pass, and later attempted the same stunt but dropped the oval and lost seven points when a Manhattan player recovered and raced down the field for a touchdown.

WILL PURIFY CITY WATER.

Commissioners Plan to Soften and Clarify It.

Hurrah for the city administration!

While we are busy looking over the returns of the state and county elections, we should not forget the fact that Manhattan has one of the livest and best bunch of city officials to be found anywhere in the state. When there is anything needed in town the people may depend upon it that the present administration will get it or go as far toward getting it as the funds of the city will permit. And that is as much as anyone can expect the officers to do. Considering that the funds in the various departments have not been large enough to make as rapid strides as the officials would like to make, every man in town will admit that the town has gone forward in everything pertaining to the city's welfare.

Now comes the water department with an announcement that the water mains of the city, which have been doing duty for the past 27 years without being cleaned, are to be drained and freed of all corroded matter. All sediment, and there is much of this, is to be removed from the pipes, and this will not only tend to purer water, but will increase the pressure. The water now used in this city has been tested at the Kansas University laboratories and found to contain iron and magnesia to some extent, but according to medical men, they are harmless ingredients, except that they discolor the water and make it sometimes unsightly. As soon as the money is available, the department plans to install a water softening apparatus, which will not only soften, but purify the water as well. With this installed, it is certain that Manhattan's water will be second to none in the state.

Recently the water department sunk two new 24-inch wells and the water in these is found to be better than from the old wells. It is clearer and purer and is now being pumped daily. The new pump, which was installed some time ago, was not set up right by the men from whom it was purchased, and this will have to be corrected before it can be used. However, the city is holding back half the purchase price of the pump and is therefore fully protected in case the pump does not work.

When the new wells were sunk some time ago, the department cleaned all of its suction lines and the plant is in the best possible shape at this time. When the money is available the officials of Manhattan will take many steps toward the improvement of the city, but it will take time. And in the meantime people will not forget that Manhattan has made wonderful strides under the present administration.

TOO MUCH WORK FOR LOWMAN.

The Star Suggests That We Follow Example of Other Schools.

"Guy Lowman has too big a job out at Manhattan," said a Missouri Valley conference athletic man in a recent conversation. "The Aggies are new members of the conference and that makes the job all the harder," he continued. "Lowman coaches football, baseball, basket ball, handles the making of schedules and the business affairs. It's too big a job for one man. Kansas found that out. Missouri got wise to it, and one of the smartest things ever done at Columbia was the naming of C. L. Brewer as athletic director and the hiring of Schulte to coach the football team. Of course, Brewer helps with the football, but he doesn't devote all his time to it. He couldn't, and it's a wonder Guy Lowman has done as well as he has at Manhattan. Ames found that Clyde Williams had too much to do without coaching football, so the eleven was turned over to Hubbard. That's what should be done at Manhattan, and sooner or later they'll come to it. Lowman is too good a man and too well liked in the conference to be buried beneath an avalanche of overwork."—Kansas City Star.

SOUTH DAKOTA COMES HERE

While you are talking over the result of the Oklahoma-Aggie football game Friday evening don't forget that there is another of the College teams which will need your support on that night, namely, the debating team. Although the battle cry during the afternoon may be "Beat Oklahoma" in the evening it will change to "Beat South Dakota." The affirmative team of the College will clash with the team from the University of South Dakota in the College auditorium, while the negative team will debate the same night with Iowa State College at Ames. The subject under debate is, "Resolved, That Immigration to the United States Should Be Further Restricted by a Literacy Test."

The men from South Dakota who will debate here are, H. C. Mundt, H. B. Rudolph, and C. M. Davis. They will have as their opponents Joe Sweet, Florence Justin, and J. V. Quigley. The negative team which will meet Iowa State College is composed of J. L. Lush, John Rathbun, and L. V. Rhine.

HIGHWAY ENGINEERS ARE BUSY.

They are Attending Conventions and Doing Work in State.

The force of the state highway engineer's office are all on the busy list this week. All of the men will be out of the office doing work in the state and attending conventions.

W. S. Gearhart, state highway engineer, is attending the convention of the American Road congress at Atlanta, Ga. He will present a paper on, "The Location of Highways."

H. B. Walker is on institute work in the southern part of the state. This will keep him from the office for the next two weeks.

A. R. Losh will attend the meeting of the Kansas State Good Roads association at Hutchinson Thursday and Friday.

W. J. King is in Jackson and Jefferson counties where he is conducting a drainage project.

GIVE SHOW AT HALF PRICE.

The Manhattan Mercury Will Reduce Cost of Amusement.

Believing that larger crowds at smaller prices will pay bigger returns in the show business than small crowds at high prices, the Manhattan Mercury will demonstrate its idea in a novel way next Monday night. The newspaper has purchased the entire theatre for two performances, afternoon and night, for "The Little Shepherd of Barggin Row," in which Miss Sarah Padden is starring this season.

Instead of charging the usual prices that are asked to see Miss Padden, the Mercury has cut them in half. In other words, the prices will be 25, 35, 50 and 75 cents, for the night performance and 25 and 50 cents for the matinee, instead of $1.50, $1.00, 75 and 50 cents for the night performance and 75 and 50 cents for the matinee. The Mercury's generous reduction for this first class attraction will give students an opportunity to see the best on the road for a small charge. Many of the students are already planning line parties for next Monday, and it is safe to say that the house will be crowded for both performances.

The press notices given Miss Padden in the Kansas City papers on October 26, this year, are to the effect that she is seen to better advantage in "The Little Shepherd of Bargain Row" than any piece she has yet starred in. Miss Padden is by far the best emotional actress entour this season. To assure yourseliff good seats for this bargain show, better order them by mail at once. Mail orders can be sent either to the Mercury office or to the Marshall Theatre.

Send the Collegian home.

THE AFFIRMATIVE TEAM

Joseph B. Sweet, who leads the affirmative team against the University of South Dakota, is a member of the Athenian literary society. He is a debater of ability and experience, having debated Iowa State last fall

FLORENCE JUSTIN

J. V. Quigley, second speaker of the affirmative, is a member of the Athenian literary society. He was star member of the debating team that met

J. V. QUIGLEY

KANSAS AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE CAN MAKE IT $500

If a woman in Manhattan were homeless and obliged to sleep in freezing fields, there's not an Aggie man who wouldn't dig to the bottom of his pocket to help her.

If a child in Manhattan had lost his father and mother and was wandering around, friendless, crying for something to eat, there's not an Aggie man who wouldn't help that luckless child.

If a poor baby in Manhattan were dying because of lack of milk, there's not an Aggie man who wouldn't see to it that that baby got food.

If a man in Manhattan, frightfully mangled, needed ether to allay the pain of a surgeon's knife, there's not an Aggie man who wouldn't run a mile or spend his last dollar to get an anaesthetic for that poor fellow.

Because this homeless woman, this hungry child, this dying baby, and mangled man, are not in Manhattan, but are thousands of miles away, will not make any difference to the thoughtful Aggie man. The cry is just as pitiful, the need as insistent, from the fields of stricken Belgium, as if from the state of Kansas.

An Aggie man's dollar will keep twenty starving women and children in food for one day. Give today of your abundance.

HAVE YOU GIVEN ANYTHING?

EVERY MEMBER OF FACULTY AND STUDENT BODY SHOULD GIVE SOMETHING TOWARD THE BELGIAN RELIEF FUND.

$60.20 HAS BEEN GIVEN SO FAR

The Belgian relief fund campaign is progressing but not as rapidly as it should. Many are not availing themselves of the opportunity to give something toward this great cause. The students in particular have not gotten behind the movement as they should.

Surely no one can doubt the worthiness of the cause. A call has been made which is being answered in every town and city in the United States. All of the large educational institutions of the country are raising funds for the relief of the stricken people of Belgium. At the University of Kansas over $600 has been raised for the Red Cross society and a campaign has been started to raise funds for the Belgian ufferers.

Surely the Kansas Agricultural College does not want to be outdone in this movement which is sweeping our country. It must not be said of her that she would not give of her plenty for the relief of a stricken nation.

Money can be turned in at the office of the financial secretary of the College, at Dean Mary Pierce Van Zile's office and at the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A.'s.

The following have given to the fund:

KILTIES COME THURSDAY

SEATS SELL AT POPULAR PRICES

Hoot mon, hoot!! The Kilties are comin'. Bagpipes, kilts, sword dances, highland flings, and all, they'll show you exactly how it is done in the land of Scotch oats. A rather hasty advertising campaign for such a worthy attraction, but the proposition listened well to the College musical department and so for the first time ever, the local music lovers will be treated to one of the very best of the international bands, and all at popular prices.

Prof. Olaf Valley and his assistant, Harry Brown, arranged this treat with the management of the Kiltie Band last Saturday night when the Kiltie advance man came to Manhattan to try to arrange a date here for his band. Owing to an engagement in Junction Wednesday evening and one in Topeka on Friday night, Thursday offered the only chance and the local promoters grabbed it.

This band is one of international fame and found its origin in Montreal, Canada, twelve years ago. Since its organization the band has played in every civilized country on the face of the globe. Followers of the fortunes of Electric Park in Kansas City no doubt have heard the band there on one of its many successful engagements at that popular amusement emporium.

To insure the possibility of everyone hearing this clever band, the music department is putting on the show at popular prices. This is the first time that so large a band has ever been displayed at poular tax. The proceeds of the performance will be applied to the College Organ Fund.

Seats have been placed on sale at the music department's office in the College auditorium, at the registrar's office in Anderson, at the Co-Operative book store in Aggieville, and Knostman's Clothing store downtown. None of the seats will be reserved. first come, first served.

HAVE A GO-TO-CHURCH SUNDAY

Movement Is on Foot to Have Each Student of the College Attend Church Next Sunday.

Sunday, November 15, will be known as College Sunday and a special attempt will be made to get the students to attend church on that day. The services of he day will be appropriate to the occasion.

All the churches of Manhattan are co-operating in this Go-To-Church movement, which, although it is for everybody, yet is especially for College students. The movement is being carried out under the leadership of the Y. M. C. A.

It is hoped that the students will heartily co-operate with the churches in this movement and help make it a success. A list of the subjects of the morning and evening sermons to be preached in the Manhattan churches next Sunday will be given in the Saturday's issue of the COLLEGIAN.

LOYALTY TO THE AGGIE TEAM

Next Friday afternoon on College Field will be fought one of the hardest football battles of the present season. The Aggie team goes into the contest with the Kansas Agricultural College, body and soul, behind it. With a two weeks' rest and all the cripples again on their feet, the team is going to put up a fight which means win or die.

Friday is a holiday, but no loyal Aggie will take advantage of this to go on a hike. Friday afternoon every student of the College should be found out on the field rooting for his team. Remember that this is a time when the support of each and every member of the student body is needed. It is a time to show your true college spirit. Shall it be said of you that you failed your team when they needed your loyal support?

If you are out on a hike Friday afternoon at 3:30, if you are on a train homeward bound, if you are anywhere except out on College Field remember that you are a traitor, a betrayer of the trust which you have in your team. In the name of true sportsmanship don't fail the Aggie eleven on Friday; be for them first, last, and always as is every true, loyal student of the Kansas Agricultural College.

SIKHUNG TAAM IS IN COLLEGE.

Son of Wealthy Chinese Merchant Enrolls in Animal Husbandry.

Sikung Taam, the son of a wealthy Chinese merchant in Canton, China, is enrolled in the Kansas Agricultural College. He has been in America several years but has been studying in the east. Mr. Taam is a junior in animal husbandry. He brought with him credits from the Pennsylvania State college.

WHO'S WHO OF THE DEBATERS

THE NEGATIVE TEAM.

Jay L. Lush, leader of the negative team is a member of the Franklin literary society. He has had much experience as a debater. A year ago he was a member of the team that defeated Ames. Last spring he debated the Oklahoma A. and M. college at St ater. He is a leader in society and class politics and a member of the Forum.

J. L. LUSH

L. V. Rhine, first speaker on the negative team, is one of the newer members of the Alpha Beta literary society. He entered College last fall with a debating record from Cherokee county high school. He was a member of the team that debeated the Athenians last spring. He is a member of the debating council, the Student council and the Agricultural society.

L. V. RHINE

John Rathbun is the third speaker of the negative team. He is a member of the Hamilton literary society.

JOHN RATHBUN

Mr. Rathbun is a junior in the mechanical engineering course. He has won distinction in the Hamilton society as an orator and is active in society and church work.

John F. Davidson, '13, spent Monday at the Pi Kappa Alpha house. Mr. Davidson left Monday night for Florida, where he has accepted a position.

TO BATTLE SOONERS FRIDAY

OWENS TEAM USES OPEN PLAY

Southerners Offset Lack of Weight by Dazzling Forward Pass Formations—Coach Lowman May Make Shift in the Aggie Line.

(By E. H. Smith.)

A recommmendation for change in the reputable Noah Webster's unabridged is that of the definition of the word "sooner." The change should read: "One who would sooner play football than eat." Such is the brand that makes up the University football team, which plays the Kansas Aggies on College Field Friday afternoon. The quality of Owens teams is always without reproach, and their quantity in years past has not been of the paperweight division.

In the conference this season, the Owens eleven has not cut its usual caper. Missouri fell an easy victim, 13 to 0, but the heavy Jayhawkers tied the Sooners in weird combat on McCook Field some two weeks ago, 16 to 16. Nevertheless every conference team experiences the cold shivery feeling when mention is made of the Oklahomans.

With the Missouri Valley world for them, body and soul, the Kansas Aggies enter the Oklahoma game refreshed by a two weeks vacation and pointed to the minute to do their durndest. The eyes of the football following of the middle-west will be trained on College Field Friday afternoon and should the Lowmanites be returned winners, the feather will be second to none of the season.

Criticism of the playing of the Lowman backfield is unjust. This department of the eleven has acquitted itself in every gridiron contest this season. The line has not put on the brand of fight that it should. Coach Lowman has spent many sleepless nights during the season endeavoring to unearth the weak spot in the front rank. Lack of general fight seems to be the chief cause of trouble.

"I am going to put fighters into that line," said Coach Lowman the other day, "if I have to run in Haucke and Hartwig." This means a shift for the Oklahoma battle. Of course it is not altogether probable that the Aggie mentor will resort to the above mentioned tactics, but it is not altogether impossible. Hartwig graced one of the wings on the varsity when that eleven played the classy yearlings on College Field last Friday afternoon. His work in this new position was commendable and it is barely possible that "Fritz" may be seen in action from an end position at some stage of the Sooner-Aggie game.

The tackling of the varsity appeared as one of the greatest weaknesses against Merner's freshmen. Time and again the yearlings plowed upfield for gains after being grounded out. With the slippery featherweight backfield of the Oklahomans skirting the Aggie wings in meteor-like fashion, the tackling of the Lowmanites will be one of the most essential factors in staving off defeat. The Sooner line is a fast charging affair and needless to say the Lowman front rank will be called upon to stop charges that will compare favorably with any they have met this season.

But the greatest feature of the Sooner attack is their use of the open play. Forward passing is the one delight of the Owens eleven. Against the Wheaton machine at Lawrence this style of play featured the work of the Southerners. Fast as greased lightning, offsetting their lack of weight, the Owens backfield pulls dazzling forward pass formations with speed "too fast for the movies." The Aggies have not bumped into a really strong eleven in the use of the forward pass this season. Kansas, Nebraska, and Missouri, seldom have recorded appreciable gains from the play this season. On the other hand the Owens eleven makes a specialty of the play.

In the times they have met the passing game the Kansas Aggies have been successful to a moderate degree in defending themselves against it. Haucke and Hartwig, playing close in on secondary defense, have effectually smothered their opponent's passes in every game thus far. Here's hoping they continue to do so Friday.

Enthusiasm: The sense of this word among the Greeks affords the noblest definition of it, namely, "God in us."—Mme. de Stael.

READ THIS BEFORE DINNER.

Perhaps you think the need of food in Belgium is overdrawn. But if you could see the little sack, containing three ounces of flour, which represents the entire ration of a Belgian for three days, perhaps you would be convinced that it was time to give something.

That little bit of food, scarcely a handful, must provide the entire ration of a Belgian for three meals. Think of it, you students, who sit down to a full table three times a day—a half cupful of flour for three meals!

WHEN WE SIN WILFULLY.

If we sin wilfully after that we have received the knowledge of the truth, there remaineth no more sacrifice for sins, but a certain fearful looking judgment and fiery indignation, which shall devour the adversaries.—Hebrews X, 26-27.

WEARING THE CAPS.

Why should you wear the cap, freshman? Not because it is the custom at the large institutions of the country, not because of a sense of fear, but because you are starting in college, because you are filled with the right sort of college spirit, and because the cap will generate in you the class spirit that is necessary. By wearing the cap, you will get on a democratic spirit with your fellow classmen, and you will come to know and recognize them.

The cap at the Kansas Agricultural College would be better than a letter of introduction as a means of promoting rapid friendships. Every first-year man would speak to those who wear the cap, for they are his classmates, students with whom he is on common ground.

The first-year men at the Kansas Agricultural consider it as an insult to be asked to start the movement of wearing the caps. Their vision does not take them beyond the fact that the caps are being worn so that the upper classmen can look down upon them. As a matter of fact they do not realize that they have been asked to do a thing for their own benefit. It is this very lack of class spirit which makes such a thing as true college spirit impossible. Perhaps some day an enlightened class of freshmen will drop in at old Alma Mater, and then we will have the caps and a class spirit which will pale into insignificance the feeble attempts of any former first-year class to show a true college spirit.

The only hope of preserving what is best, lies in the practice of an immense charity, a sincere respect for opinions that are not ours.—Hamerton.

THE JAYHAWKER FAIR.

On last Friday a live stock show and fair was conducted by the Jayhawker Saddle and Sirloin club of the College. The undertaking was a success in every way and the members of the club are to be congratulated.

By putting on this attraction, the Saddle and Sirloin club has proved to the rest of the College that it is alive and ready to do things. It is more of these organizations which we need at the Kansas Agricultural College. These are the organizations that do things, that stir up spirit in the institution and put life into the student body. This one stunt of the Saddle and Sirloin club has done more towards putting life into the student body than has anything else that has been held at the College in a long time. It is hoped that the other organizations of the institution will wake up and show their existence.

A COLLEGE SUNDAY.

Next Sunday will be known as College Sunday among the Protestant churches of Manhattan and a special attempt will be made to get the students of the College to attend the church services on that day. Appropriate sermons will be preached at both the morning and evening services.

This movement is certainly a welcome one, but why can't there be a go-to-church Sunday once each month when it will be the duty of each student of the College to attend one of the church serivces of the day? At the University of Kansas they have such a movement and the committee tries to get each student in the University to go to church on that day. But this is a good start and one which will no doubt culminate in such a movement. Let's every one of us get behind this movement and go to church somewhere next Sunday.

FIGUREHEADS.

Who has not admired the figurehead of some great ship, that modeled form which leads the vessel through storm and calm? A prominent place it occupies, but as to usefulness you cannot say it has any.

So it is with many of the staff of a college paper. Their names appear in the "masthead" of the publication but they are figureheads, they hold their responsible position in name only. The COLLEGIAN is not an exception. The members of the COLLEGIAN board are supposed to form the reportorial staff of the paper, but woe be it if it were left to them to turn in the news of the College. Exceptions there are, of course, and perhaps we could name four of the board members who have stood loyally behind the editor. But as for the remainder of the board, they have not awoke as yet.

Perhaps a concrete example will illustrate. On Hallowe'en two organizations of the College gave a joint Hallowe'en party. The committees went to a lot of hard work to make the festivity a success, but when they looked in the following Wednesday's paper for a report of the affair nothing was to be found. Naturally they felt a little "sore" about it and we can't blame them. The editor was to blame of course. The funny thing about it, though, is that each one of these organizations has a member on the board who has been elected for the sole purpose of reporting the doings of his organization. Evidently these two board members were not appointed because of their natural abilitly along journalistic lines, for they would have been "scooped" had they been working on a city daily.

Perhaps it would not be a bad idea if each of the organizations of the College would investigate the work of its representative on the board. Something has to be done. Either the present members of the board must get busy or the election of new ones will be demanded. This is a business proposition, and if the board members cannot perform the duties which they have been elected to do then it is time to move on and let somebody else have a trial.

WEAVER WINS FIVE MILER

Time was 27 Minutes, 29 2-5 Seconds—It will Stand as Official Record for the College.

Joe Weaver won the five-mile run held last Saturday afternoon in 27 minutes. 29 2-5 seconds. The course was the same as that over which the Ames tryouts were held and this time will stand as the official five-mile record for the College. Seeber finished second to Weaver, and Keyes came in third. Coach Carl J. Merner will give medals to these men.

SENIORS TAKE OPENING GAME.

The senior-junior battle was well fought from whistle to whistle, the play being in junior territory the greater part of the time. The structural weakness of the juniors was in their fumbling. Center Baker, on the senior eleven, starred at recovering these fumbles. Through this weakness the upper-classmen gained much ground.

With the ball deep in junior territory late in the third round, Left Tackle Fowler plunged through the junior rank and mussed up a punt and downed the ball on the third year team's 5-yard line. The minute resting period between periods gave the teams a much needed rest and the juniors repulsed two attacks through the line for losses. McClymons shot through the mass on the third play and scored. Milner booted the odd point.

Features of this game were the punting of "Fritz" Miller, whose spirals went better than 30 yards, and the clever work of Baker for the upper-classmen at recovering junior fumbles. Sargent, Lund, Collins, and Fowler also played well. McGalliard, Barnes, Wilhoit, Richards, White, and Riney, fought best for the junior. The lineup: Seniors—7: r. e., Myers; r. t., Loomis; r. g., Unruh; c., Baker; l. g., Collins; l. t., Fowler; q. b., Sargent; r. h. b., McClymons; f. b., Milner; l. h. b., Lund. Juniors—0: r. e., Sharp; r. t., Richards; r. g., White; c., Baird; l. g., Riney; l. t., Wilhoit; l. e., Fletcher; q. b., Dickinson; r. h. b., McGalliard; f. b., Barnes; l. h. b., Putnam. Referee, Frank; Umpire, Howenstine.

FRESHMAN-SOPH GAME WAS TIE.

Both Teams Fought Hard But Neither Could Score.

The freshmen and sophs fought to a 0 to 0 tie on the city park gridiron Saturday afternoon. The ball was not long in either team's territory and the fighting was ferocious throughout. A forward pass blew up the freshmen on one instance when Denman passed 20 yards to Park who was downed by Ptacek on the yearling 10-yard line. The first year team then took the ball on downs and punted out of danger. Later the yearlings advanced the ball to the sophomore eleven's one-yard line and lacking the final punch failed to count and lost the oval on downs. For the sophs, Denman, Randalls, Park, Sherwood, and Paxton, were the bright particular players. Slattery, Hewey, Linn, Cockeral, and Ptacek, played best for the first year squad. The lineup: Freshmen0: r. e., Enlow; r. t., Leeson; r. g., Franz; c., Rostetter; l. g., Lawyer; l. t., Hewey; l. e., Slatterly; q. b. Cockeral; r. h. b., Ptacek; f. b., Dutton; l. h. b., Linn. Sophomores—0: r. e., Park; r. t., Hoffman; r. g., Schraper; c., exton; l. g., Brechenisen; l. t., Brown; l. e., Sherwood; q. b., Denman; r. h. b., Croyle; f. b., Randelis; l. h. b., Chapman.

FOOTBALL RESULTS.

Washington, 6; St. Louis, 0.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 7.—Martin, the Washington fullback, scored a touchdown in the first quarter of the game between Washington and St. Louis University today and Washington won 6 to 0. Washington relied largely on open play, Martin scored after taking a lateral pass from Potthoff. In the second quarter, Hetlage, Washington right half back, was stunned so badly that he was unable to remember the signals.

He was replaced by Coleman. In this half Thomas, the St. Louis half back, made a thirteen yard end run, his first big gain of the game.

Lincoln, Nov. 7.—Morningside college scored on the Nebraska football team today when the local team fumbled in the last minute of play. Morningside recovered and a forward pass for 23 yards sent Vernon over for a touchdown. The final score was Nebraska 34, Morningside 7.

Nebraska toyed with the Collegians throughout the game. Halligan's two long runs one for 65 yards, for touchdowns for Nebraska were the feature of the game.

Tigers, 32; Drake, 6.

Des Moines, Nov. 7.—Missouri University overwhelmed Drake university today at the Drake stadium by a score of 32 to 6 in a game replete with good, bad, and very poor playing. Drake lost many chances to score by fumbling and poor playing, while penalties of 100 yards assessed against the visitors robbed them of at least one touchdown and gave Drake its only score.

Army, 20; Notre Dame, 7.

West Point, Nov. 7.—The Army won from Notre Dame today, 20 to 7. The Westerners handled the ball loosely throughout the contest.

The Army's initial score came in the first few minutes of play, after Cofall muffed a punt and Goodman fell on the ball on Notre Dame's 15-yard line. The Cadets took the ball over in four plays Hodgson making the touchdown and Benedict kicking goal. The Cadets blocked a Notre Dame punt in the same quarter, Butler breaking through on Cofall's kick and Benedict falling on the ball over the line for a tally. The latter also kicked goal.

Notre Dame flashed a fine offensive drive in the third quarter and rushed the ball 40 yards for a score. Pliska and Cofall starred in the touchdown and kicked goal a moment later. The Army scored again in the last quarter.

There was much forward passing, but neither team made a success of it.

Yale, 14; Brown, 6.

New Haven, Nov. 7.—Yale played below form today and was forced to extend itself to the limit to defeat Brown, 14 to 6. With all regular Yale back field except Ainsworth watching the Harvard-Princeton game at Cambridge, the second string backs played loosely and made costly fumbles when within scoring zone.

Navy, 21; Fordham, 0.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 7.—Navy defeated Fordham in a one-sided contest today by the score of 21 to 0. The Middies' attempts at forward passing and open playing were unsuccessful, the only plays upon which they could depend being wide end runs and tackle plunges.

William Jewell, 28; Westminister, 0.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 7.—William Jewell defeated Westminster in their annual football battle by the score of 28 to 0. The defeat of Westminster practically put it out of the running in the race for the state title. Brandon, the Jewell full back, scored a touchdown and also made a place kick in the first half.

NOTES OF INTEREST TO ENGINEERS

By T. K. Vincent.

An individual towel supply rack has been placed in the mechanical engineering locker room.

A small stand pipe has been installed in the hydraulic laboratory to furnish a head of water to run the hydraulic rams.

The road materials laboratory has received a drill press which will drive the diamond drill used in obtaining specimens for rock and cement testing.

A complete set of pulleys has been received for the motors in the hydraulics laboratory, and now all of the pumps can be run at any speed desired.

Freeto and Hickok are testing Kansas stone for its qualities as a road-making material for their thesis work. Samples of rock are being shipped to the College by city engineers over the state.

Shelby Fell has been elected to represent the electrical engineering department and Leslie Wilsey to represent the mechanical engineering department on the engineering journal recently established.

The architects have been working on some charts for President H. J. Waters for several weeks. These charts are prepared from data collected by the animal husbandry department and show the relation between weights and feeds.

A commercial test was run on water meters last week to see if the readings would be accurate if the meter was run backwards. It was found that the error caused by running the meters backward was so slight as to be negligable.

Prof. I. I. Taylor, of the department of applied mechanics, and George Mawhirter are making sand analyses of sands from all parts of the state. The results of these tests will shortly be published in a bulletin issued by the engineering experiment station. Mr. Mawhirter will use this as his thesis.

Concrete beams and columns are being made up in which various forms of reinforcements and many methods of placing them are used. The beams will be tested at the Farmers' Institute held during the holidays, by which time the beams and columns will be thoroughly set.

The road materials laboratory has recently received a large copper drying oven for drying paving brick, preparatory to subjecting them to the rattler test. A test was recently run on some local paving bricks and the oven was given a thorough tryout and was pronounced a success. The temperature is automatically regulated by a thermostat which is fastened to the oven.

An apparatus has been installed in the cement laboratory by which the quality and commercial value of cement can be determined in a few hours. It formerly took twenty-eight days to make a complete cement test, which can now be made in a few hours by means of this apparatus.

The Olsen testing machine was recently calibrated, dead weight to the extent of 10,000 pounds, being piled on the platform of the machine. The readings on the scale beam were within 1 pound which shows the machine to be exceedingly accurate.

Board $3.25; board and room $3.85; room $5.00 a month. Two meals a day and room $3.10. Two meals a day $2.50. 1129 Vattier.

IS THIS ENGINEER A HERO?

He Rescued a Valuable Instrument in the River Saturday.

A thrilling feat was undertaken by a senior civil engineer Saturday afternoon. The scene was the bridge over the Kaw river south of Manhattan, where the senior civil engineers were measuring the flow of the river. One of the instruments which was being lowered to the water from the bridge, came apart in the water. It was necessary to secure the lost part which was fifty feet from shore or the instrument would be useless.

The engineers borrowed a rope and tackle and lowered James Russel to find the missing part. The cold water was too deep for high top shoes but that didn't bother James. He hunted until the object was located, his teeth chattering so that the noise therefrom sounded like a low hum to the spectators on the bridge. After he was hauled back up to the bridge, three cheers went up for Russell. A passing automobile was stopped and the hero was excused from class for the remainder of the afternoon.

The referee blew the whistle,
The halfback caught the ball,
And like a deer he made a smear
And dodged the tackles all.

He dodged the rushing linesmen,
And onward did he flee,
Till all were passed, save me at last,
And I was scared, Oh, Gee!

I ran with all my swiftness
Right close upon his heels,
While from the stand the tooter band
Made loud their wanton squeals.

I knew that I would catch him,
Then glory evermore;
So at that bloke, I dove—and woke—
My dome upon the floor.

COLLEGE STADIUMS.

Two of the most important games of the current Eastern football season will be played within the walls of vast amphithreatres, erected within the past twelve months, at Princeton and at New Haven—the most recent outgrowth of the modern tendency to establish intercollegiate contests in an environment permanent in character, great in capacity, and beautiful in outline. Stadia now exist at Harvard, Syracuse, Yale, Princeton, the College of the City of New York, and at Tacoma; are in course of construction, or are projected, at the University of Michigan, Columbia, Cornell, and the University of Washington at Seattle. The trend is general and, with all the underlying elements involved, sets forth a condition at once interesting and complex.

The university stadium has many meanings to many sorts of university men. The athlete, whose interest lies wholly in the playing of the game under favorable conditions and in a spectacular environment, has his own idea of it, just as the athletic manager, with interests largely financial, has his veiw-point; while the faculty member, with classical tendencies, the hard-headed alumnus who has succeeded in business, and the loyal if sedately minded graduate, trustee, or other (uneasy at the thought of giving outdoor sports prominence as spectacles out of proportion to their vital importance) apply to it their respective trends of thought and ideals.

Emerging clear, however, above the mass of conflicting theories, one fact is dominant: these immense amphitheatres stand as monuments to the importance of organized athletics, and a recognition of this by the college authorities.—Atlantic Monthly.

ARE YOU GOING TO CHURCH?

SUNDAY WILL BE COLLEGE SUNDAY AND ALL THE STUDENTS WILL ATTEND ONE OF THE CHURCH SERVICES.

HAVE APPROPRIATE SERVICES

Go-to-Church Movement is Especially For the College Students—A Similar Movement at the University of Kansas is a Success.

Sunday will be College Sunday in all the churches of Manhattan and the students of the College are urged to attend at least one of the services of the day at the church of their choice. The services of the day will be appropriate to the occasion.

This Go-To-Church movement is the first of its kind ever attempted in the College and it is hoped that each student will give it his hearty support and be out to church Sunday. The movement includes the city of Manhattan, but is especially for College students. It is being conducted under the direction of the local Y. M. C. A. of which W. W. McLean is the secretary.

A movement similar to this is in progress at the University of Kansas. A special committee there has charge of the movement and urges the students to attend church once a month when a University Sunday is held.

Following is given a list of the Manhattan churches and the subjects of the morning and evening sermons:

First Congregational Church.

Morning service—"Real and Counterfeit Religion." Rev. Goldsmith will speak.

Evening service—"Jesus the Lord of the Unseen World."

First Methodist Church.

Morning service—Mr. Arthur Rugh, Chairman of the Foreign Department of the International Committee of the Y. M. C. A. will speak.

Evening service—The Pastor will speak on, "A Rich Inheritance."

United Presbyterian Church.

Morning service—"Why should a Student attend Church?"

Evening service—Bible Study Lecture.

Episcopal Church.

Morning service—"The Christian Warrior."

Evening service—"Life in Himself."

Presbyterian Church.

Morning service—"In justice to Abanah—a recognition of both the merit and insufficiency of religious byways."

Evening service—"Making up the Mind—important issues that call for a Student's decision and loyalty."

Baptist Church.

Morning service—"Spiritual Athletics."

Evening service—"Environments and Character."

TRAINING HELPS ENGINEERS.

They Receive $2500 a Year More Than Unskilled Workmen.

Twenty-five hundred dollars a year is the advantage that an engineer who is a graduate of a college has over the average unskilled workman, according to figures furnished by W. A. Potter, dean of engineering in the Kansas Agricultural College.

The unskilled workman earns an average of $500; the trained workman earns $800; the college graduate engineer earns $3,000. The college trained man capitalized at 4 per cent has a money value to the comunity of $75,000.

At the present time at least 25,000 students are registered in the engineering colleges of the United States in mechanical, civil and electrical courses, and they are graduating at the rate of 4,000 a year. This represents a valuation of $220,000,000.

FORM CLUBS FOR COUNTRY BOYS.

College Y. M. C. A. Will Furnish Instructors toRural Men.

Athletic clubs for young men in a number of rural communities and smaller towns will be organized by the Young Men's Christian association of the College. It is planned that baseball and basket ball leagues will be formed and a regular schedule of games will be planned in the rural towns and communities. The coaches for these teams will be supplied by the Y. M. C. A.

Lessons in wrestling and other athletic stunts will be given by the young men. The work will be under the general supervision of Walter Burr, rural service expert in the College.

DRAMATIC CLUB MEETS MONDAY.

Program of Dialogues and Sketches Will be Given.

The College Drmatic club will meet in G-56 next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. A program consisting of dialogues and sketches (will be given.

The club has a membership of about thirty and is exceedingly active this year. From all indications, the competition for parts in the annual play is going to be keen. Those persons wishing to know something about the ability of the amatuer actresses and actors of the College should take advantage of this opportunity and attend the meeting Monday night.

ON THURSDAY'S PEP RALLY

After consultation with Acting President C. M. Brink of the College and other members of the faculty, the Collegian withholds its views, for the present, on the pep rally Thursday night. The general consensus of opinion seemed to be that little should be said of the matter until the return of President H. J. Waters from Washington, D. C., when his opinion on the incident could be gained.

VALLEY COACHES WILL MEET.

Announce Athletic Schedules for Coming Year at Lincoln Meeting.

The semi-annual meeting of the faculty representatives and athletic coaches of the schools in the Missouri Valley conference will be held at Lincoln, Neb., on December 4 and 5. The athletic schedules for the conference will be made out for the following year at this meeting. These representatives will be the guests of the university while at Lincoln.

SOPHS VOTE AN ASSESSMENT.

Will Cover Expense of Having Pictures in Annual.

The sophomore class at their regular meeting last Thursday, voted an assessment of a dollar for each member. The assessment will cover the expense of having individual pictures in the College annual, Royal Purple Volume Seven. A similar motion was made in the junior class but was laid on the table until next Thursday.

WAR HAS EFFECT ON RUSSIA.

Profound Changes Will Come Regardless of the Outcome.

"Whatever may be the outcome of the war elsewhere and in other respects, so much is certain, that it must produce in Russia the most profound changes that that empire has known for at least half a century; and it will do that regardless of the general outcome of the war and of the course pursued by the Russian Government itself," according to an article, "Will Russia Make Good?" in the October number of the North American Review.

"This is the dominant factor of the problem, that Russia has promised, substantially, self-government for Poland, and inferentially, if not specifically, for Finland also, and equal rights with all other subjects for the Jews. The fulfillment of these promises will, or would, mean radical and momentous changes in the status of a large part of the Russian people, in the constitution of the Russian Empire, and in the relations between Russia and other nations, particularly with the United States. The nonfulfillment of them would mean scarcely less radical and momentous crisis in Russian affairs, at home and abroad. The question is, Will they be fulfilled? In the terse phrase of the Man of the Street, Will Russia make good?"

SEEKS WORK IN AMERICA

A Little Dutch Girl Stow-away on the Red Cross Ships Would Support the Family.

Because her family was starving and she and her father and brother had no prospect of work, Anne Bloomers a young Holland girl, became a stowaway on the ship Red Cross and came to America to find employment. As soon as the war is over she intends to go home, but in the meantime she must support her family in Holland.

"It is all terrible, terrible," she says. "The Belgians come into Holland in great hordes, and every home that is big enough takes in whole families. Our home was too small to take any. Some of them have hardly any clothes. Some of them have lost their families. It is too dreadful," she concluded, "and I like not to think of it."

If you want to help in such distressing cases as these, add your name to the eBlgian fund today.

BELGIANS ARE HOMELESS AND PENNILESS

Today hundreds of thousands of Belgians are homeless and penniless refugees. Thousands of civilians have met a miserable death. The whole apparatus of economic life in field or factory or office has been wrecked and ruined so that the future of Belgium is altogether beyond prophecy.

Have you grasped this opportunity to give something to help alleviate these people's suffering? Are you letting distance dull the edge of your natural human kindness? Give today, students of the Kansas Agricultural College. Open your purse strings and respond heartily to this cry for help which is being heard all over the world. Let's put the Kansas Agricultural College alongside of those other great institutions of the country which have answered the cry of a stricken nation.

FUNDS COME IN RAPIDLY

OVER $25.00 GIVEN ON THURSDAY.

Thursday over $25.00 was turned in at the office of the financial secretary of the College for the Belgian relief fund. At this rate the $500 will soon be raised. The students are beginning to give now and it is gratifying to see the small sums of 20 and 50 cents that are coming in. If each student would realize that it is his duty to give 25 or 50 cents the $500 would soon be raised. It is this united effort which is going to make the campaign a success.

Next week one of the chapel exercises will be given over to the Belgian campaign and a special effort will be made to raise funds on that day.

It is hoped that during this coming week each student of the College will get behind the movement and feel that it is his duty to give something toward the fund. Any thoughtful student, one who stops to think of the terrible suffering going on in that little nation will cheerfully dig down in his pocket and give something. What you give will enable some little Belgian boy or girl to have something to eat for his Christmas dinner. Following is a list of subscriptions:

The Alpha Zeta honorary agricultural fraternity held initiation last Monday night. The initiates were: J. R. Little, H. C. Ewers, L. H. Fairchild, and W. L. Willhoite.

After intiation the members went to Harrison's, where a four course luncheon was served, and many good speeches delivered.

SOUTH DAKOTA WINS DEBATE

THE DECISION WAS UNANIMOUS.

The University of South Dakota and the Kansas Agricultural College clashed in debate last night at the College auditorium, the negative team from South Dakota winning the decision of the judges. The decision was unanimous.

The subject under discussion was, "Resolved, That Immigration to the United States Should be Further Restricted by a Literacy Test."

The debate was preceded by a concert of popular music by the Kilties band. The concert added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening and was greatly appreciated.

The men from South Dakota who debated last night are, H. C. Mundt, H. B. Rudolph, and C. M. Davis. They had as their opponents the affirmative team of the Kansas Agricultural College composed of Joe Sweet, Florence Justin, and J. V. Quigley.

The judges for the debate were: Auson H. Bigelow, an Omaha lawyer; Prof. L. E. Aylsworth, Lincoln, Neb.; and Tom Ayres, editor of the Lincoln Times, Lincoln, Neb.

At a late hour last night nothing had been heard as to the outcome of the debate with Iowa State College which was held on the same subject.

THE KILTIES PLEASED MANY

The appearance of the Kilties in the College auditorium was one of real enjoyment to music lovers of the College. Numbers calling forth the skill of conductor and musician, were rendered with full, round tone and with a noticeable absence of harshness and over balancing of parts. The clarity and quality of the wood wind was especially excellent.

Conductor Will F. Newlan, accomplished soloist and composer, impressed upon his hearers his ability to transmit to those under him his ideas of correct composition. J. Walter Lockhart, tenor soloist, and "Wee" Jamie Clark, pipe major, solicited the attention of the audience and were frequently encored, to which they heartily responded.

The appearance of the Kilties at the Oklahoma-Aggie game was greatly appreciated. The band gave a concert of popular music before the South Dakota-Aggie debate last night.

K. S. A. C. MAN IS ELECTED.

John H. White, a student at the Kansas Agricultural College in 1902, was elected as the representative from the twentieth senatorial district of Colorado at the election on November 3. News of his election comes through the Victor Daily Record of Victor, Colorado.

Mr. White was a favorite among his class and was elected class president at the Kansas Day banquet at Topeka, January 29, 1902. He is still remembered by many of the people of the College and the news of his success comes to them as a welcome surprise.

Mr. White is a citizen of Victor, Colorado.

HAVE A CONVENTION AT TOPEKA.

Local Y. W. C. A. Will Send Delegation of Twelve.

The eastern section of the west central field of the Y. W. C. A. will hold a convention at Topeka, November 19 to 22. Miss Louise Holmquist, one of the leading secretaries of the National board, is to be one of the speakers.

A delegation of twelve will go from here to Topeka to attend the convention. Those who have been chosen are: Miss Gleah Brown, Miss Josephine Allis, Miss Ethel Carey, Miss Amy Lamberson, Miss Stella Gould, Miss Emma Taylor, Miss Elizabeth Hargrave, Miss Laura Mueller, Miss Wilma Burtis, Miss Mary Wieble, Miss Elizabeth Burnham, and Miss Groves.

YOUR SUPPORT IS NEEDED

Each organization of the College should get behind the Belgian fund campain and give something toward the movement. There is not a literary society, not a fraternity, not a sorority, not a county club, not a club, society, or organization in the College which should not give something toward this movement.

Five or ten dollars taken out of the treasury will hardly be noticed, but it will do a vast amount of good in that stricken country.

The K. S. A. C. Social club has started the movement by voting $25 to be given from its treasury, in addition to what is to be collected from each individual member. This matter should be brought up at the next meeting of every organization in the College. What organization is going to be next to respond to the call?

GAMMA SIGMA DELTA INITIATES.

Eight Men were Taken Into Honorary Agricultural Fraternity.

Gamm Sigma Delta, the honorary agricultural fraternity installed June 15, 1914, held its first initiation Wednesday evening, at the Pi Kappa Alpha house.

The Kansas Eta chapter is the outgrowth of the Mystic Eye, a local honorary agricultural fraternity that was organized last year.

Gamma Sigma Delta is the only national honorary agricultural fraternity. All of the other national agricultural fraternities are both honorary and social. Many of them maintain chapter houses, but Gamma Sigma Delta does not permit its chapters to maintain chapter houses.

The following men were initiated: Ary C. Berry, Topeka; Chas. W. Gartrell, Kansas City, Mo.; Anson L. Ford, Geneva, Ill.; Harry B. Allen, Pancroft; Edward Q. Perry, Manhattan; Elbert C. Smith, Kansas City, Kansas; James H. McAdams, Salina, and Clarence B. Williams, Bigelow.

TWO COMPANIES WENT ON HIKE.

Had Good Time on Outing at Wild Cat Creek.

Two companies hiked to Wild Cat Wednesday evening. Captain Rawson's company went up toward Cedar Bend, and Captain Russell's company went south of the Spring.

While waiting for the fire to burn down Captain Rawson and Lieutenant Hylton explained the mechanism of the rifle, and gave some instruction in handling both rifle and bayonet. Then a line was formed, and the quartermaster issued rations in true army style. After supper the company was gathered around the fire and a company yell composed. The company broke camp at 6:45 and started for town, singing the "Star Spangled Banner" and practicing the new yell.

A journal kept by one of the members of company M shows that the company left Aggieville at 4 p. m. The first sergeant was sent ahead with a detail to form an advance guard and locate a camp site. At 4:15 a grocer's wagon was passed, but the foraging party obtained no provisions from it. At 4:30 a member of the advance guard was met on the sidehill, and he led the way to camp. Supper was ready at 5:30. The festivities began at 6:15. The lieutenant drilled down with two of the sergeants, using sticks for guns. Then the captain made his men a talk covering generalities. The rest of the evening was spent singing soldier songs and telling stories. At 8:00 the company was dismissed in the streets of Aggieville. Ask any man who went on one of these hikes if he had a good time, and his answer will be the two short but impressive words used so often at pep meetings to indicate the affirmative.

SOONERS OUTCLASS AGGIES

OWEN'S MEN STARTED OUT WITH A RUSH AND SCORED IN THE FIRST FIVE MINUTES OF PLAY ON A FORWARD PASS.

OPEN PLAY WAS SPECTACULAR

Aggies Came Back Strong in Second Half and Scored on Forward Pass—Place Kick Netted Aggies 3 Points, Score 52-10.

The University of Oklahoma football team defeated the Kansas Aggies on College Field yesterday afternoon in a thrilling exhibition of one-sided football by a final count of 52 to 10. Coach Lowman's eleven was outclassed from the first whistle although it can be said that the team played its best game of the season. The Sooners counted eight touchdowns, four from straight football and four from the open play game. But four goals from touchdowns were kicked by the Owens booters.

The Aggies were beaten on straight football alone. At the passing game the Sooners had the edge. The work of the wonderful Montgomery and the equally clever Fields, on the Owens tribe's wings, on the receiving end of the passes, was the most brilliant ever staged on the local gridiron. These players would slip past the Aggie secondary defense and leap high over the heads of the intercepters to pull down the long aerials from the hand of McCaslin, Collins, or Catspaw.

The Aggies showed best at the passing game, too. Practically the first time of the season for them to rely upon the open game, the local pilots called repeated passes and of 19 tries completed 5 for a net gain of 83 yards, and one touchdown, this coming in the third quarter when Haucke passed to McGilliard beneath the Sooner goal posts at the east end of the field and the latter fell across the Owens goal line for the lone Aggie touchdown.

Captain Agnew kicked goal and in the last period the Aggie leader booted a neat 15-yard place kick, between the west end goal posts, for the sum of the Aggie scores.

ALL K. U. AIDS THE BELGIANS.

According to the papers that have been turned in to the White Cross committee more than 1,000 students and members of the faculty have made pledges to the fund for the relief of the Belgians, says the Daily Kansan.

The committee is now considering the setting aside of a day on which all persons should go through their closets for clothes that they do not care to use longer and are willing to send to Belgium.

After this has been done they can hang out some kind of a sign that will indicate that they have clothes for the committee and automobiles will call and get them. In this way the committee believes that a large quantity of clothes could be obtained.

Members of the committee are anxious to have all those who have made pledges to the fund to call at the office of the Registrar and pay the amount due for the first month so that it may be sent to the central commitee and be forwarded in the form of food to the Belgians.

THAT WASHBURN---K. U. GAME

Of the Washburn- K. U. fracas, the Washburn Review has the following to say: "Captain Trobert stayed with the game after being knocked unconscious. Slugged in the head by an overzealous Kansan, the Ichabod captain kept up the game and stayed with it till the end. Speaking of slugging, despite the fact that Referee Masker and Umpire Hoover did their work in a satisfactory and efficient manner, the Kansas University team kept up the reputation they so justly earned last year. At least, if the reports of the players are to be discounted, the testimony from the sidelines would indicate that Coaches Wheaton and Bond have not improved the morals of the players."

Testimonials of great fistic encounters on the gridiron are to be had on every hand. The "heat of the fray" explains many such unsportmanlike actions in every athletic contest, and the loser usually yells the loudest when it's all over. Hats off to Captain Trobert, though, for sticking the game out.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1914.

The finest qualities of our natures, like the bloom on fruits, can be preserved only by the most delicate handling.—Thoreau.

SUCCOR THE SUFFERING.

"It has been vouchsafed to us to remain at peace, with honor, and in some part to SUCCOR THE SUFFERING and supply the needs of those who are in want." This is taken from the Thanksgiving Proclamation of President Wilson. How can we better apply this than to the Belgian relief fund? Have you in some part succored the suffering?

Surely if we could realize what an awful calamity has befallen the little nation of Belgium, we would recognize the full significance of being at peace. How thankful we should be as the Thanksgiving season approaches. Yet how can we show our thankfulness better than by giving succor to those who are suffering? Surely each one of us should give something toward the relief of the people of this stricken nation.

OWE NO MAN.

Owe no man any thing, but to love one another; for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law.—Romans XIII, 8.

TO THE RIGHT.

When going through Anderson hall, on the way to chapel, or to any class don't forget to turn to the right to pass someone. This will do away with a great deal of confusion. It is quite embarassing sometimes to zigzag back and forth to find out on which side you are going to pass a person. Turn to the right.

I pack my troubles in as little compass as I can for myself, and never let them annoy others.—Southey.

THE HOME STRETCH.

Over half of the term is over. But a few short weeks and the finals will be here. The question is, are you going to be prepared for them?

Many students there are who only smile when examinations are mentioned. Others there are who live in absolute misery when the term is mentioned. Which class do you belong to?

The first class of students are those who perform their tasks as hey come They prepare each day's lessons and so are ready when the time for examinations come. You have seen them the night before a final. They greet you with a smile and their evening is not spoiled with the dread of the morrow.

Contrast with these the shirker, the one who allows his work to pile up until it is almost a hopeless task to catch up. Observe this person on the night before a final. You need not ask if he will be in that night. That is one of the nights when you will find him in his room until the small hourse of the morning; grouchy as a bear, and as miserable as it is possible for a human to be. He never had a chance, the prof didn't give him a square deal, he had too heavy an assignment, and any thing else but the real thing he offers for an excuse.

Of course it would not be human nature if we did not have both classes of students. There will always be two classes. Some of us, though, are in the second class when we should be in the first one. We have the ability but perhaps not the stick-to-it-iveness. We start out all right but we tire before the home stretch. Perhaps we have not had the right training in regard to this studying proposition. We start out with a spurt, but it doesn't carry us through the term. The real student never spurts. He sets a pace at the beginning and sticks to it.

Let's all treat this thing as a business proposition. Let's get to work and pull steadily. Perhaps it is not yet too late but that some of us can make some sort of a finish at the home stretch. Half the race is won if we can convince ourselves that we are going to place at the finish. Will you be in the running when we hit the curve at the home stretch?

A BENEFIT FOOTBALL GAME.

Why would it not be a good thing to have a post-season football game, the proceeds of which would be given to the Belgian relief fund? This game could come some time after Thanksgiving. The Emporia Normals have been quite desirious to get another chance at the Aggies. This would give them a good opportunity to satisfy their desire, the Aggies would be given the chance to pull a few feathers from the Normal bird, and some money would be raised to keep some of the homeless Belgians from starving this winter. How about it?

TO ENTERTAIN COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY, reads a headline in the University Daily Missourian. We wonder what sort of entertainment the man is going to offer who is going to enter Columbia. Perhaps some of that You-have-to-show-me stuff which originated on the banks of the muddy Missouri.

Fairmount college has been closed indefinitely because of an epidemic of smallpox.

The senior class of William Jewell College has issued a decree that no male student shall be allowed to wear derby hats on the campus between 8 a. m. and 7 p. m. except on Sunday.

The classes of 1914 and 1915 of the Utah Agricultural College presented the institution with a set of chimes valued at $2,600. They were installed in the tower of the main building during the past summer.—The Holcad, M. A. C.

"Shall verdicts of guilty in honor-system cases be subject to publication with name of convicted person included in such publication?"

This is the live wire at the University of Texas at the present time and the issue on which the candidate for council have been forced to take a stand.

NOTES OF INTEREST TO ENGINEERS

By T. K. Vincent.

Albert H. Ganshird has been pledged to the Sigma Tau fraternity.

All of the steam pipes carrying live steam have been painted a bright red to distinguish them from the other pipes in the engineering building.

The classes in concrete construction have completed the concrete foundation work for the new Jones Underfeed Stoker. The blower and the air tunnel have been permanently set in concrete foundations.

Miss Taylor, a woodworking student, has completed a large porch swing which is a very creditable piece of work. All of the work on the swing was done by Miss Taylor with ordinary hand carpenter tools.

The gasoline and kerosene tractors demonstrated their abilities as stump pullers this week. The tractor engine class took the tractors to the College farm and removed some stumps under the direction of Prof. Scott of the Forestry department.

The concrete construction class has recently completed a new cement runway leading up to the north entrance of the wood shops. The runway is wide enough to run a truck on and this facilitates the work of getting lumber from the store house to the shop.

The recording apparatus has been installed on the new Cochrane feed water heater in the engine room. This apparatus records the behavior of the heater for all times of the day and forms a permanent record in the form of a curve which can be filed away for future reference.

The new fire fighting apparatus in the gas engine laboratory was put to a test on Wednesday when the kerosene torch used to heat the hot bulb on the Muncie engine exploded. The fire was quickly extinguished, the only damage done was the disfigurement of the torch for life.

The civil engineering department received a new Ainsworth transit this week. The department has also ordered one new transit of the same make, and a Buasch and Lomb Direction Theodolite. These instruments will add materially to the equipment of the department.

The civil engineering department has a number of calculating machines, that all engineering students are welcome to use. The instruments consist of a K. and E. calculating machine, a six foot K. and E. slide rule, a Thatcher cylindrical slide rule, and a twenty inch stadia rule. These instruments are kept in the civil engineering department office.

BANDS MAY PLAY FOOTBALL.

Tiger Musicians Will Challenge Jayhawkers for November 21.

Members of the University of Missouri band have organized a football team and have been practicing all week, says the Daily Missourian. They will send a challenge to the University of Kansas band for a game to be played in Lawrence just before the Missouri-Kansas game, November 21.

The band eleven has a team which, it is said, averages 170 pounds. The average weight of the line is 190 pounds. Joseph Eliff is the heaviest man on the team, weighing 210 pounds.

Members of the Missouri band believe they will be able to obtain the game and are confident of victory. A game with Columbia high school or some other Columbia eleven probably will be played soon in preparation for the Kansas game.

We are giving this space to this advertisement because we want everyone to read it and learn where authentic styles originate--styles for men of all ages who play young men's active parts. Clothes designed by an artist, acknowledged without a peer in his profession --clothes exclusive and individual because of the physical limit to the number that can be made. Economical because they give you more than any other clothes can give and yet without costing you more.

Read this unusaal advertisement--then see the new Fall models of Society Brand Clothes at our store.

SOCIETY BRAND CLOTHES

And The Men who Should Wear Them

WE SPECIALIZE on clothes for young men—young in sears or young in heart. For men of all ages who play young men's active parts.

These are days when men and women try to keep their youth. Mothers and daughters, fathers and sons, dress very much alike. Chimney corners are deserted Parents and children are pa's.

We cater to those sons and fathers who work and play together.

Designed by Peine

Not queer clothes, not ultra, not conspicuous, not extreme. His clothes seem to say, in a way most appealing: 'I am young and active' 'I am up to date.'

He copies no one, but creates. He mingles with young men everywhere, and seems to feel what they like to wear. His styles stand out in ans crowd as individual but correct. In the past ten years he has become the young man's style authority.

Each season his styles are exclusive. His new designs are kept secret. The first season you see them in Society Brand Clothes alone. But this season's new touches may next season be almost universal. They are always widely copied. Our wearers simply get them a season in advance.

Mr. Peine has built around him a staff of specialisss. He has picked out beginners with rare qualfications and trained them in this shop. Experts from other shops seldom meet his requirements.

Master tailors make them up in the most fastidious way So Peine designs are unique and distinctive down to the button holes.

Doubly Exclusive

Society Brand Clothes—exclusive in design and fabric—are made doubly so by limited production. They are made by specialists—men too rare, too slowly developed to ever build clothes for the many.

So we sell to but one dealer in a town, and to him but a small percentage of his stock. Relatively few men in any town can get suits or over-coats designed by Mr. Peine, And that must always be so. Yet our prices are less than the usual. We charge nothing for exclusiveness. The fortunate men who wear these clothes have not paid extra for them. They have simply decided that they wanted Peine styles, and have made the effort to get them.

Write for our clothes book—a postal will do—and we will name your local dealer. Do this, so you will not need to look from store to store.

No garment is an A. G. Peine model unless the inside pocket bears the label, Society Brand clothes

RELIEF FUND GROWS RAPIDLY

CAMPAIGN BEING CARRIED ON AT COLLEGE TO COOPERATE WITH STATE MOVEMENT THAT HAS BEEN STARTED.

TO BUY FLOUR WITH FUNDS

Kansas Will Send Its Contributions in Form of Flour to Belgium—Student Body Will be Canvassed this week and also the Faculty.

From now on the Belgian Relief Fund campaign being carried on at the College will cooperate with the Kansas Belgian Relief Fund, a statewide movement with headquarters at Topeka. All the money raised at the College will go to swell this fund, every cent of which will be used to buy flour to send to the peole of Belgium.

The farmers of the state are to be called on to give anything which they may have at their disposal. These contributions will be turned into money with which to buy flour. The farmers have been asked to give two per cent of all the wheat they raised this year. Since Kansas produced 180 million bushels of wheat this year, if every farmer would respond to this call Kansas could send 225 barrels of flour to Belgium at once. A barrel of flour will feed four persons for three months, or one man for a year.

This afternoon a meeting will be held in Dean Jardine's office to make definite plans to canvass the student body and the faculty. Those who have already given to the fund will not be asked to contribute a second time.

The campaign has been progressing very satisfactorily at the College and various organizations are responding to the call. The list given below does not give a complete one. A complete list will be published Saturday.

SENIORS AND FRESHMEN WIN.

The second of class-).'123451234

The second series of class games were played last Saturday on College Field, resulting in the following scores: seniors 6, sophomores 0; juniors 0, freshmen 28. Th juniors and freshmen first played a half which resulted in freshmen 14 and juniors 0, and then the seniors and sophomorcs played a half with neither team scoring.

The seniors and sophomores met with evenly balanced teams, the ball not being in either territory long. In the last half of the game, Bullet Smith wriggled through the sophomore line and made a touch down, but the ball went wild when kicked for goal.

The freshmen easily outclassed the juniors in both offensive and defensive playing. The juniors failed to make downs in the first half of the game and after making downs three times in the third quarter with the ball continually in their territory, the juniors withdrew from the field giving the freshmen the honors of the game with a score of 28 to0.

HAS OLD WEATHER RECORDS.

Most Complete Records in State Held by the College.

The weather station of the Kansas Agricultural College has the oldest complete weather records in the state. The records date back to 1858 when Isaac Goodnow, one of the founders of the old Bluemont college, began to keep weather records.

The College observatory is equipped with all of the latest scientific instruments which are necessary to obtain accurate results. The weather records prove of great value to the agricultural experiment station, for rainfall, frost, and temperature records are available for the past fifty years.

Weather records were begun in several other places before the civil war but the records of all the stations except the one at the College were either destroyed or neglected.

"The rainfall in Kansas is not increasing," says J. O. Hamilton, professor of physics, who is in charge of the weather station. "Our records show that during the past fifty-six years the average rainfall has been nearly 31 inches. Taking the first twenty-five year period as compared to the last twenty-five year period the results show a slight increase in favor of the later period. However, by dividing the years differently, an increase can be shown for the earlier period."

SEND WEAVER TO KANSAS CITY

Will Contest in the Annual Five-Mile Turkey Day Run of the Kansas City Athletic Club.

Coach Merner will send Joe Weaver to Kansas City, Thanksgiving Day to race in the Kansas City Athletic club's annual five-mile Turkey Day run. Weaver will be pitted against the best men that the Universities of Missouri and Kansas can send and also against several Athletic club and Haskell Institute stars. In the front rank of the stellar division stands Rodkey of Kansas winner of the Missouri Valley cross country at Ames, November 7. Rodkey's time for the five mile grind at Ames was 28 minutes and 2-5 seconds.

Weaver ran a lonesome five-miler around the College campus on the same day Rodkey won at Ames. Weaver's time for the distance was 27 minutes 29 seconds, practically one-half minute better than the Missouri Valley record for the distance which Rodkey made at Ames. Considering that there might have been some slight discrepancy in the time or the distance in each race, Weaver against Rodkey will be a corking good race to watch Thanksgiving Day.

PLAN FOR Y. W. C. A. COUNTY FAIR

One of the features of the Y. W. C. A. County Fair, to be held in the Nichols gymnasium December 5, will be a fancy work sale. The committee is ready at any time to receive anything in the line of fancy work so that this booth can make a creditable showing and reap a maximum profit. Articles of this nature will find a ready sale owing to their convenience as Christmas gifts.

Every girl in school is urged to make something between now and December 5 which can be put into this sale. Small pieces will be just as gratefully received as large ones.

STATE HISTORY TEACHERS MEET

The annual meeting of the Association of Kansas History Teachers occurred in Topeka, Friday, November 13. The program for the meeting was devoted to "Training for Citizenship" and was well calculated for the practical need of the teachers. The association met in the auditorium of the new Memorial Hall.

E. V. James, instructor in the history department of the College, read a timely paper concerning some of the newer text books. A feature of the meeting added by Prof. Ralph R. Price of the College, president o fthe association, was a history dinner which was enjoyed by about one hundred teachers.

Over four hundred attended the conference which was one of the most successful the association has ever held.

Mrs. E. C. Pace of Osawattomie, is visiting her daughter, Miss Cleta Pace.

KANSAS BELGIAN RELIEF FUND FORMED

Seven million people in Belgium, mostly women and children, are starving. They are suffering through no fault of their own, a neutral nation in the terrible European war. Kansas must send help from its abundance. Every town in the state and every farm must answer the call for food, as other states are doing.

The Kansas Belgian Relief Fund, with headquarters at the Commercial club, Topeka, are directing the work in this state. Telephone service on the Bell and Independent lines is free. The railroads are carrying shipments without charge.

Bread is the chief demand and the people of Belgium need it while we are writing and talking. The first contribution of 100,000 barrels must go within the next week. Have you given something to help get together this first contribution?

The Belgian Relief Fund campaign being carried on at the College will cooperate with this state movement.

MANY ARE SELF-SUPPORTING

844 STUDENTS MAKE OWN WAY.

Following all types of occupations from tending furnaces to teaching Spanish, more than 50 per cent of the students now in residence at the Kansas Agricultural College are wholly or partially self-supporting. Nearly 40 per cent receive no financial help whatever from home.

Out of an enrollment of 2,218 listed for the present term, 844 are entirely self-supporting and 300 partly self-supporting, while only 879 are supported wholly by parents or other relations. This leaves 195 who in registering made no answer to the question as to support. It is likely that this number includes students belonging to each of the three groups.

One of the most novel means of self-support has been adopted by a group of men, each of whom bought a cow. A Manhattan man interested in dairying is giving the students board and room in return for the milk from the animals.

A young man whose home is in Mexico City has for two years conducted a private class in Spanish. His work makes a neat addition to his income as well as keeps him in constant practice in the Spanish language.

Students who are competent stenographers and typists have usually little difficulty in securing work in College or town offices. Some of the men, particularly those who have had experience in business, clerk in stores. Several have agencies for clothing houses, laundries, and publishers. Carrying papers affords occupation for another small group.

The Young Men's Christian association, through which most of the young men secure work, sends out from five to twenty boys every day in response to calls for men capable of performing various odd jobs. Picking apples, mowing lawns, digging potatoes, giving general assistance in gardening, and working on farms near town are some of the lines of work for which there have been calls in recent weeks. The Young Women's Christian association gives similar assistance to College girls who ore seeking employment.

HAVE YOU MADE A DATE YET?

Junior Date Committee Will Make Them for You After Today.

The window opposite the College P. O. will be open all day today and all dates for the junior party next Monday should be turned in. After today the date committee will make dates for those who do not have them.

WILL ACT AS POULTRY JUDGE.

W. A. Lippincott will Help Place Ribbons at State Federation Show.

Wm. A. Lippincott, professor of poultry husbandry, will act as judge at the State Federation Poultry show which will be held in Topeka the second week in December. Professor Lippincott will also act as toastmaster at the banquet to be given by the Topeka poultrymen to the visiting poultrymen. The principal speakers at the banquet will be Governor Hodges and Governor-Elect Capper.

AMES MEN WERE DEFEATED

NEGATIVE TEAM OF KANSAS AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE HANDED A UNANIMOUS DEFEAT TO THE IOWA STATE COLLEGE TALKERS

AMES EXCELLED IN REBUTTALS.

While the affirmative debating team of the College was suffering defeat Friday night at the hands of the University of South Dakota the negative team was winning from Iowa State College at Ames by a unanimous decision.

The Iowa State Student has the following to say of the contest:

With rebuttals that far out weighed the arguments of their opponents the Ames' team came back strong from a weak constructive argument and made every judge (according to their own statements) hesitate in giving the decision to the negative team.

The debaters themselves felt that the lack of effectiveness in presenting the affirmative arguments was not sufficiently neutralized by the strong rebuttals to carry off the winning honor.

This seems to be the case, especially because the Kansas affirmative team used practically the same arguments used by our affirmative team and our negative team used arguments very similar to the Kansas negative team.

The negative team is composed of J. L. Lush, John Rathbun, and L. V. Ichine.

RELIEF FUND PROCLAMATION

Seven million people in Belgium, mostly women and children, are starving.

The smallest amount of food necessary to sustain life is 10 ounces. The daily ration in Belgium is three ounces of flour and nothing else. This is less than two-thirds of a cup, a supply so small that at this hour all Belgium is practically on a starvation basis.

Nothing that has been written has exaggerated the situation in that country, a situation so terrible that it can scarcely be understood by the prosperous people of this great country. Belgium's fields and farms have been turned into grave yards; its homes have been demolished; its business paralyzed; its crops ruined; its people are almost entirely without shelter. Thousands of the families are living in the open and sleeping by the roadside. Their sufferings are almost past relief.

The Belgian farmers are without seed to sow, implements with which to work, means to buy food and clothing and almost without heart for the fearful struggle which must continue throughout the winter.

The cry has gone forth to the world to help this neutral nation, which, in the great European war, through no fault of its own, has suffered so terribly.

Out of its vast storehouses of plenty Kansas most certainly will send help. The war which has brought woe unspeakable to the Belgian people brought wealth to this great state.

Kansas produced this year, 180 million bushels of wheat. If every farmer would give one bushel for every 200 bushels his fields produced, Kansas could send 225 barrels of flour to Belgium.

A barrel of flour will feed four persons for three months. It will feed one man for a year.

Kansas most assuredly should not do less than send a first offering of 100,000 barrels of flour, within the next 10 days. And this first offering must be followed by further contributions through the winter to show that this state so abuntantly blessed by the Creator does not forget the tragic situation of the suffering millions in Belgium.

Every town in Kansas must do its share in answering this appeal. Every merchant, every wage earner, every professional man and every woman should contribute to the best of his ability. The duty falls equally upon town and country. Every man should buy a barrel of flour. If he cannot do this he should buy a sack and if this is too much he should join with a neighbor in buying a barrel or sack.

To form a nucleus for the relief work a meeting was held Friday night in Topeka, an executive committee appointed and headquarters established in the Topeka Commercial club. Governor Hodges is president of the Kansas Belgian Relief fund; former Gov. W. R. Stubbs is chairman, and Charles Dillon, managing editor of the Capper farm papers, secretary. Practically every city and large town in the state was represented. Arrangements have been perfected to grind all wheat free and also to transport it to Belgium without charge.

In answer to Governor Hodges' proclamation, issued a few days ago, work has begun in many counties and this will now be supplemented by further organized efforts, whereby an immediate response may be made to Belgium's great need.

The most important work Kansas has undertaken in many years confronts it now. The busiest men and women in the state are to give their time and means to the end that this movement may be a success. Every dollar contributed will be used for food. The Bell telephone and Independent telephone companies will donate long distance service and it is hoped that the telegraph companies will give free service, so that the country organizations may communicate promptly every day with headquarters in Topeka.

Business organizations, farmers' institutes, women's clubs, churches, Sunday schools, labor organizations, the teachers' association of the state, and the great educational institutions are asked to co-operate liberally and promptly.

DRAMATIC CLUB HOLDS TRYOUTS

Cast Will be Chosen Soon to Give Annual Play.

The Dramatic club met Monday evening in F2. A program consisting of sketches was given by members of the club. A number of dialogues from the comedy, "Facing the Music" were given by Mildred Branson and Helen Munger, Pauline Clarke and Mildred Kittell, Ruby Blomquist, Katherine Stewart and A. T. Coith, and L. M. Hanna and Emma Evans. A dialogue, "Mark Twain and the Interviewer" was presented by W. F. Smith and A. T. Coith. A comedy-dialogue, "A Big Mistake" was given by Mary Polson and W. F. Smith.

This program completed the preliminary tryouts for the annual play, "Facing the Music." The cast for the play will be chosen in a few weeks, and rehearsing will be taken up at that time. "Facing the Music" is a wholesome comedy in three acts, and will be well worth attending.

Miss Evangeline Casto has as guests this week her mother and sister, Mrs. J. C. Casto and Miss Gertrude Casto of Wellsville.

HURRAH FOR THE FROSH!

Three cheers for the freshmen! They have voted $25 from their treasury to the Belgian relief fund, thus getting ahead of all the other classes in the College. Come on, now, sophomores, juniors, and seniors let's see what you can do.

It all happened in this way. The youngsters went out on a hike to Wild Cat Monday night, and really the weather was rather chilly. No doubt the fire felt good, also the wienies struck the right place. Well, some shining star happened to think of the Belgian sufferers and thought this a good time to make a comparison, so he did. The result of the suggestion came in the form of a $25 donation to the Belgian fund.

Hurrah! again for the class of 1918. Now then, who's next?

SAY, WHAT'S THE DOPE?

IT'S GOING TO BE SOME BATTLE WHEN THE AGGIES MIX WITH THE WASHBURNITES NEXT WEDNESDAY.

TO USE OPEN STYLE PLAY

Coach Lowman Must Unearth a Kicker as Haymaker's Injuries Will Keep Him on Sidelines the Rest of the Season.

Yes, George, you were rightern' a rabbit when you said that there was goin' to be some battle when the Aggies mixed with the Washburnites in Manhattan next Wednesday. We're right with you on that quotation but somehow or other we just can't seem to quite see Washburn on the winning end. Dope, you say? Say, George, dope don't count one, two, three, with us any more. Look at Kansas and Nebraska last Saturday. Nebraska beat the Aggies 32 to 0. Kansas hit 'em at 27 to 0 jolt. That makes Nebraska five points better than Kansas. But five points didn't hold them; they ran it up to 35! Thirty points off on the dope that time. But we still quite agree with you George, it will be some battle!

The Aggies battled sixty minutes to a draw with the heavy Kansas State Normal eleven on College Field early this season and a few weeks later the same Normal team wolloped the Ichabods 19 to 0. Now according to the dope, the Aggies should win. On the other hand the Washburn eleven scored two touchdowns on Kansas and lost by the comparatively close score of 20 to 14. How does it look now for dope?

The Aggie-Washburn tangle is going to be one of open style of attack. Washburn is said to have a complete repertoire of bewildering forward pass formations and is also said to be exceptionally clever on the use of said plays. Coach Lowman's outfit seems to have assumed the ability to get away with the pass. Against Oklahoma the Agnew players scored the first touchdown from a forward pass that has been counted since Elmer Stahl went across the Cornhuskers goal line in 1912. Stahl scored following two 20-yard air-line flips.

Washburn will be outweighed in the line by the Aggies. The Topeka eleven is said to average around the 165-pound mark, slightly heavier than the Oklahomans. According to the statements of those who witnessed the K. U.-Washburn battle, the Aggies will have their hands full taking care of the fight the Ichabod line puts out. Lots of pep has been the chief characteristic of "Crip" Grey's Ichabods ever since he began coaching at the Topeka Institution.

In Captain Tolbert, Coach Gray has one of the most clever kickers and ends in the business. Trobert has not been showing his real ability this season owing to a series of injuries received in early scrimmage, but nevertless he is still able to swing a toe under the oval and lift it over 45 yards of gridiron space. Beales at quarterback is an ancient enemy of the Aggies. It was "Pinky" Beales that spilled the Aggies pottage last year at Topeka. Going into the contest as fresh and fleet as a March hare, the little pink-cheeked one carried the ball 40 yards and to a touchdown on the first pair of plays. Although several other Topeka players are prominent in the playing of the Ichabods, their lights are dimmed by the work of these two men.

The Aggies received another addition to the hospital list from the Oklahoma battle. Henley Haymaker will be unable to play again this season, following a smashed cheek bone which he received when one of the Oklahoma players rammed his dome into Henley's map while each one was trying to bring a pigskin airship to earth. Haymaker was playing an excellent game and the loss was quite noticeable when he was removed at the end of the first half.

With Hartwig and Haymaker on the sidelines for keeps this season, Coach Lowman must use the pulmotor on several of the prospectives and point them to take up the Aggie burden against the Topekans next Wednesday. Barnes looked mighty good in the Oklahoma battle and played his best game of season. The worst feature about the injury to Haymaker is that Coach Lowman will be forced to unearth a kicker.

Belief in compensation, or, that nothing is got for nothing, characterizes all valuable minds.—Emerson.

LET'S BEAT WASHBURN.

Now that the battle with the University of Oklahoma is a matter of history, let us turn our faces toward the coming conflict with the Ichabods. The last game of the season it will be, and in addition the annual feather pulling contest. Who is going to get the bird? Well, there is not much doubt but that he will be taken from the field under the arm of an Aggie.

The annual Thanksgiving game comes this year on the day before Thanksgiving. This means that each member of the student body must remain for the game if for no other reason than to be loyal to the team. Students who wish to go home for Thanksgiving can take the night trains and get there just as well as by leaving sometime earlier in the day. Everyone should make it his duty to remain for this last game of the football season and help support the team. When you write home tell the folks to expect you early Thanksgiving morning for yop are remaining at College to support the team in its annual contest with Washburn.

LET NOT SIN REIGN.

Let not sin reign in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof.—Romans VI, 12.

THE TOY MAKER.

In the little seaport town of Danzig, West Prussia, on one of the narrow streets running back from the banks of the Vistula, stood a little one-story frame building with a single window in the front and a narrow door opening on the street. Over the door hung a weather beaten sign, which creaked loudly as it swung back and forth on its rusty hangings. The lettering could hardly be deciphered, Hans Bodenberg-Toy Maker.

Inside, the building did not have such a time-worn appearance. The walls were covered with pictures of German life, there was a little round stove in one corner, a work bench along one side, and along the other a counter with a row of shelves on the wall back of it. Standing beside the bench was Hans. He was a man of about half a hundred years' experience. About five feet eleven inches he stood. His cheeks were full and he pulled continuously on a large calabash pipe which ever and anon emitted large clouds of thick, blue, fragrant smoke. His hair was steel-gray, his trim, curled mustache of a color to match. In his hand he held the body of a doll which he was fashioning, for the Chrstmas season was only a few short months away and he must complete an order which was to be shipped to America.

The day following this visit the order for mobilization was posted on the streets of Danzig. Every corner had its throng of excited citizens. The proclamation was read and re-read. Within a few short hours the tramp, tramp of feet resounded through the streets and a part of the male population of Danzig marched down to the shores of the Vistula to embark. Among them, marched Hans Bodenberg, the toy maker. A martial figure he made as he marched along with body thrown forward in the step characteristic of the German infantrymen.

The town of Brookfield was full of life. It was the day before Christmas and the streets were crowded with hurrying shoppers. The air was crisp and the north wind piercing. On the sidewalks lay a covering of dirty white snow, which crunched, crunched, crunched, under the feet of pedestrians. The jingle of sleigh bells was mixed with the happy shouts of children, the calls of newsboys, the cries of the men who sold roasted chestnuts on the corner, the clang of street car bells, and the ring of cold steel that resounded from the hoofs of horses as their shod feet struck the pavement.

In a toy store on the corner, a lady was asking for a doll that had a jointed body and eyes that would open and close. But the clerk shook her head. "We have been out of dolls for over a week," she said. "All the German toy makers have gone to fight at the front and we have not been able to secure any dolls."

"Do your Christmas shopping early," is a familiar phrase to the ear of the American shopper. But this year it takes on a different aspect. Perhaps this year there is a little selfishness in it all, for we realize that if we are to secure the articles we desire we must hurry and get ahead of the other shopper. If we don't, little Mary and Johnnie are going to wake up on Christmas morning to find that Santa Claus has not left them the much wanted doll or steam engine. And it will be a difficult matter to explain to them that Santa Claus has gone to war.

Our times are in His hand,
Who saith, "A whole I planned,"
Youth shows but half; trust
God, see all, nor be afraid.
—Browning.

HAVE YOU GIVEN?

A call for help has been sounded from the desolate little country of Belgium which has been heard around the world. In every corner of the globe there are generous hearts which throb in union with others as they answer to the call. In every town and village of the United States funds are being raised for the relief of the cold, the hungry, the homeless, the wounded, the dying. Have you answered the call? Does your heart throb in union with others as they give generously of their plenty? When the Chrstmas time comes will you be able to picture in your mind some little Belgian child that can be warm and have something to eat because you have not been selfish, but have answered the call?

The call has been made. At the Kansas Agricultural College many have answered but there are scores who have not. Have you forgotten? CAN you forget such a call?

When we look at the defeat the Jayhawkers received at the hands of the Cornhuskers, we can't help but feel that the fight the Aggies put up wasn't so bad after all.

One of the Oklahomans was heard to remark that College Field was the hardest field he had played on this year.

The small pox scare at Fairmount has passed and the students are again busy grinding out knowledge.

"Twenty-One Pay Dog Tax," says a headline in the University Missourian. The barbers must be on a strike in Columbia.

"It can't be done," says the Ohio State Lantern speaking of a rumor from abroad to the effect that England is supporting German missionaries in India. Continues the Lantern "That's almost as bad as Pittsburg endowing a laundry."

In Society

Miss Mabel Lueszler, Miss Mabel Kessler, and Miss Alice Michaels were dinner guests of the Sigma Phi Delta fraternity Sunday.

Miss Lillian Moore, of Maple Hill, and Miss Ruby Foster of Tuscola, Illinois, are visiting in Manhattan. They are the guests of their cousins, Miss Eva Hostetler, and E. H. Hostetler.

Mrs. Mary Pierce Van Zile, dean of women, was at home to the freshmen girls Monday afternoon from three until five; at her residence 1322 Fremont. A large number of first year girls took advantage of the opportunity to become acquainted with their dean and with each other. Light refreshments were served.

Saturday night the Hamps and Io's held a joint meeting. It was one of the best meetings of its kind that the two societies have had together. This was shown by the large number in attendance. An excellent program was rendered. After the program the two societies consisting of about 160 members adjourned to meet in Aggieville where a four course luncheon awaited them.

Last Monday night, the freshmen started off the social funtions of that class by hiking to the spring west of the cemetery. Despite the inclement weather, a large crowd of freshmen were present and a very enjoyable evening was spent. After refreshments had been served, and while everybody was enjoying themselves to the utmost, the freshmen entered into the spirit of the occasion by voting $25.00 to the Belgian relief fund, thereby setting an example for the upper classmen. C. F. Holladay, Miss Skinner, and Prof. and Mrs. E. V. Floyd chaperoned the hike.

The Scabbard and Blade fraternity gave their first annual formal dance in Elks' hall Saturday night, November 14. The hall was artistically decorated in true military fashion, guns and flags being everywhere in evidence. A beautiful garrison flag covered almost the entire ceiling of the ball. Storm flags, signal flags, and company flags were hung in the corners, and a large post flag was draped above the orchestra platform. Lieut. and Mrs. Roy A. Hill and Prof. and Mrs. Oliver C. Hunter were the chaperones. Mrs. Hill was effectively gowned in yellow and Mrs. Hunter wore a beautiful costume of white and green.

The Joint program given by the Webster and Eurodelphian literary societies last Saturday evening, was a great success. The program consisted of a cornet and baritone duet by F. L. Shelley and W. F. Smith; a reading by Mary Polson; a three reel photo play with an all star cast including J. H. Loomis, R. W. Taylor, W. J. Loomis, Emily Wilson, and Katharine Stewart; a reading by W. N. Skourup; a piano duet by Estella Barnum and Grace Cool; a vocal quartet by Pearle Cross, Sarah Marty, B. M. Andrews, and C. A. Cunningham; and the Delphi-Reporter by Lois Noyes and W. R. Bolen. The Eurodelphians served doughnuts and cider. After singing Aggie Loyalty, the societies adjourned, everyone acknowledging that they had spent a most enjoyable evening.

NEBRASKA WINS VALLEY HONORS

High Honors in the Big Nine Go to Illinois.

First honors in Missouri Valley football filtered down to the University of Nebraska eleven when that team swamped the Jayhawkers at Lincoln, last week end. Permitting the Lawrence eleven to gain only through clever work on exchanges of punts, and that not to any appreciable extent, the Huskers proved masters of the Kansans from every angle. Not once during the entire contest did the Kansas team make its first and ten from scrimmage; penalties alone gave the men of Wheaton their privilege.

Simply a case of too much Chamberlain and Rutherford, with a good sized dose of Captain Halligan thrown in. Five touchdowns, three in the final period, and five cleverly kicked goals following each, was the pill handed the Kansas team in its worst ever and fifth successive defeat at the hands of the Huskers. The longest single gain of the Lawrence eleven came when Gray slipped around Nebraska's right end for a gain of nine yards. Chamberlain slapped off Reber's end of the Kansas front rank for 60 yards and the final Nebraska tally, for the Huskers' longest gain.

This contest virtually decided the Missouri Valley honors. In the mid-west conference, Illinois hammered the University of Chicago eleven into submission in the latter part of the battle at Champaign, and won, 27 to 7. This contest gives the high honors in the Big 9 clique to the Illinois eleven. Minnesota began to display her real strength last Saturday by trimming the University of Wisconsin eleven 14 to 3. Notre Dame pounced on the Carlisle Indians in Chicago and won 48 to 6. The Michigan Aggies made a successful initial trip into Eastern football circles and defeated Penn State 6 to 3.

At the dedication of the new stadium Princeton was out with the fight to win from Yale, but the feat was impossible, Yale winning, 19 to 14 The Tigers fought desperately in the final minutes of the combat and piled up 14 points, but could not overcome the lead of the Blue University of Pennsylvania took another dose, and a bitter one too, from Dartmouth, when the Green piled up the largest score ever on Franklin Field, 41 to 0. Cornell defeated Michigan in the latter's third intersectional contest of the year, and third defeat this season. This is the first time in the fifteen years "Hurry-up" Yost has coached the Michigan eleven that the team has suffered three defeats in one season. Harvard was content with a tie with the strong Brown team, the Crimson coaches using only second and third string players and saving the regulars for Yale at New Haven next Saturday.

MISSOURI VALLEY RESULTS.

Nebraska, 35; Kansas, 0.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 14.—The University of Nebraska football team is for the fourth successive year champion of the Missouri Valley conference. Undisputed claim to the title was gained today when the Cornhuskers defeated Kansas University by a score of 35 to 0. The Cornhuskers, who have played a sensational game all season, have earned their right to the title by defeating the University of Kansas this afternoon. It was the first defeat of the sason for Kansas, while Nebraska has yet to be humbled. The Nebraskans completely out-played the men from Lawrence. Kansas had little opportunity for offensive work and when the Jayhawkers got the ball they made little progress with it. Kansas was able to make first down only three times during the game. Both sides suffered frequent penalties for holding and offside playing.

The Nebraskans played an open game and both sides punted extensively, the Cornhuskers' kickers excelling. Halligan, Rutherford and Chamberlain starred for Nebraska. Strothers probably excelled as the Jayhawker individual star. The Nebraska team manifested its ability to play the new game with the same skill as the old, working seven out of nine forward passes for a total of 145 yards. Kansas gained twice with the pass for a total of eleven yards.

Missouri, 26; Washington, 3.

Columbia, Mo., Nov. 14.—Using substitutes and second string men almost entirely, the University of Missouri eleven easily defeated the Washington University team 26 to 3 here today.

Missouri had every opportunity to run up a large score in the last half when the Washington players who apparently were in poor physical condition, began to lose their speed, but the coaches sent in substitutes who need the experience. Two of Missouri's four touchdowns were made by Lake, the only regular in the back field

Gray, the Washington tackle, played an aggressive game but was out with a broken ankle at the close of the second quarter and was replaced by Graham. Martin, the Washington fullback, and Greene, quarterback, were the only effective ground gainers against the Missouri defense, which was almost perfect until the injection of a larger number of substitutes in the third quarter.

Missouri suffered from numerous fumbles in the last half. Once Lake fumbled as he dodged a tackle, caught the ball on a bounce and without losing his stride, made a total of 35 yards around the end, the longest single run of the game.

NOTES ON THE CLASS GAMES.

The officials in the class games last Saturday had things all their own way and the penalties they inflicted were taken with out a murmur from either side. The answer is easy, if you know it: Burkholder, of last year's varsity, refereed and "Tub" Reed, old K. U. star, umpired, and there was not a man on any of the four teams who felt big enough to argue with men of that caliber.

The list of injured bears witness to the fact that the class games were fiercely fought. Three men were forced to leave the senior-sophomore game because of injuries. Sherewood was carried from the field early in the first half and Denman quit the game with a broken collar-bone. "Bullet" Smith after pounding the sophomore line for long gains for three quarters, wrenched his arm severely and was replaced by Lund.

The seniors are considering the proposition of sodding Ahearn Field as a memorial. After playing two of the class games on it you may be sure that there are several men in the class who are quite enthusiastic over the idea.

The seniors made one fumble Saturday and K. G. Baker explains the matter by saying that the team is over trained and is going stale.

NOTES OF INTEREST TO ENGINEERS

By T. K. Vincent.

The civil engineering department has received a new sextant and an artificial horizon from Keuffel and Esser. The artificial horizon consists of a vessel of mercury of such construction that by using it in connection with a sextant the altitude of the stars and the moon can be determined.

The Civil Engineering Society met on Monday night in the engineering amphitheatre. A very interesting program was given, the following men reading papers: Prof. Frazier, "The Duties of a Contracting Engineer and the Opening for Contracting Engineers;" and Mr. Hendrickson, "Valuation Method of the Union Pacific Railroad from Personal Observation."

Information has been received of the marriage of O. L. Humbert, C. E. '13, to Miss Pauline Hyden of Arkansas City. Mr. and Mrs. Humbert are located in Arkansas City where Mr. Humbert is working for the Santa Fe.

"Cap" Saunders is desirious of being let into the secret of where certain missing speed counters are hiding, according to a notice recently published.

The Avery steam tractor has been brought up from the pump house, where it has been used for several months.

ARMY GOSSIP.

H. B. Dudley.

The first qualifications in markmanship to be made on the College rifle range were made Friday forenoon, when First Sergeant Bixby qualified as expert rifleman, Corporal Allis and Privates Williams and Trautman as sharpshooters. In order to qualify as marksman one must score 160 points; as sharpshooter, 190 points; as expert, 210 points; all out of a possible 250. Pixby scored 211; Williams, 201; Allis, 192; and Trautman, 190. The match was shot under the supervision of the Assistant Commandant.

The Commandant has received a letter from Adjutant-General Martin stating that Captain Henry E. Jeter, who holds a lieutenant's commission in the 2nd K. N. G., is relieved from duty with the guard while attending school at K. S. A. C.

Why not have an engineer company, also sanitary troops and veterinarians? If men interested in such companies will drop their names, and the subject interested in, into the Collegian's compartment in the absence slip box, we will see what can be done about the matter.

There are a number of gloves short in the shipments of uniforms arriving. It seems that the contractor does not make gloves himself, but buys them from another firm. This firm is at present out of stock, so the cadets are obliged to wait until the gloves can be made up. A letter has been received stating that these gloves will go forward as soon as possible. They will be issued to the men upon arrival from the manufacturer.

If any member of the corps has, at any time, an item of interest do not forget that the slot in the absence box is the place to put it. Any suggestions for the betterment of the corps may be placed there also; and they will be promptly forwarded to the proper authority.

Do you know that our regimental quartermaster is taking care of nearly $17,000 worth of government property?

Lieut. Colonel R. E. Lancaster has been granted leave of absence until January 4, 1915. Major O. B. Burtis of the second battalion will command the regiment as acting Lieutenant in the absence of the Colonel.

Plans are in the making for a campaign to send the cadet corps to the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco. A committee of officers is now gathering useful data. The time is not far off when the services of every man on the hill is going to be enlisted to help boost for the trip to 'Frisco.

Because of the great moment of some things that may be printed in this column in the future, the officers of the regiment have deemed it advisable to establish a censorship over anything that may be published concerning the corps. The Collegian's war correspondent has, therefore, obtained the use of a compartment in the absence-slip box. Any items concerning the corps should be placed in this box, from which they will be collected at regular intervals and taken to the censor for approval before being published. Be sure to place the items in the slot marked "For the Collegian correspondent." Putting them in any other box will cause unnecessary delay. Also, do not put absence slips in the correspondent's slot. The absence slip box is located around the corner in the hall, just outside the Commandant's office.

GREATEST OUTFITTERS

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN.

VOLUME 21. NUMBER 20. KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1914. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

TO SEND CARLOAD OF FLOUR

CAMPAIGN HAS BEEN LAUNCHED TO RAISE MONEY TO SEND A CARLOAD OF FLOUR TO THE BELGIANS.

THE COLLEGE WILL GRIND IT

Faculty Must Raise $500 and Student Body $500—Turn in Subscriptions at Office of Financial Secretary Opposite Post Office.

EACH STUDENT MUST GIVE $0.25.

Former Campaign Will be Merged With this One—Railroads Will Transport the Car Without Charge.

A carload of flour for the Belgians is the goal the committee in charge of the Relief Fund movement being carried on at the College has set for itself. This was decided at a meeting of the committee Wednesday afternoon. The campaign will be carried on in cooperation with the state movement but it will be a separate unit in itself and will represent the College only.

A carload of wheat will be secured from the College farm at Hays and this will be ground into flour at the College flour mill located in the new agricultural building. The flour will be put in sacks upon which are printed in the College colors the name of the institution, its location, the seal of the College, and the brand "Aggies Best."

It will take a thousand dollars to buy the wheat, pay for the sacks, and the cost of milling. Of this amount $500 will be solicited from the faculty and $500 from the student body. If each student will give 25 cents the amount will be raised The campaign which has been pushed by the Collegian will be merged into this larger campaign and all funds heretofore raised will be turned in on this movement. Those who have already subscribed will not be solicited again.

The flour will be hauled to an eastern seaport, probably New York City, without charge by the railroads. The car which it will be shipped in will be decorated with banners telling the contents of the car, where it is from, and its destination.

The movement is a big undertaking but if each one will take it upon himself to do his part the money will be raised. It will take united effort but it can be done. Each fraternity, sorority, literary society, county club, and other organizations of the College should vote something toward the campaign.

All funds must be turned in at the office of J. T. Lardner, financial secretary of the College, who will have charge of the money. Mr. Lardner's office is directly opposite the College Post Office.

As heretofore the names of those who subscribe to the fund will be published in the Collegian.

HAVE NO MORE PAINT FIGHTS.

Colorado Students Will Not Exchange Compliments This Year.

Students of the University of Colorado and the State School of Mines have for many years been in the habit of painting up one anothers campus, preliminary to the football games between the two institutions. Last fall this resulted in considerable damage and hard feeling.

Unless some recreant goes back on the promise of the Associated student body of his school, there will be no exchange of compliments this year. The Boulder people agreed to stay away from Golden if the Golden Miners would consent to stay away from the state university town, excepting during the time of the game.

FRESHIE GOES ON SNIPE HUNT.

Held the Sack Until Midnight but no Birds Were Caught.

Did you ever go snipe hunting? Haven't? Well then you have missed a great deal of fun. If you don't believe it ask the freshie from Kansas City who was taken out on such a hunt Monday night.

The valley just north of Bluemont was the scene of the hunt, a fine place to go snipe hunting, by the way. This young Kansas City freshie had dreams of how the folks at home would open their eyes when he wrote to them and recounted his adventures on a snipe hunt. They opened their eyes, presumably, but also their was another young person who rubbed his eyes about midnight to find that he had been "sold." Yes, he held the sack but the birds wouldn't run into it, that was all there was to it. Perhaps he should have had a light!

The real hunters, not including the one who held the sack, had a real jolly time and returned to their rooms along about eleven o'clock, just when it was beginning to dawn on the holder of the sack that perhaps snipes didn't come out at night, at least not the kind he was looking for.

CAVALIERS TO BE HERE DEC. 1

Company of Seven Will Give a Concert of Songs and Ballads of the Elizabethan Period.

The Cavaliers, a company of seven people, will be heard in a concert of songs and ballads of the Elizabethan period at the College auditorium on Tuesday night, December 1st. The company will appear in gorgeous costumes of the Elizabethan period and will give a program of powerful dramatic and historic interest.

This is one of the most spectacular attractions of the Lyceum course. The company has made a decided success in chautauqua work and appears before Lyceum audiences this year in a notable transcontinental tour. The idea of presenting songs and ballads of the Elizabethan period is an entirely new one to Lyceum work.

Singing is the feature of the work of this company. Instruments which will be used in the concert are the violin, 'cello, and lute. The trumpet will be used as a herald.

The personnel of the company is: H. C. Tregillus, basso and 'cellist; Raymond May, baritone; Clayton W. Lunham, tenor; Lucile Jane Weber, contralo; Mrs. H C Barber, soprano; Dan Baker, second tenor; and Amelia Tregillus, pianist.

FIND OLD HISTORY OF COLLEGE.

Scrap Book Contains Clippings from Year 1867 to 1892.

An old scrap book history of the College has been found in the vault in the registrar's office. The book has many interesting clippings taken from papers of the state.

The book gives the history of the College from 1882 to 1890. The first clipping in the book is a report of the examining committee and bears the date June 26, 1867. This is the oldest clipping in the book, all the others bearing dates from 1882 on. The last article in the scrap book is a program of the annual exhibition of the Ionian literary society. It is dated April 25, 1890.

The Inter-Collegiate Prohibition association was reorganized Wednesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. under the direction of J. L. McIntyre and A. A. Franklin.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: president, C. Wadley; vice president, Miss Letha Lasswell; secretary and treasurer, M. P. Robinson; reporter, Miss Letha Marshhall.

The national convention of the inter-collegiate prohibition association will be held at Topeka, December 29 to January 1.

GIVE RELIEF FUNDS PUBLICITY.

Kansas Newspapers Give Front Page Today to the Relief Movement.

Many of the evening newspapers of Kansas will give their front page today to give publicity to the Belgian Relief Fund movement that is being carried on all over the state. Those papers which have a Sunday morning edition will give the front page Sunday morning instead of tonight. Since a campaign is being carried on at the College to send a carload of flour to the Belgians, today's issue of the Collegian is given over largely to this worthy movement.

Kansas Can Relieve the Starving

Kansas can relieve the starving little boys and girls, the homeless and bereaved mothers, the helpless aged of Belgium this coming winter and never feel it. These poor non-combatants are no more to blame for the calamity that has come upon them than you would be if a tornado should today sweep the map and denude your country of its rich fields and orchards. As we would that others do unto us in face of a calamity, let us do unto the poor, starving Belgians, whose homes are in ruins and whose fields are laid waste as a consequence of the awful war now raging in Europe.

Absolutely bereft of homes, property, or possessions, these among the worthiest, most industrious and most peaceful people in Europe, stretch forth their despairing hands toward America and ask only for food sufficient to sustain life until they can raise a crop upon their war-stricken fields.

Subscribe yourself and get your friends, neighbors and fellow citizens to express their sympathy for the destitute Belgians in flour, not in words

SITUATION BEYOND BELIEF

UNBELIEVABLE THAT WAR EVER PRODUCED SUCH COMPLETE AND TRAGIC PARALYSIS AS SEEN IN BELGIUM.

IS CIVILIZED CHRISTIAN WAR.

"The situation in Belgium," says Jarvis E. Bell of New York, who helped in the first food distribution in Belgium, "is simply beyond belief. It is unbelievable that war ever produced such a complete and tragic paralysis as we saw in many parts of Belgium. It cannot be attributed to lack of courage on the part of the civilian population or to the inhumanity of the conquerer. It is simply war up-to-date; civilized Christian war.

"The American relief steamer Coblenz carrying more than 1000 tons of foodstuffs arrived at Rotterdam from London at 3 o'clock Sunday morning. The Dutch government, with great kindness, made an exception to the rigid rule against working on Sunday. The labor unions made equal concessions, with the result that on Monday morning eight barges towed by four express tugs, left Rotterdam en route for Brussels with relief supplies.

"On each barge was a large printed notice, certifying that the cargo had been sent by the American commission in care of the American minister to Belgium. On the door of the captain's cabin in each barge was a copy of General von der Goltz's proclamation instructing all German officials to give safe conduct and assistance to the American relief cargo. General von der Goltz is German military governor of Belgium.

"The crews of the barges and tugs were Dutch, and each man carried, with no little pride, an order for safe conduct from German authorities, permitting him to go to Brussels and return unmolested to Holland.

"I followed this odd flotilla of mercy as it threaded its way from canal to canal, and from lock to lock. At Hanswert, a town on the Belgian-Dutch frontier, I expected some difficulty as to this consignment of relief. On the contrary, the German officials were fully informed and there was no delay whatever.

"Thence to Brussels the German arrangements for getting our cargo through expeditiously were perfect. The sealed hatches of the barges were never opened or tampered on all the way to Antwerp, Malines and Brussels.

"The country people came running to the banks of the canal where they stared at our flotilla as if it were a mirage. For a week not a single barge had passed where formerly there were a thousand hourly.

"To the Belgian country folk it was at first just a Gorgon dream to remind them of the peaceful days preceding the nightmare of war

"The Germans, who throughout treated us with the greatest courtesy and consideration, are clearing the locks from the water fronts, so that the shipments of relief supplies from America can be landed in the various cities without difficulty. They also are working on the canals and promise us by November 17 to clear the waterway to Liege, which at present is very hard to reach."

Mr Bell will return to Rotterdam to continue work of rushing the emergency food supplies into districts where they are most needed.

JINX TRAILS LOWMANITES

BOTH SCANLAN AND WRIGHT GRACE HOSPITAL LIST—INJURIES RECEIVED WHEN THEY FELL INTO GOPHER HOLES.

SCRIMMAGE YEARLINGS TODAY.

The green-eyed jinx is again trailing the Lowmanites in better than mid-season form and cracking right down on the Lowman hopefuls with all possible might. The result, Scanlan and Wright are gracing the team's hospital list and the Kansas Aggies are greatly weakened on the eve of the crucial Washburn battle.

The pavement-like hardness of College Field shoed Coach Lowman and squad to the east side of the campus Tuesday night, where the tumbling was not quite so hard, but the outcome of this last resort was fatal to the best interests of the team. Scanlan stepped into a gopher hole receiving a pass and sprained an ankle, and Wright plunged into another bent on the same purpose and the result was a severely wrenched back. Added to the knockout blow handed the team when Haymaker and Hartwig were injured, this comes as a mighty handicap to the Aggies.

In spite of these injuries the team is practicing hard for the Ichabod battle and with a vim that spells sure death to a few of the pet plays of Coach "Crip" Grey. Captain Agnew's men face the strong yearling lineup this afternoon in the final hard scrimmage practice before next Wednesday's battle, and one of the best scrimmages of the season is anticipated. The Aggies swung into form against the Oklahomans in their work with the aerial flip and looked best so far this season with this style of offense.

The Washburn eleven is particularly strong on end running and gains by the pass route. Also, the Ichabods have a stellar booter in Captain Trobert to aid them in pulling out of bad holes. The Ichabod leader is capable of booting the ball for a better than 40-yard average. Dick Whitcomb at tackle has proven a sensation from that position in every game of the season. His strong line is breaking up the opposition's plays before they get well under way.

WAS CONTRACTORS MISTAKE.

But One Pair of Trousers is Included With Uniform.

The Collegian is in possession of a copy of the contract made last spring between the Board of control and Jacob Reeds Sons', the firm supplying cadet uniforms. The contract shows that the uniform was to consist of the following pieces at the prices named:

Blouse, 14-oz Hawaii olive drab serge	$8.90
Trousers, 14-oz Hawaii olive drab serge	4.60
Cap, 14-oz Hawaii olive drab serge	1.56
Leggins	.70
2 pair gloves, white Berlin	.41
Total	$16.29

The contractor also quoted an 18-oz trouser at the same price, $4.69, but the board refused to include these in the uniform Someway or other the contractor went ahead and made up the 18-oz trousers also, bringing the price of the uniform up to $20.89, but since the board did not contract for these, the men are not obliged to accept or pay for them, and they have been removed from the boxes and stored by the quartermaster. They are for sale at the regular contract price to those who wish to buy, but are soon to be packed up and shipped away.

Some men only received one pair of gloves with a uniform. This was because the contractor was out of gloves. The additional pair will be issued as soon as they arrive from the factory.

WAR HOLDS UP APPLE SEEDS.

Kansas Nursery Stocks Affected by European Conditions.

The present European war is interfering seriously with shipments of foreign nursery stock, apple seed, root stocks as Mahaleb Cherry, and greenhouse plants, as Azaleas, according to P. W. Claassen, assistant state entomologist. Formerly these shipments came from France, Belgium and Holland, and so far this year shipments have come only from Holland.

Kansas is one of the principal apple growing states of the United States and the seed for its nursery stock is imported entirely from Europe, chiefly from France. Nursery men are much worried now what to do for apple seed for next summer's planting.

The full enxtent of the war influence on importations cannot be told until later when the shipments of root stock, such as Mahaleb Cherry, are due.

USE MAGAZINE AS TEXT BOOK.

The Independent magazine is being used as a text book by the freshmen taking English under Fred C. Winship, instructor in the English language. The idea of using a current magazine as a text book is a new one and it is proving very successful. The students take a great deal more pleasure in studying the correct uses of the English language as put to practice in a magazine than they would in studying a text book. Every week 450 of these magazines are distributed to the freshmen English students.

Mr. Winship is also distributing 1000 copies of a little booklet called, The World's Best Books. The various lists of books have been compiled by well known authors and others of recognized authority as their pick of the best books in literature.

WILL GIVE MATINEE DANCE.

Seniors Will Give Everything Above Expenses to Belgian Fund.

The first senior matinee dance will be held in Aggieville hall next Monday afternoon. The money collected in excess of the expenses of the senior matinee dance will be given to the Belgian Relief Fund. Many seniors should take advantage of this opportunity of having an enjoyable time and at the same time helping a worthy cause.

The senior class is planning to have a masquerade party in Nichols gymnasium, sometime after the Thanksgiving holiday. The committee consisting of A. W. Aicher, Jane Kingan, Don L. Irwin, Laura Falkenrich, and H. H. Haymaker, will work out the details of the entertainment later. Seniors will not be required to have their back dues paid in order to attend the masquerade. Every senior should plan to attend the party as it is expected to be one of the best social affairs in the history of the class.

THE BELGIANS LOOK TO KANSAS.

And Kansas Is Bound to Come to the Rescue.

Topeka, Kan., Nov. 18, 1914.

The Belgians are looking to Kansas, which they know as the greatest of the wheat states, for flour to feed the hungry. And Kansas is certain to answer the call. The many telephone and telegraph messages received yesterday proved that the work of organization is proceeding rapidly.

It is doubtful whether Kansas ever has been so worked up over anything as it is now worked up over the movement for the relief of the starving Belgians. The work is, perhaps, the finest example of sympathetic co-operation the state ever has seen. People everywhere seem thoroughly aroused and eager to give to the best of their ability.

In many places, however, those most willing to help seem confused as to how to organize. Some do not understand how they have authority to act. This should be the simplest matter. Any man or woman can call a meeting. The editor of the home paper, the mayor, the postmaster, the banker—any of these are fine material. Any one of the list can command

FUND REACHES $200 MARK

THAT MUCH HAS BEEN PAID IN CASH AT TREASURER'S OFFICE —MUCH MORE HAS BEEN SUBSCRIBED.

FACULTY RESPONDS HEARTILY

Up to the Student Body to Raise Their $500—The Amount will be Raised if Each Student Will Give 25 Cents to The Fund.

At 5 o'clock last evening $192.95 had been turned in at the office of J. T. Lardner for the Belgian Relief Fund campaign. Considerable more than this has been subscribed, at least $350 in all, but this has not been turned in at Mr. Lardner's office. Funds should be turned in as soon as possible.

The faculty is being solicited for its share of the $1000, which is $500, and is responding heartily. It is up to the student body to raise their $500. If each student will give 25 cents the required amount will be raised. Make it your duty to go to Mr. Lardner's office at once and give your share.

Agnes Hickok, Fay Elliot, W. M. Jardine, F. L. Robinson, Alice Hankins, Dr. R. T. Nichols, Miss Gygox, Prof. Remick, Prof. Shower, Frank Howard, Essie Peterson, C. M. MANHATTAN TRIMS CLAY CENTER

Decisive Defeat was Handed to Visitors—Score 20-7.

The clever Manhattan high school football aggregation whipped Clay Center's Howell and his ten also rans into submission on the City Park gridiron yesterday afternoon, the final count being 20 to 7. Clay Center made a dashing ninth inning rally at the close of the fourth period and sent Quarterback Howell over the south goal line for Clay's only counter. One of the Clay Center team's halves kicked a neat additional point.

Manhattan counted in the second round when a triple pass to Skinner placed the ball within striking distance of the Clay goal. Manhattan fumbled on the next play and Center Foresman picked up the oval and fell across the Clay line. Clarke kicked goal. Line plunging sent Creviston over in the third chapter and Clarke missed the goal-try. Amens pulled down a pretty pass on the first play of the fourth period and raced twenty-five yards for Manhattan's final touchdown. Clarke kicked goal.

Howell proved Clay Center's star player and the best on the field. His clever squirming plays through the Manhattan line and good work on end runs drew much applause. Clarke, Creviston, Amens, and Skinner, played best for the local team. The passing of the Manhattanites was the best groundgainer for that team although one tally was directly resultant from line smashes. The Manhattan backs lacked the drive that has been characteristic of their play in other contests but this was more than offset by Clay's weakness at tackling. The scorde by periods:

Clay Center, 0-0-0-7—7.

The moment a man can really do his work, he becomes speechless about it. All words become idle to him—all theories.—Ruskin.

FLOUR FOR THE BELGIANS.

A campaign has been started at the College to raise money with which to send a carload of flour to the Belgians. The money will be used to purchase wheat and this will be ground into flour at the College mill, thus resulting in a great saving. The undertaking will require $1,000. The amount looks large but it can easily be raised if each student will consider it his duty to do his part. The student body must raise $500 and the faculty the other $500. If each student will give 25 cents to the movement the necessary $500 will be raised.

The flour will be shipped without charge by the railroads, so it can be seen that they are doing their part. The car which will carry the flour from Manhattan to an eastern seaport will be decorated with banners telling where the flour is from, and where it is going. This will be a great advertisement for the College, in as much as the car will travel clear across the United States. Now then students let's show the people of the other states that we do things out here in Kansas. Let's get under this proposition right now and make it a success. It does not mean a burden on anyone. It means united action, that's all. If every student will give his share, which is 25 cents, the money will be raised. Don't put it off. Go to the financial secretary's office now and give your share.

WE ARE THE LORD'S.

Whether we live, we live unto the lord: and whether we die, we die unto the Lord: whether we live therefore, or die, we are the Lord's.—Romans XIV, 8.

BY THE WAY.

Perhaps you have noticed it too, the peculiar way in which some people act when such a thing as giving something for the relief of a stricken people is mentioned. At once they begin to shrivel. They are constituted differently than are other folks. Somewhere in their makeup there is a set of muscles which respond instantly to such a call for help and which begin to contract at once. Strange isn't it Yet let there be a benefit band concert or football game or some other thing from which they can derive some immediate pleasure from their money and you will see these very same people at the box office asking for the first tickets. After it is all over they pat themselves on the back and say what good fellows they have been.

The secret of the thing all lies in the power of vision. Some people still have the vision of childhood, the vision which only includes the things close at hand, the tangible, that which can be easily grasped. They patronize gladly a benefit concert because they are getting something of value for their money, not because they are giving something to a worthy cause. They are not far-sighted enough to see the need in a home made fatherless by war, on a battle field soaked with men's blood, in a field hospital where operations must be made without anaesthetics.

For a picture show every night, for several cigars every day, for candy whenever it is wanted, for gum—for all these things and many more they have plenty. But mention a relief fund and they are broke, penniless they would have us think. A class all to themselves they are, but alas it is a large one. Let's see to it that we don't swell the numbers.

If you were born to honor, show it now:
If put upon you, make the judgment good
That thought you worthy of it.
—Shakespeare.

We notice by the score card that Rutherford of Nebraska, has another year on the football team and Chamberlain has two more. Let's close down this Missouri Valley Conference business for about three years.—Daily Kansan.

And we too, might add our little "Amen."

BALLAST AND CARGO.

Years ago ships were accustomed to carry great weights of ballast. Much more energy was expended in carrying these heavy stones from port to port than the stones were worth. After years of this useless device for making ships able to sail, the owners started to carrying cargoes, rather than ballast. The same machinery that lowers the cargo into the hold is able to lift it out.

Many a college student is carrying ballast, instead of cargo, on his voyage through school. He stores his brain with a vast amount of material and he is planning to hold on to this material through the voyage of life. Probably it is material that he could hardly unload easily if he desired. To continue the simile a little farther at this point, it is good council to urge students to sort over their cargoes occasionally, and to determine just what they have on board. Cargoes have a habit of becoming mildewed and of little use long before the proper port is reached.

There may be exceptional cases when there is no need for some sort of rigging that will enable the cargo to be unloaded easily. If the cargo is exceptionally valuable, the people might be willing to come to the wharf and gladly assist, but in these days of competition it is best that one should be able to give out his knowledge rapidly. He should be able to express himself easily, and to say what he means, for then he will have a better chance of getting full market price for his knowledge.

Before we hopelessly muddle the simile, let us urge you, fellow skippers, to load your brains with useful knowledge that you can use from day to day. Mend your speech so that you can explain something without climbing all around the furniture. Go over your cargoes occasionally and see what you have of value and what is useless. Keep your invoices up to date also.—Ohio State Lantern

The Open Column

A KICK.

Editor Collegian:

Dear Sir: At the city park yesterday afternoon a hundred or more college students pulled off some stunts that I considered mighty raw sportsmanship. Manhattan and Clay Center were playing football and Manhattan, as usual, was winning. This bunch of students, not one of whom had paid a nickel to see the game, made themselves conspicuous by rooting vociferously for Clay Center.

It didn't hurt the Manhattan team; the Manhattan team has shown conclusively that it can take care of itself irrespective of the Aggie rooters. But it's a practice, that if kept up, will cost the K. S. A. C. Athletic association a good many hard dollars, and will send a bunch of the best football players in this part of the state, off to Kansas University or some other school. The Manhattan high school students have stood by the Aggies loyally during the present season, when it would have been easier to criticise. Several of the best players on the high school team graduate this year, and they will look mighty good on any college squad, after a year with the freshmen. Their first choice would naturally be K. S. A. C. but actions like those yesterday afternoon, are very apt to cause them to seek another school.

The action of this bunch of cheap students will drive support away from the College, right at a time when the College needs all the support it can get. As long as they don't pay, it would seem that they might at least show the local team the courtesy of keeping their mouths shut.

It seems to me that the action of yesterday might furnish plenty of food for a lecture on "good sportsmanship."

It places in a most unfortunate position, a bunch of us 'downtown" fellows, who are rooting every day of our lives for the Aggies to make good.

Respectfully,
NED W. KIMBALL, '02,
Editor Manhattan Mercury.

From My Study

I Visit a Fraternity House.

My friends are often surprised when they come into my study to find a real old-fashioned coal grate. They laugh at me sometimes, and think me whimsical, peculiar, even quaint; but I smile back good humoredly, listen to their "joshings" with an easy temper and then tell them I don't fancy their steam heaters and gas stoves any more than they do my coal fires. I tell them that their steam radiators and gas reflectors are cold and passionless compared to my grate; that they have only artificial make beliefs, and that their hearthstones lack the welcome glow of friendship and genuine hospitality, and they change the subject. I really agree with an eminent divine, that the loss of the old-time fireplace is a calamity to modern civilization. I love to heap high the coals in my grate and the red flames that leap and splutter inspire me, furnish me with new thought, new ideas and expressions. Then as the hours pass, and the flames die, and the bed of red coals glow with a warm, penetrating radiance, I read pictures from its depths. And strange emotions, varied and transient, play softly over me.

A couple of friends, colleagues from another department, dropped in tonight. We had a merry chat. They are gone now. It is late. Outside it is cold. A fine snow beats intermittently at my window, and I sit before the dying embers of my hearth thinking. And the mood of the hour carries me back to freshman days. Scenes come up like bubbles from the deep foam. One lingers longer than the rest. It is the day I first visited in a fraternity house.

Now I never joined a fraternity in the good old days, so my words are at once freed of ego and vanity. It was in the spring, one Friday evening that I was invited to eat at the house. I had expected to meet rigid formality and grilling ceremony. I was taken off my feet by a storm of open-hearted cordiality. Nowhere in the world have I found the same frankness, the equal show of the true spirit of comradship as in a fraternity house. There is nothing that so quickens the pulse of our good spirits as a real live handshake, a smile full of smile, a voice of heratful cheer. This has always greeted me whenever and wherever I have entered a Greek letter house.

We ate dinner. And we bowed our heads in a blessing before the meal. I have always been moved by such a show of reverence. "Just mere form," some say. Let it be so. At least it is the symbol of our attitude of devotion, the voice of our thankfulness, the recognition of our debt.

But the hour that filled my soul to overflowing, and sent me home with a song in my throat, was the hour that followed our simple meal, the hour when the flood gates of youthful exuberance were open, and the house filled with song and laughter. Have you ever seen a dozen boys in a single room all busied with merry-making? Have you ever heard the joyful peals of laughter amid a steady flow of ragtime, or heard the tingling mandolins and lived for an hour in the sweet odor of a dozen briar pipes? I lived such an hour for the first time that spring evening, and I went home happy.

Somehow it sadly accentuated the lonliness of my little room, made me feel the pettiness and isolation of my own efforts. I wasn't in the whirl of things, the heart of life. My whole being glowed with the strength of a new companionship. The torch of a new faith had been lighted. I had a new vision.

And as I sit here before my grate tonight, and recall the experience of that night, and think again the thoughts that came to me on the way home, I realize that I was thinking justly.

My experience brings me to this conclusion: The priceless treasures of college days are not buried in classrooms and textbooks. Facts will leave you; formulas will not stay with you, and the written pages of a textbook are as transitory as the melting snow of winter. But every ripened association, every friendship of faith and love is a monument that endureth forever. He who finds his place in the Palace of the Hearts of Man finds an eternal biding place. Our friendships follow us even to the "tongueless silence" of the grave.

David Grayson says: "To be pitied is he who travels the great Friendly Road and does not take toll of what he sees." No less is he to be pitied who lives within the walls of his college and never sees beyond the printed page of academic rule. My college days are past forever. I remember very little of the classroom. But my life today is rich in experiences that count. I prize the days of old for the hours of song and laughter and jolly companionship. I sing the praise of college days still for those hours on the athletic field when my blood was set afire and my viens tingled with a new loyalty and praise.

Thus this life within the walls builds character, friendship, and ability to do things. The man who can do things in college will do things outside. We are measured by our activity, by our push. The world has no place for the mere walking encyclopedia. Our day demands strong minds, great hearts, and ready hands—the all-round man.—Ohio State Lantern.

A Thanksgiving Treat.

The Management of the Wareham Theatre has arranged the booking of "Julius Ceasar" for Thursday, Nov. 26th. This is undoubtedly the greatest production ever presented and as this was only released this week, the people of Manhattan will be among the first who will see this Photo-Drama Classic.

NOW, ARE YOU EDUCATED?

A professor in the University of Chicago told them he should consider them educated in the best sense of the word when they could say yes to every one of the questions that he should put to them, says the Pittsburg Dispatch. Here they are:

Has education given you sympathy with all the good causes and made you espouse them?

Has it made you public-spirited?

Has it made you a brother to the weak?

Have you learned how to make friends and keep them?

Do you know what it is to be a friend to yourself?

Can you look an honest man or a pure woman in the eye?

Do you see anything to love in a little child?

Will a lonely dog follow you in the street?

Can you be high minded and happy in the meanest drudgeries of life?

Do you think washing dishes and hoeing corn just as compatible with high thinking as piano playing or golf?

Are you good for anything yourself?

Can you be happy alone?

Can you look into a mud puddle by the wayside and see a clear sky?

FOOTBALL — TRACK — INTRA-MURAL

BY ERLE H. SMITH

WILL THE JAYHAWK COME BACK?

Kansas Has Put in a Week of Spirited Practice.

Will the Jayhawkers come back, and if so how strongly, in the big football question today. Swamped by the mighty Cornhuskers last Saturday, the Kansas eleven has put in a spirited week's work and meets the ancient foe, the Tiger, on McCook Field today in the crucial battle of the K. U. schedule. The Tigers have not shown to advantage this season but for the last three weeks have been pointed to top form for the Kansas battle at Lawrence today.

Reports have it that neither of the teams' star kickers will be in the lineup this afternoon. Sheppard, the Tiger star toe artist, has been out of the going the major part of the season with a bum pedal, and Lindsey, K. U's. second Delany has been on the sidelines since the Drake-K. U. game.

The ultimate outcome of such bear dope is to find these selfsame players booting the laces off the oval when the time rolls around. Lindsey has not been used by the Jayhawkers for some time and perhaps has been primed for this battle. Sheppard has also been out of the lineup in several of the recent Missouri games but it would not be surprising to see him in the game when the whistle calls the play.

Several changes have been made in the Kansas lineup that are doped to strengthen the K. U. team materially. "Bonnie" Reber has been shifted from an end position to fullback and against the Kansas freshmen this week has been showing great possibilities. "Buster" Coolidge, a great Kansas halfback on the 1912 team, and one of the men that aided in tearing the Tigers to pieces that year, has been playing an end this season, but this week has been shifted to his old position in the backfield. Like Reber, he showed great strength against the K. U. freshmen in scrimmage this week and is expected to duplicate his 1912 tricks against the Missourians today.

According to reports from the Kansas camp, McCook Field has been the scene of spirited workouts all this week. Following the eNbraska romp the Kansas coaches reprimanded the K. U. team for listless playing thus far this season and against the Cornhuskers especially and the result has been a great surprise to the most ardent K. U. supporters.

McCook Field seats 15,000 persons and more than 10,000 reservations have already been reported The attendance at this game has been lessened since the removal of the game from Kansas City in 1911, the largest crowd being that which witnessed the annual fray at Lawrence in 1912 and numbered more than 10,000 persons.

ABOUT THE NORMAL FRESHIES.

According to the final arrangements for the C. of E.-Kansas State Normal football game which was played at Emporia yesterday, College Life, the student publication of the College of Emporia, puts Cutler, Trusler, and Welch, the three Normal quarterbacks out of the game. One other regular, Right Tackle Moneypenny is also out of it. Cutler, Trusler, and Moneypenny played against the Aggies when the Normals played on College Field early this season and at that time were listed as better than freshmen, else they could not have been eligible for competition against the Aggies.

STUDENTS LOST THE GAME.

So Says Wheaton Speaking of K. U.-Nebraska Game.

"The K. U. football team was beaten before it ever got on the train for Lincoln. We have the losing spirit here and as a result have a losing team. Football demands the hearty cooperation of every one to become a winner. This it has not had."

The above were some of the things Coach Emory Wheaton presented straight from the shoulder to the one thousand students who jammed the Fraser Hall at 7 o'clock Tuesday night says the Daily Kansan. It was the first time that the Kansas City man had asked to speak to the students this year and the students were not going to miss anything he said.

"Only one man in the line at Lincoln was on the aggressive. The others waited for the plays to come to them before starting to break them up. Then it was too late," declared Wheaton. "Kansas will always have a hard time in getting the material Nebraska has, but nevertheless we will beat them if we get the winning spirit."

NOTES OF INTEREST TO ENGINEERS

By T. K. Vincent.

Recent articles on the subject show that the Diesel type of oil engines are coming to the front in this country.

New parts have been received to replace those worn out on the Avery truck, and the truck will be put in operation shortly.

K. H. Logan a graduate of the electrical engineering department here is with the U. S. bureau of standards in Washington, D. C.

Prof. Wirt of the farm mechanics department and C. W. Shaver, of the A. E., are making a series of dynamometer tests on farm wagons.

The cement mixer belonging to the engineering department has been given a coat of paint, and has been moved into the applied mechanics laboratory.

The walls of the blacksmith shops and the foundry have been given a coat of whitewash which improves their appearance and makes them much brighter.

The senior mechanicals and senior electricals will clash on the gridiron shortly to determine the championship of the engineering division. All engineers who want to become football players see W. W. Haggard or C. C. Smith.

Dean Potter returned from his eastern trip Tuesday night and stated that he had interviewed several engineers of prominence and had gotten their promises to address the Engineers association here at different times during the year.

W. A. Back and F. Pattison, of the engineering division have been calibrating the recording watt hour meters on the K. S. A. C. power plant switch board, in preparation for a complete power plant test which will be run some time soon by the students.

The gas engineering students performed a novel feat by running the Witte hot tube engine, recently loaned to the College, with electric ignition. The timing mechanism was made out of a piece of galvanized iron and a piece of copper wire and when it was regulated it worked perfectly.

The Engineers association will meet Monday morning at 10 o'clock in the engineering amphitheatre. Dean Potter will address the engineers at this meeting. The men whose names were proposd last time will be voted on at this meeting and all members should be present. All engineers are invited.

PROFESSORS.

The professor is coming to his own. In his own profession, to be sure, he still gets the wages of a second-class clerk, or a first-cclass preacher. But they are using him for other things, too, and in these they are paying him in money and in respect. States are putting professors at the head of legislative bureaus, to write sound sense and intelligible language into their laws. They are making professors the heads or secretaries of commissions. Profetsors wrote the last Republican national platform and most of the Progressive national platform.

A professor is president of the United States; several are railroad presidents and others are high officials. The few of them who have had the price have made good in diplomacy. One of them was mayor of San Francisco, after the revolution there, and some of them have been governors and senators. One of them is running for governor of Pennsylvania and a dispatch from New York announces that "following the latest custom of the larger corporations of appointing educators and philanthropists to their boards of directors, the Santa Fe railroad has named Dr. Henry S. Pritchett as a director. Dr. Pritchett is president of the Carnegie foundation and formerly was president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology."

Which means, among other things, that we are getting a new sort of professors and a new sort of practical men—professors who have common sense and practical capacity, and practical men who recognize the importance of fundamental knowledge and the cash value of ideals.—California Outlook.

attention. Any one of the lot has read the fearful situation in Belgium. If the notice asking your help arrives in time get it into the weekly and daily paper. Ask everyone to meet in the theatre or some church at a given hour. If you need a speaker ask Chairman Stubbs or Secretary Dillon of the Kansas Belgian Relief Fund, telephones 3795 or 1556, Commercial Club, Topeka, to send you one. Ask either for any advice you need.

Try to have your meetings before Sunday, or at the latest, by Sunday night and ask for contributions on the spot. Every wage earner ought to give one day's pay. Every man earning $20 or more a week ought to give a barrel of flour costing $4.50. It may pinch you for one week but you will be relieving the pinch of hunger in far away Belgium.

A man earning $35 to $50 a week can afford to give two barrels of flour to this big cause, and so on in proportion: but if a man is earning less than $20 a week then he ought to join with another in the same class and so make the load lighter for both. When the contributions are all in the committee should see that the stuff is loaded into a car and that the initials and number thereof are wired to Chairman Stubbs or Secretary Dillon at Topeka.

The railroads will carry all Belgian supplies free. The state public utilities commission has authorized the telephone companies to give free service and has issued a special order to that effect. Your local manager can easily assure himself of this fact. The Western Union Telegraph company is carrying messages free and the relief committee in Topeka will accept such messages over those lines or over the Postal lines collect.

The first thing needed is speed and with the speed is needed flour or money with which to buy it. And don't worry about the flour not reaching Belgium. The American Commission in London has the assurance of all the warring nations that food for the non-combatants will not be confiscated. Furthermore, America is almost entirely the only source of supply for these starving millions.

Milland K. Shaler, agent of the London America committee, who has just visited Brussels, reports that even there "many of the well-to-do people had no bread." In the districts which have been devastated conditions are even worse. Mr. Shaler says: "As we neared the Belgian frontier we saw the pitiful plight of the refuges in Holland. Once in Belgium we came across a stream of poor persons pouring back into Antwerp in every conceivable kind of conveyance and on foot. They carried their babies and belongings. Between Antwerp and Mechlin the destruction of habitations in every town and hamlet was complete. Families were living in partly burned buildings or in improvised structures and on the roadways. The suffering is intense and food supplies practically do not exist."

King Albert of the Belgians, who has been at the front with his soldiers, wires thus: "Despite of all that can be done the suffering in the coming winter will be terrible, but the burden we must bear will be lightened if my people can be spared the pangs of hunger, with its frightful consequences of disease and violence."

This cablegram was received this morning from Herbert Hoover of the American Belgian Relief Commission in London: "Millions of helpless, homeless women, children and old people scarcely existing on present starvation rations. America is their only hope of relief. Every American would help if the terrible conditions were known. Every barrel of flour will save a human life. Every day's delay means death to starving population. All provisions will be distributed under the directions of the American Belgian Relief committee. No doubt that all relief will reach the Belgians without confiscation. This is the most tragic calamity, perhaps, the world has ever faced. Great catastrophies of the past pales into insignificance compared with it. Imagine the growing cold, the hungry thousands, with scarcely enough food to sustain life, and the thousands actually dying, or certain to die before another crop season. The world must be stirred and America must lead Kansas, the leading wheat state, should be in the front rank. Flour is the chief need. Please do all you can to make your people understand that while they go about their business, while they eat their well prepared meals, thousands of women and children whose husbands and fathers have been killed or are at the front, are starving. No other nation has been so battered and beaten as Belgium, the center of this awful conflict.

COLLEGE DAYS.

Our College on the hill, to thee we pledge fidelity,
To games,
And dames
Those charming Janes
Who fill our hearts with glee.

To Wildcat glen we oft would rove to drive dull care away.
Each bug,
And slug
That filled our grub
But made us still more gay.

Mount Prospect too and Bluemont height but added to the list,
Of brooks,
And nooks,
And winsome looks,
And girls we sometimes missed.

So we all love our college days, and never will forget
The park,
Each lark,
The mystic spark
That lingers with us yet.

BATTLE THE BLUE TODAY

WASHBURNITES AND AGGIES TANGLE ON COLLEGE FIELD AT 3 O'CLOCK IN THE LAST GAME OF 1914 SEASON.

WASHBURN USES OPEN PLAY

(By E. H. Smith.)

Four hundred rooting, tooting sons of Ichabod led by the Washburn College band and flying the Blue will arrive in Manhattan this afternoon to witness the battle between the prodigees of Coach "Crip" Grey and the gridiron pupils of Coach Guy S. Lowman on College Field at 3:00 o'clock this afternoon. For the Aggies this, the final game of the 1914 season, is most important. To the Washburnites, goaded on by the thorn of precedent, a victory over the Manhattan eleven would be sweet ointment to the wounds inflicted by the Aggies in years past.

Ichabods in Good Condition.

The virility of the Ichabods is established; of the Lowman team, in today's contest, this quality is uncertain. The Aggies have rested for more than a week, while the Washburn eleven has had but a practise battle with the St. Marys collegians to rumple their care-free lives. On condition, the Ichabods have a scant margin. The Aggies have several men in today's rumpus with whom it will be merely a case of how long they can withstand the fierce onslaught of the Topeka charges. Coach Grey reports one lineman on the sidelines for a certainty today. This player has been out of the going for several weeks.

Open Play Will Be Used.

The style of attack in today's game will probably include everything in the football curriculum. Each team has proven successful with the open game. Washburn harrassed the Jayhawkers with brilliant open play attacks and also proved successful in defending the Blue against similar play on the part of the Kansans. Nebraska opened their eyes when the flashy Ichabod passing formations reeled off yard after yard across the lime-lines for the Topeka eleven, and the Kansas State Normals awoke to the fact, early in their battle with the Ichabods, that the passing of the Blue was dangerous to the greatest possible extent.

Whitcomb is Great Tackle.

In defending themselves against line smashing plays the Washburn eleven has shown great capabilities. Old timers see in the playing of Dick Whitcomb, at right tackle, the same style and ability as graced that position last year when the wonderful Rogers filled the shoes. Whitcomb is greatly and justly feared for his ability to hurdle the opponent's line and drag the play down before it is well under way. A more direct line of comparison on his style would be to say that he plays the tackle position in clever imitation of the wonderful Cornhusker center, Cameron, whose work spoiled many of the Lowman team's plays before the ball had traveled many feet from the snap-back. It is up to the Aggies to stop this man Whitcomb today.

Washburn Has Clever Booter.

A word must be inserted about the prowess of Captain Trobert and his capability at the punting game. This clever booter has been the sensation of the Washburn team's defense for three years. Always when forced to suddenly shift from the offense and put the ball far into the opponent's territory, the Washburn leader has been able to lift the oval high into the air and over many lime-lines of space. His average for the present season is slightly better than 40-yards but in other years it has been much higher. The reason for this year's decrease lies in the fact that early in the season Captain Trobert received an injury to his kicking pedal that has not been given a chance to improve as the season grew older owing to the necessity of his playing in every battle.

The Aggies have been pointed for today's affair. The freshmen have been shot at the varsity from every possible angle of the game and with a mastery that points to a wonderful Aggie eleven next season. The virility of the yearlings was given a severe test in their 60-minute encounter on College Field last Saturday, and when at the finish, the regulars emerged winners by a 10-point margin, many of the wise ones sat back on their haunches and sighed the sigh of satisfaction. The yearlings are strong; no denying that fact. With a pilot equal to any the Aggies have faced this season, the Mernerites shot plays at the varsity that made the regulars look dizzy at times. But the old heads came back strong in the closing chapters and proved to the stands that Washburn will be given some stiff little battle out on the Aggie field this afternoon, ba-lieve us!

DEFEAT FRESHMAN VARSITY

Aggies Had Fight on Hands From Kick-Off and Result was in Doubt Until Final Whistle.

The freshman varsity played their farewell engagement on College Field Saturday, before a crowded gallery of noisy and enthusiastic fellow classmen. The Aggies were the final victors with a score of 31 to 20 but they had a fight on their hands from the kick-off, and the result was in doubt until the final blowing of the whistle.

The varsity played their same old steady game and after the opening period they carried the ball down the field for a touchdown at least once a quarter. Their gains were not long but the march was steady and it was only in the last quarter that the first year men were able to clog the wheels of the smoothly running machine with Captain "Red" Agnew at the throttle. The freshman gains on the other hand were the results of long end runs and short forward passes. Double and triple passes of the eastern variety netted them many long gains.

Captain Agnew booted a neat field goal during the last period and this served to put new steam into the varsity machine, but soon after Cockerell received the ball on the kick-off and ran the entire length of the field for a touchdown for the freshies.

The field was hard, if such a thing is possible, harder than it was last week, but even then it is hard to excuse the high and ragged tackling that marked the varsity play. And no one can blame the freshman for swelling out their chests and pushing back their hats as they filed out of the gate that evening, for they had seen their classmates battle the varsity to a standstill and their's is a team to be proud of.

JUNIOR MIXER WAS A SUCCESS.

Dance in Aggieville Followed Party in Nichols.

The junior class gave a "mixer"—which is a combination of class party and class dance—Monday night.

The party was held in the Nichols gymnasium, where the guests were entertained with music by the College quartet, and by a photo-play pantomime entitled "In the Hands of Fate." Those taking part in the photo-play were: Miss Mildred Branson, Miss Edith Updegraff, Miss Corinne Myers, O. B. Burtis, H. B. Dudley, and P. H. Wheeler.

After refreshments of pumpkin pie a la mode and cider, the juniors betook themselves to Aggieville hall where the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing. Punch was served throughout the evening.

Prof. and Mrs. M. F. Ahearn, Prof. and Mrs. H. H. King, Prof. and Mrs. Ralph Kenney, and Prof. and Mrs. J. B. Fitch were the chaperones.

Thanksgiving Time

When the fields of corn have been stripped of their golden ears and the piles of pumpkins have been stored in the cellar; when the trees have lost their leaves of myriad shades and the slowly whistling wind tells us that winter with its snow and ice is standing at the door, then comes a day of Thanksgiving, a time when it has been the long honored custom of our land to give praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for the bountiful blessings he has betsowed upon us.

As we look back over the year that has passed we have many things to be thankful for. Ours has been a time of peace and great prosperity. We have been suffered to remain at peace with all nations and our glorious flag has waved over a land happy and prosperous instead of over battle fields soaked with man's blood. What a blessing has been ours!

At this Thanksgiving time our hearts should overflow with thanks to God. As we bring the fruits of the year's labor to the storehouse, we should be ever mindful of the One who has watched over us, who has kept our country free of the awful horrors of war, who has made us a united people, a united nation—one in liberty, justice, and peace.

HAVE COUNTY FAIR DEC. 5

Y. W. C. A. COMMITTEE IS PLANNING TO MAKE THE ANNUAL FAIR BIGGER AND BETTER THAN EVER BEFORE.

WILL HOLD IT IN NICHOLS GYM.

Plans for the Y. W. C. A. County Fair to be held in the Nichols gymnasium December 5, are well under way, and the committee is working to make the fair bigger and better than ever before.

Miss Ina Belle Wilson, with Miss Madge Thompson as assistant, is chairman of the entire committee. Under her are sub-committees on entertainment, fancy work, candy, ice cream, and novelties. Miss Mildred Branson is chairman of the fancy work committee; Miss Kate Sumners of ice cream committee; Miss Juanita Reynolds of candy; and Miss Laura Falkenrich of the art committee. Miss Falkenrich will have charge of the calendar booth, Miss Florence Smith of the doll booth, Miss Ruth Ferguson will stage a children's farce and Miss Annette Perry and Miss Eva Hostetler will arrange novelty entertainments.

All of the literary societies will present entertainments of some kind, but their plans are not known.

TO HAVE ENGINEER COMPANY

Only Those Men Who Have Completed Four or Five Terms of Drill Will be Assigned.

The K. S. A. C. cadet corps is to have an engineer company. Only the best men in the corps will be assigned to this company and not then until they have completed four or five terms of drill, and shown by their ability and application that they are worthy of the position.

It is all very well in life to be able to sit at a desk and make specifications for different kinds of work that can be carried out only by the aid of modern machinery. It is different, though, to be set out on the banks of the Kaw, with a few axes and some rope and the timber on the banks, and then be told to build a bridge that will carry infantry in column of squads, cavalry or field artillery. The training of such a company will not come amiss in civilian life either. The ability to take the material at hand and accomplish the desired ends is one of the things that makes a man an engineer, and that is only a part of the training of a military engineer.

ATHENIANS GAVE CHAPEL STUNT.

Succeeded in Showing Benefits of Literary Society Training.

The Athenian literary society gave a chapel program Tuesday morning for which they deserve credit. They succeeded in showing to good advantage the benefit of literary society training to a man in hi sprofessional life.

Elton Giles took the leading part and showed ability in his portrayal of Hiram Skoopshovel. His first appearance showing Hiram to be the greenest of the green was especially good.

The parliamentary practice was a new feature for a stunt of this kind. Joe Sweet, acting as society president, kept things moving in a snappy manner.

The speech of B. F. Griffin, president of Missouri's agricultural college thirty years hence, was a feature of the program, as was the piano solo by Albert Lathrop.

CAVALIERS TO GIVE CONCERT

COMPANY OF SEVEN APPEAR IN COLLEGE AUDITORIUM TUESDAY DECEMBER 1, IN PROGRAM OF SONGS AND BALLADS.

WILL BE A PROGRAM OF VARIETY.

The Cavaliers, a company of seven artists, will present an entertainment of music, literature, and historical events of the Elizabethan period at the College auditorium on Tuesday night, December 1. The selections will be largely musical, interspersed with readings, pianologues, and a short sketch or two. It will be a program of variety that will satisfy and please everybody.

The seven people of this company are all artists. With one or two exceptions they have had extended experience in Lyceum work and have been selected for the blending and flexibility of their voices. The company appears in Elizabethan costumes, the cost of which runs up into the hundreds of dollars.

There will be nothing stiff, nothing staid, nothing artificial about the evening's entertainment. The program will be clean, wholesome, sentimental, lively, and popular. It will satisfy alert minds.

The doors of the auditorium will be open at 7:30. The program begins at 8:15.

SENIORS TO HOLD MASQUERADE.

The senior masquerade party will be given in Nichols gymnasium Friday evening, December 4, at 7:30 o'clock. Seniors should not fail to put on the best disguises and costumes that they can obtain, as prizes will be offered for the best costumes worn.

This will be the first time the class has had an opportunity of getting together since last winter, and for this reason a large attendance is expected. A program consisting of music and vaudeville stunts will add greatly to the pleasure of the evening. Some exciting contests will be arranged so that every one can take part, and of course there will be plenty of refreshments.

Since class dues will not be required to be paid, no senior will have an excuse for staying away. If you are married, bring your wife or husband. An invitation to attend the party is extended to the members of the class of 1914 that graduate this term.

In as much as there are forty more boys than girls in the senior class, it will be quite necessary for the boys to hustle in order to get dates. Dates will be assigned Wednesday afternoon, December 2. The date committee consists of W. F. Smith, Helen Robinson, C. W. Gartrell, Elsie Hellwig, and J. H. Loomis. Turn in your dates before the above mentioned time or be assigned. If for any good reason it will be impossible to attend the masquerade, please notify the date committee so that complications will be avoided in the assignment of dates.

Word has recently been recived that Gerald Wyland, '14, has been elected county surveyor of Smith county and has also been asked by the commissioners to act as county engineer.

J. H. Coffman, '11, has severed connections with the University of Idaho and accepted a position with the Denver Hog-Ranche Serum Co., a large serum plant at Denver.

FRESHMEN PASS RESOLUTIONS.

Will Wear Headgear If the Other Classes Will Do So.

The hand bills which were found scattered about the campus Saturday morning and which gave notice of a challenge by the sophomore class to the freshman class for a cane rush to be given between halves of the Aggie-Washburn game today, seem destined to bring results. Just what the results will remain to beseen.

The freshmen called a special class meeting Monday and after a lively discussion, passed the following resolution:

Resolved, That the freshman class will wear a particular headgear providing the other classes will do likewise; the style of headgear of all the classes to be chosen by a committee composed of members from the different classes.

Z. C. Rechel, president of the freshman class, conferred with President Waters, and was informed that President Waters would request the presidents of the different classes to appoint a committee to act with a faculty committee to investigate the customs at the different colleges of the United States regarding the wearing of headgear. After completing the investigation, this joint committee will decide what is to be done at the College, the committee's decision to be final.

2,000 PEPSTERS TURN OUT

Crowd Was Orderly in its March to the Village Where Free Show was Given at Marshall's.

Two thousand strong the loyal Aggies turned out last night to the last and most snappy pep meeting of the 1914 football season. They almost raised the roof of the auditorium when they turned loose on some of the Aggie yells and songs. Beyond a doubt it was decided that the sons of Ichabod would be sent home with another defeat chalked up against them.

President H. J. Waters made the speech of the evening, and among other things stated that when the Aggie squad trotted out for practice next fall that a new coach would be found at the helm.

The jolly, good-natured bunch of pepsters, girls and boys, headed by the College band, marched down to Manhattan in orderly fashion so that not even the oldest fogie of the village could say ought against their conduct. A free show was given to the 2000 at the Marshall theatre.

J. Clarence Jones, '13, is at present city engineer at Edgerton, Wis. Word recently received from him by the civil engineering department states that he is at present working on the paving to be laid during the next season.

THE BELGIAN FUND DOUBLES

VARIOUS ORGANIZATIONS OF COLLEGE ARE GETTING BEHIND THE MOVEMENT—THE K. S. A. C. SOCIAL CLUB HAS GIVEN $77.

$410.81 HAS BEEN GIVEN

Faculty are Responding Heartily and Giving their Co-Operation—Student Body is not Taking Hold of Movement as it Should.

At 5 o'clock Tuesday evening the Belgian Relief Fund had reached $410.81, more than double what it was last Friday. Many of the organizations of the College have contributed and the faculty have been especially active in their cooperation. The K. S. A. C. Social club has given $77.

The student body as a whole has not taken hold of the movement as it should. Surely none can doubt the worthiness of the campaign. Just at this time of year the need of the sufferers is growing extremely intense and relief must be sent in the form of food and clothing at once. If the student body had been asked to do something beyond them it would be a diffenent proposition. As it is they have been asked to give 25 cents each to the movement. If each student will do this the $500, which is the share of the student body, will be raised. The faculty will have their share raised in a short time and it is time for the student body to get busy. It is hoped that after the Thanksgiving vacation the students will take hold of the movement and that each will do his share toward making the movement a success.

A list of contributors will be published next week.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1914

We are haunted by an ideal life, and it is because we have within us the beginning and possibility of it.—Phillips Brooks.

BEAT WASHBURN TODAY.

Today the bunch of huskies from the capital city invade our gridiron. They bring with them a following which will cheer them on until the last blow of the whistle.

It's up to the Aggies to win the game and the dope looks favorable. It's up to the rooters of the purple and white, though, to be loyal to the team and to cheer them on to victory. Let's all be out on the field this last game of the season and make the crisp November air ring with our song s and cheers. Let's root with all there is in us, but let's be sportsmen in our cheering. Let's be courteous and fair to the visitors, the team, and the officials.

FEED THINE ENEMY.

If thine enemy hunger, feed him; if he thirst, give him drink; for in so doing thou shalt heap coals of fire on his head.—Roman XII, 20.

HAVE YOU FORGOTTEN?

Have you forgotten the many thousands of starving women, children, and old people in the little nation of Belgium? As you sit down to your Thanksgiving dinner, to a table loaded with the products of this rich country, can you picture yourself the secen in stricken Belgium where three ounces of flour, hardly a handful, must serve as the entire rations for three meals? Can you eat your Thanksgiving dinner with relish, knowing that you have done your part to alleviate this suffering?

The opportunity is at hand. Show your spirit of thanksgiving for the many blessings that God has brought to you by giving heartily to this worthy movement. Open your purse strings and give freely that some little starving child may have something to eat. If you have anything to be thankful for show it by subscribing to this fund for the relief of a stricken people. Answer the call that has touched the heart of every true American.

Our todays make our tomorrows, and our lives determine the grade on which we must enter any next life.—Minot J. Savage.

THE MILITARY UNIFORMS.

There is a movement on foot at the College to have the cadets wear their uniforms at all times. The officers have set a good example and are wearing their uniforms every day in the week.

This is an opportunity for you to show how much interest you have in the military department. Wear your uniform so that visitors will know that we have a real military department as it is, instead of a small tin soldier post. Show the rest of the school that the military department has some pep, then perhaps the other departments will wake up.

Don't think that you are made fun of by anybody because you are wearing a uniform, at least not by anybody of any consequence. There are a few of course who will be inclined to try and have a little fun at your expense, but don't mind them—nobody else does. They're not considered.

Just now, on account of the great European war, interest in military things has grown by leaps and bounds. All over the country the colleges and universities are debating on subjects cocncerning military life and a definite period of service for every young man. Military life and everything concerned with it is engaging the attention of the American people as it has never done before. Every institution which has a military department is putting it to the front. Let's make the military department at the Kansas Agricultural College something to be proud of. Last year we won the distinction of "Distinguished Institution." This year let's place the military department of the College at the top of this list of distinguished institutions. It can be done and the wearing of uniforms every day will help considerably. By wearing the uniform you show that you are in sympathy with things military. Once the co-operation of each member of the corps is secured things can be done which would otherwise be impossible. Let's have co-operation, the united efforts of each member of the cadet corps. Let's wear the uniforms and be glad that we have a chance to do so. Let's pull together on this proposition and put the military department of the Kansas Agricultural College above all others of similar institutions.

Never lose an opportunity to see anything beautiful. Beauty is God's handwriting.—Kingsley.

TO THE SCRUBS.

No swelling cheer resounds for him;
They hang no laurel on his brow,
The scrub who risked his neck and limb
To teach the stronger warriors how
They might unlock Fame's golden gate,
Using his frame to demonstrate.

While others form the battle line,
And hear the frenzied shouting grow
And feel the glance of eyes that shine,
He holds their sweaters, crouching low,
Unnoticed mid the battle's din—
He's made it possible to win.

The Webster literary society had a very interesting program last Saturday evening. The program was given entirely by the new members of the society, and displayed much ability. Four new men were elected to membership: Keith E. Kenyon, John C. Wood, W. E. Paterson, and Arthur B. Sperry. The society will not be able to meet until December 12 on account of Thanksgiving vacation and the County Fair.

One of the prettiest dances of the school year was given Monday night in Elks hall by the pledges of the Alpha Mu sorority. The dance was a Japanese affair, the decorations being carried out in Japanese style. Ropes of cherry blossoms adorned with small Japanese lanterns hung from the corners of the hall. These were caught up in the center by a large center piece of cherry sprigs in blossom. Twenty-one couples danced during the evening. The music was furnished by Dacquets orchestra. During the Alpha Mu special dance, Miss Sarah Marty sang a delightful Japanese song.

"JULIUS CAESAR."

The WAREHAM THEATRE offers a THANKSGIVING DAY treat in "JULIUS CAESAR," a photo-drawn classic, featuring ANTHONY NOVELLI in the role of CAESAR. This is positively the most magnificent picture ever presented in this country. All others, including "QUO VADIS," and "ANTHONY AND CLEOPATRA," sing into insignificance when compared to "JULIUS CAESAR." This production was secured at enormous cost, but will be shown at the admission of 5c and 10c, and everyone who can do so is urged to attend the matinee. The matinee begins at 2:30 o'clock and the show will run continuously.

On Saturday's Games.

Harvard's romp over old Eli, Nebraska's difficulty with Iowa, and last but not least, Missouri's easy gallop over the Jayhawkers, were the big gridiron surprises of last Saturday. That great witch cauldron, the dope pot, boiled to the last dregs Saturday, and in some cases the sediment that remained was a wee mite more pleasant than green persimmons to the lips of the losers.

Of course the Kansans would come back. Everyone expected them to do so. The only thing that they could possibly do after the terrible drubbing administered by the Nebraskans the week before. The sting of that defeat would make the Jayhawker spurs more anxious for Tiger meat but therein entereth the bitter cup of gall. The Tiger was slow to get in action. First blood was credited to the Jayhawker, and that was all. After the first period the Sunflower song was sung, the Jayhawker's race was finished.

Credit for the Missouri victory and the first that either of these two schools has won on the other's battle field, must go to the five men in the center of the Tiger line. Beginning with the opening play of the second period these five men so far outclassed the Kansans as to hold the Jayhawkers to a sum total of six first downs for the whole game. Time after time these five men forming the Missouri battering ram opened huge wagon path-like gaps in the Kansas defense and permitted the Tiger backs to slip past for goodly gains.

It is seldom that a goal from the field can be counted in on the decision as to which team is the master of the other. To some extent is this true but not in the whole. The team that is able by stategy or science to place the ball within striking distance of the enemy's goal must be given a slight edge. At Lawrence last Saturday the Missourians were better than the Kansans and the three-point margin must show the superiority o the Tiger.

At New Haven, 72,000 spectators witnessed the 1914 Harvard Juggernaut plow through the Yale eleven for sixty minutes of the thrilling football seen in a Harvard-Yale contest in years. The score, 36 to 0, spells the worst defeat Yale has suffered in years and the largest made by either of these teams since 1885 when Yale trounced the Crimson, 48 to 0.

This contest was replete with clever football playing, Harvard scoring on every play in the book except the safety. The feature of the contest was a 98-yard run by Harvard's clever left end, Coolidge, when a Yale fumble on a forward pass under shadow of the Crimson goal posts, gave the Harvard end his opportunity. Aided by clever interference assistance by Hardwick and Mahan, Coolidge staged the fourth longest single sprint to a touchdown that has ever been made in a battle between these teams. The longer runs were made when the field was laid out on the old distance.

Captain Victor Halligan, playing, his farewell performance for the University of Nebraska, was the bright shining light in the Iowa-Cornhusker battle at Iowa City. With Iowa gaining through the Nebraska line almost at will, and the Cornhuskers returning as good when they had the oval, Captain Halligan saved the day, and broke the 7-7 tie with three neat goals from the field by way of placement. The final count was 16 to 7, and although the Missouri Valley champions played better ball than did their Big 9 opponents, yet they could not rip off the gains that would net touchdowns when within striking distance of the Iowa goal. Nebraska closes the 1914 season with one tie score and a string of seven well earned victories.

In the Big 9 clique Illinois won first honors by taking the strong University of Wisconsin eleven to a 21 to 9 cleaning. Three touchdowns by Macomber and Pogue and a well directed field goal tallied the Illini score, while the Badgers counted one touchdown and one safety. In the same circuit, Minnesota clinched second place honors by defeating the University of Chicago eleven, 13 to 7.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN.

VOLUME 21. NUMBER 22. KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1914. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

TURN IN MANY SNAPSHOTS

COMMITTEE PLANS TO MAKE THE SNAPSHOT SECTION ONE OF THE MOST INTERESTING IN ROYAL PURPLE VOLUME SEVEN.

TO TAKE ORDERS NEXT TERM

Snapshots for Royal Purple Volume Seven are coming in rapidly to the classbook committee. Those which have already been turned in are well worth the price of the book. Since this section of the book is going to be one of the most interesting, all students should turn in the best pictures they can obtain. Films are desired when possible but prints will be taken if they are on glossy paper. These should be handed to C. W. Shaver, W. J. Loomis, or W. N. Skourup.

Take Senior Pictures Now.

The senior pictures should be taken before the end of the term. Arrangements have been made with Wolf and Montgomery to have the pictures taken at their studios. All class dues including the senior dues up to and including the spring term must be paid before the pictures will be put in the annual. Seniors who signed up to put an individual picture in the junior column last year will be required to pay for the picture whether it was placed in last year's class book or not.

The sophomore class voted a fifty cent assessment and the juniors an assessment of $1.25 which will cover the expense of having individual pictures in the class book. Other organizations should appoint committees at once and arrange for pictures. Photographs should be taken at the end of this term.

Orders for Royal Purple Volume Seven will be taken at the beginning of the winter term. Indications point to one of the best class books ever published at the College.

ENJOYED CAVALIERS' CONCERT.

Program Consisted Principally of Elizabethan Songs and Ballads.

The third number of the Society Lyceum course was given last night in the auditorium by the Cavaliers, a company of seven musical artists. The program presented was varied and excellent, each moment holding its full share of entertainment.

The Cavaliers presented principally songs and ballads of the Elizabethan age, an idea entirely new in the Lyceum. The program last night was interspersed with a number of modern songs which gave variety but added nothing to the excellence of the older music, every number of which was enthusiastically received.

Among the most popular numbers given were the "Churning Song" from Robin Hood, the "Jewel Song" from Faust, a trio from "The Mikado," a scene from "Cavaleria Rusticana," and "Sweet Miss Mary," a southern ballad.

The second part of the program was an operetta entitled "Good Queen Bess." The scene was at an inn upon the Queen's Highway where her majesty stops to exchange post horses. The little play was pretty and charmingly given, seeming to carry the audience back over many years and leave them in the old time atmosphere of formality and chivalry and romance. The costumes worn were gorgeous and very beautiful, depicting truly the splendor and magnificence of Queen Elizabeth's court.

ONE THIRD ARE METHODISTS

Slightly more than one-third of the students now enrolled in the College are Methodists, according to statistics compiled by Miss Jessie Machir registrar. Of a total of 2,258 students, 766 expressed their preference for the Methodist church. Only 242 expressed no preference.

The Presbyterians stand next to the Methodists in point of number, with a total of 339. The Congregationalists are third with 226. Other religious bodies are represented as follows: Christian, 180; Baptist, 149; Roman Catholic, 65; Lutheran, 58; Episcocpal 52; United Presbyterian, 39; United Brethren, 23; Christian Science, 20; Friends. 19; Evangelical, 19; Reformed Presbyterian, 10; Universalist, 4.

M. E. Pearson, superintendent of the Kansas City schools, the largest school system in the state, will speak in chapel this morning. The subject of his talk will be, "Opportunity."

PAY CLASS BOOK ASSESSMENT.

Seniors Should Pay the $11 Assessment Before the End of Term.

Each senior should pay his $11 class book assessment to W. F. Smith before the end of the term. The treasurer of the class will be at the window opposite the Post Office some time soon to collect these assessments.

The finance committee which will confer with the treasurer of Royal Purple and the treasurer of the class consists of Fred Stevenson, C. A. Hooker, and R. T. Wilson. This committee will act as a board to excuse persons who have good reasons for not paying certain dues or assessments.

ARE THE STUDENTS AWAKE?

Up to date $546.70 has been given toward the Belgian Relief Fund campaign, but that does not tell the whole story for it is the faculty that is responding to the call and not the student body. Probably three-fourths of this amount has been subscribed by members of the faculty.

Is the student body awake? It does not seem so. The small amount of 25 cents is being asked of each student and even that insignificant sum cannot be secured. Are the students broke? You would judge not from the way the picture shows are crowded. Every day some social function takes place which costs each member not 25 cents but several dollars. Is it indifference? Perhaps so, yet one would hate to believe that any live, progressive student, one who is in sympathy with all humane, benevolent movements, could possibly show an attitude of indifference toward such an urgent cause.

Why, one cannot help but ask, can the student body at the University of Kansas raise almost $2000, when the students of the Kansas Agricultural College cannot be relied upon to give $500 or 25 cents each? Why could each fraternity, each sorority, each boarding club, and each literary society, and every other organization of the university show its sincere interest in the movement when the same organizations at this institution can only display an attitude of indifference? Is the class of students here so indifferent? Has the individual student at the university more money to spend? Or is it that the university student sees more clearly his duty to his fellowman? Perhaps that is the cause. If so, students of the Kansas Agricultural College, let's get a different idea of life, let's see that we must not live wholly unto ourselves but that we have a duty to our brother in distress which we must perform.

GIVE SENIOR PARTY FRIDAY.

The senior masquerade party, which will be given in Nichols gymnasium at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening, will be one of the most interesting social affairs of the class of 1915. Judging from the number of dates which have so far been reported, a large attendance is assured.

Dates may be reported before the seventh hour today after which time dates will be assigned. Members of the date committee may be found at the window opposite the Post Office during the fifth and sixth hours this afternoon. Excuses for not attending the party or for not being assigned to dates should be given to W. F. Smith immediately.

The girls will come without their partners and the boys will be required to search among the masked beauties for the girl with whom they have a date. A number of interesting contests will be arranged so that every person will be able to enjoy himself thoroughly. Competent judges will decide as to whom the prizes for the best costumes wil be given.

DERBIES FOR MISSOURI MAIDS.

Women students at the University of Missouri are not allowing feminism to affect their personal adornment. The customary elaborate headgear has been replaced by felts, derbies and English knockabout hats. Haberdashers have been paying special attention to these customers for men's hats.

NED W. KIMBALL

Tonight as I sit here in the Mercury office my thoughts and eyes drift over to the vacant chair, the chair whose cushioned seat will never again be filled by the late Ned W. Kimball. Comes to my mind the words of the great Dwight L. Moody in his last appearance before the public, in Kansas City's Convention Hall some years ago, "They say we are in the land of the living, but I say not; we are surely in the land of the dying, for surely it is but a step between thee and thy Maker."

Little more than a week ago we talked together in this same office. This morning came and one of us was called before the throne of the Heavenly Father. Death came this morning at 7:40 o'clock. Typhoid-pneumonia was the cause. Mr. Kimball was stricken with typhoid fever Monday, November 23 and last Sunday pneumonia set in and examination showed that both lungs were affected. Death was but a matter of a few hours.

Mr. Kimball was born January 31, 1882, four miles northwest of Manhattan and this was his home throughout his grammar school and college days. Graduating from K. S. A. C. in June 1902, Mr. Kimball taught school for a short time and later entered the newspaper business. From the Scandia Journal in 1904, he went to the Republic, with which later was combined the Manhattan Mercury, which paper Mr. Kimball owned and edited.

Five years ago he was united in marriage to Miss Marjorie Russel of Elkhart, Indiana, who at the time of her marriage was teaching domestic science in the Kansas Agricultural College.

His untimely death is a shock to the entire community, and his loss is felt not alone by the bereaved family, but by the College, city, and state, as well and also the newspaper profession of Kansas. Mr. Kimball was a staunch supporter of the Kansas Agricultural College and fought to the last trench for its well-fare.

Possessing a kind heart and nature, he was the friend of the poor as well as the rich. Modest, he never told of the hundreds of little charitable acts he continually performed. He was loved by all who knew him and more so by those who were in closer relation with him.

As a friend of the Collegian we will miss him. Always he greeted us with a kind word of advice when business worries beset us, and his interest in our well-fare marked him one of the best and closest friends the Collegian ever had.

"The College has sustained a great loss in the untimely death of one of its most worthy sons," said President Waters this morning. "Mr. Kimball was a constructive and progressive citizen. He was loyal and unselfish, and was devoted to the best interests of the College. There is scarcely a man in the state whose loss the College will feel more keenly than that of Mr. Kimball."

SELL RELIEF TAGS SATURDAY

SPECIAL EFFORT WILL BE MADE TO RAISE THE REMAINDER OF THE $1,000 BELGIAN RELIEF FUND.

TAGS WILL SELL FOR 25 CENTS.

"Have you bought a tag?" That's what some pretty little maiden will ask you Saturday as you hurry to class. Of course you couldn't say no, it would be impossible to resist that smile and the flash of those beautiful eyes.

Tags will sell for 25 cents. Of course anything above that amount will be acceptable and even a sum under it will be taken if the donor is unable to give that much. The idea, though, is to get each student to give 25 cents to the campaign fund. The faculty have done their share but the student body has shown a surprising attitude of indifference. If you have not given yet don't let this opportunity slip by. Come to the hill Saturday with a quarter in your pocket and be prepared to buy a tag.

The tags are being printed in the printing department of the College. The lettering is in purple on a white card. These will make good souvenirs and everybody should have one. Come prepared Saturday to buy one of these tags.

ADOPT LIPPINCOTT'S BOOK.

Many Institutions Use it as Text in Poultry Work.

Poultry Production by Wm. A. Lippincott, professor of poultry husbandry in the College, is being rapidly adopted as a text book in the various universities and agricultural colleges of the country. Lea and Fibiger, publishers of the book, report the adoption of the volume as a text at the following universities and state agricultural colleges: University of Wisconsin, Ohio, and Cornell; agricultural colleges of Washington, South Dakota, Iowa, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, and Rhode Island.

The book has been off the press about 70 days.

TO GIVE OPERATIC CONCERT

IS A TREAT TO MUSIC LOVERS.

Music lovers of the College will have a rare treat at the College auditorium next Monday night when Louise LeBaron, prima donna contralto of the Boston Opera House, and Walter Wheatley, leading tenor, Covent Garden, London, and Century Opera , New York, will appear in a joint operatic recital. The program will include the Venusberg scene from Tannhauser, by Wagner, and the judgment scene from Aida, by Verdi.

These artists are in the front rank of American Operatic singers and form a combination not to be excelled on the concert platform. They present operatic scenes hitherto not given off the grand opera stage. A strong feature of this concert is the contrast afforded by the well chosen songs in the lighter parts of the program.

Miss LeBaron is not only a singer of exceptional versatility, she is an actress as well. Her pleasing personality, her voice full of sweetness and ingratiating warmth, and her eager, responsive temperament make her always an interesting figure in opera. Her strong contralto voice which she uses with ease and fluency is one of rare sweetness and smoothness in the softer selections, and it has also a wealth of melodic volume when she has occasion to use it.

Mr. Wheatley is an artist who has reached the full maturity of his talents. He has a most beautiful tenor voice, warm, resonant, extensive, and robust. There is a finish, a fine sense of proportion in all that he does. An excellent feature of his singing is that the audience knows what he is singing, his enunciation being very distinct.

It need not be said that those who love to spend an evening with grand opera will be more than delighted to hear that these two great operatic singers have been secured for a concert in the College auditorium. Tickets are now on sale and beyond a doubt the auditorium will be crowded with music lovers next Monday evening.

WILL SPEAK AT THE Y. M. TODAY

D. F. McClelland Will Hold Meeting for Young Men and Women.

D. F. McClelland, traveling secretary for the Student Volunteer movement will speak at the Young Men's Christian association to both young men and young women today at 6:45 p. m. Mr. McClelland is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan university where he was one of the leaders in various student activities. He has served as student general secretary and as traveling secretary for the Association, fitting him very splendidly for work among college students. He will have a message which the thinking young men and women of the College should hear. The meeting will begin promptly and close on time.

GOING TO THE COUNTY FAIR?

Are you going to the Fair? Foolish question; of course you are. Everybody goes to the Fair. If there is a person in this College, faculty member or student, man, woman, or child, who doesn't like to go to a County Fair, it must be because he has never yet been to one. And if there is one who thinks he cares nothing for such things, let him come out to the gymnasium Saturday night, December 5, and have his opinion changed.

This event is recognized as the one big time of the College year, the jolly care-free frolic that makes the fall term complete. You can't keep from enjoying it. Listen to a few of the things planned for your amusement:

An ice cream booth where you can eat to your heart's content—and to the limit of your stomach, and your pocketbook. Miss Kate Sumner will be the presiding goddess here.

Miss Juanita Reynolds has a cleverly designed candy booth guaranteed to tempt anyone who comes near to buy and eat.

Miss Mary Scott has charge of the shows given by the different departments of the College. Each division will be attractively represented.

There are stunts worked up by Miss Eva Hostetler, Miss Ruth Ferguson, and Miss Annette Perry, to say nothing of that institution of all fairs, the fortune telling booth, which will be conducted by Mrs. Eleanor Patrick and Miss Lael Porter.

This is your opportunity, too, to save time on your Christmas gifts. In the art booth, of which Miss Laura Fallrenrich has charge, will appear again the College calendar which made such a tremendous hit last year, and which really is a most delightful and appropriate gift for a College student to give. In this booth also is offered for sale a large number of the charming Japanese pictures which were displayed here a week ago.

Miss Florence Smith has the doll booth, where dolls of every size, color, description, and price can be bought for little sisters, cousins, and friends.

Miss Mildred Branson has charge of the fancy work booth, and any piece of fancy work desired can most probably be secured there.

But why go further? Don't let anything keep you from the Fair. Bushels of fun await you, and all your friends will be there.

MATH. CLUB TO MEET SATURDAY

Interesting Papers Will be Given by Members of Department.

The Mathematical club of the College will hold its regular meeting Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. W. T. Stratton will present the paper, Number Bases Among the Primitive Races. W. A. Lathrop will give a paper on, Mathematics at K. S. A. C. from a Student's Standpoint. History of Algebraic Symbolism will be the subject of the paper to be given by D. S. McHugh.

PICK COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER.

Henry M. Beardsley Will Deliver Address at Mid-Year Exercises.

Henry M. Beardsley, former mayor of Kansas City, Mo., and a publicist of more than local prominence, has accepted the invitation to deliver the address at the mid-year commencement exercises to be held Wednesday morning, December 16, at ten o'clock. At this time the second section of the class of 1914 will be graduated.

WILL STAGE BENEFIT GAME

PROCEEDS TO ATHLETIC FUND

Contest Will Decide Inter-Class Championship—Game Will be Called at 4 O'Clock—Admission of 25 Cents will be Charged.

The seniors and the yearlings will stage a benefit battle for the interclass championship on College Field Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The word "benefit" is used because the two-bit piece extracted from every spectator will be applied to the deficit in the athletic board's coffers.

This game gives early promise of being the best contest of the interclass series. The freshmen have a strong eleven and the seniors have surprised their most staunch supporters by sailing through the series victors over the juniors and sophs.

The yearling team will be minus the services of some of the men that have been best in holding the varsity and scrub elevens in the workouts of the season, but they are in no wise weakened to the extent that they will not give the upperclassmen the battle of their lives.

The seniors have been putting in hard licks and have held several stiff scrimmage workouts and report a new and formidable attack since their contest with the juniors. Manager Wilson has given his team a set of oral signals the like of which have never been heard before on College Field. The senior eleven's mastery of these has proven nothing short of marvelous and the old boys have worked night and day limbering up creaking joints and annointing their muscles with the oil of victory. This game promises to be a thriller and a large gallery is exptcted.

WOULD ADOPT DAVIS' PLAN.

State College of Washington Commends Farm Advertising Ideas.

Suggestions made by H. W. Davis, assistant professor of the English language in the College, as to farm advertising are commended by the State College of Washington in its official news publication.

"The instructor in farm advertising in the Kansas Agricultural College," says the western paper, "recommends that farms have definite names and that the name be put on the milk cans, eggs cases, apple boxes, etc., that the farmer sends out. He also suggests that the farmer send out circular letters calling attention to his farm and its products. Why not adopt this in Washington?"

FRESHMEN TAKE CANE RUSH

The first annual cane rush of the Kansas Agricultural College took place between halves of the Washburn-Aggie game, the freshmen carrying off the honors. The contest was waged between the sophomore and freshman classes.

The cane rush came as a result of a challenge by the sophs to the frosh, although in reality it was some of the upper classmen who got up the affair. The freshmen attempted to carry a cane across College Field from north to the south, the sophs having gathered at the south side to prevent this move. The freshies charged almost to the south line but were stopped there by the solid mass of sophomores. It looked like the pileup after a plunge through center, except that there were about a hundred on each side. The huge living mass swerved back and forth, now one side gaining, now the other.

At the referee's whistle for the beginning of the second half the mass parted and each one ran for his seat. Some limped or rubbed bruised arms, while many torn trousers and shirts were to be seen.

The decision as to who was the winner was left to the Washburn rooters and they decided that the frosh should have undisputed honors of the first annual cane rush.

According to the rules of the challenge which was posted about on the campus, the sophomores must salute the juniors and seniors for the rest of the year.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1914.

"Cold and reserved natures should remember that though not infrequently flowers may be found beneath the snow, it is chilly work to dig for them, and few care to take the trouble."

BACK TO WORK.

The Thanksgiving vacation is over and but three weeks of the term remain. A few short days and the final examinations will be upon us. Now is the time to get ready for those examinations. Start today. Don't put it off.

Let's make these remaining days of the term count for something. If we get down to business now and work hard we will be able to pass our subjects with credit. Start tonight to prepare for that exam in chemistry. Don't put it off until the night before the quizz comes and then expect to pass it with credit to yourself. Let's be on the job these last three weeks harder than ever. Why not drop some of these outside things and give more time to the things we have come to college for? Let's get busy.

GOD BLESSETH THE EARTH.

For the earth which drinketh in the rain that cometh oft upon it, and bringeth forth herbs meet for them by whom it is dressed, receiveth blessing from God: but that which beareth thorns and briars is rejected, and is nigh unto cursing; whose end is to be burned.—Hebrews vi. 7-8.

HONESTY IN EXAMINATIONS.

The final examinations for the fall term will soon be here and again comes up the question, What shall be done with those who cheat?

It does seem too bad that this sort of thing has to exist. What a magnificent thing it would be if the standards of the student body were so high that cheating during examinations would be condemned by everyone. Perhaps such will be the case some day. But the practice is still prevalent in the College, that cannot be denied. What will the Students' council do with offenders?

Why not publish the names of all persons caught cheating during the final examinations or during any other quizes for that matter? Perhaps that would put a check upon the practice. It certainly is not fair to the man who does study to let the thing go on without letting people know who the offenders are. Why not publish their names in addition to the usual penalty? It is a practice which cannot be condemned too harshly. It strikes at the root of many of the petty crimes that take place at the college, for the man who will cheat in an examination will not have much trouble in stretching his conscience to do some other petty crime.

Why not as a student body rise up against this thing? Why not give the person who does the thing such a black eye that it will never be attempted again? Let's strike the thing now and strike it hard.

"Let us fill urns with rose leaves in our May,
And hive the thrifty sweetness for December."

LET'S FORGET IT.

The football season of 1914 is over. It can be called anything but a successful one. But that's a matter of history now. Suppose we forget the thing. Let's drop it and cease to make it the subject of discussion in every conversation.

There's another football season coming. Let's talk about its bright prospects if we have to talk football. But why not forget all about football and begin to talk basketball? Let's forget what has happened and talk about what is going to happen.

If one should give me a dish of sand, and tell me there were particles of iron in it, I might look for them with my eyes, and search for them with my clumsy fingers, and be unable to detect them; but let me take a magnet and sweep through it, and how it would draw to itself the almost invisible particles by the mere power of attraction—The unthankful heart, like the finger in the sand, discovers no mercies; but let the thankful heart sweep through the day, and as the magnet finds the iron, so it will find, in every hour, some heavenly blessings, only the iron in God's sand is gold.—H. W. Beecher.

The University of Missouri has raised something over $100 for the suffering Belgians. The University Missourian states that M. U. seems to be taking the initiative in this relief work in the west. Evidently the man who wrote that could not see as far west as the University of Kansas and the Kansas Agricultural College.

But a short time now and the athlete clad in scanty attire will be in all his glory as he races from one end of a basketball court to the other.

THE OLD MAN.

Boys, when you speak of your father don't call him the "old man." Of course, you are older now than you were then, you are much more manly looking, your clothes fit you better, your hat has a modern shape and your hair is combed differently; in short, you are "flier" than you were then. Your father has a last year's coat, a two-year old hat and a vest of still older pattern. He can't write such an elegant note as you can and all that, but don't call him "old man." Call him "father." For years he has been hustling around to get things together, he has been held to the thorny path of uphill industry and the brightest half of his life has gone for him forever. He loves you, though; he goes along without saying much about it; therefore, be not so ungrateful.—LaHarpe Journal.

WHAT'S THE USE?

Weep and you're called a baby,
Laugh and you're called a fool,
Yield and you're called a coward,
Stand and you're called a mule.
Smile and they call you silly,
Frown and they'll call you gruff;
Put on a front like a millionaire,
And some guy calls you bluff.
—Stockton Review.

NEWSPAPER STYLE AND ENGLISH.

There are some people in this world who carry with them an air of literary superiority that they are not entitled to and have no right to flaunt. These persons are willing to condemn a newspaper or newspaper English because they find a typographical error or a hurried caption on a news article. They do not take time to consider the great haste and strain under which a newspaper is made and the many possibilities for mistakes. But they hasten to pour forth a flood of talk on the perfection of literary style attained by their favorite authors and many lament that newspaper English has fallen to a pitiable level. The probability is that the authors to whom these literary cads refer owe their success in literature to a long grueling, newspaper training and continue to hold a place in popular favor because they write in a true journalistic style.

Thackeray was a newspaper writer and magazine contributor before he became a novelist. He wrote at a time when conciseness and directness was not known in journalism. News could not be had in the quantities it can the present day and reporters were forced to pad their stories. Had Thackeray received a modern newspaper training, the probability is that "Vanity Fair" and "Harry Esmond" would have been told in half the words and, from the standpoint of the reader of today far more attractive.

Dickens, like Thackeray, wrote at a time when the necessity of boiling down stories to essentials had not arrived. Many have no time to read Dickens because they do not care for his padding. They want stories more condensed and direct. They want stories that are marked by careful elimination of the superfluous. In the present day of journalism, elimination of the unimportant is an absolute necessity.

The list of successful writers trained for literature by news writing and who continued to use a journalistic style, might be indefinitely extended. William Dean Howell was the son of a newspaper man and was trained in a news style of writing. Mark Twain was a printer's "devil" before he began steamboat piloting and later became a reporter in Virginia City and San Francisco before he began a literary career. Bret Harte became a contributor for periodicals after he had served an apprenticeship as a reporter in California news offices.

Kipling is a notable example of a journalist in literature. While reporting for Anglo-Indian papers, he developed a strong, terse, direct style that has served to make him one of the greatest writers of compact stories. O. Henry, who climbed to a position as one of the best of short story writers, clearly illustrates the power of newspaper style in literature.

Irving Cobb, Jack London, Richard Harding Davis, Alfred Henry Lewis, Mary Roberts Rhinehart, etc., all serve as examples of reporters and news writers in present day literature. The tendency of contemporary literature is toward the short story and the newspaper office has served as one of the best schools for producing writers in this line. There is no more forceful or attractive way of telling a story than in newspaper style and English. Simplicity, directness, sincerity are demanded. The literary cads who go about criticising newspaper style and English do not understand the meaning of the words, or perhaps, are unaware that they are ignorant.—Daily Illini.

Blind and Deaf Enjoy "To-Day."

Last season several Blind Women's Clubs of the New York Association For the Blind attended performances of "To-Day" the powerful drama which will be seen Tuesday, December 8th, at the Marshall Theatre. That the blind can so thoroughly enjoy a play is a matter of considerable satisfaction to the management of "To-Day," as it was only recently that a delegation of deaf mutes, after following closely the development of the plot by the pantominme of the acting, gave the play their most enthusiastic endorsement. With the blind and the deaf both applauding and approving the drama, as well as the hundreds of thousands of theatregoers, free from any afflictions, who have seen "To-day" during its long run at the 48th Street Theatre, Mr. Von Tilzer quite naturally feels that his original confidence in the play has been more than justified.

SELECT ALL-VALLEY TEAM.

Skinner Landed Place of Right End on Third Eleven.

C. E. McBride published his All-Valley conference teams in last Sunday's Kansas City Star. The Aggies landed a lone place on the third eleven when Skinner was selected for the right end position on that respective combination. "Mac" evidently overlooked Captain Agnew and "Chief" Haucke in his haste to make up the third team. "Red" and "Chief" should have been given a place on the third eleven at least.

McBride's selections follow:

FIRST ELEVEN.

Right End—Packer, Ames.
Right Tackle—Clay, Missouri.
Right Guard—Abbott, Nebraska.
Center, Cameron, Nebraska.
Left End—Howard, Nebraska.
Right Half—Chamberlain, Nebraska.
Left Half—Rutherford, Nebraska.
Fullback—Shepard, Missouri.

SECOND ELEVEN.

Right End—Reber, Kansas.
Right Tackle—Mattison, Ames.
Right Guard—McKinley, Ames.
Left Tackle—Corey, Nebraska.
Quarterback—Potter, Nebraska, (Captain.)
Right Half—Gray, Kansas.
Left Half—Potthoff, Washington.
Fullback—Uhl, Ames.

THIRD ELEVEN.

Right End—Ballis, Nebraska.
Right Tackle—Reeves, Ames, (Captain.)
Right Guard—Drumm, Missouri.
Left Guard—Doffke, Ames.
Quarterback—Wood, Kansas.
Right Half—Lake, Missouri.
Left Half—Dunckel, Missouri.
Fullback, Delametre, Nebraska.

THE ALL-VALLEY HONOR ROLL.

Center—White, Simpson, Iowa; Gregor, C. B. C., St. Louis; Wilson, Rolin.
Guard—Hott, Oklahoma; Askew, Rolla.
Tackles—Copley, Rolla; Clark, Oklahoma; Hardwick, Kansas Normals.
Ends—Montgomery, Oklahoma, Montjoy and K. Miller, Rolla; Vernon, Mornigside, Iowa.
Backs—The Johnson brothers, Oklahoma; Capshaw, Oklahoma; Imlay, Bland and Kiskaddon, Rolla; Bailey, and Parks, Coè College, Iowa; Belting, Kansas Normals; Bush, Warrensburg, Mo., Normals; Godfreaux, William Jewell College, Liberty, Mo.; Shea and Sackstedder, C. B. C., St. Louis; Eiffert and Johnson, Morningside, Iowa.

And next in order, we must give thanks to Alfred G. Hill, dope slinger and space filler on the reportorial staff of the Topeka Capitol. Friend Alfred blossomed forth in Sunday morning's edition of the Capper publication with a well-arranged All-Kansas football combination in two parts. "Cap." Agnew was honored with the left half back position on the first team and not another Aggie received even honorable mention. The following is Mr. Hill's idea of the situation:

FIRST TEAM.

Trobert, (c), Washburn, Right end.
Grove, Friends, right tackle.
D. Whitcomb, Washburn, right guard
Wiedower, College of Emporia, Center.
Russell, C. of E., quarterback.
Grove, Baker, right half.
Agnew, Aggies, left half.
Langhoff, St. Marys, fullback.

SECOND TEAM.

Williams, (c), C. of E., right end.
Scott, State Normal, right tackle.
Taylor, Baker, right guard.
Meairs, State Normal, center.
Buck, State Normal, left guard.
Beals, Washburn, quarterback.
Edwards, Cooper, right half.
Ream, Washburn, left half.
Belting, State Normal, fullback.

SELECT ALL-WESTERN ELEVEN.

Chamberlain and Rutherford, Nebraska Draw Positions on Second Eleven.

Getting a little farther from home take a look at the All-Western selections of Walter H. Eckersall, and G. W. Axelson, two of the best known football critics of the Big Nine circuit. Their estimation and valuation of the University of Nebraska players is interesting to note. Chamberlain and Rutherford each draw positions on one of the second elevens. Halligan receives two votes for first team tackle. The selections follow:

C. W. Axelson's eleven:

First Eleven—Ends, Cherry, Ohio State, and Baston, Minnesota; tackles, Buck, Wisconsin, and Halligan, Nebraska; guards, Routh, Purdue, and Chapman, Illinois; center, Des Jardieux, Chicago; quarterback, Clark, Illinois; halfback, Pogue, Illinois, who is also chosen captain of the first eleven; and Maulbetsch, Michigan; fullback, Solon, Minnesota

Second Eleven—Ends, Carberry, Iowa, and Stravum, Wisconsin; tackles Shull, Chicago, and Townley, Minnesota; guards, Bachman, Notre Dame, and Stegeman, Chicago; center, Rosenthalthal, Minnesota; quarterback, Hughitt, Michigan; halfbacks, Chamberlain, Nebraska, and O'Brien, Purdue; fullback, Graf, Ohio State.

Second Team: Cherry, Ohio State, left end; Armstrong, Illinois, left tackle; Rosenthal, Minnesota, left guard; Rainesford, Michigan, center; Mucks, Wisconsin, right guard; Cochran, Michigan, right tackle; Elvard, Notre Dame, right end; Clark, Illinois, quarter; Rutherford, Nebraska, left halfback; Hightower, N. W. C., right halfback; Eichenlaub, Notre Dame, fullback.

Take High Honors in the Missouri State Football Conference.

Kansas City, Nov. 28.—The Warrensburg State Normal school was excluded from the Missouri state football conference and the championship awarded to the Missouri Wesleyan eleven of Cameron at the annual meeting of conference representatives here today. The school was ousted from the conference by a vote of 8 to 2, Tarkio and Warrensburg voting against the expulsion.

The expulsion of the Normals came after eligibility objections against Normal players had been lodged with the eligibility committee.

The department has obtained a supply of leggins, buttons, chevrons and cap straps. Each man may go now to the quartermaster and get himself properly fitted out, defective parts of uniforms, such as buttons, etc., being replaced free of charge.

HOLD BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

Thirteen Teams are Now Playing on the Y. M. Floor.

The basketball tournament at the "Y" goes merrily on. There are now 83 men playing in 13 teams. These teams are divided into two classes, A and B. Class A is composed of men who have played on teams previously while Class B is composed of men who have had little experience in basketball. There are other teams partially organized and there is still room for additional men who desire to play. Names may be left at the desk or at the College P. O.

WAR A LA FOOTBALL.

Germany kicked off to France, the ball going out of bounds into Belgium. Belgium was there as a spectator, but was an old-time player and was itching to get into the game on the winning side. Instead of dodging the ball, Belgium caught it and started a brilliant return. Belgium made several clever plays, but could not hit the German line effectively, and soon was thrown for a loss and lost the ball on a steady march for the goal line, Paris. Germany relied on straight football, using the old-style mass formations. The Allies tried a number of forward passes, but they were broken up by the heavy German offense. Germany reached the 10-yard line before it could be stopped, but there the Allies got the ball and executed a clever wing shift. They were unable to hit center, but circled the left end for several good gains, carrying the ball back to the 40-yard line. Germany then took to playing th open game, executing successful forward passes to Antwerp and Ostend. Both sides are alleging unnecessary roughness. The score at the end of the first quarter is nothing to nothing.—Lee Shippey in Kansas City Star.

FOREIGN BOOKS COST MORE NOW

Increase of 10 Percent in Price Due to the War.

Books published in Europe have risen 10 percent in price, according to announcements received by college professors from book dealers. The increase is due to the war.

To obtain such books at all will be more difficult than heretofore, though some imports are being made. There is, of course, a considerable stock of European books in the warehouses of New York and other eastern cities.

Neither the college student nor the average reader will be greatly affected by the increase in the price of these books. Works by European authors for which there is a heavy demand are published simultaneously in this country and across the water. This is not the case, however, with scholarly scientific treatises.

While the price of paper and other printing materials has risen since the war began, no increase in the price of American publications has been announced.

MANY CHICAGO U. MEN SMOKE.

One-eighth Are Habitual Users of the Weed.

Out of 400 college men examined by the University of Chicago medical department this fall, twenty-six have almost perfect health, while the general health of all compare very favorably with that of recent years, according to Dr. Reed of the medical department.

Six per cent of the men passed with high marks. Only forty-eight men with abnormal hearts were found, a great decrease over last year's number. Defective eyesight is also more rare. Ten per cent of the men had perfect teeth. Smoking is more prevalent than last year, fifty men confessing themselves to be habitual smokers against only ten of last year. Fifty-three said they were occasional smokers.

The following statistics were revealed by the tests. Total number 400; wearing glasses, 92; defective eyesight but no glasses, 55; color blind, 6; hypertrophied tonsils, 132; tonsils removed, 20; deflected septa, 45; septalspurs, 39; enlarged bones, 74; decayed teeth, 45; perfect teeth, 39; heart abnormal, 48; smokers, rare, 53, habitual, 50; appendices removed, 14.

TEACHES HOW TO MAKE PAPER

University of Maine Offers Course in Pulp and Paper Making.

The importance of the manufacture of pulp and paper in New England, and especially in Maine, has led the University of Maine to establish a four-year course in the subject, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Chemical Engineering, in order to supply the demand for trained specialists in the industry.

The admission requirements of this course are the same as for other scientific departments of the University. One hundred and fifty-two semester hours and at least one summer vacation spent at practical work in a mill, are required for graduation. The special subjects dealing with the manufacture of pulp and paper occupy about one-half the total time of the junior and senior years. They include instruction in forestry as applied to the paper industry, the making of paper pulp, bleaching of pulp, the manufacturing of paper, paper mill machinery, cellulose chemistry and other paper problems.

Many critics who have not seen "To-Day" which comes to the Marshahll Theatre, Tuesday, December 8, have the idea that it is a "red light," "white slave" or "underworld" drama, but it is not—it is a play of fascination and thrills, built upon a most important theme of present day life.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN.

VOLUME 21. NUMBER 23. KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1914. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

SELL RELIEF TAGS TODAY

TO DISPOSE OF 1500 TAGS

Twenty-five Cents Will be Expected for Each of These Tags—Proceeds go Toward Making up the Remainder of $1,000.

Today is tag day at the College and in Manhattan, and everyone will be given an opportunity to wear a purple lettered tag. This tag will indicate that the wearer has done his share toward relieving the suffering Belgians.

Over one hundred sorority and Y. W. C. A. girls will sell the tags at the College to every man and woman who will buy. These girls will be found around the campus, the buildings, at chapel, and in classes. They hope to dispose of 1500 tags.

The tags will be sold at what ever the buyer thinks he can afford to give. It is hoped, however, that each person will pay at least 25 cents for his tag. The money received from the sale of tags will go towards the $1,000 which is to pay for a carload of flour which the College will send to the suffering people of Belgium.

More to come

Friday night almost $700 of the necessary $1000 had been raised and it is hoped that the remaining $300 will be taken in from the sale of tags today. The campaign must be closed up at once and all funds should be turned in at the office of J. T. Lardner by the first of the next week. The car of flour will be shipped the latter part of next week.

TO TANGLE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP.

Athenians and Hamps Will Fight It Out Monday.

The Athenians and the Hamps will tangle in the first annual pigskin chase for the inter-society football championship of the College on Monday afternoon, at 3:30. The winner of this heart-rending battle on the sod will be proclaimed as champs of the societies and will remain such until challenged by the other societies.

The dope is in favor of both sides. The Athenian mentors have been whipping their men in shape by grouveling workouts every night, while the Hamp coaches have been working there men severely. Owing to the lack of cushions on College Field and the softness of the grass in the City Park, it has been decided by mutual consent of the two teams to play the game in the City Park.

The Athenians and Hamps will not be alone in their bloody conflict. The Brownings on one side will be cheering their brothers on to victory, and the Hamps to defeat, while on the other side, will be the Io's helping the Hamps on to victory. A banner will be given to the winners.

Nor will the game be without the proper officials. "Mike" will be on the ground to referee the game, while Burkholder, '14, as umpire, will be there on a motorcycle to keep up with the fast Athenians.

"Mr. Lewis is well equipped and entirely capable of managing and superintending this station," says Dean Wm. M. Jardine.

MARTIAL SPIRIT AT McGILL.

University Battalion Recruited from Canadian Institution.

The martial spirit of the British Empire has invaded even the colleges and universities of Canada. McGill University, of Montreal, recently began recruiting a university battalion among members of its student body, and it now has nearly a thousand members.

A number of students are to leave with the second Canadian contingent, and before leaving were tendered a dinner, at which they listened to songs and to speeches by faculty and military men, who gave them advice as to how to make good soldiers and to rise in the service. The dinner closed with a round of peppery toasts and the promise that their home-coming should be the occasion for an even greater banquet.

ALL MUST BE INOCULATED

Board of Administration Decided so Yesterday—Arrangements Made to Take all Three Treatment.

"Every student in the College will have to be inoculated for typhoid if he wishes to remain in school." This is the decision reached by the board of administration at its meeting yesterday. Arrangements have been made to give the treatments at closer intervals so that each student will get all of the three treatments. If for some reason a student fails to get his third treatment before the Xmas vacation begins, Doctor Nichols will give him the serum and he can have his local doctor administer it.

Dr. S. J. Crumbine, chairman of the state board of health, spoke to the students at chapel Friday morning and later met with the Manhattan city board of health. His visit to Manhattan was caused by numerous communications from all over the state from parents whose children are attending College.

"The danger of typhoid fever attacking a person that has had but one inoculation of the three treatments, is very slight," said Dr. Crumbine in his talk to the students. "If the anti-typhoid serum is in the system only from the first treatment the attack from fever, should there be one, will be reduced to the minimum. Every one should take the treatment. The United States army has proven the value of the serum conclusively."

TRADING IS NOT GIVING.

Miss Bell Says Some Children Haven't True Christmas Spirit.

Is it not a pitiable condition that in many of our modern homes children have no conception of the true meaning of Christmas? We find the little girls and boys in school putting Chrstmas-giving on a commercial basis—'trading' presents with their school mates. The true spirit of Christmas giving should be revived. Teach your children that there is greater joy in giving than in receiving and that we commemorate the tweny-fifth day of December because of the Great Gift made to the world nearly two thousand years ago."

This is the Christmas message which Miss Bab Bell, woman's lecturer for the State Board of Agriculture, is sending out to Home Makers' Clubs throughout Missouri. She urges that mothers teach their children to give only such articles as they themselves would wish to receive, that the gifts be useful as well as attractive and that the children choose as recipients from those whom they are not expecting returns.

Some Farmer Will Get That Price at The State Poultry Show.

Five dollars a dozen on five dozen eggs is what some farmer is going to win if he takes sweepstakes at the farmers' poultry show during the state-wide institute at the Kansas Agricultural College December 28 to January 1. The poultry show will be held four days, December 29, 30, and 31 and January 1. Liberal cash prizes are being offered on eggs and dressed poultry.

Here are some of the prizes: Best five dozen sample white eggs, $10; best five dozen sample brown eggs, $10; best five dozen sample eggs of mixed tints, $5; sweepstakes five dozen sample eggs, $15; best dressed chicken, $5; best dressed turkey, $5; best dressed water fowl, $5; sweepstakes dressed carcass (chickens, turkeys, ducks, and geese competing) $10.

A detailed premium list and rules regarding the show will be issued soon by the poultry department of the College.

DO YOUR SHOPPING TONIGHT

COME TO THE COUNTY FAIR TONIGHT AT THE GYMNASIUM—ALL YOUR FRIENDS WILL BE THERE.

BUY IT AT THE COUNTY FAIR

There will be Candy, Ice Cream, Dolls, Fancy Work, Pictures, Calendars, and Souvenirs—Will be a Jolly, Informal Time.

Didn't it seem like a long time? But it is gone at last and tonight everyone will put away his books, hunt out his stray nickels and dimes, leave all his cares at home and go to the County Fair. And there he will meet all his friends, and have such an absolutely jolly, informal, whole-souled good time as comes but once during the College year.

Do you feel like laughing? Just be on hand tonight. The stunts and novelties are guaranteed to give your funny bone plenty of exercise. Nothing old, nothing slow; real live, original, sparkling fun.

Are you hungry? There is ice cream and candy enough for everyone. And if you are looking for diversion and entertainment, this is certainly the place to find it.

Another good feature about the Fair is that it gives you a chance to obey the "Do your Christmas Shopping Early" mandates. Students should certainly take advantage of such an opportunity, for in the rush of final examinations, packing, taking leave of friends, and going home, someone's gift is likely to be forgotten. But from the display of dolls, fancy work, pictures, calendars, and souvenirs, it will be possible to select one's entire list of gifts.

In addition to the stunts previously mentioned, every literary society will contribute something to the evening's ertertainment. They are keeping very quiet about the nature of these performances, so the only way to find out what they are is to come and see. It is impossible to tell about everything but it will all be good, so be sure to come.

SENIORS MEET FROSH TODAY

Receipts Will go to Make Up Deficit in Athletic Board's Coffers—This Game Ends Football Season.

The local football season will close this afternoon when the final whistle blows in the senior-yearling contest on College Field. The battle will begin at 4 o'clock. This game was slated for last Thursday but was postponed on account of the funeral of Ned W. Kimball, an alumnus of the College.

From all who pass through the gates on College Field this afternoon, will be extracted one two-bit piece. This money will not be divided between the players nor will it be used in defraying the expenses of the officials who will handle the battle-royal but it will be applied to the coffers of the athletic board, said coffers being in serious need of repair.

As a financial success, the varsity season, was a dismal failure. Coach Lowman was forced to borrow money enough to pay off the Washburn guarantee. Until this deficit is made up the varsity letter men of the last three terms will go un-sweatered. It is up to the bunch to get out to College Field this afternoon and lay down that two-bits for one of the neatest little football games that has been seen on College Field this season.

The seniors claim to have perfected their signals and further allege that they have held several secret scrimmages in which the team has shown wonderful form.

The freshmen have been practising by moonlight so as to overcome the lead the upperclassmen secured when they played the sophs on College Field. The seniors are dangerous on this night-owl stunt and are reported to have a couple of halves that are terrors when it comes to sneaking through the enemy' lines disguised as football players.

The Gamma Pi Gamma sorority has pledged Miss Pauline Parkhurst of Kinsley; Miss Myrtle Blythe of White City; Miss Jennie Shoup, of Udall; Miss Esther Mammerli, of Oak Hill; Miss Marion Fowler, of Brookville; Miss Grace Barker, of Newton; and Miss Juanita Davis, of Manhattan.

HEAR OPERA SINGERS MONDAY

IS A GREAT MUSICAL TREAT

"Object of Bringing these Artists is to Give Music Lovers Opportunity to Hear Best in Music," says Prof. Olaf Valley.

The joint operatic recital to be given in the College auditorium by Louise Le Baron and Walter Wheatley will be one of the greatest musical treats ever afforded the music lovers of the College and Manhattan. These two artists are in the first rank of American operatic singers and they form a combination not to be excelled on the concert stage.

"Last night's production of 'Carmen' was a distinct triumph for Louise Le Baron, who sang the title role superbly. Her mellow, resonant mezzo addressed itself to the arduous score with a freshness and vivacity of such an effective nature as to stamp Miss Le Baron an artist of brilliant powers."

When in Italy Mr. Wheatley won a distinction which has been accorded to few Americans. It is the rule in Italy that the singer is not applauded until the end of the act, when the audience calls out the person whom it wishes to applaud. When Mr. Wheatley appeared in Milan, the most Wagnerian city of Italy, he so won the appreciation of the audience that it could not wait until the end of the act to applaud him but broke out in appreciation at the end of an aria which he was singing. At once Mr. Wheatley knew that he had scored a success.

"His most beautiful voice, warm, resonant, extensive, robust, produced throughout the opera an excellent impression, especially the Spring Song, which he delivered with a fullness of voice exceptional also with warm feeling and force, the scene of the sword.

"In a word, his was an important success, spontaneous and amounting to a great victory, because obtained in the most Wagnerian city of Italy."

"While the proceeds of this concert go to the organ fund," says Prof. Olaf Valley of the music department, "yet the object of the concert is not to make money. I consider it necessary to give the students and lovers of music an opportunity to hear the best in music. There is so much opposition today in the field of cheap productions, which while entertaining yet are not educational; nor do they create a longing for the best in music. I think the students should be given an opportunity to realize that this opposition does exist."

BUSY GRINDING THE FLOUR

The 800 Sacks of Flour Will be Ground by This Evening—Has taken 925 Bushels of Wheat.

The department of milling industry of the College has been busy for the last eleven days grinding the flour which will make up the carload the College will send to Belgium. By 5 o'clock tonight the flour will be ground.

The car will contain 800 sacks, each weighing 48 pounds. Working nine hours a day, it takes the mill eleven days to grind this amount of flour. About 925 bushels of wheat are required for the amount.

The flour is put up in white sacks. Across the upper part of the sack in black ink are the words, Kansas State Agricultural College, and just below it Manhattan, Kansas. The label "Aggies Best" in purple ink runs across the sack. A few spears of wheat in natural colors run diagonally across the sack. Just below this in black ink are the letters, Milling Industry Department.

The pile of 800 sacks of flour can be seen in the milling department at any time. This department is located in the new argricultural building.

HOLD INSTRUCTION CAMPS.

Give Young Men of Country Opportunity for Short Military Training.

Information is now available concerning Student's Military Instruction camps to be held during the summer of 1915. These camps are located at various places in the United States, and give to the young men of the country an opportunity for a short course in military training, the better to fit themselves to discharge military duty should their country ever stand in need of their services. In addition to this patriotic motive, there are to be considered the physical benefits to be derived (at less than the usual expense away from home) from the active, healthful, outdoor life of a military camp. From July 5 to August 8, inclusive, camps will be held at Plattsburg Barracks, new York; Chicamauga Park, Georgia; and Ludington, Michigan; and from June 25 to August 1, inclusive, at the Presidio of San Francisco, California. College and university students, and high school seniors are eligible. Those interested should see the commandant, or address the Adjutant General, Washington, D. C., asking for Bulletin 48.

The Gamma Sigma Delta fraternity has pledged D. S. Jordan, of Topeka; J. L. Jacobson of Watrville; W. J. Ott, of Greenleaf; and H. H. Frizell of Manhattan.

WATCH BASKET TOSSERS NOW

NOT ALARMED OVER K. U. NOISE

Aggies Will Miss Frank Root but Coach Merner is Not Alarmed—Around Captain E. C. Jones is Being Built New Combination.

And now that football is laid by, basketball begins to hold the attention of the fans and the congregation that gathers each afternoon over in Nichol's to watch the workouts grows larger each day. Prospects for a fairly good five this season seem rosy. True the Aggies will miss Frank Root, last year's hard playing captain, but Coach Merner is not at all alarmed over the noise K. U. is making over her start of five veterans.

Captain Edell C. Jones performed well for the Aggies last season and merited the captaincy of this year's team. Captain Jones worked in 16 Missouri Valley contests and captured 29 goals from the field in these battles. His opponents in these games failed to score a goal, from the field, on him. The referee cast 26 personal foul calls on him throughout the season.

Around this player, Coach Merner will build an entirely new combination. Adams and Bengston appear as the most likely candidates for the forward positions from their form displayed last year. On the Missouri-Washington U. trip last February these players bore the brunt of the four battles and played best of any forward combination of the season.

The center position ought not to cause so much worry as it did last year when nothing but green material was available. McIlrath and Leonard should have accumulated enough basketball knowledge and ability from the 1914 season to make themselves the equals of the larger number of tip-off men they meet this season.

With Captain Jones playing one guard, Coach Merner must look well to finding another guard to work with the speedy Emporian. McMillen is a likely candidate. He has plenty of experience in the City League in Kansas City and also in the high school league in that town. His aggressiveness and fighting qualities will make him a strong contender for the five.

The schedule will not be announced until after the Xmas holidays. Coach Lowman is attending the meeting of the coaches of the Missouri Valley at Lincoln today making preliminary arrangements for the season's games but no definite announcements of the complete schedule will be made until next term. Coach Lowman announced before leaving for Lincoln that he would play ten games on the home floor.

Aggies 19, Ames 7.
Aggies 14, Ames 18.
Aggies 46, Southwestern 38.
Aggies 26, K. U. 44.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1914.

If instead of a gem, or even a flower, we could cast the gift of a lovely thought into the heart of a friend, that would be giving as the angels must give.—George Macdonald.

IT IS YOUR DUTY.

Today over one hundred girls will give their time to selling tags at the College. The proceeds received from these tags will go toward the cost of the carload of flour which the College has pledged itself to send to the Belgians. It is hoped that these tags will sell for 25 cents each.

If you have not given to the relief fund it is your duty to buy on of these tags today. If you have already given something toward the fund perhaps you will be good enough to buy a tag anyhow. Many will do so.

When the girls ask you to buy a tag today don't say no. Take a quarter from your pocket and be glad that you have the opportunity to help along such a worthy movement. Think of the hundreds of starving women and children in stricken Belgium and act accordingly.

LIFE FOR SINNERS.

And you hath he quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins.—Ephesians II, 1.

THE COUNTY FAIR.

Tonight the Y. W. C. A. girls will hold their annual County Fair in Nichols gym. There will be amusement for all, a large supply of ice cream, candy, lemonade, and other things, and booths at which many useful Xmas presents can be secured.

Today the Y. W. girls have kindly consented to assist in making the tag day a success. The thing for everyone to do is to come out this evening to the gymnasium and help make the County Fair a success. It is no more than right that this enterprise should receive the support of the student body. Why not let that picture show go for tonight? There will be stacks of fun at the fair, plenty of good things to eat, and you will find a jolly bunch of your friends there.

When I consider what some books have done for the world, and what they are doing, how they keep up our hope, awaken new courage and faith, soothe pain, give an ideal life to those whose hours are cold and hard, bind together distant ages and foreign lands, create new worlds of beauty, bring down truth from heaven; I give eternal blessings for this gift, and thank God for books.—James Freeman Clarke.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

The Kansas Farmer says the following of the Belgian relief campaign:

"It was to be expected that the students and faculty of Kansas Agricultural College would assume their share of the responsibility in the Belgian relief movement. It is, therefore, no matter of surprise that they have arranged for the milling of a carload of flour, from wheat grown on the college farm and ground by the college mill, to be shipped to suffering Belgians. To accomplish this it was necessary to collect $1,100 among the students and faculty."

EASY TIME FOR GERMAN STUDE.

No week-night date rule rules in Germany; no ten-thirty bell disturbs the spell of the German swain a fussing, and no deans of women or chaperones seek to tell him what he may or may not do. Life of women students in German colleges is more free than here, and they are hedged about with fewer restrictions, with the result that there is more real co-education, and that the women form real friendships with the men. There is no chaperoning of women students.

All students in European colleges enjoy great freedom, they even live under different laws from the rest of the population. Nobody cares whether the student goes to classes or not. But he must know what is what at quiz time.

WHAT THE OTHERS SAY.

"The Kansas Aggie" is no more—in fact, it has been "no more" for some time since. The name that rang with so much individuality has passed and instead we have "The Kansas State Collegian." Oh Sugar! Latin and Greek, we would assume, have taken the place of Agriculture and Mechanics at the Manhattan institution. Or, perhaps it is simply to correct the impression that there is a certain implication of rural activity connected with the name "Aggie," or a suggestion, perhaps, of a stable, something that is plebean and which would make the Kansas Aggies (for they are still that) seem like rustics from the wilds, some untutored horde of yelling Westerners still carrying pistols and liable to draw at any moment.

It does seem to some that perhaps for the sake of individuality, for a real characteristic, for something that seems (even if it really doesn't), to carry individuality within its very self, it might be better to risk being misunderstood for awhile as diamonds in the rough, and keep the quality of the diamond instead of sacrificing it for a little of the smooth surface of the polished article. And at that, a change in name would not help the facts of the case and more is lost than gained. —Washburn Review.

JUST LIKE A GIRL, ISN'T IT?

My, all this yelling and such piles of familiar faces sure make it exciting. I just love football games, don't you? Oh, look! Is that man the captain down there leading the rooting? He isn't? Oh, I see! the cheerleader. Well, I don't know everything about the game so you'll have to post me. Oh, thank you. I love Morse's chocolates.

Oh, goody, there's our team. Don't they look awfully dirty? I wish boys could learn to play a little friendly game without getting their clothes so sloppy looking. The foot-ball nine is a fine-looking sight. You're laughing at me. What's the matter? Oh, eleven men you say? Well, I got it right all but two.

Say ain't that just too nice for anything to see those men shaking hands with each other? They must be good friends, and now they have to fight against each other? I think you are horrid. What if it is a custom for captains to shake hands? Oh, looky? They're all in line. Are they going to march? Why don't the others get that way, too? So we get the kick-off.

Look, isn't that ball just sailing? That's such a good kick it ought to count for us. What's the man running along the sides for? Is he waving the flag to encourage the players, and say, which side is he on? Oh, pshaw, you aren't paying a bit of attention to me, and I want to learn this game. Ah, they're yelling for something. I guess it's because that little fellow is running away from those big, husky ones. Look, is he trying to make a home run? Dear, I'll never get this game straight.

Look how clean that man looks? Why can't they all stay that way? Oh look! Is that backward pass? I have heard of these things before! There's that little fellow again. Oh, it went too far—clear out between those two posts! We must have made something! Everybody's yelling.

Say, that boy is silly to get so far away from his team! Don't he know they'll nab him? Oh, hurry! He's got the ball hasn't he? Did he do something? Please answer my questions. I'll never learn a thing if you don't help me. I think this is getting monotonous, anyway. All they do is scrap over the ball, and try to hurt each other. Why can't they be gentlemanly? See that big fellow knock him down.

The game's over already. Oh, hasn't it been great. I really believe I know something about it after all. But I can't see yet why they call it a diamond. Well you can laugh all you want to. If you were a girl I'll bet you wouldn't know as much as I do.

ANOTHER WORLD.

(By Frederick C. Howe.)

I want to live in a world where 100 warships, costing $200,000,000 will not be properly paraded before a city too poor to feed its hungry school children; to live in a world where the opinions of long-dead gradfathers—inscribed in constitutions—will be of less consequence than the mangled arms and limbs and the destitute women and children of our factory workers; where breaker boys will not be permitted in coal mines, where it will be criminal to place ltitle children in canneries, chemical vats, glass mills, or phosphorus factories.

I want to live in a city where the daily wages of women and girls will support life; where the lost job means something other than the street or starvation. I want to live in a country where prostitution will not be the price we pay for our bargain counter economics; in a country where the doors of the prison will open outward for those who have become tangled in the machinery o fthe modern industrial world.

I want to live in a world that hates these things, hates them so thoroughly that it will abolish them. I want to live in a world that thinks of its people rather than of business, of consumers rather than producers, of users rather than makers, of tenants rather than owners; in a world where life is more important than property, and human labor more valuable than privilege.

One College, One Paper.

Editor of the Collegian:

Within a year or two there will be three or four student organizations that will want to have annual publications telling of the progress for the year. These organizations are thinking about getting out independent publications, and this suggests to me that the Collegian should make a bid for this work. If the Quill Club, Engineers' association, Saddle and Sirloin, etc., could be induced to use the Collegian to publish their annual or semi-annual, as the case might be, the Collegian would have some valuable allies who would give it greater prestige.

On the other hand, there are at least two good reasons why these various student organizations should use the Collegian (a supplement preferably).

1. The respective organizations and the departments they represent are brought vividly to the attention of the student body. There are students on the campus who are absolutely ignorant of the courses which they are not directly interested in.)

2. The Collegian, because of its visits to all of the high schools of the state and its numerous exchanges, is the best available means of advertising the student work in the several departments of the College.

Remember, the students make the College quite as much as the faculty and equipment do, but our student activities barely get honorable mention in the present advertising literature of the College. The student organizations are the logical ones to carry on this valuable work.

ARRANGE ATHLETIC SCHEDULES.

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 4.—The initial steps in arranging the 1915 atheletic schedules for the universities of the Missouri valley conference will be taken here Friday and Saturday when the representatives and managers of the different schools will hold their annual meeting. Drafting of basket ball, baseball, track and perhaps football schedules will be considered, with possible changes in the rules governing the conference.

The first conference will be held on Friday when the managers will meet to arrange the various basket ball schedules. It is expected that there will be no change in the system that has been followed in past years, that of splitting the conference into a north and south division, with Nebraska, Ames and Drake in the northern section and Kansas, Missouri, Washington and the Kansas "Aggies" in the southern division. Whether the conference will object to a meeting between the champions of the two divisions remains to be seen.

That Nebraska is not likely to change the plan of the last two years in the track schedule was announced today by Athletic Manager Reed, asking for dual meets with Ames and Kansas. The date for the Missouri valley conference track meet and the place of holding it may also be arranged.

Fight Proposed Change.

Several of the schools it is expected will arrange tentative dates for 1915 football games at this meeting, and Nebraska will, in all likelihood, carry out the program of several years by preparing to meet Kansas at Lawrence and Ames at Ames, although Athletic Manager Reed would not commit himself on this subject. A game with the Kansas "Aggies" will probably be arranged for Lincoln early in the season.

As to the possible changes in the governing rules of the conference, scholarship will be the keynote of all the discussions. A scrap over a proposed rule, which was brought up at the last conference, providing that an athlete must carry at least one-fourth of the required hours for his college career each year, is likely to feature these meetings. At the last session Professor Grove E. Barber, the Nebraska representative, was the only opponent to the proposed rule. Since that time a letter written by the Drake representative has been received by Profssor Barber, indicating that he would join Nebraska in the fight against the plan. It is rumored that the rule is in general disfavor at the Kansas "Aggie" institution, and opposition to its adoption will likely develop there.

Does Athletics Hurt Study?

At the Cornhusker institution the rule would force every Nebraska athlete to carry thirty-one hours for three years of his college career, and thirty-two for the fourth year. The present ruling at the Nebraska school is that man must carry twelve hours a semester while he is in school or twenty-four hours during the year and not be delinquent in any of these in order to participate in any of these in order to participate in the contests of the year. In order to insure passage, the proposed change must get a two-thirds vote of the conference members. Nebraska is preparing to fight the measure to the limit at the final vote.

The effect of athletics on scholarship will also come up at this meeting. The relative standing in scholarship of football, basket ball, baseball and track men will be shown by statistics, and comparisons made with students engaged in other college activities, such as debating, work on college publications and fraternities.

Besides Professor Barber of Nebraska, the other representatives are Professor Manley of Missouri, Professor Moorehouse of Drake, Professor Byrer of Ames, Professor Van Court of Washington, Professor Murray of Kansas and Professor Hamilton of Kansas Agricultural.

Military Doings

By R. F. Mirick.

MILITARY COURTESY.

Some cadets do not understand the necessity for saluting, standing attention, and other forms of military courtesy, because they do not understand their significance. The rendering of military courtesies is an index to the manner in which other duties are performed, not only in drill, but also in school and in civilian life. Courtesy among military men is indespensible to discipline, and should not be confined to the drill hour, but should be extended on all occasions. When a gentleman raises his hat to a lady, he is but continuing a custom that originated in the days of knighthood. In those days it was the custom for a knight, when coming among friends, especially ladies, to remove his helmet as a mark of confidence and trust in his friends. Leaving one's hat on today signifies impoliteness and want of good breeding.

From time immemorial it seems to be one of the natural, nobler instincts of man to uncover before superiors, and to acknowledge the presence of equals. With the advent of extensive headgear, such as the bearskin cap, it became impossible to actually remove the headpiece with anything approaching satisfactory courtesy, and so it became the custom to raise the hand to the visor of the hat or cap as if one was just going to remove it from the head. This movement has finallly been conventionalized into the present salute, and it has become the custom for the private to salute the officer first. So far as effect is concerned, it would have been just as convenient for the officer to salute first; but like some other customs handed down to us from our forefathers, which we are obliged to observe as they did or be considered odd, it is the custom for the lower rank to salute first.

Sometimes we find a man who feels that he smothers the American spirit of freedom or that he sacrifices his independence, when he salutes an officer. Of course none but an anarchist, or one with a small, shriveled-up mind, can have such ideas as that.

Manly deference to superiors, which, in military life, is merely recognition of constituted authority, does not imply admission of inferiority any more than respect for law implies cowardice. The salute is the soldier's claim from the very highest in the land to instant recognition as a soldier. The raw recruit, by his simple act of saluting commands a like honor from the ranking general of the army, or from even the president of the United States.

When a soldier salutes an officer, he really salutes the office, rather than the officer personally. A man with the true soldierly instinct never misses an opportunity to salute an officer or another soldier, whether he be of his own, or of an entirely different organization, as the K. S. A. C. cadet corps and the regular army.

The salute on the part of a subordinate is not intended as an act of degradation, or mark of inferiority, but is simply a military courtesy as binding on the officer as on the private. It is a bond uniting all in a common profession, marking the fact that above them all there is an authority that both recognize and obey—the Country!

If you are in uniform on the streets of Manhattan, or any other city in the world, and salute one of our cadet officers, or an officer from Fort Riley, or any other place, it is just as obligatory for that officer to return your salute as it was for you to give it.

Remember that the military salute is a form of greeting that belongs exclusively to the Government, to the soldier, the sailor and the marine—it is the mark and prerogative of the military man. The military salute is ours, and ours only. Moreover, it belongs only to the soldier in good standing; the prisoner under guard is never allowed to salute, but instead is required to stand with his arms folded.

Ours is a grand fraternity of men-at-arms, banded together for national defense, for maintenance of law and order—we are bound together by the love and respect we bear the flag—we are pledged to loyalty to one God, one country—the officer and private belong to a brotherhood whose regalia is our uniform, and all are known to one another, and to all men, by an honored sign and symbol of knighthood that has come down to us from the ages—the military salute.

At present there are two kinds of uniforms in the corps, the cadet grey and the new olive drab. If there is any one thing a soldier is particular about, it is his uniform. He will always be properly dressed when in uniform, and will keep his uniform in the best of condition. He is always careful to keep all the parts in proper adjustment, which includes keeping the collar buttoned, all buttons fastened in the holes provided for them, and shoes and gloves always cleaned. There is nothing a soldier notices so quickly as an unfastened collar, or dirty gloves on the person of a comrade.

NOTES OF INTEREST TO ENGINEERS

By T. K. Vincent.

It is expected that the Corliss engine will be running by Christmas.

Mr. Setz, superintendent of the Fulton Iron and Steel Works of St. Louis, will address the engineering students soon.

The classes in steam engineering four ran a boiler test on the Erie boiler in the south boiler room. Data has not been computed and the results are not known at present.

All of the steam pumps for class demonstration have been connected to steam and water lines and mounted on a zinc top table where their action can be observed by the students.

The department of steam and gas engineering has received an Avery kerosene tractor from the Avery company. This machine is a four cylinder machine, horizontal cylinders, and is a 30-60 H. P. machine.

The large concrete beam that has been lying in the concrete laboratory for the last few months was broken last Tuesday by the applied mechanics four class. The beam was broken in the new Olsen testing machine and when the data is worked up the results will be published.

The bearing on the connecting rod of one of the cylinders of the Big Four 30-60 kerosene tractor in the possession of the College has been repaired and the piston has been replaced in its cylinder. This adds one more tractor for the use of the classes in tractor engineering, making a total of three steam and four gas or oil tractors that are in use.

H. W. Hindman, engineer with the Santa Fe, addressed the students of the engineering division at the meeting of the A. S. M. E. Thursday night in the Engineering amphitheatre. Mr. Hindman gave a talk on "Efficiency" in which he showed that efficiency could be gained more effectively and more quickly by bettering general conditions for the workman such as providing better light, heat, and ventilation. He explained the duties of the efficiency expert, how plans worked out in actual practice, and also gave a good insight into the systems adopted by the Santa Fe.

K.U. WILL HAVE SAME SCHEDULES

Play Same Football Teams on Different Dates Next Year.

The athletic management of K. U. has announced that the 1915 football schedule will be the same as that of the past season except in matter of dates. William Jewell, College of Emporia, Drake, Oklahoma, Washburn, Nebraska, and Missouri will play the Jayhawkers as usual.

Within the past week an effort has been made to definitely decide that the disasters of the K. U. season this year were not due to the shortcomings of the team or coaches or to the superiority of the opposing teams, but to the lack of spirit among the students at the university. This argument seems a bit unfair to both the K. U. student body and to the teams that walloped the Jayhawkers. It is entirely within the pale of human possibilities for both Nebraska and Missouri to turn out better teams than Kansas once in awhile, and it is improable that the Kansas students are not as loyal to their institution as the students of other schools are. If the German army should lose in the present war, it would seem a little ridiculous for the men in the ranks and the generals to try to lay the blame of their defeat on the men, women and children back home who didn't have anything to do with the fighting.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN.

ASK FOR PHYSICS BUILDING

BOARD OF ADMINISTRATION WILL ASK LEGISLATURE NEXT MONTH FOR A $100,000 APPROPRIATION FOR A PHYSICS BUILDING.

WILL ENLARGE COLLEGE FARM

Board Believes $50,000 Should be Spent in Buying Additional Land—Will Install Automatic Machinery Costing $10,000 to Handle Coal.

When the Kansas Legislature meets next month the board of administration will ask for an appropriation of $40,000 for 1915 and $60,000 for 1916 for the erection of a new physics building on the campus. The College needs expansion along the lines of investigation into the chemistry of silage foods, stock foods, and agricultural products and in order to do this and properly care for the regular chemistry classes it is necessary to have additional rooms. To secure this room it will be necessary to displace the physics department which is now housed with the chemistry. The board has decided that it is absolutely necessary to have a physics building.

To Enlarge the College Farm.

The animal husbandry department of the College is greatly handicapped in its work by the small amount of land at its disposal. In order to relieve this need the board suggests that $25,000 for the next two years is necessary. At the present time less than one-sixth of an acre of land is allotted to each head of livestock maintained by the department. On 124 acres the department is keeping 175 head of beef breeding cattle of three breeds, 170 breeding sheep of five breeds, 400 hogs of three breeds, and 51 horses and mules. The dairy department maintains 125 head of cattle of the four principal dairy breeds on but 50 acres of land. In spite of the absurdly small amount of land being used by the College for these purposes, the amount of real estate owned by the institution is so small that from $2,300 to $2,500 is being paid in rent each year. Both for instruction to the eight or nine hundred young men studying live stock in the College and for purposes of investigations of practical value to Kansas farmers, more land is declared necessary.

To Handle Coal at Saving.

The board has made arrangements to have the street car company run their tracks to the power plant of the College to unload the coal directly there. This will be a great saving in shrinkage and loss of coal in hauling and handling. To take advantage of this it is necessary to appropriate $10,000 for the purpose of installing automatic machinery that will do away with the expense amounting to about $10,000 each biennium as the coal and ashes are now handled. More efficient service will be secured by the new method and the coal will go farther.

Will Repair the Buildings.

Repairs and improvements on buildings and grounds, has received the attention of the board of administration. It has discovered that the very least any business concern expends for keeping up its buildings and grounds is two per cent of their value, and it has decided that it would be policy if the state would adopt this plan. It proposes that the College should be appropriated $19,000 for each of the next two years.

A ten per cent increase in the maintenance for the fifteen state schools will be asked. This will take care of the rapidly growing enrollment, which in the last two years has risen from between 15 and 25 per cent. The proposed increase for current expenses will give the College an additional $30,000 for 1915 and $45,000 for 1916.

COCHEL TO SPEAK IN ST. JOSEPH

Will Also Deliver Addresses in Maryville, Missouri.

W. A. Cochel, professor of animal husbandry, left yesterday for Maryville, Mo., where he will deliver two addresses in connection with the agricultural week which is being held at the Normal school. The subjects of Professor Cochel's addresses are, "Factors to be Considered in Selecting a Ration," and "Feeding Cattle for Market."

From Maryville Mr. Cochel will go to St. Joseph, where he will speak Friday before the second annual meeting of the Inter-State Agricultural and Industrial Congress.

TO GO ON OPERATIC TOUR.

Michigan Students Will Present Opera in Six Large Cities.

Enthusiasm is running high among vocalists, musicians and composers at the University of Michigan following an announcement made a few days ago that the Michigan Union opera, presented annually by students, will play before six large cities during the spring vacation. Tryouts for places on the cast will be held in the near future and it is expected that the competition will be keen.

The six cities where the opera will be presented are Detroit, Grand Rapids, Chicago, Milwaukee, South Bend, Toledo. It is also very likely that a return engagement will be played in Detroit.

The annual production of the Michigan Union is strictly a student undertaking. The music and lyrics of the opera are written by students, all parts of the cast are limited to students and the orchestra music is furnished by the University orchestra.

CONCERT WAS A RARE TREAT

The appearance of Louise Le Baron and Walter Wheatley in a joint operatic recital at the College auditorium Monday night was a treat rarely afforded music lovers of so small a community as this. From the opening duet of Miss LeBaron and Mr. Wheatley the singers had the sympathetic attention of the audience

The singing of Miss LeBaron stood out with distinction; her rich contralto voice with its wonderful range and sympathetic tone quality receiving the enthusiastic applause of the audience.

The pleasing personality of Mr. Wheatley at once struck to the hearts of the audience. All the tenderness in the world was in his voice. Its full resonant quality, full of soul and feeling, carried the audience with it and called forth a storm of applause.

The work of Dr. John Mills Mayhew at the piano proved him to be an accompanist of ability.

Besides he must be of sound health, general intelligence, good social position and suitable age.

It is also provided that 80 per cent of the students sent shall specialize in industrial arts, agriculture, science and similar branches while the rest must take law and the science of government.

COLLEGE WILL FURNISH TREE

Engineering Students Will Help Install Electric Lights on Tree—Place It in the Court House Yard—Will Have Music Every Night.

The College will co-operate with the city of Manhattan in the movement being carried on to have a municipal Christmas tree. A large tree, which will be furnished by C. A. The tree will be lighted with many electric lights and a large electric lighted star and other symbolical decorations will be placed on the tree. It will be lighted every night until December 27.

Each night during the time the tree is lighted there will be choral, solo, and quintett singing of ancient and modern Christmas carols and music by the municipal band.

Students from the engineering division of the College will assist in wiring the tree and in preparing the star and other decorations. The College will co-operate in this movement with the Commercial club, the city schools, religious, fraternal, and charitable organizations, and the city officials.

HAVE YOU ORDERED YOUR PIN?

But 114 Seniors Have Sent in Orders So Far.

To date but 114 seniors have ordered pins. The first order of pins was to have arrived some time in November but it is probably being held back by subsequent orders which have been sent. Delivery on the orders now in is promised by the middle of this month.

Last year at this time a much larger number of pins had been ordered. Over 200 pins were sold all together. The pins are being furnished by Quayle and Son, Albany, N. Y. Pins can be ordered at the office of the financial secretary at any time.

SIXTY ENTER MUSTACHE RACE.

At the recent fifth annual "mustache race" at Chicago University, sixty men entered the competition. No one whose beard was more than two hours old was eligible. An experienced barber inspected the candidates. Any senior man found with adornment of any size on his upper lip will be given the third degree. The winners of the contest will be chosen in December by women of the senior class. Prizes will be given for the most promising blond, the thickest and densest, the largest in area, best all-round crop and a consolation reward will be given to the booby. A miniature Gillete razor blade will be the pledge button of the order.

K. U. STUDES KNOW THE ROPES.

Have Quo Vadis Walkers of Missouri Beaten an Bumming.

According to a story in the Topeka Capital, Kansas University students have the famous Quo Vadis Walkers of Missouri University beaten for bumming their way to football games. The story follows:

"The feat of the four Notre Dame students who walked to Chicago to attend the Notre Dame-Carlisle game and made the trip on a cash expenditure of 80 cents, was, by comparison, a feeble exploit. The night the K. U. team came home from Lincoln the Pullman conductor had occasion to examine an upper berth which had been sold to and, presumably, was occupied by a student. He discovered that five luckless backers of the K. U. team were sleeping in it.

"A division superintendent of the road had charge of the students' special. He worked like a Turk during the earlier part of the evening and along about 11 o'clock decided to go to bed. Crawling into an upper berth he composed himself to slumber. An hour or two later he was awakened by another traveler who was crawling into the berth with the apparent intent to occupy it. The d. s. was perturbed and annoyed and audibly manifested his annoyance. 'What are you doing in here?' he growled. 'Hush you fool,' said the other, 'here comes the conductor.' "

STILL $184 SHORT OF MARK

BUT $815.95 OF THE $1,000 HAS BEEN RAISED SO FAR—WILL SHIP THE FLOUR THE LATTER PART OF THIS WEEK.

TAG DAY NETS ONLY $50.55

Plans for Raising Remaining $184 Have not yet Been Made—Contributions Still Being Accepted at Office of Financial Secretary.

Exactly $815.95 has been turned in on the Belgian Relief Fund. This means that $184.05 is needed yet to make up the $1,000 which the campaign was started for.

Tag Day was not much of a success only $50.55 being taken in from the sale of tags. It has not yet been decided what method of procedure will be used to raise the remaining $184. The car of flour will be shipped the latter part of this week. Contributions are still being received at the office of the financial secretary and all who have not given to the fund should do so before the end of the week.

FROSH ARE INTERCLASS CHAMPS

The freshmen won the interclass football championship from the seniors on College Field last Saturday afternoon by a final score of 34 to 0. The freshman goal was never in danger although the upperclassmen threatened to score in the last few minutes of the play when Sargent broke loose two or three times on a fake quarterback run and lugged the ball from the senior eleven's 40-yard line to the yearling's 10-yard line.

Dutton starred for the yearlings in the first half. The opening period was even but near the close of play in the second the freshies carried the ball to the senior's 5-yard line from where Dutton plunged across the final line. In the third period Ptacek went through the senior line twice for touchdowns and in the final period Dutton went over again via the line smashing route. Slatterly kicked four of his five chances.

The feature of the game was the final tally for the yearlings which Cockerill nabbed by catching one of "Fritz" Milner's spirals on his 40-yard line and running the remaining 60-yards through the entire senior team for a touchdown.

COUNTY FAIR NETS $150.00

Rainy Weather Affected Attendance, But the Evening was a Success—All Shows and Stunts Were Good.

The Y. W. C. A. County Fair Saturday night netted the association more than $150. Because of rainy weather the crowd was smaller than usual, but everyone entered into the spirit of the occasion and results justified all the time and trouble spent in preparation.

The booths were attractive. A large triangular candy, popcorn, and peanut booth occupied the center of the hall. It was decorated in evergreen boughs and miniature Christmas trees. The doll booth, done in lattice work, the art booth in purple and white and hung with Japanese lanterns, and the fancy work booth were all unusually pretty. One of the daintiest was the ice cream booth. It was entirely of yellow and white and its attendants were all in white.

The shows and stunts this year were much better than coommonly. There was really something to them. "Sells" were noticeably absent.

The Athenian-Browning free lunch and demonstration stunt drew the largest crowd, ranking first after the booths as a financial success. Next came the Eurodelphian Kilties who staged an excellent highland fling. The Lincoln-Philomathian farce came third. Miss Ferguson's school, "Aggie &Juniors" drew large crowds as did also the fortune telling booth, the Franklin picture gallery, and the Ionian stunt. The Webster band showed much energy and talent. The smallest amount of money was received by the Hamiltons.

Financially as well as from the standpoint of entertainment—the Fair was very much of a success, and the committees deserve much credit for their work.

COLUMBIA BUYS PRINTING PLANT

Will Do University Printing and Print University Paper, The Spectator.

Columbia University now owns its own printing plant and will put in an equipment which will be adequate to do all the printing required by the department of the university and print the Spectator the university paper, besides. The plant of Columia Student Publishing Company, where the Spectator was formerly published has been purchased by the university.

The new plant will be located in the Journalism building on the Columbia campus. Most of the basement will soon be filled with new machinery, and the plant will be operated day and night.

A new Premier press will replace the antiquated Campbell. The new press will get out papers in one third the time that the Campbell did, thus enabling the Spectator to serve its patrons better. The paper will now be delivered several hours earlier than before though it will still go to press at the same time.

THIEVES ARE AT WORK AGAIN

Two Overcoats, a Cornet, and a Clarinet are Missing—Detection of Guilty Persons Matter of Short Time.

The College is experiencing a second epidemic of petty thieving similar to the one which ran its course here last year. However it seems to be an aggravated form of the disease for the articles walking away daily are larger and more valuable than those which caused so much trouble a year ago.

Investigations are being made and the guilty person—or persons—cannot long escape detection. Among the missing articles are two overcoats, a cornet, and a clarinet. One of the overcoats was taken from a locker in the veterinary building, and one from the gymnasium last Friday evening while the senior party was in progress. The cornet, a very valuable one, belonged at the Aztex house, and the clarinet was taken from the Methodist church.

K. U. STUDENTS BORROW CASH.

130 Students Take Advantage of the University Trust Fund.

Students at the University of Kansas have borrowed $1,350 from a fund held in trust by the university to help pay their way through school. The loans come from a fund started by the graduating class of 1894 and has been added to by graduating classes and friends of the university until now it amounts to $1,350. The money is held by a committee of the faculty and is lent on security to students. No one person can borrow more than $100. Since the opening of the fund 130 students have borrowed from it. Only one, borrowing $25, has failed to repay his loan.

At present only students in the college and the school of engineering can draw from the fund, but efforts are being made to increase the amount so that students in all departments of the university can take advantage of it.

FIND VALUE OF KANSAS STONE.

Engineering Students Test Materials in Highway Labortories at College.

To find the practical value of Kansas stone for building or the construction of highways constitutes the thesis work of Frank H. Freeto of Cheney and George B. Hickok of Wichita, seniors in civil engineering in the Kansas Agricultural College.

Samples of many different building stones from various parts of the state will be given tests in the highway laboratory, which is equipped with the most modern machinery for making tests of rock. Some of the matters that will be tested are specific gravity, absorbtion of moisture, toughness, hardness, cementation, abrasion and impact.

HOLD JAPANESE ART EXHIBIT.

Shegeyoshi Obata, a Japanese student in the University of Wisconsin, is in charge of a Japanese art exhibit and sale in the Domestic science hall. The exhibit is under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A., and the association is to receive 17 per cent of the proceeds of the sale.

Today is the last day of the sale. From here Mr. Obata goes to Lawrence where he will have charge of a similar exhibit. He has an admirable collection of pictures and house linens, all bearing the stamp of genuineness.

BASKET BALL SCHEDULE OUT

PLAY 14 CONFERENCE GAMES

Eight of These Will be Staged on the Nichols Court—Schedule 12 Conference Baseball Games; Six of Them to be Played Here.

When Athletic Director Guy S. Lowman arranged the 1915 basketball schedule at Lincoln last Saturday, he secured for the Kansas Aggies sufficient games in each section of the conference to give a direct line on the championship possibilities of the Aggie quintett.

The Missouri Valley circuit is many miles in circumference, and on this account it was seen best to divide the clique into two divisions, three years ago. Ames, Nebraska, and Drake were in the northern half, and Missouri, Kansas, and Washington on the south end. With the admission of the Kansas Aggies a new link was formed as their location was reasonably close to each division.

Nebraska and Kansas have staged several squabbles over the basketball championship of the valley in other seasons but the arrangement of this year's schedule is expected to eliminate the fussing as K. U. and the Cornhuskers tangle in regularly scheduled contests.

One of the feature parts of Athletic Director Lowman's schedule is the 14 conference games, eight of which will be played on the Nichols court. The Aggie athletic director also arranged a 12-game conference baseball schedule, half of the games to be played on the College Field diamond.

The following schedules include only the Missouri Valley games. Athletic Director Lowman will announce the non-conference games in two or three weeks. The basketball schedule follows:

January 20 and 21—Nebraska at Manhattan.

January 28 and 29—Kansas University at Manhattan.

February 5 and 6—Washington at Manhattan.

February 10 and 11—Kansas University at Lawrence.

February 16 and 17—Missouri at Manhattan.

February 26 and 27—Ames at Ames.

March 1 and 2—Missouri at Columbia.

The Aggies' 1915 Missouri Valley baseball schedule:

April 23 and 24—Ames at Manhattan.

April 30 and May 1—Kansas University at Manhattan.

May 11 and 12—Missouri at Manhattan.

May 17 and 18—Kansas University at Lawrence.

May 25 and 26—Missouri at Columbia.

May 27 and 28—Washington at St. Louis.

SENIORS ARE TAKING EXAMS.

Grades of Applicants for Degrees Must be in by Friday Evening.

The second section of the class of 1914 is having its double finals this week; final examinations and the final closing of that chapter in College classes.

In accordance with a faculty action customary in the case of seniors, the examinations are being given a week early. The registrar desires that the grades of all applicants for a degree be in by Friday evening, December 11. Recommendations to the board will be made Saturday afternoon so it is imperative that all grades be in before that time.

SPENDS TIME IN JAP PRISON.

Frank F. Newhouse, a graduate of DePauw University last year, was captured recently as a German spy and imprisoned at Kobe, Japan, by the Japanese officials. Mr. Newhouse experienced considerable trouble in clearing himself and was permitted to continue on his way to his destination only after spending several days in prison.

He was on his way to Tien Tsin, China, where he is now teaching English and science in the government University, when he was seized.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1914.

They are never alone that are accompanied by noble thoughts.—Sir Philip Sidney.

MILITARY TRAINING.

Just now when the terrible European war is sweeping the nations of Europe, a great deal of interest is being shown in military training and all things military. Especially is this to be found true in those institutions which include military training as a part of their curriculum.

As never before military training is coming to the front. There is something fascinating about it, you cannot deny that. There is something more than the mere routine work and the discipline. It stirs the fibres of patriotism that are to be found in every red blooded person. It touches a fountain of loyalty and devotion for one's country and flag which lies concealed in every man's breast.

At our own beloved Alma Mater is this found to be true. One cannot stand and watch the companies march by with quick and rhythmic step without feeling the shivers run up and down his back. There is something about the long files of cadets which is more than commonplace.

It is almost a pleasure to go to drill now. Interest is being manifested by everyone and each cadet seems to have a little of the military spirit. Perhaps they are realizing as they have never before the real value of a military training. The spirit and enthusiasm shown is commendable. It shows that the sons of Kansas are not lacking in patriotism or devotion; that they have the love of their country at heart; and are ready to stand up for its rights and principles.

THE FULFILLMENT OF THE LAW.

Love worketh no ill to his neighbor; therefore love is the fulfilling of the law.—Romans xiii, 10.

WHAT WILL YOU DO?

In this world of ours there are two kinds of people. One of these is the man who looks ahead, the man who makes each minute and each task accomplished count something—everything he does is to a certain end—he plans. The other type of person does things because he has to, does the thing everybody else is doing—has no definite idea about anything—he drifts.

As you walk down town, as you travel across the country, as you spend an evening in conversation with your friends, you hear the names of certain men spoken. They are successful, they have reached the top of the ladder. They are looked up to, they are respected, they are honored. Why? you ask? Because they have planned.

On the street corners, in the cigar stores, around the depot, in the pool halls, and at countless other places are to be found another class of men; the class who would have you believe the world gave them no chance. Their words carry no authority, their presence is not desired, their absence not missed; their names carry no respect, their persons no honor; they have no place in the world, they are not wanted. Why? you say? Because they have drifted.

One man comes to college with little. Perhaps he works his way through, perhaps not. He makes the best of his opportunity, though. Every thing he does is for a purpose. Each lesson is mastered not for what it is in itself, but for that which comes after it. One thing aids in the accomplishment of another and at the end of his four years he comes out ready to take up a position of responsibility. He succeeds. He has planned.

Another student enters the same institution at the same time. He starts out on his course not knowing just why he is doing it. He comes to college because his chums do. He does this thing because he is told. He fails to accomplish this task because for once he was not told. He follows the current and at the end of his four years comes out of the institution worse off than if he had not gone. He takes up a position. He fails. He has drifted.

One man plans. Another man drifts. Which will you do?

If you want your neighbor to know what the Christ spirit will do for him, let him see what it has done for you.—Henry Ward Beecher.

WAR!

In a far off uncivilized age when men lived in caves like the wild beasts of teh forest; when the air was heavy with the breath of fiery dragons; when the sun by day and the moon by night shone upon a land desolate and laid waste, there lived a huge monster with thirst almost insatiable. Human blood alone could quench it. Thousands upon thousands fell victims before its slaughter until the streams and rivers of the land ran crimson. War, the people of the land called it.

Then one day it was conquered and again the streams sparkled with their pure water. But not for long, for soon the monster broke away from its confines and once more scattered suffering nd destruction in its wake As age by age passed by and each succeeding generation of mankind became more civilized, the visits of the monster became less frequent until finally the people of the land said it would never come again.

But alas! One day in the beautiful summer when fields were green and the air heavy with nature's perfumes, this monster again dropped down upon this world of ours. Pruning hooks and plowshares were fashioned into swords and plates of armor. The husbandman left his plow in the field and elbow to elbow marched with his brother to the slaughter, there to sacrifice his blood to quench the thirst of the monster. The sky was o'ercast as if the displeasure of heaven rested upon the earth beneath it. The fields were laid waste; the homes destroyed. The air was filled with the moans of the wounded the cries of the dying, and the wails of homeless women and children. Instead of the sweet perfume of blooming flowers a heavy stench hung like an impenetrable fog over the land. Crime ran rampant and destruction cast gloom over all. Again the streams ran crimson and the earth became soggy with man's blood. But still the monster strode on. Nation after nation fell before it and gave of the flower of its manhood. Home after home, city after city, country after country, was crushed in its iron hand. Where, the people of the land cried, shall we flee to? Who will stop the terrible monster?

The monster is still with us. Today, at this very minute, it deals out destruction, leaving in its wake a black, charred, desolate land; void of life, peopled with misery, suffering, hunger, want, agony, and death. Who will stop the terrible creature? Has civilization ceased to be that this gruesome, sanguinary being is left to pursue its way of death and ruin? Has the dove of peace departed to return no more? Answer, cannot something be done to obstruct the progress of this death-dealing monster?

KANSANS GAME LOSERS.

Speaking editorially The Times, Lincoln, Neb., has the following to say of the Aggie-South Dakota debate which took place here in November:

"The Times editor went to Manhattan, Kansas, last Friday to act as one of the judges, with Professor Aylesworth of the University of Nebraska and attorney Bigelow of Omaha on the debate between the University of South Dakota and the Kansas College of Agriculture. The trip was a very enjoyable one in every way and the Kansans showed themselves to be mighty good entertainers as well as game losers, for the University of South Dakota was given a unanimous decision on the question "resolved that a literacy test should be made for immigrants entering the United States." South Dakota had the negative. Manhattan is a fine clean little city of seven thousand people, with well paved streets, clean walks, neat well constructed business buildings, fine residences, splendid public buildings, cluster lights in excess of those of Lincoln, when the size of the town is considered, and a general appearance of sober thrift and culture, which is so evident in most parts of the sunflower state. The South Dakota team had much the best of the fight, effectiveness of debate considered. They were young men of strong physique, rugged, energetic manner."

Sportorials

Coach Merner is instructing as many of the track men as possible to arrange their winter term assignments so as to have an hour off in the morning, this hour to be used in track workouts. Nichols gym is a busy place during the afternoons throughout the winter term. The rookies, class work, basketball, and track all have to be squeezed into three hours or less every day.

The state papers are full of write-ups from various towns that have had fairly successful high school football seasons and each one is clamoring for a title of some sort or other. Until there is some definite organization among the high schools of Kansas there never can be a really honest to goodness state champion in this division. Lawrence, Topeka, and one or two other towns in the state usually are numbered among the top-notchers but there is always the possibility of some smaller high school putting up a better eleven.

If some of the embryo athletes who have been patting themselves on the back over the chances of winning three letters in major sport, now that the Missouri Valley conference permits such a thing, would spruce up a bit and concentrate their energies to one sport and get good at that, the athletic standing of the Kansas Agricultural College would probably be a few notches higher at least. All-around athletes are scarce as hen's teeth and it probably is very well that they are for an increas in their number always tends to cut down the wide-spread good of competition.

It probably was a good thing for the freshmen that Referee Frank insisted on running the yearling-senior championship battle off in the daylight. In the shades of evening during the last period Sargent's upperclassmen pulled off their best gains and the darker the minute the better the gain. In the last few seconds of play the seniors lugged the ball from their 40-yard line to the yearling's 10-yard line but the period ended before they could shoot the ball across the final time line.

The seniors deserve great credit for attaining the runners-up honors in the class football tournament which was completed last Saturday when the freshmen trounced the old guard 34 to 0 on College Field. Immediately the freshmen pooh-poohed the idea that the upperclassmen held a thing when it came to football. This is the retort brazen. What would become of the 1915 varsity if oldmen of the senior class should beat the freshmen? The coaches look to the new men from the yearling ranks to pep up the varsity each year and what's the answer if the senior eleven should crack down on the yearlings?

Track workouts have begun under the direction of Coach Carl J. Merner and the outlook is bright. Improvement in the regulars is especially noticable in Frizell. This "Duroc" person threatens to become a hurdler. Notice we say threaten. In the fall tryouts a month aga, the Oklahoma cinder-path artist defeated "Mickie" Welch, College record holder in a 70-yard race on the College Field straight-away. Frizzell worked some on the high sticks last season but lacked speed. His form and speed are better this season and Coach Merner is expecting much of him.

Two veterans of the track will be absent this winter. Captain Helt will not be in College and Teeter will drop out of school at the end of the fall term. Helt is suffering from eye trouble and is reported out of the game for the entire year although the insiders expect him to return to College spring term.

K. U's. discus record stood but a few months. Last spring Bonnie Reber hoisted the Greek missle out 117 feet 5 inches and this fall Hiatt Arnold, an ex-Anthony high school weight star, hurled the platter 119 feet 4 inches and was awarded a freshman letter.

TIGERS CHOOSE SPEELMAN.

He Will Captain the Missouri Football Team Next Year.

The nineteen "M" men of the 1914 Missouri university football squad unanimously elected Jacob Speelman, left end of the team, the captain for next year. Speelman has just finished his second year of service with the Tigers at end, and was this year practically unanimously given place on the All-Missouri Valley football team, selected by authorities who have seen the teams of the Valley Conference in action. He was spoken of last year for the position on the All-Valley but denied finally because of the fact that he had then only served one year of Varsity football.

Speelman is 22 years old. His home is in Grand Rapids, Mich. The 1915 captain weighs 172 pounds, and is 5 feet, 11 1-2 inches tall. He is a junior in the School of Medicine. Besides the two letters he holds in football, "Jake" also has a basketball "M."

The football men took only one ballot. They voted by secret ballot. Speelman received a majority vote on the first ballot and the election was made by acclamation.

Military Doings

By R. F. Mirick.

All cadet officers have been given notice to pass upon the quality of work done by the men under them. Men who have neglected to do their duty will fail the term's work, just as in any other subject.

Cadets are urged to make plans to attend the rifle practice classes to be offered next term. Captain and Mr. La Tourette have the work in charge, and are arranging the schedule of practice for the present members of the rifle club. Ability to handle the ordinary rifle does not imply ability to handle the military rifle without proper training. Careful instruction is to be given, and the men will be aided in improving their marksmanship as much as possible. A number of very desirable awards, such as medals, official recognition, and honors, are made to men who qualify in the matches. In last year's intercollegiate matches the College team finished fifth in a class of ten, which was not so bad, considering that it was our first year in competition. But this year it is the intention to finish at the top of the list. Men who get into the rifle team will be obliged to keep to training just as any other intercollegiate team is supposed to do. Michigan State won first place last year, and it was because the men on the Michigan team adhered rigorously to training rules. A man cannot expect to hold a place on a rifle team if he keeps late hours, uses tobacco, or wastes his energy in any other line of dissipation. In no contest does a man have the opportunity to show so well what he can do for himself, as in a rifle match. The ten places on the rifle team will go to the ten men who can prove their capacity to handle a rifle. An outdoor team will be organized in the spring, and the men who make it will probably be men who have received instruction on the indoor ranges. If a man wishes to secure a place on the outdoor team, he should most certainly get into the indoor practice this winter. The arm used on the indoor range is the Springfield Model 1903, sub-caliber rifle, which is an exact counterpart of the service rifle, except that it is chamered for .22 cartridges. The service rifle, used by the team in outdoor matches, is the regular Springfield .30 as used by the army, marine corps, and national guard.

It is possible now to parade the entire regiment in the regulation manner. The first parade was held last Friday. On Monday the flag was lowered while the field music sounded "To the Color." At army posts parade is held at sundown, and it is so timed that the last note of "The Star Spangled Banner" or "To the Color" sounds just as the sun drops behind the horizon and the flag reaches the bottom of the staff.

In Society

Miss Gladys Adams, Miss Lucile Means, and Miss Florence Hyre, members of the Lawrence chapter of Alpha Delta Pi, were guests at the Acacia dance Saturday evening. They were entertained over the week end at the Alpha Mu house.

Invitations have been issued by the Black Helmet Dancing club for a Hard Time Ball to be given at Elks hall Friday evening, December 11th, at 8:30 p. m. Refreshments, including cider and odughnuts will be served during the evening.

The Bethany circle and the Christian Endeavor society of the Christian church will hold a farwell reception for Rev. Arnold on Friday evening, December 11, at 8 o'clock in the basement of the church. All friends of Rev. Arnold are cordially invited.

The Acacia fraternity gave their annual party at the Elks' hall Saturday evening. The hall was beautifully decorated in the fraternity colors, skins, and insignia. Punch and wafers were served during the evening. Dr. and Mrs. Schoenleber, and Professor and Mrs. Ahearn chaperoned.

The senior masquerade party, held in Nichols gymnasium last Friday was a great success. The dignity of the seniors was depressed for the time being and a decidedly good time was enjoyed by all. More than 150 persons were present. The variety of costumes was remarkable. Miss Lucille Beall and A. E. McClymonds won the prizes for the best costumes. The refreshments consisted of doughnuts, apples, popcorn balls, candy, and cider it was the pleasure of the seniors to have Prof. and Mrs. M. F. Ahearn and Prof. and Mrs. H. H. King as chaperons.

A miscellaneous shower was given by Miss Mae Hildebrand at her home on College Heights last Friday evening in honor of Miss Maud Marshall. The evening was spent with various games and selections of music. During the game called "Fairies Shower" Miss Marshall was showered with pink and white confetti and many beautiful gifts were given to her. The color scheme was pink and white and was carried out in the decorations and the dainty refreshments. The announcement of the marriage of Miss Marshall to C. A. Patterson, to take place December 29, 1914, was printed on pink and white hearts placed on the plate of each guest.

NOTES OF INTEREST TO ENGINEERS

By T. K. Vincent.

The foundry is casting some cast iron floor plates to be put in the boiler room around the new stoker.

The large power punch and shear that is used in the blacksmith shop is being overhauled and repaired in the machine shops.

The windows in the back of the foundry have been screened over to protect the glass from the flying iron when the pig iron breaker is in use.

R. G. Taylor, '14, was in town Monday. He has been in Oklahoma in the oil fields engaged in efficiency work, and is now on his way to Michigan for a visit.

The machine shops have under construction ten new molds for concrete speciments. These molds were cast in our foundry and are being finished in our own shops.

The foundry is preparing to cast some large signs out of brass and cast iron for the engineering building and the shops. These signs will be placed on the building at conspicuous places.

The large concrete beam recently tested in the applied mechanics laboratory broke under a load of 15,000 pounds and was loaded at the 3rd points. The beam is still in the testing machine where the form of fracture may be studied by all intrested.

Every child and many older persons, who, like Peter Pan, never grow up, often wonder what would happen if the dumb figures in a toy shop were suddenly endowed with life and set free to dance and chatter through a carnival of fun created out of their own whimsical fancies. Remarkable things would occur, and for this reason everyone should see "Fi Fi of the Toy Shop," at the Marshall Thursday night, under the auspices of the C. D. B.'s. It is all a dream which Bonnie, the toymaker's daughter, experiences when she is overtaken in the woods near her father's home and thrown into a magic sleep by the Sand Man. Bonnie is the keeper of the toys, hence it is natural that she should dream of them. In her sleep they come to life and begin their revels, with all the abandon imaginable, each vying with the other in a series of bewildering adventures which carries them to the Milky Way, through the gardens of Fairyland, and back again to earth in time to hurry to their places in the toy shop before the morning sun catches them.

Have that suit cleaned and pressed now. These prices won't last long. Suits cleaned and pressed 50c. College Tailor Shop, W. P. Barber, Prop.

SONG "HITS" AND MOVIES ARE NEGLECTED WHILE THE STUDENTS OF THE COLLEGE CRAM FOR EXAMS.

TERM ENDS AT 11 A. M., DEC. 18

All the Examinations Will be Over by 11 O'clock Friday, December 18—The Winter Term Classes Will Begin Wednesday, January 6, 1915.

Final examinations of the fall term began yesterday morning and will extend through the coming week. The examinations will be over by 11 o'clock Friday, December 18, when all the exercises of the College will be suspended for the Christmas Holidays. Regular classes o fthe winter term will begin on Wednesday, January 6.

The men and women of the Kansas Agricultural College dote upon moonlight seranades, revel in the hour after dinner spent in learning the latest song "hits," and can enjoy a picture show several nights in a week, but not now, for there is something else which is engaging their attention—the final exams.

The cramming machine is at work and keeps up its tiresome grind into the small hours of the morning. Chafing dishes are shoved back out of sight on bookcase tops, seats in the picture shows are empty, the electric light company grows rich, and the midnight air is no longer disturbed by the songs of co-eds—while the students of the Kansas Agricultural College grind for the finals.

But 11 o'clock next Friday will see it all over and with light hearts the 2300 students will take their devious ways homeward to spend the Christmas Holidays in youthful mirth and merriment.

WILL DISPLAY AGGIE TROPHIES.

Athletic Director Guy S. Lowman has decided that it does not pay to hide one's light under a bushel, and as a result he has had a handsome glass case placed in the hall at the west entrance to the gymnasium. Finished in hard wood and stained to match the trimmings of the building, this case will furnish a pleasing setting for the many cups and trophies that K. S .A. C. now holds.

Down to the present time these symbols of Aggie triumph have rested in the director's office and were gazed upon by only the favored few who gained admission to the sanctum. But all this is now a thing of the past. And it will not be a half hour wasted for you to drop in and look them over. Maybe they have been placed there to jog our memories a bit to help us forget that our football team played in hard luck this year.

And maybe the director wishes to infuse a little more "pep" into some of the freshmen, who, while they flash their prep sweaters on us at every turn, have given the athletic field a wide berth all fall. And maybe it is just to inspire some of the older men with that fighting spirit that has identified the Aggie team for years.

And maybe—there are several more reasons why, but just step in the next time you are over that way and you can preach your own sermon.

Senior Exams Are Over.

All the senior examinations are over. The last ones were given yesterday afternoon, and the recommendations to the board will be made this afternoon. Wednesday this second section of the class of 1914 will be graduated.

JOURNALISTS MOULD OPINION.

So Says Prof. Merle Thorpe of University of Kansas.

"Schools of journalism have increased everywhere in the last few years because newspaper men are not being looked upon today as mere collectors of news, as they were ten years ago; but rather as moulders of public opinion and promoters of good citizenship," said Prof. Merle Thorpe, head of the department of journalism in the University of Kansas, Wednesday, when asked why the department of journalism has made an increase of 40 students since last year.

Professor Thorpe also said that the newspaper has as great a field as any profession and that as a financial proposition it was better than that of law or medicine for the first several years after graduation.

The department of journalism of the university has an enrollment of 167 this year, contrasted with 127 last year. Eighteen new Underwood typewriters were added to the department equipment this fall and several other needed improvements made.

GIVE MORE PRACTICAL WORK

Course in Teaching Methods Will be Changed so as to Give Women Opportunity to Instruct Classes.

Of interest to those who are planning to teach domestic science, art, agriculture, or industrial work, is the change in the course in methods of teaching which will be given by Prof. E. H. Reisner beginning next term. The course in methods will be prerequisite to the course in home economics education, with which practise teaching in that department is connected. Professor Reisner will cooperate with the teachers in the home economics department in the observation and criticism of the practise teaching.

The old course in presentation work of domestic science and domestic art is being revised so as to give the women an opportunity to work with pupils in the school of agriculture. It is also planned to eventually offer prospective teachers work in the instructing of classes in agriculture and manual arts.

SUES THE DAILY MISSOURIAN.

Libel Suit for $10,000 Filed Against the University Paper.

Claude Evans of Marshall, Mo., filed a $10,000 libel suit the first part of this week against the University Missourian Association and John W. Jewell, who is business manager of the Missourian. At the same time another suit for $10,000 was filed against the Daily Tribune on a libel charge by attorneys for Mr. Evans. Walker & Walker of Columbia and Harvey & Bellamy of Marshall are the attorneys for the plaintiff.

Y. M. C. A. PLANS CAMPAIGN

"Dad" Elliott Will Have Charge of the Movement—Campaign Will be Carried on from January 20-24.

Ever since "Dad" Elliott was here three years ago the local association has been trying to secure him again. But his time was dated so far ahead that it was impossible to do so until this year. The Y. M. C. A. here has been congratulating itself ever since the definite announcement of the acceptance of Mr. Elliott of the invitation to come here again.

The dates for Mr. Elliott's visit are January 20-24 thus giving an opportunity for several addresses. Mr. Elliottt is a speaker of great force and has spoken to thousands of college men. Last year among other institutions his visits included Iowa State at Ames, University of Iowa at Des Moines, Minnesota Agricultural College at St. Paul, Oregon Agricultural College at Corvalis, University of Washington at Seattle, and University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Mr. Elliott will be assisted in his work here by Harry Heinzman formerly of Kansas University and the State Committee of the Y. M. C. A., and now of the International committee, Conrad Hoffman of the University of Wisconsin, and Homer Grafton, Fairmount College and State student secretary. These men are all well known by the students who were here last year, Mr. Henizman being the principal speaker of a series of meetings here last spring. It is hoped too, that A. A. Hyde, a well known business man of Wichita, will be present. It is practically certain also that there will be present a number of Kansas University students interested in the Mott meetings to be held there later in the year.

READY FOR SHORT COURSE

SCHEDULES FOR THE TEN WEEKS SHORT COURSES FOR FARMERS ARE COMPLETED—COURSES TO BEGIN JANUARY 5.

EXPECT LARGE ENROLLMENT

Ten Weeks' Courses are Offered in Agriculture, Creamery Management, and Mechanics—Many Well Known Speakers will Give Special Lectures

Schedules for the ten weeks' short courses for farmers which will begin January 5, 1915, have been completed. The enrollment is expected to be larger than that of last winter when 223 students were enrolled in the farmers' short courses, 152 being the first year men and 71 second year men.

For first year students the farmers' short course includes the subjects of crop production, live stock judging, live stock feeding, horticulture, forestry, dairying, poultry production, farm mechanics, wood work, physical training, and special lectures.

The Work Taken Up.

The subject of crop production is studied with particular reference to the time, depth, and manner of plowing, the pereparation of seed beds, selection of seed, and proper cultivation and rotation of crops. Live stock feeding comprises a study of all the common feedstuffs of Kansas, and a survey of the best feeding practices for the production of meat, milk, and work. Farm forestry treats of the starting, cultivation, and care of trees, the composition and location of windbreaks, and the production of fence posts. Horticulture deals with vegetable gardening, fruit growing and orcharding. Farm mechanics takes up the care and handling of farm machinery, the construction of farm buildings, the installation of farm water systems, the use of cement on the farm, farm blacksmithing and wood work, and rope splicing. Physical training work is given twice a week in the gymnasium, and special lectures on subjects of general interest are given once a week.

Second year students take up breeds and breeding, live stock sanitation, grain and forage crops, agricultural botany, soils, dairying or horticulture, insects and spraying, and farm blacksmithing.

Offer Two Other Courses.

There are, in addition to the short courses in agriculture, a ten weeks' creamery short course, and one in mechanics. The subjects in the creamery short course are, creamery management, creamery butter-making, cheese and ice-cream making, dairy mechanics and refrigeration, judging dairy products, dairying, and crop production. In the mechanic's course are included cement and concrete construction, shop work for those who wish to gain a working knowledge of machines, tools, and general repair methods, road building, irrigation and drainage, and steam and gas traction engineering.

Special lectures are given at least once a week during the ten weeks of the term by well known speakers. An incomplete list of the speakers is as follows: Dr. H. J. Waters, president of the College; W. M. Jardine, dean of agriculture; J. H. Miller, dean of college extension; W. S. Gearhart, state highway engineer; W. Burr, rural service department; R. T. Nichols, college physician; A. E. Holt, rural leader; H. B. Walker, state drainage and irrigation engineer; A. R. Losh, state bridge engineer; John C. Werner, correspondence course department, and E. J. Johnson, superintendent of farmers' institutes.

The Cost is Slight.

These short courses are offered for the benefit of the many young men with aspirations for an agricultural education, but who are denied the opportunity of taking a complete college course. They are given during the winter season when the farm work does not demand the boys' presence at home. The cost is slight and the work is arranged so as to present those subjects bearing directly upon the problems of the Kansas farm. Students are also instructed in many problems touching upon the general welfare of the state.

Dramatic Club to Meet.

The Dramatic club will meet in the old chapel next Monday evening at 7:15 o'clock. This will be the last meeting of the term and a large attendance is desired.

SENIORS SHOULD PAY DUES.

Make Reduction of 50 Cents if Payment is Made Now.

The class of 1915 recently passed a motion to the effect that class dues should be 50 cents per term for this year. In as much as all dues must be paid before pictures are placed in the class book, it would be an advantage to the seniors to consider this privilege.

TO FORM EASTERNERS CLUB.

All Students Interested Should Reply to College P. O. Box 476.

A number of students on the campus are interested in forming an Easterners club. Students from the following states who are interested in the movement should reply to box 476, College Post Office, stating their name and adress, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, eGorgia, and Florida.

GET ASSIGNMENTS JAN. 4, 5

Schedules of Winter Classes Will be Given to Students at Window Opposite Post Office Next Tuesday.

Registration and assignments for the winter term will take place in Nichols gymnasium January 4 and 5. New students, old students, and short course students will take out their assignments at this time. The registration will be conducted as it was last fall.

Heretofore students could take out their assignments for the winter term one week before the fall term closed but this method has been done away with. On next Tuesday the schedules for the winter term classes will be given out at the window opposite the College Post Office. Each student should get one of the schedules of his division and take it home with him so asto make out his own assignment for the winter term during the Holdays. Upon his return to College in January, he will take the schedule he has made to Nichols gymnasium and have it checked over by his assignor. The object of this is to give the student an opportunity to make out his own schedule and choose his own classes. Since there is a limit to the number in each class, it would be to the advantage of the student to return on Monday, January 4, so as to get assigned to the class he desires before the limit in that class is reached.

Regular classes of the winter term will begin on Wednesday, January 6.

Miss Marion Harrison of the domestic art department will spend the Chrstmas holidays in Rochester, N. Y.

RESERVE BASKETBALL SEATS

ORDERS FOR SEAT RESERVATIONS FOR 1915 SEASON POURING IN TO OFFICE OF PROF. GUY S. LOWMAN.

ADD FOUR SETS OF BLEACHERS

Seats on Court Will be Reserved but Not Those on End Bleachers or Running Track—Reserve Seats for Season.

Orders for seat reservations for the 1915 basket-ball season have already begun to pour into the office of Prof. Guy S. Lowman, and the outlook is for a capacity house at each of this season's basket-ball games. Last year more than 2,000 season tickets to the popular indoor sport were sold and the advance enthusiasm points to an even larger number this year.

Professor Lowman expects to add four more sets of bleachers to the main floor set, two sets on each end of the floor. The seats on the sides of the ecurt will be reserved again this season, but neither the end bleachers nor the seats on the running track will be reserved.

The seat reservation is an innovation at the Kansas Agricultural College, introduced by Professor Lowman last season, and proved to be so immensely popular that the same plan will be followed again this year. A new idea in this connection this season, will be the reservation of seats for the entire season. These seats will be placed on sale in the near future.

JUST WHAT WILL IT BE, NOW?

Last year all the literary societies joined forces and gave a mock trial, you will remember it as the "persimmon scandal." Its success was due largely to the popularity of Professor "Mike." This year the societies are going to give something of a higher order. It is to be a farce different from anything ever attempted heretofore. It may be "East Linn" up to date or Jimmie in Wonderland, but whatever its name it is going to be a scream from start to finish.

The authors of the play are not afraid of hurting tender feelings. They belive the "goats" wil lenter into the spirit of the fun and enjoy it as much as anybody. It will be a good chance for the grave and dignified seniors to "see themselves as others see them."

The farce will be given soon after the Christmas vacation. A hilarious evening is assured. The committee refuses to give the names of those who will suffer, but say we will find it all out on the Big Night.

The committee is composed of: Zeno Rechel, Hamilton; R. H. Ferguson, Athenian; Miss Emma Stratton, Ionian; Miss Wilma Burtis, Eurodelphian; W. J. Loomis, Webster; Miss Ziller, Browinig; Charles Zimmerman, Franklin; and L. V. Rhine, Alpha Beta.

HONESTY IN EXAMINATIONS.

Once more the time for the final examinations has rolled around. It is almost the Christmas season and there are many things to do besides cram for the final quizes. To some it will be a great temptation to use a few notes, or to help themselves through the exams in some other way. This is nothing short of dishonesty and will be stooped to only by the lowest type of student. It is not fair to the instructor, to your fellow student, or to yourself. The students' council will be on the lookout for such persons and most assuredly they will not get off very easy, unless you call suspension and the loss of a term's work a small matter.

As students of this great institution let's work together o nthis proposition. If you see any cheating going on report it to the proper authorities. Let's work together and see if we can't stamp this thing out. Let's not tolerate the persons who has to stoop to such methods to get through his college course.

KEEP MY COMMANDMENTS.

If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love.—St. John xv, 10 .

"SO SHALL YE REAP."

"As ye have sown so shall ye reap." The finals are here. Are you going to pass or fail? If you have worked faithfully during the term, the examinations are doubtless not worrying you. But if you have not don't grumble. It's all your own fault, and if you don't pass you can't blame it on the instructor. Just sit down and think it over and you will see who is to blame. But next term try and think of this at the beginning of the term. Remember "As ye have sown so shall ye reap."

Infancy is the perpetual Messiah. Which comes into the arms of fallen men, and pleads with them to return to paradise.—Emerson.

BELGIANS ARE THANKFUL.

It gives me great pleasure to accept the invitation which has been transmitted to me to become patroness of the woman's section for the relief in Belgium. I wish to extend to the women of America the deep gratitude of the women of Belgium for the work which they are doing for my people. The food which your country is daily providing for our women and children comes like a ray of sunlight in the darkest hour of Belgium's history. The Belgian women have fought a brave fight and are still fighting for the common cause of human liberty so dear to every American woman's heart. ELIZABETH

The message from the duchess said:

I gladly accept your invitation to become patroness of the woman's section of the American commission for relief in Belgium. I know that I speak for every Belgian child when I say that we thank God for what you are doing. Now that the extremity of our distress is becoming known we feel sure the tender hearts of the women of America will respond to our cry. Food is terribly needed by millions of my brave brother's unhappy subjects who will remain in their native land. Before winter is over the need will become still more desperate. In the name of the suffering women and little children of Belgium, I ask the women of America to help us. HENRIETTE.

WHEN EXAMS ARE SURE A COMIN'.

When exams are sure a comin' and the world is all ajar
And you hear the wail and clamor of the students from a-far
And the hurrying of the foot-steps toward the silent Biblioiteck.
And the rattling of the book-leaves sure to make a nervous wreck
O! it's then the time a feller is a feelin' at his worst
With the risin' sun to greet him from a night with worry curst.
As he leaves the house well loaded and goes out to meet the car,
When exams are sure a comin' and the world is all a-jar.
There's something kind of skeery like about the atmosphere
When the days of stalling's over, and the reckoning time is here.
Of course, we miss the chatter, and the giggling of the girls,
And the joking of the clever boys, and the primping of the curls.
But the scintillatin' with such wisdom now a-raze,
That in late and early mornin' of the sombre winter days,
One can feel an inspiration, with no silliness to mar.
When exams are sure a comin' and the world is all a-jar.

Not Recruiting Stations.

Since certain undergraduates of Harvard University and of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology have taken steps to organize a gun corps to operate with the artillery division of a Massachusetts militia regiment, discussion at once has begun at Harvard as to the desirability of these institutions being committed in this way to militant national policies. A considerable body of opinion in the student ranks and in the faculty will be adverse to this move just at this time. The quasi-indorsement previously given by the university to the army's efforts to induce university and college men to enter the service, and recent pleas by military men addressed directly and verbally to the undergraduates, have run counter to the desires of this same group of non-militants, who look on a university as set apart for other uses than a recruiting ground.

This criticism is more freely voiced just now, because recent events have shown how superficial is the feeling of amity between scholars of eminence and much experience when they are forced to choose between nationalism and internationalism. It is argued and with much force, that until adults that make up teaching faculties can show a higher stage of mastery of themselves as combatants it is hardly timely for under-graduate students to become recruits for any form of physical combat.

The belief is general that, taking the university and colleges of the land as a group, they will count on the side of the "war against war" program, and not go with the "big army, big navy" champions. If, after a debate of this issue, undertaken on a national scale, a moderate program of a defensive sort is defined, probably neither men nor money will be lacking. But here again much depends on the outcome of the war, and of the congress of nations that will follow it. If military expansion follows, the educated man will have his share in making it effective. But all this may come to pass without any need arising for men now in universities or colleges to begin making paths between dormitories and armories and between classrooms and drill halls.—Christian Science Monitor.

We're Glad You Won.

We sat there by the fire last night,
Just I and Mariana;
We played the game like old Ohio
Will play 'gainst Indiana.

There were no penalties in this game,
And holding was permissable;
I won the game with a touchdown fair,
Because her lips were kissable.

On the crimson two-yard line she held
And I did just the same;
I had just won, when her father heard,
And busted up the game.

Military Doings

By R. F. Mirick.

J. T. Willard, dean of general science, will be in Topeka the 17th and 18th of this month where he will attend the meeting of the Food Standards committee and the State Board of Health.

Wm. A. Lippincott, professor of poultry husbandry, will be in Hays from the 14th to the 19th of this month where he will deliver a series of lectures at the Short Course being held there.

Dr. C. W. McCampbell left for St. Joseph, Mo., Thursday where he had charge of the horse judging in connection with the meeting of the Inter-State Agricultural and Industrial Congress.

In mentioning the names of the men in charge of the indoor range instruction for the next term, the name of Captain Russell was accidently omitted. Mr. La Tourrete is to work with the captain.

Somebody down in Oklahoma has figured out that a cadet walks 1400 miles in his military course there of five years, or as far as from Kansas City to San Francisco. This seems rather high. Some tests will be made here and the results published soon.

Majors, J. W. Linn: Captains, L. A. Mingenback, A. E. Hopkins, H. E. Jeter, J. A. Holderman, O. O. Mowery, W. E. Deal, H. B. Dudley; Lieutenants, J. M. Aye, E. R. Martin, I. F. Fleming, H. D. Linscott, C. Fletcher, F. M. Pickrell, C. B. Williams, S. M. Arnold, A. E. Hyltor, H. B. Miller, S. L. Mosier, R. F. Mirick, P. A. Russell, J. B. Elliott, D. W. Burch, Geo. L. Douglass, and E. W. Skinner.

The date of presentation of these commissions has not been set as yet.

All men who are interested in the new engineer company are requested to leave their names immediately with Capt. G. A. Russell. It is desired to get things into shape before the holidays, and one of the things necessary to know is the number of men interested. This engineer company is going to be something intensely practical, something worth while. something upperclassmen should be especially interested in. The plan of instruction is not yet completely worked out, but it will include subjects of practical use to a man in life after he gets out of college. For one thing, it is planned to get some engineer officers here from the regular army to give a few lectures, and a little practical instruction. The nearest engineer officers are at Leavenworth and Kansas City.

SEASON LOOKS PROMISING.

Oklahoma Has All Old Basket-Ball Men Back.

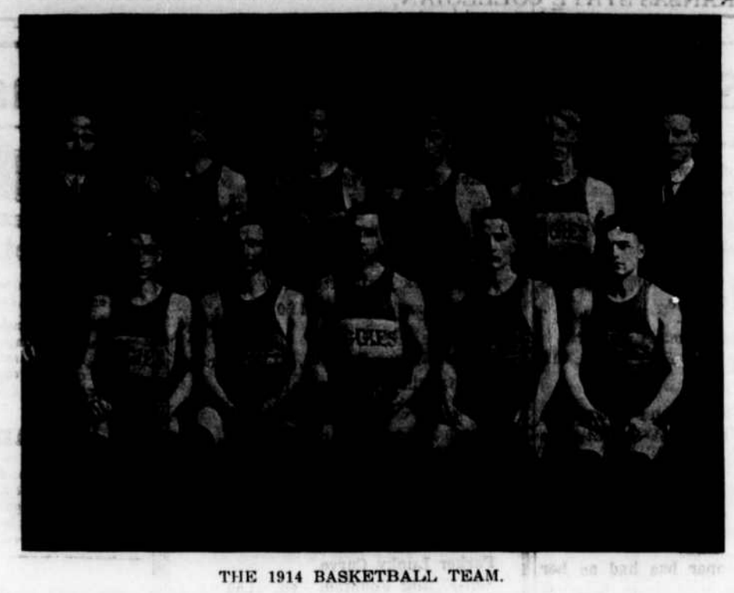

Norman, Okla., Dec. 11.—Turning directly from the victorious football season, interest in athletic affairs at Oklahoma University has centered on the start of a highly promising season of basket-ball, the first two games of which are to be played at Norman with the team from the Southwestern State normal school at Weatherford Friday and Saturday, December 11 and 12.

Owing to the fact that Coach Bennie Owen has had all his time taken up with the finishing of one of his most successful seasons of the schedule, which was completed only last Monday, he had no time to start regular workouts in the gym in preparation for basket-ball until last Tuesday. Consequently the Sooner cagers will probably enter the first games without quite sufficient preparation to enable them to put up their real brand of ball. On the other hand, the Southwestern men, having no football, have been perfecting their basket-ball work during the latter part of the football season, and will enter their opening game in mid-season form, which ought to make the first two contests close ones.

Practically no men who were on the squad last year are missing from the ranks of this year's applicants for team berths and these men, together with an abundance of new material, will form an aggregation out of which a squad of championship calibre should be picked.

Among the men of last year's squad who have so far reported for workouts are Manager Clift, Ponder, John and Curry Bell, Jess Fields, McCasland and Brillhart. All of these men have represented the university in caging battles in former years, and if some of them do not make the team this year, they will at least make it interesting for some of the promising material that has showed up at the first call for basket-ball men.

Of the new men of the tryout squads Whisenant, Marsh and Boyce, have been going at a terrific pace in early practice games, the former being a wonder at outguessing opponents and the two latter showing remarkable speed and thorough knowledge of the game.

THE 1914 BASKETBALL TEAM.

NOTES OF INTEREST TO ENGINEERS

By T. K. Vincent.

The Engineers association will meet the first Monday of next term for the purpose of electing officers for next term.

The applied mechanics and hydraulics department has purchased a 25 hp. motor from the animal husbandry department. This motor will be installed in the hydraulics laboratory and will be used in carrying out experiments on pumps.

The civil engineering department is working on plans for disposal of the sewage from the serum plant. Prof. Conrad states that ordinary methods can not be used on account of the large amount of disinfectant in sewage which prevents it from responding to ordinary treatment.

The Engineers association met Monday in the engineering amphitheatre It was reported that the engineering journal would be issued for the first time next term. The name of the journal is to be "The K. S. A. C. Engineer" and will be issued three or four times a year. The price of the journal will be fifty cents per year.

The dean of engineering is sending out letters to all engineers in regard to the new character and personality record kept of engineering students. This record will be the basis upon which recommendations for positions will be made, and the co-operation of every engineer is desired in this. Dean Potter states that this record will just double the work of his office force.

The department of steam and gas engineering has purchased a Huber steam tractor from a local dealer. This is quite an old model and will be used to give the students practice in replacing boiler tubes and various other repairing that is necessary on an engine. This type of tractor is distinctive in that the smoke stack is on the rear end of the boiler instead of on the front end as is the usual practice.

The H. Mueller Mfg. Co. has presented the applied mechanics and hydraulics department with a set of water regulators. The purpose of these regulators is to maintain a steady flow of water at a constant pressure, obtained by setting the regulator, regardless of the conditions tending to lower or raise the pressure. For instance where the fire lines are run by pressure of the water in the mains as it is in Manhattan, there is great danger of the plumbing bursting in the house while the water is being used for fire fighting, because of the extra pressure established. By installing a water regulator, this danger is eliminated as it keeps the water in the house at a low pressure regardless of the pressure in the mains.

Refreshing as shower and sunshine on a June afternoon is "Peg o' My Heart," the comedy of youth about the Irish girl who has been playing on the heart-strings of New York audiences for over two years with continuous success, and sweeping the country with the appeal of her sweet personality. When "Peg o' My Heart" comes to the Marshall on Tuesday, December 22, delightful Marion Dentler will be seen in the title roll of the Irish madcap.

Webs and Hamps Will Play.

The Webster and Hamilton literary societies will play the last football game of the season next Saturday afternoon at 3:30. This game will decide the inter-society championship. A football will be the trophy. If you wish to witness a real football game, don't miss this one.

Manager Marshall announces the engagement of Oliver Morosco's production of "Peg o' My Heart" for Tuesday, December 22, when a theatrical event of decided importance is promised to the theatregoers of this city. J. Hartley Manners' comedy comes with the backing and recommendation of both press critic and with public approval, since New York critics went into raptures about "Peg." The Cort theatre in that city was constantly crowded for two years by a public that had adored the Irish madcap. Marion Dentler, who has been chosen by Oliver Morosco to enact the role of "Peg," has been pronounced by the author of the play to be admirable, and has all the qualities of charm and personal appeal that are necessary to the part. The production is a fine one and the supporting cast includes Helen Raftery, Joseph Yanner, William Yerance, John E. Trevor, Harold West and others.

Fully Explained.

They sat side by side,
On the bleachers so wide,
The frosh and the pretty co-ed.
He had to explain
Every point in the game,—
She sure had him scratching his head.

When Pogue got a roll,
She said, "Oh, my soul,
He's all dirty, now isn't that mean,
Please explain how and when
Those poor football men,
Ever manage to get their clothes clean?"

"What d'ye mean,
Get their clothes clean?"
Said the frosh concentrating once more.
Then he winked his eye,
As he made this reply,
"Why, that's what the SCRUB team is for?"

Burial will be in the Abilene cemetery. Mr. Strother is survived by two brothers, H. F. Strother, El Paso, Tex.; H. K. Strother, Havana, Ill.; three sisters, Mrs. C. F. Crawford, Abilene; Mrs. H. E. Mr. Strother was a master printer at Raleigh, N. C., from 1876 until 1877. He was a printer and publisher from 1877 until 1912. He became the superintendent of printing of the College july 15, 1913. INVENT A MOTOR STACKER.

James M. Harvey and John A. Harvey, who graduated from the College in 1898 and 1899 respectively, are the inventors of a newly patented hay and grain stacker, which they have tried out in their own fields near Ogden.

The machine is driven by a small gasoline engine and travels back and forth upon a track laid directly upon the ground without any other fastening. One of the novelties of this invention in that that the fork rises and lowers in vertical line to one side of the path of the carriage of the machine. This feature, together with the fact that the track holds the machine to the same pathway all the time, makes it easy for the operator to deposit large and bulky loads of hay or other material at the exact point where they are desired. This can be done from the bottom to the top of the stack and still permit the stack to be built any desired length.

The ingenious construction of the fork is such that it is seldom necessary to touch the buck rake loads of hay with a pitch fork until they are discharged upon the stack. Even then the loads are deposited so accurately that little handling is necessary to make a stack that will settle evenly and shed water well.

The fork may be quickly detached and slings or other means of unloading racks or header barges used in its stead.

The inventors speak in high terms of the instruction of Dr. J. D. Walters, professor of architecture, which they state helped them greatly in making clear plans of their machine.

GAVE NEW CHEMISTRY ASS'T.

Walter L. Latshaw, a graduate of Pennsylvania State college, is a new assistant in chemistry in the College. His duties will be in the experiment station.

Mr. Latshaw took hig degree in agricultural chemistry. He has done research work, and has recently been employed in the chemical laboratories of Armour & Company in Chicago.

PROFESSOR CARL OSTROM DIES.

Carl Ostrum, assistant professor of the English language, on leave of absence, died at his home at Bunker Hill, Kan., at 6 a. m., Monday. Death was due to tuberculosis. The funeral arrangements haven't been completed.

Mr. Ostrum was graduated from Bethany college in 1904 with a bachelor of arts degree, and from Yale the year following with the same degree. He received a master of arts degree from Yale in 1907. He was an instructor of English in Gustavus Adolphus college from 1907 to 1908. He was the principal of the Bunker Hill high school from 1908 until 1910. The next year he was acting professor of English at Tabor college. Mr. Ostrum was an instructor in English at the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanicol college the year previous to coming to the Kansas Agricultural College in 1912.

It was largely due to the efforts of Mr. Ostrum as debating coach that the two tristate debates were organized. Out of 14 inter-collegiate debates held during the two years that Mr. Ostrum was debating coach the teams representing this College won eleven. The editors of Inter-Collegiate Debates published a complete record of one of these debates in the volume which they put out each year.

Mr. Ostrum was a man without a single bad habit. He carried on his work systematically and worked with a definite end in view. One of his outstanding characteristics was the utter abrogation of self in all that he did.

Mr. Ostrum was a moving spirit in the organization of the Quill club and a charter member of the national debating fraternity. He was an active member of the Science club and a charter member of the College club, taking a progressive part in promoting its building project. He was an active worker in Methodist Sunday School work, teaching one of the largest men's classes in the Manhattan Methodist church.

The Quill club passed the following resolutions upon learning of Mr. Ostrum's death:

The Beta Chapter of the American College Quill club learns with deepest regret of the death of Professor Carl Ostrum, and desires to express hereby its sorrow at his untimely decease and its appreciation of his services and his character.

Professor Ostrum was a charter member of this organization, and to his interest and his unflagging efforts its present standing is largely due. A man of distinct talent and of high literary ideals, he influenced not only this club, but the College as a whole, in the direction of clearer understanding and deeper appreciation of the treasures of literature. By example and by kindly assistance, he inspired many to greater zeal in the pursuit of the realities of life. His memory will ever remain with us as a guide and an example.

A MERRY CHRISTMAS.

The members of the Collegian staff wish all their many friends in the student body and faculty a Merry Christmas and a Happy, Prosperous New Year.

Company H Banqueted.

Company H gave a banquet in honor of Lieut. Roy A. Hill and Cadet Col-R. R. Lancaster at the cadet barracks 1115 Bluemont on Monday night. The company enjoyed a five course dinner and some instructive talks given by the officers.

ARE FRIENDS TO FRESHMEN

UPPER CLASSMEN LOOK AFTER THE FROSH—BIG BROTHER MOVEMENT INTRODUCED BY Y. M. C. A. IS A SUCCESS.

FIND WORK FOR STUDENTS

No New aMn Need Feel Lonesome or Friendless—Older Student Will Act as Adiver and Helper During Entire Year.

The "big brother" movement is only one of a long list of activities carried on by the Young Men's Christian association, which is seeking to be of aid in every possible way to the College community.

One of the most important lines of work consists in finding employment for students. The association maintains an employment bureau through which employers and students wishing work can get together. The bureau endeavors to recommend only for work for which the men are well fitted. So successful has been this line of activity that townspeople, wishing young men for regular employment or for temporary jobs, regularly call on the Y. M., which supplies from five to twenty men a day.

No new man in the College, whether he enters at the first of the year or at some other time, need feel lonesome or friendless. The juniors and seniors who belong to the Y. M. C. A. are acting as "big brothers" to the freshmen, and the movement is proving highly successful. Each of these older men is assigned to a group of freshmen and he calls on the young men shortly after they enter college, finds out their needs and tastes, and endeavors to make them feel at home in college life.

Not only at the beginning of the freshmen's life in college, however, does the "big brothers'" work come in. Throughout the entire freshman year the older student tries to act as an adviser and helper, putting the younger student into touch with the best features of the life of the institution and with agreeable religious influences.

TO BE JIMMIE IN WONDERLAND.

Inter-Society Farce to be Given After Holidays is Named.

Jimmie in Wonderland is the name finally decided upon by the committee for the inter-society farce. The writing of the farce itself has been completed, and the lines given to those who are to take part in this original parody on college life.

Chairman Rechel says: "The students chosen for the different parts are enthusiastic about the farce after they have read it."

The interest every one is showing and the willingness of every one to help, coupled with the unique character of the play itself, will make it "Campus Talk" long after it has been given.

A complete set of oriental scenery has been ordered.

DRAMATICS LEARN TO MAKE UP.

Limit of Membership in Club has now Been Reached.

The Dramatic club met Monday evening in the old chapel. Annette Perry, Laura Falkenrich, Bernice Soller, and Evelyn Potter were elected to membership. The membership of the club has now increased to about 50 members which is the limited number.

Dramatic recitations were presented by Bess Walsh and E. E. Giles. The latter part of the meeting was devoted to individual practice in facial make-up. Professor A. E. Shower directed the work in which the members accomplished a great deal.

GAVE A CHRISTMAS SKETCH.

The German club presented a Christmas sketch in two scenes Monday afternoon in the old chapel. The parts were well acted and the sketch was interesting, especially to those who could understand German.

The German play is an innovation at the College and the German club is to be complimented for introducing it.

WHERE THEY WILL VACATION

MANY MEMBERS OF THE FACULTY WILL SPEND HOLIDAYS IN THE EAST—OTHERS WILL REMAIN FOR STATE INSTITUTE.

ONE WILL FOLLOW HIS HOBBY

Meetings of Educational Associations in Different Parts of the Country Will claim Many—Some Will Remain in Manhattan.

A large number of the faculty will spend the Christmas Holidays visiting their homes in other states, some will attend the meetings of various associations, while a great many will remain in Manhattan. Perhaps the largest number will remain at the College to take part in the State Farmers' Institute which will be held at the College from December 28 to January 1.

Dr. H. J. Waters, president ofthe College, will spend the Holidays with his family at their home in Manhattan.

J. T. Willard, dean of general science, will attend the meetings of the Kansas Academy of Science at Topeka, December 22 and 23. After that time he will be in Manhattan.

Mrs. Mary Pierce Van Zile, dean of women, will spend the first part of the Holidays with her parents in Winfield, Iowa, and will take part in the Farmers' Institute during the latter part of the vacation.

Prof. J. W. Searson with his family will go to Omaha to spend Christmas day with his brother there. The remainder of the vacation will find the professor doing the heavy on a farm near Wahoo, Neb.

Dr. J. D. Walters will spend Christmas at his home in Manhattan.

The Holidays will probably find H. F. Roberts, professor of botany, in Philadelphia in attendance upon the American Society for the Advancement of Science.

"I'll be right here at my desk. You know there's no rest for the wicked," said Prof. W. A. Cochel, when asked where he would spend the Holidays.

"I'll be right here in Manhattan," said Dean Clark M. Brink when asked where he could be found on Christmas day.

"And so will I," chimed in Albert Dickens, professor of horticulture.

E. L. Holton, professor of rural education, will spend the vacation with Mrs. Holton's people in Holton, Kansas.

H. L. Kent, principal of the school of agriculture, will spend Christmas day with his mother in Belleville. He will attend the meetings of the Kansas Academy of Science in Topeka on December 22 and 23, and the meetings of the Western College of Teachers of Education in Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 29 and 30.

Following his journalistic nose, N. A. Crawford, in charge of the department of industrial journalism, will find himself in New York City where he will attend the National Conference of Teachers of Journalism which will be held in that city under the auspices of Columbia university and New York university.

The Holidays will find J. E. Kammeyer, professor of economics, pursuing one of his hobbies. He will throw off his coat and with his boy will put in some enjoyable hours doing manual training work. The professor has a well equipped shop in his basement and will spend the time turning out things on the lathe, smashing his thumb nails, and otherwise enjoying the pursuit of his hobby.

The four walls of Miss Jesse McDowell Machir's office hold too great an attraction for her and she could not think of deserting them even during the Holidays.

Prof. Guy S. Lowman will attend the Inter-Collegiate Association of Physical Directors in Chicago on Dec. 28 and 29. The remainder of the Holidays he will spend in Manhattn.

Dean J. H. Miller will be a busy man after Dec. 28 as the State Institute will then be in session at the College. He will be found at the usual place during the Holidays.

Miss Alice Skinner, Miss Virginia Meade, and Miss Margaret Haggart will spend Christmas in Topeka.

Miss Jennie Cox leaves Saturday for Wichita where she will spend the Holidays.

Mrs. Bessie W. Birdsall will spend the vacation in Corfu, New York.

Miss Florence Hunt will spend the Holidays in Detroit, Mich.

Miss Marion Harrison will spend Christmas in Rochester, New York.

Miss Pearl Thomas will spend Christmas in St. Joseph, Mo.

Miss Ina F. Cowles will visit in Sibley, Kansas, during the Holidays.

Miss Louise Fewell, Miss Bertha Buxton, and Miss Ida Rigney will remain in Manhattan during vacation.

DEBATING PROSPECTS GOOD.

Prospects for winning teams in the tristate debate were never better in the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College than this year. Nearly all of the old men are back and many new ones are already applicants for entering the tryouts.

The tristate debate between the Agricultural Colleges of Oklahoma, Colorado, and Kansas will be held in the spring. Colorado will meet one Oklahoma A. and M. College team at Stillwater while another Oklahoma team will meet Kansas at Manhattan.

Kansas wil send her other team to Colorado. Each college thus has two teams, one at home and one away, and all teams debate the same question on the same night.

The question for debate is selected by each college submitting two questions, making six in all, and then voting for three of the questions. The questions receiving the highest score will be selected for the tristate debate.

Last year Oklahoma won the debate at home and lost at Colorado, but this year the prospects are bright for winning both at home and at Kansas. Of last year's debaters, Lewis Walker and W. D. Kennon only are gone, leaving Clarence Roberts, Joe Robinson, J. R. Thomas, W. J. Green, L. W. Hilgenberg, O. C. Wilson and Miss Fern Lowry as veteran material. These, with the large number of new aspirants, make prospects much better than Oklahoma A. and M. had at this time last year, says Coach I. Samuels.

SUGGESTS A CHRISTMAS GIFT.

Ethel Jones Says Luncheon Set Will Make Nice Present.

Just before Christmas every woman is searching for new ideas for Christmas gifts. She wants to find something that is new, attractive, useful and at the same time inexpensive. She likes to have something that she can easily make herself.

"A luncheon set," says Miss Ethel H. Jones, assistant in domestic art in the College, "will make an exceptionally nice Christmas present. A woman can easily make the set and the material will cost only 65 cents."

Here's the way to make the set: Get a yard of linen, 47 inches wide, any color desired. Blue or yellow are to be preferred, says Miss Jones. Then take a compass, or if there is no compass handy, take a cup, saucer or plate and draw circles with varying diameters. For the cup and saucer doily the circle should be four inches in diameter. For the bread and butter plate doily, five inches in diameter; the breakfast plate doily, seven inches in diameter. Around this circle a space one and one-fourth inches wide should be left for the fringe. Take the doily and stitch around the inner circle. The fringe can be easily made by pulling the threads on the outside of the stitched circle. For the center doily the inner circle should be 14 inches and two inches should be allowed for fringe. The fringe should then be combed out, pressed and trimmed evenly. Art denim may be used in place of linen, as it is not as expensive.

Talked to the Websters.

The Webster literary society enjoyed a talk by Chester F. Turner, last Saturday evening. Mr. Turner is a Webster alumnus, having graduated with the class of 1912. Mr. Turner has been working in Mississippi for several months and is being transferred to Maryland where he will begin work in January.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1914.

Give to a gracious message
A host of tongues; but let ill tidings tell Themselves when they be felt.
—Shakespeare.

THE DEPARTING CLASS.

Again the time has come for those who have completed their work to leave the institution and go out to larger fields of labor. As graduates of the Kansas Agricultural College, the world will expect much of them and the institution will expect that they do her credit.

The faces of the departing seniors will be missed about the campus and in the class room. Their loss will be felt in many an organization of the institution where their good sense, sound judgment, and experience made them able and respected leaders. It is with many a regret that we see them depart.

But as they go out into the world to direct their energies along definite lines, they take with them the sincere wishes of the institution for success in their chosen lines. Whether it be in agriculture, in home economics, in the field of chemistry, or engineering—no matter what field of work—the graduate will be expected to do something for which his Alma Mater may be proud of him.

And so as you leave the halls of the Kansas Agricultural College, members of the class of 1914, don't forget that you are being watched and will be expected to do your best for old Alma Mater.

THE CHRISTMAS STORY.

And Mary brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn. And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them: and they were sore afraid. And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a saviour, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you, Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

An suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.—St. Luke, ii, 7-15.

CHRISTMAS TIME.

The blessed Christmas time with all its joy and happiness is almost at hand again. With what hearts of peace and good will we greet it! What a ring there is in our voices as we speak of the tidings it brings of peace on earth good will toward men!

And yet, can we say peace on earth? Hardly when we think of the thousands of our fellow men who are pouring out their life blood and staining crimson the snow-covered battle fields of a continent across the sea. And yet, we can say peace on earth when we think of the real meaning of that first Christmas day centuries and centuries ago. Did not the radiant star in the eastern heavens bring peace to the souls of many? To day if we heed that same star will it not bring peace into our lives?

Let us not be selfish in our enjoyment of the Christmas day and all it brings. Let us think of the thousands upon thousands who are suffering and in want. Let us think of the hundreds of thousands of men out on the cold, bleak, windswept battle fields who have not that peace in their souls, not that good will toward their fellowmen. Let us think of the thousands of poor in the large cities of our own United States, of their hunger and suffering and want. Let us remember the needy in our own town, and while we are having a happy, merry Christmas let's not forget that we won't have to go very far from home to bring the Christmas cheer into some home that otherwise would know nothing of it.

AT CHRISTEMASSE TYDE.

Two sorrie Thynges there be—
Ay, three;
A Neste from which ye Fledglings have been taken,
A Lambe forsaken,
A redde leaf from ye Wilde Rose rudely shaken.

Of gladde Thynges there be more—
Ay, four;
A Larke above ye olde Neste blythely singing,
A Wilde Rose clinging
In safety to a Rock; a Shepherde bringing
A Lambe, found, in his armes, and Chrystemasse Bells a-ringing.

Members of the class of 1914 and alumni:

Owing to the fact that there has been no memorial erected in memory of the class of 1914, it may be well to make a statement of the reason. After carrying on correspondence with various officials of the class, I was informed that there was some $300 left to be used by the committee for the purpose of erecting some fitting memorial. After returning to school this fall, I took steps to get the funds supposed to have been left for that purpose. After much trouble, I obtained sum of $29.88. This amount being much smaller than had been expected, nothing could be done. The question is, what has become of the other $270.12? This is what I am trying to find out. I will say that the matter has been taken up with the proper authorities, and a thorough investigation will and is being carried on. It is the intention to locate, if possible, the place to which the class funds escaped.

I hope that this will reach every member of the class of 1914, and will serve as an explanation to you.

Respectfully yours,
CECIL W. HAINES,

TO THE PEOPLE OF KANSAS:

When women and children by thousands and millions are facing death from starvation plain words are pardonable. Within one month less than one-half of the people of Kansas have given approximately two-thirds of a shipload of Kansas flour for Belgium.

We make this final appeal, asking every man, woman and child to give one dollar—more if possible—less if necessary, but for the sake of suffering, starving human beings to give something and have a share in sending this ship-load of food to these stricken, homeless people across the sea.

If every Kansan would share a very small portion of his Christmas with these starving people who ask only bread, to sustain life, we can load the Kansas ship to its capacity. Send your contributions at the earliest possible date to your local committee or to the Kansas Belgian Relief Committee, 705 Mills Building, Topeka.

We ask and urge every home, every business house, bank and institution; and every stock man, farmer, and indeed, every man, woman and child, to become part of the Kansas Belgian Relief organization and make some little sacrifice to help fill this Kansas ship and get it started across the sea before Christmas time.

We want help of every minister and his people, of every fraternal organization, of every labor union and every women's organization. In making plans for Christmas won't Kansas remember the hungry, helpless millions of Belgium?

NORTHWESTERN TO PLAY M. U.

Rolla Will not Play Football With M. U. Next Year.

Columbia, Mo., Dec. 12.—Northwestern University was given a place on the schedule of the University of Missouri's football eleven for next season. The game will be played at Evanston, November 6. The Rolla School of Mines, which usually played the Missouri eleven, was not given a date The Miners last Saturday engaged in a game with the Christian Brothers' eleven of St. Louis in disregard to the wishes of the board of curators of the University of Missouri, with which the mining school is connected, and it is thought this caused the athletic directors to ignore Rolla in the 1915 schedule.

The schedule, said to be the hardest arranged for the Missourians in years, follows:

October 9, Washington at St. Louis.
October 16, Oklahoma at Columbia.
October 23, Ames, at Ames, Ia.
October 30, Kansas Aggies at Manhattan, Kansas.
November 6, Northwestern, at Evanston.
November 13, Drake, at Columbia.
November 20, Kansas, at Columbia.
October 2 remains open and the authorities are negotiating for a game.

NORMALS BACK IN CONFERENCE.

Haskell Institute Would be in Kansas Conference.

Topeka, Kan., Dec. 14.—The readmission of the Kansas Normals to membership in the Kansas College Athletic conference, with the privilege of playing freshmen, and the application for membership from Haskell Institute were the chief features of the all-day meeting last Saturday of representatives from the schools forming the association. The meeting was held at the Central Y. M. C. A.

A year ago the Normal athletic management objected to the ruling which prevented athletes of freshmen standing to play in colleges having an enrollment of 500 or more, and resigned. Yesterday Coach H. W. "Bill" Hargiss, of the Normal, presented a tabulation of the present enrollment at the Normal to show that such a ruling was unjust. The present total is 674 in the college alone, but only 165 of this number are boys and of the 165, more than half, of 86 are ineligible because of the freshman rule. man rule.

For this reason the amendment submitted by D. C. Schaffner, faculty representative of the College of Emporia, providing that schools having an enrollment of more than 200 men should not play freshmen was adopted. The original amendment provided for 250 men instead of 200, but C. S. Parmenter, of Baker, objected to such a large number. The change in the freshmen ruling came late yesterday afternoon while the applications of the Emporia Normal and the Hays Normal for admission were acted on favorably in the morning meeting. The Hays Normal had been out of the conference for several years.

Dr. Bert Kennedy, coach of the Haskell football team and C. E. Birch head of the academic department at Haskell, presented the Indian school's request, which was in the nature of an inquiry to see if it would be possible for Haskell to join the conference.

"We feel that we have made great headway in the last four years," Dr. Kennedy said. "At that time we were still using employees of the school to play on the football team. Last year we made a four-year rule and we now require that athletes coming from other schools must attend Haskell a year before being allowed to play."

Mr. Birch explained that Haskell is an industrial school, making it impossible for the scholastic requirements of the Kansas conference to be met. After H. W. Hargiss, E. C. Quigley and others had spoken favorably of the recent sportmanlike conduct of the Haskell teams, a resolution was passed to have a committee appointed to investigate the athletic situation at Haskell with the view of formulating regulations for Haskell's admission. J. Risser of Washburn, C. S. Parmenter of Baker and Professor Wilson of Ottawa compose the committee which will report at the May meeting of the conference.

The state track meet will be held at Emporia on the Normal athletic field at the time of the meeting of the conference. The state tennis tournament probably will be held at the same time.

Several changes in the by-laws of the conference were made, one with the apparent intent to prevent "Zip" Zabel, Chicago Cub pitcher, from playing on teams from Baker university where Zabel attends school in the winter. The present conference ruling permits summer baseball for pay after the player has completed a full year's college work. The change permits summer baseball only while the school is actually not in session. Zabel must leave early in the spring to report to the Cubs and the ruling would have the effect of preventing him from starring on the Baker basketball team. President Phillips stated, however, that the rule would not govern past offenses so the Methodist five will not be weakened this year.

Another amendment will permit members of college teams to do laboratory work for remuneration, the same as other students.

When the championship committee reported after a meeting to settle the conference football honors, two suggestions were made. One that the awarding of the title be deferred until the official records were turned in by the schools, and the other that no championship be awarded, for the reason that there was no equitable basis for settlement. Friends, with a record of eight wins and no defeats, and Washburn with three conference victories and no defeats, must settle their disputes elsewhere.

Sooners Win as Usual.

Norman, Ok., Dec. 12.—Brilliantly outclassing their opponents in the first game of the season the Sooner quintet smothered the Southwestern normal cagers on the local court Friday night by the score of 49 to 10. With only a few days of practice Bennie Owen's team, all but one fresh from a strenuous season on the gridiron, struck their stride from the blowing of the whistle and literally carried the visitors off their feet in the first five minutes of play. Team work was rough in spots but showed to good advantage much of the time.

Frank Root's Five Wins.

Nickerson, Kan., Dec. 12.—The Winfield Highs and the Reno County Highs opened the Arkansas Valley Basket ball league 1914-15 season last night. The champions were handed a defeat by the Winfield five in a hard fought game. The final score was 28 to 16. The Nickerson team has made run-away races during the past two seasons and it looks like the battle this season will be much closer than in former years.

"Some Record."

A remarkable football record has been established in the Northwest by Carleton college. The team played six games and scored a total of 375 points in 350 minutes of actual playing time, and furthermore not a point was scored against the college. On the basis of this record (more than a point a minute) Carleton is putting forth a claim to the State championship of Minnesota

NOTES OF INTEREST TO ENGINEERS

By T. K. Vincent.

Sigma Tau announces the following pledges: Prof. C. E. Reid, W. A. Lathrop, T. R. Knowles, A. M. Butcher, H. D. Linscott, F. R. Rawson and T. K. Vincent.

The Engineers association has an enrollment of over 200 members and has been designated by visitors and visiting speakers to be the livest engineering student organization in the country.

Even with the extremely low temperatures abounding in Manhattan, and especially on the hill, no complaints have as yet been heard of the quality and quantity of the heat furnished the various buildings.

The engineering students were addressed by A. E. Stacy, engineer with the Carrier Air Engineering Co., in the engineering ampitheatre last week. The lecture was on the "Development of Air Conditioning," and was largely attended.

The steam turbine has been running the greater part of the time with a vacuum of 28 1-2 inches, and at all times the vacuum is within one inch of the barometer reading. Dean Potter states that this is excellent, and is so considered in the biggest power plants in the country.

The power plant at the College has been running very efficiently, according to the latest test runs there. Electricity is being manufactured in the plant at considerable less than one cent per kilowatt hour. Included in this is the cost of fuel, labor, supervision, and other expenses connected with a power plant.

The Sigma Tau honorary engineering fraternity gave a line party at the Wareham last Friday night. The party was given in honor of Roy Young, chemical engineer, who graduates this Christmas. The party was followed by a feed and speeches, which were given by various members. All members and pledges of the fraternity were present.

The division of engineering is instituting something new in that the instructors in this division are making assignments for the first day of next term. The text necessary for the particular class, together with the assignments for next term, are posted on the various engineering bulletin boards. This will do away with the loss of much valuable time, as has generally been the case in times past.

The following assignments are announced by Dean Potter for classes in the following subjects for Wednesday, January 6, 1915: Steam Engineering II—James and Doles—Mechanism of the Steam Engine. Par. 14-20, inclusive, together with a paper describing with sketches, the Atlas, Ball, Ball and Wood, Ideal, and Corliss engines, which are in the steam laboratory. Steam and Gas E-2—Marks and Davis—steam tables. Pages 3-7 and 87-95. Gas engine for senior mechanicals—Levin's—gas engine. Pages 1-29.

The division of engineering will take a very prominent part in the Farmers' Institute, to be held here Christmas. Dean Potter and Professors C. E. Reid, R. A. Seaton, L. E. Conrad, J. D. Walters, S. L. Simmering, W. H. Sanders, J. C. Shutt, G. B. McNair, P. J. Freeman, I. I. Taylor, W. W. Carlson, F. F. Frazier, E. D. Lynch and Edward Grant will deliver lectures and give demonstrations in their particular lines. Several engine and machinery firms will have representatives here to demonstrate their machinery.

Military Doings

By R. F. Mirick.

We are all ready for our winter campaign "On to Frisco." If every man will start his argument just as soon as he gets off the train the last of this week, and keep it up for three whole weeks, it will certainly set the entire state to thinking over a few things that may have slipped its mind. And when the state gets to thinking, the temperament of the general atmosphere indicates that we will go, so "heave-o-heave," and then give one more heave for good luck.

Those cadets who do not expect to go to the coast with the corps, or who wish to stay longer than the corps will, may be interested in Bulletin 72, recently received from the headquarters of the western department, describing the Students' Military Instruction Camp, to be held at Fort Winfield, near the Presidio of San Francisco. These camps have the approval of the presidents of Princeton, Harvard, Yale, Michigan, Lehigh and many other universities, and of President Wilson and ex-President Taft. The Harvard and Princeton men who attended last year have some very strong and interesting letters in the bulletin. Further information and application blanks may be had at the office of the commandant. Applications should be made promptly, and it would be well to investigate a little before going home this week.

Askren's two Jewelry stores will be open every night until Christmas. ...

INSTITUTE ATTRACTS MANY

STATE FARMERS' INSTITUTE HELD AT COLLEGE DURING HOLIDAYS PROVED TO BE UNUSUALLY SUCCESSFUL ONE.

1500 PEOPLE WERE PRESENT

Advanced Courses Attracted Much Attention—Many Hear Dr. H. J. Waters on "Farming in the Orient" Praise the Department of Music.

The State Farmers' Institute held in Manhattan during the Holidays proved to be an unusually successful one this year. Approximately 1500 people were present during the week, and 1125 registered, an increase of 200 over the registration of any previous year. A much larger proportion of young men and women and boys and girls attended than ever before.

The advanced course given attracted much more attention than was expected. The course was intended for county agents, alumni, and persons who had attended several state institutes, but the attendance reached sixty on more than one occasion, showing the liking and the interest of the Kansas farmer in advanced work.

Much comment was heard during the week concerning the excellent musical program given Tuesday morning, and the splendid numbers furnished throughout the week by the department of music.

The judging classes were as popular as ever. The poultry work, which was new, attracted a very large class.

A number of girls in the domestic science division, under the supervision of Miss Margaret Haggart, conducted a tea room in Domestic Science hall, which was very popular and well patronized. An unusually large number remained for Pres. H. J. Water's lecture Friday night on "Farming in the Orient." In former years a large proportion have returned home before the last night, so this fact alone shows increased interest in the institute.

Riley county was the banner county for attendance, having 175 enrolled. Jewell county came next with 130.

DEFINE THE WORD AMATEUR.

Athletic Research Society Worked Out Definition at Chicago Meeting.

At a recent meeting of the Athletic Research Society in Chicago, a definition of the word amateur relative to athletic competition was worked out. The definition of the Athletic Research Society is in plain one syllable talk that the veriest layman cannot fail to grasp.

"An amateur is one who participates in competitive physical sports only for the pleasure and physical, mental, moral, and social benefits derived therefrom."

The research society also laid down three rules, which if violated, make the offender a professional. They are:

"Teaching or coaching professional athletes for pay.

"Competing under a salary or for a fee.

The society also set a definite status for a new class—that of "non competing amateurs."

This class includes athletes who have lost their full amateur standing, but not professionals, for a salary, but who have retained their former amateur standing in all other respects.

According to one interpretation of the first rule by which an amateur may violate the rules of athletic purity, an athlete who coaches high school school or college amateurs can not be termed a professional and lose his right to compete in amateur athletic circles. A track athlete who coaches high school track teams may receive a salary and still retain his amateur standing because those who receive his services are not professionals. It is not known whether or not these rules will be accepted by the numerous athletic conferences throughout the country and the Amateur Athletic Union of America.

WILL GIVE OPENING ADDRESS

Dr. H. J. Waters will Make Opening Address on World Agriculture at Farmers' Week of University of Mo.

Dr. Henry Jackson Waters, president of the College, will deliver the opening address of Farmers' Week, January 11 to 15, 1915, inclusive—an annual feature of the work carried on by the College of Agriculture of the University of Missouri. The lecture will be illustrated showing the agricultural methods of many countries of the world.

Doctor Waters will speak particularly of the agriculture he found in the Philippines last summer, when he made a three months investigation under the direction of the United States government.

Farmers' Week, which has been in its present form about five years, has been growing steadily and rapidly in favor over Missouri. Last year 2,600 visitors were enrolled from 92 Missouri counties and 18 other states. Fully 3,000 are expected for this year.

HEAR SCHUBERT CLUB JAN. 12

Noted Male Vocal Organization of 40 Members Will be Heard in the College Auditorium next Tuesday.

The Schubert club of Kansas City, Mo., will appear in the College auditorium for a single concert on the night of January 12. This club is considered the best male vocal organization in this part of the country.

This club is composed of 40 members and has appeared before the public for twelve consecutive years. It is under the personal direction of Clarence D. Sears and brings with it several soloists of exceptional ability.

The program offered will be neither ultra-classical nor cheaply popular, but will be splendidly arranged for the college audience, and will be full of vim and snap from first to last.

The concert will begin promptly at 8:15.

LOW PRICE ON LYCEUM NUMBERS

Lyceum Committee Makes Special Price for Remaining Numbers.

For the benefit of the incoming short course students the Society Lyceum committee has decided to offer the remaining six of the nine numbers of the season's course for the sum of one dollar.

The talent compriesing these six numbers costs the Lyceum $1500.

The Schubert club, January 12; Benjamin Chapin, impersonating Lincoln, January 15; Adrain M. Newens, lecturer, January 21; Montaville Flowers, lecturer, February 4; Montraville Wood, scientific demonstration, February 26; and the Zoellner Quartet, March 12.

Reservations may be made for the entire six numbers Saturday, Jan. 9 at the window opposite the College Post Office. The committee will remain at the window for the day only and all reservations should be made as early in the day as possible.

TO HAVE THEORETICAL WORK.

Cadet Corps Will Study the Science of Military Tactics.

The first two months of the winter term will be spent by the military department of the College in taking up theoretical work of military tactics. A large part of the work will consist of lectures which will be given by prominent officers from different parts of the country.

Major Eastman, who is connected with the medical corps at Fort Riley, will deliver a series of lectures along his line of work. Capt. Sweeney, of the infantry, now instructor of state military tactics at Topeka will deliver an address. The commandant is trying to get Gen. Wilder S. Metcalf for an address. General Metcalf was the old commander of the 20th Kansas Infantry when it was in the Philippines. General Martin of the K. N. G., now adjutant general of the state, Colonel Hoisington of the 2nd K. N. G., and other army officers from Fort Riley and Leavenworth will be secured to address the cadets on the science of military tactics.

Miss Gladys Hoffman has returned to College from Newton.

READY FOR CURTAIN RAISER

BETHANY SWEDES OPEN SEASON

Emphatically no, the most futile thing in the world is not trying to sell athletes including guesses of the future maps of the world; neither is it arying to get exactly what you want on the winter term assignment, nor is it trying to split last term's work with your dean on a fifty-fifty basis. Today it is trying to dope the outlook for 1915 basketball.

With one of the heaviest schedules ever, before them the Kansas Aggies dope to put one of their strongest quintets in the years, into the Missouri Valley race. Minus the services of several of last year's stars the Mernerites give early promise of being formidable contenders for first division honors in the Big Muddy clique.

The assignment rush has sent the Aggie basketeers scampering to the women's gymnasium and they will not be permitted to return to the big court until Thursday afternoon. Coach Merner's goal shooters have been practicing daily on the many new plays which they will spring on the eBthany Swedes next Monday night in Nichols gymnasium in the season's curtain raiser, and are rapidly mastering the formations in clever fashion.

Forward Adams has not put in an appearance yet but is expected to do so at an early date. With the return of this shifty goal shooter, the Merner crew will be armed and ready for the opening contest of the season. Adams was a feature in the playing of the Aggies on the Missouri trip last winter and scored many of the crucial points for the Manhattan five. Bengston is finding the iron ring in midseason form and bids fair to be one of the standbys for the season. Captain E. C. Jones is also showing well and is expected to make this year his best.

The season tickets for basketball may be obtained in Nichols gymnasium now and the reserved seats for the entire season will be placed on sale in Athletic Director Guy S. Lowman's office Friday morning, January 8, at 10:30 o'clock. Reserved seats for the Bethany game only, will be placed on sale at the athletic director's office, Saturday morning, January 9, at 10:30 o'clock. Professor Lowman is beginning the reserved seat sale for the season on Friday in order that those desiring permanent seats for the entire ten games may have first choice.

WORK OUT CAMPAIGN PLANS

PROGRAM FOR "DAD" ELLIOTT CAMPAIGN IS SETTLED—THE CAMPAIGN WILL BE CARRIED ON FROM JANUARY 20 TO 24.

TEAM OF SIX TO BE IN CHARGE.

Plans for the Elliott campaign January 20-24, are rapidly being matured and although there are many details to be worked out yet the general program is settled. The principal speaker will be "Dad" Elliott, formerly a football star on the Northwestern university eleven and now one of the most effective speakers to college men in the entire country. At the present time his services are in such demand that he has invitations for the next three years in various prominent institutions all over the country. Harry Heinzman the second member of the team will need no introduction to the students of the College, his visit last year being still fresh in the minds of the men. A speaker of great force and ability he will make a valuable addition to the visiting delegation.

Conrad Hoffman, the third member of the team, is a University of Wisconsin graduate and was a rising young teacher of his alma mater after his post-graduate work in Germany, when he gave up his work to become secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at the University of Kansas. His vist here last year won him many friends.

Homer Grafton the fourth member of the team is a graduate of Fairmount and of K. U. having had experience in Y. M. C. A. work in both these institutions and in the Navy department of the association work. He is now student secretary of the state and is making good in his field.

L. K. Hall, formerly ateacher in his alma mater of Baker and now state high school secretary, is a new man in Manhattan but not among the many high school boys who have met him, as he has traveled among the high schools. His visit here will mean much to his former friends.

A sixth member of the team will be W. E. Sweet of Denver. Mr. Sweet is a wealthy business man who having chosen a business career yet feels that he owes something to the students. A graduate of a prominent western university, Mr. Sweet is a powerful speaker and well known to all the Estes Park delegates. Mr. Sweet is the chairman of conferences from year to year and makes an admirable presiding officer. It was largely through his efforts and giving that the Denver association building was erected and that the magnificent Estes Park grounds were purchased.

FOOTBALL MEN STILL SICK.

Three of the 1914 football men are still out of school, due to the recent typhoid epidemic. Hartwig is out of bed and will be back in schol before long but Haymaker's condition is more serious and he is not expected back before the first of February. Henderson, after a recent relapse, is not improving as fast as his friends expected.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Pollom have returned from a visit in Topeka. Mr. Pollom is manager of the Students' Co-Op. book store in Aggieville.

Miss Edith Updegraff has returned from Topeka where she spent the Christmas vacation visiting relatives.

The first chapel of the winter term will be held this morning in the College auditorium at 10 o'clock. Dr. H. J. Waters, president of the College, will give a talk on getting along in college. Every student should plan to hear this talk.

HOLD MATCH WITH MICHIGAN

College Rifle Team Opens Season With Michigan on January 11—Will Shoot Seven Matches.

The first match of the College rifle team will be shot on January 11 with the University of Michigan. This match will be shot on the indoor range in Nichols gymnasium, a team of ten men doing the firing.

These matches are shot and supervised by the National Rifle association. The scores are sent to the association headquarters and the winner announced from there. The team shoots with Yale on the night of February 4. The other matches which will be shot off during the winter as follows: Feb. 18 with the University of Arizona; February 25 with the University of Washington; March 4 with Rhode Island State College; March 11 with Nebraska university; March 18 with Lehigh university; and March 25 with the Mississippi College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts.

During the rifle shooting competition season, the team will be in training under the direction of Capt. G. A. Russell and L. D. LaTaurette.

WILL BECOME PART OF K.N.G.

College "Wig Waggers" Will Get K. N. G. Signal Corps if Plans of Lieut. Roy A. Hill are Successful.

The College cadet corps will get the Kansas National Guard signal corps that Adjutant General Martin of the guard is looking for a place to organize, if the efforts of Lieut. Roy A. Hill, commandant of the College cadet corps, are successful.

If the College signal corps becomes the signal corps of the Kansas National Guard it will receive the same equipment as that furnished by the war department for the signal corps of the regular army. Signal corps are divided into three classes, A, B and C. The class A corps is composed of 120 men; the B class, 75 men, and the C class, 60 men.

The plan of the commandant of the cadet corps will include a signal corps of 120 men, so it will come under the class A division.

Adjutant General C. I. Martin of the Kansas National Guard, with headquarters at Topeka, is looking for a good town that would like to have a military signal corps. The government has recently notified General Martin that the Kansas Guard was entitled to a full signal corps for its two regiments and a battery and part of the equipment has already arrived. As soon as a proper place can be found for the organization of the corps the equipment will be sent out and the men drilled in using it.

A complete equipment for interior signal work is already on hand and when the corps is organized the equipment for the actual field work will be provided. This will consist of several miles of wire and telephone sets, carts and wagons for hauling it, battery supplies and a full set of signal flags and other apparatus that will be as complete as that furnished the signal corps of the regular army.

The town that gets the signal corps must have a considerable number of electricians and telephone men who would take an active interest in the corps. While the equipment could be operated by almost anyone, to make it a success, experienced electricians and telephone men are needed and Adjutant General Martin does not propose to turn the company over to any but experienced men who will use the equipment for their own benefit and for the benefit of the guard and the military service.

Material now on hand will be used in training the men in the signal work and is an exact duplicate of the field equipmet, except that not so much wire is used and the batteries are not so powerful. But a winter's training in the indoor work would fit the men for active field duty and they could go right ahead with any signal work needed in the field as they would not have to learn the use of the various instruments.

P. E. McNall, of the College extension department, went to Harvey county yesterday to spend about three weeks in farm survey work.

HAVE NOT HIRED A COACH YET.

Announcement Will Come From Manhattan says Athletic Director Lowman.

"When the Kansas Aggies hire a football coach for next fall's eleven, the announcement will come from Manhattan and not from Lawrence or any other town," said Athletic Director Guy S. Lowman yesterday in discussing the article printed in a recent issue of a Kansas City daily, which stated that there was a possibility that Dr. Bert Kennedy, present football mentor at the Haskell Indian Institute, might come to Manhattan next fall as football instructor. Professor Lowman also labels the idea that Bennie Owens would go to Lawrence to lead the Jayhawker eleven as pure bunc.

Nothing definite in the coaching matter has been or will be done until next summer says Professor Lowman. The Aggies are looking around for a suitable man but the position is not an easy one to fill. The man for the job must be one that can take up a berth in the department as the Missouri Valley Conference requires that every coach connected with the athletic teams of its members be an all-year man and not one who will merely step in for the season of the sport only.

W. H. Vawter returned to his home at Randolph after a few days' visit in Manhattan. He will return in a few days to take the short course at the College.

Andrew Herold, a student who went to his home at Seneca with typhoid several weeks ago, is doing nicely, although he is still in bed.

Doing What the Ad Man Told Us

Doing what the Ad Man told us.

Here are three suits—blue serge made by makers of Society Brand in their Norfolk Model—sizes 33, 35, 40—they cost us $17.00 when we bought them, but we have not found the right buyers at the regular price, $25.00. If you are the right person to wear them take one at $12.50.

Doing what the Ad Man told us.

Almost all sizes in 4130 Cloth Craft Blue Serge, always the biggest serge value known to retailers everywhere, at $18.50. While they last you can have your choice at $16.50 the suit. Sizes 33 to 50, stouts, slims, also short or stubs.

Doing what the Ad Man told us.

If you wear a 38 we have just one Overcoat with Fine Kersey Shell, lined with plush and a good fur collar, made by Gordon Fur Co. Should be sold at regular price, $22.50, but you can have it for $16.00.

Doing what the Ad Man told us.

If you like a neat black and white effect, a good worsted suit, Clothcraft make, originally marked very close at $22.50, we will close the three suits, sizes 42, 44, 46, at $15.00 each.

Doing what the Ad Man told us.

Are you a small man? We have a number of small sizes. We have cut from 1-4 to 1-3 off the regular prices to make them go.

Doing what the Ad Man told us.

Do you want a good, warm overcoat? We have two left, a double breasted dark gray with shawl collars of Astrakan, good length, a 35, 40 size only, were $17.00. If your size is here take one at $13.50.

He says he knows you'll come into our store and buy at our Under Price Cash Sale if we give you a bargain opportunity of an entirely new sort—one you've always wanted and never had before.

Here's what he told us to do:

"Mark your stock very carefully—instead of usual straight cut on the whole of a line of shirts or clothes, mark each lot separately."

"Folks are not like sheep, and what's a bargain for one is not to another. A four dollar shirt at $3.00 is a splendid value to the fellow who likes that one pattern best—but to another it's dear at any price."

"Fix a price on every lot that means exact value according to number on hand, condition of goods, lateness of season, popularity of the style of pattern, and so on. Then no matter what your customer's taste he'll see a bargain somewhere in the store."

"Here's a lot of suits that haven't sold very well. But they are made of the finest material, they are in good style and somebody will find in them just what he wanted. Mark them right down below cost if necessary. The customer has a right to a good discount on lots that haven't been among the most popular."

"Now here's a lot of odds and ends—short sizes, and so forth—you don't want them on hand when Spring goods come, so clean 'em out by making the price attractive."

"Those seasonable lines over there are still in demand but you can afford to reduce the price because two months have gone and the purchaser gets that much less use of his purchase. He's entitled to a price that represents the real worth of the goods."

"Staples, though, are in demand all year round; don't slash prices there. They are mostly well known goods that always sell at very close prices and give splendid value. Still you may find that you can give a small discount on some of them."

"Now arrange your stock so people can find what they want, easily. Mark old and new prices plainly. Put some of the best values in your windows. Have lots of cards to help folks locate what they want and tell every clerk to be up on his toes every minute."

"One thing more---tell everybody exactly what you are doing in the simplest and sincerest language. They'll come in and buy, because folks always respond to square-as-a-die treatment."

We took the Ad Man at his word and did what he told us.

Come in and tell us if we did right.

ASSIGN 2451 STUDENTS

INCREASE OF 189 OVER ENROLLMENT OF FALL TERM—EXPECT FULLY 2,600 STUDENTS WILL ENTER BY END OF TERM.

475 NEW STUDENTS ENROLL

Committee is Pleased With Promptness of Students' Return—Will Assign Students Next Week Yet—Enrollment for Year Totals 2,737.

At 5 o'clock last evening the enrollment for the winter term had reached the total of 2451, this total including old, new, and short course students. It is estimated that 475 new students and short course students have enrolled this term. This is an increase of 189 over the enrollment of the fall term, the total for last being 2262.

"I expect quite a number of students to come in next week yet," said Miss Jessie McD. Machir, registrar, when interviewed yesterday morning, "and I believe that the total enrollment for the term will be fully as large as it was last winter term." Last winter term 2565 students were assigned to classes.

It has been exceedingly gratifying to the committee on assignment to see the promptness with which the students have returned to take up their work. The first two days of enrollment 2288 students were actually assigned to classes. This is a record of efficiency for the College in the assignment of students, and proves that the assignment committee has found the right plan.

New students can register within ten days of the opening day of school and receive full credit for the work of the term. After ten days they must get permits to register from their deans and the number of hours they will be permitted to carry will be limited. This, however, does not apply to old students.

The enrollment for the year so far, not including summer school, is 2737. With the summer school the number will come close to the 3000 mark.

LIBRARY AND STUDENT HONOR

Student honor does not apply merely to class room conduct. It is just as necessary and important in every other aspect of student life, and a decided lack of it in many cases is just now being felt in regard to the use of library books.

The College library is equipped with a splendid and unusually complete set of reference books which is constantly being added to and improved. Periodicals, newspapers, fiction, technical matter, debate material, everything which can help the student in any of his work can be found there. A competent corps of librarians render all possible assistance, and the library is kept open at night five times a week for the accomodation of those who find it more convenient to use it at that time. And yet these privileges—not accorded in every institution, and representing an enormous expenditure of time and money—are abused by a large proportion of the student body.

Of late the librarians have noticed that the reference books which are in great demand seem to literally walk off, remaining in seclusion until the demand for them has passed, when they stroll in and resume their places upon the shelves. The unfairness of this is obvious. The student having the book can secure his reference and all the material desired and make an enviable grade, no doubt, in that subject. The other students in the class go without and perhaps receive a reprimand from the instructor for deficient work. Such conduct is an infringement of class etiquette and an injustice to students, librarians, and the public.

Another act of the same nature is the clipping of magazines. Every periodical that comes to the library is kept on the shelves in permanent reference form. But it is impossible to bind imperfect copies, and if an illustration, a paragraph, or an article is taken out it means the purchase of another copy for binding and delayed absence of the reference material from the shelves. This delay may come just when the material is most needed by some one. Each student should remember that he is not the only person here. Perhaps two thousand others may want and need the same thing he wants and their right to it is as inalienable. Consideration of students for each other is the best solution of the difficulty.

This institution is one of the few large ones in the country whose library is run on the open shelf plan. Lock shelves make the using of books more difficult and makes more work for all concerned. It is necessary to install such devices where students violate the trust reposed in them, but it is to be hoped that the students of this College will make such measure unnecessary.

Detection in the misuse of library books and references means of course an appearance before the discipline committee and possible suspension from school, in addition to added expense, loss of time, and much inconvenience to students, librarians, instructors, and the public.

Collect Senior Assessment.

The treasurer of Royal Purple Volume Seven will collect the class book assessments at the window opposite the Post Office today. All seniors should pay this assessment today if possible.

Send the Collegian home.

"DAD" ELLIOTT WHO WILL LEAD THE Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN.

"Dad" Elliott was a farmer boy in Illinois when he decided to go to college. Northwestern was his choice and he soon became a leader in the social and athletic life of his institution. He was one of the greatest line plungers that foot-ball has produced. The same bull-dog qualities that won him a place as an All Western star mark his speech and give him the reputation of being a great fighter against college evils.

SCHEDULE MANY TALKFESTS

FOUR INTER-COLLEGIATE DEBATES HAVE BEEN CHALKED UP—WOMEN WILL ARGUE WITH WASHBURN AND WESLEYAN.

HOLD FIRST TRYOUT JAN. 15.

According to present indications, the debating schedule for this year is one of the heaviest that the College has ever had. The season will run from now until May. Four intercollegiate debates have been positively scheduled, and there is the probability of a fifth being arranged soon.

First Tri-State March 12.

The first tri-state debate will be held March 12, when Kansas, Colorado, and Oklahoma will wrangle on the question of compulsory military service. The negative team of the College will go to Colorado, while the affirmative team will meet Oklahoma here.

The dual debate with Washburn comes April 2, on the question of Philippine independence. The women's team of the College will meet the women's team here, and the men will go to Washburn.

There will be a dual women's debate with the Kansas Wesleyan university of Salina upon the restriction of immigration by a literacy test, but the exact date is not yet known.

Debate Kansas State Normal.

The debating council has just completed a three years' contract with the Kansas State Normal at Emporia, providing for a single debate this year and dual debates the two following years. The question for this year is in regard to federal control of telegraph and telephone systems. Manhattan will have the affirmative, but a definite date has not yet been decided upon. It is probable that there will be a men's tri-angular debate between Fairmount college and Friends university of Wichita and the Kansas Agricultural College, but arrangements have not been completed .

Will Place 32 Debaters.

This heavy schedule means that 32 debaters will be placed this year. Out of these twelve will be women and twenty men. There are nine alternates, leaving fourteen men and nine women who will actually debate. The alternates, however, receive all the training given to the regular squad and can challenge anyone on the team for a place.

Hold First Tryout Jan. 15.

Professor McArthur, debating coach, considers the society response most gratifying, and predicts unusually strong teams throughout. Every society has put forth capable candidates, and the trials will be held up until January 14, beginning today. The first inter-society tryout will be held January 15, and the final elimination comes three days later. W. F. Taylor, president of the debating council has charge of the society tryouts.

G. C. Allen is back at school again this term after being out fall term.

HEAR SCHUBERTS TUESDAY

NOTED MALE SONGSTERS OF KANSAS CITY WILL APPEAR IN THE COLLEGE AUDITORIUM FOR A SINGLE CONCERT.

IS A COMPANY OF 40 MEMBERS.

The Schubert club, a company of Kansas City male singers, will give the fourth number of the Society Lyceum course in the College auditorium Tuesday evening, January 12. The concert will begin promptly at 8:15.

Is a Leading Organization.

There are 40 members of the Schubert club, and it is conceded to be the leading male vocal organization of Kansas City and the Southwest. It was organized twelve years ago, and for the past three years has retained almost exactly its present personnel. The years of constant work, study, and association of 40 men, each possessed of unusual individual ability, have resulted in a wonderful perfection of ensemble. The club makes a point of carrying with it a number of soloists, always artists of exceptional ability, but its true claim to recognition is in its work as a whole. The soloists this season are Miss Elizabeth Brookfield, contralto; Miss Margaret Forbes, violinist; Stanley Norvell, basso; Charles Glaskin Sherman, baritone; and Miss Clara Trangle, accompanist.

Program Will be Varied.

The club has in its repertoire many of the male choruses from the best operas and sacred and secular selections of a classical and semi-classical nature. There is no probability, however, of the program being too difficult for the appreciation of the ordinary hearer. This club has discovered what most audiences desire in the way of musical entertainment, and the program will be sufficiently varied to satisfy the most critical.

Newspaper criticisms of the Schubert club have praised greatly the quality of its entertainments, and have united in placing it at the head and without a peer among musical organizations of this part of the country. Each member has a good voice, properly trained under competent masters.

The club is under the direction of Clarence D. Sears.

WILL TALK TO STOCK BREEDERS

Doctor McCampbell Will Also Speak at Farmers' Week at Columbia, Mo.

He will return to Manhattan the latter part of next week.

Miss Louise Price attended the Y. W. C. A. convention in Chicago on her way back from her home in Winfield, Iowa, where she spent the holidays.

Musical Program.

As usual today's assembly will be given over to a musical program. Miss Helen A. Palmer play a violin solo. Professor Wentworth will sing a cycle of songs.

BAND HAS FORTY-FOUR MEMBERS

First Practice was Held Wednesday. Prepare for Annual Concert.

The College band had its first practice of the winter term Wednesday at 3:30 o'clock in the band room in Nichols gymnasium. Forty-four members reported for the first practice. This is considerably more than were in the band fall term, but is about the same as last winter term. A number of the short course students are taking band work and have enrolled in the band. Future practices will be used in preparing for the annual concert which is given some time during the winter term.

Season Tickets May be Had at Lowman's Office.

It is understood that some of the students are not buying athletic tickets because of the mistaken idea that all the good seats will be reserved. If that is your impression, separate yourself from it and from two dollars at once, for such is not the case. The entire running track and the eight new sections of bleachers at the east and west ends, on the main floor will not be reserved. Seats for over 600 persons will provide for parties without reserved seat checks.

Reserved seats for the Bethany game only, go on sale at Professor Lowman's office in Nichols gymnasium, today at 10:30.

SEASON TICKETS NOW SELLING.

Reserved Seats for Season or Single Game on Sale Today.

Basketball season tickets are now on sale at the office of the Director of Athletics in Nichols gymnasium. There have been many inquiries as to where these could be purchased since the enrollment in the gym stopped Tuesday night. A season ticket for the entire ten games, eight of which are Missouri Valley conference games, may be had for two dollars. Reserved seats for the season may also be obtained at Professor Lowman's office in the gymnasium, the price of these is $1.50 for the ten games. Reserved seats for any one game may also be purchased at the gym, a few days before the date of the contest.

FOOTBALL K'S TO FIFTEEN.

The 1915 Football Captain Will be Elected Next Month.

Coach Lowman announced the list yesterday: Captain Agnew, Enns, Haucke, Hartwig, Haymaker, Barnes, Skinner, Briney, Scanlan, Coxen, Wright, Marble, Wilder, and Barnard. The 1915 captain will be chosen as soon as Henley Haymaker and "Fritz" Hartwig return to College. Both of the men are ill with typhoid fever at present.

Rifle Club Elects Officers.

The rifle club elected the following officers last evning: president, J. W. Linn; secretary, H. L. Bixby; treasuresr, R. F. Mirick; captain, Lieutenant Hill. Professor Allee was recommended to be appointed to assist the captain.

Miss Ula Dow, assistant professor of home economics in Simmons College, Boston, spent the holidays in Manhattan.

READY FOR BETHANY SWEDES

STOCK IN THE AGGIE BASKETEERS HAS BEEN SOARING ALL WEEK—OUTLOOK IS BRIGHT FOR CURTAIN RAISER.

SWEDES ARE EXPERIENCED

Forward Adams Has Returned—No Cause to Worry Over Center Position—Quigley Will Officiate—Game Begins Promptly at 7:20 P. M.

(By Frank Sargent.)

The students of the College who are stockholders in the Merner Point Making company will be given a chance to realize on their investment when the local basketeers appear for the first time next Monday evening against the Bethany college five. Present indications lead one to believe that the dividends will be large. Dope is unreliable stuff at best and there is little available at this time, but Aggie stock has been soaring all week and things look bright for the initial contest.

With five K men as a nucleus, Coach Merner has succeeded in developing a combination that bids fair to surpass last year's scoring machine. The Farmer five will be lead by E. C. Jones who for two years past has played a prominent part in the Aggie defense. He is a scrappy and aggressive guard with plenty of speed, capable of caging the ball when the occasion arises.

The coach is still looking for a man to fill Frank Root's shoes but will say nothing definite at present. O. L. Johnson and Ramsey are showing up well in this week's workouts and Wilhoit and H. Frank, of last year's freshman team, also demand consideration.

With two old men back at the center position there should be little cause for worry from this quarter. A year of experience shows a marked improvement in the work of both Leonard and McIlrath. Both men are finding the basket with ease and are getting into the team work better than at any time last season.

With the return of Forward Adams, Thursday, the Merner stock took another jump of several points. Opposite him is Bengston, a man in striking contrast to Adams. Always cool and steady, a brainy player, with plenty of speed at his command, the Swede is just the man to balance the machine and keep it working smoothly.

There is plenty of other forward material. Several men demanding special mention are Cushman, Reynolds, and McMillan from the ranks of last seoson's freshman varsity. All show considerable speed and accuracy at goal shooting but are rather light for the heavy work ahead of the Mennerites. S. E. Barnes is another candidate for the forward position who shows some promise of developing into a valuable man.

Bethany comes with all of last year's men on this season's team and Monday night's battle should be a good one from the first whistle. E. C. Quigley, National league umpire, will officiate. The game is scheduled to begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

COLLEGE PRESIDENTS MEET.

Dr. H. J. Waters Will Speak at Missouri Farmers' Week.

The Kansas State College Presidents association meets in Topeka today in the office of the state superintendent. Pres. H. J. Waters of the College will attend this meeting. From Topeka Doctor Waters will go to Columbia, Mo., where he will deliver the opening address of Farmers' Week at the University of Missouri. The subject of Doctor Waters address will be "World Agriculture."

SATURDAY, JANUARY 9, 1915.

The eyes of men converse as much as their tongues, with the advantage, that the ocular dialect needs no dictionary, but is understood all the world over.—Emerson.

GET THE JUMP ON YOUR WORK.

In athletics it is the man who gets the jump on the other fellow that wins. Just so it is true in every line of work. The fellow who gets the jump on his work is the man who is spelling out his business career or his professional life in words which mean success.

Now, at the beginning of the term, is the time to get the jump on your work. Start today to perform each task. Don't push a single thing aside with the thought that you will see to it tomorrow. Tomorrow will bring its round of duties and in the rush to get them done something will be forgotten. Let each day see the tasks accomplished which are allotted to it. Then, when the end of the term comes, there will be no grand rush, nor will there be any all night watches with book in hand. "Take care of today and the morrow will take care of itself."

THE WISE MAN FEARETH.

A wise man feareth, and departeth from evil: but the fool rageth, and is confident.—Proverbs xiv, 16.

THE SHORT COURSE STUDENTS.

We have with us this term something over 300 students who have enrolled in the short courses in agriculture and engineering offered by the College during the first ten weeks of the winter term. As a student body we welcome these men to the Kansas Agricultural College and we hope that their stay among us will be one of pleasure as well as profit. We feel sure that they will find this institution an excellent place to secure knowledge along engineering and agricultural lines.

Many new faces are to be seen around the campus this week. Also a number of students are back who have been absent for a term or two.

It was gratifying to see the large attendance at the first assembly of the season. Let's keep it up.

HAVE YOU HEARD THAT ROAR?

It is Caused by the New Base Drum the Band Has Secured.

Did you think it was the roll of thunder from a clear sky, or the noise of the great German seige guns, or artillery practice at the Fort? Well, it was none of them. That roar which was noticeable around the campus for the first time Wednesday afternoon was caused by the new base drum which the band has secured.

It's not a small drum either. In fact the drummer has to stand up so he can beat it. The drum head is 42 inches in diameter. Its retail price was something over $80. It will take two men to carry the drum on dress parade.

A number of clarinets and other instruments have also been added to the equipment of the band.

LITERARY SOCIETIES vs. SHORT COURSE STUDENTS.

The records show that comparitively few short course students return to the College for the second years' work. They do not appear to be as enthusiastic, nor do they seem to get into the spirit of the institution like the long course students do.

The short courses offered are as intensely interesting and practical as it is possible to make them, hence the reasons for the "short-horns" non-return is evidently to be found elsewhere.

Some of the faculty and students believe that a considerably larger percentage would come back if the literary societies would unite in an effort to get the short course students interested in society work. Since our state and nation are built on principles of democracy, all social work is necessarily through the agency of parliamentary machinery.

Rural telephone meetings, school district meetings, and business gatherings of all description are instances of this. In the teaching of parliamentary machinery, the literary society is invaluable. Not only would short course students gain great value from the literary society training but the literary society work would be of more value to the College and to Kansas, serving as a sort of laboratory in its particular work. It would also save the societies from the possible development of aristocracy.

Ten weeks or six months spent in the regular societies would greatly widen the "short-termer's" circle of acquaintances, would familiarize him with methods and rules of organized bodies, and would form one of the strongest possible incentives for his return.

The literary societies could easily make arrangements whereby short course students might become members by the payment of a small fee. What would thesocieties accomplish? (1) They would make the time spent by the short course students in the College more interesting and valuable. (2). The value of the societies to the College and to Kansas would be greatly increased. (3). A larger percentage of short course students would return for additional work. T. R. H.

WRESTLERS TO MEET MONDAY

Intend to Schedule Several Dual Wrestling Meets With Missouri Valley Schools—Promising Men Out.

"We intend to schedule several dual wrestling meets with Missouri Valley schools this winter if the material will justify the trouble," said C. F. Holladay, wrestling instructor, when interviewed yesterday. "I want to meet every man interested in wrestling," continued the honorable Charles "in wrestling room Monday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock." At this meeting an hour for practice will be arranged that will accomodate every candidate for the team.

"I have several promising wrestlers to begin the winter term's work with and with the aid of several other clever men who have signified their intentions of coming out for the team we will be able to show quite a number of the college and university wrestling teams a good run for their money," said Instructor Holladay.

The Aggie mat instructor has had considerable teaching experience in the grappling game and last summer took his master's degree, so to speak, at the Harvard Summer School where in a class of 22 he feceived the highest grade as a wrestling teacher. In 1913 he attended the Battle Creek school, during the summer months, and picked up his first real knowledge of the catch-as-can-catch game from W. E. Cann, one of New England's champions.

Instructor Holladay ranks Alsop, a one hundred and sixty pounder his best bet in the padded squared circle. Alsop is an Idaho product and has been taking all manner of falls out of the entire wrestling class, this fall, from the heftiest down to the lightest. Bayer, a giant football player, is also a candidate for wrestling honors and with his 175 pounds of beef and build promises to make 'em all go the limit. In the lightweight rank, Long stands out as the best the fall term class sported and in the middle-weight division, Gilmore has been showing good form.

The Emporia Normals have been nosing around for a meet with Holladay's grapplers and it is probable that one will be staged between the two teams this winter. Athletic Director Lowman has also offered the University of Kansas an opportunity to bring a handful of their mat artists to Manhattan when the K. U. basketball team plays here. And so the Aggie mat following may be treated to a real lively mat tussle some of these fine nights.

Military Doings

By R. F. Mirick.

Seventy-two recruits reported Wednesday and were assigned to companies. Men assigned to military training now number around 700, as compared with over 800 last term. More are expected to enroll, however.

E. T. Englesby, who has had considerable experience in the National Guard of the District of Columbia, has been appointed lieutenant to assist Captain Russell and Mr. La Turrette with indoor range instruction.

Assignments to class were made Wednesday. The lieutenant colonel instructs the officers class, the majors instruct the non-commissioned officers of their battalions, and captains instruct the companies. Except when notice to the contrary is posted, all cadets will report to their respective class rooms at drill hour. Eighteen class rooms have been set aside for the use of the military department. A schedule of assignments for recitations is posted on the bulletin board, and the text books are obtainable in the office.

VOLUME 21. NUMBER 29. KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 13, 1915. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

CABINET MEMBER WILL SPEAK

DAVID FRANKLIN HOUSTON, THE UNITED STATES SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE, WILL ADDRESS STUDENT ASSEMBLY ON FRIDAY.

IS A PROMINENT EDUCATOR

Secretary Houston Will Be the Guest of the College Thursday and Friday —He Will Leave for Washington, D. C., Friday Noon.

Dr. David Franklin Houston, secretary of agriculture of the United States, will be the guest of the College Thursday and Friday of this week and will address the students and faculty at assembly Friday morning. The subject of his address has not been announced.

Secretary Houston will arrive in Manhattan Thursday night from Topeka and will be entertained at the home of President Waters. He will leave Friday noon for Washington, D. C.

Besides being the incumbent of the most prominent agricultural position in America, Secretary Houston is an educator of national reputation, having been a city superintendent of schools, a college professor, and a university president. For three years he was head of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, and for the next three years president of the University of Texas. For the five years preceding his appointment to his present office he was chancellor of Washington University, St. Louis.

TO HOLD EXTENSION SCHOOL.

One Lasting Five Days Will be Held at Cimarron.

An extension school, beginning January 18 and lasting five days, is to be held in Cimarron, Kansas. The instructors are Lee H. Gould, demonstration agent for southwestern Kansas; P. E. Crabtree, of the extension division; M. C. Sewell, superintendent of the Garden City experiment station; and Mrs. Bruce Josserand of Cimarron.

A similar school will be held in Moran during the same week. The instructors secured for this school are: C. H. Taylor, H. J. Bower, and Geo. Greene, of the extension division, and W. E. Watkins, county agent for Allen county.

Y. W. AND Y. M. JOIN FORCES

Local Organizations Will Work Together on the Elliott Campaign—Hold Meetings in the Auditorium.

The forces are organized and plans are rapidly being put into operation to make the "Dad" Elliott meetings the biggest thing that ever struck Manhattan. It is now practically certain that the Y. W. C. A. will conduct a series of meetings at the same time, their meetings being held in the old chapel, while the men will meet in the auditorium. Miss Groves, secretary, and Miss Tullos, president of the Y. W. C. A., are enthusiastic over the prospects. They will secure several Y. W. leaders, among them Miss Spencer and Miss Riggs, who are known to many K. S. A. C. girls. The Y. M. leaders will also speak to the girls.

Blotters having pictures of three Y. M. workers who will be here were distributed to practically every college student from Sunday to Tuesday of this week. Every Christian man in College is expected to do his part to make these meetings go, and Secretary McLean will be mighty glad to hear from anyone who will pledge himself to help.

MissGladys Magill who attended the College last year spent the week-end at the Lambda house.

Collegian Board to Meet.

The Collegian board will meet in the Mercury office tonight from 7 to 8 o'clock. It is imperative that each member of the board be present.

LIVE STOCK MEN TO CONVENE.

A livestock convention will be held in Parsons, February 11 and 12, under the auspices of the Kansas Agricultural College. The convention has been arranged on the request of the livestock men of that section of the state, and they will cooperate actively in the meeting.

Among those from the College who will be present and give addresses are: President Waters, Dean Miller, Prof. W. A. Cochel, Prof. O. E. Reed, Dr. C. W. McCampbell, and Prof. E. C. Johnson. Carl J. Elling, district agent for southeastern Kansas, is cooperating with the citizens of Parsons and vicinity in making arrangements for the convention.

SHOULD HEAR SEC. HOUSTON

On Friday the students of the College will be afforded the opportunity of hearing a chapel address by Dr. David Franklin Houston, United States secretary of agriculture. Secretary Houston is an educator of national prominence, having been a city superintendent of schools, a college professor, and a university president.

Every student in the institution, no matter what course he is taking, should hear this address by Secretary Houston. You are at college to get the big things of life and to come in touch with some of the men of prominence of the country. This opportunity you cannot afford to miss. Just now, when the subject of agriculture and its varied problems is receiving so much attention on account of the European war, you should feel it your duty to be keenly alert and awake to all things bearing upon the question. As head of the department of agriculture, Secretary Houston will be able to say something definite as to the effects of the war upon our great industry. The timeliness of the subject alone should arouse your interest and stimulate your desire to hear this national speaker.

As a student of agriculture you cannot afford to miss hearing this man who holds the most important agricultural position in the United States. For you his address will be of particular value. It will be full of practical advice and helpful ideas that are the result of years of hard work and experience. It will give you encouragement to strive harder than ever to accomplish your aim in life.

Certanly Secretary Houston has the right to think that he will have a crowded audience, coming as he does to make an address before the greatest agricultural college in the world. Shall he be disappointed? Why not crowd the auditorium and give him a welcome to the Kansas Agricultural College that he will long remember?

SOCIETIES HOLD TRYOUTS.

State Engineer Will Speak in Nebraska and at University of Illinois.

W. S. Gearhart, state engineer located at the College, will deliver an address on "Country and Inter-Country Road Systems" at the annual meeting of the Nebraska Good Roads association which will be held at Lincoln, January 19.

Mr. Gearhart will also give two lectures before the highway engineers attending the short course of the University of Illinois. He will speak January 21 on "Improving Sand Roads by Claying and Oiling," and January 22 on "What Shall We Do With the Old Light Highway Bridge."

Miss Edna Munger, Miss Grace Craven, and Miss Birdye Gear will be hostesses to the Campus club tonight at 710 Moro.

WILL IMPERSONATE LINCOLN

IS A PLAYWRIGHT AND ACTOR

Chapin's "Lincoln" Has Been Referred to as the Great American Historical Drama — Portrays Lincoln With Feeling, Dignity, and Humanity.

Benjamin Chapin, who gives a wonderfully realistic impersonation of the man Abraham Lincoln, will appear in the College auditorium Friday night in interpretations of his own dramas. He will give an interpretation of his "Lincoln," a character drama of life in the White House.

Years ago Mr. Chapin evolved the idea of impersonating his ideal, Lincoln, and he began to devote himself to his work of gathering material. He made it a point to meet all the old servants of the White House who had been there during the Civil War; he became acquainted with people who had known the Lincolns in their domestic life; from these and from old veterans and statesmen, Mr. Chapin gathered the data which enabled him to present a true picture of Lincoln as he lived, moved, and acted.

Is a Playwright and Actor.

Mr. Chapin has scored success, both as a playwright and as an actor, wherever he has appeared in his interpretations of Lincoln. Papers all over the country have referred to his "Lincoln" as the great American historical drama for which men are watching. The Independent, speaking editorially of the play, says: "Every city, town, and hamlet should see it. It will touch the heart of everyone. Even in the climaxes where the national fate hangs in the balance, Mr. Chapin seems to measure up almost to the stature of the martyred president." The Literary Digest comments as follows: "The drama received a real contribution in Benjamin Chapin's 'Lincoln.' In his creation of his character he has 'blocked out' the great American historical drama."

An Actor of Feeling.

Mr. Chapin shows Lincoln as a lovable, tender-hearted, humorous, many-sided man. He portrays with feeling, dignity, humor, and humanity the wonderful personality of the man. The Morning Telegram says of his acting: "What might have been grotesque was real. Mr. Chapin dallied with fire and was not burned."

Single admission tickets for the entertainment can be secured at the auditorium Friday night. The entertainment will begin promptly at 8 o'clock.

WILL GO TO CHICAGO SATURDAY.

Prof. Olof Valley of the music department will leave Saturday noon for Chicago in the interests of the opera which the department will give next term. Mr. Valley will look over scenery, costumes, stage fittings, and things required for the presentation of the opera.

The name of the opera which will be presented this year is, "Pirates of Penzance," by W. S. Gilbert. Professor Valley is now trying out voices for the different parts. The play is witty, interesting, melodious, and has a good plot.

STAGE PARODY ON COLLEGE LIFE

Farce "Jimmie in Wonderland" Will be Presented by Literary Societies.

"Jimmie in Wonderland" is the title of the farce which will be given by the literary societies of the College in the College auditorium on February 12.

So successful was the "Persimmon Scandal" of last year that the committee felt encouraged to write an original parody on college life. The sketch is based on the careers of several famous characters of the College. The committee has been hard at work for several weeks and those who have been so fortunate as to read over some of the parts say the parody will eclipse anything of a similar nature ever given at the College.

Enroll 226 "Shorthorns."

Two hundred and twenty-six "shorthorns" have enrolled at the University of Missouri for the two-year course in agriculture. Of this number but 40 are classed as second year men.

TEACH ENGINEERING TO 1500

MORE THAN HALF OF THE STUDENTS OF THE COLLEGE ARE TAKING WORK IN THE ENGINEERING DIVISION.

300 TAKE REGULAR COURSES

More than half of the students attending the College this term are taking work in the engineering department, there being 1500 students who are enrolled in regular courses, short courses, or elective courses. The lack of room and inadequate equipment to handle the work is self-evident, in spite of the earnest work of the instructors.

Have Many Short Courses

More than 100 students have enrolled for the short courses being offered by the division of engineering this term. Of this number, 75 are taking the short course in traction engines, 25 the short course in shop work, and the others the short course in road building. Besides these students there are 25 receiving instruction in the operation of gas engines, and 100 in the operation of traction engines. From 500 to 600 students are taking work in the shops. These figures do not include the 300 students who are pursuing the regular courses in engineering. In round numbers, 1500 students are receiving instruction in the division of engineering this term.

Employ Senior Assistants.

To handle this work it was necessary to employ a number of senior students as assistants in the machine shops and gas engine department. In addition, the total load on the regular instructors had to be greatly increased. Some idea of the amount of work being done can be secured from the number of hours of work done in the engineering laboratories in a week. In the short courses in traction engines and shop work each student devotes 40 hours a week to work in the shops or laboratories. Multiply this by 100, the number of men taking these courses, and you have a total of 4,000 student hours of work which is done each week in the engineering laboratories. This is a greater load than the average person can appreciate as the average instructor can handle only from six to eight students efficiently in the laboratory and shop work course.

ENROLLMENT REACHES 2499

New Students can Enroll Until Thursday After Which day They Must Secure Permission from Their Deans.

Last night at 5 o'clock 2,499 students had enrolled for the winter term. This is a little short of the enrollment for last winter term but it is expected that last year's figures will be equaled before the end of the term. Enrollment will continue until Thursday. After that day all new students wishing to enroll must secure permission from their deans, and then the number of hours which they can take will be limited.

BOARD OF AGRICULTURE MEETS.

The Kansas State Board of Agriculture meets in Topeka January 13 to 15. David A. Houston, secretary of agriculture of the United States, will speak at the meeting the afternoon of January 14.

A number of the members of the faculty of the College will deliver papers at the meeting of the board. President Waters will deliver an address Wednesday night, January 13, on the subject, "The Farmers of the Orient." W. A. Cochel, professor of animal husbandry, will speak Friday, January 15, on the subject, "Will Production of Beef in Kansas be Increased."

SPOKE IN TOPEKA YESTERDAY.

Doctor McCampbell Gave Talk Before Stock Breeders of the State.

Dr. C. W. McCampbell of the animal husbandry department was in Topeka yesterday where he spoke before the Kansas Improved Stock Breeders' association. This morning he will speak before the Missouri Horse Breeders' association at Columbia, Mo., and this afternoon before the Missouri Saddle Breeders' association. He will return the latter part of the week.

GRADUATES ARE DOING WELL.

So Says E. W. Denman, '12, Who is Visiting the College.

E. W. Denman, '12, is making a visit of several days with College friends, and is also accomplishing some business while enroute for the Westinghouse Electrical Supply company of Pittsburg, Pa., with whom he is employed in the drafting and designing department.

Mr. Denman reports that the K. S. A. C. alumni of which there are about twelve employed with the Westinghouse company, are all doing well, but that on account of present circumstances the graduates of late years are not quite so fortunate in the nature of the position secured as those of some years ago.

The boys keep in touch with the College by means of the College paper, as do the alumni from the other schools. Social affairs are not infrequent and the grads have a good time in spite of hard work.

SCHUBERTS PLEASE MANY

Kansas City Songsters Received With Enthusiasm—Ensemble Work Noted for Tone Purity and Shading.

The concert given by the Schubert club last night as the fourth number on the Society Lecture course was decidedly a musical treat. As a male chorus the club is without a peer in this section of the country. Their ensemble work was truly remarkable, tone purity, color, and shading being much above the average.

The club had five soloists, Elizabeth Brookfield, contralto; Margaret Fowler Forbes, violinist; Charles Glaskin Sherman, basso; H. E Small, flutist, and Stanley Norvell, baritone. Miss Clara Crangle was the accompanist.

The nature of the program was such as to win the approbation of any audience, no matter how diverse in regard to musical taste.

An unusually large audience was present, and each number was received with the enthusiasm which it deserved. Kansas City is to be commended upon being the home of such a musical organization.

The club was under the direction of Mr. Clarence D. Sears.

THEY LIKE "DAD" ELLIOTT.

His Work in Other Campaigns Has Been Successful.

The work of "Dad" Elliott in Y. M. C. A. campaigns conducted at other educational institutions has been very successful, and wherever he has been he has left behind him an enviable record and hosts of friends. The following clippings are characteristic of the comments of the press upon his work.

The Oregon Agricultural College Barometer has the following to say of "Dad" Elliott's visit at Corvallis:

"Dad" Elliott left Corvallis Sunday evening after a stay of five days on the campus. It can truly be said that he was the greatest, or at least one of the greatest, speakers along moral and religious lines that ever spoke on the O. A. C. campus. In testimony of what he has done here, it can be said that scores of students have openly confessed that "Dad" has done them more good, given them more inspiration, and left a more lasting impression of his great character than can be measured. He has set students to thinking, and all over the campus his statements are being discussed."

"Dad" Elliott has come and gone. Perhaps those of us who are now in college will never again, as college men, have the rare privilege of hearing this robust, genuine, and great hearted man. Such a thought can but carry with it a feeling of regret, especially to those of us who have known him through our time in school, as a college man. We have seen "Dad" in several Y. M. C. A. conventions and at Estes Park. He enters into our estimation of an ideal college man. His own record in college marks him as an all-around fellow, and so long as we have memory of college days, the straight talk of "Dad" as he stood before us with all the evidences of sincerity and good fellowship, will remain vividly implanted in memory."

Will Hold Reception.

The reception of the K. S. A. C. Social club, indefinitely postponed in December, because of the deaths of two of the faculty members, will be held in the domestic science building at 8 o'clock, Saturday, January 16.

This reception is given by the ladies of the club to the faculty and officers of the College.

AGGIES TAKE OPENING GAME

AGGIES OFF FORM ON PASSING

(By E. H. Smith.)

In a forty-minute session of basketball Monday night, thirty-nine minutes of which was exceedingly listless, the Kansas Aggies heralded the opening of the 1915 basketball season by drubbing the Bethany Swedes, 45 to 24. The handiest excuse for the game was that it was the first of the season. The Aggies were notably off form on passing and on gaining the ball on the tipoff while the tipoff man was laboring handily at his position and knocking the ball Aggieward at every opportunity. In direct opposition to these faults was the form on caging the ball that the Mernerites displayed.

With the expert Mr. Quigley at the helm, the battle began promptly at 7:28 o'clock. A technical foul on Captain Jones gave the Swedes the first opportunity to score and Center Ingman responded with a neat free throw. A double pass from the following tipoff gave Right Forward Bengston a beautiful shot from the south side of the floor and the ball clipped through the net without touching the rim and the Aggies were off with a one-point lead.

The Aggies led to the end of the half, 26 to 15.

Bengston and Leonard were the high point tossers for the Aggies. The former Lindsborg player showed exceptional form on every play and was the class of the Aggie forwards. The big Wamego center looked good, both in the ring and on the floor. His goal shooting is much improved over last year's work. Captain Jones did good work at his guard position, as did also McMillen.

Captain Peterson, right forward on the Bethany aggregation, was the life of that team. Center Ingman's cleverness at free throwing tallied seven shots out of eleven chances. On the other hand, the Aggies made but one free throw out of seven tries. The summary:

Kansas Aggies—45.

Hearts only thrive on varied good;
And he who gathers from a host
Of friendly hearts his daily food,
Is the best friend that we can boast.
—Holland.

OVERCOMING DIFFICULTIES.

Down in Dallas, Texas, there is a man who has lost both of his arms, yet his condition is not one of helplessness, for he has striven faithfully and has succeeded in overcoming to a remarkable degree the terrible handicap that has befallen him. Through constant study of his condition and tireless effort, he has constructed devices which take the place of his arms, and he can put on his own collar, write a legible hand, strike a match, steer an automobile, shave himself, knot a tie, comb and brush his hair, and tend to his own correspondence. Here is a man who was not overwhelmed when misfortune came to him, for, thinking of the future and what it would mean if he should remain in his helpless condition, he set to work and has succeeded in rising above the obstacles placed upon him.

How many there are in the world who have flunked out under far less afflictions than this, who have given up all hope upon the mere sign of adverse circumstances. Courage it takes, to overcome such difficulties as were put upon this man; courage which can look the impossible in the face and make it appear possible. Yet how many there are who lack the least semblance of having this courage.

If only we could be made to realize that we should take what has been given to us and make the best of it. But, instead, we spend our time and energy in worrying about our condition and in chafing under the obstacles which have been placed upon us. Why not, while we are fitting ourselves for life service, determine that we will take without words that which has been given to us and make the best of it?

Let's start today, if we have not already, to make plans toward overcoming any obstacles which may lie in our way. Let's determine that no difficulty shall block our pathway.

HE WILL BLESS WITH PEACE.

The Lord will give strength unto his people; the Lord will bless his people with peace.—Psalms xxix, 11.

A CHAT WITH OUR READERS.

In order to put out a live, up-to-the-minute college paper, the management must have the support of the student body. At the present time only a small per cent of the students, it is less than one-third, are regular subscribers to the Collegian. The other two-thirds are getting the College news over the shoulder of a neighbor or are borrowing a paper.

Now and then there is more or less talk about putting out a daily paper. With the present support, however, this would be impossible. If the student body and faculty will get behind the paper and give it the right kind of support, the management promises that it will see to it that better news service is forth coming.

Don't forget that the Collegian is the student paper. It is not representing any one organization or clique. It is representing the student body. Each organization of the College is requested to appoint its member of the board and see to it that he or she reports the news events of the organization. Choose someone who likes to report, someone who is interested in journalistic work.

An OPEN COLUMN is conducted on the editorial page of the paper and you are invited to express your opinion upon things about the campus. The articles must be signed to show the editor that they are written in good faith. Their publication does not necessarily mean that the editor agrees with the opinions expressed.

The office of the paper is located in the south basement of Anderson hall. It is open at all times the College buildings are open and you are invited to drop in at any time. You will find copy paper and a typewriter there with which to write up anything you may have for the Collegian. If your paper is not coming regularly drop in and let us know, then we can see that it does come.

Doubt is not itself a crime. All manner of doubt, inquiry about all manner of objects, dwells in every reasonable mind. It is the mystic working of the mind on the object it is getting to know about.—Carlyle.

That Newspaper Kiss.

A daring theft was wrought last night
On darling little Rose;
He stole some things he wanted, right
Beneath her very nose.
—Philadelphia Press.

'Tis to be hoped that if fair Rose
Returned the blissful smack,
Jack did not overlook a bet
But turned and kissed her back.
—Houston Post.

That may be as they do this job
Down in the sunny South;
But if Jack lived here in the North
He'd kiss her on the mouth.
—The Commoner.

E'en if she was as had been guessed,
Jack's sweet mouthed little sister,
The thing that worries us the most
Is that the Globe man missed her.
—Kansas City Globe.

Yet Jack perhaps had little glee,
Though on the mouth he kissed her;
We have as yet no proof, you see,
That Rose was not his sister.
—Leavenworth Times.

But if it was a Kansas girl
She'd use cold cream, the dear;
And when Jack went to kiss her lip
He'd skid and kiss her ear.
—University Daily Kansan.

If Rose had been an Aggie lass,
And Jack was not her brother,
We know he'd let quite some time pass
Before he'd try another.
—Kansas State Collegian.

TYRO BASKETEERS ARE OUT.

Big Squad of Freshmen Report for First Practice.

Athletic Director Guy S. Lowman issued his first call for candidates for the freshman Varsity basketball team Wednesday, and a large squad reported for practice at the gymnasium, Wednesday afternoon. Due to the strained condition of the finances of the department no equipment will be checked out and each man will be expected to furnish his own.

Several men from last year's squad are showing up well with this year's varsity, and there is no reason to doubt that from the crowd of first year men out this winter, some good material will be developed.

"The Spoilers."

From Rex Beach's book, in nine parts, with WILLIAM FARNUM as "ROY GLENISTER" and KATHLYN WILLIAMS as "Cherry Malott." The greatest film ever done. Wareham theatre, Saturday, matinee and night, January 16, and Monday, matinee and night, January 18. All seats 20 cents.

Glee Club Will Sing.

The College Glee club will be heard at the chapel exercises on Saturday. The club is composed of 19 men of the College. The program will be announced later.

Miss Emma Taylor, of Wichita, a member of the junior class, has been chosen to represent the Eurodelphian literary society in the oratorical contest to be held in February.

BASKETBALL ⁂ TRACK ⁂ INTRA-MURAL

BY ERLE H. SMITH

ICHABODS TO COME FRIDAY

COACH GREY HAS A CREW OF VETERANS PLAYING IN MID-SEASON FORM—MERRILL REAM IS REPORTED OUT.

AGGIES EXPECT A STIFF BATTLE.

(By E. H. Smith.)

When the Kansas Aggies hook up with the Washburn college five on the Nichols court next Friday night they will have to be traveling on high gear if they expect to win. Washburn comes to Manhattan with practically the same combination of basketeers that trounced the Merner aggregation last season and is reported going in mid-season form right now.

Worried Over Loss of Ream.

Coach "Crip" Grey is worried over the loss of Merrill Ream, the crack guard who is ill with tonsilitis. Ream may be able to play in the Aggie battle royal but the Topeka papers think not. In his place is Nelson, a new man to the Washburn squad and one who is showing wonderful basketball ability. The veteran "Blonde" Trobert, of football fame, is playing the other guard position in old time form giving the Ichabod mentor at least one of the best guards in the Kansas Conference.

Washburn Has Fast Forwards.

With Dwight Rea and "Pinky" Beals playing forwards the Washburn team is equipped with a pair of the fastest and most accurate goal shooters in the game. Dwight Ream is heralded as real All-American calibre and if he is playing in anything like his last season's form will insure the Aggie following a spectacular game from the first whistle. George Myers, last season's crack tipoff man, is again working in the circle for the Ichabods and reported going in mid-season form.

The Merner gang appeared unmercifully weak in their ability to score via the free-throw route. Oft times this is a team's best method of counting when the referee's judgment calls the opposition for erring. Reynolds counted the only free tally the Aggies were able to land against the Bethany Swedes in Monday night's encounter.

Aggies Weak in Passing Ball.

The Aggies showed weakness in passing the ball. Many passes went to the Swedes and as many more went unhindered out of bounds. This fault will be corrected with more practice. Captain Jones' men also failed to get the advantage from the tipoff at center. Leonard was doing a valiant job of gaining the bat-off the larger number of times but it was not until the last few minutes of play that the Merner crew settled and copped the ball from the center.

Flashes of teamwork shone through the numerous miss-cues and gave the Aggie fans a ray of hope. Considering that this was the first game of the season and comparing it with other season's initial contests, there is a good chance that the 1915 quintet will land high in the Missouri Valley rankings.

OLYMPIAD TO THIS COUNTRY?

University of Syracuse Is After 1916 Olympic Meet.

The University of Syracuse is trying to bring the 1916 Olympic games to its new stadium. Berlin was to have been the next place of the Olympic games, but the war may prevent the meet in Germany.

At the University of Syracuse, a stadium with a seating capacity of 40,000 and a quarter mile cinder path would accommodate the big event, says the New York Times.

Nebraska Will Play Notre Dame.

Nebraska has scheduled a game with Notre Dame at Lincoln next year. This is the first time the Cornhuskers have met a team east of the Mississippi. If the Huskers show the speed they had last season, it will be a close contest. Notre Dame was undefeated in 1913 but lost to the Army and Yale last year.

To the Sporting Editor:—Here is a bit of verse. You may "put it in" for what it is worth.

"Love at First Sight."

"Oh, thank you!" she said. Then with a smile,
She turned and went away.
Said he, "I'd do a thousand favors
With half as much for pay."
He thought not on his work that day,
Nor thought on pleasure's part.
He'd sit and gaze, then sigh and say—
"God bless her little heart."
She was so sweet, she was so kind,
Who met me at the door:
Oh, shall we ever meet again
On love or friendship's score?"

—C6 116.

And now, dear readers, you may judge for yourself just how much this little bit of verse is really worth. Chip in now, what's your bid?

ARRANGE INTERCLASS SCHEDULE

Senior and Junior Fives Will Clash Next Saturday.

The interclass basketball tournament will bring together the senior and junior fives in the first clash of the series, Saturday afternoon, January 16, on the big court in Nichols gymnasium. Athletic Director Guy S. Lowman announces the sixth and seventh hours on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays as practise days. No games will be postponed and any class that fails to put a team on the floor at the scheduled time will forfeit the game to the opposing five.

Professor Lowman intends to rush the interclass series through so that the entire schedule may be out of the way by the end of the month. Numerals will be given not to exceed seven men for each team and the men must play at least one full game of the series. Class basketball managers are requested to confer with Professor Lowman immediately to discuss class numerals and other details regarding the series. The schedule:

Senior vs. Junior, Fri., Jan. 15 8th.
Sophomore vs. Freshmen, Sat., Jan. 16, 7th.
Senior vs. Sophomore, Wed., Jan. 20, 8th.
Junior vs. Freshmen, Thurs., Jan. 21, 7th.
Junior vs. Sophomore, Sat., Jan. 23, 7th.
Senior vs. Freshmen, Mon., Jan. 25, 7th.
Senior vs. Sophomore, Thurs, Jan. 28, 7th
Junior vs. Freshmen, Thurs., Jan. 28, 8th.
Senior vs. Freshmen, Sat., Jan. 30, 7th.
Junior vs. Sophomore, Sat., Jan. 30, 8th.

Big Nine Recognizes Indians.

Annette Kellermann, who is seen in "Neptune's Daughter," the famous marine moving picture drama, to be shown at the Marshall theatre January 18-19, is not only the most celebrated swimmer in the world, but is said to possess the most perfect figure. Her measurements are almost identical with those of the Venus de Milo.

Sport Salad

SPORT SALAD.
(By Frank Sargent.)

The new score-boards, located on opposite sides of the running track, will prove an aid in answering the ever pertinent question—"What is the score?"

With Byron Dudley and "Stub" Broddle both out of school this term, the rooters were without a cheer leader. What little cheering was done was of a very ragged nature and after several half-hearted attempts, the crowd gave up and the game continued in comparative quiet.

The K. S. A. C. band promises to be an attractive feature of this season's games. Leader Ozment knows how to select numbers that strike the popular fancy.

Forward Bengston is a Lindsborg lad but his conduct of Monday evening would hardly pass muster in the best circles. He seemed to take particular delight in making difficult shots and piling up the score against the home guard.

"Percy" Burkholder applied to Coach Lowman for a position as time keeper, and his recommendations were excellent. But, alas, alas, Burk came to grief early in the second half when, in the excitement of the game, he let his time-piece slip to the floor with a crash that finished its days of usefulness. Percy called time out until another stop-watch could be secured, but his friends fear that Friday will find him out of a position.

The ever popular Quigley handled the whistle and ran the game in his usual masterly manner. An exact and impartial judge, this man has done much toward teaching all loyal Aggies the essentials of true sportsmanship. And it is not to be wondered at that he has a host of friends and well wishers around the College.

The Aggies showed little inclination to "mix it," and rather than take a chance of being called for having two men on the ball, they frequently allowed the Bethany guards to secure the ball without an effort.

The Swede conference called by Captain Peterson had little effect in stopping the Farmers' march, once they struck their stride.

"The Dancer and the King."

The World Film Corporation presents CECIL SPOONER in "THE DANCER AND THE KING," a Blaney feature in five parts, and it's great! WAREHAM THEATRE FRIDAY AFTERNOON AND NIGHT, JANUARY 15.

It cost $50,000 and took 8,000 feet of film to produce "Neptune's Daughter," the marine moving picture drama in which Annette Kellermann will be seen at the Marshall Theatre January 18 and 19. The scenes are to be found in the Bermudas where coral reefs, submarine grottoes, long stretches of beaches, bold headlands and wonderful tropical foliage are abundant.

You have all read about the great Prohibition pep meeting in Topeka where a thousand college students from all over the United States convened to consider this big problem.

In order to get national prohibition by 1916, there must be a vigorous educational campaign, and as a part of this H. W. Davis of the English department, is conducting a special class in the study of the liquor problem. All interested and patriotic students invited to join.

During the Christmas holiday season just passed the following civil engineering graduates of the College have been visitors in town and at the College: Harrison Broberg, M. M. Hutchinson and I. E. Taylor, who are at present with the Santa Fe railway in Kansas; M. E. Hartzler, I. V. Howenstine and G. E. Werner, who are at present employed with the interstate commerce commission on valuation of railroads; Walter Hole, who has recently been employed on inspection of concrete bridges near Concordia, and W. "LITTLE LORD FAUNTELROY."

Thursday matinee and night, January 14, the Wareham theatre presents "LITTLE LORD FAUNTLEROY." A photo-dramatization of Frances Hodson Burnett's expuisite story of childhood. A rare treat for the young folks and a delight for adults who saw this famous play when children as well as for those who did not.

The last word in scenery has been spoken by Philip Bartholomae, author of "When Dreams Come True," which comes to the Marshal Theatre Friday, January 15.

Mr. Bartholomae announces that in the ball room episode the scene is painted not on the canvas of commerce, but on silk. He says that thereby he has attained a certain lighting effect of unquestioned beauty and effectiveness.

Mr. Bartholomae, be it known, is equipped with one fortunate advantage carefully kept away from most makers of manuscript. He is rich. He can write checks on silk if he wants to. Let this not be taken to mean that only his wealth makes it possible for him to get in the limelight. He is the author and producer of "Overnight" and "Little Miss Brown," both successes which have increased his bank account, and he is the producer of a number of vaudeville acts equally successful.

However, when one sets out to make scenery the possession of a bank balance is a distinct aid to art and the uplift. In addition to the silk, set the play also reveals three other complete scenic offerings—all shown in three acts.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN.

VOLUME 21. NUMBER 30. KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, SATURDAY, JANUARY 16, 1915. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

HOUSTON TALKS TO 2500

STUDENTS ARE TOO IMPATIENT

Secretary Houston Believes Students Should Work Eight Hours a Day—Field of Agriculture is Promising One to the Young Man.

Lines of leadership and fields of service constituted the theme of the address given by Dr. David Franklin Houston, United States secretary of agriculture. at the chapel exercises of the College Friday morning. The auditorium was crowded with 2500 students and people of Manhattan who came to hear the secretary's address.

"Impatience at the length of time spent in getting our foundation work is a characteristic of all technical schools," said Secretary Houston. "We are too impatient with our English, history, and economics. This is not altogether the fault of the student body; usually the faculty needs more attention than the students.

Students Not Children.

"College students of today are not children," asserted Secretary Houston. "I believe each student should do eight hours of good solid work each day. The efficient men are those who do more than any human being can have a right to expect them to do. The most of the men who seek jobs should not have them, they are usually the unsuccessful ones. I believe that it would be a good rule to make every man ineligible to hold office who runs for it.

"Opportunities for service in the nation at the hands of men and women of character, understanding, and training are greater than ever before in the world's history. The world is looking for the man of broad foundation and willingness to serve." Doctor Houston declares that there are many who seek but few who conserve. "The optimism, permanency, and advancement of our nation," he said, "is due to the many men who are willing to serve."

Solving Rural Problems.

Secretary Houston said that he knew of no field of endeavor more promising to the young man than the field of agriculture. "We are just beginning to realize that the problems of rural life must be solved. We have directed our attention to the problems of industry, inter-national law, taxation, and banking; but have failed to realize that every agricultural problem i san economic one. The problems of distribution, marketing, cooperation, organization, and betterment of rural life conditions, schools, social life, and roads, are pressing themselves upon the agricultural institutions of the country. It is astonishing to see the amount of progress that is being made in educational lines. We are just beginning to realize that the solving of these problems is not an expenditure but an investment."

Secretary Houston expressed it as his belief that there was great need of leadership in extension lines. He said that it was gratifying to note the cooperation between the federal department of agriculture and the agricultural institutions of the country.

"It is the duty of each college man," concluded the secretary of agriculture, "to determine to have an open mind, to arrive at the truth, and to follow it wherever it leads."

TALKED TO THE Y. W. GIRLS.

Miss Haggart Told Them How to be Real Helpmates.

Miss Margaret Haggart of the domestic science department gave an interesting talk Thursday evening at the Y. W. C. A. This is the second in the College Girl series being given by the best speakers of Manhattan.

The subject Thursday evening was, "The Other Girls' Brother." Many of the girls learned what it means to be a real helpmate to the young men and to influence them in the best ways. Miss Louise Price and Miss Esther Nelson spoke of their trip to the Y. W. C. A. national convention held in Lake Forest, Ill., during the holidays.

Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Van Zile, and Dr. Green will give interesting talks in these series during the next three weeks.

Send the Collegian home.

GUARD ALL EXPOSED GEARS.

Division of Engineering Believes in "Safety First" Movement.

The "Safety First" movement is being carried out in the engineering shops and laboratories. Every piece of mechanism is guarded so the students are protected from injury. All of the lathes in the shops are being rebuilt in order to minimize the danger of accidents to the students. "In three months," said Dean A. A Potter yesterday, "there will not be an exposed gear in the shops. 'Safety First' is the popular slogan of the division of engineering."

RUN POWER PLANT 24 HOURS

On Account of Experimental Work Being Carried on the College Power Plant is Running 24 Hours Daily.

On account of experimental work being carried on by the departments of entomology, zoology, and chemistry, the heat and power plant of the College is running 24 hours a day. In spite of this increased load, however, the plant is being operated at a smaller cost per month to the state than several years ago.

Among the methods used in producing economy in the heat and power plant are, heating of all water fed to the boilers, metering of the water, and the metering of all energy taken from the power plant. Realizing that the heart of a heat and power plant is in the boiler room, every effort is being made to have the surroundings as clean and sanitary as possible. Within the last month air ducts have been installed which remove all dust and obnoxious gases during the process of cleaning the fires.

With the automatic type of stoker being used at the heat and power plant, the lowest grades of coal can be used. This coal is costing $3.45 a ton, $1.60 at the mine, $1.25 for freight, and $0.60 per ton for hauling.

REGISTRY BOARD OF VALUE.

Records in Office of C. W. McCampbell Save Fredonia Man Some Money.

The value of the state live stock registry board to the stockmen of the state has again been demonstrated. P. C. Young, an attorney from Fredonia, and James A. Allen, an attorney from Chanute, were at the College this week looking up the records of a stallion which a man in Fredonia had purchased. This animal was represented as having a pedigree of value but information obtained at the office of C. W. McCampbell, secretary of the Kansas State Livestock Registry board, enabled the attorneys to secure the exact pedigree of the animal. The name of the breeder of the animal was secured and the man in Fredonia who purchased the animal was able to get back his money, which amounted to something like a $1000 in this case.

PREPARE PANAMA EXHIBITS

RECOGNIZE WORK BEING DONE

Animal Husbandry Department Will Prepare One-Third of all Livestock Exhibits—Give Students and Faculty Chance to See Exhibits.

Because of the outstanding investigational work being done by the Kansas Agricultural Experiment Station, located at the College, Dr. A. C. True, government agent who has charge of all the state experiment stations in the United States, has asked the Kansas station to prepare two-thirds of all the exhibits of agronomical work and one-third of all the exhibits of livestock research work which will be shown at the Panama Pacific Exposition. There are 48 state experiment stations in the United States, thus this request comes as a high recognition of the work being done by the station here. Dean Wm. M. Jardine is in charge of the Kansas station.

Three cases of exhibits will be sent. They will be put on display for the benefit of the faculty and student body before they are shipped to the exposition. The agronomy department, the department of milling industry, and the animal husbandry department will each have an exhibit case.

Large Agronomy Exhibit.

The agronomy department will show the results of its investigations in preparing seed beds for wheat and the results of its work in developing more profitable strains of wheat through breeding and selection of seed. This refers both to the milling and yielding qualities of the grain. The department will also show the changes in quality of wheat that result from growing the same seed in different parts of the state or from growing the same seed during different seasons, the exhibit proving that the physical appearance of the seed has no effect upon its progeny.

Exhibit Milling Products.

The milling department will show graphically the amount of flour a bushel of hard Red Winter wheat will make compared to the amount of flour a bushel of soft California white wheat will make. The results are very much in favor of the Kansas product. The milling exhibit will also include a display of the different grades of flour and the separations, such as bran and shorts, secured.

Show Livestock Results.

The animal husbandry department will give graphic representations of the results secured from its nutrition experiments carried on with cattle and hogs. The growth of the animals will be shown by means of charts, curves, and photographs.

The engineering shops are building the cases for the exhibits. The cases represent the highest type of work and quality. The exhibits will be completed and ready for shipment in about ten days.

ELECT SUFFRAGETTE TICKET

Votes for women! So read a sign at either end of Main hall last Thursday morning. The suffragette campaign in the sophomore class was on. A lively election was held in which the suffragettes, assisted by some of the over gallant male members of the class, placed all of their nominees in office, with one exception in which the vote was a tie. The anti-suffragettes declare that they will contest the election on the grounds that it was unconstitutional.

The officers elected for the winter term are: president, Stella Gould; vice president, Martha Blaine; secretary, Mary Weible; treasurer, Madge Thompson; marshal, tie vote, no election; ass't. marshal, Zora Harris; historian, Lora Mueller.

Eurodelphians Elect.

The officers of the Eurodelphian literary society for the winter term are: president, Valeda Downing; vice president, Pauline Parkhurst; recording secretary, Frieda Stuewe; corresponding secretary, Dale Newell; critic, Esther St. John; treasurer, Minnie Gugenham; marshal, Ruth Barnes; reporter, Laura Ramsey.

'DAD' KNOWS STUDENT PROBLEMS

So Says Morningside Paper About "Dad" Elliott's Work.

In speaking of the work of "Dad" Elliott at Morningside university, the Collegian Reporter has the following to say:

"The work of "Dad" needs no explanation. He knows student problems and how they can be met as perhaps very few do. He is absolutely fair and square; in a straight-forward, clear-cut way he presents his message in college parlance. "Dad" did not pretend to preach; he simply presented what he knew to be true in terms which everyone was acquainted with. Every man had to face the claim of the christian life. Each night he spoke to a larger audience than the night before.

"God is the most marvelous appeal made to the human race, and Jesus is the human side of that appeal. So stated Dr. Gunsaulus in his chapel address two weeks ago. May we not say, 'Just as Jesus is the human side of the Father God's appeal, so "Dad" Elliott is the college man's human side of Jesus?' Seldom, if ever, do men hear as strong an appeal as that made by "Dad" for them to clean up their lives and stand boldly for the things they know to be right. There is probably not a man in Morganside who hearing "Dad," did not resolve to live a better life. How long, men, will you stick to those resolutions? Will you turn out to be a "quitter?" We have no sympathy for a quitter on the football field. Do you suppose God wants a quitter in his ranks? If you have vowed to live a clean life, then live it and stand firm for the principals of christianity. We are thankful "Dad" could be with us even for a few days and we bid him God-speed in the wonderful work he is doing for college men."

"Dad" Elliott will have charge of the Y. M. C. A. campaign which will start off next Wednesday. The meetings of this campaign will be held in the College auditorium

FORMER INSTRUCTOR KILLED

Otto Maurer was Killed While Fighting With Germans at Varneton.

Word has just been received of the death of Otto Maurer, a former instructor in bacteriology at the College. The deceased left this institution about two years ago and was in Munich, Germany, at the outbreak of the war doing research work. He joined the German colors and was killed on November 5 near Varneton in a charge on English trenches.

THE COLLEGIAN BOARD MET.

Sixteen members of the Collegian board met in the Mercury office Wednesday night. This was the first meeting of the board since school opened last fall. Business was transacted and Miss Edith Updegraff elected to the position of society editor. W. F. Smith was elected to the presidency of the board to fill the vacancy created by the graduation of W. A. Sumner last spring. Those organizations who have membership in the board should see to it that they have a representative on the board.

ELLIOT CAMPAIGN TO START

Hold First Meeting in College Auditorium Next Thursday Evening—Students Show Interest.

The leaders of the Y. M. C. A. who are responsible for the coming of "Dad" Elliott and the other leaders next week are trying to keep the Y. M. C. A. in the background, making these meetings a truly student affair. Different student groups have promised to co-operate and from present indications a representative body of students will be in their seats when "Dad" gives his first talk next Thursday evening. Members of the faculty have expressed themselves in hearty sympathy with the objects of these meetings.

In order to get the importance of attendance before the students each street has been put in charge of a captain, who in turn has a leader for each block. This leader then has a representative in each house. A personal invitation together with the advertising matter has thus been given to practically all of the men of the institution.

A workers supper on Wednesday evening will be held at the Congregational church at which time the outside leaders together with the different committeemen who have been pushing the campaign will meet. A number of short talks will be given and the workers will have a chance to meet Mr. Elliott and the other leaders.

The first meeting wil begin at 6:45 Thursday evening, closing in itime for the basketball game at 8:15. Mr. Elliott wil speak to the men in the auditorium and Mr. Heinzman or Mr. Hoffman to the women in the old chapel.

MATHEMATICAL CLUB TO MEET.

First Meeting of the Winter Term Will Be Held Today

The Mathematical club of the College will hold its first meeting of the winter term today. Prof. A. E. White will give a paper on, "History of Angular Measurements." "History of the Trisection of an Angle," will be the subject of the paper to be given by J. H. Flora. R. S. Kirk will give a talk on, 'Magic Squares for 1915."

AG. SOCIETY WILL MEET.

Program Monday Will Consist of Illustrated Lectures.

The Agricultural society will meet Monday evening at 8 o'clock in C-26. Pres. H. J. Waters will give an illustrated lecture on "Ancient and Modern Farming in the Orient." Prof. H. F. Roberts will give an illustrated talk, "The Worth of Luther Burbank." During the coming weeks the society aims to make some research work on the cost of running each division of the College, the work done, and experiments carried on. The society is very anxious that the short course students attend these meetings and extends an invitation to every agricultural student in the institution.

AGGIES WIN

ICHABODS CAME CONFIDENT OF VICTORY BUT RETURNED WITH ACRID TASTE OF DEFEAT UPON THEIR PALATES.

FINAL SCORE WAS 26 TO 23

Was Fastest Game Seen on Nichols Court in Years—Jones Started Scoring, Aggies Leading at End of Half by 15 to 11.

(By E. H. Smith.)

The Ichabods came to Aggieville confident of victory and returned to Washburn town with the acrid taste of defeat upon their palates. The Mernerites played the game of their lives last night and won 26 to 23. The game was the fastest seen on Nichols court since the Nebraska battle three years ago. Every Aggie went into the game to do his best and the result upset the calculations of many of the local dopesters.

Aggies Lead at End of Half.

To Captain Jones went the honor of the first score, a pretty flip from the field. Captain Ream then tossed a counter of the free throw variety, and the battle was on in earnest. At the end of the half the Aggies led 15 to 11. Captain Ream was the only Ichabod able to count for that team in the opening period. Bengston and Adams scored from the field for the Mernerites in the opening half and Captain Jones counted three free tosses, the limit of his opportunities.

McIlrath Replaces Leonard.

Early in the second half the Ichabods mounted in their score column, Captain Ream doing the heaviest scoring for his team again. In this period two other Washburn players landed the ball in the basket but were unable to repeat. McIlrath went into the battle to replace Leonard in the final minutes when the Ichabods had crept close to the Aggie score. The lanky center tipped a pretty tally into the basket and the Aggies were off on another scoring expedition that landed the game in their favor.

Open Up in Final Minutes.

Neither team opened up and played its best until the final minutes of the encounter. The Washburn team delayed the game by much useless passing over the court and lost many opportunities to count due to the close guarding of the Aggies defense. Captain Jones and McMillen did good work throughout the game and were always under the enemy's basket when the fight was the thickest. Adams and Bengston played the floor well and shot the baskets with deadly aim. Bengston displayed his usual coolheadedness. For the Ichabods, their whole life lay in their leader, Captain Dwight Ream. This player tallied all but four of his team's points and was up and at 'em from start to finish. The lineup:

ENROLLMENT AT A STANDSTILL.

Total Attendance for the Year Including Summer School is 3003.

Enrollment for the term is at a standstill, that is the new students who are coming in balance those who are dropping out. The total enrollment for the term still stands 2499. The total attendance for the year, summer school, fall term, and winter term, is 3003. The total attendance for the entire three terms and summer school last year was 3027, thus this mark will be easily passed before this year is over.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 16, 1915.

So nigh is grandeur to our dust,
So near is God to man,
When Duty whispers low, Thou must,
The youth replies, I can.
—Emerson.

DO IT NOW.

Procrastination, that spirit of dilatoriness which has caused so many delays and failures, is one of the worst evils of the age. Take it in a young fellow who is attending college. He has all his life before him and it will be just what he makes it. If he pushes things off from one day to the next, delays one thing in order to accomplish another, it will be the same way when he gets out in the world. In the world of business he cannot be successful, for there things must be done on the instant, the opportunity must be snatched up when it presents itself.

In this twentieth century, in this electrical era, in this age of hurry and bustle, the man who succeeds is the one who strikes while the iron is hot. He is not familiar with the 57 different ways of putting things off from day to day. He does not let the idea of putting a thing off come into his mind. In fact his mind is so well trained that it sets instantly to work to analyze the problem set before it.

The college student is more likely to fall into the habit of procrastinating than any other young person. It is easy to shove certain things off from day to day. Then there are certain things which are not exactly agreeable, and it causes no compunction of conscience to put them off indefinitely. Right here the college student is making the worst mistake of his life. He is forming a habit which will remain with him through life, and which will place a terrible handicap upon him when he strikes out for himself. Constant delays will cost him his position, and he will find that what promised to be a successful career has been blighted by the one thing—procrastination.

The young fellow who gets the "Do it Now" spirit while he is in college is the one who will add another volume to literature, who will invent a new device which will revolutionize an industry, who will work out principles of government which will make the world take notice, who will discover a planet, bring out a new work in nature, solve problems which have baffled the ages. Acquire the twentieth century characteristic, the "Do it Now" spirit, and the future cannot but be a success.

REJOICE IN THE LORD.

Rejoice in the Lord, ye righteous; and give thanks at the remembrance of his holiness.—Psalms xcvii, 12.

NEWS IN THE ADS.

A well written advertisement is always also a news item. It tells what, where and for how much. It is the advertisr who spaks and it is the reader who gets the message. It is glad news for both. There is pleasure in knowing that you can part with something to supply another's need, just as it is a pleasure to know where you can get something that is much desired.

The news in the advertisements is good all the year around. If there is any difference at Christmas time, it lies in the fact that the service is rendered to a greater number of persons, many of whom do comparatively little buying of the sort at other seasons of the year. Mothers, wives, daughters, sisters and sweethearts have to be bought for at Christmas time. And where is the man who knows how to shop? Really, he doesn't exist. The merchants have to write advertisements to tell him how to behave, what to choose and where to choose it. They have to pave the way for him to save him from sinking at th first obstacle, into a quagmire of embarrassment and defeat. They are doing it well, this year.—Columbia Dispatch.

is in the Missouri Valley Conference and for that reason if for no other cannot match games with professional teams.

Several of the College ball tossers have been working out in the gymnasium this week. Coach Lowman expects to call out some of the men next week if he can arrange his work satisfactorily. A little track work and a few games of hand ball will put the men in tip-top shape.

"Stub" Brodell will not be in school this spring and his absence leaves another hole for the coach to plug. In spite of the abundant material on the freshman squad last year, the turning out of a winning baseball team this year will prove quite a task.

Manager "Red" Agnew of the senior basketball team refuses to be interviewed concerning his team and plans, but after noting the seniors' success with the I. C. S. method last fall we assume that the team will be trained along the same lines.

TRACK ATHLETES ARE BUSY

LOSS OF CAPTAIN HELT AND TEETER WILL NOT BE SO KEENLY FELT AS WAS THOUGHT AT FIRST.

NEW MATERIAL SHOWS UP WELL

(By E. H. Smith.)

Judging from the way the new track material is showing up in the daily workouts under Coach Carl Merner, the loss to this year's squad of Captain P. R. Helt and C. L. Teeter will not be as keenly felt as had been thought. Of the two veterans the Wamego two-miler will be missed the most. Teeter made a new Aggie 2-mile record last spring when he stepped the distance in 9:56 against the Emporia Normals. His work on the indoor path last winter was not equal to his outdoor running, but would have been good enough to insure the Aggies many points against this season's opponents. Teeter will return to College next term.

Have Good Dash Men.

Vandenberg, Osborne, and Crumbacker, are showing up best in the short dash workouts. Osborne and Crumbacker were members of lost year's freshmen squad and did particularly good work in the dash events. Vandenberg competed in the short dash against the Jayhawkers at Lawrence last year, but failed to place. His work is much improved this season and Coach Merner is placing a great deal of confidence in him. Holyrod is trying out for the short dash but seems to lack the starting ability necessary to get away in this event. He is expected to show up well in the quarter mile event.

Long Distance Men at Work.

Joe Weaver heads the distance squad. Coach Merner has been working the Concordia wonder on the mile and the half, and Joe is lapping 'em all in each of the races. Wilder, end on last fall's football squad, has the reputation of being a gun over the 440 and 880 distances; but is working with the basketball squad at present. Coach Merner, however, says he will use Wilder in the indoor meets.

Keyes is doing well on the mile workouts and the two Seabers are showing good form. Baird is going through the 2-mile grind each day and is expected to win points in this event. Cromer, last season's hard-luck half-miler, is in good physical shape now and hard at work on the 880. Cromer is one of the prettiest runners on the Aggie distance squad and gives promise of running the 880 well around the two minute mark. "Fox" Collins, captain of last year's track team, checked out a suit Friday afternoon and began work on the mile.

The 440 and relay events promise to be well handled this season. Coith, Lovett, and McGilliard, of last year's quartet, are out and at work. Grandfield and Osborne did good work for the freshmen last year, and will be valuable additions to the team. Wilder is showing plenty of ability in the 440 and may be used in the relay.

Last Year's Hurdlers Out.

"Mickie" Welsh, Frizell, and Vandenberg, will be the old reliables in the hurdles this season. Welsh set up two records in the outdoor stick events against the University of Missouri hurdlers last spring. Frizzell defeated Welsh in the fall tryouts and is slated to run in the high barrier events. Vandenberg will team with Welsh in the low sticks.

Washington, Vandenberg, and Wilder, are the Aggie possibilities in the polevault. Frizzell and Wilder are the best in the high jump, and Marble, Schauper, and Smith are working on the shotput.

Sport Salad

(By Frank Sargent.)

After turning out a football team that was a world-beater, Nebraska is having all kinds of trouble with her basketball five. With three games played Nebraska has three defeats to her credit. The Minnesota Gophers took them into camp to the tune of 22 to 18 and 21 to 9. But the Cornhuskers are true sports and instead of demanding a shake-up in the team or shouting for a new coach they are getting some consolation out of the fact that their men displayed good form and really outplayed their opponents while on the trip.

Someone with a vivid imagination started the report around the College that the Aggies had a chance to play the Chicago White Sox early in the spring as the latter team was returning from its spring training trip. And before the rumor got far, the game was scheduled and a team picked. It is a shame to shatter such a beautiful dream but as the heroine said—"Clarence, it can never be." K. S. A. C.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN.

VOLUME 21. NUMBER 31. KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 20, 1915. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

START THE Y. M. CAMPAIGN

"DAD" ELLIOTT WILL SPEAK TOMORROW NIGHT IN THE OPENING MEETING ON, "FACTS FOR MEN TO FACE."

GIVE A SUPPER FOR WORKERS

Hold Meetings Thursday, Friday, and Saturday Evenings and Sunday Afternoon—Meetings Out in Time for the Other College Events.

"Facts for Men to Face" is the subject upon which "Dad" Elliott will speak tomorrow evening at 6:45 in the College auditorium in the opening meeting of the Y. M. C. A. campaign. This meeting will be followed by meetings of a similar nature on Friday and Saturday evenings and Sunday afternoon. The meetings will be out in time for the basketball game, lecture course number, and literary society meetings on Saturday night.

"Dad" is a Popular Evangelist.

"Dad" Elliott is probably the most popular and the most effective student evangelist in America. Wherever he goes his optimistic and energetic personality wins him a host of friends, and what he has to say, either from the platform or face to face, "gets over." He has an understanding of the problems of college men which is nothing short of marvelous, and it is only when one knows of the work "Dad" did during his college days and what he has done since that the wisdom, sympathy, and "pull" of his words can be explained or appreciated.

An All Western Football Man.

As most Aggies know "Dad" Elliott was born near Gilman, Ill., Oct. 18, 1875. He is a graduate of Grand Prairie seminary and of Northwestern university. He was a star and on the "Varsity" eleven, playing all four years and making the All Western team in 1901. He was prominent also in track athletics; taking part in the dashes, broad jump, and shot put, and was varsity track captian in 1901. In addition to athletics he was active in other student affairs, having represented the university in oratory one year and being vice president of the Y. M. C. A. for two years.

Something of the esteem in which "Dad" was held at his alma mater is expressed in the following words of John H. Gray, former professor of economics there: "No man exerted a more profound influence in the student body for fairness and right than did "Dad" Elliott during his undergraduate days at Northwestern university."

Supper for Committeemen.

This evening at 5:45 a supper will be served at the Congregational church to the Y. M. C. A. committeemen who have been working the last two weeks to make this campaign go. At this time all the outside leaders will be here, "Dad" being expected this afternoon. Hall, Sweet, Grafton, and Hoffman will all be present, prepared to throw themselves into the work with all the weight of their varied and extensive experience. Each one of these men will have something of vital interest to say to every christian man who would like to see moral and spiritual conditions at the College improved.

If the usual signs and indications are reliable these "Elliott" meetings are destined to be largely attended. The whole town has been thoroughly checked up and every man in the College is supposed to have received a personal invitation to attend the meetings. These meetings are sure to prove to be the biggest thing that has struck Manhattan in a decade.

Holds Other Campaigns.

Kansas may well feel proud to have obtained the services of so popular a speaker and religious leader as Elliott. He is just concluding a series of campaigns similar to this one, during which he has visited Northwestern, Oregon Agricultural College, Denver university, Washington State university, Purdue, Iowa State university, and others. After leaving here he will conduct campaigns at Pennsylvania State university, Yale, and Wisconsin. This gives some idea of the status of our speaker, of the bigness of the man with whom we are dealing.

All of the evening meetings for men will be held in the College auditorium. At the same time meetings will be held in the old chapel for the women. These meetings will be in charge of leaders secured by the Y. W. C. A. for the purpose.

TALKED ON FIELD SERVICE.

Major Eastman Talked to Cadets Monday Afternoon.

In connection with the theoretical work which the military department is carrying on this term there will be a number of lectures which will be given by prominent army men. Major Eastman, connected with the medical corps stationed at Fort Riley, gave one of these lectures to the cadets Monday afternoon. The subject of his talk was, "Field Service."

Major Eastman explained to the cadets something about the equipment which a soldier must carry on the march. This included a discussion of the kind of clothing and the importance of the soldier's shoe. He also gave on interesting discussion on camp sanitation and the disposal of camp garbage.

Mr. Eastman gave it as his belief that the city boy made a better soldier than the country boy because the city boy knows how to take care of himself.

HOLD INTERESTING MEETING

Agricultural Society Heard Lectures by Pres. H. J. Waters and Prof. H. F. Roberts—Elect Officers for Term.

The members of the Agricultural society held one of the most interesting and effective meetings Monday night that has ever been held in the history of the society. The program was opened by an interesting talk on Luther Burbanks and his works which are related to agriculture, by Prof. H. F. Roberts. Following this Pres. H. J. Waters gave an illustrated lecture on "Farming in the Orient."

The president of the society, L. R. Hiatt, gave a short talk in which he outlined the work the society intends to take up this term. The work as outlined will consist of a survey on the subject, "What Is the College Doing?" The survey will consist of a brief report which will bring out the following facts about each department; history and growth, cost of annual maintenance, specialists in each department, important experiments completed which have meant dollars and cents to the farmers, and the nature of the experiments now being conducted. It is the intention of the society to have the dean of each division and the heads of each department present the night their work is reported upon. The object of this is that it will give these men an opportunity to tell the students what is expected of a person who follows the work these men are taking.

The following officers were elected for the winter term: president, L. R. Hiatt; vice president, P. L. Netterville; recording secretary, J. May; corresponding secretary, H. W. Schafer; treasurer, H. H. Zimmerman; marshal, J. R. Wood; ass't. marshal, I. W. McFadden.

WILL TEACH MEN AND WOMEN.

College Experts Will Give Class Instruction in Combination Schools.

Five combination schools of agriculture and home economics will, in this month and February, reach more than 500 men and women with a week of definite class instruction.

These schools, which are held under the direction of the extension division of the Kansas Agricultural College, will each be taught by four men and two women. The subjects to be taken up are stock feeding, dairying, soils and crops, and cooking and sewing, and in one case horticulture. There will also be additional lectures by college experts.

The school at Coffeyville will begin January 25; at Mulvane, February 1; at Lovewell, February 8; at Fort Scott, February 15, and at Leavenworth, February 22.

For each school, a minimum enrollment of 60 men and 20 women is required. Because of limited funds only two more of these schools can be arranged for this spring, but with larger amounts available it is hoped that such schools may in the future be held throughout the college year.

Several special schools are also being planned in such subjects ag orcharding, poultry, dairying, and beekeeping.

Will Speak in Seneca.

E. L. Holton, professor of rural education, will be in Seneca Friday and Saturday of this week where he will address the County Teachers' association in session there at that time. Mr. Holton will return Saturday night.

Send the Collegian home.

HEAR NEWENS FRIDAY NIGHT

NOTED LECTURER WILL APPEAR IN COLLEGE AUDITORIUM FRIDAY NIGHT AT 8:30 IN REGULAR LYCEUM COURSE NUMBER.

WILL GIVE "THE SKY PILOT"

"Prince of Public Speakers, First Among Platform Speakers, Joyous and Clean—That Is Adrain M. Newens," says Prof. J. W. Searson.

Adrain M. Newens, lecturer, will be heard in the College auditorium Friday night in one of the regular numbers of the Society Lyceum course. The entertainment will not begin until 8:30, thus giving those students who wish to attend the "Dad" Elliott meetings an opportunity to ateend the lecture.

Mr. Newens is a staff critic for the Redpath Lyceum bureau. He was called to this position because of his peculiar fitness for the place both in temperamental and artistic qualifications. Before the public he is a monologist, that is an individual artist presenting many characters in one continuous story or play.

More Than a Monologist.

Mr. Newens is more than a monologist. His entertaining purpose programs are truly entertainments with great purposes. He presents his characters of real men and women without costumes or make-up accessories. Probably the strongest point in his work is the message that he brings to his audience in every program. His entertainment is the sermon without the preacher, the lecture without the lecturer, the drama enacted without the actors and stage properties.

Mr. Newens will present "The Sky Pilot" by Ralph Conner. Usually he reserves this program only for Sundays but he has kindly consented to give it her Friday night.

Prince of Public Speakers.

"As an entertainer Newens is a wonder," declared Professor J. W. Searson to a representative of the Collegian. "For fun, good sense, perennial joy of soul, Newens is an exhaustless wellspring. Those who heard his "Message from Mars" were "hungry" for more. His reading of Connor's "Sky Pilot" gives the hearer an indelible picture of rough life in the Canadian rockies and a lasting impression of all that is fluest and best in that life. Humor and pathos, joy and sorrow, thrill and suspense are wonderfully intermingled in Newen's interpretation. Those who follow Newens closely from the first are drawn through such varied delights as to cause them to forget the paging of time and to regret that the entertainment is not longer, although they have more than read a book in a single evening. Prince of public speakers, first among platform entertainers, superbly human, joyous, and clean—that is Adrain M. Newens."

200 CONTEST FOR PLACES

MUCH INTEREST IS BEING SHOWN IN DEBATING CIRCLES THIS YEAR—SELECT THE TEAMS THIS WEEK.

48 ARE ON REGULAR SQUAD

Close to 200 students of the College have tried out for places on the College debating teams this year in the preliminary tryouts. Each one of these people did the actual work necessary to preparing for a tryout.

The regular debating squad, being coached by Dr. John R. Macarthur, consists of forty-eight people. This compares very favorably with the debating squads of other institutions of this size where eight or ten are found on the debating squad. Indications certainly point to a very favorable debating season for the Kansas Agricultural College.

A great deal of credit for the amount of enthusiasm being shown in the inter-collegiate debates must be given to Doctor Macarthur. As a debating coach he has proved immensely popular with the squad. His own personality and enthusiasm have gone a long ways towards getting the debaters into the spirit of this branch of inter-collegiate activities.

The preliminary tryouts were held last Friday afternoon. The teams which will represent the College in the inter-collegiate debates this winter and spring will be chosen from those who were successful in the tryouts Friday. These teams will be chosen this week.

IS WORLD ORATORICAL CONTEST

Many Try Out for Inter-Collegiate Prohibition Contest.

The oratorical contest conducted by the Inter-Collegiate Prohibition association has grown to be one of the world's greatest oratorical contests. Of the 1200 who tryout only seven meet in the final tryout.

To enter one of these contests a college student is required to enroll in the local chapter of the association and to study the prohibition problem. At present there are a number of men of the College who are planning on trying out. They are enrolled in the class studying the prohibition question under Prof. H. W. Davis. There is still room for more members and anyone interested in the question is welcome to join the class.

ROUGH HOUSE TACTICS COSTLY

Illinois Students Break Over 500 Yards of Glass Each Month.

"Rough house" tactics, employed by the students of the University of Illinois in the class rooms, are costing the state authorities a large sum of money each month, according to the Daily Illini. It is claimed that over 500 yards of window glass are broken every month, and that but few of the windows broken are paid for by those who break them.

The Illini laments the fact that so few of the students who break the windows are honest enough to report and pay for the damage. The students have been appealed to "to quit acting like English saffragists, and desist," and are urged to turn their surplus energies into more profitable channels. As the university uses window glass of double strength, and of the best quality, its monthly glass bills are considerable. A closer watch will be kept on the gass expenditures from now on.

TO SHOW 4000 FEET OF FILM

Engineers Will Show Films Illustrating the Manufacture of Automobiles at the Wareham Saturday Jan. 30.

The division of engineering of the College has made arrangements with the Maxwell Motor Sales corporation to present 4000 feet of films illustrating the manufacturing of automobiles Saturday afternoon, January 30, at 4:30. The exhibition and lecture will be given at the Wareham theatre under the auspices of the Engineering association of the College.

All who are interested are invited to see these films. No admission charge will be made.

K. U. MEN'S CLUB FAILS.

Suit Brought Against Students' Union for $240.

As a result of the failure of the Students' union, a club room for men at the University of Kansas, Victor Bottomly, president, Russell Gear, secretary-treasurer, and other members of the men's student council are made parties in attacchment suit filed by U. S. G. Plank, agent for the owner of the house, to whom $240 is due in back rent. The writ of attachment was served upon Superintendent John M. Shea, who is custodian of any goods in university buildings. It is said that the furniture in the building will not invoice $500 and there is more than $800 total indebtedness. The Student union was started a year ago as a men's club. But lack of support this year made it impossible for the student council to maintain the union and it died an ignominiuos death.

MEET CORNHUSKERS TONIGHT

FIRST CONTEST OF THE MISSOURI VALLEY PENNANT RACE WILL BE STAGED ON NICHOLS COURT TONIGHT.

NEBRASKA HAS LOSINGSTREAK

Aggies Will Give Nebraska Run for Their Money—Team Work of Mernerites Improves—Much Depends Upon Captain Jones and McMillen.

(By E. H. Smith.)

Along the general lines of belief that a "good beginning is half finished," the Kansas Aggies lock horns with the University of Nebraska five on Nichols court tonight for the first blood of the Missouri Valley pennant race. Tonight's encounter is the first conference game of the season for both teams. The Cornhuskers have played three games thus far this season and lost each one. Hamline college and Minnesota drubbed the Lincoln quintet while the latter was touring the Northland shortly after the holidays. The Aggies have piled up a pair of wins so far and are expected to give the Nebraska Capital City five a close run for the money.

Jones Does Free-Throw Work.

Captain Edell C. Jones donned the shoes of the much-needed, free-tossing shark last Friday night against the Ichabods and made good from the jump. In the first half Captain Jones negotiated every shot he attempted for the additional point. The fans welcomed this display of cleverness, as it means many points in every game to be able to slip the sphere through the circle on the free chances.

Show Better Team Work.

Improvement in team work was noticeable in the Ichabod encounter over that displayed against the Lindsborg Swedes. Repeatedly the Mernerites took the ball away from the Washburn players and rushed it down the floor past the Washburn guards and shot for the goal. Long passing from one end of the floor to the other was conspicuous by its absence.

McMillen Does Good Work.

To dilate further on the good work of the Aggie captain against the Ichabods, it is well to mention the style in which he played his position and also to write a word or so about the classy assistance he received from McMillen. The victory over the Ichabods and the chances for a win over the Cornhuskers tonight may be laid at the feet of these two men. McMillen's persistent fight in the rear court spoiled every chance "Pinky" Beales had. Captain Dwight Ream, rated the sharkiest forward in Kansas intercollegiate circles, was forced to content himself with five field goals; while in the last year's second battle he cooped six in one period and nabbed the game for Washburn.

Basketeers Have Off Days.

"Big" Leonard appeared off color against the Ichabods. His floor work was not on par with his playing in the Bethany battle. A basketball player has his off days and Leonard was probably suffering from this sort of ailment. "Dave" Shull, one of last year's crack forwards, experienced the same sort of trouble. One day he would play the whole floor in demoniacal style and shoot the basket in wonderful form, and then the wind changed and the next game found "Dave" tossing chance after chance clear over the backstop and throwing the ball wild in every pinch.

Basketball players are exactly like athletes in any other branch of sport. They are likely to play a rotten game more often than any other athlete. A basketball player has to be in better condition for a contest than does a five-miler for his long run distance. To race continually back and forth over 4,500 square feet of floor space for more than 40 minutes, and to receive all the jolts that one can assimilate in a game of intercollegiate basketball, requires that the man be in tip-top shape to play in anything like good form.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 20, 1915.

Love is the wondrous angel that rolls away all the stones of sorrow and suffering from the pathway of duty.—Jordan.

"DAD" ELLIOTT CAMPAIGN.

A sincere, robust, genuine, great hearted man, "Dad" Elliott comes to Manhattan and the Kansas Agricultural College today to conduct a four-day campaign for the upliftment of the moral and religious character of the young men of the city and College. "Dad" is a great speaker along moral and religious lines. Wherever he has conducted a campaign of this nature it has been followed with permanent results and a remarkable change in the moral and religious character of the community.

Mr. Elliott is a great fighter against college evils. He knows student problems and how they can be met. He delivers his message in a clear-cut, straight-forward way. He does not pretend to preach; he presents what he knows to be true in terms which none can mistake. He inspires, he impresses, he sets you to thinking.

The first meeting of the campaign wil be held Thursday evening at 6:45 p. m. in the College auditorium. The meeting will be out in time to see the basketball game. Every student should consider it his duty to come out and hear Mr. Elliott at this first meeting. If you hear him once you will come again. He will give you something to think about yet he will not preach to you. He will make you see the issues of life fairly and squarely and set you to thinking upon the problems of student life. He has a message of vital importance for each man in the College.

THE LORD WATCHETH.

Behold the eye of the Lord is upon them that fear him, upon them that hope in his mercy; to deliver their soul from death, and to keep them alive in famine.—Psalms xxxiii, 18,19.

HOLDING CLASSES.

Is it fair to the student and the other instructor to hold classes over the designated hour? Might not the other instructor also have some knowledge which he would like to impart to the students under him? Is it fair to the busy clerks in the dean's office who must look over all the unnecessary excuses for tardiness to class? Is it fair to the student who has a class at the other end of the campus? Is it fair to the student who wishes to use that hour in preparation for another class? Is it fair to cut short the time of your next class?

These are but a few of the questions which have a definite relation to this matter of holding classes over the hour.

You have not fulfilled every duty, unless you have fulfilled that of being pleasant.—Charles Buxton.

THE LONGEST LIVED PROFESSOR.

The profession of the journalist will live longest. In that better land in the sweet bye and bye we shall have no need of teachers, for we shall all receive light from the face of the Lord. We shall have no need of doctors, for there will be neither sickness nor pain there. We shall need no lawyers for we shall live in that ideal state without law or wrong. But when we all get to heaven, each one of us will want to know what the other angels are doing.—The Missouri Magazine.

The recent snow storm brought out all of the "sisters" of the College. They phoned up their deans early Saturday morning to see if they could be excused from classes, but found out that since some of the lady clerks had been brave enough to dare the drifts that they would have to do likewise.

It is rumored around the campus that more than forty students have failed to get back in school this term, owing to poor work done last term The weeding process is beginning and the ones who are not here for work will soon be discovered.

"Every student should do eight hours of hard work each day." So said Secretary Houston last Saturday. How about it, don't you think somebody had better get busy?

"THE SHADOW OF THE CROSS."

As an additional attraction for Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, the WAREHAM THEATRE will show the famous unfinished and unexplained oil painting of the brush of Henry Hammond Ahl. This picture must be seen, it must be seen once and again and yet again. Even, then, one stands appalled for there is that about it that surpasses human understanding. This picture was exhibited at the Williss Wood Theater in Kansas City the entire week of January 4.

HOW TO CUT, YET NOT MISS CLASS.

Use the "Dry Cut" System.

To begin with, Dry Cut is no relation to Plug Cut and it has nothing to do with a Feather Edge Cut. Honestly, it is a system of "cutting" class without doing it.

Now the students know, and the faculty knows, that many cuts are recorded because the student is unprepared and does not want to go to class and get "bawled out." Of course there is always the chance that it may be a lucky day and that he can bluff through or not be called upon, but many students are not gamblers by nature and do take a chance.

At Yale the "dry cut" or half-cut system is used to cure the cutting evil. If a student is unprepared he may go to class, signify that he does not wish to recite, and be credited with one-half a cut. Thus he gets the benefit of the lecture and the recitation.

The system works satisfactorily and is desirable from both the instructors' and the students' points of view. —Daily Kansan.

Open Column

Further Ideas on Short Course Students and Literary Societies.

In the "Open Column" of January 9, L. R. H. makes the suggestion that the literary societies should take a more active interest in the short course students and give them the benefit of literary society work and parliamentary training. This is a good idea and steps are already being taken by the Inter-Society council to see what can be done and what is best to do.

Is it the best plan to follow up the suggestion of L. R. H. and take the short course students into the College literary societies, or is there not a better way? Granting that at the most, there would be no harm done to these societies, is the plan suggested the best for the short course students themselves?

A few years ago some of the literary societies for girls did admit short course students and it was found that their membership was filled and long course girls were kept out thereby. All the literary societies have a limit to the number which they can admit, which is necessary in order that all the members may get the greatest benefit from such a training. This also means that if short course students were admitted, only a few could take advantage of the inducements which might be offered.

To accomplish definite results along the line suggested, it appears to the writer that the first step to take would be to go before the short course students in their meetings and find out if they favor literary society training. If they are in favor of such an activity or can be persuaded to take an interest in such, let representatives of the College societies cooperate in helping to organize a Short Course literary society.

Those who have tried to organize a literary society in their home community say that it is a difficult problem owing to the lack of experience, and knowledge of what a literary society should stand for. The above plan if carried out would help this condition for the actual society experience coupled with the ideas and information to be obtained by visiting the College societies would make the short course students want to carry this work back to their home communities.

Besides the above mentioned advantages, this plan would have far-reaching results for it would not only accomplish all that L. R. H. claimed for his plan, but (1) it would appeal to a much larger percentage of the short course students, (2) it would develop and bring out the leaders, helping them to better find theselves, and (3) it would be the basis of the organization of more literary societies in the country communities. —W. A. L.

BASKETBALL ⁄ TRACK ⁄ INTRA-MURAL

BY ERLE H. SMITH

SLOWING DOWN THE GAME

CAN HASTY CALLING OF THE "HELD BALL" PLAY SLOW DOWN A BASKETBALL GAME?—FANS BELIEVE IT CAN.

"TWO ON" IS DIFFICULT PENALTY

Can an official slow down a basketball game by calling the "held ball" play to hastily? Referee E. C. Quigley made this play prominent in the Washburn contest on Nichols court last Friday night. Each time two men came in contact and one of them had the ball, the blowing of the high official's whistle caused a momentary pause in hostilities. Many of the fans complained that the great indoor game was being slowed down to such an extent that it relieved the players of much individual cleverness.

Spoils Clever Playing.

With all due respect to the ever-watchful eye of "Umps" Quigley, it can be said that hasty calling of the "held ball" does rob a player of the opportunity to use his cleverness in getting rid of the ball under close guarding. Of course many times the offensive player is unable to rid himself of the sphere without violating one or more of the several rules which apply in this instance. And on many more instances the players are so locked that the offensive man is unable to break away and the official is forced to call the play. In either case it seems that the players should be given time to show what they can do in such an emergency.

"Two On" Difficult Penalty.

The calling of the "two on" penalty is one of the most difficulty the official pronounces. This penalty is levied when two men on one side come into bodily contact with an opponent playing the ball. Many times it is called when the players are unable to avoid touching the man with the sphere. The unerring eye of "Umps" Quigley seldom fails to scent the slightest semblance of violation of this rule. This is a good element in the work of the clever St. Marys official as it tends to minimize unnecessary roughness on the part of each team.

Referee Quigley called a foul on "Pinky" Beales, Washburn's clever forward, last Friday night for facing one of the Aggie players on defensive play. This rule is new to the game ond is intended to further cut down the rough work on the part of the defensive player.

QUIGLEY IS A POPULAR REFEREE

He Will Officiate in 29 Basketball Contests This Season.

The popularity of Referee E. C. Quigley, the clever St. Marys official, is shown from the fact that he is scheduled to officiate in 29 basketball contests this season. Beginning with the Bethany-Aggie encounter on Nichols court Monday night January 11, the St. Marys arbiter winds up his strenuous season's work with the NormalCollege fray at Emporia, on March 3.

"Umps" Quigley will work in the following Aggie contests on Nichols court:

January 28, Aggies vs. Kansas.
January 29, Aggies vs. Kansas.
February 5, Aggies vs. Washington.
Febraury 6, Aggies vs. Washington.
February 15, Aggies vs. Missouri.
February 16, Aggies vs. Missouri.

Buy College Barber Shop.

George Bodine and Joe Cooper, popular Aggieville eradicators of facial embellishments, have purchased the tonsorial establishment formerly owned by F. H. Wilson and known as the College Barber Shop. Messers. Bodine and Cooper were formerly employed in the Rogers shop on Moro, and have a list of friends long enough to choke the proverbial ox; who, one and all are glad to see the diminutive razor wielders established in a shop of their own.

To Have Coasting Course.

Plans have been made at the University of Kansas for the building of a concrete coasting course for the use of the students of the institution. The course will be constructed so that it can be flooded when necessary. It will be built south of the campus, beginning near the gymnasium and extending down the slope to the bottoms below.

Seniors can now make an early sitting date for that Royal Purple photograph at Montgomery's studio, corner 11th and Moro.

HOLD INTERSCHOLASTIC MEET

ATHLETES WILL COMPETE FOR TRACK AND FIELD HONORS ON PANAMA EXPOSITION TRACK APRIL 9 AND 10.

HAVE WORLD'S FASTEST TRACK

The Pacific Coast Interscholastic track and field championships, April 9 and 10, will bring together the first group of competing athletes on the new track of the Panama Pacific International Exposition. This track is claimed by many to be the fastest in the world. It is one third of a mile in circumference and is built with a quarter-mile straightaway. There are but two other 440 straightaways in America.

Have Broad Straightaway.

The straightaway is 30 feet wide and will permit ten men to run abreast. The ovals at each end are 20 feet wide, and the graduation into the straightaway is gradual so that fouling on the turns will be reduced to a minimum.

In many respects, the Panama-Pacific Exposition track is one of the most wonderful in the world. It is built on filled in ground, and this necessitated the aid of scientific track building methods to counteract the settling tendencies of the sand.

Track Built in Five Layers.

The track is built in five layers. First of all a layer of straw, then a layer of shavings, and next a layer of crushed rock. This is rolled thoroughly and a thin layer of clay and coarse cinders is applied and rolled. On top of this the dressing coat of fine cinders and clay, mixed in a proportion of four parts cinders to one of clay. The entire depth of the track is 50 inches.

Probably the greatest feature in keeping the track in the pink of condition is the salt water sprinkling system which has been installed with hydrants one hundred feet apart around the entire track.

The following communication from "THE STUDENT BODY" of the Kansas Agricultural College came to us the other day:

K. S. A. C., Jan. 18, 1915.

Dear Editor: Please insert this in the next issue.

In reply to the article written by the editor of Sport Salad, Jan. 16. We wish to inform him, that the groceryman is still able to supply our demand of lemons.

Respectfully,
THE STUDENT BODY.

It might be well to add that it is deemed uncourteous in newspaper circles, to write an article and sign it in such a cowardly manner. It has not been our pleasure to attend a meeting of the Student Body at which any such action was taken, and we have always known that any up-to-the-minute grocery store carried a goodly supply of lime fruit in season. The editor of this column is manly enough to sign his name over it and if the writer of the letter at hand would be straightforward enough to do likewise it would be deemed a very great favor to the Collegian editors.

It is never possible to please all of the people even a part of the time but there are always those who take offense at everything printed in a newspaper. Not content to use the velvet hammer, the knockers join in on the anvil chorus and do the heavy at the least provocation of displeasure. The kill-joys exist in every nook and corner and the world can not rotate in its customary orbit without them. E. H. S.

Football Was a Money Maker at Ann Arbor.

Ann Arbor, Mich, Jan. 19.—The year was a profitable one for the University of Michigan Athletic association. The annual report of the association, made public today, shows that despite a disbursement of $75,975 on the first section of Michigan's mammoth new stadium the organization is money ahead for the year. Football, as usual, was the big money producer. Receipts for the gridiron sport totalled $80,311, which exceeds football expenditures by nearly $30,000.

Guy S. Lowman, director of athletics, will referee the two-game basketball series between Nebraska and Kansas, which will be played at Lawrence Friday and Saturday of this week.

DESIRES EFFICIENT SQUAD.

Capt. Willis Pearce Wishes 100 Men in Company "I."

"It shall be my aim to make company "I" of the Kansas National Guard an efficient military organization, second to none in the state," Willis L. Pearce, the newly elected captain of Company "I," said Tuesday this morning.

"The minimum strength of a company of national guard is now 65 men, and I want Manhattan to furnish 100 men to take to encampment this year," Captain Pierce said, which, in all probability, will be held at Fort Leavenworth, and will make a fine trip for the company "I" boys"

Sergeant Ashworth, company "B," 20th United States infantry, who is now on a 60-day detail with company "I" for instruction, is giving the guardsmen some interesting drills and helpful instruction, according to Captain Pearce. Aside from the regular close order drill, non-commissioned officers' school is being conducted every Thursday night after drill, and will include the subjects of advance and rear guards, flank guards, patrolling, outposts, combat principles, map reading, issuing orders, messages, intrenching, camp sanitation, and other subjects intended to prepare the soldier for field service.

"This instruction is valuable for any man. Military training improves a man's character and resourcefulness by teaching discipline, obedience and self-reliance," Captain Pearce declared, and it is my advice that every young man in Manhattan, or attending college, who can possibly spare one evening each week to avail himself of at least one term of enlistment in the National Guard of Kansas. A great many of our best citizens have had the experience of service in the national guard. The standard is being constantly raised and the requirements of both officers and men are greater each year, which only makes membership in the guard the more desirable."

Gallery practice is now being conducted in the armory, according to the new captain. Range practice will begin May 1 on the company's rifle range. All remuneration and expense is paid by the government.

"Members of the national guard are not required to serve outside the United States under present laws," Captain Pearce remarked. "Service outside the United States would require enlistment into the United States service, which is discretionary with the men. Not a large standing army but the citizen soldier is what the United States is now aiming at."

The membership of the guard is low at present. Captain Pearce desires that any young men who think they might become interested in enlisting to visit the armory on Monday, Thursday or Friday nights. Sergeant Ashworth and the company officers will be glad to talk about enlistment, give information and answer questions. The armory is located upstairs in the rear of the Leader Mercantile building.

ENTER AGRICULTURAL FIELD.

School Students of Manhattan Will till 18 Acres.

The students of the public schools of Manhattan will till nearly 18 acres of land during the growing season of 1915. The acreage is divided into many different tracts. Many of the vacant lots in the outskirts of the city will grow potatoes, field corn, sweet corn, and other kinds of garden truck during the summer of 1915.

The agricultural committee of the board of education decided at a meeting held Monday night that the school garden plan would be continued with greater activity the coming season than last year. The committee is composed of W. H. Andrews, O. H. Halstead and A. H. Hammond. They will report to the board of education at its next meeting.

Fifty-two boys worked in the school gardens last year. Many more than this number of boys have asked for work in the gardens during the 1915 growing season.

Several boys who desire to work more than is required by the school plan will be given plots large enough to furnish steady employment during the summer.

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS CONFESS.

Many Articles Have Been Stolen During Last Few Weeks.

Two high school boys confessed to James Boller, probation officer, this morning that they had stolen the many articles missed in the high school building during the last few weeks.

A football, a watch, knives, necktie, and many other small articles were among the things stolen.

CHOOSE COLLEGE TALKERS

SQUAD OF TWENTY-TWO MEN AND TWELVE WOMEN HAS BEEN CHOSEN BY DEBATING COACH J. R. MACARTHUR.

WILL CONTEST IN 5 DEBATES

Tri-State With Colorado and Oklahoma Comes March 12—Girls Will Argue With Washburn and Salina Wesleyan—Much Enthusiasm shown

Coach John R. Macarthur has chosen the members of the debating teams which will represent the College in the inter-collegiate debates this winter and spring. The preliminary tryouts were held last week and the teams were selected from those who were successful in the tryouts. Twelve women and twenty-two men won places on the team.

Much Interest is Shown.

The idea of Coach Macarthur has been to secure as heavy a schedule as the finances of the debating council would permit in order to give more people a chance to take part in debates. It was thought that the interest in debating would be stimulated. "The response this year has been encouraging," said Coach Macarthur yesterday to a representative of the Collegian. "This is particularly so in the case of the girls' societies. Three girls tried out for each place on the two teams."

From now until two or three weeks before the first debate the squads will prepare briefs on their various questions. In the meantime the members of each team will be preparing their speeches, these being completed by the middle of February. Prof. A. E. Shower of the public speaking department will train the debaters in expression and delivery.

Hold Tri-State March 12.

The tri-state debate with Colorado and Oklahoma will be held on March 12. The question under debate will be that of compulsory military service in the United States. The negative team consisting of Joe Sweet and J. V. Quigley will go to Colorado. The affirmative team consisting of Jay Lush and S. G. Fell will debate with Oklahoma here on the same question.

The debate with Washburn college of Topeka on the question of Philippine independence will take place on April 2. A team consisting of J. M. McArthur, O. E. Smith, and W. F. Taylor will represent this College at Topeka. The girls' team which Washburn will send to Manhattan on the same night will be met by a team from this institution composed of Lulu Davis, Stella Gould, and Mary Polson.

Girls Will Debate Salina.

The date for the girls' debate with Salina Welyan has not been set. This debate will be on the question of the restriction of immigration by a literacy test. The negative team which will go to Salina will be composed of Madge Thompson, Marion Fowler, and Emma Taylor. Mae Sweet, Miss Munger and Mary Dakin will form the affirmative team.

A dual debate will be held with Baker university on the question of Philippine independence. The date has not been set. One of the teams which will take part in this contest is composed of V. D. Bundy, G. C. Smith, and L. N. Jewitt. The members of the other team are J. P. Rathbun, G. W. Rhine, and Thompson.

Argue With Emporia Normals.

The question of federal ownership of telegraphs and telephones will be argued out with the Emporia Normal, the date for the contest not having been definitely settled. A team composed of Floyd Hawkins, D. E. Hull, and W. J. Barker will represent the College in this debate.

Following are the number of girls from each literary society who made places on the teams: Ionians—5; Eurodelphians—3; Browning—2; Alpha Beta—1; Franklin—1. The number of men from each society who won places on the teams are: Athenians—6; Hamilton—6; Franklin—4; Webster—3; Alpha Beta—3.

Dramatics Will Meet Monday.

The Dramatic club will hold its next regular meeting Monday evening at 7:15 in the old chapel. Several farces will be given by members of the club. The program will be open to visitors.

2507 HAVE ENROLLED.

Two thousand five hundred and seven students have enrolled for the winter term. The total enrollment for the year so far is 3011. The total for last year was 3027, thus indications point that this total will be greatly exceeded by the end of the spring term this year.

ARE ERECTING FIRE ESCAPES.

"Safety First" is Extending Over the Campus.

Professor Seaton of the department of applied mechanics and hydraulics is superintending the construction of fire escapes on Denison hall and the domestic science building. The reason that fire escapes are being placed on these buildings in preference to some others is on account of the large number of students occupying these buildings and the fact that the only exit is by means of the front doors which would not be capable of handling the crowds. Another reason is that in these buildings the chance of fire is greater because of the amount of combustible materials around. Thus the "Safety First" movement is extending over the campus.

KANSAS BREAKS THE STREAK

Jayhawker Five Defeats University of Nebraska Quintet 34-17—Ran Away With Heavy Cornhusker Team.

(Special to the Collegian.)

Lawrence, Kans., Jan. 22.—The University of Kansas basketball quintet broke the winnig streak of the University of Nebraska basketball five on the Robinson court tonight 34 to 17. The Cornhuskers boasted a string of four straight Missouri Valley wins tonight. The Kansas team literally ran away from the husky Cornhuskers and the game was exceedingly rough from the start.

DEBATED FOR FIVE YEARS.

First Squad at K. S. A. C. Did Not Even Have a Coach.

The first team of debaters from the Kansas Agricultural College to go on the platform over a knotty question was made up of women, Florence Snell, Emma Irvine, and Effie Adams doing the talking. This happened in the fall of 1910. Little interest was taken in debate then; there was no coach, and the teams were almost constant losers. In 1912 Prof. J. W. Searson brought a man from Oklahoma to the institution, and one of the new duties of Prof. Carl Ostrum was to coach a debate team. That winter the team was ever-victorious.

Up to the present date the Kansas Aggies have won ten debates, tied one, and lost eleven. The losing streak was broken in 1912. Debate and oratory have proven so popular that an honorary fraternity has been organized, together with a sister sorority.

Since the beginning forty-three debaters have made the team. They are Florence Snell, Emma Irvine, Effie Adams, P. C. Vilander, L. C. Christy, W. E. Davidson, David Roth, Florence Wyland, Lynne Sanborne, E. A. Vaughn, J. A. Morehead, Guy Pingree, Edward Houk, L. H. Gould, Wm. Honksha, M. D. Collins, Edna Horton, Mae Hildebrand, Louis Williams, Thos. Harris, W. D. Essmiller, E. Hawkins, Ivar Mattson, Wm. Sweet, Wm. Sumner, Jay Lush, Roy Gwin, Waldo Grimes, W. G. Hamilton, L. Swingle, Blanche Burt, W. R. Curry, James Bond, Joe Sweet, J. M. McArthur, P. H. Wheeler, C. R. Jaccard, J. V. Quigley, Wm. Marshall, W. H. Wilson, Florence Justin, Madge Thompson, and Edna Barber.

The different teams contested have been from Fairmount, Washburn, Oklahoma, Colorado, South Dakota, Ames, and Salina. This winter the coach is Dr. J. R. Macarthur. He has arranged for contests with Oklahoma, Colorado, Washburn, Salina Wesleyan, Baker, and the Emporia Normal.

DIRECT VISITORS AROUND.

All Class Room Doors in Engineering Building are Marked.

The division of engineering has a novel way of assisting strangers in finding instructors, laboratories, class rooms, and shops in the engineering building. The name of each department is marked on the office door as well as the name of the instructor occupying such office. The laboratory doors are marked to aid visitors. On the door of each class room is a brass framed directory giving the number of the room, the instructor occupying it each hour in the day, and the subject taught in the room.

"DAD" ELLIOTT WHO WILL SPEAK TO COLLEGE MEN SUNDAY P. M.

ASK FOR AN ACTIVITY FEE

PETITIONS TO LEGISLATURE CIRCULATED AMONG STUDENTS YESTERDAY ASKING FOR COMPULSORY ACTIVITY FEE.

WILL SUPPORT ALL ACTIVITIES

The initial step toward the introduction of the compulsory student activity fee was instituted yesterday when petitions to the state legislature were circulated among the students. Those handling the petitions reported heartily support from the male population of the hill and only mediocre support from the fair sex. It is presumed that the girls are considering the proposition from a purely economic viewpoint.

Support All Activities.

The proposed compulsory fee is aimed to support all of the student activities of the College. Athletics of course will receive the larger share of the support. The Lyceum Lecture course, The Kansas State Collegian, intercollegiate debate, and every other branch of student activity will derive its financial support from the fee. The fee will provide admission to every form of activity on the hill and also place every member of the student body on the circulation list of the Kansas State Collegian.

W. S. Morrow and G. C. Ferrier head the committee to get out the petitions. As soon as these are signed they will be presented to President Waters and he will present the lists to the legislature.

Miss Mildred Branson was the most successful in yesterday afternoon's work with the petitions and will begin this morning with a clean sheet. It is expected that the student body will take the matter up with much enthusiasm as it means that the student activities will be placed in a position to do business on firm financial foundations.

WILL HAVE JOURNALISM WEEK.

Annual Gathering at University of Missouri Will Be in May.

Journalism Week at the Missouri School of Journalism this year will be May 3 to 7, President A. Ross Hill has announced. It will be the sixth annual gathering at the university of newspaper workers from Missouri and other states to talk over their problems. As usual, there will be evening addresses of public interest by men and women of high rank in the profession. An attendance of more than 500 is expected.

Writes on Child Welfare.

Miss Ada Rice of the English department has just completed the manuscript for a volume on Literature and Character. This volume will be published in the National Child Welfare series which is used by the Child Welfare association of America.

Helps Edit Text Books.

Prof. H. W. Davis of the English department is joint editor with A. M. Thorman, secretary of the state text book commission, in editing eighth grade classics for the grade schools of Kansas.

Walter Morris of Wichita visited recently with his daughter Harriet at 337 North 18th.

WILL SPEAK ON "QUITTERS"

"DAD" ELLIOTT WILL SPEAK TO COLLEGE MEN IN COLLEGE AUDITORIUM ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON AT 2:30 O'CLOCK.

WINDS UP THE Y. M. CAMPAIGN.

"Dad" Elliott will speak to College men on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the College auditorium on the subject, "Quitters" in the final meeting of the Y. M. C. A. campaign. This will be Mr. Elliott's last appearance in public in Manhattan and the local Y. M. C. A. is very desiruous to have the auditrium crowded with College men of Manhattan.

"Dad" has a message for every college man. He makes a forceful appeal which cannot be disregarded. He lays the problem of life before his audience in such a way that each man must face the question for himself. The meetings will begin promptly at 2:30. Each man of the College will be expected to come and bring a friend with him.

THEY SELL BASKET LUNCHES

Two Young Men of the College Make Expenses by Selling Lunches at Sorority and Fraternity Houses.

Two young men who are attending the College have a novel way of making money with which to help pay the expenses of their college course. These young men have conceived the idea of leaving a basket of sandwiches, apples, and oranges at the different sorority and fraternity houses about eight o'clock in the evening and then collecting the baskets the next morning. They trust to the honor of those who buy to give them a square deal, there being a small glass in each basket in which purchasers put their money.

These two young fellows call themselves the "Lunchette Company." They make their own ham and peanut butter sandwiches, these selling at five cents each. The oranges and apples also sell for five cents apiece.

The boys started their experiment Monday night, but one basket being delivered. The idea worked so well that the second night four baskets were delivered. Business still increased so on Wednesday and Thursday nights seven baskets were delivered. Wednesday night, the third night of the venture, 100 sandwiches and four dozen apples and oranges were sold. The boys plan to extend their business as soon as possible and will prepare lunches for hiking parties.

When asked by a representative of the Collegian whether or not they thought anyone would "beat" them, one of the boys laughed heartily and said, "No, we have no fear of that."

Spoke to Teachers.

Dr. John R. Macarthur of the English department gave an address last night before the Parents' Teachers' association at Formosa. Doctor Macarthur wil spend Saturday assisting the high school boys of Formosa in preparing debates.

Judges a Debate.

Prof. Homer Hall of the English department judged a debate in Alma last night between Alma and Eskridge.

CORNELL GETS LEADING PLACE.

In reviewing inter-collegiate honors for the year 1914 leading place must go to Cornell, which gained four championships and one tie, while Harvard is second with three championships and two ties. No college won a championship in more than one of the so-called major sports. The major sport championships have their titles decided only by the prevailing opinion of critics, except track athletics, in which there is a decided inter-collegiate meet. No title could be awarded in baseball last spring, because every team met with a crushing defeat on at least one occasion. There were two championships awarded in the association football, due to the fact that it was decided to hold the inter-collegiate title series in the fall instead of the spring.

300 GIRLS HEAR HEINZMAN

Made Powerful Appeal to Girls to Make Their Lives Count for Something Worth While.

Nearly three hundred girls heard the talk given by H. L. Heinzman last night in the old chapel. Mr. Heinzman made a powerful appeal to college girls to make their lives count for something worth while; to prepare themselves to meet the real issues of life as they meet them out in the world; not to spend their time in "all work and no play," but neither in 'all play and no work." He believes that too many girls waste their time upon trivialities; that great opportunities for broadening and deepening character remain unimproved, and that communities are thus cheated of the service which they have a right to expect from college graduates who are living within them. Too often the results do not justify the expenditure of time and money.

The meeting Thursday evening was addressed by Conrad Hoffman, Y. M. C. A. secretary at Kansas university. Mr. Hoffman spoke of the importance of the examples set by college women to many who are less fortunate, and the importance of the conduct of the girls in every phase of college life.

A financial campaign was held after the address and $300 was subscribed.

M. U. VALUED AT $3,117,743.

Ranks Second in First Inventory of Missouri Property.

The University of Missouri, with 850 acres of land and buildings and equipment valued at $3,117,743, ranks second among the state properties in the first inventory ever made of the state's belongings, says the University Missourian. This inventory has just been completed by State Auditor John P. Gordon.

The state capitol ranks first, with seventeen acres and a valuation of $4,350,000. Third comes the penitentiary, valued completely at $1,954,376.

Twenty-six state institutions in the list are worth $13,216,374.66 in buildings, $1,029,223.01 in machinery and equipment and $2,022,958.74 in other things, including furnishings. The total of the state's property is $19,005,867.13. The state owns 108 city lots and 4,887 acres of land, valued at $2,737,310.78.

SHORT COURSES ARE POPULAR.

Engineering Division Has 100 Men in Two Courses.

The two short courses in engineering, offered this year by the engineering division of the College for the first time, are proving very popular. More than 100 men have enrolled in these two courses. In order to take care of these classes six advance students have been employed in the shops and the same number in the steam and gas laboratories. This gives the students some opportunity to increase their earning capacity and to tryout their knowledge of the subject.

JOURNALISM EMPLOYEE INJURED

Stenographer Fell on Ice, Hurting Hip.

Miss Alice Stoker, a stenographer in the journalism department, was quite painfully hurt Tuesday, when she fell on the slippery steps in front of Kedzie hall. Her hip was hurt, painfully but not seriously, and she may be able to get back to work in a week or two. The Kedzie steps have been a particularly ticklish spot to pass ever since the snow, on account of the incessant drip from the overhanging ivy vines which freezes to the proper state of slipperiness.

AGGIES DROP BOTH GAMES

CORNHUSKERS TAKE TWO CONTESTS BY SCORES OF 26-19 AND 26-20—MERNERITES HANDICAPPED BY CLOSE GUARDING.

NEBRASKA'S WEIGHT TELLS

(By E. H. Smith.)

The University of Nebraska basketball five humbled the Kansas Aggie quintet on Nichols court Wednesday night by simply wearing their lighter opponents down to a frazzle and then slipping by with the tallies. The final score was 26 to 19. The teams played to a tie in the first half, but it was plain to be seen that the Northerners were lost and striving to establish themselves on the large floor. It was during the opening semester that the Mernerites should have struck while the iron was hot. As soon as the proteges of Stiehm found themselves it was but a matter of time.

The opening plays found the Nebraska Capital City five much in the backfield and attempting useless shots from the center of the floor. Shields led in this onslaught of reckless shooting and cost the Nebraskans many points by trying to grandstand the ball through the iron ring. The Aggies plodded along and took their medicine in manly fashion. Not a man on the Merner five seemed able to place the counters through the net. Also the locals did considerable off color work around over the floor, McMillen being the only man to show steadiness throughout the entire battle.

Almost before the echo of the referee's first call of the second half had died out, the Cornhuskers had roped a pair of baskets from the field. Meyers, the lanky Lincoln center, outjumped McIlrath and the speedy forwards carried the ball for the first time during the game on short passes well into their own territory and shot for the counters with deadly accuracy. Cushman, a new comer to the Aggie squad, was sent into the game to replace Adams, and played like a tiger until the final whistle blew. Captain Jones was off form a mile on free throwing and also on finding the ring from the field. Bengston failed to score. The lineup:

Second Game.

Playing in hard luck when horseshoes meant victory, the Kansas Aggies dropped the second game of the series to the University of Nebraska five on Nichols court Thursday night. The tally of the second straight victory for the Cornhuskers was 26 to 20. The Aggies were playing under the handicap of clever guarding throughout the entire game and as in the first battle were unable to attempt a single shot uncovered near the basket.

Lincoln Defense Ferocious.

So ferocious was the defensive work of the Lincoln five that the Aggies were forced to resort to the uncertainty of long shots, few of which landed inside the iron ring. On the other hand the Cornhuskers tore down the field through the entire Aggie aggregation and flipped neat tallies when they were most necessary.

Rutherford Stars.

When the pistol ended the half the score stood 12 to 12 and the opening minutes of the second found the Aggies piling up the tally 19 to 12.

We always weaken what we exaggerate.—La Harpe.

NOW AND THEN.

An old man with white hair and stooped shoulders entered the door at the south end of Anderson hall the other day and with slow and unsteady step proceeded through that congested corridor known as Main Hall. He seemed to observe closely the faces of the students as they hurried by. When he had reached a place opposite the doors opening into the old chapel, he stood by the staircase and seemed much interested in the continuous stream of students that poured through the building.

"It didn't used to be that way when I attended the College in '79," he was heard to say. "Why, bless you we used to come through this same hall with muddy boots and hats pulled down on over our faces until we couldn't recognize each other. Why, nobody ever thought of politeness in those days. If one of the fellws had taken his hat off in this hall we would have all laid for him that night and given him a bath in the Blue. I'm mighty glad to see the young folks getting educated, though. As I used to tell mamma I 'lowed that the boys would wake up some day and treat the girls real courteous like."

He scrutinized closely each person that went through the hall. Several times he mumbled something to himself and then broke out again, "Say, who's that feller? How does it happen that he don't take his hat off? He looks like he might be some baron or something like that. I hear how you got several of them here studying scientific agriculture. Don't make any difference, though, if he is a baron, you fellows ought to catch him tonight and give him a bath in the Blue even if it is frozen over. That's the way we'd have done. If one is polite enough to take his hat off every other fellow ought to do it, and if he don't want to just show him that he has to. You tell him that I said that even if he is a senior and all that and is going to graduate that he's not educated until he can be courteous enough to comply with customs." With these parting words he left the staircase and was soon lost in the crowd that had jammed around the post office for their afternoon mail.

THE TONGUE OF THE WISE.

The tongue of the wise useth knowledge aright; but the mouth of fools poureth out foolishness.—Proverbs xv, 2.

STUDENT ACTIVITY FEE.

Wherever the compulsory student activity fee has been put into practice it has proved successful. It has given the students a better schedule of athletic contests, a lecture course of greater quality and talent, and a live, newsy college paper.

A compulsory student activity fee, taking in athletics, the lecture course numbers, and the college paper, would cost the student little more than he now pays each term for a season athletic ticket. In addition he would secure admission to all lecture course numbers for the term and receive the college paper for the same time. The large number of fees paid would make up for the reduction in the prices of the various activities.

In order to have student support for activities it is almost necessary that a compulsory fee be made. This seems to be the only way in which the support of each student in the institution can be secured. The loyalty of the students has been appealed to until it has been worn threadbare long ere now. There is nothing to do but make the fee compulsory. It is the only way in which the activities necessary to the life of an institution like the Kansas Agricultural College can be carried on with success. Every right-minded, deep-thinking student must come to this conclusion.

A broad margin of leisure is as beautiful in a man's life as in a book. —Thoreau.

Perhaps if some of these people who are having so much to say about the cheering at the basketball games would get out on the floor and try out some of their ideas, something might be dne. Nothing in the world is ever going to be accomplished by standing around knocking at what the other fellow is doing. If you know so much about it get out on the floor at the next game and let us hear from you. Doubtless you will be able to appreciate then what the other fellow has been trying to do.

Yes, it's a little cold going to an 8 o'clock class these mornings, but just think of the beautiful spring mornings that are coming!

Some of the radiators in Anderson hall have been there so long that they refuse to impart any more heat rays to the shivering occupants of the rooms.

From present appearances one would not be led to think that the snow factories of Germany have a monopoly upon the flaky product which King Winter scatters about him.

What's the matter with scattering some sand or ashes on these slippery steps and walks? It might save more than one broken limb.

A GOOD BUSINESS PROPOSITION.

A student or two wishing to earn from $400 to $500 per year would do well to investigate. It embraces a well established business capable of returning more than enough to put two men through college. Address all communications Business Manager, Collegian.

"BEHIND THE SCENES."

MARY PICKFORD in the noted play of theatrical life "BEHIND THE SCENES" written by Margaret Mayo, author of "Baby Mine." Produced by the Famous Players for the PARAMOUNT FEATURES. A fascinating play that contrasts the drama of life with the glamor of the footlights. In the role of the little actress, Mary Pickford renders one of the best characterizations of her brilliant career. Shown at the WAREHAM THEATRE, TUESDAY AFTERNOON AND NIGHT JANUARY 26.

One Good Story.

Unable to obtain work, and driven to desperation by hunger, an Irishman decided to turn robber, having pawned all his possessions except an old revolver. His first victim, observing the highwayman's nervousness and shrewdly estimating that he was green at the work, said, "I'll give you all my money, twenty dollars, for the pistol." "Done!" cried the embryo highwayman. The transfer was quickly made. "Now," commanded the pedestrian, pointing the revolver at the other's head, "hand back my money and march along to the police station or I'll blow your brains out." "Blow away," said Pat cheerfully. "It aint loaded."

"THE PURSUIT OF THE PHANTOM"

PARAMOUNT PICTURES offers the Bosworth production "THE PURSUIT OF THE PHANTOM" by Hobart Bosworth at the WAREHAM THEATRE WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON AND NIGHT, JANUARY 27. This is a romance of Artist life in a little seacoast town. In five parts with HOBART BOSWORTH and HELEN WOLCOTT in the title roles.

Laughing Logs.

Basil Gaunlett, director of the Stephens College conservatory of music at Columbia, Missouri, tells a story of a tramp who applied at the back door of a farm house for something to eat. He was told that if he split a number of logs he would be given his supper and could sleep in the woodhouse. The tramp was too lazy to apply an ax to the logs, but told a funny story and all the logs except one split themselves laughing.

The tramp took the remaining log, hid it under the woodhouse, went to the house and got his supper. In a short while he went to sleep in the woodhouse, but in the middle of the night was awakened by a volley of noisy laughter. He got up and, looking under the house, saw the last log split into many pieces. He picked up the pieces, examined them closely, and found the log to be English walnut.

SPORT

BASKETBALL ⁂ TRACK ⁂ INTRA-MURAL

BY ERLE H. SMITH

TO HOLD WIRE TRACK MEET

MISSOURI DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS IS ARRANGING TELEGRAPHIC CONTEST TO BE HELD BETWEEN MISSOURI AND DRAKE.

MANY ATHLETES WILL COMPETE.

A telegraphic indoor track meet, something novel in the way of indoor athletics at the University of Missouri, will be staged next semester between the students of the university and Drake University, if the efforts of C. L. Brewer, director of athletics, are successful. About ten days ago Professor Brewer wrote to Drake officials and invited them to enter into a meet of this kind with Missouri. So far Drake has not responded, and for this reason the possibility of the meet is in doubt.

Permit Many to Compete.

According to a dispatch from Des Moines that appeared in the St. Louis Republic it would seem Drake will accept Missouri's challenge. In a meet of this kind all the men in each school are allowed to compete. The number of entries in each event, which may be from 25 to 100 in number, is decided upon and when each event is completed the average of the number entered in each event is made and compared by the two schools. The average of the fifty best performances count one point, while the best individual performance counts one point.

If Missouri has a meet of this kind with Drake, it will be the first one in the history of the school and the second for Drake. Last year Drake defeated Nebraska in a telegraphic meet. More than 250 Drake students took part in the meet.

Brings Out Material.

Professor Brewer says that a meet of this kind is one of the best possible means of finding good athletic material. In such a contest there is not only competition between the two schools, but in addition thereto there is also competition between the individual contestants in each school.

The telegraphic meet, one in which the average number of contestants is the winning basis, is the invention of a newspaper man, a former Drake athlete.

SOPHS STRONG IN CLASS RACE

SECOND YEAR MEN HAVE DEFEATED BOTH SENIORS AND FRESHMEN—THIRD YEAR MEN ARE RUNNING STRONG.

SENIORS HAVE SOME QUINTET.

Interclass Basketball Standing.

	P'l'd	W	L	Pcg.
Sophomores	2	2	0	.1000
Seniors	2	1	1	.500
Freshmen	2	1	1	.500
Juniors	2	0	2	.000

Result of Games.

Seniors 19; Juniors 7.
Sophomores 18; Freshmen 8.
Sophomores 29; Seniors 8.
Freshmen 19; Juniors 12.

The sophomores are leading the interclass basketball race with a percentage of .1000 having defeated the seniors and freshmen. The seniors and freshmen are tied for second place with one win and one defeat to the credit of each team. The third year men are running strong in the cellar and from the looks of the various teams in the initial round, the juniors are about due to wind up in the fourth position.

There is little doubt but that the strong soph aggregation will win the championship as that class is represented by some of the very best basketeers in college. Burch, a strong forward on the second year team, was considered a sure thing for this season's varsity but failed to pass up the required number of hours work last term and turned ineligible. Green and Thomas are players of exceptional ability and the other members of the soph team are clever exponents of the indoor game.

No Promising Material Out.

So far, this year's tyro squad has unearthed nothing in the basketball line that even gives fair promise of developing into good varsity timber. Van Trine, a freshman from Salina, is probably the best man on the squad but he is hindered by lack of avoirdupois.

It is to the senior quintet that the grand prize for a make-shift team must go. In the opening game of the series the seniors defeated the juniors. With such old war horses as "Shorty" Fowler, "Fritz" Milner, Archie Marble, "E. H.," and Sargent, the upperclassmen have been plodding along through their games worrying the life out of the better teams. It is a safe bet that the seniors will be in the fight for second place honors. Fowler and Milner failed to show up when the referee called the highbrows into battle with the sophs the other day or the score might have been different.

Seniors can now make an early sitting date for that Royal Purple photograph at Montgomery's studio, corner 11th and Moro.

Adams failed to make good in either of the Nebraska encounters. Of course the little boy was hindered in his goal tries somewhat by the close guarding of Captain Hawkins. But even this close guarding should not have kept the mate of Eve from playing a wee tiny bit of team work with his brother forwards. Several times in the second game Reynolds stood ready to shoot the sphere through the ring—and all alone too. But seldom did the ball come his way.

Rutherford, fresh in the game for the Nebraskans, ruined the Aggie chances when he slipped down the floor past the Aggie rear guard and tossed three field scores. These, coupled with a pair from the lucky mitts of Shields, proved the undoing of the Mernerites.

Hammering Wears Out Aggies.

The Cornhuskers carried too much weight and too good knowledge of its advantages over a lighter opponent in each contest. The continual hammering which the Aggie lightweights received on every play near their basket wore them down to such a condition that playing in form was an impossibility. The purple quintet was noticably off on connections with the basket. The eye seemed good as many of the shots went right onto the rim of promise and then rolled off.

Shields, Meyers, and Rutherford played well for the Nebraskans, and Captain Jones, McMillen, and Reynolds, did best for the Aggies. The lineup:

Sport Salad

Some college newspapers are a cross between a patent medicine almanac and a Bible tract.

Freshman baseball has begun at the University of Pennsylvania, with the reporting of twenty-four candidates.

Alumni of Princeton University recently formed the Alumni Track Association, to stimulate interest in the sport.

"Jumbo" Stiehm, chief engineer of the Nebraska Stiehm Roller of last fall, did not accompany the team. T. A. Williams, treasurer of the athletic association at Lincoln is acting as chaperon for the Cornhuskers.

Among other things the Nebraska series was instrumental in unearthing another set of cheer-leaders. Fairchild and Mosier made a valiant attempt to fill the shoes left vacant by 'Dud' and 'Stubby' but the boots appear to be a trifle too large.

Shields, the big Nebraska guard, got away with some sensational goal shooting in the first game of the series. Early in the first half he made one of the most difficult shots possible, when, standing just within bounds, at the end of the court he scored a clean field goal.

It must be a trifle annoying to play on a team with a man like Shields of Nebraska. Not that the husky Cornhusker is not some real class as a basketeer; Oh my no! But this same Shields is one of those fellows who simply will not play the ball farther down the floor than he has to, and then he shoots. No matter how far or how close, when the big lad saw the net around the iron ring the call of the shooting game was upon him; and it was seldom that his long shots tallied the necessary two points.

SOCIETIES CHOOSE ORATORS

ORATORS WHO WILL TAKE PART IN INTER-SOCIETY ORATORICAL CONTEST BEGIN HARD WORK THIS WEEK.

HOLD CONTEST FEBRUARY 20

Judges from Harvard, Cornell and Chicago will Criticize Thought and Composition of Orations—Titles of Orations not Announced Yet.

This week marks the beginning of hard work for the orators who will take part in the Inter-Society Oratorical contest which will take place February 20. The societies have chosen their representatives by a process of elimination. The English department, principally, has been doing the judging.

It is too early to secure the titles of the orations as many of the orators have not yet made a definite choice of subject. Judges from Harvard, Cornell, and Chicago wil criticize the thought and composition of the orations in the contest.

The orators are: Athenians, Paul Loomis; Brownings, Effie Carp; Hamiltons, Don Irwin; Ionians, Amy Gould; Websters, V. E. Bundy; Eurodelphians, Emma Taylor; Alpha Betas, W. J. Ott; Franklins, Jay Lush.

EVER SEE METATE AND MULLER?

They're Not a Vaudeville Team ,but an Old-Time Milling Outfit.

A metate and a muller have been presented to the milling department of the College by Dr. V. N. Robb of McPherson. They were plowed out of the ground near the site of an Indian village in the northern part of McPherson county.

A metate and muller formed the squaw's flour mill. The metate is an oblong stone 28 inches long and 17 inches wide, and slightly concave in the center. In this depression the corn was ground by means of the muller, a stone eight inches long and four inches wide. Both the metate and the muller are of granite.

Did you ever see an old-fashioned mill burr? Two large stone mill burrs, owned by the milling industry department, may be seen just outside the west entrance of agricultural hall. The burrs are those used when the mill of the Purity Milling company was first opened.

Each burr is composed of from 12 to 15 single mill stones cemented together, making the face of the burr 56 inches in diameter. The stones themselves are only eight inches themselves are only eight inches thick but the back side of the burr has been plastered with small stones and cement, making the thickness of the burrs 13 inches. Surrounding the stones of the burr is an iron band half an inch thick. The face of the burrs are furrowed so as to throw the ground grain to the outside.

The burrs were driven by steam at the rate of 140 revolutions a minute. From three to eight bushels of wheat could be ground in an hour.

MATHEMATICAL CLUB TO MEET.

Several Interesting Papers Will be Given at the Meeting Saturday.

The Mathematical club of the College will hold its regular meeting Saturday. L. R. Light wil give a paper on, Short Methods in the Four Fundamental Operations. Visitors are invited to attend the meeting of the club.

Dr. J. T. Willard goes to Wellsville Friday under the auspices of the state board of health to address the people of that town. The subject of his address will be, "Eating for Health and Strength."

Pay Senior Assessments.

The treasurer of the Royal Purple will be at the window opposite the post office Thursday afternoon. This will be one of the last opportunities for the seniors to pay class dues and assesments.

Send Him to K. S. A. C.!

Already there is a controversy as to whether young Mr. Sayre, the President's grandson, shall attend college at Princeton or Williams. Why not compromise by sending him to the Kansas State Agricultural College.—Kansas City Star.

The University of Kansas-Aggie basketball games tomorrow and Friday nights will begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock. Through error the time was set at 8:15 o'clock in the advertisement of the games in last Saturday's issue. Remember the time, 7:30 sharp.

COMMUNITY LEADERS TO MEET.

Will Hold District Conference at McPherson Thursday and Friday.

A conference of community leaders to discuss boys' and girls' club work and other matters of community welfare will be held at McPherson on Thursday and Friday, January 28 and 29. The conference will be under the direction of the Rev. Walter Burr of the Kansas Agricultural College extension division.

This will be one of several district rural life conferences held this winter in different parts of the state as a result of the rural leaders' school at the College last summer.

SIXTY TAKE JOURNALISM

More Interest is Taken in Journalism Here Than in any Other Agricultural College in the United States.

That real interest is being shown in journalism is proven by the fact that the enrollment in that department is larger in this College than in any other agricultural college in the United States. There are sixty students enrolled this term.

A course of farm writing is being offered to students in the school of agriculture and there are fourteeen members in the class. This is the only school of agriculture in the country offering such a course and it is offered here for the first time this term.

The "Industrialist" is published by the department, much of the material being written by the students. In addition to this, the department carries on the publicity work for the College and the newspapers of the state.

Of the agricultural colleges in the United States, Iowa and Kansas offer definite courses in industrial journalism. Massachussetts, Michigan, and Utah offer individual courses.

There are thirty-nine institutions in all where journalism is taught.

RIFLE MATCHES BEGIN.

Winners in Class A Inter-Collegiate Matches are Announced.

The first matches in Class A of the National Inter-Collegiate Gallery Competition were shot last week. The following results have just been made public: Massachusetts Agricultural College 963 vs. U. S. Naval Academy 942; Iowa State University 965 vs. University of California 944; West Virginia university 958 vs. Norwich university 935; Cornell university 948 vs. Purdue university 907; University of Illinois 943 vs. University of Minnesota 927; Michigan Agricultural and Mechanical College 975 vs. Washington State College 973.

PELICAN.

For twenty-odd years Pelican has served the agronomy department in the Kansas Agricultural College. During this time Pelican has seen various professors, heads of departments, deans, and presidents come and go.

A beautiful bay horse is Pelican and though his legs are rather bowed, and his gait a little stiff, yet he still trots from morning till night, pulling the spring wagon of the agronomy department. And this is no easy task, for professors are often in a hurry and demand his best speed.

He is a prime favorite with them, however, as was shown last summer when Pelican got an attack of indigestion. The very best of care was given to the old boy and when he was ordered to take a month's rest no one objected. All were willing to walk so that Pelican might grow well and strong again.

Pelican may be seen on fine mornings out by the nursery barn, just beyond the water tower, with his fine glossy neck stretched out of the window anxiously looking for the barn boy who gives him his breakfast bf oats. Should he chance to nicker at you, do not fail to stop and speak to him, for Pelican is worthy of your recognition.

WE HAVE WITH US

500 SIGN THE PETITIONS

LITTLE OPPOSITION IS FOUND AMONG THE STUDENTS AGAINST PETITIONS ASKING FOR COMPULSORY ACTIVITY FEE.

THE FEE WILL NOT BE OVER $3

The petitions that are being circulated in the student body asking the legislature to grant the board of administration the power to put a compulsory student activity fee in effect at this institution, have on them the signatures of more than 500 students of the College. Some opposition is being met, mostly in the freshman class, but this is due to the fact that some definite information is desired as to how large the fee will be.

After figuring with those who are connected with the various activities the committee announces that the fee will not be greater than $3 a term. The committee believes that with close figuring the fee can be made smaller than this. It is up to the students to show the legislature that they want an activity fee. If the measure is passed each department included in the ticket will receive its pro rata of the sum total of the fees.

The University of Nebraska has an activity fee of $4 a semester; the University of Kansas has one of $5 a year. This makes each game or entertainment cost the student ten and one-half cents at Nebraska and eleven cents at Kansas.

The Kansas Agricultural College comes in close contact with these two institutions, being in the Missouri Valley conference. How can it be expected that alma mater will come up with them in athletics and other student activities when they have the support of each student in the institution while here only a small part are supporters?

The petitions will be pushed this week and an effort made to secure the names of at least 80 percent of the students.

COLLEGE TO TEACH BEEKEEPING

Special School in Poultry Will Also be Offered.

Two new courses will be offered this spring for the first time by the extension division of the College. One will be a course in poultrying and the other a course in beekeeping.

The beekeepers' course will be offered in March and April. It will be be held for three days in a place and requires a guarantee of at least ten members before being scheduled. T. J. Talbert, extension entomologist, will have charge of the school. A primer for beekeepers will probably be prepared by Mr. Talbert and George A. Dean, professor of entomology, sometime this spring. A correspondence course in beekeeping is also being planned.

Upon request during May and June, Mr. Talbert will visit beekeepers and examine the apiaries for foul brood.

When 20 people are ready in a community to attend a three or a five-day school in poultrying the College will send an instructor. At the same time, if desired, a cooking school can be held.

The poultry school will include lectures and demonstrations upon incubating, brooding, poultry housing and feeding, dressing poultry, caponizing, and egg candling. These schools will be offered beinning March 1 and will continue until June. In June and July egg candling classes and demonstrations will be given in many of the larger tows.

WILL CADETS GO TO FRISCO?

THEANSWER NOW HANGS WITH KANSAS LEGISLATURE—CADETS WOULD REPRESENT STATE RATHER THAN THE COLLEGE.

INTRODUCE BILL THIS MONTH.

The question as to whether the College cadet corps will go to San Francisco in 1915 now hangs with the legislature. If the cadets go they will not represent the Kansas Agricultural College so much as they will the state of Kansas. An appropriation to send them would be entirely disconnected from any appropriation to the College.

This movement is merely following the precedent set by many other states. In 1907 Missouri sent her cadets to Jamestown, as did Florida and several other states. In 1915 South Dakota will send cadets to San Francisco. It is entirely fitting that Kansas should do so, because the corps represents every nook and cranny of the state, and would exhibit the greatest product of all—the young men.

Introduce Bill This Month.

A bill will be introduced into the legislature this month to appropriate a specified sum for transportation and two week's expenses, on the army basis of 22 cents a day. The railroads will give reduced rates for such a large body of men and the Federal government wil furnish them with equipment. About 600 cadets would go. They would be officered by 48 commissioned and 118 non-commissioned officers.

So far nothing has been said about the educational value of the trip. It has been estimated that such a sightseeing trip would be worth several months of college work to the Kansas boys who made the trip.

Last spring the military department without any aid from the state, secured the title of Distinguished Institution. This is an honor for Kansas and the state should reward the men who did so much by sending them to San Francisco in June.

SHOULD START WORK AT $15.

Fifteen dollars a week is the maximum salary that should be paid to a college man immediately after graduation, according to President Nichols of Dartmouth college. This statement was made recently in an address before the Denver Chamber of Commerce.

"He probably isn't worth that," said Mr. Nichols, "but invariably he will grasp the situation and improve enough in a year to earn that amount. The college graduate is not a finished product and needs curbing."

ILLUSTRATE MAKING OF AUTOS.

A. S. Gilbrist of Maxwell Company Will Give Illustrated Lecture.

"The Manufacture of Automobiles," will be the subject of the lecture which will be given by A. S. Gilchrist at the Wareham theatre next Saturday afternoon at 4:30. The lecture will be illustrated by four thousand feet of films. Mr. Gilchrist is connected with the Maxwell Motor Sales Corporation and has been secured by the Engineering association of the College to give this lecture. All students are invited to hear this lecture. No admission charge will be made.

STUDENTS OPPOSE MILITARISM.

At a Mass Meeting at Columbia University They Pass Resolution.

The students of Columbia University at a mass meeting to learn the undergraduate attitude toward increased armament for America, offered the following resolution, which was carried without a dissenting vote:

"Resolved, That we, the students of Columbia University, in mass meeting assembled, hereby go on record before Congress and the people of the United States, as opposed to militarism in general and an increase in our army and navy in particular."

SLAM PROFS AND STUDENTS

Inter-Society Farce, to be Given February 12, Will Include all "Bone Heads" Committed in Recent Years.

All the "bone heads" which have been committed in recent years have been included in the inter-society farce which will be given in the College auditorium February 12. If you have ever done anything since your arrival at this institution that you are proud or sorry of, everybody will know about it after that night.

The committee is not ready to give out full particulars concerning the plot, but the assurance is given that the "slams" will be distributed to profs and ag students alike. You may escape but your best friends and enemies will suffer.

The cast was out in full force at the practice which was held in the auditorium Monday night.

STUDENTS ENJOY SLEIGH RIDE.

Last Saturday evening the Athenian literary society took advantage of King Winter's gift of moonlight and snow, and with their sister society, the Brownings, went for a sleigh ride.

Both societies attended the Elliott meeting in the auditorium, and then went to the Y. M. C. A. building where three big bob-sleds awaited them. Their destination was the Conrow home on Hunter's Island, where they were entertained by Miss Adelle Conrow, a Browning alumnus. A short program was given consisting of a vocal solo by Miss Josephine Perrill and readings by J. P. Loomis, E. Giles, and R. H. Ferguson. Refreshments of chocolate and wafers were served.

The slight accident which resulted in the occupants of one sleigh being compelled to walk the last half mile into town only served to make the evening's events more realistic. The societies were chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. R. G. Taylor.

ASK GIRLS TO SIT TOGETHER.

College Women Will Occupy an Entire Section at Basketball Games.

The girls' Rooters club requests that all girls sit together at the basketball games Thursday and Friday. An entire section has been reserved for them and all College girls are urged to come and wear the College colors.

Coach Lowman has reserved the section free of extra charge and hopes that every girl in College will come.

Elliottisms.

A quitter is one who will not play in the game what he has been coached to do.

The greatest quitters are in the moral realm.

The problem of the student body of today is not that they do not know what to do but they don't do what they ought to do.

Many a man won't have light for a second step until he takes the step he has light for.

How long will Manhattan tolerate liers and stealers in the class rooms who go out in the world robbers of widow's fortunes?

I hope always to be considered as a man who plays open and fair, who hits straight from the shoulder, who makes no compromise, who uses no trick.

MIX WITH KANSAS THURSDAY

KANSANS ARE HEAVY AND PLAY ROUGH GAME—PROF. GUY S. LOWMAN BELIEVES THE AGGIES WILL BREAK EVEN.

PRACTICE BASKET TOSSING

(By E. H. Smith)

According to those who witnessed the Nebraska-Aggies series, and also the University of Kansas-Nebraska games, the Aggies are not separated from victory over the Jayhawkers by any such overwhelming odds as the scores of the sets of games would indicate. In fact Prof. Guy S. Lowman considers the series Thursday and Friday nights an even-break affair, and the opinion of the Honorable Guy S. is not often found erring.

The wearers of the Red and Blue will outweight and out-size the tribe of Merner considerably. Cole, Weaver, Sproull, and Sorenson are all larger men than any on the Aggie squad with the possible exception of Leonard and McIlrath. And the university lads are also somewhat long on this roughness game. Sproull has long been known for his ability to get in a dirty lick and get away with it. Weaver is also long on the rough stuff but is not in the same class of crudeness with "Lefty" Sproull.

Aggie Guards are eFarless.

In Captain Edell C. Jones and McMillen, the Aggies have a pair of guards that are as fearless as they make 'em. It was a great sight to see McMillen ploughing around over the floor with the gigantic Shields in the Cornhusker series. And the Aggie rear guard made way with his share of the honors too. Shields is inclined to be a football-basketeer and more than once took as much home as he gave out.

"Wamego" Leonard played the Cornhusker series in hard luck. For two days preceding the games he was confined to his bed with a slight attack of tonsilitis. This tended to slow down the playing of the big center very very greatly although he played a mighty consistent game in the opening battle. McIlrath is playing a mighty good second center and in many phases of the game is pushing Leonard hard for the position.

Work on Basket Tossing.

Coach Carl Merner and "Dave" Shull have been putting the squad through the severest kind of workouts in preparation for the Kansas games. The forwards and centers have been receiving pointers and diligent coaching on the matter of getting the spheroid into the basket. In the second Cornhusker game this fault cost the Aggies many scores. Adams, Bengston, Cushman, and Reynolds, have been showing marked improvement in goal shooting in the workouts of the last few days and the teamwork is gaining strength in rapid strides.

Reserved seats for the K. U. games will be placed on sale this morning at Professor Lowman's office. The games will be called promptly at 7:30 and E. C. Quigley of St. Marys will officiate at each meeting.

MORE EFFICIENT CREAMERIES.

This is Purpose of New Work by Prof. George E. Bray.

Efficiency engineering in Kansas creameries is being carried on by George E. Bray, industrial engineer in the division of college extension of the Kansas Agricultural College. Mr. Bray recently visited the Clay County creamery at Clay Center and, although the plant was working in a generally satisfactory way, Mr. Bray was able to make suggestions for improvements, particularly in the kind of fuel used and in the method of delivery to the plant.

Further visits are being planned on request of various creameries of the state. The purpose is to study power engines, refrigerating plants, and other machinery in order that recommendations may be made looking toward economic improvements.

To Speak in Coffeyville.

J. B. Fitch of the dairy department is in Coffeyville today giving talks on dairy subjects at the extension school which is in session there.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 27, 1915.

In the man whose childhood has known caresses there is always a fibre of memory that can be touched to gentle issues.—George Eliot.

WHY WON'T THEY SIGN?

The petitions which were circulated among the student body last week for the purpose of asking the legislature to grant the board of administration the power of establishing a compulsory student activity fee, received the loyal support of the men of the institution and of a great many of the women. Some of the women, however, refused to sign their names to the petitions, although they gave no reason as to why they would not. It is nothing but narrow mindedness and the most narrow type at that which would thus attempt to block a movement that would put athletics on a basis such as it has never been before; that would bring to this institution the best of talent in the lyceum field; that would put debating on a par with such institutions as the University of Kansas; that would enable the management of the student paper to publish a daily such as that at the University of Kansas, Nebraska, and Missouri. Have these students considered the question or have they rather not failed to realize the prestige and strength it would bring to Alma Mater? Surely there is not a single person in the entire student body who, having given the question deep consideration, would dare to be so disloyal to his institution as to attempt to thwart the movement. Every loyal, fair minded, deep thinking student will give this movement his undivided support. Let's stand behind this movement and give it a mighty shove so that when it comes up before the legislature they will know what the students of the Kansa Agricultural College expect. Here we are, two thousand five hundred strong, representing at least two thousand homes over the state. Why not unite in the demand that a compulsory student activity fund be made at the Kansas Agricultural College?

TEACH ME THY WAY.

Teach me thy way, O Lord; I will walk in thy truth: unite my heart to fear thy name.—Psalms lxxxiii, 11

HE HAS GONE.

With what anticipation did we look forward to the coming of "Dad" Elliott to Manhattan and the Kansas Agricultural College. Where is the student who, having heard him and come under the influence of his impelling personality and enthusiasm, does not thank "Dad" from the bottom of his heart for the motives he has stirred within him, for the determinations he caused him to make, for the true picture of life he brought before him, for the chance he gave them to be different man or woman?

"Dad" will long be remembered on the campus of the Kansas Agricultural College. He saw student problems in their true light and struck them square from the shoulder. He gave every student who heard him something to think about; with an uncompromising purpose and a determination to say the truth whatever it would lead to, he dealt with the problems of the class room, athletics, and student activity. Not one is there who could say that he did not strike straight from the shoulder. He put the Christian life before his audience in such a way that each student had to face it for himself and decide the question. He played open and fair, always hit straight from the shoulder, made no compromise, used no trick.

The first condition of human goodness is something to love; the second, something to reverence.—George Eliot.

THE K. U. SERIES.

The Jayhawker invades the court of the Kansas farmer tomorrow evening. Shall the bird return with plumage stripped from its body or shall it carry away in its beak wisps of hay snatched from the Aggie basketeers? The student body will, in a large measure, have something to say as to which of the two shall be done.

As a basketball fan are you playing fair with your team? Are you supporting each man in every play of the game? Are you doing your best to help the man who is trying to lead the cheering? Are you trying to see the fouls as the referee does? Or are you not rather sitting back making fun of the team, each man, the cheer leader, and the referee. If this is what you are planning on doing at the games on Thursday and Friday nights then STAY AWAY. Be it said that your room is more desirable than your presence. The team does not need you, the cheer leader does not, and most assuredly the referee can get along without you. It is hard enough to win a game and if you cannot do something by way of a loyal cheer to help the team along then for goodness sake don't put anything in their way. Come out to the game tomorrow night determined that your team is going to win and that you are going to support them until the crack of the gun.

Lied is a rough phrase; say he fell from truth.—Browning.

Baseball training has begun. Already the students of the College are taking advantage of the wonderful opportunities offered by the icy walks for making long drives for first base. And how graceful some of them are.

"A quitter," says "Dad" Elliott, "is one who will not play in the game that he has been coached to do." Are you one? Are you playing the game as you have been coached at home, or are you lying down?

This cold weather comes quite handy just now. It is making it possible for more than one student to stay in and study for the three-weeks quizes.

Bob, coasting, and skating parties are now in order and every bob sled and pair of skates in Manhattan has been pressed into service.

A girl at Missouri has won first prize for being the best judge of livestock. Would it have happened here?

Now comes the inventive person who has transferred his motor cycle into a bob sled which needs no hill to coast on.

Yes, he was seen on the campus yesterday. "Who," he was heard to say, "put the ag in Aggie?"

NOTES OF INTEREST TO ENGINEERS

By T. K. Vincent.

The Sigma Tau fraternity initiated the following men last Tuesday night Charles Zimmerman, A. M. Butcher, and T. K. Vincent.

The steam tractors in the possession of the College have been given a coat of paint and have been re-striped so that they present an appearance of being new. The large Corliss engine in the power plant is also being painted.

Raymond Foster, a short course student, has recently completed a creditable piece of work in the wood shops in the form of a violin. The instrument is complete and possesses an excellent tone. The violin is in the exhibition case in the entrance to Mechanics hall.

The concrete classes are doing some creditable work in concrete construction. Recently they poured the base for the new steam hammer in the blacksmith shop and also the foundation for the skunk house on the new skunk farm which is being started east of the engineering building.

In order that the short course students in engineering may get better acquainted with the engineering faculty and with the president of the College, a series of lectures has been outlined to be given on Monday and Thursday chapel periods. President Waters will talk Thursday.

Any day during the last few weeks one going through the power plant would have seen Floyd Pattison, assistant in heat and power, hard at work grinding out the cylinder of the Corliss engine. The method of grinding is similar to that of grinding a valve, only on a much larger scale. The cutting material is emery and oil.

The department of applied mechanics and hydraulics is enriched in the matter of cement apparatus which it has. The Bunting Stone Hardware company of Kansas City loaned the College a power cement mixer and likewise the Jaeger Manufacturing company. These machines have a capacity of about one-half of a cubic yard of cement. All persons interested in concrete mixers should look these machines over. They are in the south bay of the engineering building.

The large Big Four 30-60 tractor which was loaned to the College has been returned to the factory and has been replaced by a Big Four 20-40 tractor. It is well worth a trip to the middle bay of the engineering building to get a look at this new departure in tractor construction. In outline it follows the lines of an automobile, having a large upholstered seat, a large auto steering wheel, and the control levers on the wheel post. The machine is capable of four speeds forward and one reverse. At present tests are being run on it by Myers and Cummings, the results of which will be incorporated in their theses.

BASKETBALL — TRACK — INTRA-MURAL

BY ERLE H. SMITH

AGGIE ATHLETE MAKES GOOD

MARTIN SOUDERS, FORMER AGGIE BASKETBALL CAPTAIN, WINS RECOGNITION THROUGH WORK ON SPRINGFIELD Y. M.

WAS ONCE AN AGGIE CAPTAIN.

The sterling worth of Martin Souders on the basketball court is bringing the former Aggie star New England-wide recognition through his clever work with the Springfield Y. M. C. A. college basketball five. There were those who considered Souders a better forward than center when he played with the Kansas Aggies in 1912 and 1913, but now that he is with a team that uses nothing but the best, friend Souders is starring in the center of the court.

In a recent game with Williams college at Williamstown, N. J., Souders was instrumental in winning the game for the Training School quintet 30 to 29. The former Aggie captain scored five counters from the court and caged seven free throws. A Springfield daily paper honored him with the stellar role of the game.

Was a Basketball Captain.

Souders entered the Springfield school last fall and will complete the physical training course in two years. He was deposed from the captaincy of the Aggie basketball team last winter by the ineligibility committee of the Missouri Valley; said committee ruling that three Kansas Conference games in which Souders played during his first year on the Lowman team, constituted a Missouri Valley year of competitive work.

On the Springfield five along with Souders is another Lowman-trained athlete who is making good with a vengance. Miller, a forward, was under Professor Lowman at Warrensburg when Lowman coached the Warrensburg Normals. Miller made four all-state teams during the year at the Missouri normal school. Last fall Schabinger, former College of Emporia star quarterback, decorated the bench throughout the football season at Springfield while Miller piloted the Training School eleven through the entire schedule.

MICHIGAN LOSES "MART" GALT.

Star Halfback Leaves to Enter Business in Oregon.

"Mart" Galt, star half of the 1913 Michigan varsity, has left the university to enter business in Portland, Ore., and, while there is a bare possibility of his return in time to play next fall, it is more than probable that the 1915 eleven will lose the services of the veteran half. According to members of his family, however, there is no possibility of his return to Michigan.

Galt's loss will be keenly felt this fall, for the Ann Arbor veteran was a star of whom much was expected in 1915. After starring on the 1913 varsity, Galt was expected to be the mainstay of the team last fall. Injuries kept him out of every game, however, but it was hoped that he would be in shape to come back in the coming season.

AGGIE TRACKSTERS AT WORK

WEIGHTMEN, HIGH JUMPERS, POLEVAULTERS, SPRINTERS, AND HURDLERS PREPARE FOR MEET WITH K. U. FEB. 15.

AGGIES HAVE SOME SPEEDY MEN

The Kansas Aggie track team will meet the University of Kansas tracksters on the Robinson gym track at Lawrence Monday night, February 15. In preparation for a worthy show on the part of the squad of Merner the local candidates have been scampering around the cork road in Nichols all this term and the weightmen, high-jumpers, polevaulters, sprinters, and hurdlers have been making the life of the main floor of the gym one of much confusion each afternoon.

Last year the Jayhawkers pulled 61 points down while the Aggies landed but 24, in the dual indoor meet at Lawrence. This season with the crack Hazen out of two of her best events and with a dirth of material to replace other men who are not on the squad this season, the University will have a hard time beating the Mernerites by any such one-sided count.

Hamilton Has Two Crack Men.

Coach Hamilton has two crack athletes on his team this year and several hopefuls. Rodky, a middle distance runner, and Reber, probably the best Missouri Valley shotputter, are the sure things on the Kansas team. Fiske, a crack half miler, and Edwards, a mile and 440 runner, are the best of the second string. The Kansas team is also crowing over a polevaulter of 11-foot calibre, but you'll never hear us saying a word about a polevaulter in this day and age, till he reaches at least 11-6.

Last Friday's track tryouts established the first real status of this year's Aggie squad and brightened the outlook considerably. Osborne, Crumbaker, and Vandenberg finished the 30-yard sprint in order; time 3 4-5 seconds, which is mighty good. Frizzell took the lead on "Mickie" Welsh from the starting frame and won the high barrier event in 4 1-5 seconds, which, by the way, is also scampering somewhat. Vanderberg, Frizzell, and Welsh finished the low stick race in the order named in the same time as that of the high hurdle race.

Aggies Have Speedy Men.

Not content with letting the stars illuminate the main floor speedway "Hub" Coith and Holroyd stepped the speediest quarter ever run on the Nichols track in the good time of 54 4-5 seconds. This time, considering the track that it was made on and the difficulty of making really fast time on such banks, is mighty good and speaks for about 50 seconds on the out-door path from each of the men. And then thrown in on top of this pair is Grandfield, the diminutive quarter star from last year's freshman squad, and also Wilder, a newcomer who is stepping the distance in close to 55 seconds. The 440 and relay should be Aggie events this year.

Keyes won the mile run in 5 minutes and 3-5 seconds which speaks well for him. Under competition he will bring that time down considerably although it will be a long time till he catches the speedy Weaver who is stepping the distance every day in better than 4:40. Ernest Baird won the 2-mile event in the good time of 10:29; good time in that it was made on a very poor speed track.

Frizzell has been clearing better than 5 feet 10 inches nightly in his workouts and no telling where he will jump if he is pushed.

Sport Salad

"Slipping on the icy walk and into a puddle of slush is a good proof that life isn't worth living," says the Ohio State Lantern.

University of Illinois athletic authorities have also had trouble seating basketball fans after the games are started. Like the Ohio State people, they have declined to seat patrons after the contests start until the end of the initial session. In a recent game two experts in the use of broadswords mixed things for the delectation of the crowd. Different attractions are staged between the halves of each game.

Students in the University of Michigan engineering department are surveying the mile and seven-eighths course on the Huron River proposed for University of Michigan oarsmen. At first aquatic activities will be only interclass and then there will be matches with the Detroit Boat club. After that, a varsity eight will be attempted.

According to statistics published at Cambridge, over 1000 of Johnny Harvard's sons participated in athletics in some form or other during the past year. In the freshman class approximately 80 percent enrolled in some sport. Track and lacrosse were the only sports to show a decline. Baseball and fencing remained about the same, while all of the rest showed amazing gains.

Nearly 100 responded to Coach Child's initial call for Indian track men, and the Crimson hopes to have a successful year on the paths and in the field. Eighty-four cups and medals have been offered to the winners of the different events throughout your.

Minnesota athletic followers have another winter sport to interest them in addition to basketball. Varsity hockey is an established institution and 30 candidates have reported for the work in addition to the five veterans who have returned from last year's septet.

COMPANY NUMBERS 40 PERSONS

"September Morn," Which Plays the Marshall, Has a Large Cast.

One of the newest of musical farcial shows is a brisk, merry affair which the thoughtful author calls "September Morn" and serves delightfully to entertain he or she that may be in search of real, live amusement. The producers, Rowland and Clifford, who have a long string of theatrical successes to their credit have given their latest funny musical show an exteremely elaborate mounting, both in regard to secenic effect and costuming. The series of stage pictures have created favorable comment everywhere the piece has been presented. The jolly comedian, Leo Greenwood, always as welcome as the proverbial flowers in spring, is the principal of the cast, and associated with this brilliant fellow of nimble legs and funny faces are many happy comedy players who keep the fun moving at a rapid pace. The company numbers 40 and the pretty chorus girls have much to do with "putting over" the tuneful jingles and attractively arranged ensembles. The dances are many and have to do with the famous tangoes and graceful hesitation waltz movements, which are the hits of the leading cabarets and big music halls of New York and London.

"September Morn" is simply delightful from curtain to curtain and Ollie Carew, "the American Gaby Deslys" has made an immense hit in this new fun show.

The attraction comes from the La Salle opera house, Chicago, where "September Morn" had a highly successful run.

407 TAKE SHORT COURSES

THAT MANY STUDENTS HAVE ENROLLED IN THE TEN-WEEKS SHORT COURSES OFFERED BY THE COLLEGE.

AGRICULTURE DRAWS 216

One Hundred Ten Girls Take Short Course in Home Economics—Eighty-Two have Enrolled in the Mechanic Arts Short Courses.

Four hundred eight students have enrolled in the short courses in agriculture, home economics, and mechanic arts which are being offered by the College. "SPOTLIGHT" MAKES ITS DEBUT.

Is Anonymous Paper Characterixed by Slams and Sarcasm.

The "Spotlight" has made its appearance on the campus. Where it cometh from and whither it goeth no man can tell. In that vast unknown future ahead it will no doubt take upon itself due credit for the reforms which it has set out to accomplish.

In the leading article on what one might call the editorial page, that is if the sheet has an editor which we fear to say not knowing the nature of the anonymous publication, the principles of the paper are set forth: "Primarily it"—the Spotlight—"stands for closer fellowship among the students of this institution, for a true college spirit in which all will participate—a thing which is conspicuously absent around K. S. A. C—and for the betterment of all things and the introduction of new ideas, which will increase the welfare of this school."

The most noteworthy features of the publication are its witty jokes, its horrifying slams, and its scathing sarcasm. The paper must be read, however, to appreciate its literary and moral atmosphere. The paper is a semi-monthly publication, is printed in Kansas City, Mo., takes no subscriptions, recognizes no competitor, is responsible to no one, and sells for the price of five cents a copy. Beyond a doubt the next number will be looked forward to with fear and trembling.

College Orchestra Will Give Sixth Annual Concert on March 4.

The sixth annual orchestra concert will be given by the College orchestra on Thursday night, March 4, in the College auditorium. R. H. Brown, director of the orchestra, has had considerable difficulty in getting music for the concert. Some time before Christmas he attempted to secure music from a Chicago music house but was notified that the house was out of the music and could not get it because of the European war, the music being printed in Germany. Professor Brown managed to get the desired concerto by renting it from the Northwestern university. The orchestra is now busy practicing for the concert.

MAKES PHILIPPINE REPORT

President Waters Makes Report to the United States Government on His Investigations in the Philippines.

Thirteen million dollars' worth of foodstuffs are imported into the Philippine Islands each year on which two and one-half million dollars are paid in duties, according to the report of Henry J. Waters, president of the Kansas Agricultural College, on his investigations of the agricultural and business conditions in the islands which was submitted to the bureau of insular affairs of the national government at Washington this week. The report states that every dollar's worth of this food could be raised in the Philippines.

The report deals with the educational organization of the islands. It recommends the merging of the bureau of agriculture and the college of agriculture, the bureau of forestry with the college of agriculture, the abandonment of the course in veterinary medicine in the college of agriculture, and the establishment of a central management for the scattered agricultural stations.

The report points out that the staple crops of the islands should be rice, corn, cocoanuts, hemp and tobacco. The live stock basis should be placed on a permanent basis and hogs, water buffalo, cattle and poultry raised. The islanders have been making the mistake of raising special crops, such as rubber, coffee and tea. The report points out that these crops are not a success.

President Waters spent the greater part of the time from last May until September in the Philippines carrying on his investigations.

A GIRL IS THE FIRE CHIEF.

Girls of Stephen College Have an Organized Fire Drill.

The popular wave of fire-prevention and safety in case of fires which is sweeping over Missouri has spread to Stephens college, a girls' school located in Columbia, Mo. The fire chief of the city has helped the president of the institution organize a drill and one of the girls was elected "chief" of the college. Under her there is a captain and a lieutenant on each floor. It is their duty in case of fire to warn all the girls and if the fire is a small one, to make an effort to extinguish it. Several practice drills will be held, but the alarm—that of "Fire"—will be the same as in the case of a real blaze, so the girls will not become excited if a real fire should take place.

With Wisconsin Glee Club.

John Gill, '13, who is taking graduate work at the University of Wisconsin is singing with the university glee club. During the Holidays the club made an extended tour of the state of Wisconsin. While at this institution Mr. Gill was a pupil of Prof. Olaf Valley.

AGGIES DIDN'T COME BACK

KANSAS TOOK THE FIRST GAME BY SCORE OF 38 TO 22 AND THE SECOND BY THE SCORE OF 36 TO 32.

SECOND GAME A REAL BATTLE

Was Simply a Case of Two Much Sproull and Sorenson—Second Game Was Thriller with Aggies Fighting For Their Lives.

(By E. H. Smith.)

The knock of Dame Opportunity fail to echo in the ears of the Aggie quintet and the gang of elongated basketeers from Lawrence romped home with its fifth straight Missouri Valley win, on the Nichols court Thursday night, 38 to 22. A la Sorenson and then a la Sproull spelled more basketball than the Jones aggregation could muster courage to face and the Jayhawk bird tripped the light fantastic to victory without ruffling its classic plummage in the least.

Kansans Real Basket Cagers.

The men of Bill Hamilton played many-banked game on the Merner stripplings. There were times when the Jayhawks on the corners monotonously resembled the four candles at an Irish wake. And the shots—oh those dreadfully lucky artists in the inherited art of caging basketballs! They could not have missed the basket had they been pouring the tallies in from a pitcher.

Five lean, lank, exponents of the gentle art of massaging the leather sphere over 4500 feet of floor space and pouring discouragement into the lose column of the defenders of the Purple they were. Truly Dame Opportunity's knock went unheard by the Aggies, at least on Thursday night, for it is written that the end of the half saw the Jayhawk leading 25 to 10.

Aggies Make Brave Stand.

And then came the second half and the brave stand of the men of Jones and the rattling good offense that scored points on the Kansans almost with the dying echoes of the referee's first call to arms. But a la Sproull and then a la Sorenson, son of Abraham, and Kansas pushed the Aggie minions away from the forbidden fruit; forbidden at least on Thursday evening. Without further comment we present the lineup:

(Second Game.)

The University of Kansas quintet romped home with a sixth straight conference game by drubbing the Aggies in a five-minute after-piece on the Nichols court last night 36 to 32. Fast from the first whistle and characterized throughout by the close guarding of the Jones crew, the contest was the most exciting of the season. At the close of the half the count stood 18-all, and at the end of the alloted forty-five minutes playing time the Aggies again found themselves tied with the Lawrence team 31 to 31.

Play Off the Tie.

Left Forward Appel shot a close-in basket in the afterpiece and "Lefty" Sproull tossed a free throw and swooped the ball into the basket on a neat dribble up-court, giving the Kansans five points to one lone tally via the free-toss route by Captain Jones. The Aggies scored but one point and the Hamilton sharks ran their count up five and copped the contest.

Reynolds Does God Work.

Every man on the Aggie team played good ball and some starred. Notably Reynolds in this starring matter. This player roughed the Kansans from every stage and shot the baskets well. Adams played in on the teamwork and shared in the scoring with Reynolds and Leonard, each man scoring five baskets from the field. MacMillan and Captain Jones played demoniacal ball throughout and Sorenson failed to star as in the Thursday night encounter.

Broddle Did Stellar Work.

Had it not been for the unerring free-tossing of "Lefty" Sproull, the Jayhawkers would have been out in the cold, cold wintry weather as far as winning the game went. Sproull had both lamps on the ring every time he tossed the ball on the free chances and scored 12 such. Sorenson could not see the basket, so closely did the Aggie defense weave itself about him and Coach "Bill" Hamilton was forced to bench the son of Abraham in the first few minutes of the second round. Aside from the game itself, the leading of the cheering by "Stubby" Broddle was the feature of the pastiming. The lineup:

Kansas University, 36.

PRESENT PIRATES OF PENZANCE.

Music Department Will Present Annual Play During Spring Term.

The music department of the College has again chosen a Gilbert and Sullivan production for the annual play. This time it will be "The Pirates of Penzance, or the Slave of Duty." It is a dainty little extravaganza in three acts, telling tunefully the story of a pirate crew. It will be given some time during the spring term.

Last year the music department put on "The Mikado," and the year before that "Pinafore," all by Gilbert and Sullivan.

The play has ten parts, excluding the chorus. Try-outs are now being made and it is time for the musically ambitious to get busy.

WILL PLAY CHESS BY MAIL.

Harvard Inaugurates Winter Inter-College Chess Matches.

Harvard University will inaugurate inter-college chess matches by mail this winter, Michigan and Drury College of Missouri being met. Each man at either end of the contest will mail his move to his opponent each week, receiving in the interim his adversary's letter and move. With Michigan the Crimson experts will use five boards, the boards running until one side has been checkmated. There will be two boards played with Drury.

Duke Kahanamoku, the Honolulu and Olympic swimming champion, has set a new record for the 100 yards. He negotiated the distance in 53 3-5.

HOLD POPULARITY CONTEST

Managers of Royal Purple Seek to Determine the Most Popular Man and Woman in the College.

The managers of Royal Purple have arranged for a popularity contest for the men and women of the College to stimulate interest in the sale of Royal Purple Volume Seven. The contest begins February 1 and ends on March 1. Each holder of a Royal Purple purchase ticket will be entitled to one vote. Voting will be carried on one day in each week.

The contest will be held to determine the most popular man and woman in the College. The winner of the women's contest will be given a copy of the De Luxe edition bound in Spanish sheepskin with gold edges. Her name will be printed on the cover in gold letters.

The winner of the men's contest will be awarded a credit slip for $5 in trade at Poley's Clothing store in Kansas City, Mo. The winners of the contest will be given suitable mention in the class book.

BURN 50 TONS COAL DAILY

COLLEGE HEAT AND POWER PLANT CONSUMES MUCH COAL DURING WINTER IN HEATING BUILDINGS ON CAMPUS.

EIGHT BOILERS SUPPLY HEAT

College Uses Almost 100,000 Gallons of Water Each Day—Two Boilers Supply Power for the Laboratories and Various Departments.

Fifty tons of coal are being consumed every twenty-four hours during the zero weather of the winter by the College heat and power plant supplying heat to the buildings on the campus and in furnishing power to certain departments. About forty tons are used on the average winter day, the average for the year being from twenty to fifty tons a day.

Use 100,000 Gallons Water.

Almost 100,000 gallons of water are being consumed at the College each day. This is pumped from the College wells which are located near the east entrance to the campus. On account of the dry season of the last three or four years the amount of water in the wells is diminishing. The power plant has had to pump water twenty-four hours a day including Sunday in order to keep up with the drain on the tank.

Eight Boilers Supply Heat.

Eight low-pressure boilers in the heat and power plant are used exclusively to furnish heat for the buildings. Each boiler will turn 4000 pounds of water into steam in an hour. In addition to these heating boilers there are three intermediate-pressure boilers which are used partly for heating purposes and partly to supply power. Then there are two high-pressure boilers which are used exclusively for power purposes. These have a capacity of 7500 pounds of steam to the hour. The generating units in the power plant are one steam turbine of 300 horsepower capacity, a steam engine capable of producing 80 horsepower, one of 120 horsepower capacity, and a Corliss engine which delivers 250 horsepower. The turbines and engines are used partly for the generation of electricity and partly to furnish power for instructional purposes in the laboratories. Even the steam which exhausts from the engines and pumps is made use of, it being conducted through an open feed water heater where it warms the water for the boilers.

The coal which is being used comes from southern Kansas. It is the lowest grade of coal, costing $3.35 a ton delivered at the College. The power plant force consists of a superintendent, one chief engineer, five assistants, and from five to twelve firemen and pipe feeders, depending upon the season.

DAIRY TROPHY CUPS ARRIVE.

Were Won at National Dairy Show by College Judging Team.

The trophy cups which were won by the College dairy judging team at the National Dairy show held in Chicago last fall arrived the first of this week and are now in the president's office. In addition to winning two cups it will be remembered that several men on the team won individual honors; V. F. Stuewe winning second on judging Holsteins and getting fourth place in the individual scoring, A. W. Aicher receiving third place in judging the Guernsey breed, and J. W. Linn taking third place in judging Ayrshires.

The team representing the College won first place in judging Ayrshires thus receiving the Ayrshire trophy. This cup must be won three times before it becomes the permanent property of any institution. In 1913 it was won by the team from the University of Kentucky. The cup stands over two feet high.

The Wyandotte cup is presented to the team which secures the second highest score. This year the cup went to the team representing this institution. It is presented by the J. B. Ford Company.

F. F. Frazier is in Blue Rapids today on an inspection trip.

CONVOCATION,

The College band under the leadership of Burr H. Ozment will give a concert at the convocation exercises this morning at 10 o'clock. The band consists of 40 young men of the College.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 30, 1915.

No wind serves him who has no destined port.—Montaigne.

THE FIRST LAP.

The first lap of the term is over. The three-weeks quizzes are once more things of history. What kind of a tale have they left for you?

They were merely the first inquisition to see whether or not you are here for work or pleasure. Many come merely for pleasure, with no intention to work. The first quiz of the term always tells just who is "getting more experience out of the experience than there is in it." If the first quiz caught you unprepared make a mental note of the fact and see that it does not happen again. Begin to work today and by the time the midterms roll around you will be ready for them.

OUR FATHER'S TRUST.

"The testimony which is constantly flowing to the desk of our Circulation Manager as to the use of The Independent in schools and colleges is one of the most satisfactory evidences of growing appreciation that we enjoy," says the Independent of January 18 speaking editorially.

"The following letter is from Professor Fred C. Winchip of the Kansas Agricultural College: In my English composition classes during six weeks last term we used The Independent as the basis of our work, and the results were highly satisfactory. Of one hundred and seven pupils only four disapproved of the system. I noticed a constant increase of interest shown by the students. In my estimation the inspiration resulting from mental contact with live issues was worth more to my pupils than was the technical rhetorical knowledge gained; tho the latter was developed perhaps as well as it usually is by study of textbooks. That is not saying much perhaps unless it be supplemented by the statement that the work was much more pleasant than the usual study of rhetoric.' "

AS HE REMEMBERS IT.

Editor Collegian:—Will you kindly look up on your dead copy hook and ask the contributor who is responsible for the lack of veracity in the article appearing in your issue of January 23, under the caption, "Now and Then," that if he wants to compare the courtesy and culture of the present student with those of the olden time, that it might be well to get at it more directly than to turn it in as an interview with the students of the days of '79? The man who was a student in the days of '79, who now has white hair and stooped shoulders, must have had more than his share of disease, sin and sorrow, to be in such a decripit condition. If the aforesaid reporter or contributor had just referred to the alumni record, class of '79, he would note that each one of the men is still doing a man's work in the world and the probability is that he is in fully as good physical condition as the aforesaid reporter. In view of the fact that it is only a year or so since your esteemed paper conducted a campaign for manners in Anderson hall, the evidence of good breeding being to take off the hat, it may be of interest to the young fry to know that any man who habitually wore his hat in Anderson hall, or any other college building in the days of '79, would have been interviewed by the president. If the aforesaid reporter will happen around the alumni meeting next commencement time, it is quite probable that he will meet Harry Rushmore and Bill Sikes, and the chance is that he can arrange an interview with them back of the old armory as the differences used to be settled in those good old times. But in the interest of history, let it not be said that any of the men of that day are as yet candidates for old age pensions, nor do they use the vocabulary that seems to be the best the contributor could muster for the supposed interview. AN OLD GRAD.

Thursday a couple of students, specieg shortcourse, were coming up the glare of ice from the east gate, when one of them slipped, gyrated a moment with one toe, ten minutes to six, and crumpled. As he collected himself his companion remarked:

KANSAS TRACKSTERS GRIND

PREPARE FOR MEET WITH THE AGGIES WHICH WILL BE HELD AT LAWRENCE IN ROBINSON GYMNASIUM FEBRUARY 15.

KANSAS NEEDS NEW HURDLERS.

Lawrence, Kan., Jan. 28.—The Kansas track team is practicing faithfully for the indoor meet with the Aggies, which will be held in Robinson gymnasium February 15. Rodkey is doing the half in 2:11, which is exceptionally fast time for early season indoor work. In the distance runs, Statler, a new man, is showing up well and the coaches expect great things of him.

Need New Hurdlers.

Much attention is being directed to the hurdle racers, as new men must be found to fill the places made vacant by the graduation of Dan Hazen and Arthur Perry, hurdlers of last year's team. At present it looks as if it will fall upon the shoulders of Ray Heath to carry the colors in the high sticks.

Reber Working Hard.

Hilton and Crum are working hard in the sprints and should be in shape by the time of the meet. Mickey and Johnson, new men, will take care of the high jump and Campbell will do the pole vault. Keeling and Reber are working at the shot put and hope to better their past performances.

Other men who are working to make the team are: Grady, Poos, Howland, Baker and Greene in the mile; Fiske and Elswick in the quarter; Fiske also in the half; Ainsworth in the sprints, and Ogden Jones and Elliot in the hurdles.

Merner Visits K. U.

Coach Merner of the Kansas Aggies visited the university Friday and Saturday to see the basketball games. The coach prophesies that his Farmers will take the measure of the Jayhawks in the indoor track meet in Robinson gymnasium February 15.

Varsity track men at Illinois are considering arming themselves with head guards as a means of protection against the wild pegs of the ball tossers while working out in the annex.

L. H. Bixby is ill at his home at 1001 Fremont street. He is not seriously ill.

And speaking of long shots, maybe our old friend Abe Sorenson did not slip a few through the iron circle.

N. A. Crawford, in charge of the industrial journalism department, is in Topeka attending the meeting of the Kansas Editors' association.

'Lefty' Sproull, the big guard, made his final bow to the Aggie audience last night. Sproull was captain of last year's squad and this is his third season with the Jayhawkers. Last fall Sproull offended the powers that be by helping stage a class rally the day of the K. U.-Aggie game. An investigation followed and 'Lefty' along with the baseball captain and several other conspirators, was given an extended vacation.

"Slim" Lewis will coach the 1915 Badger baseball squad. He has signed a contract for the coming season and Wisconsin's chances for the Conference championship have improved considerably as a result. He is the most popular coach the team has had in years, and it is felt that he will be able to lead his team to the championship as in 1912. Another training trip has been planned.

He had attended the basketball game the evening before and had yelled with the best of them. In the American history class, the next morning, the reaction came and he dozed in his chair. The instructor noted his inattention and asked sharply, "What was the trouble with Kansas?" To the astonishment of the entire class, he replied, "They're all right! They are, they are, they are all right!"

And the feature of last night's intermission was the revived cheering under the capable leading of our old friend "Stubby" Broddle. Garbed in a waistcoat and shining Waldermar chain (on the other end of which was the customary Ingersoll), "Stub" encouraged the fans to do some of the best raveing that has been staged at a basketball contest this winter. It seems a pity that there are not others who have the required amount of sand to lead the shepherdless flock that is hanging onto the edge of the bleachers pleading for Aggie victories.

VOLUME 21. NUMBER 85. KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1915. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

VOTE YES ON ACTIVITY FEE

AT A MASS MEETING OF STUDENTS TUESDAY 698 VOTE FOR AND 679 VOTE AGAINST AN ACTIVITY FEE.

DEBATE ON THE QUESTION

Three Speakers Spoke for and Three Against the Measure—As Passed Activity Fee Includes Support for Athletics and Collegian.

A mass meeting of the student body of the College was held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at which a debate took place over the relative merits of a student activity fee, the vote taken after the discussion showing that 698 students were in favor of an activity fee which would support athletics and the College paper while 679 were against the measure. Short course students were prohibited from voting since they are a part of the student body only during ten weeks of the winter term.

Debate the Question.

President Waters read the recommendation of the Students' Council for an activity fee which would include support for athletics and the College paper, after which he told in a few words why he was in favor of such a fee at the Kansas Agricultural College. The subject was then brought up for debate, the affirmative of the question being supported by P. H. Wheeler, Miss Edna Barber, and Z. C. Rechel. Miss Stella Gould, William Barker, and John Hungerford spoke in favor of the negative. The speakers were limited to two minutes. The affirmative showed that athletics and the student paper needed the support of the students and that 99 percent. of the students of the United States were in favor of supporting these activities. The negative agreed that these activities should be supported but argued that the fee was the wrong principle. They believed that athletics and the student paper should be put on the same basis as any regular college course and should receive legislative support, arguing that the burden would be put upon the tax payer.

Vote on the Measure.

When the proposition was put up for final consideration before the student body 698 voted for the measure and 679 against the measure, that is they voted to recommend to the legislature that the board of administration be empowered to put in operation at K. S. A. C. an activity fee which would include support for athletics and the College paper, the fee not to be larger than $2.50 a term.

HOLD QUESTIONAIRE ON MOVIES

Students are Asked to Answer Questions on Movie Shows.

The school of agriculture and the departments of home economics, English, economics, and education of the College have made provisions to hold a questionaire on the subject of moving pictures. A list of questions will be distributed to the students in these departments today and they will be asked to take the questions home and thoughtfully answer them.

Some of the questions noted on the blank are: What kind of moving picture shows do you make special effort to attend? Why do you attend them? How many do you attend, on an average, in a month? What is the chief good you get from moving pictures? What is the chief fault you find with them? The students are also asked to make suggestions for the improvement of moving pictures.

PLAN FOR MAYDAY SONGFEST.

Would Have Educational Institutions Sing Songs of Nation and State.

Songs of nation, of Kansas, and of college life, and many other old-time melodies will, according to a plan suggested by the board of administration, be sung at special convocations about the first of May, in the eight institutions under the supervision of the board.

Community song festivals for people in every part of the state on May 1 of each year have been for some time the hope of the board, which believes that the plan will be stimulated if the state schools will take a prominent part in the activity. Graduates of the institutions will be thus inspired to lead in community enterprises in the places where they make their homes.

WILL SPEAK IN CHAPEL TODAY.

Students to Have Opportunity to Hear Vice-Governor Henderson Martin.

Henderson Martin, the vice-governor of the Philippine Islands, will speak at convocation exercises this morning. Aside from being the second in rank in the Philippines, Mr. Martin was quite prominent as a Kansan until about a year ago. He was then the chairman of the State Public Utilities commission, and was greatly interested in educational matters. Mr. and Mrs. Martin and their daughter, Sibyl, leave next week for the Philippines.

WILL QUIG TAKE UP COACHING?

A Rumor is Afloat That Purdue has Offered Him a Position.

Dame Rumor again has it that E. C. Quigley, the popular St. Marys official and coach, will resume his coaching duties this spring. This time reports say that "Umps" Quigley has been offered the position of baseball coach at Purdue university. The Big Nine school has made the major league umpire a flattering offer but if Quigley accepts he will be able to hold the position for only two months.

ARE WE QUITTERS?

The matter of a student activity fee has been thrashed out and fairly won. The student body has expressed itself in favor of such a fee. We all claim to be loyal Aggies; loyal to our state, loyal to our College, loyal to the teams which carry the purple and white—the colors we love—onto football gridirons, basketball courts, cinder tracks, and baseball diamonds. Some of us have lost in the fight waged of us have lost in the fight waged against the activity fee. Is that a sign that we are going to be quitters? Are we going to drop out altogether from things which need and have a right to demand our support? Or are we not rather going to prove the loyalty which lies at the bottom of every true Aggie's heart and show that we can be good losers?

But four more games of the 1915 basketball season remain to be played on the Nichols court, two with Washington university and two with the University of Missouri. Are we going to support them? Are we as rooters going to play the game as we have been coached to do—the way every Aggie imbued with the spirit of love for the purple and white does—or are we going to lie down and quit? The world hates a quitter but it has a vast amount of respect for the person who is able to forget that he has lost and is willing to enter the new fight with ardor and enthusiasm.

Let's join together as one united student body and support the basket tossers who wear the purple and white in these last contests of the season. As rooters we can accomplish much if we are imbued with the spirit that grips our hearts with the determination that the next victory will be ours; that causes us to respond with all there is in us to the urgent appeal of the cheer leader for hearty, cooperative cheering; that thrills the men on the floor into snatching victory from the mouth of defeat.

Students of the Kansas Agricultural College, loyal Aggies all, let it not be said of us that we refused to support the wearers of the purple and white that we were quitters when it came to the show down.

M. U. MAY ENTER BIG MEET.

Invited to Send Men to Intercollegiate Relay Race in Pennsylvania.

The University of Missouri has been invited to take part in the Twenty-First Annual Inter-Collegiate Relay Race Carnival to be held at the University of Pennsylvania, April 23 and 24.

In the invitation received by C. L. Brewer, director of athletics, the universities and colleges are arranged in groups that are considered equal in strength. Missouri is placed in the second classification, and is the only school of the Missouri Valley Conference in the group.

"It is too early to say whether we will have any entries in the relays this year," said Mr. Brewer. "We sent John P. Nicholson to the meet in 1912 and 1913, and H. K. Thatcher in 1913 and 1914. Both of these men took part in the special events of the carnival in which only the highest class of men participated by invitation.

"The carnival is the largest athletic meeting of the year, and is next in importance to the Olympics held each four years. Last year nearly 200 teams and 1800 men were in attendance.

PLAN AN ALL COLLEGE MIXER.

Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. will Give Social on February 22.

The Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. are laying plans for a joint social to be given in the Y. M. building on the night of February 22. This will be the first of several socials which the two associations are planning. The object of these gatherings is to give the entire student body an opportunity to get together in a social way. All the students of the College should keep this date open.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce of Marquette have been visiting their daughter Miss Isla Bruce the past few days.

WILL GIVE PROBLEM LECTURE

MONTAVILLE FLOWERS, NOTED INTERPRETATIVE READER WILL LECTURE IN COLLEGE AUDITORIUM, FEBRUARY 4.

PRESENTS JAPANESE PROBLEM

"Color Guard and Picket Line," an interpretation of the Japanese question in America, will be the subject of the lecture which will be given by Montaville Flowers, a problem lecturer and interpretative reader, in the College auditorium on the night of February 4. The lecture will begin promptly at 8:15 p. m.

Mr. Flowers has a home on the Pacific coast at Monrovia. He has seen the influx of Japanese into this country, has watched them buy up the choice acres of land, and has witnessed the gradual drifting away of the white man. It is a great problem, this problem of the Japanese on the Pacific coast, and Mr. Flowers is well able to present it before the American people. He is the pioneer champion of the American cause and has met some of the greatest Japanese scholars in this country in joint debate.

Spent Years in Preparation.

Mr. Flowers has spent years in preparing himself to be a lectuher and in presenting this subject in the form of a lecture he is realizing the ambition of many years. He has delivered this lecture before large audiences in Boston and the east, and before clubs in Kansas City and other cities throughout the central west.

The Tribune, South Ben, Ind., says the following of Mr. Flowers appearance in that city: "A rare tribute seldom paid any entertainer, was accorded Mr. Flowers last evening at the close of his performance, when the vast audience, loathe to leave the theatre, remained seated, insisting by continued applause upon the impersonator's reappearance."

Single admission tickets for the evening's entertainment can be secured at the College auditorium the night of the lecture.

HOME ECONOMICS EDUCATION

Will be taught in Summer School by Mrs. Ann Gilchrist Strong.

E. L. Holton, director of the summer school, has secured Mrs. Ann Gilchrist Strong to take charge of the teachers' course in home economics education in the summer school which will be held this summer. Mrs. Strong is now dean of the school of household arts in Cincinnati, Ohio. For the passed four years she has been teaching in the summer school which is held by Columbia university. Director Holton considers it very fortunate that the services of Mrs. Strong have been secured for the summer school here as she is recognized as one of the best teachers of home economics education in this country.

Dean Potter Keeps in Touch With Engineers in That Way.

In order to keep in touch with the engineering alumni of the College Dean Potter has been sending letters to them each month bringing before them some of the information of interest about the division of engineering. In the last letter, sent out during the Holidays, the attention of the alumni was called to the possibility of publishing a magazine called, "K. S. A. C. Engineer." The replies are very favorable and there is no doubt but that the magazine will be supported.

P. A. Jackson spent Sunday with his parents out of town.

ELECT A TRACK CAPTAIN.

Herbert Coith was Chosen to Guide the 1915 Track Squad.

Herbert Coith, a varsity quartermiler, was elected captain of the 1915 track squad at a meeting of last year's letter men held in the athletic director's office yesterday morning. Captain-elect P. R. Helt's failure to return to College this year necessitated the second election. Captain Coith was a consistent 440 man last season and is reported running even better this season.

TALKED ON MANILA CUSTOMS.

Miss Sibyl Martin told College Girls of Interesting Customs.

Miss Sibyl Martin, daughter of Henderson Martin, vice governor of the Philippine Islands, talked to the women of the College in the domestic science building yesterday afternoon on "Girl Life in the Philippines." About 200 girls heard the talk. Miss Martin told of the habits and customs of the Philippine women and especially of the housekeeping customs of the women of the city of Manila.

INSPECT THE COLLEGE TODAY

Ways and Means Committee of the Senate and House are the Guests of the College Today.

The Ways and Means committee of the senate and house of the state legislature are the guests of the College today. They will take part in the convocation at 10 o'clock. The committee arrievd over the Union Pacific from Topeka last night and were met at the depot by the Commercial club of Manhattan and the College band.

This morning the committee is visiting the serum plant, feeding barns, animal husbandry barn, dairy barn, and agricultural building. From 10 A. M. until 11:30 the committee will attend the convocation exercises. The engineering building and shops will be visited immeditely after chapel. Lunch will be taken at the domestic science building after which the physical science building will be visited. The committee will leave for Topeka at 3:10. The members of the committee who will be here are: W. G. Tulloss, W. A. Layton, H. M. Laing, J. M. Johnson, J. A. Mahaurin, G. H. Tannahill, R. W. Moorehead, W. H. Todd, H. H. Aldrich, A. C. Coolidge, G. S. Smith, D. E. Lamb, Theodore Ossweiler, and C. T. Neihart.

STUDENTS WILL MAKE UP LOSS.

Minnesota Rooters Will Pay for Damage Done on Football Trips.

Public donations by Minnesota university students must be relied upon to make up the deficit of $60 still remaining to be paid to Chicago hotelkeepers and Chicago-Minneapolis railroads.

Captain Boles Rothenthal, chairman of the committee in charge of recovering goods lost during the Chicago football trip in the fall, announced that there still remains $60 unaccounted for. The university is held directly responsible for the complete return of every cent, hence it is up to the student body to meet this obligation.

Due to the efforts of the football team, practically all the goods stolen by rooters on the trip have been returned. The team was no more responsible than the students, but willingly assumed the obligations and have succeeded in reducing the amount by over $100. The matter now lies before the student body, to be met by private subscriptions.

A good start has already been made in the Medical school. Being the largest, the Academic college will be expected to bear the heaviest end of the burden. However, all schools of the university will be called upon for contributions.

KEEP AN EMPLOYMENT BUREAU.

Division of Engineering Has one for Its Graduates.

An employment bureau is kept in the office of the dean of engineering for the young men who are graduates from the engineering division. Due to the industrial depression which is being felt all over the country many graduates are availing themselves of this opportunity to secure positions.

To Aid Belgian Professors.

The Harvard University Corporation has set aside $100,000 to aid Belgian professors who have been driven from their own land by warfare. Refugee educators will come to Cambridge at the beginning of the next college year to take charge of courses at Harvard and they will be paid for their work from this special fund.

MEET WASHINGTON FRIDAY

AGGIES WILL BE GIVEN ANOTHER CHANCE FRIDAY AND SATURDAY TO GET GOING IN CONFERENCE COMBAT.

NO DOPE ON ST. LOUIS FIVE

Washington Team has Played no Valley Game This Season—Teamwork of Aggie Basketeers Showed up in Kansas Games.

(By E. H. Smith.)

Four times losers thus far in the race for the basketball supremacy in the Big Muddy conference, the Kansas Aggies line up against the Washington University quintet of St. Louis on the Nichols court Friday and Saturday nights. The series with the St. Louis five presents the Mernerites a belated opportunity to get going in the conference combat. Little is known of the strength of the Washinton aggregation as they have not played against any of the Valley quintets this season.

The Aggies opened up their first real show of natural strength against the Jayhawkers in the second battle of the series on Nichols last Friday night. Leonard was tipping the ball Aggie-ward for a goodly percentage and the floor-workers were taking the advantage on as many instances and more. "Lefty" Sproull's signals were not baffling the Aggie minions to any great extent. Reynolds and Adams copped the spheroid from the Kansas tipoffs almost as frequently as did the Kansans.

Aggie Guards Staged Fight.

The great running fight staged by the Aggie guards, Captain Jones and MacMillan completely routed the flashy goalshooting habits of the Jayhawkers. So completely were the Kansans skidded that Coach "Bill" Hamilton was forced to remove the elongated Sorenson early in the second half. His successor found a myriad of swinging arms thrown about him on every attempt and the Lawrence mentor soon had discovered that he had no one to send in that was capable of delivering the goods. The proficiency of "Lefty" Sproull robbed the Aggies of an even break on the series.

The second Kansas game also brought out the best teamwork the Merner basketeers have displayed this season. Reynolds and Adams fed the ball to each other on many quite noticeable occassions and the result was a score in almost every case. Individual scoring seldom wins a basketball game and the improvement in this department on the part of the Merner contingent speaks well for betterment of the Aggie standing in the Missouri Valley lists.

Criticism of an official in any line of sport is the handiest article meted out to that personage. Basketball officials always come in for their share of the grouch gate receipts. Both of the K. U. games were slowed down considerably by closely called judgments. The "Umps" was calling 'em close. Neither side seemed pleased in the extreme, but then the "Umps" always gets his share of the kicks and a few more. And besides, he's in there to run the game according to his own vision and that settles the argument.

CALDWELL COMES THIS WEEK.

Chicago Professor Will Read Proof of Dr. H. J. Waters' Book.

Dr. Otis W. Caldwell, associate professor of botany, University of Chicago, arries here this week to read the proof of "The New Agriculture," the secondary school text-book written by Dr. Henry Jackson Waters, president of the College. Doctor Caldwell represents the publishers, Ginn & Company.

Engineers Elect Officers.

The following officers were elected to act for the winter term in the Engineering association: president, T. K. Vincent; vice president, F. R. Rawson; secretary, J. S. Hagan; treasurer, C. T. Halbert; marshall, J. D. Parsons.

Weather Prediction.

On account of the bright sun yesterday the ground hog was immediately stricken with snow blindness when he stepped from his hole. As a result he did not see his shadow and we will have an early spring.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1915.

Where much is given, much shall be required. There are never privileges to enjoy without correspond duties to fulfill in return.—Phillips Brooks.

SQUARE DEAL TO ALL.

The Collegian is a student paper, representative of all organizations of the College. Its aim is to support each one of these organizations as best it can and to boost any movement which aims for the upbuilding of the Kansas Agricultural College. The management of the Collegian has been criticized in that it refused to print an article which showed the opposite side of a movement which the paper was supporting.

When asked if the management would print such an article in the OPEN COLUMN of the paper the answer given was, Yes. The OPEN COLUMN of the Collegian is run on the same plan as are similar columns in all newspapers—the articles are published in the order in which they are received. The management of the Collegian could give no definite answer, thus, as to when the article would appear in its columns since there were several articles for the OPEN COLUMN which had precedence over this one. The writer of this article, however, got a "hunch" that the worthy product of his pen had been refused publication, and hence set forth immediately to make one terrible uproar, declaring that the Collegian was not being run square and that prejudice and favoritism were being shown, even going so far as to recommend that the management be relieved of their positions. All this commotion, remember, was stirred up the night before the publication of the first issue of the Collegian in which the article could possibly have appeared (unless of course the management had seen fit to issue an extra edition which, however, it did not see fit to do after due consideration of the momentous question.)

Can a paper possibly promise more than this—to publish, in the order in which they are received, the articles written in good faith which speak the student mind? We leave it to each fair-minded, democratic student as to whether the Collegian has been unfair, prejudiced, or unreasonable, or whether it has refused to give each and every student a square deal.

THE FOOLISH ACT.

If thou hast done foolishly in lifting up thyself, or if thou hast thought evil, lay thine hand upon thy mouth. —Proverbs, xxx, 33.

THE EDITOR'S RESPONSIBILITY.

Chester S. Lord, for many years managing editor of the New York Sun, but now retired, says the following concerning the relation of the editor to his paper:

"The newspaper is exactly what its editor makes it—the newspaper does not rise above the editor. It is the editor who inspires and directs and accomplishes. If the editor stands for honesty and integrity, his newspaper will be an expression of high ideals. If he be ill-minded and ignorant and careless of morality, his newspaper will be like himself—cheap and slippery and of distressing influence—better that he return the quill to the original goose! And this explains why some newspapers are consistenly good and exert a splendid influence, and why others are the reverse—for all newspapers have a great influence one way or the other. They reach the people to an etxent not approached by any other influence, for everybody of any account reads them. Consider for a moment. Rarely does a clergyman find himself addressing a congregation of more than 500 persons; rarely indeed, does the public lecturer speak to 1000 persons, and seldom, in the heat of a campaign does the political orator find 2000 persons within the reach of his voice. Yet a little ten-line comment placed conspicuously on the editorial page of the New York Times will be read by 500,000 persons, and one of Mr. Arthur Brisbane's fine editorial articles, printed in the Hearst chain of newspapers extending across the continent—for his articles are telegraphed to all for simultaneous publication—will be seen approximately by 2,000,000 persons. Can you, by any exaltation of the intellect, imagine a greater influence or a greater responsibility.

One of the greatest pleasures of the college student is that of being the first to break a path through the snow in the early morning hours before the snow plow has been uncarthed.

DEMOCRACY IN THE COLLEGE.

Wilson's reply to his critics, poured out before a gathering of Pittsburgh alumni at the height of the graduate school controversy, is worth pondering over:

"You can't spend four years at one of our modern universities without getting in your thought the conviction which is almost dangerous to America—namely, that you must treat with certain influences which now dominate in the commercial undertakings of the country.

"The great voice of America does not come from seats of learning. It comes in a murmur from the hills and woods and the farms and factories and mills, rolling on and gaining volume until it comes to us from the homes of common men. Do these murmurs echo in the corridors of universities? I have not heard them.

"The universities would make men forget their common origins, forget their universal sympathies, and join a class—and no class ever can serve America.

"I have dedicated every power that there is within me to bring the colleges that I have anything to do with to an absolutely democratic regeneration in spirit, and I shall not be satisfied—and I hope you will not be—until America shall know that the men in the college are saturated with the same thought, the same sympathy, that pulses through the whole body politic."

The exhalation of talent, as it is called, above virtue and religion, is the curse of the age.—Channing.

THE WAY WE LOOK AT IT, TOO.

Daily Palo Alto: Considerable misapprehension has arisen regarding the idea and the purpose of feature stories in the columns of this paper. They are based mostly on matters of more or less trivial importance which would not be news in themselves, but which are made so through original adaption. Whether or not they remain news is something for each one to decide for himself. It is not our place to give a definition of news. Many attempts have been made by journalistic authorities to define news, but no accurate definition has been secured which satisfies everyone. News to some would not be news to others. The idea of the feature story is not to cast a slur and not to ridicule anyone or anything, but to create a sense of humor in certain stories that admit of such treatment. True it is that everyone cannot see the humorous side in stories of this nature. Such stories are published in good faith and their purpose is not to put anyone in an unpopular light. In the main they are to add spice, life and variety to the otherwise straight news items of everyday occurrence. Feature stories are not to be taken seriously.

It looks as though all this snow should insure some sort of a wheat crop next spring.

NEXT WEEK WILL BE FULL, says a headline. Now then what do you suppose they meant?

K. U., Nebraska, and other institutions are having "Unions," "Mixers," and "Get-togethers" for faculty and students. What's the matter with having one at K. S. A. C.?

DO YOU KNOW?

That a junior girl brought a pair of gray cloth-top shoes back with her last fall with the idea of startling the other maidens but lost her nerve and now refuses to wear the boots, because they are getting common?

What seniors wears white wool socks rolled over his high-top boots?

That a certain dignified professor sat down on a perfectly good derby hat one morning last week when the walks were icy? And that he laughed about it too?

What three freshman girls, all chums are desperately in love with a member of the basketball team whom they have never met?

That there is a young professor on the hill who is worried about his fast thinning locks and has fourteen different and distinct kinds of hair tonic on his dressing table?

Whom a blonde talks to when she uses the public phone in Anderson every morning at chapel hour?

That a certain freshman lass would rather eat celery than bonbons?

That some people insist that the party who hissed the official during the second Kansas game and thus caused Quigley to foul the team, is responsible for the Aggie defeat?

Open Column

Obstructing the View.

Who has not been struck with the incongruity of such inscriptions as "Don't Lie to Your Wife," 'When Dreams Come True," and others similar ones at the entrance of a College such as the Kansas State Agricultural College? Truly, it is anything but fitting and in keeping with the high order of things that all K. S. A. C. students desire. The students council made an appeal to the city authorities to have the unwelcome bill board at the south gate removed, that we might once more gaze upon the refreshing view of west Manhattan as we come down the hill. The city says it can do nothing to remove this obstruction as long as it is and the ground upon which it stands are kept in good condition. There is some difference of opinion as to the meaning of the term "in good condition." To the student it can only mean for the vacant lots opposite the entrance to be free from flashing posters that interrupt his train of thought, hurt his eyes and obstruct his larger view of the city beyond.

TRACKSTERSLOOKPROMISING

THE PROSPECTIVES ARE GIVEN A STIFF TRYOUT EACH WEEK-END—SEVERAL THREATEN TO BREAK RECORDS IN A PINCH.

GOOD POLEVAULTER IS NEEDED

The Aggies promise to be some pumpkins on the indoor track and field games this winter. Coach Merner is giving the prospectives the once over in a stiff tryout each week-end and the lads are showing wonderful class, in fact several of them threaten to break records in a pinch.

Frizzell has been doing good work in the high jump. Several nights this "Duroc" person has climbed over the bamboo well up around the six-foot mark. And Weimer is also mounting right up the standards. Coach Merner expects Weimer to do 5 feet 8 inches or better in competition.

That the sprinters are improving is shown by the time made by Crumbacker in last week's tryout dash event. Coith is also lowering his time in the quarter. Last week "Hub" negotiated the 440 in 54 2-5 seconds. The best time that has ever been made on the Jayhawker indoor track at Lawrence is 56 1-5 seconds made by "Cupid" Haddock in 1908.

Mile Runners in Shape.

Weaver continues to eat up the mile run and "Tex" Collins is fast rounding into shape to support Weaver in good style. Baird made slower time last week on the 2-mile drag than the week before but is suffering from a sprained hip. He will be in shape to give the Kansans a run for their money, however.

The polevault continues to be a weak spot in the balance of the team. Washington, last year's vaulter, is ill with grip and has not been out to practice for several days. Frizzell was laid up with the same ailment last week and could not compete in the tryouts. The summary:

30-yard dash—Won by Crumbaker; Osborne, second; time 3 2-5 seconds.

30-yard low hurdles—Won by Vandanberg; Barnard, second; time 4 1-5 seconds.

30-yard high hurdles—Won by Welsh; Bell, second; time 4 1-5 seconds.

High jump—Won by Weimer; Bell, second; height 5 feet 6 1-2 inches.

440-yard dash—Won by Holroyd; Granfield, second; time 56 3-5 seconds.

Mile run—Won by Weaver; Collins, second; time 4:39.

2-mile run—Won by Baird; Seeber, second; time 10:39.

880-yard run—Won by Cromer; Snyder, second; time 2:09 2-5.

16-pound shot—Won by Marble (39 feet 1 1-2 inches); Enlow, second, (36 feet 6 inches.)

Relay—(Against time)—Holroyd, Lovett, Grandfield, Coith; time 3:39 3-5.

Sport Salad

(By Frank Sargent)

The Daily Kansan came out with the statement that two of the regulars, Cole and Kaiser, would not accompany the basketball team on the Aggie invasion. Considering their crippled condition the Jayhawkers made a creditable showing.

Lieut. Roy A. Hill will not drill the cadets in Nichols gymnasium this winter. The work for the term will be given by the different officers in class rooms in the various College buildings. This will leave the main floor of the gym free for the track and baseball men.

Dave Shull, who is coaching freshman basketball this year, has selected his first squad and Athletic Director Guy S. Lowman has shown his approval by decorating them with some new jerseys. The new garments are white with a broad purple band around the middle and have the word "Freshman" across the front. The eight yearlings so honored are just about the proudest fellows on the hill at present.

You will have to admit that the aggies put up a game fight in the Kansas series. By way of a celebration, Coach Merner and the team entertained the Kansas basketball squad with a little love feast Friday evening.

With the class basketball series out of the way Coach Lowman has called out the baseball candidates. The batteries are reporting for practice in the gymnasium every afternoon. Workouts are held the sixth hour on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday and on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday the seventh hour. Several of the old men have been playing hand ball and doing some track work and are just aching to get their fingers around a horsehide again.

Fred P. Falkenburg, '02, varsity pitcher on the famous inter-collegiate championship baseball team of Illinois that year, has arrived in Champaign with his family, and during the next month he will devote himself to instructing the candidates for varsity pitchers. Fred has distinguished himself since his university days as a pitcher on the Cleveland American League Club. Last year he jumped to the Indianapolis Federal League team and was instrumental in winning the pennant for the "Hoofeds." He will remain here to give the collegian boxartists pointers until his club starts south on its training trip.

Arrangements are under way to have the Fifth District High School Basketball Tournament held in Nichols gymnasium. Athletic Director Guy S. Lowman is not sure of the dates yet but hopes to run the meet off sometime early in March. Most of the strongest high schools in the state will compete and it will be a splendid opportunity for the college men to get in touch with much good material for the next year's freshman class.

The blizzard last Monday did not resemble baseball weather but about thirty men met with Coach Lowman in the gymnasium. While the wind rattled the windows and whistled around the corners the coach talked about the care of the throwing arm after exercising and gave a few hints on using the chest weight machines and exercisers. It took a good stretch of the imagination to see that crowd playing ball in the open in less than four months but every one was enthusiastic and the gymnasium will be a busy place indeed from now on.

Handball is fast becoming one of the most popular indoor workouts among the varsity athletes. Especially are the baseball players falling for this new spring training stunt and some are rapidly developing into experts. Hodgson, old reliable as pitchers for 1915 go, is taking on all-comers on the Nichols handball courts each day and the way he vanquishes the mob is a caution.

Handball is a one-sided version of tennis, the opposition being a blank wall that smacks the ball at you in rapid-fire style. It can be played two-handed or four-handed and is one of the best best workouts for the vision and for footwork. A proficient exponent of this newly introduced sport to Aggieville can make a prep feel more like the proverbial 30 cents than anything we have stuck our foot into for many a day.

Winter sports at Colgate were given much encouragement at a successful mass meeting which was held in the gymnasium there recently. The possibilities of an out-of-door club were discussed, and slides were shown depicting the cabins and other property at the Dartmouth Club.

The football game between Illinois and Kansas for October 2 has been called off by Illinois. No reasons are given, but it is assumed that Illinois has arranged a date with some other school which is able to come to better terms of expenses than K. U.

Princeton seems to be the strongest contender for the eastern basketball championship. In one of the fastest games played in the league this year the Tigers defeated the Pennsylvania five 24 to 22.

The baseball team of the Chinese University of Hawaii, under the management of Nat C. Strong of New York City, sole American representative, will contest a game of baseball with the Ames nine under date of April 27.

According to figures published by the athletic department at Miama, nearly 70 percent of the entire student body, men and women, are engaged in some branch of sport. Tennis is not the favorite sport with the fair sex, as might be imagined, but indoor baseball.

Due to the fact that school starts later than usual, the Wolverine grid card for next fall will contain but eight games. Six of these will be contested on Saturday afternoons, while the remainder will be played on Wednesday afternoons. The week-end games will be with Case, Mt. Union, M. A. C., Syracuse, Cornell, and Pennsylvania.

Michigan has the best system of intramural athletics in the country today, according to its intramural director, Floyd A. Rowe. He returned recently from a two weeks' tour covering all of the Western Conference institutions except Minnesota, and a number of Eastern schools. Over 1500 receive the benefits of active competition at Ann Arbor, while the three in the Big Nine having the most students participating showed but a little over a thousand. Illinois, Wisconsin, and Ohio State rank in the order named.

The Wolverines offered 13 sports, as compared with six at Illinois and Wisconsin and five at Ohio State. The Wolverines are the only university to employ a director of intramural athletics for that purpose alone. He already has two paid assistants and it is planned to give him three additional this year.

In more than 40 years of intercollegiate football, but seven teams have humbled Yale's varsity eleven, according to statistics compiled recently on the subject. Even the Harvard and Princeton victories over the Blue number but 17.

An almost equally brilliant record has been attained by Princeton, for but nine elevens have twisted the Tiger's tail with any success. On the other hand, Harvard, which runs a close third to these two leaders, has achieved a percentage of victories of approximately 85 percent. Pennsy has played the most games, having participated in over 400 contests.

CAN'T FIND AN OPPONENT

PERSONAL CONFERENCES, LETTERS, AND TELEGRAMS ARE OF NO AVAIL IN SECURING CONTEST FOR ILLI TRACKSTERS.

TRACK TEAM MAY NOT PERFORM

That the path of a champion is not always strewn with roses can be attested by Director Huff of Illinois. Personal conferences, letters and telegrams have failed to secure an opponent for Coach Gill's victorious track organization, and unless some of the present plans of the director succeed, the local rooters may be denied the privilege of witnessing their favorites perform on the local indoor track.

Coach Gill's success in the past four or five years in decisively trimming all rivals, has resulted in a thinning of the competition. The first step in that direction was taken by Chicago. In previous years, the Maroons and Illini clashed in two indoor meets, one held in Chicago and one in Champaign.

Chicago Backed Out.

In 1913 Coach Stagg hinted that one indoor meet would be sufficient and his suggestion was acted upon. This year, the Maroons were slated to come to Illinois for a dual meet, but Stagg contended that it was the Illini's turn to come to the Bartlett.

This controversy arose from the fact that the meet which was slated for the Bartlett last winter was called off because of the scarlet fever scare. The Chicago authorities claimed that this engagement was still due them.

Not Likely to Meet.

Director Huff interpreted the case differently and also took into consideration the point that if the meet were held in Chicago this would result in having both indoor and outdoor meet held at the same place, a feature which was especially considered when plans for a single indoor meet between the two universities were formulated. The present status of the situation would seem to indicate that there is slight likelihood of any indoor meeting between the old rivals.

Purdue, Ohio State, and Wisconsin have all been queried as to the possibility of coming to Campaign, but all appear to have full schedules. Northwestern was finally secured for March 13, the contest, however, to be held at the Patton Gymnasium. Missouri was the latest school to receive an invitation to tackle Gill's steamrollers, but Director Brewer sent his regrets.

And Then He'd Bone.

(Apologies to "And Then He'd Row.)

And then he'd bone, bone, bone,
All through the dark night he would bone, bone, bone.

And still he'd bone, bone, bone.
All night for German he would bone, bone—all alone,
And till he passed the test,
Not a bit did he rest,
But only'd bone, bone, bone.

She was president of the board of trustees of the American Girls' College in Constantinople, and a member of the National Travelers Aid society. At the time of her death Miss Dodge was president of the National board of the Young Women's Christian association. GIRLS PLAY THE "DEVIL."

Journalism Students Learn How to "Stick" Type.

Four girls taking journalism have bumped into the stern reality this term. The course requires so much shop work, not being intended for women, and the young ladies have to tuck up the dainty finery on their arms mount a stool, and learn to "stick" type. "I don't mind it," said one, "but the type is so dirty that I just can't get my hands clean. Isn't it funny the way you sometimes get the letters in upside down?"

The girls are Misses Marion Quinlan, Edna Boyle, Marjorie McClure, and Elizabeth Wadley. The boys who are "deviling" are B. Q. Shields, W. D. Hutchinson, L. L. Moser, A. L. Jantz, E. J. Tucker, and J. M. Boring.

ADD THREE STORAGE TANKS.

Milling Department to Have Four Times Storage Capacity It Has Now.

Three new tanks for the purpose of storing grain are being constructed in the College flour mill in the new agricultural building. These tanks are duplicates of the one which is already installed. They are six feet in diameter and 50 feet high, each one being divided into three bins. They are made of galvanized iron. This will give the milling department four times as much storage capacity as it has now. The cost of installing the tanks is $1,200.

FAIR EXHIBITS ARE READY

CASES SHOWING RESULTS OF AGRONOMY AND LIVESTOCK EXPERIMENT WORK WILL BE SHIPPED TO PANAMA EXPOSITION.

DISPLAY THEM NEXT WEEK

Exhibit Cases can be Seen in the Wood Working Shops Monday and Tuesday—Represent Agronomy, Milling, and Livestock Experiments.

The three exhibit cases which will show the results of the work being done by the Experiment station of the College at the Panama Pacific Exposition, have been completed and will be on display at the wood working shops in the engineering building next Monday and Tuesday for the benefit of the students and faculty who may desire to see them. They will be shipped to San Francisco early in the week as they must be in position at the exposition before the end of February.

The exhibits being made by the Kansas Experiment Station will represent two-thirds of the agricultural displays that will be made by all the experiment stations in the United States. The livestock exhibit will represent one-third of all the displays of animal husbandry work which will be made. The exhibits are illustrated with photographs and charts. The displays from this station have been made in compliance with a request made by the United States Department of Agriculture.

The Agronomy Exhibit.

The agronomy exhibit will show the results of the investigations carried on in preparing seed beds for wheat, and the results of the experiments made in breeding for high yielding strains of wheat. This includes the milling and bread making value of wheat. A display of sorghum varieties will be made. The milling department will show the relative value of flour for bread making purposes produced from Kansas hard Red Winter wheat and California soft White Winter wheat. A cross section of a loaf of bread will be displayed and the important constituents, such as protein, will be represented graphically.

Animal Husbandry Display.

The animal husbandry exhibit will present the results of the animal nutrition experiments and the experiment in the development of colts. This will be done by means of photographs, graphic representations, and charts. Next October the animal husbandry department expects to ship two car loads of show steers to the exposition to compete with the show animals which will be sent from the other experiment stations of the United States.

THEY FED THE LAWMAKERS.

Ways and Means Committee ate Dinner Served by Pretty Girls.

The gastronomic masterpiece of the housekeeper girls was produced Wednesday as a clincher to the good will of the Ways and Means committee. Under the direction of Miss Virginia Meade, assistant, the girls produced a three-coarse luncheon, after making their own menu, and originating the scheme of decoration.

The dining room was draped in red with a profusion of pink and white carnations on each table and among the decorations. Mrs. H. J. Waters and Mrs. Mary Pierce Van Zile acted as hostesses to the fifteen legislators, the heads of departments, the Commercial club committee, and the domestic science and art assistants. Forty plates were laid. The dinner was served in three courses: tomato soup, saltines, olives, celery; second course, Maryland chicken, mashed potatoes, giblet gravy, baked corn, red apple salad, hot biscuits and biscuits and butter; third course, date pudding with whipped cream, coffee, and mints.

The Ways and Means committee later made a tour of the domestic science building.

HOLD GIRLS' DEBATE APRIL 9?

Tentative Date for Wrangle With Wesleyan has Been Set.

The date for the girls' debate with Wesleyan college may be April 9. Prof. J. R. MacArthur, the debating coach, received a letter from the Wesleyan coach yesterday offering that date, which will probably be accepted.

Send the Collegian home.

GLEE CLUB WILL SING MARCH 10.

College Songsters Will Give Their Annual Concert on That Date.

The date for the Glee club concert has been changed from February 26 to Wednesday, March 10. This change was made necessary by a conflict with a Lyceum course number which is scheduled for February 26. Two of the soloists who will be heard in the concert are E. W. Wilson, tenor, and M. A. Lindsay, bass-baritone. The club will be assisted by the Faculty quartet, which is composed of Miss Esther Hungerford, soprano; Miss Jessie McDowell Machir, alto; Prof. E. N. Wentworth, tenor, and Prof. Olof Valley, basso. Miss Fanchion Easter will act as accompanist.

SOCIETY FARCE IS A HOWL

"Jimmie in Wonderland" Fairly Drips With Humor—Is Cleverly Written Dialogue About the Campus Curios

When the curtain glides up next Friday night accompanied by the thundering strains of the College orchestra for "Jimmie in Wonderland," there will be exposed to the gaze of the Aggie students a scene undreamed of before by man. Never before in the history of the institution, probably never in the state, has such a startling, rattling, snappy idea been divulged to the unsuspecting public. For several months a committee of three has been preparing a farce and has secretly been collecting a cast unparelleled in its precedents. These people represent the cream of histrionic talent on the hill and it can be safely said that every member can do something and do it well.

"Jimmie in Wonderland" is a story about—well, you'll just have to stick your stilts under a seat in the bald-headed row, and learn something. Everybody, even 'Daddy" Walters, agrees that the like has never come under his optics since Vesuvius was a mole-hill. A clever dialogue, jokes that pop in the middle, and songs about Roses and Twilight and You, will flow forth from the scintilating footlights, from 8 p. m. till closing time. There will be plenty of swing to the story and, between you and me, the scandals of the hill will be uncovered.

PHOTOGRAPH GROWING PLANTS.

Apparatus to Accomplish This has Been Set up at Kansas University.

Apparatus for taking motion-pictures according to original ideas of Prof. W. C. Stevens, of the department of botany at Kansas university, and L. M. Peace, demonstrator and preparator in the same department. So far as is known this is the first university to take motion pictures of its own growing speciments for use in lectures.

This device is an adaption of a motion-picture camera to a clock and a brilliant electric light. The pictures are taken in groups of four at intervals of every fifteen minutes, though this rate will be varied to fit the rate of growth of the plant photographed. The clock, operating by electricity, throws on the electric light at the moment of exposure, and turns the crank of the camera. Pictures will be taken day and night without requiring the attention of any one. The apparatus is not quite perfected, but will be ready for use in a couple of months.

Professor Stevens thinks that high schools and possibly other universities will want the films for use in their lecture courses on botany and that the pictures can be sent to these different schools and be in use constantly.

STUDENTS MUST LEARN TO SWIM

All Princeton Students Must Pass a Stipulated Test.

All students in Princeton university must pass a stipulated test in swimming before they are eligible to receive diplomas. The test is to swim two hundred yards, using and showing a mastery of the back stroke and one other recognized stroke. This regulation was put into effect in 1911, but has not been enforced until this year. Consequently, many seniors are in danger of not being graduated.

ROMP ON WASHINGTON FIVE

WILL FIGHT LIQUOR TRADE.

College Men Asked to Join Fight Against John Barleycorn.

A call has been issued for 3,000 college men to volunteer in the war against John Barleycorn. The Prohibition National committee, with headquarters in Chicago, plans to enlist 2,000 of these men by June 1, and the remainder in the twelve months following. Fifteen special secretaries are now traveling among the colleges and universities of the country enlisting young men for the campaign.

The plan of the work is one which has been tried on a small scale during the past ten years with great success. During this period about two hundred and fifty college men have been employed in various sections of the country, and the results of their work have been so encouraging that those in charge of the national movement has decided to enlist enough men to cover the entire nation by a house to house canvass.

The scheme will consist of interviewing every voter and securing his pledge, if possible, to support only those candidates and parties committed to national prohibition. Theoretically, the campaigners will ring every doorbell in the United States.

In addition to enrolling voters, it is planned to launch a great monthly prohibition paper and to get a subscription list of 5,000,000, the largest in the history of newspaper publication. Every voter who enrolls will be asked to pay ten cents for a year's subscription to the paper.

The volunteers will be paid army wages, $25 per month and expenses. The term of service will last until the worker has obtained 1,666 voters. When each of the 3,000 men has secured this quota, the total will be 5,000,000 voters, enough to secure national prohibition.

LIKE FLUFFY LITTLE CHICKS?

Two Hundred Will Hatch Out at the Poultry Farm Next Week.

If you wish to see a fluffy little bunch of chicks next week just put on your boots and wade out to the College poultry farm and your desire will be satisfied. The department has four machines running which contain 400 eggs, and the hatch will come off the latter part of next week. A 50 percent hatch is expected.

The machines are filled with Barred Rock, Rhode Island Reds, and White Leghorn eggs. Some of the eggs are being incubated for experimental work while others are for the regular maintenance of the flocks. The little fellows will just be breaking their shells Thursday, but by Friday and Saturday they will be in full bloom. Everybody likes to see the first chicks of the year so get out the boots and be ready to make a trip to the poultry farm next Saturday and Sunday. There will be no "scrubs" in the bunch, either. These little fellows will have real blue blood running in their veins.

SMALL CROWD HEARD LECTURE.

Montaville Flowers Presented Lecture in Convincing Way.

Montaville Flowers spoke at the College auditorium Thursday night on the subject, "Color Guard and Picket Line." Mr. Flowers is a forceful speaker and handled his subject in a convincing way. By reason of his long residence upon the Pacific coast, he is exceedingly well versed upon the question of Japanese immigration, and has made extensive studies of the customs and habits of that race and the significance of their presence in this country. It was a subject about which inland people are almost entirely ignorant. The importance of the opening of the Panama Canal and the opportunity thus offered for immigration further inland was strongly emphasized.

The crowd was smaller than usual because of stormy weather.

A CORRECTION.

In the Collegian of Saturday, January 30, it was stated that 82 men had enrolled in the short courses in engineering. This number should have been 98, the mistake having been made in the tabulation in the office of the registrar.

G. C. Ross of Kansas City, Mo., has been appointed assistant engineer in the heat and power department to fill the position made vacant by the resignation of F. W. Mossaman.

AGGIES TAKE THEIR FIRST MISSOURI VALLEY CONTEST IN A LISTLESS BATTLE WITH WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY FIVE.

FINAL COUNT WAS 35 TO 12

Aggies Shift Regulars in Last Half—Missourians Could Not Find Themselves on the Large Court—School of Agriculture Five Loses.

(By E. H. Smith.)

The Aggies tangoed all around the Washington University five on Nichols court last night and won their first Missouri Valley game by the one-sided count of 35 to 12. At the close of the first period the score stood 21 to 3 for the locals, the St. Louisans having been able to count but one field goal and one free toss. Reynolds and Bengston fed the ball to each other and shot the buckets with unerring aim while the other Aggie players figured in on the teamwork handily and Washington stood back and watched the crossing of the Deleware.

In the first few minutes of the second round the locals pushed their lead steadily upward with the Missourians still playing the listless end of the battle. Captain Modisette was bearing the brunt of the contest both in teamwork and in attempts to count, but the majority of the shots went wild for they were taken at too long range. Milford and Berry did good work in the guard positions, for the St. Louis team, starring in dribbling the ball upcourt but wasting chances by reckless shooting.

Shift the eRgulars.

Coach Merner shifted his regulars in the last half and the Aggie scoring dropped by the wayside while the Missourians inserted fresh men in a frantic endeavor to gain points. But the Washington team was unable to find itself on the large court and persisted in shooting the ball from every angle that a possible counter looked probable. And the larger number were far from possible although a few of the tries did hit the backstop.

Captain Jones suffered with an injured knee gave way to McIlrath and Cushman and Johnson went in at the forward positions. Coleman and Martin replaced the fatigued Washington forwards and each succeeded in caging the ball once from the field. In all the St. Louisans tallied nine points in the final round although it looked for a time that they were to go through the battle with but three points in their score column.

School of Ag. Lost.

The School of Agriculture mixed with 'Lee' Pollem's Wamego High School quintet in the curtain raiser and lost to the Wamego Tartars, 15 to 10. The prep school five loafed through the first half permitting Hines to play the whole game and the count stood 8 to 4 for the visitors at the close of the period. Early in the second half the Ag team mounted and tied the count at 10-all, but this ended their scoring. Knostman played best for the Wamego five.

"Dave" Shull handled the opening game nicely and E. C. Quigley called the fouls in the big battle. Thesummary:

Friends—those relations that one makes for one's self.—Deschamps.

A CONVINCING ARGUMENT.

The Ways and Means committee of the Kansas legislature has some and gone. What kind of an impression did the student body of the Kansas Agricultural College make? How could it have been otherwise than a good one with the "pep," interest, and enthusiasm that was shown?

President Waters told in a few terse words why the legislature is being asked for an appropriation for a physical science building. The most convincing part of his argument, however, came when he asked all the students present to stand who were taking work in the chemistry building this term, more than three-fourths of the three thousand students who had crowded into the auditorium rising to their feet. Convincing proof? Well, rather. Did you notice the smile of approval that flitted over the face of each member of the legislature present? Surely the request of the board will not be denied when the urgent need for a physical science building is seen.

THE PASSING OF THE WICKED.

As the whirlwind passeth, so is the wicked no more: but the righteous is an everlasting foundation.—Proverbs x, 25.

AN ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

The Kansas Experiment Station located at the College has prepared two-thirds of the displays of agronomical work and one-third of the displays of livestock work which will be shown at the Panama Pacific Exposition. These exhibits have been prepared in compliance with a request from the United States Department of Agriculture. This request has come as a recognition of the outstanding character of the experimental work being done here. The eyes of the agricultural world are upon Kansas and the Kansas Agricultural College. She is being recognized as a leader in experimental fields of agriculture and animal husbandry. Surely we are proud of Kansas, but as students of the Kansas Agricultural College we should be doubly proud, for we have the privilege of attending an institution that is coming to be recognized all over the country as the greatest agricultural college in existence. Hats off to Kansas with her fields of golden wheat, of tasseling corn, and blooming alfalfa! Hats off to the Kansas Agricultural College—the recognized leader in the field of investigative agriculture!

Out of the shadows of night
The world rolls into light;
It is daybreak everywhere.
—Longfellow.

MY CREED.

The following quotation from an old book by an unknown author always appealed to me as being humanly true and a splendid creed to adopt:

"Do not keep the alabaster boxes of your love and tenderness sealed up until your friends are dead. Fill their lives with sweetness. Speak approving, cheering words while their ears can hear them and while their hearts can be thrilled and made happier by them; the kind things you mean to say when they are gone, say before they go. The flowers you mean to send for their coffins, send to brighten and sweeten their homes before they leave them.

"If my friends have alabaster boxes laid away, full of fragrant perfumes of sympathy and affection, which they intend to break over my dead body, I would rather they would bring them out in my weary and troubled hours, and open them, that I may be refreshed and cheered by them while I need them. I would rather have a plain coffin without a flower, a funeral without an eulogy, than a life without the sweetness of love and sympathy.

"Let us learn to anoint our friends beforehand for their burial. Postmortem kindness does not cheer the troubled spirit. Flowers on the coffin cast no fragrance backward over life's weary way."—Christian Science Monitor.

KANSAS, THEY MEAN US.

"Think of the advantages to be gained, in a better knowledge of American life, by the traveler who will break journey for a few days in that state of moral courage and high conviction that is bounded by Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Colorado, with its fields of wheat and corn, and to mingle with its people while reading the newspapers of Governor Capper, Henry Allen, Victor Murdock, William Allen White, and 20 other notable leaders of public opinion—this, indeed, is to be acquiring a really liberal American education."—From editorial in February Review of Reviews.

MAID OF ROYAL PURPLE.

Maid of Royal Purple,
K. S. A. C. through and through,
Her hair is tinged with lavender
Her eyes a velvet hue;
Her voice as sweet as sweet sweet peas,
The sweetest the gods afford,
And she sings and picks on a guit-guitar
The refrain of a purple chord
And when she hies to the farm away
Where the purple aster grows,
She digs around and stirs the ground
With the aid of her purple hoes.
—Contributed.

DO YOU KNOW?

That a fellow who takes a fairly active part in the College activities joined in on Jay Rah the first time at chapel during the student activity agitation?

That some people have said things about this column that would never get by the national board of censorship?

That we do not care whether you agreed with their sentiment or not?

That a boy from the junior class reads the Delineator and just loves pretty dresses and that he can crochet beautifully?

That there is one girl in school who has not fallen down during this period of icy sidewalks and slippery paths?

That one of the best students in the junior class seldom gets to a recitation in time for roll call and his name is far down the list too?

That we had better music at chapel when we entertained the Ways and Means committee than we have had for years? The band and orchestra can always be depended upon but a male quartet that can really sing is a treat indeed.

Why there are no sidewalks around the gymnasium?

Why the student body always stands up when the band plays the Boola song?

What the English department intends to do with the answers to their queries about the movies?

Who signed the petition in favor of a compulsory student activity fee and then switched and fought the measure?

What you did with that perfectly good pair of rubbers you bought last winter?

What young man who stays on Poyntz avenue ran low on funds and told his steady he would be out of town the night "Everywoman" played Manhattan and is still trying to explain why he remained in the city?

Why the citizens of Manhattan never shovel the snow from the sidewalks?

That the Wichita Comstocks arrested several persons for displaying posters, similar to those that graced the billboards at the College gates, advertising September Morn

What Phi Phi does not hang up the hair pins she finds because she does not believe they mean dates?

That the embryo horse doctors have arranged a hand ball court in the vet building?

That two senior civics have been rushing a couple of Manhattan High School girls and go skating with them almost every evening?

Through the Months.

Oh, January brings us chills
And many legislative ills.
And February brings us ice,
And also boosts in all fuel's price.
Wild March is there with racuous blast,
We're lashed by debt to labor's mast.
April's showers near drive us bats,
And wifie's tears get her spring hats.
While May's flowers are nice, we think,
Spring fever drives us straight to drink.
June is the month of roses, yep,
And to their cost we're sure put hep.
July brings us the Fourth's hot stuff,
To pay our debts we've fourth enough.
As August is the month that's hot,
A grand vacation we get—not!
September presages the fall,
And coal bills once more menace all.
October's falling leaves we view,
The notes we signed will soon fall due.
November gives us chance for thanks,
We still are in the living's ranks.
December brings us Christmas day,
Once more our Christmas bills we pay.

WHO WILL BE THE CHAMPS?

INTERCLASS BASKETBALL CHAMPIONSHIP TO BE DECIDED TODAY WHEN FROSH AND SOPHS PLAY OFF TIE.

EACH TEAM HAS WON 5 GAMES.

Interclass Basketball Standing.

Sophomores	6	5	1	.833
Seniors	6	2	4	.333
Juniors	6	0	6	.000

Interclass Results.

Seniors 17, Juniors 10; Sophomores, 19, Freshmen 8; Seniors 8, Sophomores 29; Juniors 12, Freshmen 19; Sophomores 26, Juniors 11; Seniors forfeited to Freshmen; Seniors forfeited to Sophomores; Juniors 10, Freshmmen 34; Sophomores 10, Juniors 6; Seniors forfeited to Freshmen; Seniors 23, Juniors 8; Freshmen 11, Sophomores 4.

The sophomores and freshmen play off the tie for the interclass basketball championship this afternooon at 4 o'clock on the Nichols court. After completing the round of six games each, these teams tied up with five games won and one lost, apiece. Each team holds a seven-point win over the other and it is difficult to say which will win today's battle-royal.

The seniors forfeited half of their games through inability to put a complete senior combination on the court at every game. Athletic Director Lowman and Coach Merner played in two of the senior battles but these contests were not counted in the final standing of the tournament.

CHANGE BY-LAWS OF ATHLETICS.

Constitution Also Changed at Meeting of Intercollegiate Association.

Many important changes in the constitution and by-laws of athletics were taken up at a meeting of the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletics of America. They will be submitted to the annual meeting, which will be held the afternoon of March 6 for approval. If these amendments go into effect, a great step will be made towards standardizing the rules of track and field sports. The most important change advocates six trials in the weights and broad jump in place of the three which are now allowed. It was thought that an amendment would be introduced to allow freshmen to compete in the inter-collegiate championships. This not be done, for the obvious reason that under the rules as they stand today freshmen are eligible for competition. All legislation that has kept freshmen out of the meets has been on the part of the colleges themselves.

The amendment to increase the number of trials for the weights and broad jump from three to six was considered. This provides for the trials to take place in groups of two each. This means that if an athlete fouls in, for instance, the shot put, he may at once take a second trial.

SEE HERE, NO SNOWBALLING

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR LOWMAN WILL CRASH DOWN ON ANY BASEBALL MAN HE CATCHES IN THE ACT OF SNOWBALLING.

BASEBALL MEN PLAY HANDBALL.

Athletic irector Lowman threatens to crash right down on any baseball candidate caught in the act of engaging in a snowball fight. The Aggie baseball mentor holds that extemporaneous use of the baseball wing is injurious in the extreme to that member. The coaching staff worries enough about this warming-up business in the daily workouts and does not intend to permit any candidate to ruin an arm in sham battle.

The initial battery workout of the 1915 season was held on the main floor of Nichols gymnasium last Wednesday afternoon. Captain Earl Brincy and "Chief" Haucke worked on the receiving line with Coach Lowman, Lovett, Hodgson, and Brecheisen, on the firing squad. Coach Lowman expects to have the complete pitching staff at work by the first of next week.

The baseball men are now engaged in a handball tournament designed to take the place of the customary preseason indoor workouts. Rivalry and keen competition marked the opening round of the tourney. Coach Lowman paired the candidates off and the meet is being played in doubles sets.

Sport Salad

Purdue's football squad will meet monthly during the remainder of the year to listen to talks by their coach and captain. The meetings are held by the coach in order to bring the men together just as life in the training camp does.

University of Illinois track men will have one of the best dirt tracks in the conference upon the completion of their big new gymnasium. This will do away with the annual difficulty experienced by the men in changing to outdoor work in the spring. The new gym. also allows athletes to practice indoors on a hundred yard straightaway.

Track prospects at Cornell are bright for another championship, and the preparations for the winter meets and the final tests in the spring have already started. Cornell won the championship last year and also the silver cup, and, with a veteran squad back this year, is looking for as good if not better, showing than that of last season.

Colorado university is to get a new gym. A company of National Guards is to be organized among the students, and a big armory and gym are to be erected.

Coach River, of the University of Mississippi, has inaugurated a campaign toward securing subscriptions to the amount of $5,000, the money to go on permanent improvements of the athletic properties. With this money the athletic association has planned one of the most complete outdoor plants in the south.

Notre Dame and Michigan.

Notre Dame has scheduled two track meets with Michigan for this year and probably two for next year, according to announcement by Athletic Director Harper. The first indoor meet will be held at Michigan Feb. 25; the second, an outdoor meet, will take place at Notre Dame May 8. The scheduling of the meets marks the resumption of athletic relations between Michigan and Notre Dame, old-time rivals for western honors. Prospects are bright for a winning track team at Notre Dame this season.

Track Star Equals Record.

In an endeavor to get its track team into condition, Purdue university holds an annual track meet dividing its squad into two divisions, each bearing one of the colors of the school Bancker, the Boiler-Maker hurdler, equaled the world's record in the high hurdles over the 40-yard route, covering the distance in five and two-fifths seconds. Captain East stepped a fast four-fourty, and a promising miler was uncovered in Large. The Black and Old Gold seems to be weak in the field events, especially the pole vault and high jump.

Princeton Meets Michigan.

Keene Fitzpatrick and his Princeton tracksters are to meet Michigan in a dual contest at Ann Arbor on February 20. The first call for the Orange and Black runners was issued just recently, and with the call came the announcement of the meeting with the Wolverines. A two-mile relay is one of the events scheduled.

Walter Evans, Champion Welterweight wrestler of America, is in charge of that branch of athletics at the University of Illinois. E. R. Cummings, star of the Illini wrestling team and who won the conference title last year, will not be in school the second semester. Indiana is considered the most dangerous foe that Illinois is to meet. The Hoosiers won the conference championship last year. However, a number of promising youngsters are being developed by Coach Evans in the heavy, welter, light, and bantamweight classes.

$90,000 for DePauw Gym.

Plans for the new gymnasium which will be erected at DePauw university were discussed at a meeting of the board of trustees of the university at the Union Trust Company at Indianapolis recently. It was reported that $90,000 had been subscribed and that bids for the contract will be asked the latter part of next month. The new "gym" will cost $100,000 and it is expected that the additional $10,000 will be subscribed in the next few weeks.

The building will be modern in every respect, according to the trustees. It will be built of brick and Bedford stone with a tile roof, and will contain absolutely the latest track and gymnasium facilities. Plans are now in the hands of the architects and will be ready in a short time.

Indiana "U" is to have a decathalon to determine the best all-round athlete in the university, according to a plan advanced by Coach Childs. This affair is part of the preliminary propaganda arranged for the Hoosier tracksters by their mentor.

The events will be half-mile walk, mile run, 120 yard high hurdles, 100-yard dash, pole vault, running broad jump, 16-pound hammer throw, tossing 56-pound weight, and the shot-put. The meet will be conducted according to A. A. U. rules, and the different events will be awarded on a point system, from 1000 down to zero. Medals will be awarded to the three best athletes.

Plans for a crew to be made up of University of Pennsylvania engineers are now under full swing, and efforts are being made to arouse interest in organizing eights among the other departments of the institution. Coach Vivian Nickalls heartily endorsed the movement to institute departmental crews, and has promised his assistance to make the plan a success.

MEAT SURVEY PROGRESSES

CLASS OF FIVE COLLEGE MEN WILL DETERMINE IF A MUNICIPAL ABBATOIR WOULD PAY IN MANHATTAN.

TO INSPECT DELIVERY SYSTEM

Class Will Study Central Delivery System of Junction City—Hope to Show that Such System Would Profit Manhattan Merchants.

A class of five students composed of Ivar Mattson, L. V. Rhine, James McArthur, Lee C. Moser, and L. N. Moody are making a survey of Manhattan's meat supply and delivery systems and they report that the merchants are cooperating with them to the fullest extent so that they feel sure of getting the best possible results. The meat survey will show the amount of meat used in Manhattan each month and from this data it may be computed whether a municipal abbatoir would or would not be a paying proposition in this city. In addition to this survey, which is now well started, a survey of the delivery systems will be started this week.

Presents Plan to Merchants.

Ivar Mattson, president of the class, explained the tentative plan of the survey to the merchants at a luncheon given last Monday noon. "It is the wish of the class," Mr. Mattson said in closing, "that we have your hearty cooperation, because it is upon that that the success of a survey so largely depends. The meat dealers are giving us their support in the abbatoir survey and we feel sure that this delivery problem is a problem of interest, not only to them, but to every merchant in Manhattan. We shall endeavor to make it a practical survey and place data in your hands which wil be of value." The class will cooperate with the secretary of the Retailer's association and endeavor to produce data which will show that a delivery system would not only be a financial success, but that better service could be given as a result of definite routing. The class will go to Junction City in the near future and study the management of the central delivery system at that place.

In addition they are corresponding with those cities which have municipal abbatoirs and delivery systems. It is their desire to place valuable and convincing facts concerning these two problems in the hands of those interested in Manhattan by the class of this term.

INVADE DRAMATIC FIELD.

Member of the Quill Club Writes a Successful Playlet.

The Quill held forth in the Athenian hall Monday night, giving a special program. The feature of the evening was an original playlet by Miss Izil Polson, "Their First Attempt." This is the first time the Quill has invaded the dramatic field, but as the pioneer attempt proved successful it is planned later to write and give an original musical comedy, farce, or drama in chapel next term. The farce was given by Misses Helen Haines, Margaret DeForest, Eva Hostetler, Edna Barber, Martha Tunstall, Eleanor Patrick, Madge Thompson, Florence Justin, Lillian Lathrop, Mary Polson, Martha Blaine, W. T. Douglas, Frank Sargent, H. W. Orr, Tom Blackburn, and W. D. Hutchinson.

POWER PLANT USES MUCH COAL

In Seven Days Power Plant Consumes 219 Tons—Uses 700,000 Gallons of Water in Same Time.

It took 219 tons of coal to keep the buildings of the College warm and to supply power to the various departments during the week from January 14 to 21. The total cost to the College for the heat and power during this period was $990.34.

The average maximum temperature during this week was 34 degrees, the average minimum six degrees. The lowest temperature was 16 degrees below zero while the average temperature for the week was 28 degrees.

Seven hundred thousand gallons of water were pumped from the College wells during these seven days at a total cost of $17.07. In other words the College pumps it own water at a total cost of 18 cents per 1000 cubic feet which is remarkably low.

Dr. Otis W. Caldwell, professor of botany in the University of Chicago, will speak at the convocation exercises this morning on the subject, "The Three Chances." Doctor Caldwell is an author and educator. He is here reading the proof on President Waters' book, "The New Agriculture."

ROOTERS WILL MASS TOGETHER.

Will Occupy North Main Floor Bleachers for Missouri Game.

Athletic Director Lowman has thrown open the north main floor bleachers with the exception of two sections at one extreme end of the floor, for the rooters who attend the Missouri-Aggie basketball series next Tuesday and Wednesday nights. Lawton Hannah will lead the cheering and is expetced to pep the crowd up to the top of the gauge for these final contests. The rooting at the basketball games this winter has been somewhat dis-spirited on account of the scattered conditions of the leather lung crew. This new arrangement will permit a unified effort and the athletic management anticipates a great revival.

TALKS ON CAUSES OF THE WAR

Dr. John R. Macarthur Points Out Three Movements in the War in a Chapel Talk on Friday.

"Some Causes of the European War," was the subject of the chapel talk given by Dr. John R. Macarthur of the English department at the convocation exercises Friday at 10 o'clock. Doctor Macarthur discussed some of the causes that are generally given for the outbreak of the war and showed the utter lack of reasoning in some of them.

Many people have said that if all the kings, queens, princes, princesses, and other people of nobility had been taken on a barge out to sea and drowned that there would have been no war. "But Germany and France have never loved each other," said Doctor Macarthur. "Is there any more chance of their doing so if Germany and France were republics?" Professor Macarthur exploded the idea that the war is due to religious differences. The psychological argument, that preparation for war brings war, he believed needed careful consideration.

That there are three great movements on the part of the warring nations is the belief of Mr. Macarthur. "Great Britian," he said, "wishes to keep hold of her great dominion and in doing so is following the theory of 'The Balance of Power' laid down by Frededick the Great. Russia wants seaports, especially Constantinople. Germany, the young giant among the nations, must expand and in doing so wishes to keep her territory a geographical solitaire. These three lines of movement," said Doctor Macarthur in conclusion, "all meet in the Baltic."

PLAY IS FRESH AND BREEZY

Profs, and Students Alike Will Catch Slams—Tickets can be Secured From Various Society Members—Doors Will Open at 7:30.

The College literary societies will present the farce "Jimmie in Wonderland," in the College auditorium Friday night, February 12. Tickets for the play can be secured from any of the various literary society members. The doors of the auditorium will be open at 7:30. Ticket holders are requested to enter the two side doors in order to prevent a jam at the north entrance where tickekts will be sold.

For the past three months the intersociety committemen have been sitting up nights with cold turkish towels wrapped around their heads, trying to think of cute remarks about the uncaged specimens that roam the campus. The farce will be truly without heart or soul. Profs. and students alike will share in the slams which will be dealt in profusion. You yourself may get off but your best friend or room mate will be bound to catch it.

The innermost workings of the play are a secret and not even a newspaper reporter could secure the details. It is sure, however, that the evening's entertainment will be one of great success. The tickets are going fast and there is every assurance of a crowded house. Those who had the pleasure of attending "The Persimmon Scandal" of last year will not take chances on missing this year's production. Come one and all and see the campus curiosities on parade.

WILL TEACH FARMING BY MAIL.

Ames Prepares Correspondence Courses for Rural School Teachers.

Correspondence courses in agriculture for 20,000 rural school teachers of Iowa are now ready for mailing by the agricultural extension department of the Ames Agricultural College. According to the new law which goes into effect July 1 this year, agriculture must be taught in every rural and grade school in Iowa.

There are three distinct courses being offered; first, 90 lessons in farm plans and soils which are ready now; second, a course of 80 lessons on farm animals to be ready April 1; and finally about 75 lessons in home economics to be ready about July 1.

According to P. C. Taff, who has charge of this work, it is the purpose of the extension to give a practical, uniform, and easy method of agricultural instruction for teachers who in turn will also give outlines for teaching it in the schools. When the two courses are completed, a certificate showing the grade of work done in agriculture will be given. The instruction will be thorough enough so that anyone who has completed these courses should be able to pass a teacher's examination in agriculture. A fee of $2.50 is charged for each course.

MATHEMATICIANS WILL MEET.

Several Interesting Talks Will be Given at Meeting on Saturday.

The Mathematical club of the College will meet Saturday. Miss Helen Mitchell will give a talk on, "Elementary Mathematics in Evening Schools." Contests among the winners of the lower matches may be held. Payne's "List of Words Commonly Misspelled" and Webster's "Blue Back Speller" are official texts.

AGGIES TAKE SECOND GAME

Saturday Night's Contest With the St. Louis Five Was Marked by Machine-like Teamwork of the Aggies.

(By E. H. Smith.)

In a contest marked by machine-like teamwork on the part of the Aggies, Washington university dropped the second basketball game of the series last Saturday night on Nichols court, 18 to 46. Playing exactly like "Daddy" Naismith wrote the part and throwing in a little originality plus, the Mernerites passed the spheriod with lightning speed and slipped the counters through the ring with miraculous ease.

The St. Louisans simply could not make the ball take the proper English and missed numerous chances by scant margins. They were not to be denied their eleventh hour rally however and were right out on the court fighting the Mernerites to a standstill when the final pistol-shot ended the farce. For farce it was on the part of the visitors as aside from a pair of hard-working guards and a consistent playing center, they were never on an even basis with the Aggies.

Shut Out St. Louis Five.

The first round closed with the Aggies leading, 18 to 6, and in the opening minutes of the second chapter rapid-fire shooting by Forwards Reynolds and Bengston and numerous marvelous shots by the lanky Leonard piled the Aggies lead big enough to shut the Washingtonites out of the win column.

The battle proved beyond a shadow of a doubt that the Aggies have a chance to even up with Kansas. The teamwork was the best that has been put on by the locals this season. On one occasion MacMillan uncovered and within easy shooting distance of the basket, passed up the chance and tossed the ball to Reynolds who was closer and caged an easy goal. Without number were the other instances of bewildering exhibitions of teamwork and the net result was the overwhelming of the St. Louis five.

Captain Modisette and Right Forward Berry played the best scoring game for the visitors and the clever battling of the Washington guards, Milford and Hetlidge, spoiled many of the Aggie shots. The score

INVADE JAYHAWKER CAMP

AGGIE QUINTET WILL SEEK REVENGE TONIGHT AND THURSDAY NIGHT IN THE LAIR OF THE JAYHAWKER.

TEAM IS IN GOOD CONDITION

Can the Aggies Break Winning Streak of the Kansas Five?—Guards are Playing Excellent Ball—Adams is Back Again.

(By E. H. Smth.)

Captain Jones and his basketeers will invade the lair of the Jayhawk in quest of revenge of the most dry-palated type tonight and tomorrow night. The Aggies will endeavor to break the winning streak of eight straight games that the quintet of "Bill" Hamilton has romped through And the matter seems to be up to the Aggies, too. Thus far they have been the only Missouri Valley five to even come close to holding the elongated Kansans on even terms.

The Lawrence team bids fair to reign supreme among the conference fives this season as it did last. Ames, Nebraska, and the Aggies have been shoved aside in the mad rush pennant-ward and Missouri and Washington do not seem alarmingly strong this year. Missouri plays her first conference games against Washington this week and a line may then be had on the strength of the Tiger.

Last Year's Argument.

Last year there was room for argument as to the first placers in the conference. The Jayhawkers and the Cornhuskers wound up the season in wordy war as to which team held down the top berth. By virtue of their refusal to meet any of the southern teams, the Lincoln team forfeited the claim to first honors but immediately set up a howl for the second berth.

The Aggies played all around the conference with the exception of Nebraska and Ames, Drake putting no team into the race. On a percentage basis and on the grounds that the locals were the only tribe to trim the Kansans, the Aggies were the logical second placers in the Valley last season.

Team is in Good Condition.

And now off on the first road trip of the season it is essential that the team wins games to make up for the four straight knockouts registered by the Cornhuskers and the Jayhawkers in the opening Valley series on Nichols. The men are all reported in good condition and Adams, who has been ill, is back in the running and his return will strengthen the team greatly and give Coach Merner three dependable forwards.

There is little room for improvement in the work of the guards. Captain Jones and MacMillan played excellent basketball in the Washington games. Their defensive work and offensive tactics and maneuverings aided very greatly in smothering the St. Louisans. Center Leonard was much in evidence in each of the games but more especially in the second fray with his sensational goal shooting.

Forum Elects Officers.

The Forum has elected its officers for the winter term. They are: president, John Rathbun; vice president, J. V. Quigley; secretary-treasurer, Wilma Burtis; critic, Joe Sweet; first member of the board, James McArthur; second member, Madge Thompson; third member, Emily Wilson.

UNIVERSAL PEACE.

"The United States is the world in minature," says Hamilton Holt in "The Way to Disarm; a Practical Proposal." Is it not true? Do we not find under the flag that floats over the land of the free and the home of the brave representatives from every country of the world?

We have a mighty nation composed of many states, territories, and insular possessions joined under a flag which stands for democracy, unanimity, peace, and freedom. Here the people of many nations have gathered to form a government which respects the rights of each yet works for the advancement of the whole. A miniature world it is, one of which each state legislates for itself but in doing so keeps ever uppermost the idea of inter-dependence.

If this works in a miniature world why should it not work in one which would encompass the globe? Why can there not be a confederacy something like the one between the thirteen original states of our great nation; one in which each nation shall respect the rights of the other, agree to submit differences to arbitration, assist each other against any foreign foe, engage in no war unless called upon by the confederation to do so, reduce armament to a minimum fixed by the confederation? Is it possible that the highly civilized man of today is yet too barbarous in his instincts to enter into an agreement which would deprive him of his opportunity of leaping upon his fellow man when he thought him weak and unprepared?

In the United States this problem of self government with inter-dependence has been worked out to a high state of perfection. The United States of all the nations of the world is best able to advance this idea of a world federation, a league in which each nation shall respect the independence of every other and shall be responsible both to itself and to the whole. When the roar of cannon, the scream of bursting shells, the clash of arms, and the cries of the wounded come to an end in this present European conflict, when the dead of many nations have been buried and man has at last come to recognize the rights of his fellow man, then let the United States take her place among the nations of the world—the place she has justly won—and join together the war-racked countries of the globe into a world federation: a union in which each shall respect its own independence yet recognize the spirit of inter-dependence which must prevail to bring about universal peace. Surely the United States is to have a place in history, else why the growth through monstrous difficulties from a mere handful of colonies to a nation of world power whose flag is respected in every corner of the globe. Who knows but that the United States is destined to step in at the close of this great war and stand out as the champion of universal peace.

GOD'S GREATNESS.

He increaseth the nations, and destroyeth them: he enlargeth the nations, and straighteneth them again.—Job xii, 23.

NEWSPAPER ENGLISH.

The thing which most interests me of all those you have brought to my attention is the assertion about "the very limited vocabulary of those who have been receiving systematic instruction for a number of years and who are popularly supposed to have been led to read at least some of the great masters of English style." Personally I cannot help feeling that if some good daily newspaper had been substituted for some of these "great masters of English stlye" the English of our students would be better. Whatever faults the academic and pedantic critic may attribute to newspaper English, the fact remains that it is almost invariably clear and usually forcible. On the other hand, even the greatest master of the English tongue has fifty-seven varieties of interpretations of his words. If you doubt the truth of such an assertion, consult the annotated editions of his works. Teachers of English in the high schools—especially in the west, where the newspaper has been more extensively used as a textbook in the classroom—freely admit that students who have studied newspapers do better work when they write an essay upon some such topic as "The Real Purpose of In Memorium" or "The Insanity of Hamlet." I firmly believe the time is coming when the daily newspaper will be studied in the schools. When it is, students will write better English, for then we shall have a bridge leading directly from nursery rhymes and children's stories over to those English classics which, under the new condition, will be not only read, but also studied with pleasure.—James Melvin Lee, professor of journalism in New York university.

DO YOU KNOW?

That a certain boy writes to his mother three times each week and that the letters average from four to six pages? And this young man would not come under the class usually spoken of as "mama's boys" either.

What Phi Phi who completes the home economics course this spring is stage struck and is sorry she did not attend some dramatic school instead of coming to K. S. A. C.?

That one business like young freshman keeps two expense accounts in separate books? The first is sent or taken home each month but the second, containing many entries that never find their way into number one, he keeps for his own edification.

What young professor wears glasses not because he has trouble with his eyes but he feels sure the glasses give him a distinguished air?

That the secret of one Sigma Nu's popularity among the ladies lies not in his good looks nor his ability to talk, for he has neither, but in the fact that he has a fine memory and never tells the same thing in the same way to two different girls?

That there is a girl enrolled at K. S. A. C. who has never sewed a button on a garment in her life, and has to call for assistance every time any of her clothes need repairing?

That a young lady recently pledged to a sorority has only a few good clothes and that her older sister realizing what a big part dress plays in the world has sent the freshman all of her own gowns for the campaign and net results prove that sister was right?

What junior boy will put nothing but a special brand of face powder on his face and he is more than willing to pay 50 cents a box for it too?

What professor never nags nor scolds in his classes but gets more work out of them than any other instrutor on the hill?

That one of the very newest instructors in the College spent the week end in Kansas City and when her escort met her at the train on her return she was so fussed that she left her purse in the car?

Which one of the "K" men received a bucket of water right in the face when he attempted to look in at a window at the short course party?

That someone has finally succeeded in shorting changing "Buck" Smith.

Who stole the Phi Phi porch swing and very kindly left the chains.

That one of the Io's is desperately in love with a certain actor in the movies and never misses a picture in which he appears and also has a large portrait of the gentleman on her dressing table?

That another Io knows this actor is married but because she is a dear friend of the other girl refuses to enlighten her?

THE CONCRETE "K."

Why not put a large concrete "K" on Bluemont or some suitable hill within sight of the College? This would be a good advertisement for the College and give the students a common interest in something new. The Utah and California universities have concrete letters in conspicuous places. These letters are taken care of by the students and besides they are good advertising mediums for these schools. A letter of this sort would no doubt stir up some pep and enthusiasm among the students in a new way. A "K" of this kind would not be very expensive and if the student body will just get behind it we can have the monogram by spring. If the students will get behind this matter and each contribute a small amount, enough money could be raised to put a suitable letter in a creditable location. It will be a good thing not only for the future students of the College but also for the future alumni. The alumni would have many pleasant memories of the "K" which they helped take care of.

"Pep" is what we want and pep is what we will get if we start something of this kind. Let's get behind it and start something worth while.

BASKETBALL ⁄ TRACK ⁄ INTRA-MURAL

BY ERLE H. SMITH

TRACKSTERS GET AWAY GOOD

LAST FRIDAY'S TRYOUTS REVEAL SOME GOOD MATERIAL—SEEBER DEFEATS BAIRD IN TWO-MILE HURDLERS ARE FAST.

TEAM NEEDS A POLEVAULTER

Rivalry is the seed of much good in many affairs and Coach Carl J. Merner is whispering about that the fuedal spirit is waxing warm in the breasts of his two-milers. In last Friday afternoon's tryouts a dark horse sprang into prominence and defeated the champion. Result—confidence, on the part of the winner; and grim determination to come back, on part of the loser. The seed is planted and the two-mile event promises to give the Aggie track fans a fine morsel to add to the rag-chewing.

This dark horse person, Seeber, romped across the finish line a goodly winner over Baird, and all in the good time of 10 minutes, 20 and 2-5 seconds, which is some speeding for such a track as graces Nichols. With Baird chugging around the cork path determined to trim Seeber, and friend Seeber throwing in more coal to restrain the rugged Baird from pulling down first honors, the next two-mile episode on the Nichols cork should be an event well worth cutting a class to witness.

Do Hurdles in Fast Time.

And to continue the sowing of seeds which bring results and points to the track team, mention must be made of the work of "Mickie" Welsh and "Duroc" Frizzell in the hight barrier sprint. The way these men are striding across the sticks now means that the first man off the starting frame wins. Well matched in speed and equally clever at taking the hurrdles, Welsh and Frizzell tied up in the 30-yard stick event at 4 1-5 seconds. McGilliard, a newcomer to the hurdle game, placed second to Vandenberg in Friday's low hurdle exhibition in the good time of four seconds flat.

As sure point-winners go, Joe Weaver and Frizzell must be seriously reckoned with this season. Weaver has been shifted from the 880 to the mile and stepped the distance in 4:38 2-5 last Friday and in so doing lapped all but two of the runners. Frizzell cleared the high bar with a leap of 5 feet 9 3-8 inches and has gone close enough to 6 feet to insure his winning the greater number of such events he competes in this season.

The polevault continues to be the weak spot in the makeup of the squad. Edwards will not be eligible this term and Washington has been hindered in his vaulting by illness. Edwards has cleared better than 11 feet in practice and Washington has bettered 10 feet 6 inches several times.

Wilder Takes the 880.

Wilder worked a surprise by scampering home an easy winner in the 880 event last Friday in the excellent time of 2:08 2-5. With Cromer running in form and pitted against Wilder, and a dose of the Kansas crack 880 sprinter, Rodkey, thrown in, good time should be made in the K. U.-Aggies half-mile event next Monday night at Lawrence. The results of Friday's tryouts:

30-yard dash—Won by Shelley; Osborne, second; Vandenberg, third; Crumbaker fourth. Time 3 4-5 seconds.

High hurdles—Welsh and Frizell tied for first; Bell, third. Time 4 1-5 seconds.

1-mile run—Won by Weaver; Collins, second; Wenn, third. Time 4:38 2-5.

Low hurdles—Won by Vandenberg; McGilliard, second; Bell, third. Time 4 seconds flat.

2-mile run—Won by Seeber; Baird, second; Glenn, third. Time 10:20 1-5.

High jump—Won by Frizzell; Weimer, second; Bell and Cozine tied for third. Heighth 5 feet 9 3-5 inches.

Shot put—Won by Marble; Smith, second, Schaper, third. Distance 38 feet 4 3-4 inches.

880-yard run—Won by Wilder; Snyder, second; Dunlap, third. Time 2:08 3-5.

440 yard dash—Won by Captain Coith; Holroyd, second; Grandfield, third. Time 54 2-5 seconds.

Sport Salad

According to E. C. Quigley, the popular National League arbiter, the newspaper profession, especially the sport purloiners, are all charter members of the world-wide Ananias Association And in so speaking the Honorable Ernest becomes the greatest little denier in the denying business. A Topeka paper intimates that the former St. Marys mentor is slated for the managerial position on the Topeka Kaws next season; a report from Elkhart, Ind., says that Quig will coach the Purdue university baseball nine next spring. Mr. Quigley says that he will board a rattler for the east early in April and resume his duties in the big league.

Ralston Goss, sporting editor of the Indianapolis Star, declares that the "Big Nine" lacks unity and that it is divided into a "Big Four" and a "Little Five." Illinois, Chicago, Wisconsin, and Minnesota representing the 'Big Four."

Ohio State is getting trimmed from all sides this season, after it was expected that the State five would be regular championship contenders. Northwestern won from the Columbus quintet by the score of 32 to 23. Illinois put them down by the count of 24 to 17.

Norman S. Faber, formerly Brown university mile runner and now a Rhodes scholar and member of the relay team at Oxford university, in writing of undergraduate life at the English university, states:

"The activities among undergraduates also tend to broaden the Rhodes scholar, for they, too, are different from those in American universities, and here I believe that, in one particular at least, Oxford has a valuable lesson to teach the colleges in the United States.

"This is her system of athletics which provides exercises and competition for everyone and not for a limited number of stars. In the afternoon all Oxford men, almost without exception, take part in outdoor games of some sort. I do not discount the importance and the value of the university teams, but I wish to encourage the building up of a system of athletics that will cater to every student. Regular exercise and competition on the athletic field are essential to both the mental and physical development of an efficient man, and Oxford is adequately supplying these elements."

The freshmen romped over the sophomores in the play-off of the tie for the interclass basketball championship on the Nichols court last Saturday afternoon 17 to 13. The second year aggregation was unable to put all of its regulars into the game causing the loss of the contest to the yearlings. Coach Carl J. Merner refereed the contest.

Prof. R. A. Seaton of the division of engineering left Monday for Weskon, Kansas, to carry on an acceptance test on an irrigation plant located there. Professor Seaton is doing the work for the state board of irrigation.

ALL STARS WILL PLAY SOPHS.

A Side-Splitting Comedy is Scheduled For Next Wednesday Night.

And now cometh the annual All Star aggregation dragging forth the oil can of youth and lubricating its joints in preparation for a conquest of some innocent and unsuspecting class basketball quintet. The other end of this 40-minute fracas—the weakling sophomore crew—are second placers in the 1915 class basketball race; and many thanks to the powers that govern such affairs that it is to be the second year team that is to bear the brunt of this gruelling battle! Prof. Guy S. Lowman announces this side-splitting comedy for next Wednesday night to follow the second Missouri game.

But the team that faces the All Stars this season will lose to a mighty trim aggregation of basketeers. With such players as Van Ghent, present Missouri basketball mentor and former All-Western center; Coach "Crip" Grey, of Washburn College; E. C. Quigley, of St. Marys; Coach Carl J Merner, of the Aggies, and "Dave" Shull, Aggie freshman coach; let the sophs beware and don the knee and elbow pads and as many more as can be worn with ease or oterwise.

Just to show that a win is what the All Stars are plotting for, Professor Lowman is importing this "Crip" Grey person, of Ohio State fame, for the battle. Grey performed with the All Stars last year and was the sensation of the game with his clever work in a forward position. "Quig the Roughhouse Artist" will demonstrate a few of his choice holds only used behind the plate in the National League, and the fracas promises to be one sorrowful dirge for the poor weak sophomores. And the best part of the joke is that they knew all the time just what a hornet's nest they were stepping into.

ATHLETIC K FRATERNITY MET

Will Prohibit Wearing of School Monograms Foreign to College.

The first 1915 meeting of the Athletic K fraternity was held in Athletic Director Lowman's office Monday night and more than 25 of the letter men attended. A committee was appointed to amend the constitution of the fraternity along initiation lines. The matter of securing a room in Nichols for permanent quarters for the fraternity was taken up at the meeting and a committee was appointd to met with the proper authorities.

Steps were taken to prohibit the wearing of school monograms, foreign to the Kansas Agricultural College, by freshmen and other athletes attending College. This move is a good one and will boost the value of the class and varsity monograms to the standard maintained in other institutions of the conference of which this school is a member.

A general women's field meet will be held April 24. It will be the first time the women of Stanford university have participated in national sports. Much enthusiasm is displayed by the women students in regard to these sports and keen competition is evident among the competitors.

AGGIES EXPECT CLOSE COMPETITION IN ALL EVENTS IN MEET WITH JAYHAWKERS AT LAWRENCE NEXT MONDAY.

AGGIE SPRINTERS ARE FAST

Have Better Records Than These Produced in Lawrence Tryouts—Outcome of Relay is Uncertain—Aggies Have no Pole Vaulter.

Totals	43	42

The Merner track squad meets the University of Kansas track team on Robinson boards next Monday night in a meet that gives early promise of being replete with thrilling competition in each and every event. On the strength of the old unreliable dope the affair looks exceedingly close. In many of the above events there is a question as to the awarding of the points.

The Aggies have three sprinters with records better than those produced in the 30-yard dash tryouts held at Lawrence this week. Crumbaker, Osborne, and Shelly have each made the distance in 3 2-5 seconds against the Kansas time of 3 4-5 seconds. But at that, Hilton of Kansas did not compete in the Lawrence team's tryouts, and he is rated Hamilton's best dasher.

Aggie Low Hurdler is Fast.

Last year Vandenberg and Reber staged a grand battle in the 30-yard low hurdle event. The husky Kansan is slated running the race now in 4 1-5 seconds, one-fifth of a second slower than Vandenberg has been making with exceptional case in every tryout. At Kansas, however, the sprinters use spikes and run the dash events on a board path while the Mernerites start from a frame and run on the gym floor. This may work a handicap on the local speedsters in their starting.

Again in the double furlong sprint the Aggies have two men, Captain Coith and Holroyd, racing neck and neck in every trail and making the distance in 55 seconds or better. The Kansas cork track is shorter, has sharper turns, and affords less opportunity for sprinting in the straightaways. This may knock a few seconds off of the Aggie time in this event. Rodkey has stepped the most successful 440 for the Kansas team thus far and was awarded the time of 57 1-5 seconds for his labor. By some it is figured that the Aggies will either fail to place in this event entirely or cop both places.

Relay is Uncertain.

There is also considerable room for argument in doping the outcome of the relay. The Aggies have four corking good relay artists in Captain Coith, Holroyd, Grandfield, and Lovett. K. U. lost several quartermilers by graduation last year, among them Cissna, one of the trimmest little 440 sprinters Kansas has ever developed. Coach Merner has little to say of this event but the twinkle in his eye denotes a card up his sleeve.

It is not probable that the Aggies will start a contestant in the pole-vault. Washington has been handicapped in his workouts this season by illness. Edwards would have made a strong bid for first honors in the high leap but will not be eligible until the spring term.

Will Fight for Two-Miler.

In the two-mile race the Aggie team promises to spring a neat little internal fight. Baird lost to Seeber in the last week's trials and is threatening to do things to the flying newcomer when they meet on the K. U. track. Seeber is cocky with the feather of victory flying from his hat, and is confident that neither Baird nor any of the Kansans can take his measure.

Coach Merner does not know the exact list he will take to Lawrence but the team will be selected from the following men: Osborne, Crumbaker, Shelly, Welsh, Frizzell, Vandenberg, McGilliard, Wolmer, Marble Washington, Wilder, Holroyd, Captain Coith, Lovett, Grandfield, Collins, Cromer, Weaver, Seeber, and Baird.

SCIENCE CLUB WILL MEET.

Special Meeting Tonight Will be Addressed by Arvid Reutendahl.

A special meeting of the Science club has been called for tonight at 8 o'clock in the lecture room of the engineering building. Arvid Reutendahl will give a lecture on, "The Space-Time Potential." This is a new conception of gravitation and electricity. Mr. Reutendahl is a consulting engineer and author of note in the field of advanced physics and engineering. His lecture will be of interest to all students and especially to engineering students.

GIVE OUT FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

With Exception of one Date 1915 Schedule is Complete—The Aggies Will Play Three Conference Games.

With the exception of one date, November 6, over which South Dakota and Arkansas are wrangling with Athletic Director Lowman, the 1915 schedule is complete. The Sooners will play in Manhattan next fall again and the Aggies will journey to Columbia to play the Tigers so that both Kansas and Missouri will not have to be played on College Field during the same season.

Southwestern will furnish the opposition in the annual curtainraiser of the season, October 2, and the Aggies will play four Saturday games during that month. The Cornhusker battle tle will be returned to Lincoln next fall and "Bill" Hargiss' State Normals will probably be played in Emporia according to Professor Lowman. This will give the 1915 Aggie football team three conference games, four road trips, and four games on College Field The schedule:

October 2, Southwestern college at Manhattan.

October 9, University of Nebraska at Lincoln.

October 16, Kansas State Normal at Emporia.

October 23, University of Kansas at Manhattan.

November 6, Open date.

November 13, Washburn college at Topeka.

November 30, University of Oklahoma at Manhattan.

TAKES RHEUMATIC CURE.

Short Courser Thught Electricity Would Cure Him of Ailment.

The engineering division of the College is not only teaching men the correct principles of engineering but it is also rendering medical treatment. The ther day a short course student taking the course in traction engineering decided to take treatment for rheumatism. He had heard that electricity was used successfully as a cure for this ailment, and so proceeded to the switch room of the electric light plant, located in the engineering building buliding, intent upon taking the cure. Carefully he made his way to the room and arrived at the switch board unnoticed. He cast a swift glance around the room and then with a quick movement made a grab for one of the switches.

Dean Potter happened around the corner just about that time and was astonished to see a man thrown back from the switch board against the iron railing. He rushed up to the dazed "short horn" and asked what it was all about.

'Why," said he of the crossroads, "I had heard that electricity was good for rheumatism and so decided to try it."

"It's a good thing you got hold of the switch you did," replied Dean Potter. "If you had touched that one," pointing to the switch next to the one the young fellow had grasped, "you would have been cured of your rheumatism for good."

To Have a Holiday.

Monday, February 22, being Washington's birthday all the exercises of the College will be suspended for the day. Last year February 22 came on Sunday, hence no mention of the holiday was made in the catalogue. Do to this omission in the catalogue the holiday was overlooked this year and so does not appear in this year's catalogue.

PLAN ALL-COLLEGE MIXER

EVENING WILL BE CHARACTERIZED BY SPICY, PUNGENT FUN AND JOKES THAT SAVOR OF COLLEGE DAYS.

TO BE GIVEN FEBRUARY 22

Nichols Gym Will be Bedecked in Gay Decorations—Every Organization in the College is Cooperating to Make It a Success.

Every organization in the College is actively cooperating with the plans which are formulated for an All-College Mixer to be held in Nichols gymnasium Monday night, February 22, at which every student in the College is expected to be present. A committee of 30 representative students have had their heads together for a week planning for the affair and its success is assured.

A mixer is a mingling, an associating, and this event will be one in the true sense of the word. The committee plans to bring all the different College organizations together in one large bowl, season it with fun and amusement, and stir it with College loyalty. Not a single student of the College who prides himself upon his loyalty to the Purple and White will be found absent on that evening. The day being Washington's birthday, George and Martha Washington will be there in costume to welcome you in good old colonial fashion to the pleasures of the evening.

Will Have Minstrel Show.

The feature of the evening will be a minstrel show in which 40 people representing each organization in the school will take part. Some excellent talent has been unearthed and the minstrel in itself promises to be worth an evening's hilarious entertainment. A feature of equal importance to the minstrel will be a colonial minuet which will be put on by 50 college women. They are now working on this under the direction of Miss Burnh, women's physical director. Original stunts will be given by different groups.

Will be Spicy, Pungent Fun.

The gymnasium will be bedecked for the occasion in decorations secured from Kansas City for the purpose. Refreshments will be served. The doors of the gymnasium will be thrown open at 7:30 and it is expected that 2508 students will pass through their portals to make merry in the first student mixer in the history of the College. Spicy, pungent fun will permeate the big gym and the atmosphere will fairly drip with humor as the College troubadours present in minstrel jokes that savor of the twang of College life. Midterms will be a thing of the past and a spirit of mirth and jollity will prevail as the members of each literary society, fraternity, sorority, organization, and club of the College turn out and "youthful care deride."

Jack Keine is chairman of the committee. The other mebers of the committee are: Louis Stuart, Kate Summers, Judith Briggs, Edna Barber, Ruth Hill, Bess Pyle, Louise Price, Nyle Lewallen, Gladys Spring, Dorothy Baker, Katherine Bixely, Alice Neiman Eleanor Patrick, Gleah Brown, Fanny Brooks, Madge Austin, P. H. Wheeler, Bob Cushman, F. H. Fairchild, A. E. McClymonds, Emmett Skinner, H. R. Sumner, Wm. Haggard, Chester Reeve, O. O. Browning, O. Luhnau, H. B. Bayer, and J. L. Garlow.

Dean Wm. M. Jardine will leave for Denver Monday to attend a meeting of the board of governors of the International Dry Farming Congress.

COLLEGE HAS 2663 ALUMNI

THAT MANY PEOPLE HAVE GRADUATED SINCE THE INSTITUTION WAS ESTABLISHED FIFTY-ONE YEARS AGO.

312 ARE ENGAGED IN FARMING

Engineering Profession has Called 256—The Graduates Have Scattered to 45 States in the Union and to 19 Foreign countries.

The numbers on the alumni register of the Kansas Agricultural College run up to 2663. That many students have been graduated from this institution since it was established, 51 years ago. Of this number, 1504 are women, and 1609 are men. Advanced degrees have been conferred by the College upon 26 men and three women.

Enter 19 Foreign Countries.

They have scattered to the four corners of the earth, these one-time frequenters of Anderson hall and Lover's Lane. Members of some one or more of the classes are to be found in 45 states of the union, Kansas, California, and Missouri claiming the largest number. But the boundaries of the United States by no means confine them. They have entered 19 foreign countries. Those nineteen are: Africa, Alaska, China, Turkey, Australia, Brazil, Italy, Japan, Switzerland, Mexico, England, Canada, Belgium, Germany, Hawaii, Canal Zone, Porto Rico, Scotland, and the Philippines.

Of the men graduates 68 are no longer living, and of the women 38. Farming is the favorite occupation for men, 312 being engaged in that work, with the 256 engineers running a close second. The women have chosen home making, 416 of them being numbered in that profession.

ENTER THE RED HEADS CLUB

Twelve Men With Fiery Locks Form Tentative Organization.

The latest thing on the campus is the Red-headed Men's club which was organized Friday by twelve men with fiery locks. It is not yet known as to whether the new organization intends petitioning the national fraternity of red-headed men which has chapters in several of the large institutions of the country.

A committee was appointed to draft a constitution for the club and to decide on a name. Another meeting will be held soon for the purpose of completing the details of the organization.

TO TURN LOOSE MUCH ORATORY

Fourteenth Annual Oratorical Contest will be Held Night of February 20—Orators Have Chosen Subjects.

The Fourteenth Annual Oratorical Contest of the Kansas Agricultural College will be held Saturday night, February 20, in the College auditorium. Eight literary societies will be represented, and each one of them will give a stunt or farce between the orations. The judges for thought and composition and for deliverey, have not yet been announced.

V. E. Bundy, Webster, will speak on, "The Debt;" J. P. Loomis, Athenian, has for his oration, "The Tramp Problem;" Miss Effie Carp, Browning, will talk on, "Woman's Place in Peace;" D. L. Irwin, Hamilton, will speak on, "The Last Span;" Miss Amy Gould, Ionian, has the oration, "Peace or War?" Miss Emma Taylor, Eurodelphian, will speak on, "Men in the Making;" Jay Lush, Franklin, will present "The Last Invasion;" and Walter Ott, Alpha Beta, has for his oration, "The Mission of America."

The oratorical contest is the biggest society event of the year and large crowds have always turned out. Last year the societies made sensational entrances and put on an official appearance in a body. Their stunts were good and this year they promise to be even better. At present the program is a secret but the signs of preparation behind the scenes show that there is going to be something doing this year.

CONSIDER A CLASS MEMORIAL

Committee for Senior Class Party Has Been Appointed.

The class memorial committee of the senior class is considering the idea of securing a set of chimes to be erected somewhere on the campus. Many of the larger institutions of the country have chimes and this seems to be one of the favorite memorials left by departing classes. Another idea that is being considered is the erection of an entrance to the campus just south of the gymnasium.

The seniors are planning to give a party soon. The members of the committee are: Don L. Erwin, chairman; Eva Hostetler, S. G. Fell, Bess Walsh, and J. H. Loomis.

DEMONSTRATE PANCAKE FLOUR.

D. S. Girls Fry Pancakes in Window of Gas Company's Office.

Two young ladies from the domestic science department of the College demonstrated the new pancake flour, kaferita, in the window of the gas company's office on Thursday and Friday afternoons. Delicious pancakes were served to all whom the young ladies could tempt to come in and try the new product.

Kaferita is the newest Kansas cereal product and is made from kafir corn and feterita, as the name implies. It is pronounced one of the best pancake flours on the market today.

Will Speak to College Men.

Dr. G. W. Cassidy, formerly pastor of the First Baptist church of Wichita, will speak to College men in the Y. M. C. A. at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

KANSANS ARE UNCERTAIN

DEPEND ON REBER AND RODKEY

If these Men can Secure a Couple of First Kansas Has the Edge—Jayhawkers are Weak in the Hurdle Events.

(By Earle R. Crabbe.)

Lawrence, Kansas, Feb. 12.—With tryouts for places on the Kansas track team, which battles with the Aggies at Robinson gymnasium Monday night, a thing of the past, the student body is busy doping out the meet on paper. Although most Kansans concede the Jayhawkers the edge, there is a feeling of uncertainty which was augmented by the reversal of form shown by the Manhattan basketballers.

If Reber and Rodkey, who are expected to be the most prolific point winners for Hamilton's men, can come through with a couple of first places each, Kansas looks to have the edge. Captain Edwards' return to form in the mile is also encouraging. The 1915 skipper stepped off the eight furlong distance in 4:45, which is fast going for the 18-lap track at Robinson.

Quarter to Furnish Thriller.

The quarter-mile race between Captain Coith and Rodkey is expected to furnish the thrills of the evening. Should the Aggie captain down Rodkey, it is possible that a dark horse can spring a surprise in the 880, for Fiske has been showing the effects of too much training and was unable to place in the half-mile tryout which Rodkey won in 2:09. Rodkey's 56 4-5 seconds quarter is the fastest for the short track this season.

In the hurdles all depends on the strength which the visitors can show. The Kansas team is admittedly weak here but it is hoped that the men from Manhattan will prove weak also. Hilton, the best sprinter in the University has decided not to compete until the opening of the outdoor season, throwing the burden upon Crum, a new man in intercollegiate circles and Reber of football fame.

Hope to Win Shotput.

The giant football men, Reber and Keeling, will try hard to add eight points in the shot. Reber, with a mark of 42 feet is conceded first place but the dopesters admit that Keeling will have to get in a good heave to nose out Marble. Eight points in this event would offset losses in the hurdles and dashes.

The high jump and pole vault are expected to balance points. Frizzell is conceded the high jump but Campbell is relied upon to regain these points in the pole. He has been perfecting the correct vaulting swing and looks good for eleven feet or better on the indoor floor. McKay, with his five feet six is loked upon as a strong contender for second place in the jump. Jones will contest second in the pole with Washington. Eight points in the two-mile look certain for Grady and Poos, who have covered the distance around 10-20.

Should the outcome of the meet hinge on the relay, the Kansans are confident of victory for Rodkey, Fiske, Ellswick, and Creighton, should be able to set up fast time. Henderson, one of the fastest men in college, is not out and Davis, a member of last year's quartet, was unable to win a place on the squad this year. They should average 57 seconds on the slow Kansas track.

SKINNER WILL LEAD '15 TEAM

Was Elected Captain of 1915 Football Team on First Ballot—Played End on the 1914 Team.

Emmett W. Skinner, left end on last fall's Kansas Aggie football team, was elected captain of the 1915 team at a meeting of the 1914 letter men held in Professor Lowman's office Thursday morning. The election of Captain Skinner resulted on the first ballot and the Manhattan lad merits the honor. Captain Skinner will have the services of a dozen or more veterans next fall and also several of the most promising freshmen that the school has trained in recent years.

Term Enrollment is 2508.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1915.

Could a greater miracle take place than for us to look through each other's eyes for an instant?—Thoreau.

THE IMMORTAL LINCOLN.

One hundred six years ago February the twelfth there came into the world a man who was destined to hold in his hands the future of the American nation. From his earliest boyhood days he showed signs of coming greatness and when he stepped upon the stage of the world to hold in his hands the reins of power at the most critical time in the history of the American nation, he stood forth a true leader of men; a man of truth, loyalty, patience, patriotism, and benevolence.

In the immortal Lincoln we find a man of inborn truthfulness, a man of power, a man of clear and compact statement. Humble in spirit he was, yet marked with a determination to speak the truth at any cost; to right wrong whenever the opportunity befell him. Recall his words when he first witnessed the public sale of slaves, "If ever I get a chance to hit that thing, I'll hit it hard." Little did he dream that destiny had picked him out to be the emancipator of a bondaged race.

Innumerous are the stories of our martyred president's sympathy and kindness. A busy man he was with the cares of a nation resting upon his shoulders, yet never too busy but what he had time to listen to the pathetic story of a little child. He carried in his bosom the wrongs of an oppressed race and many was the time when his rugged frame shook with the realization of the tremendous task that rested upon him.

Today the immortal Abraham Lincoln lives on in the hearts and minds of every American citizen, south as well as north. The realization of his greatness grows on and on. We think not of his care-lined brow, his shambling gait, his uncouth bearing. We only admire his Christ-like character, his noble spirations, his pathetic kindness. He fills the place in our hearts occupied by but one other, the Carpenter of Nazareth. The highest type of American manhood he is; master of men; loyal, true, patient, devoted; marked with unsullied friendship and unfaltering fidelity—that is the Immortal Abraham Lincoln.

MAN.

Thou hast made him a little lower than the angels, and hast crowned him with glory and honour.—Psalms viii, 5.

ST. VALENTINE'S DAY.

Oft have I heard both youth and virgin say
Birds chuse their mates, and couples, too, this day:
But by their flight I never can divine,
When I shall couple with my valentine. —Herrick.

The origin of the peculiar observance of St. Valentine's Day has been the subject of some obscurity. The Saint himself was a priest of Rome and was martyred in the third century. He seems to have nothing to do with the matter beyond the accident that his day is used for the festival.

In ancient Rome during the greater part of February it was the custom to celebrate the Lupercalia feasts in honor of Pan and Juno. On this occasion amidst a variety of ceremonies the names of the young women were put in a box from which they were drawn by the men as chance directed. The pastors of the early Christian church did away with the pagan customs as much as possible and substituted the names of particular saints for those of the women. Since the festival of the Lupercalia had commenced about the middle of February St. Valentine's Day was chosen for the celebration of the new feast. Thus the festival of the Lupercalia commenced on St. Valentine's Day and the modern custom may have come down from this ancient Roman festival.

One of the earliest known writers of valentines or poetical amorous addresses for the day was Charles, Duke of Orleans. We also find the festival mentioned by Chaucer and men of Shakespeare's time. One of the peculiar customs of the day as it used to be observed in England was the supposition that the first unmarried person of the other sex whom one met on St. Valentine's morning in walking abroad was destined to be your wife or husband.

Now almost everywhere St. Valentine's Day is a much degenerated festival, the only observance of any note consisting merely in the sending of jocular anonymous letters to parties whom one wishes to quiz.

LINCOLN, MASTER OF MEN.

Wisdom—no school ever taught;
Justice—no court ever knew;
Humble and mighty, God's man, paradox—
Lincoln, the stalwart, the true!

Love beyond power of speech.
Greatness beyond mortal ken,
Truth beyond power of the sages to teach—
Lincoln, master of men.
—Rose Van B. Speece.

LINCOLN'S SPRINGFIELD SPEECH

My friends, no one not in my position can appreciate the sadness I feel at this parting. To this people I owe all that I am. Here I have lived more than a quarter of a century. Here my children were born, and here one of them lies buried. I know not how soon I shall see you again. A duty devolves upon me which is greater, perhaps, than any that has devolved upon any other man since the days of Washington. He never would have succeeded except for the aid of divine Providence, upon which he at all times relied. I feel that I cannot succeed without the same divine aid which sustained him, and upon the same Almighty Being I place my reliance for support, and hope you my friends, will pray that I may receive the divine assistance without which I cannot succeed. Again I bid you all an affectionate farewell.

THAT SINFUL PRINTER.

Unobserved and unannounced the president of a church society entered the composing room just in time to hear these words issue from the mouth of the boss printer:

'Billy, go to the devil and tell him to finish that 'murder' he began this morning. Then 'kill William J. Bryan's Youngest Grandchild' and dump the 'Sweet Angel of Mercy' into the hell-box. Then make up that 'Naughty Parisian Actress' and lock up 'The Lady in Her Boudoir.' "

Horrified, the good woman fled from that place of sin, and now her children wonder why they are not allowed to play with the printer's youngster.—Press Service.

DO YOU KNOW?

That we are missing in this column?

Which one of the Lambda girls hooked one of the paragraphs and tried to make the sisters think that it was written about her?

That one sedate senior, high in class political circles, returning from the tack show one night last week swiped a bottle of milk from the porch of a Poyntz avenue residence and quaffed off on the steps of the high school building?

What young man who is ever ready to talk on the conventions of society or points of etiquette is often observed manicuring his nails in the different class rooms?

That Manhattan can boast of some of the most accommodating and obliging bankers in all this big country?

Who the victim of the following story is? He wanted to talk to HER and he was in a hurry too. Green 457 was not the number he gave but it will do for the story. The hello-girl had been recently drafted from the dry goods store and when she discovered his number was busy she murmured sweetly, 'I can't get them for you now how would you like 457 Red?"

What professor, when called out of town this week, surprised his students by leaving quiz questions with his stenographer and thus broke up several previously planned holidays?

YES, LET'S HAVE THE "K."

An article appeared in the last issue of the Collegian regarding the placing of a large concrete "K" in a suitable location. This is something the student body should take up and push. It would no doubt do all that was claimed for it in the article. It will create pep and enthusiasm among the students. It seems that everybody wants to initiate the freshmen in some way. Why not build the "K" and then let it be the duty of the freshmen to scrub and take care of this letter during the fall and spring terms of each year? This will give each class a chance at taking care of the letter. If the student body will get behind this matter the expense will not necessarily be great; we will have something to be proud of; and we can add another item to our list of pleasant memories of dear old Alma Mater when we become alumni.

Let's get behind this and push it. Take it up in the class meeting, have a committee appointed composed of representatives from each class and give this committee the power to arrange for the building of the "K." This school undoubtedly needs something of this kind so let us get busy and start it.—A. W. B.

"THE CIRCUS MAN."

The freshmen of the Sigma Nu fraternity entertained the chapter and several outside guests with a smoker at the chapter house Monday evening.

BASKETBALL ⁂ TRACK ⁂ INTRA-MURAL

BY ERLE H. SMITH

BREAK EVEN WITH KANSAS

AGGIES TAKE FIRST GAME BY A SCORE OF 21 TO 18 BUT DROP THE SECOND BY A SCORE OF 30 TO 20.

SECOND GAME WAS STIFF BATTLE

"A little red line, a strict referee, and a crippled squad did more to shatter the ever-victorious record of the 1915 Jayhawker basketball team last night in Robinson gym, than did the playing of the Kansas Aggie basketball team," says the Daily Kansan. And we beg permission to add that this old "crippled squad" and 'strict referee" line of stuff is about as far out of date as some of West's Wagons, but then Kansas always has to keep the pep alive by trying to put over some such sort of alibi. All of which was good and proper for the Mernerites trimmed the Jayhawkers, 21 to 18.

Aggies Teamwork Counts.

"But the Aggies will have to be given credit for their 21-18 victory just the same," continues the Kansan. "For it was real team-work that kept the Hamiltonians from taking the lead in the second half after they had started like mad to overcome the 11 to 4 lead of the Aggies in the coming round."

Another Kansas alibi lies in the claim that the Jayhawkers were unused to their own floor. It seems that the size of the court was for some reason or other restricted to a red line two feet inside of the old side-lines and this new one was painted red. Kansas lost the ball frequently by passing or playing out of bounds and then criticized Quigley for calling them.

The game unearthed direful misscues on the part of each team on basket tries. Kansas failed to make more than one free throw on eight chances; this, of course, being due to the fact that "Lefty" Sproull was but two hours out of the hospital where he had been suffering from a severe case of palsey.

SECOND GAME.

The Aggies dropped the second game to Kansas on the Robinson court on Thursday night after one of the stiffest fights either team has been through this season. The final score was 39 to 20, and the battle was so fierce that the leaders of each team were ruled off the floor on personals.

From the first whistle it was plain to be seen that the Jayhawkers were right and that the Aggies had a battle on their hands to keep down the score. The first period closed with Kansas in the lead 16 to 9. The summary:

CAN WE HUMBLE THE TIGER?

MISSOURI QUINTET COMES TO AGGIEVILLE TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY WITH STANDING OF 1000 IN THE CONFERENCE.

EXPECT TO TRIM THE AGGIES.

Missouri comes to Aggieville next Tuesday and Wednesday nights for the final home series on Nichols court. With a standing of 1000 in the conference ranking the Tigers are confident of trimming the Aggies and retrieving last year's unanimous defeat at the hands of the Merner contingent. Missouri has a new basketball coach this season, A. Van Gent, last year's All-Western basketball center, and one of the best all-around athletes Wisconsin has ever turned out. He has given the Tigers a new style of basketball and the success of the system was proven in the Washington-Missouri series last week when Missouri smothered the St Louisans in two games.

The Aggies will not be in the best of condition for the series judging from the looks of some of the men. The recent series at Lawrence was the most severe strain on the team that it has sustained this season. But at that Coach Carl J. Merner is expecting the Aggies to pull through the series victorious.

Novel Relays at Penn Games.

Two innovations have been added to the list of events on the program of the University of Pennsylvania. They are in the form of relay races in the first one, the man who runs first will cover a quarter of a mile, the second man a half-mile, the third three-quarters of a mile, and the last a mile, while in the other race the first two men will run a furlong each, the third a quarter-mile and the fourth and half mile. These events have been added in order to give the smaller colleges, which are frequently without good quarter-milers, a chance to use the best track talent that they possess.

$26,300 From Football.

K. U. football brought a total of $26,305.51 into the athletic treasury during the 1914 season according to a report issued today by W. O. Hamilton, manager of athletics. Of this $16,701 was taken in at the Missouri game. Expenditures netted $18,014.63 giving a profit of $8,290.88 for the season. This amount does not include $4,416.00 which was paid for student enterprise tickets.

WILL COOPERATE WITH Y. M.

Fraternities Plan to Work Hand In Hand With the Y. M.

The Y. M. C. A. and Pan-Hellenic council in a recent conference decided to cooperate to the fullest possible extent, believing that the mutual benefit would be worth the effort. The fraternities wish to get better acquainted with the non-fraternity men of the College, as both divisions have strong points, and a common cause such as the Y. M. C. A. work would bring them together to work for the common cause, the College.

At the Y. M. C. A. meeting Thursday evening, there was present all the freshmen of every fraternity in the College. Mr. McLean made a short address, followed by talks from the men present. It was decided that the fraternity should cooperate to the fullest extent in the regular Thursday evening meetings.

CLASS BOOK NEEDS SNAPSHOTS

Students are Urged to Hand In Snapshots for Royal Purple.

The Royal Purple staff is not at all satisfied with the way in which snapshots are being turned in for Volume Seven. The snapshot section is always one of the most attractive parts of the class book, but the cooperation of the student body must be had to make it a success. Students are urged to get out their cameras and secure some snapshots. These can be turned in to C. W. Shaver, W. J. Loomis, or W. N. Skourup.

Rev. Harry Fisher, a special student in the College this term, is occupying the pulpits at Stockdale and Keats while taking school work. He is a native Englishman, having been in this country only three years. His subject for next Sunday will be "Immigration," one in which he has a personal interest.

Seniors Must Pay Dues.

The senior class treasurer and the treasurer of Royal Purple have made arrangements to use the window opposite the postoffice on Wednesday afternoon, February 17, and this will be the last opportunity the members of the class will have to square themselves in regard to their class dues and assessments.

"THE TYPEWRITER MAN"

(PARODY ON MAUD MULLER)

By K. W. Hofer, "The Typewriter Man," Manager of The Manhattan Typewriter Emporium.

The typewriter-man on a summer's da y
Took his typewriter and went away.

Beneath his coat he held it tight;
Thought where he was going—his heart was light.

Singing he went, and up the road,
Journeyed onward with his precious load.

But, when he glanced to the far-off town,
White from its hill-slope looking down,

His sweet song died, and a vague unrest
And a nameless longing filled his breast—

A wish, that he hardly dared to own,
For something better than he had known.

The Judge looked 'round, standing still,
And saw the typewriter-man descend the hill.

He then stepped aside into the shade;
Accosted the typewriter-man and said:

"How is that you carry this load
Through the meadow and along the road?"

The typewriter-man stopped, all doubled up,
Took a piece of pie and filled his cup!

And asked the Judge as he looked down,
How far is it to the far-off town?

The Judge then answered with a smile,
It is only just about a mile.

"Thanks!" said the typewriter-man: 'So near?"
I'm taking a present to 'my dear.'

Then he spoke of the grass, and flowers, and trees,
Of the singing birds, and the humming bees;

And talked of his journey, and wondered whether
The clouds in the west would bring foul weather.

The typewriter-man, without a frown,
Picked up his machine and startedfor town.

And listened, while the Judge in surprise
Said, "good-bye" from his spectacle eyes.

For he, like one who has nothing to say,
Sensibly took his machine and went his way.

* * * * * * * * * * *

The Judge looked back as he climbed the hill,
And saw the typewriter-man going with a will.

And the Judge, he said: "A machine more neat,
Could not be found on any street.

Would it were mine, and I today,
Owned it all, and nothing to pay."

And the Judge sighed, as he softly said,
"A finer machine there never was made.

No breaking parts, and no lose joint;
Everything O. K. and to the point."

And he kept thinking of the machine he saw,
How it would help him in his law.

Then he thought of his typist, full of beauty,
How with that machine she could d her duty.

But closing his purse, the Judge went along,
And the typewriter-man went on and on.

But the Judge smiled that afternoon,
As his typist played with a new machine a tune.

And the young girl mused for it worked so well,
As over the keys her fingers fell.

For the typewriter-man with much care,
Had delivered the machine to the typist fair.

And the sweet typist's hazel eyes
Looked out in their innocent surprise.

For the Judge's typist who was there
Was the typewriter-man's "best" and fair.

Oft, when the wine for the Judge was red
He longed for the way-side road instead;

And closed his eyes on his garnished rooms,
To dream of meadows and clover-blooms.

And the Judge sighed, with a secret pain
"Ah that I were free again!

"Free as when I stood that day,
When the typewriter-man came along the way."

The typist wedded the typewriter-man one day;
Helped him keep books and took in pay.

And oft when the summer sun shone hot
She helped the typewriter-man in his lot;

And she heard how other machines would fall,
Under the ROYAL'S test; that was all,——

Sometimes she took up her typist work alone,
Saying only "They might have known."

For she had worked for years for business men,
And did all her work on the ROYAL 'TEN.

For of all true words of tongue or pen,
The other machines, "never have been."

And still (yet) for us all in the ROYAL there lies
Good points buried from human eyes;

And, in the future, people will say;
Get the ROYAL—the best today!

THE COLLEGE SELLS 80 HOGS.

Foot and Mouth Disease Cut Down the Average Price Considerably.

Eighty head of hogs were sold by the College at the sale conducted in the stock judging pavilion on Tuesday and Wednesday. The average selling price was $35, the Durocs outselling the other breeds by about a dollar a head. The foot and mouth disease cut down the average selling price at least $15. Newspapers over the state had said that there would be no more stock sales in the state and consequently many buyers thinking the sale had been called off did not come.

Five of the hogs were shipped to New Mexico and five went to the Louisiana state college. Many of the short and long course students in agriculture and animal husbandry made purchases. Col. L. R. Brady cried the sale.

LOSE MEET BY TWO POINTS

AGGIES NEVER HAD A BETTER CHANCE TO DEFEAT THE KANSANS—THE FINAL SCORE WAS 43 1-2 TO 41 1-2.

RELAY COST AGGIES MEET

Aggies Take Half-Mile, High Hurdles, High Jump, and Low Hurdles—Frizzell was High Individual Point Winner for Aggies.

(By E. H. Smith.)

Lawrence, Kas., Feb. 15.—The Kansas Aggies never had a better chance to defeat the University of Kansas track team than the opportunity which presented itself in Robinson gymnasium tonight, but the offering was the last word in impossibilities and Kansas won the meet by a scant two-point margin, the final score standing 43 1-2 to 41 1-2. Lovett's failure to remember the number of laps required on the Jayhawker track to constitute a lap in the relay; a momentary stop, a Kansas gain of three-quarters of a lap, and the most bitterly contested dual meet ever staged in Lawrence was won by the Jayhawkers.

The Aggies had led in the scoring from the first event and arrived at the relay with a lead of three points over the Kansans. Two thousand pleading Kansas rooters scrambled out onto the Robinson gym floor and clamored for a Jayhawker victory. After the second installment, however, the Aggies did not have a chance to win as the three-quarter lap lead Elliott gained on Lovett was too great a handicap for Holroyd and Captain Coith to overcome.

Aggies Win Half-Miler.

The meet was replete with thrilling competitions and blanket finishes. The failure of the Kansas half milers Rodkey and Fiske to place in that event was the greatest upset of dope on the evening's races. Wilder jumped into an early lead, sprinting the opening double furlong in 60 seconds flat litterally running the Kansans off their feet and completed the race in the good time of 2:10.

"Duroe" Frizzell was the high individual point winner of the meet taking first place in the high hurdles and also in the running high jump. The auburn haired Oklahoman maintained his form on the high fence event and stepped through the lane in his customary time of four and one-fifth seconds. In the high leap all that was needed to cop the initial place was 5 feet 8 1-4 inches and at that Frizzell cleared the bar with plenty of steam and height to spare.

The Mernerites assumed the lead on the opening event of the evening, which Osborne and Crumbaker took easily from Crum and Reber, and the Aggies never were headed until the relay. The mile event ranked second on the list and was featured by Joe Weaver's failure to finish although the Concordia runner staged a game lead for three-quarters of the race. Herriott jumped out into the lead at the three-quarter post and Weaver attempted in vain to catch him during the next lap but the pace was too hot for the Aggie runner and Herriott and Captain Edwards finished in order in 4:40.

Frizzell Took Hurdles.

The 30-yard high fences gave the Aggies six and one-half points when Frizzell left the marks in the lead and steamed through the course with Elliott of Kansas and Welsh of the Aggies tying for the second points. The 440 proved sensational from the start. Captain Coith and Rodkey of Kansas alternated in the lead until the fourth round when the Aggie runners feel slightly. Thirty yards from the finish Holroyd made a desperate attempt to catch and pass Captain Coith and succeeded in besting the Aggie leader at the tape. Rodkey, however, staged a grand spurt at the tape and beat Holroyd out by a single step. Rodkey's time in this race bested the Kansas indoor mark of :56 2-5 seconds made by "Cupid" Haddock in 1910.

The 30-yard low hurdles gave the Aggies another five points when "Sid" Vandenberg finished at the tape with one wild lunge for the first honors. His powerful stride over the final barrier almost upset the diminutive Aggie but he regained in wonderful form and beat the husky "Bonnie" Reber out by two feet.

Kansas Takes the Two-Mile.

The two-mile run worked another upset of Aggie dope when neither Baird nor Seeber were able to get in on the point pie. With the firing of the pistol Grady assumed the lead with Baird, Poos, and Seeber following in the order named. Baird made a rally at the end of the first mile and attempted to pass Grady but lost second position to Poos in so doing and the Kansans swept into the final lap with a century dash sprint and another eight points was chalked up to the sadly deficient Kansas score.

The pole vault netted Kansas six and one-half ponts to the Aggies point and a half when Campbell cleared the high bar with a lift of 10 feet 3 inches. Jones, recruited from the Kansas track squad's hospital list at the last moment, vaulted ten feet two inches and with Washington failed to mount higher. Reber, the king pin Kansan shot put his best effort into a heave of 40 feet 8 1-4 inches, and defeated Marble whose best mark was 40 feet 6 3-4 inches.

The Results:

30-yard dash—Won by Osborne, Aggies; Crumbaker, Aggies, second. Time 3 4-5 seconds.

Mile run—Won by Herriott, Kansas; Edwards, Kansas, second. Time 4:40.

30-yard high hurdles—Won by Frizzell, Aggies; Welsh, Aggies, and Elliott, Kansas, tied for second. Time 4 1-5 seconds.

440-yard dash—Won by Rodkey, Kansas; Holroyd, Aggies, second. Time :56 1-5 seconds.

880-yard run—Won by Wilder, Aggies; Cromer, Aggies, second. Time 2:10.

30-yard low hurdles—Won by Vandenberg, Aggies; Reber, Kansas, second. Time 4 seconds flat.

2-mile run—Won by Grady, Kansas; Poos, Kansas, second. Time 10:20 2-5.

High jump—Won by Frizzell, Aggies; McKay, Kansas, and Weimer, Aggies, tied for second. Height 5 feet 8 1-4 inches.

16-pound shot—Won by Reber, Kansas; Marble, Aggies, second. Distance 40 feet 8 1-4 inches.

Pole vault—Won by Campbell, Kansas; Washington, Aggies, and Jones, Kansas, tied for second. Height 10 feet 3 inches.

Relay—Won by Kansas (Eliswick, Elliott, Creighton and Captain Edwards). Time 3:51 3-5.

Referee and starter—John C. Grover, Kansas City Athletic club.

THE FARCE WAS A SUCCESS.

Large Crowd Enjoyed Intersociety Farce in Spite of Rain.

The annual intersociety farce given last Friday night in the College auditorium was an unqualified success. The audience was very large in spite of the rain and the presentation of the play was all that could be desired.

The acting was snappy and full of life. Nothing dragged and the plot was not obscure. Well known faculty members and students were impersonated in a remarkably realistic way. The entire four acts were full of bright sparkling humor and funny situations.

The stellar parts of the farce were played by Miss Wilma Burtis, R. H. Ferguson, and Zeno C. Rochel but the entire cast showed the effect of thorough rehearsal. One of the enjoyable features of the evening was the music furnished between acts by the College orchestra.

CONVENTION DRAWS 580 MEN

Parsons Plans for Another Livestock Convention Next Year.

More than 500 men and women of southeastern Kansas attended the livestock convention held at Parsons last week. So much interest was shown that tentative arrangements were made for holding a similar convention there next year.

Among the lecturers at the convention were President H. J. Waters, Mrs. Cora G. Lewis, and Dean J. H. Miller.

German Club Will Meet.

The German club will meet at the home of Prof. and Mrs. J. V. Cortelyou, 5 Park Road, on Friday evening, February 19. Reflectoscope pictures of Germany will be shown and explained by Professor Cortelyou. Members requested to bring with them their books, "Im Vaterland."

SOCIETY ORATORS WORK HARD

PREPARATIONS FOR THE FOURTEENTH ANNUAL ORATORICAL TO BE GIVEN SATURDAY NIGHT ARE IN FULL SWING.

SOCIETIES WILL GIVE STUNTS

Speculation as to the Winners runs High—Eight Orators Will Compete—The Alpha Beta Orator Won Contest Last Year.

Preparations for the Fourteenth Annual Oratorical Contest which will be held in the College auditorium Saturday night are now in full swing. Speculation regarding the winners runs riot and each society is confident that its orator will win the contest.

Before every oration the society to be represented by the speaker will be allowed ten minutes for a stunt. This will relieve the evening of any tediousness which an unbroken series of talks might give it. After all the orations have been given each society will be given three minutes for a demonstration, followed by the decision of the judges.

Of the preceding contests the Alpha Betas have won two, the Ionians four, the Hamiltons three, the Athenians one, the Franklins one, and the Websters two.

Sections will be reserved for the societies. After the contest the societies will adjourn to their halls and the candy kitchen for social meetings. Following are the orators and the societies they represent: V. E. Bundy, Webster; J. P. Loomis, Athenian; Miss Effie Carp, Browning; D. L. Erwin, Hamilton; Miss Amy Gould, Ionian; Miss Emma Taylor, Eurodelphian; Jay Lush, Franklin; Walter Ott, Alpha Beta.

WILL PREACH 1915 SERMON

Rev. G. L. Robinson, Archeologist, Will Deliver Baccalaureate.

The Rev. George Livingston Robinson, professor of Old Testament literature and exegesis in McCormick Theological seminary, Chicago, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class June 13 next. Doctor Robinson's acceptance of the invitation extended to him by the College has just been received by Dr. J. E. Kammeyer.

Doctor Robinson is prominent as an archeologist and as a writer and speaker on theological and historical subjects. He has made careful explorations of the Sinal peninsula and of Kadesh-Barnea. He is the discoverer of the sixth and seventh wells of Beersheba and of the original "high place" at Petra, the capital of Edom. These discoveries have placed him in the forefront of American biblical archeologists. He is the author of "Leaders of Israel," "The Book of Isaiah," the "The Abiding Value of the Old Testament," and is a frequent contributor to theological journals.

Doctor Robinson holds bachelor's and master's degrees from Princeton university and the degree of doctor of philosophy from the University of Leipzig.

MANY STUDY ADVERTISING.

The College is one of 26 Institutions Offering the Course.

The Kansas Agricultural College is one of 26 institutions in the United States which offer instruction in advertising. The course here, which deals with farm advertising and embraces general advertising principles as applied to agricultural products and enterprises, is taught by Prof. H. W. Davis.

The total number of students enrolled in advertising in the United States is in excess of 1000, although courses in the subject have been offered for only half a dozen years. By far the largest enrollment is in New York university where 150 students are studying the subject under professors in the institution and city advertising men.

A number of city high schools are now teaching advertising, particularly as related to letter writing and newspaper copy. A ful course in advertising is being planned for next year for the Des Moines (Iowa) high schools.

Quill Will Not Meet.

The Quill club has postponed its regular meeting from February 22 to March 8, because of the Y. W.-Y. M. mixer to be held on February 22.

TO MAKE MIXER A SUCCESS

COMMITTEE OF THIRTY REPRESENTATIVE STUDENTS ARE PLANNING FOR A FROLIC TO BE HELD IN NICHOLS GYM.

WILL HAVE A MINSTREL SHOW

College Funsters will Give Witty Take-Offs on College Life—Girls are Busy Practicing for the Old Colonial Minuet.

Plans for the All-College Mixer which will be held in the Nichols gymnasium on the night of February 22 are being worked out by the committee of thirty representative students who have charge of the evening's entertainment. Everybody is showing a willingness to help in spite of the fact that this is mid-term week, and the event promises to be a success.

The people who will take part in the minstrel show are practicing their parts and this feature of the evening will be worth an hour of anybody's time. The details of the minstrel show are being kept a secret but it has been learned that there will be a buck and wing dance, a potato pipe solo, and other events of equal importance. Two very capable end-men have been secured to hold down those important positions and they promise that the air will drip with witty take-offs and puns on College life.

The old Colonial minuet which will be put on by the girls under the direction of Miss Burns, women's physical director, will be one of the features of the evening. The girls are busy practicing and their event promises to take you back to Colonial times.

Monday, February 22, will be a holiday so it is expected that every student in the College will turn out and help make this first mixer of the College a success.

SEND MAIL TO DR. TANQUARY

Letters Must be Sent Before February 20.

Word has been received that a small package of first class mail can be sent to members of the Crockerland expedition who return this fall. Letters for Dr. M. C. Tanquary of the Kansas Agricultural College, sent on the expedition by the University of Illinois, and for all members of the party will be delivered through the kindness of Knud Rasmussen, the explorer, who leaves Copenhagen, Denmark, early in March for Upernavik, Greenland. From there the mail will go by siedge to headquarters at Etah. Mail should be first class only and should be sent not later than February 20 in care of Dr. E. O. Hovey, American Museum of Natural History, 77 and Central Park West, New York City.

ANNOUNCE THE SUMMER SCHOOL

Folder Tells of Courses to be Offered in June and July.

A most attractive folder printed in red and black announces the summer school of the Kansas Agricultural College, to be held from June 17 to July 29. The folder contains a map of the United States, showing the College as the geographical and agricultural center. The announcement was prepared by E. L. Holton, director of the school, and H. W. Davis, assistant professor of the English language.

The school for rural leaders is to be held from July 6 to 15. In the regular summer session will be offered work in preparation for teaching, school administration along vocational lines, farm management, the government service, and other fields, as well as a good many courses similar to those offered in the academic year proper.

ORCHESTRA IS WORKING HARD

The Sixth Annual Concert Will Be Given March 4.

The College orchestra is busily working for the sixth annual symphony concert which will be given in the College auditorium the night of March 4. This is always one of the musical events of the college year and those who have attended former concerts can vouch for the excellent quality of the music rendered by the College orchestra. One of the features of the concert will be a concerto played by Miss Fancheon Easter with the orchestra. The orchestra is under the leadership of Prof. R. H. Brown.

Saturday's edition of the Collegian will contain the cuts and writeups of the society orators, also a 2-page supplement dealing with the moving picture question. Some startling opinions by College students and heads of departments will be printed. Order your extra copy at the Collegian office before Friday noon.

LOOK FOR COLLEGE WRITERS.

Quill Fraternity Will Take in New Members Soon.

Students desiring membership in the Quill, a national writer's fraternity should have their manuscripts prepared in the next few weeks ready for submission to the membership board. Owing to the fact that membership depends solely upon merit, the Quill is unable to pledge as do other honorary fraternities, but makes the applicant prove his worth with a paper of not more than 2,000 words. The principal requirement of this paper is that it must be interesting, the test of a good writer. Both men and women are eligible for membership, which is limited. Papers should be in not later than March 1.

THE WATER HAD SOAP IN IT.

Short Course Student Thought Trick Was Being Played on Him.

Occasionally the engineering department of the College makes use of the city water. It was at one of these times that a short course student in traction engineering stepped up to a faucet intending to get a drink. Of course his surprise can be imagined when a milky white stream of water shot forth from the pipe. He was heard to mumble something when someone standing by asked him what was the matter.

"Oh, those fellows are trying to play jokes on us again," he answered. "See they have put soap in the water."

CHANGE DATE OF TRI-STATE

It will Come on March 19 Instead of March 2.

TIGERS WIN

CLOSE GUARDING OF MISSOURIANS WAS TOO MUCH FOR AGGIES—MERNERITES PLAY 13 MINUTES WITHOUT SCORING.

FINAL SCORE WAS 26 TO 16

Short Pass of the Tigers Proves Successful—Aggie Quintet Appears to b Still Suffering from Drubbing Received from Kansas.

(By E. H. Smith.

Out-passing and out-guarding the Aggies from the first whistle of last night's game on Nichols court, the University of Missouri basketball team won its third straight conference game, 26 to 16. For thirteen minutes of the opening round the Aggies were helpless in the close-guarding arms of the Missourians. And during this shut-out demonstration the Missourians were hammering the Aggie basket while the bluff was working and the lead they established tided them over the tape at the finish.

Reynolds Made First Score.

A flash shot following the recovery of a Missouri player's fumble gave Reynolds the first Aggie score in the fourteen minutes of play. The purple forward followed this with another pair of sensational tallies and Right Forward Adams dropped the fourth brace through the ring for the Aggies' total in the first round.

The game resolved into a bitter battle in the second round with the Aggies trying desperately to overcome the lead Missouri piled up in the first half. Too many long passes proved the undoing of the Mernerites however, as the Tiger guards, Captain Palfreyman and Jake Speelman, were high in the air on every flip and pulling the sphere in from all directions.

Tigers Use Short Passes.

Opposed to this long-passing style was the short snappy passing play of the Van Ghent crew. The latter proved successful even in the hands of the clumsy yet clever Drum. Missouri's defense raked the ball in and worked it up-floor with speed seldom seen on the Nichols court.

But the Aggies were off-form a mile. Captain Jones failed on every attempt to score via the free-throw route and Center Leonard could not make his shots behave. Reynolds was the most consistent performer for the locals with five shots from the field to his credit. Bengston went in at right forward in the last five minutes of the play and succeeded in caging two buckets from the field. Taken all the way around it is safe to say that the Aggies were still suffering from the pummelling they received in the recent Kansas series. Thirteen minutes play without a score is an unusual performance for the Purple players.

DOCTOR WATERS' REPORT IS OUT

Government has Printed His Report on Philippine Agriculture.

"Development in the Philippines," Pres. H. J. Waters' report on what he saw and experienced in the Philippines last summer, made its appearance this week. The volume is printed by the government and bound in green limp leather. The report tells of the waste going on in the Philippines and of possible remedies. Doctor Waters advocates a unification of the school system, especially along the lines of agriculture. His book is written for use in the Philippines, hence all money calculations have been made in pesos.

I can but trust that good shall fall
At last—far off—at last, to all,
and every winter turn to spring.
—Tennyson.

THE STUDENT MIXER.

At last it has come, the student mixer. For once the students of the College are to be given the opportunity to get together, to associate, and to become acquainted.

A mixer is just what the student body needs. There is too much of a feeling of hostility between the members of the various organizations. It seems that we have forgotten that we are all here for a common purpose, that of securing an education, and that we should work together during the four years we are here. It is true some do not come for that purpose, but it is also true that they do not remain long. Witness the fact that more than half a hundred failed to return at the beginning of this term because they did not convince the powers that be that their primary reason for coming to the College was that of securing an education.

It is time that this spirit of unfriendliness should be broken up. The mixer has accomplished this at the University of Kansas, at the University of Nebraska, and at Ohio State. Why should it not do as much for the student body has? It will if the students will but cooperate. If everybody will work together and come out the night of February 22 wonders can be accomplished.

The big gym is going to be bedecked in Kansas City decorations expressly for the purpose. There will be a minstrel, an old Colonial minuet, stunts, music, and refresments. A good time will be assured all who come. And further Monday the twenty-second is a holiday so no one can make the excuse that he has to remain at home to study. Every student who believes that he secures the greatest good only from meeting and knowing the maximum number of his fellow students will be found in Nichols gymnasium that night. Every student who has the welfare of the College at heart will be there. These mixers are going to be held right along throughout the remainder of th school year. Eventually you will come, why not to this first one?

SELF-CONTROL.

He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that ruleth his spirit than he that taketh a city.—Proverbs xvi, 32.

PRINCETON'S MILITARY COURSE.

What may be regarded as Princeton's attitude on the question of national preparedness for war, as well as an outline of the probable action of the New Jersey University in this matter, was set forth by President John Grier Hibben at the annual dinner of the Princeton Alumni Association of Montclair and vicinity at Montclair. He said:

"Preparation for an event which pray God may never come to us is not militarism. If the war department were the Government, that would be militarism; if the war department dominated the Government, that would be militarism. It is not militarism, it is not fostering militarism, so to prepare our young men that they will go out from our institutions of learning having a ground knowledge of the science of war, the theory upon which battles are conducted and campaigns waged. There are a million or more of our young men today who would freely offer themselves to the cause of their country at the first call; but what would their fine spirit avail if they came forth having nothing to give?

"I am informed upon the highest authority that knowledge necessary to prepare a young man, or body of young men, in the ground-work of military knowledge need not come through drilling with arms, through wearing uniforms, through dress parade and practical tactics, but through instruction in the lecture room. And at present the faculty is considering a request, and will probably grant it, to install such a course at Princeton. It will not be a part of the curriculum; it will not be compulsory; students may elect it as they please. But in event of our taking the proposed action a regular army officer will visit Princeton once a week, and will conduct the course regularly throughout the college year."—Ohio State Lantern.

The true worth of a man is to be measured by the objects he pursues. —Marcus Aurelius.

Such contests as the last two basketball games with Kansas and the track meet Monday night prove that the time is not far distant when the Jayhawk will cease to humble the Aggie athletes.

Our friend the Spotlight has again appeared upon the campus. We note considerable improvement in the sheet, no doubt due to the fact that the first issue received the support of the students. For the little "How-do-you-do" accorded the Collegian we are duly thankful. We notice that the Spotlight has one misfortune which the Collegian is also suffering under, the habit students have of reading the paper over another's shoulder.

DO YOU KNOW?

That a certain good looking ag school lad while attending a taffy pull, succeeded in sitting down in a plate of cooling candy?

What chubby little freshman has scored twelve tumbles already this winter and is becoming so proficient that she can juggle a dish of salad during one of these stunts and keep it right side up?

What clerk in the new ag. building likes to have the head of her department go out of town because she enjoys assuming the additional authority caused by his absence?

That some people are getting a good bit of free advertising out of this column?

That the Phi Phi name plate has gone to hunt the porch swing?

What Phi Phi always has a book with her when she gets on the street car and if she can locate a professor on board she takes a front seat and studies diligently but if the necessary audience is lacking well — — —?

That one senior boy has had nine pictures taken for the Class Book and is still dissatisfied and expects to have some more taken next week? Vanity! Vanity!

What senior civil engineer who never smokes, drew a two pound humidor of fine smoking tobacco at one of the Aggieville restaurants yesterday?

That a group of students have boycotted a certain merchant in Aggieville because he did not keep a path open in front of his house during the recent snow?

Who was sitting in the Eta Beta porch swing when the chain broke?

That there is a certain house on Fairchild street with an attic window that rattles when the wind blows and that a young man who passes there quite often has the idea that some of the girls who room there are tapping on the glass and trying to flirt with him?

That a student in the school of agriculture is still ignorant of the action taken by the "K" men and appeared at the Missouri game with two K's on his sweater?

That one of the Theta Chi's who wears a white coat waited with her escort on someone else's porch for a street car for half an hour during the rain last Friday evening and the service was about as good as usual?

What maiden at a popular rooming house rushed down and signed for a special delivery letter Sunday before she discovered the missive was for another girl?

Engineers Get Positions.

J. A. Everson, manager of the International Harvester Company of America, visited the engineering division of the College last Thursday. The object of his visit was to secure the services of some of the engineers who will be graduated this spring. C. W. Giffen and J. B. Parsons were recommeded.

Mrs. R. G. Taylor and Mrs. E. V. James entertained for their friends on the faculty at the home of Mrs. James, 621 Humboldt street, Friday and Saturday afternoons.

The Dramatic club is a representative organization and its membership is open to all members of the student body.

Reed, Prof. W. A. Cochel, Ass't. Prof. J. B. Fitch, and Prof. Wm. A. Lippincott. Light refreshments were served and all had a good time.

Will Have Another Chance.

It was stated in last Saturday's issue of the Collegian that Wednesday, February 17, would be the last opportunity the seniors would have of paying up class dues and assessments. This was a mistake as the final date for the payment of such obligations has not yet been set. W. F. Smith, class treasurer, will notify the delinquent seniors of the exact date which will close the period for payment of class dues and assessments.

WANT A "K?"

The fresman and sophomore classes have been agitating the proposition of putting a large concrete "K" on Bluemont or some suitable location where it may be seen from the College. During the fall term the freshmen took the matter under consideration but found that the expense would be too great for that class to bear. Since then several freshmen have been agitating the matter, and last Thursday the sophomores voted to cooperate with the other classes and bear their share of the expense in putting the letter "K" in a suitable location. The sophomores are very enthusiastic over the idea, and if the juniors and seniors will just get busy now and do their share, the matter can be carried through. The freshmen could be required to take care of the letter each year, and it would be something of which the students would be proud.—A. B.

PLAY IS AN UNUSUAL COMEDY.

"A Pair of Sixes" Comes to the Marshall February 19.

The Marshall theatre offers for one performance Friday, February 19, H. H. Frazee's international comedy hit, "A Pair of Sixes." This unusual and novel comedy, which ran for nearly a year on Broadway at the Longacre theatre, was acknowledged by New York critics to be something new in farce, and although the blase gentlemen of the press do not usually indulge in hyperbole, the concessus of their opinion seemed to be that not since the days of the lamented Chas. H. Hoyt had anything so agreeable in the way of farce been offered the metropolitan showgoer. The tremendous success which has greeted the comedy wherever it has appeared has proven them exactly right in their opinions. The story is unusual and full of satire and humor of the highest class and the logical plot is sufficiently surprising in the climaxes of the situations involved to command the eager and undivided attention of the audience throughout the action of the piece. "A Pair of Sixes" sets forth the troubles of two partners in the pill business whose natures are so antagonistic that they are absolutely unable to get along together. Finally so heated do their daily altercations become that they call in their lawyer to settle their partnership. He finds this to be an impossible task as neither of the partners will sell his interest to the other. He finally hits on an idea which he induces the belligerants to accept, and so novel does it prove that it not only furnishes more laughs than comedy generally affords, but provides the name of the piece as well.

Dr. John R. Macarthur addressed the Patron's association at Randolf Friday. Saturday morning he talked to the teachers' association.

BASKETBALL ⁂ TRACK ⁂ INTRA-MURAL

BY ERLE H. SMITH

ILLI WILL INVADE THE WEST

ILLINOIS TRACK MEN WILL COMPETE IN DUAL MEET WITH UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA THIS SPRING.

TEAM WILL TAKE FIFTEEN MEN

Coach Harry Gill's Illinois track men, western champions, will invade California next spring and compete in a dual meet with the University of California track squad at Berkeley.

An invitation from California was accepted immediately after the council of administration had given its approval. The jaunt will be made during the Easter vacation. California offered to pay the expenses of fifteen men, which means a warm competition among Gill's athletes for the honor of representing Illinois against Coache Christie's men at Berkeley.

Strong Team on Coast.

California is reported to have a strong team and the coast stars will also have a great advantage in competing at home. Their work always has suffered when they changed climates. It is believed that Christie must have a great squad, else he would not go to the expense of taking Gill's men such a distance.

Because of the limit of fifteen men, the Illini will have a great little struggle of their own for places. While Gill has lost his great point winners, Sanders and Henderson, he has most of the other athletes who led the way in the 1914 campaign. Second string men unless they are versatile have little chance of making the trip.

Indoor Situation Promising.

Illini prospects for the indoor season are regarded as bright, although Coach Gill lost a promising sophomore when Irish went home to Oak Park. The former inter-scholastic star is in poor health and his athletic career probably is ended. He had been slated as a running mate to the fleet Hohman in the dashes.

A prospect that there will be no indoor dual meets this winter shocks the Illini rooters. There is some question as to whether the annual competition with Chicago will be staged. Last year the Illini were billed to appear at Chicago, but the scarlet fever scare caused the cancellation of the meet. This year Illinois is scheduled to travel to Stagg Field for an outdoor meet and the Illini are disinclined to make two trips.

Will Consider Case?

Whether or not the University of Illinois has the right to drop from the rolls all students not making a satisfactory grade, will be decided at the spring term of the Illinois court when the suit of Miss Marie Seebach against the University of Illinois trustees will be heard. Miss Seebach was dropped from the university in 1908 for making grades unsatisfactory to the faculty. She had been in attendance at the university two years and expected to get a teacher's certificate at the time of her dismissal.

Coach Bowman issued a call today for all outfield and infield candidates to meet for the first practice in Nichols gym Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

IS AGAINST PAID COACHES

PRESIDENT JOHN HIBBEN OF PRINCETON SAYS ATHLETICS ARE SUFFERING FROM OVER-ORGANIZED SYSTEM OF COACHING

MAKE CAPTAINS RESPONSIBLE

President John Grier Hibben, of Princeton University, in his annual report to the Board of Trustees, expresses the hope that paid coaches in athletics would soon disappear. "Athletics are suffering from an over-organized system of coaching," he said, and he believed that more responsibility should be placed on team captains. If undergraduates should be released from "unnatural domination of their sports by graduate coaches," he said, "inter-collegiate sport would be liberated from the abnormal incubus of a superimposed system which tends to make puppets of the players."

Particularly in Football.

President Hibben continued: "Particularly in the game of football the captain of the team should be the sole responsible person for the management of his men, devising and directing their play in practice games so that in the critical situations of a great contest he and his team will rise to the occasion and win or lose with honor. It is quite absurd when one comes to think of it, that the control of the team in all preliminary games should be in the hands of a body of men who are relegated to the side lines when play is on.

Undergraduate Affair.

"After all, it is an undergraduate affair, and the game should be played by undergraduates. If you place upon them the responsibility they will respond to it, for it is certain that responsibility always provokes efficiency. That men may be resourceful in emergency they must be schooled in the art of resourcefulness by some stimulation of their latent powers of ingenuity. If we release our undergraduates from the unnatural domination of their sports by graduate coaches and from the confusion of many minds and voices in the direction of their activities we will simplify the whole athletic situation and eliminate inter-collegiate sport from the abnormal incubus of a superimposed system which tends to make puppets of the players, limiting the spontaneity and free play of their natural initiative."

Sport Salad

Volleyball has been added to the list of feminine sports at the University of Colorado. Archery, basketball and field hockey are also indulged in by the fair ones of Colorado.

Track prospects at Cornell are bright for another championship, and the preparations for the final tests in the spring have already started. Cornell won the championship last year and also the silver cup, and, with a veteran squad back this year, is looking for as good if not better, showing than that of last season.

Chicago university's wrestlers have declined to meet Iowa on the local mat, and Manager Nelson A. Kellogg will endeavor, he stated, to secure a date with another Conference team. He has booked a match with the Nebraska mat performers, who will come here in February or March. Ames has refused Iowa a date. The Hawkeye wrestlers will go to Lincoln, Neb., to participate in the western championship tournament, probably in Apr.

If this year's pitching staff can not get 'em over it will not be Coach Lowman's fault. Five regulation plates have been painted on the gym floor and at the proper distances the corresponding pitchers slabs are located. This should prove a great aid to the youngsters and help the older heads to get control and the proper idea of distance.

Robert Layfield, the Johns Hopkins student who got his neck broken in a football game last fall, is expected to recover. Last week an operation was performed by physicians in Wilmington, Del., and it was found that the spinal cord was severely injured but not fractured. The fact that the case has been lingering so long has proved a great surprise to surgeons throughout the United States. A dislocated neck usually means instant death. The surgeons who performed the operation believe that Mr. Layfield has a fair chance to recover.

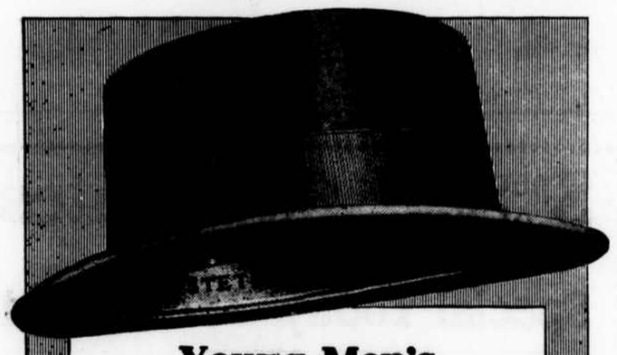

Coach Lundgren, Michigan varsity baseball tutor, will not direct the destinies of his team from the bench this year. Instead, he will sit in the grandstand and behave like any other spectator, not even being allowed to flash signals to his charges on the diamond during the progress of a game. This new ruling was adopted by the board of control of the athletic association, at a meeting held Jan. 29. The sponsors of the rule intend to develop responsibility among the players, and thus eliminate as much as possible the professional element from university baseball. In case Michigan's opponents fail to follow the Wolverine's lead in this matter, the varsity may be somewhat handicapped in games in which they are pitted against professional coaches on the bench.

Captain Raymond Eichenlaub, Notre Dame's most noted athlete, has quit college athletics, according to an announcement by Coach Rockne. Ray Eichenlaub, one of the greatest fullbacks who ever trod the gridiron, has been twice All-Western fullback and year before last was second choice for All-American. He will graduate in architecture in June and additional scholastic work incident to graduation will prevent him from taking any further part in athletics. "Eich" is one of the best shot throwers and discus throwers in the west. Eichenlaub is immensely popular with the student body at Notre Dame and was last year presented with a silver loving cup by the students as a token of their appreciation of his good fellowship and athletic prowess.

As a climax to the Columbia alumni day, the great question of the restoration of the varsity football will be settled so far as the graduates are concerned. The Alumni News has received many suggestions relative to the restoration of the gridiron game, and it has been decided to take up the question apart from the student campaigns. Frederick B. Irvine, a prominent alumnus who rowed three years on the varsity crew and played tackle on the 1900 football team, said Columbia should not attempt to play Yale, Harvard, or Princeton if football is resumed until the sport is back to the plane of 15 years ago. One big game, in his opinion, with Pennsylvania or Cornell ought to suffice for a while. Carlton H. Hayes, professor in history and one of the most popular members of the faculty, said that chances for the restoration of football were better than at any time since it was abolished in 1905. The success of the crew will help put the sport back in good favor. When football was in such a bad state of affairs the crew also was on the rocks, he said, and it was a case of abolishing one or the other.

Say Paw, will you send me $6.85, I want to go the Varsity Shop and get a sweater, they are giving 20% discount. I want to get a ball glove, and bat, too, also a tennis racket and a ball, and a pair of tennis shoes. I heard a senior say that was the place to buy them, and seniors know everything.

I know I will be strong with the girls at home if you let me join the B. O. O. B. Fraternity, and they will all be wanting to wear my pin.

VOLUME 21. NUMBER 40. KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1915. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

LET'S MEET AT THE MIXER

THERE WILL BE SONGS, STUNTS, MINSTREL SHOW, AND COLONIAL MINUET AT THE MIXER MONDAY NIGHT.

OZMENT'S BAND WILL PLAY

Air Will Resound With Catchy Rags—Witticisms of Homemade Comedians Will Convulse You—Is Given by Y. W. and Y. M. C. A.'s.

Monday night, February 22, will see one of the most hilarious gatherings in Nichols gymnasium that has assembled there for some time when the 2507 students of the College turn out to the All College mixer, which will be held under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A and Y. M. C. A. A minstrel show, an old Colonial minuet, songs, stunts, humor, and Burr Ozment's collection of peerless musicians will furnish the entertainment of the evening.

When the Band Plays.

The doors of the big gym will open at 7:15 and from that minute on there will be one continuous stream of college students into the halls of fun; there to forget examinations and studies, to get acquainted, to mix and to "drive dull care away." Precisely at 7:30 the sweet-toned instruments of Burr Ozment's musicians will send forth their melodious sounds and for the all too short space of 30 minutes the breezes will waft to the outside world the strains of, "Ball'in the Jack," "Tipperary," "I Knew Him When He Was All Right," and other catchy rags.

A Southern Scene.

When the College troubadours take the stage and the end-men begin their take-offs on college life and campus curiosities; when the southern-toned voices of the dusky minstrels ring forth on, "When That Midnight Choo Choo Leaves for Alabam," then the audience will be transported to a southern clime and the gym will suddenly become the scene of a southern minstrel show. The atmosphere will fairly drip with mirth and humor and you will be convulsed with the witticisms of the homemade variety of comedians.

A Colonial Scene.

The scene will shift and the audience will be transported to Colonial times when they witness the old Colonial minuet staged by the women of the College under the direction of Miss Burns. Then when the hand of the clock on the east wall points to a half after ten, the two thousand five hundred will partake of delectible delicacies served by many charming girls.

Perhaps the big hand of the clock will have covered the little hand up and bid it a fond goodnight, and perhaps not, when the mirthful students emerge from the gym and wend their devious ways homeward; but nevertheless on the tongue of every departing merry-maker will be the exclamation, "I never had a better time in all my life!"

HAS SUCCESSFUL Y. W. YEAR.

Purdue Association has Increased Its Influence Among Girls.

At the end of the last semester the Purdue Y. W. C. A. closed the most successful year of its history. During the past few years this organization has steadily increased its influence among Purdue girls.

This year it has a membership of 105, which is a gain of 28 percent over last year and is the first year that the organization has had special rooms of its own. The rooms are located in Ladies' Hall. They consist of a rest room and an assembly room, the rest room being well furnished and a pleasant place for the girls to meet between classes. The assembly room, which accommodates 50 people, is also the meeting place of the Purdue Girls' club.

Will Address Y. W. C. A.

Miss Maude Kelsey, traveling secretary of foreign missions for the Y. W. C. A. will address a joint meeting of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. Sunday afternoon in the Y M. C. A gymnasium at 4 o'clock.

SECURE JOBS FOR ENGINEERS.

Committee Hopes to Have All '15 Engineers Placed by April.

A committee composed of Dean A. A. Potter, Prof. J. D. Walters, Prof. L. E. Conrad and Prof. C. E. Reid is busy lining up positions for the 1915 crop of engineers. Almost 25 per cent of the class have already definitely secured positions. The committee intends to have all the men located by the first part of April.

HOLD BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT.

Nine High School Teams Will Compete in Meet in Nichols.

Guy S. Lowman, physical director of the College, announced Friday morning that the annual basketball tournament of the high school teams of the Fifth Congressional district will be held in the College gymnasium, March 5 and 6.

There will be nine teams in the tournament, from the high schools of Chapman, Abilene, Clay Center, Salina, Manhattan, Alta Vista, Wamego, Glasco, and Minneapolis.

TO GIVE SCIENTIFIC LECTURE

Montraville Wood Will Give Demonstrations of Ultra-Violet Ray and Gyroscope in Auditorium Feb. 26.

Montraville Wood, scientific lecturer, will appear in the College auditorium in a regular Lyceum course engagement on the night of February 26. His entertainment will be divided into two parts, one the demonstration of the ultra-violet ray and the other the demonstration of the gyroscope. Mr. Wood carries with him a large amount of paraphernalia and equipment.

Mr. Wood does not give an ordinary lecture. He entertains his audience with some marvelous demonstrations of modern scientific discoveries. It is almost impossible to describe the beauties of the ultra-violet ray. The ray itself is invisible to the eye, but its effect upon articles of various kinds in the matter of color production is a source of never ending surprise.

Another feature of Professor Wood's program will be the running of a mono-rail car through the air above an aisle out through the auditorium. The car is kept balanced by means of the gyroscope. There will be many other instructive and interesting phases of this scientific lecture in which all students should be interested.

Single admission tickets will be on sale at the College auditorium the night of the lecture. The entertainment will begin at 8:15 p. m.

Dramatic Club Will Present "Facing the Music" on March 1.

"Facing the Music," the annual Dramatic club play, will be presented in the College auditorium on the night of March 1. This is an English play, written by James Henry Darnley. The cast is being coached in individual and collective rehearsals by Prof. A. E. Shower of the public speaking department. Special scenery has been secured for the presentation of the play. The College orchestra will furnish the music.

The Dramatic club is a representative student organization and takes its members from the general student body. Its aim is to improve its members in dramatic expression and to this end it presents numerous short plays, as well as the annual play which is the dramatic feature of the year.

Admission for this year's play has been placed at 25 cents. Tickets can be secured from the Co-op book store, Knostman's, either of the Palace drug stores, and from members of the club. Students who wish to earn their admission may secure tickets at Professor Shower's office, at the Collegian office, or from members of the club.

IOWA WANTS NEW BUILDINGS

State Board Will ask Legislature for Half Million Dollars.

A new dental building to be erected at a cost of $150,000; a new detention hospital to cost $30,000; and a new botany and geology building to cost $225,000 are among the items which the Iowa State Board of Education will recommend to the state legislature in behalf of the State University of Iowa, when the annual report of the board is presented to the lawmakers within the next few days.

In addition to these three new structures the board will also recommend the remodeling of the chemistry building at a cost of $10,000 and the erection of a library wing to cost $100,000. The library building of which the wing will be a part will cost $350,000 when completed. The total amount of appropriation asked by the State university totals $515,000.

Dave Shull is spending the week-end with his parents in Kansas City, Missouri.

HOLD CHAPEL ONCE A WEEK

DURING SPRING TERM CHAPEL TO BE HELD FROM 9 to 10 O'CLOCK ON EITHER TUESDAY OR THURSDAY.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON IS OPEN

Second Hour Solids Will Run Monday, Wednesday, Friday, Saturday—The Morning Session Will Close at 12 O'Clock; Afternoon Session at 5.

Chapel exercises will be held but one day each week during the spring term, according to the recommendation made by the schedule committee at the last faculty meeting. This weekly chapel will be held from 9 to 10 o'clock on either Tuesday or Thursday, the day upon which it is not held being set aside for student organization meetings.

Under the new schedule four classes will be run during the morning, from 8 a. m. to 12 m., with no intermission on Monday, Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday. The second hour on Tuesday and Thursday will be used for chapel exercises or for student organization meetings, there being but the three morning classes on these two days. Four credit-hour classes which are scheduled for the second hour will run on Monday, Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday.

Afternoon classes will run from 1 o'clock until 5 o'clock, the same as the present schedule, except that the eighth hour will close a half hour earlier than it does now. No classes will be scheduled, however, for Saturday afternoon except women's classes in physical training.

By holding chapel but once a week it is hoped that some excellent speakers can be secured to address the students. Then, too, with but one chapel a week the attendance should be large and the tendency to stroll about during the chapel hour will be reduced to a minimum.

TIGERS MADE IT 2 STRAIGHT

Second Game Was Real Battle, But the Aggie Luck Was Off—Final Count Was 21 to 19.

(By E. H. Smith.)

Referee Quigley's whistle calling a double "two-in" penalty shrilled through Nichols gym Wednesday night, with the firing of the final shot ending the game. The Missouri Tigers led the Aggies by one point, 20 to 19; if the Aggies made their free toss and the Tigers failed the score would be tied; but if the Missouri free goal shark tallied, Missouri would be a four time winner in the conference race.

Left Forward Wear keyed his nerves to the highest point and toeing the mark, shot the ball through the iron ring giving Missouri a double dose of revenge for the four stinging defeats meted out to the Tigers by the Mernerites last season.

Game Was a Real Battle.

This second game was some battle from the first whistle. The Aggies jumped into the lead in the first few minutes but lack of form on defense soon permitted the visitors to forge ahead in the score column. Benston seemed the only man on the Aggie team able to hit the basket and his performance was the best of the four forwards. The Swede played exceptionally clever teamwork and never hesitated to feed the ball to a teammate closer to the basket.

Opposed to the loose defense of the Aggies when near the Missouri goal, was the air-tight work of the Missouri guards, Captain Palfreyman and Jake Speelman. This Speelman person is a demon on defense and also showed flashes of offensive form that were dangerous to the Aggies' chances of winning. The rugged Tiger broke up the larger number of Aggie plays and passes that approached the local team's basket and never did an Aggie shot get by him uncontested.

Aggies' Luck Was Off.

In general the Aggies seemed to have lost something out of their hip pocket that they needed badly. Luck deserted them on the greater number of shots. Rolling around the rim and out, seemed the favorite course of the contrary sphere. Captain Jones failed in all but one of his free tries, and the other candidates for the job seemed unable to persuade the ball to do the right thing.

And back to the optimism—it must be said that the game was well worth the fee. Though it was another defeat, the sport of the affair was all out on the floor and those who missed seeing the fray are the real losers. Many fans who cannot yet talk above a whisper will testify to that statement.

Sophs Goated for All Stars.

As "Quig" said: "Following the curtain-raiser"—there was another battle but we label this one the "windup." The sophs goated for the All Stars through forty minutes of the sort of stuff that ruins one's appetite for good basketball. The scorekeepers failed in their attempts to write between laughs but it was whispered about the gym yesterday that the All Stars doubled the count on the second year team. The score of the preliminary:

WILL HOLD JUDGING CONTEST

Second Annual Stock Judging Contest Will Be Held February 27—Is Open to All College Students.

The second annual stock judging contest, conducted by the Jayhawker Saddle and Sirloin club of the College, will be held in the stock judging pavilion during the afternoon of February 27. The winner of first place will be given his choice of any of the fall gilts of any breed raised by the College. This will be equal to $30 or $40 in cash. Handsome medals will be presented to the winners of second and third places.

The judges of the contest will be: Prof. E. N. Wentworth, Dr. C. W. McCampbell and A. M. Patterson. After the contest the judges will place the classes and Doctor McCampbell will give the reasons for their placing.

Following are the rules of the contest:

1. Any student of the College may enter the contest who has not won a prize in a previous contest of this sort or who has made the stock judging team.

2. The contest will start promptly at 2 o'clock and all contestants must be there at that time so as not to confuse the work.

3. All students entering the contest will be excused from classes that afternoon.

4. There will be an entrance fee of 25 cents charged to cover the expenses of the contest, including the prizes.

5. There will be eight classes of live stock to place—a breeding class and a market class each of horses, hogs, sheep and cattle.

6. Fifteen minutes will be allowed for placing and writing the reasons on each class.

7. Those entering the contests will be divided into eight equal divisions, and those in each division will be requested not to discuss the animals during the contest.

CHICAGO PROF. IS CAPTURED.

French Teacher Serving in French Army Taken by Germans.

Frank Louis Schoell, former instructor in Romance Languages at the University of Chicago, and now a lieutenant in the French army, has been captured by the Germans, according to a telegram received from Mrs. Schoell by Professor Nitze, head of the Romance Department of the University of Chicago.

Because of the meagre substance of the telegram, much of the case is not known. Mr. Schoell was wounded and then taken prisoner by the German forces. His present condition is precarious, according to the telegram.

Mr. Schoell has been an instructor in the Romance Department of the University of Chicago since 1913. Last year, after the summer quarter, he answered the call of his country and hastened to France. He entered the army and was soon advanced. After a short time he was made a lieutenant.

Miss Lovie Dittman was called to her home at Downs on account of sickness in the family.

WILL HEAR A SHIP AT SEA

NEW 60-FOOT STEEL TOWER WILL GREATLY INCREASE THE EFFICIENCY OF THE COLLEGE WIRELESS STATION.

SEND MESSAGES 500 MILES

Messages Will be Received Within a Radius of 2000 Miles—Engineering Squad of Cadet Corps Will Have Charge of Instrument.

Messages within a radius of 1500 to 2000 miles from the College will be received at the wireless station located in the chemistry building as soon as the 60-foot tower now being erected north of the chemistry building is completed. A 30-foot steel mast will be placed on the top of the tower, thus giving the station an aerial 90 feet high from which the antennae will be stretched to the chemistry building. The station will be in charge of the engineering squad of the military department.

The increased height of the antennae will make the present instrument much more efficient and will enable it to send messages from 200 to 500 miles. Under favorable weather conditions it is possible that the faint purr of a ship's wireless far out at sea will be heard. Messages from Key West and Galveston will be picked up at all times.

Use It for Field Experience.

The cadets will use the wireless to gain field experience. They will be in communication with Fort Riley at all times and will be drilled in picking up aerograms in the field with smaller instruments. At present several of the men are fairly proficient at the key.

The land grant colleges all over the western part of the United States are maintaining wireless outfits at present. It is planned to pick up football and other athletic scores in the future. In this way there will be a saving of many minutes time in getting the reports of games. The weather department also plans to send its reports via wireless.

Paris Has Highest Wireless.

The radius of receiving and sending of a machine varies directly with the size and height of the antennae, and the amount of power used. The largest wireless in the world is at Paris where the antennae are 1000 feet from the ground, and messages can be sent thousands of miles across the ocean.

HAVE NEW PHYSICS BUILDING?

Ways and Means Committee Voted to Recommend to the House $80,000 for Such Building Here.

Topeka, Kan., Feb. 19.—The ways and means committee of the house late this afternoon voted to recommend to the house of representatives $80,000 for a physics building for the Kansas Agricultural College.

The ways and means committee of the senate recommended $100,000 for a physics building for the College. The recommendation was approved by the senate yesterday

NATURE PROTECTS THE BIRDS.

Plumage and Scales of Songsters Change as Seasons Demand.

Birds are peculiarly adapted to their life and environment. When the cold winter comes most of the birds change their bright colors to more subdued ones by moulting. The most noticeable bird is the Ptarmigan, which changes from a brown coat, which it wears in spring and summer, to a pure white plumage, when the heavy snows begin. The Harris Sparrow, which is one of our most common winter birds, has a jet black head and throat in the summer; but in winter the black is confined to a narrow patch on the throat, the remaining portion being buff.

If the horny covering of the bird is torn off because of some accident, nature remedies this defect by regenerating a new covering; but if the whole bill is destroyed nature cannot do anything and the bird usually dies. The scales on the feet and feathers are also replaced. The museum contains numerous specimens showing the regeneration of feathers.

Receive New Instruments.

The engineering department received a shipment of new instruments yesterday. Among them were a plane table, an engineer's transit, and a large theodolite.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1915.

That makes a man or woman look their goodliest.—Tennyson.

KINDNESS TO DUMB CREATURES.

Nearly every city of any size has its humane society, and many its humane officer. Such societies have as their aim the prevention of cruelty to dumb animals. A great deal of good is accomplished, it cannot be denied.

Perhaps, in our busy quest for knowledge at the Kansas Agricultural College, we are not as wide awake to the instances of cruelty to animals as we might be. Perhaps we have not made it our duty to be individual humane officers. And yet, are we educated in the highest sense of the word if we permit the dumb creatures which God has placed under our care to be lashed and made to pull loads beyond their strength?

Every day, from early in the morning until late in the evening, on the campus of this educational institution dumb creatures are being treated in a way which we, as human beings, are pledged to forbid. Have you never noticed the immense loads of coal which a team of two light draft horses is expected and forced to pull up the hill leading from the east entrance of the campus to the engineering building? It was only a day or two ago that four horses refused to pull one of these loads up the hill, a task which it was supposed that two horses would accomplish. Should we not as students building our education upon a broad foundation notice the dumb creatures around us and forbid such instances of cruelty to them? Are we truly educated unless we have learned that we must have a feeling of kindness for our dumb friends, that we must see them treated humanely? Surely we cannot permit such instances as this to go unnoticed on our campus.

SING PRAISES.

Sing praises to the Lord, which dwelleth in Zion: declare among the people his doings.—Psalms ix, 11.

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

George Washington—the statesman, the leader, the president, the father of his country—was born on the 22nd day of February in Westmoreland county, Virginia. His early ambition was to be a soldier, so when the French and Indian wars broke out we find him with General Braddock trying to drive the French out of Fort Du Quesne. These early conflicts gave the young Virginian a knowledge of warfare and its methods, and when the American Revolution dawned upon the horizon of 1775 he was called upon to lead the colonies to independence. Everywhere he was hailed as a great leader and was beloved by the soldiers of his army. His patience and stubbornness, coupled with the faithfulness and fortitude of his soldiers, finally resulted in the surrender of Lord Cornwallis and the end of the Revolution.

Everywhere Washington was hailed as the savior of his country and when the time came for the election of a president in 1789 he was unanimously placed at the head of his country. For eight years he guided the young nation in its course, refusing the offer of a third term as the chief executive of his country.

We remember Washington for his truthfulness, his kindness, his honesty, his manliness, his bravery, his patience, his perseverance. He was "first in peace, first in war, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

If you will not hear Reason she will surely rap your knuckles.—Franklin.

TRIBUTES TO WASHINGTON.

Few men who have earned for themselves a celebrated name in the history of the world exhibit such a harmony, such a concordant symmetry of all the qualities calculated to render himself and others happy, as Washington, and it has been very appropriately observed that, like the masterpieces of ancient art, he must be the more admired in the aggregate the more closely he is examined in detail—George von Raumer (Holland).

Thou hast a name whose characters of light shall ne'er depart;
'Tis stamped upon the dullest brain and warms the coldest heart.
A war cry fit for any land where freedom's to be won:
"Lands of the west! It stands alone —it is thy Washington."
—Eliza Cook (England).

The talents and the great actions of General Washington have secured to him in the eyes of all Europe the truly sublime title of the "Liberator of America." — Count d'Estang (France).

Washington is dead. This great man struggled against tyranny. He has achieved the liberty of his country. His memory will be cherished forever by the French people, as by all freemen of the two hemispheres and especially by the French soldiers, who, like Washington and the American soldiers, fought for equality and liberty. Therefore the First Consul directs that for ten days crape be hung on all the flags and guidons of the republic.—Napoleon (Order to the Army, Champs de Mars, 1800).

Created after the image of God, let us take great care not to dishonor that divine likeness.—St. Ephrem.

NEWS FROM HOME.

When the evening shade is fallin' at the close of the day,
An' a feller rests from labor, smokin'
at his pipe of clay,
There's nothing does him so much
good, be fortune up or down,
As the little country paper from his Old Home Town.

It ain't a thing of beauty and its print's not always clean,
But it straightens out his temper
when a feller's feelin' mean;
It takes the wrinkles off his face an'
brushes off the frown,
That little country paper from his Old
Home Town.

It tells of all the parties and the balls
of Pumpkin Row,
'Bout who spent Sunday with who's girl and how the crop'll grow,
An' how it keeps a feller posted who's up and who is down,
That little country paper from his Old
Home Town.

Now, I like to read the dailies and the story papers too,
And at times the yaller novels and some other trash—don't you?
But when I want some other readin'
that'll brush away a frown,
I want that little paper from my Old
Home Town.

A Symposium On the Moving Picture Question

Conducted by the School of Agriculture and the Departments of Home Economics, English, Education, and Economics of the Kansas State Agricultural College.

average student in the Kansas ulture College attends a more than one moving picture a week, chiefly for entertain- and declares his approval of ictures in general, in spite of rong immoral tendency which is uted to them by 282 of the 752 nts who volunteered answers to ent questionaire issued by six departments of the College.

Already most of our universities use motion pictures me extent for purposes of in- tion. Hundreds of churches use the motion picture show has educational uses and is already ally acknowledged by educa- if it is attractive, as it certainly college students: why should his college adopt and adapt it to eeds in both entertainment and uction?

e following tabulation of state- s by the students of the College compiled from answers of 752, h is approximately one third, of students to whom the questions issued. The fact that the answers were voluntary warrants the thought that they fairly represent the ideas of the students who answered. Whether or not they also represent the other pupils may be questioned; but I am inclined to think that they do. We may reasonably infer, however, that many of the students who did not answer are of the careless and indifferent kind who most frequently and indiscriminately attend the moving picture shows. Some failed to answer because they are so busy earning their living and school expenses that they have time neither to attend shows nor to do anything that is unnecessary, such as answering questionaires. Some were indifferent because they did not see the use of the work, but I believe we have obtained in these answers a basis for some generalizations that are approximately accurate.

Attendance at one moving picture show a week is not excessive if the shows are wholesome, refreshing, and not ethically harmful. There are however 48 students who attend more than ten shows per month; which is certainly overdoing it. A person whose mind is filled with exciting scenes such as are common in moving pictures, cannot command enough mental energy to do efficiently the work that a college student should do; and a student who attends so many shows has certainly become unduly fascinated by them. Seventy-four students report that they attend less than six shows a year; and 30 or more never attend.

It is noticeable that those who attend least usually have the most to say in criticism of the shows. This may be interpreted in two ways; either the critics do not know of what they are talking; or that, they are wise enough to refuse to attend entertainments that many of the people condemn. The epigramatic statement made by Professor Walters in discussing the critics of prize-fights, regarding the fact that most of the critics never witnessed a fight, is pertinent: "It is not necessary to sound the depths of depravity in order to know what sin is."

One hundred ten found no fault with the shows, and two hundred eighty two made the charge that too many of the pictures have a strong immoral tendency. One hundred forty one pronounce the greater proportion of the pictures exaggerated or otherwise untrue; and 86 that they are injurious to the eyes and that the environment is unhealthful. Forty said that the shows are too fascinating and that they induce the students to neglect their school work.

Although many students claim to get valuable information at the moving picture shows, just as many allege that many of the scenes are exaggerated or otherwise untrue. Therefore it seems to me that the value of the information obtained is questionable. The clear picturing of an error given as a fact, or the visual setting forth of a situation not pre-representative of reality, may mislead people who see young, or who have not intelligence enough to discern between truth and fiction. This criticism of unreality and exaggeration frequently pictured by the cinematograph is, to my mind, one of the most important criticisms offered.

As a positive declaration of what is wanted by the students, we are warranted in saying that they desire chiefly, pure amusement and that to their notion this is best attained through the reviews of good novels and drams. Secondarily they want pictures that give a cosmopolitan knowledge of people and customs, geography and cities, history, animals, plants and natural phenomina, current, and technical details of mechanical and industrial processes. They insist that the coarse, vulgar, sensational, and immoral be eliminated.

FRED C. WINSHIP.

Opinions From the Faculty.

The moving picture stage very largely exhibits a robust, if not very fine, sort of novelty. The beautiful heiress never fails to marry the poor but honest youth who has thrown in his lot with the particular labor organization which her own plutocratic "Pa" is working against. The rich man who steals the struggling inventor's patent always finds his sins returning upon his own head before the film runs out. And the deceived wife invariably leads back her erring husband by the ear. But it must be said that, in all too many cases, wickedness is allowed to disport itself too freely. We are much too frequently compelled to look upon scenes that cheapen and taint the best and noblest aspects of life and are led into situations from which we can hardly emerge without a sense of tortured nerves and scared sensibilities. Accordingly, it seems profitable for us to remind ourselves that it is decidedly unwholesome to spend much time in the company of characters for whom certain kinds of retribution must be provided. It may be just that a man be hanged for his crimes, but I have not gained from being in his society during the events that brought him to the halter. The moving picture theater would be much improved if it should largely eliminate those scenes which, if viewed too often, will invaritbly produce the blase moral attitude of the policeman.—Edward H. Reisner, associate professor of education.

As a means of disseminating scientific facts the moving picture is without doubt valuable, and is really only at the beginning of its usefulness. Its present status is probably comparable to that of the photograph of 40 years ago. Today photography is indispensible as an adjunct to scientific writing, and the film may be so regarded in as many years hence.

However, we must not look upon the moving picture as a means of presenting sciences in so easy and attractive a manner that it will take the place of laboratory and text-book. Probably no invention of man can replace hard work as the chief means of success in the pursuit of scientific subjects in our colleges. Only as a supplement to the regular class-room and laboratory work can the film be employed.

We are prone to underestimate the value of the commercial film as seen on the screen of the average cinema theater today. While much that they present is valueless, yet they do frequently present classical subjects with considerable success, and now and then a film of scientific importance. In the real of geology and geography is the film especially useful. Who, having seen the desert, the oasis and the caravan in "Cabiria," shown at the Marshall theater, will not have a better conception of the realities of life in that sort of environment? The veriest landsman nowadays has an adequate conception of the sea and can readily visualize the beating of the surf, the rising and falling of the tide, and the buffeting of ships upon the breakers. This is attributable largely to the moving pictures.—Ray Allen, instructor in zoology.

Interest in books and reading may be greatly stimulated by the use of the cinematograph. Progressive librarians were among the first to realize the value of this new educational tool. A number of public libraries are now using the moving picture as part of their regular equipment This use has been found valuable in connection with the work with the children. The children's librarian tells the story of the book and supplements the story with the pictures thus producing an effect vivid and real in the child's mind. As the moving picture machine is not especially expensive this use is feasible even in the comparatively small library. Successful work of this sort is being done by the St. Joseph Public Library, in the juvenile department.

In some cities the library cooperates with the regular motion picture thretre in the production of films illustrating the events in the great books of the world. The demand at the library for these books is greatly augmented after the public exhibition of the pictures. Even books not usually read, as the works of Dante, Milton,, Homer, etc., are eagerly asked for and read.

There is practically no limit to the use which a progressive library can make of the moving picture in its educational extension work in large cities.—A. B. Smith, librarian for K. S. A. C.

The majority of photo-plays which have been scheduled for the Wareham theatre this winter should prove very helpful from an educational and cultural standpoint to any person, provided the medicine is not taken too often or in too great doses. I have known of students, teachers, and town people who make it a practice to frequent the picture shows from two to six times per week. When a student asks my advice regarding picture shows I usually tell him that a high grade photoplay about once a month is all that any person can afford.

I also believe that films illustrating certain manufacturing processes are of great advantage to engineering students, but this also can be overdone. I will try to have two or three picture shows during the year which will show some extraordinary engineering work. I do not believe in having lantern slides or picture shows take the place of real fundamental classroom instruction. In my experience as a teacher and engineer I find that the instruction which counts does not consist of predigested matter but of such teaching as aids the student to think in the abscract.—A. A. Potter, dean of the division of mechanic arts.

To my mind the relaxation and enjoyment derived from the best class of motion pictures is a sufficient excuse for their existence. When we add that they have brought within the reach of everyone the best of scenic beauty, a knowledge of the life of the world beyond our shores, and portrayed much of truly great literature, we must admit them to be a potent factor for good in modern education. —Homer Hall, instructor of the English language.

Moving pictures are here to stay until something better takes their place. As I see it, the weakest and the strongest features of the moving picture are their appeals to the "eye-mindedness" of people. If the theme of the scenario is true to the best life, and if the means of revealing that theme are suggestive of the highest, the "eye-minded" person is not harmed but is greatly benefitted. On the other hand, if the theme is unworthy and the means used to reveal it are suggestive of the morbid and low, the moving picture is essentially harmful.

Properly used, the moving picture may be made one of the real forces in educational progress. How things are done here and elsewhere, life as it is lived in all parts of the world, and the best in the world's scenic beauty may, by means of moving pictures, become common possessions. The moving picture may thus become a great socializing force for the betterment of the race. Personally, I am heartily in favor of moving pictures as a feature of wholesome entertainment and of class room instruction. Supplemented by the victrola, the stereoptican, the reflectoscope, and combined with the dictation and story-telling features over a dictagraph, moving pictures may be made far reaching and effective in their educational influence.—J. W. Searson, professor of the English language.

Moving pictures, like most things and some people, are potentially bad and good. If this potentiality is to find expression in what is good, the pictures must measure up to accepted moral standards by which reading amusements, and personal conduct are judged. Their availability for instructional, recreational, and amusement purposes is practically unlimited; but even in this use there is a chance for abuse--for excess. It is said that sin is but the excess of virtue. By analogy this is true of moving pictures for whatever purpose they may be used.—J. E. Kammeyer head of the department of economics.

The motion picture is one of the greatest forces for popular education. We are all more or less eye-minded. Provision for visual instruction must be made in any efficient scheme for popular education in a community. The motion picture offers the greatest opportunity for visual instruction. There should be established some form of municipal censorship for all films used. The extension division of the University of Wisconsin has organized a bureau of visual instruction. This bureau owns about 20,000 slides and 250 films that are sent out over the state. The bureau will send out without charge a set of slides and a film to any school that will apply. The bureau has been organized only one year, but it has made a permanent place in the educational forces of the state. Wisconsin believes in the motion picture.—Edward L. Holton, head of department of education.

Looking at Movies Through the Student's Eye

Seven Hundred Fifty-two Students Express Their Opinions As to the Merits of the Moving Picture--Some Offer Suggestions for Improvement.

Why I Believe in Movies.

They make us cosmopolitan in our sympathies and aid in promoting brotherhood. However, if the motion pictures were of no other good, the pleasure and recreation afforded by them certainly makes them worth while. Before the days of the moving picture machine, the boys and girls in the cities especially, spent entirely too much time in running about the streets at night. A great deal of harm often came from this but what could they do? They had to have recreation of some sort and they couldn't afford to go to the plays at the theatres, so they ran the streets. The advent of moving pictures has changed this. It has given boys a place to go. It has given ignorant and poor people things they understand and enjoy.

Suggests Improvement.

The moving picture shows are interesting and can be very instructive. The general public would attend as well or better if people were safeguarded from seeing or hearing objectionable features. I am sure that I for one would attend them much more frequently. Wherein they can be improved and made a source of education I would suggest:

(1.) A more rigid censorship.

(2.) A national law compelling censorship.

(4.) High class music, if any, instrumental or vocal.

(6.) That dancing be omitted between reels or as any part of the show because such dancing seems always of a nature that shocks the finer sensibilities and is in no way necessary for a successful conduct of the business.

(7.) That the vadeville stunts (except what might appear in the reel) be omitted.

Good for Bashful Lovers.

I go to the moving picture show whenever I get time, any kind will do, for the purpose of being entertained, not educated, for I get enough of that in other ways. It is about the easiest way I know of to entertain your gentlemen callers when conversation is about played out. At the show you are not expected to talk, and afterwards you can walk home slowly and talk about the pictures and the weather; soon it is time to bid him a fond good night. I strongly recommend the show to the bashful lovers. The chief fault is that they charge ten cents. If it was only five cents, perhaps the boys would feel they could afford to take their lady love oftener than twice a week.—A Girl's Answer.

Opinion of a Senior.

Motion pictures are bound to have a place in education for the possibilities in that field are limitless. Lectures can be illustrated from sixth grade geography to the most scientific work, both in agriculture and engineering. The state ought to provide for such things for the benefit of students, farmers, and business men everywhere. Manhattan people are well supplied with moving pictures, the kind that appeal to the better class of cultivated taste.

Are Movies of Any Benefit?

Is there any benefit to be gained by attending a moving picture show? Could a person's time be spent more advantageously? These questions are being asked seriously today. Naturally there are good and bad shows. But what are good and what are bad? It would be impossible for each of us to answer this question the same way, but if we could obtain the ideas of those persons who are advancing civilization, instead of retarding it, we would doubtless find that a large number of the pictures that are exhibited today for entertainment only, are not of a character that would lift the public to a higher plane of life. As a particular example of this type of shows we might sight those shown along the border of Oklahoma a short time ago. They were, outrages, bank robberies, and guerrilla wars. Some of the lower class of people grasped the ways in which the bank robbers evaded the authorities and there was immediately an increase in the number of trains and banks robbed..

On the other hand picture shows can be used to bring the people of one vicinity or country in touch with the life, habits, or progress of the people of another country. For instance, some time ago there was a show given at Manhattan entitled, "An Artic Hunt." Those who attended this show came away more familiar with the life and habits of the arctic animals, the ways in which they are hunted, and a few of the general characteristics of the north country. Such shows increase one's knowledge of degree.

If a person needs rest and amusement it is a relief for him to go to a good show. There he might get his ambitions aroused and come back in a better spirit.

The Viewpoint of the Clergy.

I am inclined to think that the moral effect of the moving picture shows will be comparable to the wide reading of many novels by people of unformed moral standards. It will take a very good person to stand it. It will result in an increase of moral emotionalism without much continuity of moral development or moral action. In general I think the result of much attendance is the development of a moving picture type of mind which is sensative to many kinds and varieties of impressions but very weak in moral effort.—A. E. Holt, pastor of Congregational church, Manhattan.

In response to your inquiry as to my views regarding picture shows, I believe that the moving picture offers splendid possibilities for instruction and for beneficial recreation, but I doubt whether the average moving picture show attains these ends. Often there is such silly sentimentality or suggestive situations portrayed in the films as do not tend toward higher ideals especially in the minds of children.

Frequent attendance at moving picture shows I think is especially injurious to school children, as the scenes often shown are such as overstimulate the imagination and prove a source of distraction in their studies. Also the time spent at the moving picture shows usually could be used to better advantage in preparing the home-work required in preparation for classes.—Father A. J. Luckey, Catholic church, Manhattan.

The recreative value of motion pictures seems to have been demonstrated and their educational function is being recognized in an ever increasing measure. High schools and colleges, Christian associations and churches, are employing this method of instruction and reporting satisfactory results.

Considered from the ethical point of view, the matter is complicated. As utilized by the organizations alluded to above, there need be little, if any, question as to the ethical value of motion pictures and the promotion through them of sound ethical principles. It has been charged against the regular movie, however, that it induces habits of extravagance. We are too close to the origin of the moving picture to know the total effect which they have upon the intellect. Attention is being called to the fact that the more solid and constructive intellectual pursuits suffer by wide and continuous patronage of the motion picture theatre. It ought to be clear to all that whatever contributes to intellectual shallowness works against the well being of the race.

Perhaps the most serious accusation is to the effect that those things held sacred by all right-thinking people, love, courtship, marriage, home, are too often represented in the most abnormal manner. In so far as these relations are travestied, with love quarrels and home quarrels resulting in alienations, divorce and murder thrown upon the screen, in that measure the result is as unethical and harmful a one as that produced by the pernicious dime novel, now happily under general condemnation.

Notwithstanding the commendable care exercised by some operators in the selection of films, there is manifest a need of close scrutiny lest an institution become an obstacle to thrift, an intellectual menace, and a moral handicap.—J. M. McClelland, D. D., pastor of the Methodist church, Manhattan.

Movies at Indiana.

During the last three months the Indiana union, an organization of the students and faculty of Indiana university, has been experimenting quite successfully with a combination program of popular and educational films. Thes have so far been given twice a week, are planned to last about an hour, and a charge of five cents has been the price of admission. It has been possible to secure excellent films at this price as the shows are given in the student building on the campus where there is no charge for rental and current. As this movement is independent of the university and essentially cooperative the management is free to make a judicious mixture of popular and didactic subjects.

Further Faculty Comments.

One who is not a "movie fan" ought not venture an opinion as to the value of the moving picture show. However, my opinion is that moving pictures may be a harmful or a helpful agency. They may take the time which should be given to other work, and they may tend to develop wrong ideals and lead to wrong acts. Properly selected and used I feel sure that the movie may be of great value both for recreation and education. Pictures showing industrial processes, scenes in foreign countries and pictures illustrating a historical event all have great value educationally. They are forms of travel and experience within the reach of all of us. Some films have a high artistic value and so are worth while from the cultural standpoint. It seems to me that wisely selected and discretely used the moving pictures may be of distinct value to individuals and institutions or organizations.—H. L. Kent, principal of the school of agriculture.

It is difficult to properly estimate the educational value of the moving picture show, for the possibilities are just as great for improper as for proper education. It is, therefore, essential that the moving picture show be subject to effective censorship, and that good pictures should be rightly valued and patronized.

Pictures that tend to promote good housing, proper recreation, and civic ideals; that illustrate the manufacturing and transportation processes of the various food products; that show the different phases of the textile industry; that graphically show the need for protection from infection; and that furnish striking evidence of the loss of life, disability, or impaired efficiency by various agencies of the industrial world, are of value in the teaching of home economics.

The present awakening of the public is prophetic, and I trust will result in the elimination of the objectionable and the encouragement of the educational features of the moving picture show.—Mary Pierce Van Zile, dean of department of home economics.

Moving pictures of the right kind are very valuable additions to modern life for many reasons, among which are:

1. As a means of promoting social acquaintance in connection with innocent recreation. Opportunities of becoming acquainted are necessary to young people, and pleasant and advantageous to all.

2. As channels for general culture and for imparting wider knowledge of the world at large, especially foreign countries. The era of peace will never come until the nations have an understanding of each other based upon much greater knowledge of each other and the consequent development of appreciation and sympathy.

3. Hundreds of processes either natural or industrial may be illustrated in a vivid manner, constituting the nearest approach to a personal visit to establishments, or personal observation of processes. The growth of plants and animals may be thus presented. Processes in food preparation such as canning may be shown. Manufacturing processes, construction and building are especially adapted to this means of presentation.—J. T. Willard, dean of the division of general science

Show U. S. Navy in Movies.

Probably the best opportunity the people of this section of the United States have ever had to see the U. S. Navy at close range and get a clear idea of how the nation's floating fortresses really look and are handled, has been since Lyman H. Howe has been exhibiting his wonderful pictures of the U. S. Navy of 1915. These pictures were made by the authority of the Secretary of the Navy, the Hon. Josephus Daniels, and indorsed by him after they were exhibited.

Besides the navy pictures, the Howe attractions are showing, "How a Cash Register is Made," an illuminating example of American inventive skill, ingenuity, and organization at the model manufacturing plant of the National Cash Register Co., of Dayton, Ohio, and "Native Life in the Philippines," with other superb secenes of travel, together with amusing animated cartoons.

This attraction is not to be classed in any way with the ordinary picture show as a force of several people are carried to operate the sound effects alone. A special moving picture machine together with a screen and other equipment is also carried to insure a perfect performance. This attraction will be at the Marshall theatre for a special Washington's Birthday attraction on Monday, February 22, with a special students matinee at 3 p. m. and the night performance at 8:20.

Gathered Here and There.

Richard R. Price, director of the general extension division of the University of Minnesota, has the following to say: "We are at present making no use of motion pictures in our work although we are planning, as soon as circumstances permit, to establish a bureau of visual instruction. At present we are using circulating sets of lantern slides but no films. During the present week we are holding our Merchant's Short Course and have borrowed for the occasion about 15 films illustrating the manufacturing and industrial processes."

"This is a picture age. Newspapers, magazines, books, and advertising agencies all are using the picture method to make a greater appeal to all. Nine-tenths of all knowledge comes by way of the eye; we remember faces better than names. Our greatest interest in life is the panorama of life itself. The moving picture is an animated picture of life and is making impression upon the present generation. It is indeed the only true 'Esperanto' that all of every class and tongue can understand without any previous study or experience."

OBJECTIONS TO THE MOVIES.

They move like wooden images.

The picture shows make me cry.

I have to hold my girl's hat in my lap.

Too many love sickening scenes are shown.

The movie playhouses have a bad breath.

Too many fat women attend the movies.

Too many girls go crazy over the actors.

Manhattan people don't know any better than to applaud.

The girls who sit around me giggle and use bad grammar.

The players use very poor English. They don't make enough noise.

People who attend the shows are common, immoral, and depraved.

The vaudeville jokes remind me of those my teacher springs in ancient history.

Each hero kisses his heroine in the same identical spot. Each villian dies in the same kind of anguish.

The love element is of no benefit except to demonstrate the process to a few unfortunate creatures.

BASKETBALL ⁂ TRACK ⁂ INTRA-MURAL

BY ERLE H. SMITH

PRODUCE NO NEW CHAMPIONS

WINTER RACING ON EASTERN TRACKS HAS TENDED TO INCREASE THE BRILLIANCY OF LAST YEAR'S STARS.

BREAK SOME WORLD RECORDS.

This winter's racing on the indoor boards of the eastern tracks has not thrown any new candidates upon the screen of championship honors but has tended to increase the brilliancy of last season's stars. Dave Caldwell, 1915 intercollegiate 880 champion, and at present a member of the Boston A. A., trimmed the university crack, Meredith, in a special 500-yard handicap in Brooklyn last week in fast time and by a margin that outfigured the handicap.

And on last Monday night, Meredith, running against Caldwell in the suburban quarter of the New York Athletic club's games, reeled off the distance in :49 2-5 seconds, besting the world's record for the indoor double furlong one-fifth of a second. The record, however, will not stand as the track failed to measure the full distance.

Now, should the K. C. A. C. athletic director bring either of these performers to Kansas City to race the clever Cowman, he will furnish the spectators one of the best cards ever staged on the Convention Hall track. Cowman made a new conference mark at St. Louis last spring of 48 2-5 seconds, and if in condition should give either of these eastern stars a good battle.

Sheppard Ends Career.

The retirement of "Mel" Sheppard ends the career of the world's greatest middle distance runner. Pitted against Cowman, Sheppard would certainly have gone down to defeat. The "Peerless Mel," although at one time a very capable performer over the quarter-mile route, has long since ceased to be a luminary in the 440 ranks, while Cowman is one of the most promising youngsters the middle-west has ever developed.

The Convention Hall meet promises to be the fastest that has ever been held. With the world's champion, Pat McDonald, of the New York Irish-American Athletic club, heading the list of shot shovers, and Joe Loomis, the Chicago Athletic association crack, who won three national senior championships last summer, and will probably be scratch man in the high jump and dash events, heading the list of stars, the smaller fry among the conference clique will have to score on the ragged edge of the events.

J. P. Nicholson is slated an an entrant and will compete under the colors of the Columbian Athletic club of St. Louis. "J. P." will probably have to race this Loomis person and the advance dope bears a "hot stuff" label. "Danny" Hazen, last year's K. U. captain and hurdle crack, will compete in the barrier events for the K. C. A. C. and additionally increase the interest in these events.

Sport Salad

With the announcement of the retirement of Melvin Sheppard arises the question as to what eastern star "Doc" Riley will import to replace "Peerless Mel" in the special match race against Cowman, last year's Missouri Valley 440 sensation, at the Kansas City Athletic club's indoor games which will be held in Convention Hall next Saturday night. Cowman startled the track following of the Big Muddy clique last spring by trimming the best double furlong sprinters west of the Allegenies at the conference meet in St. Louis.

Issues Football Figures.

Parke H. Davis, of the football rules committee, has compiled the following statistics of the season of 1914:

Rolla made the most points, scoring 569; Washington and Jefferson was next with 369. E. M. Mayer, of Virginia, did the highest individual scoring, rolling up a total of 121 points. The longest drop-kick was made by T. S. Cusack, of New York university, from the 50-yard line, and the highest punting average is that of La Gore, of Yale, who averaged 55-yards. The longest run from a completed forward pass was made by H. W. Miller, of Pittsburgh, who reeled off 90 yards; while T. J. Coolidge, of Harvard, made the longest run from a fumble, covering 98 yards.

All Juniors who have not had their class book photographs taken should do so at once.

PLAN FOR THE VALLEY MEET

EIGHTH MISSOURI VALLEY CONFERENCE MEET WILL BE HELD IN COLUMBIA, MO., ON THE 29TH OF MAY.

MISSOURI HAS WON THREE MEETS

Columbia, Mo., Feb. 17.—Plans for the Eighth Missouri Valley Conference meet to be held in Columbia May 29, are being worked out. In former years a committee representing the alumni of each Missouri Valley school has managed the meet, but at the last meeting of the conference it was decided to leave all arrangements in the hands of the Missouri management.

This is the first year the meet has been held in a small city. The first meet was held in Kansas City, the next four in Des Moines and the last two in St. Louis. In former years the meet has been thrown open to all schools, but this plan has proven unsatisfactory. This year all schools of the Missouri Valley territory will be invited to enter. This includes the schools of Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, and Missouri.

Missouri Has Best Record.

Missouri has the best record of the competing teams in this meet. The only cup to be permanently held was won by Missouri. The cup has been won only once by a team outside of the conference territory. The winning teams were: 1908, Ames; 1909, Grinnell; 1910, Kansas; 1911, 1912 and 1913, Missouri; and 1914, Chicago. Winning the meet three successive years gave the cup to Missouri.

C. L. Brewer, director of physical training in the university, thinks that since the meet comes the last of May, it may well become a feature of the Commencement Week program. The preliminaries will be held May 28 and the finals will be held Saturday, May 29.

The men representing Missouri at the K. C. A. C. meet held in Convention hall, Kansas City, have not been chosen. Probably a mile relay team and a few men for special events will be sent.

The thirteenth annual indoor meet with Kansas will be held in Convention hall, Kansas City, March 12. Eleven of the twelve meets have been won by Missouri. For the last six years, the meet has been close. In 1913, the first Kansas victory was won, the score being 43-42. In that meet, as in the past, Missouri led till the last event, the relay.

WHEN "SHORTY" FOWLER WON.

Was One of Gamest Races Ever Seen on a Cinder Track.

In these days of paid coaches for the athletic teams of the Kansas Agricultural College few stop to consider the obstacles confronted and overcome in keeping the Aggie nameplate in a prominent position in the olden times. Prof. Guy S. Lowman is the first professional all-year coach the Aggies have had. He came to Manhattan in 1911. Captain William C. Bryan was the first exclusive professional track and field coach and following the clever Bryan came Carl J. Merner, the present basketball and track coach.

"Bobby" Burns, assistant in the chemical department of the College, coached track in 1912, the year that the Aggies won the Kansas Conference track meet on College Field. Leon Ambler, at present engaged in teaching agriculture and manual training to the kids of Garden City, captained the team. Jake Holmes was handling the weights in those days; Ward Gates and Hirchler ran the sprints; "Spin" Young won a few points now and then on the pole event; Captain Ambler doing the broad jumping and high leaping; and lastly but by no means in the least, "Shorty" Fowler, in the middle distances.

Fowler's efforts in 1911 had been worse than puerile and we all sat back dubiously watching his 1912 workouts searching for the slightest sign of blacksliding into the previous year's form. In the early spring trials his capers were better than ever before and he was keen to the opportunity. He knew that if Horn, of Baker U., state record holder in the 880 was ever to be headed, it was up to him to perform the trick on College Field that spring.

And just about the time the Aggies were set for record-breaking performances on the part of the elongated Fowler, the worm turned. It happened in the Nebraska Wesleyan meet at Lincoln three days before the state meet was to be held on College Field at Manhattan. The Aggies were trimming the Nebraskans on all sides. The call for the 440 brought Fowler to the marks against the pole. With the pistol-shot he led the field around the curve, turned into the stretch leading by 15 yards and breasted the tape a winner by 20 yards.

Still running and turning to look back to learn the proximity of the other contestants Fowler twisted an ankle and before any of the Aggie men could reach him was writhing on the sward. Anyone who knows a sprained ankle is acquainted with the length of time required to heal such an injury. And the state meet at Manhattan three days away beckoned and taunted and cried: "You'll never beat Horn nor even be able to run by Tuesday, Mr. Fowler"—and it was a sad bunch of Aggie athletes that boarded the Rock Island rattler at 7 o'clock that night, Kansas bound.

But Fowler did run and that's what we're trying to tell in this story. The tale of the gamest piece of running ever seen on a cinder path in the state of Kansas or any neighbor. With a rubber bandage half way to the knee, Fowler toed the marks and jumped into the lead with Horn, the Kansas champion, close at his heels. The first quarter was timed in 57 seconds. Going some for any meet. And the second double furlong did not find Fowler diminishing the length or rythm of his painful strides.

At 220 marks tears of pain coursed down the fast tiring Fowler's face and with less than 150 yards to run and after setting a pace that spoke for a half under two minutes and would have beaten Horn easily, Fowler wilted and was carried from the track.

All in all, the effort must go on record as the gamest piece of running we have ever witnessed. Runners with their calves in ribbons from the jealous spikes of desperate opponents have flashed before our eyes and without number are those we have seen whose anatomies have been disfigured from cinder scrapings. But a quarter mile in fifty seven seconds on a three-day-old wrenched ankle is a feat supreme and on nerve alone. A prize winner.

Franklin Orator.

Jay L. Lush, the Franklin orator, was born at Shambaugh, Iowa, but at the early age of eleven became a Kansan. He graduated from the Labette County High School at Altamount, in 1912 and entered the Kansas Agricultural College in the fall of the same year, joining the Franklin society during the winter term of 1913. He at once became an active member and has made an enviable record for his society and himself by representing the College in three tri-state debates, having been captain of the team that won last fall from Iowa. Mr. Lush has had an excellent opportunity to become acquainted with the world at large having been connected with a number of different business phases of the country. Such training has been reflected in his college career as is shown by the work he is doing and by his record as a student. He was one of the junior honor students in the agricultural division last year.

Ionian Orator.

The Ionians will be represented in the oratorical contest by Miss Amy Pearl Gould. The subject of her oration will be, "Peace or War?" Miss Gould is in her senior year and is very active in church work, being president of the B. Y. P. U. Miss Gould is a graduate of the Basin High School, Basin, Wyoming. During her high school career she laid the foundation for her present work by taking part in two declamations. After a year at the University of Wyoming, Miss Gould entered the Kansas Agricultural College in the fall of 1912. She has been active in college life and is now allied with several prominent organizations. She is an Ionian, a member of Zeta Kappa Psi, the dramatic club, the Forum, the Young Women's Christian association, and has served on the Oratorical board.

Hamilton Orator.

The Hamilton literary society will be represented by Don L. Irwin whose oration will be, "The Missing Span." Mr. Irwin is a native of Sumner county, Kansas, having received his early education in a district school near Mayfield. After spending two years in the grade schools of Mayfield he went to Winfield where he finished his grade work, graduating from the high school in 1910. He enrolled in Kansag Agricultural College in the fall of 1910 and is now a senior in agronomy. In school activities Mr. Irwin has always been a leader. Not only has he received a great deal of training in the literary society but he has participated in debate and oratory throughout his college career. He is a member of the Forum and president of the Y. M. C. A. With a man of such mature experience the Hamiltons can foresee only one result and are confidently expecting an addition to their already long list of victories.

Browning Orator.

Effie May Carp, the Browning orator was born in Osborn, Missouri. She received her early education in rural schools of that state graduating with honors from the eigth grade in Jackson county. Miss Carp attended the Independence, Missouri, High School; later she entered Warrenburg Missouri State Normal School. Miss Carp has taught a number of years in both rural and city schools. She entered the Kansas Agricultural College in June, 1912, and will be graduated from the home economics course in June, 1915. She became a member of the Browning Literary society in the fall of 1913 and has been an active member ever since. She is a member of the Forum and takes an active part in the B. Y. P. U.

Alpha Beta Orator.

The Alpha Beta society will be represented this year by Walter J. Ott, who will deliver the oration, "The Mission of America." Mr. Ott was raised on a farm near Greenleaf. He entered the Kansas Agricultural College in 1911 as a junior in the animal husbandry course. As a student he ranks among the best in his classes, and has always taken an active part in all the College activities with which he has been connected. He is a member of Gamma Sigma Delta. In the fall of 1911 he became a member of the Alpha Beta literary society. As president of the society he has done much to further its interest.

ALPHA BETA ORATOR TAKES HONORS IN FIFTEENTH ORATORICAL CONTEST WITH ORATION, "MISSION OF AMERICA."

LOOMIS GETS SECOND HONORS

Athenian Orator Took Second and Hamilton Third—Society Stunts Were Original and Well Planned—3000 Attend the Contest.

The fifteenth annual oratorical contest was won by Walter J. Ott, representing the Alpha Beta society. Mr. Ott's subject was, "The Mission of America," and his discussion dealt with America's opportunities for becoming foremost among the nations of the world in agriculture and commerce, in view of the present unsettled conditions in Europe. Paul Loomis, the Athenian orator, took second place and Don Erwin, the Hamilton orator, received third honors. The other societies ranked as follows: Franklin, fourth; Eurodelphian fifth; Ionian, sixth; Browning, seventh; and Webster, eighth.

manner, passing around through the auditorium to the sections reserved for them. All of the societies except one took an open stand for their orator by marching slowly across the stage in full view of the audience. The sections were beautifully decorated, the respective colors and emblems being used in each.

Before every oration a stunt was given by members of the society to be next represented. These were all original and well planned, and the hearty applause testified to the fact that the audience found them entertaining. "The Soldier's Dream" given by the Eurodelphians received the most applause, while "The Highwayman" staged by the Brownings seemed to be the second in favor. Nearly 3000 persons were present.

The judges on thought and composition were: Prof. R. D. Elliot, of the South Dakota Agricultural College; Prof. C. H. Wolbert, of Illinois university; and Prof. H. G. Houghton, of Wisconsin university. The orators were judged on delivery by: Prof. G. L. Merry, of Iowa university; Prof. F. E. Brown, of the South Dakota Agricultural college; and Prof. E. B. Evans, of Drake university.

THEY DON'T WRITE ENGLISH.

Harvard Authorities Aroused Over Students' Carlessness in Writing.

Harvard university authorities are aroused over the carelessness of students in writing English, and a commission of the faculty of students' use of English, has been named to investigate the subject and provide a remedy.

Some of the phonetic spelling recently appearing in examination papers would have made Andrew Carnegie exultant, and it certainly made the professors groan. In matters of punctuation, too, there is a chance for reform.

School children of Boston will be taught the spelling of words needed only for everyday use, according to a plan announced by Frank W. Ballou, director of the department of educational investigation.

Spelling books in common use contain from 10,000 to 15,000 words. Investigation, Mr. Ballou says, shows that the number of different words used by eighth-grade pupils is only about 100.

CAN TRY OUT JUDGING SKILL

Contest Saturday Will Give Students of the College an Opportunity to Try Their Hand at Judging.

Students interested in stock judging will be given an excellent opportunity to try out their skill at the stock judging contest which will be held in the stock pavilion Saturday afternoon under the direction of the Jayhawker Saddle and Sirloin club. This contest is open to all the students of the College.

There will be eight classes of stock to judge, including both market and breeding classes. The contest will bring both the short course students and the regular College students together, and will show whether a real knowledge of livestock can be obtained from a scientific study of the animals or whether it is necessary to have the actual experience of working with them.

Several prizes will be offered to the winners in the contest. Dr. C. W. McCampbell, Prof. E. N. Wentworth, and A. M. Patterson of the animal husbandry department will act as judges.

K. U. WILL GRADUATE 300.

Twice as Many Men as Women Petition for June Degrees.

More than 300 seniors in the University of Kansas will receive diplomas in June according to statistics at the office of Registrar George Foster. The number now petitioning is 358 and all are in a position to graduate should their work this semester prove satisfactory.

Nearly twice as many men as women have petitioned for degrees. The names of 236 men and 122 women are on the Registrar's list.—Daily KKansan.

SIX ORATORS WILL CONTEST.

Temperance Union Will Hold Contest Thursday in Methodist Church.

A class of six young men, all of them students of the College, will hold an oratorical contest Thursday evening at the Methodist church. The contest is under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Manhattan. Tickets are being sold by both college students and town people, and all agree that the contest will be a good one. The names of the contestants and the subjects of their orations are being withheld.

1200 MIXED AT THE MIXER

NICHOLS GYM WAS THE SCENE OF A LIVELY, JOVIAL CROWD OF COLLEGE STUDENTS ON MONDAY NIGHT.

THE MINSTREL SCORED A HIT

"One of the Best Things That Ever Happened for the Student Body," Said Prexy—Lay Plans for Similar Event Soon.

Fully 1,200 students of the College turned out to the mixer which was held in Nichols gymnasium on Monday night under the auspices of the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A's.. The weather was not all that could be hoped for, but it made little difference to the students, who were bent on getting acquainted and having a good time.

Undoubtedly the hit of the evening was scored when the College troubadours, with their ebony faces and clownish apparel, made their appearance on the stage at the east side of the big gym and let loose on that classical song, "Abba Dabba." From then on it was simply one reel of fun after another and terrific applause burst out as the troupe retired at the close of its act.

The minuet with its slow and stately colonial step and rythm was greatly appreciated. What if Martha and George did get a trifle "fussed?" It's not an easy matter to lead one of these old fashioned dances that used to hold forth a hundred or more years ago. The group acts, given after the close of the minstrel show, were also very clever.

"This is one of the best things that ever happened for the student body of the College," said President Waters when called upon to say a few words. "We need to leave our individual groups and get together on a common level and become acquainted with each other. I'm glad that everything has gone off so well and I hope that this will be repeated," concluded Doctor Waters.

Dainty refreshments were served at tables placed here and there on the main floor of the gymnasium. The evening was a success in every way and it is already rumored that perhaps within a month another such get-together social will be held.

SCIENTIST WILL LECTURE

MONTRAVILLE WOOD WILL GIVE EXHIBITIONS OF ULTRA-VIOLET RAY AND GYROSCOPE IN COLLEGE AUDITORIUM FRIDAY.

WRITES ON WALL WITH FIRE

Many Startling Exhibitions are Made With Ultra-Violet Ray—Professor Wood Demonstrates With Flying Machine and Monorail Car.

A demonstration of the ultra-violet ray and of the gyroscope will be made in the College auditorium Friday evening by Montraville Wood, noted scientific lecturer, who appears in Manhattan in a regular number of the Lyceum course. Mr. Wood carries with him a large amount of paraphernalia and equipment, and his platform looks like a scientific laboratory when he is at work.

Mr. Wood's lecture is highly entertaining and instructive. He leaves his audience with a larger knowledge than before of varied scientific phenomena, but he avoids technical and scientific terms and uses simple, straight-forward words that everyone can understand.

The beauties of Professor Wood's demonstration of the ultra-violet can hardly be properly described. The different phases of the exhibition are a source of never ending surprise. By means of the ultra-violet ray he writes upon the wall in letters of fire which remain for 20 minutes before the eyes of the audience. In this performance the ray of light is used as a crayon.

The action of the gyroscope will also be pointed out by Mr. Wood. Both the mono-rail car and the flying machine will be used in this exhibition. A humorous incident which will come up in this presentation is the refusal of the gyroscope to have its motion interfered with.

The doors of the auditorium will be open at 7:30, the lecture beginning promptly at 8:15.

ST. MARYS HUMBLES AGGIES

Mernerites Hoped to Trounce St. Marys With Second Team but Were Handed Two Point Trimming.

The Mernerites stooped to conquer the St. Marys basketball quintet at St. Marys Monday afternoon with a second string team and were handed a two point trimming, the final count being 28 to 26. Coach Merner sent in his second list players in the first half and succeeded in leading the Catholics at the close of the period 15 to 10. Three baskets chasing through the ring in the final minute of the half gave the Aggies their lead.

The second period saw the St. Marys team piling up points and tying the count and from then till near the end of the game the lead seesawed with first one team in the lead and then the other. A long shot following a neat dribble play by Casesell in the last minute of play gave the Catholics the laurel.

Captain Jones playing desperately in the final minutes of the game was easily the Aggie star while Cassell and Miller performed best for the Collegians.

The Bachelor's club gave a Washington birthday dance Monday night.

ORCHESTRA WORKS FAITHFULLY

Proceeds of Annual Concert Will go Toward the Organ Fund.

Everything looks favorable for the sixth annual symphony orchestra concert which will be given in the College auditorium on the night of March 4 under the direction of Prof. R. H. Brown. The orchestra is practicing faithfully five or six afternoons out of each week.

Miss Fancion Easter will be the soloist. Those who have heard her will agree that her number alone should fill the house. Miss Easter's playing always gives a feeling of pleasure.

This is the first year that the annual concert has been scheduled for the College auditorium. Heretofore it has been given in one of the downtown theaters and the proceeds have been divided among the members of the orchestra. This year, however, the receipts will go toward the pipe organ fund. In return for their hard work the members of the orchestra are expecting a crowded house.

TO STAGE THREE-ACT FARCE

College Actors Will Present "Facing the Music" in College Auditorium on Night of Monday, March 1.

"Facing the Music," the annual dramatic club play, will be given in the College auditorium on Monday night, March 1. Music will be furnished by the College orchestra under the direction of Prof. R. H. Brown. Special scenery has been ordered for the presentation of the play.

The play is a three-act farce by J. Henry Darnley. It was starred in 1907 by Henry Dixie, one of America's foremost comedians. The plot and complications are worked out in two hours, but a few minutes elapsing between each act.

Tickets should be secured at the Palace, Co-Op, Knostman's, or from members of the cast. There will be no reserved seats, hence a rush at the ticket office is expected Monday night.

Following is the cast of characters:

The Rev. John Smith, the Curate of St. Andrews—A. J. Coith.

John Smith, the other Mr. Smith—Lawton M. Hanna.

Dick Desmond, the other Mrs. Smith's guest—Claude E. Lovett.

Colonel Duncan Smith, the other Mrs. Smith's uncle—P. D. Buchanan.

Sergeant Duffel, attached to Vine St. Robin Station—Elton E. Giles.

Mabel, the Curate's wife—Pauline Clark.

Nora, the other Mr. Smith's wife—Lois Noyes.

Miss Fotheringay, of the Bijou Theatre—Corine A. Myers.

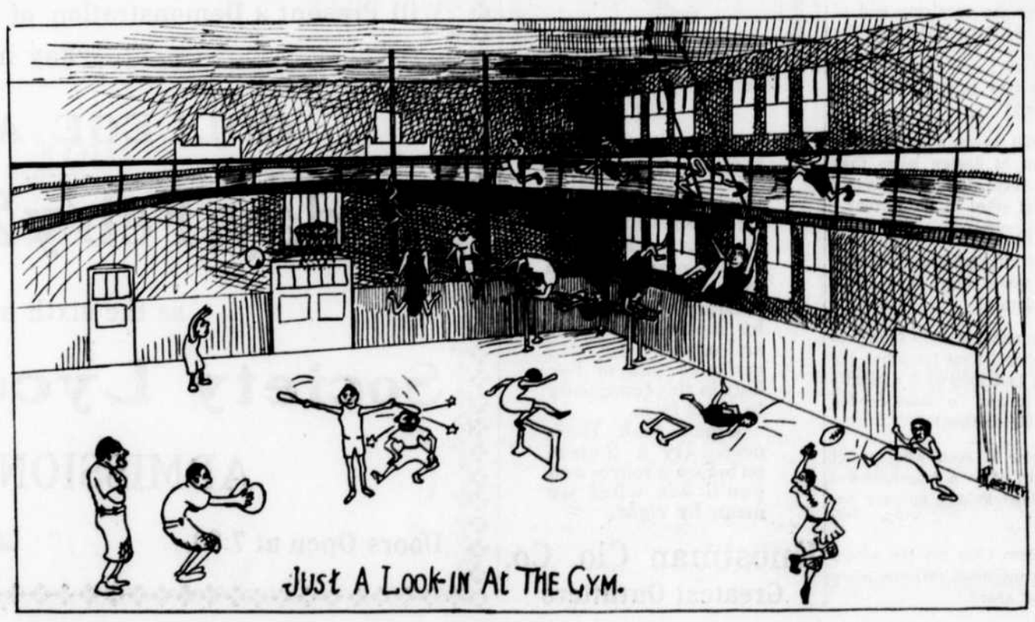

Mrs. Ponting, the other Mr. Smith's housekeeper—Emma E. Evans.

WILL SPEAK AT Y. M. MEETING

Dr. Roy B. Guild Will Address Thursday Night Meeting.

Dr. Roy B. Guild, pastor of the Central Congregational church of Topeka, wil speak at the regular Thursday night meeting of the Y. M. C. A. The meeting will begin promptly at 6:45. Doctor Guild is pastor of the largest Congregational church in the state. He was formerly secretary of the Men and Religion Forward movement.

Prof. Gatewood and Charles Gartrell have returned from Ames, Iowa, where they attended the annual conclave of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

DECIDE CHAMPIONSHIP HERE

HIGH SCHOOLS WILL COMPETE HERE ON MARCH 5 AND 6 FOR BASKETBALL HONORS IN FIFTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

TEN TEAMS HAVE ENTERED

Entry List is not yet Complete—Gives Aggies Opportunity to get Line on Baseball Athletes in the Fifth District.

The Fifth Congressional District basketball championship will be decided on the Nichols court Friday and Saturday, March 5 and 6, when ten teams representing the largest high schools in the District assemble to settle the dispute. The entry list is not yet complete but Athletic Director Lowman is assured that at least ten high schools will be represented. Mound Ridge, Clay Center, Wamego, Minneapolis, Dickinson County, Abilene, Salina, Glasco, Alta Vista, and Manhattan, have sent their entries and two or three others have signfied their intentions of entering the tourney.

Four games will be played on Friday afternoon; three Friday night, and two finals on Saturday afternoon. An admission fee of 50 cents will be charged for the series and 25 cents will be assessed for single sets.

Several of the teams will be entertained by various fraternities and Professor Lowman is desirous of the names of any who will take care of members of the visiting teams from their respective towns.

This tourney offers the Aggies a splendid opportunity to get a line on the basketball athletes of the Fifth District. The winners of the Nichols clash will play in the State Championships at Emporia, this meet being between champions of the respective Congressional Districts of Kansas.

WASHBURNITES GET REVENGE

Topeka Basketball Tossers Showed Real Class in Saturday's Game and Smothered Aggies 48 to 28.

Washburn showed real class in defeating the Mernerites on the Washburn court at Topeka, 48 to 28, last Saturday night. The Ichabods piled up a lead of 15 points before the Aggies awoke to the fact that they were co-partners in a torrid basketball clash. The chief characteristic of the contest was the many horseshoe, long-distance shots by McNeish and Ream. McNeish tallied 18 points from the field.

Coach Merner used eight men in the battle but the Manhattanites were unable to counteract the rush of rejuvenated Ichabods. The shift to McNeish to a forward position worked like a charm, while "Pinky" Beales, who moved into the rear guard, filled Nelson's shoes in clever fashion.

Captain Jones, MacMillan and McIlrath were the best performers on the Aggie lineup; Ream and McNeish played best for the Ichabods

An honest citizen who maintains himself industriously has everywhere so much freedom as he wants.—Goethe.

HOW ABOUT THE "K."

The lower classes have been agitating the question of erecting a "K" on Bluemont. So far nothing has been heard from the junior or senior classes.

A large concrete "K" placed in a well chosen spot on Bluemont hill would advertise Alma Mater a great deal. It could be seen by passengers from both the Rock Island and Union Pacific trains. Then, too, it would give the freshmen something to do and would inspire in them a feeling of loyalty and respect for their college. The burden of taking care of it would be lightened not a little by the thoughts of how they could "lord it over" the incoming freshmen the next fall.

Juniors and seniors let's hear from you. Why not have a committee representative of the four classes look into the matter and determine the cost of erecting such a K?

THE LORD'S COUNSEL.

The counsel of the Lord standeth forever, the thoughts of his hearts to all generations.—Psalms xxxiii, 11.

THE ORCHESTRA CONCERT.

For the first time in the history of the College the annual smyphony concert will be given on the campus. Heretofore it has always been presented in one of the downtown theaters.

The orchestra plays at every chapel period for which it receives nothing, but for which each member expends a great deal of his time. In bringing the concert to the College auditorium, it expects that the student body will back it. And rightly does it expect it. Surely the only thing the students can do is to show their eppreciation for the work which the orchestra is doing is to crowd the auditorium on the night of Thursday, March 4.

This year the proceeds of the concert will be given to the pipe organ fund. To use an old phrase, here is a chance to kill two birds with one stone; support the orchestra and also help along the organ fund. We all want to see a pipe organ in the auditorium. This is a chance for us to help the movement along. Let's see that it doesn't slip by.

We may live without friends, we may live without books,
But civilized men cannot live without cooks.—Owen Meredith.

THE MIXER.

The first College mixer is a thing of history, but it proved that the students of the Kansas Agricultural College can get together and have a good time without stepping on one another's toes. A most gratifying success it was, that cannot be doubted. The question is, Can we not make the next one even more successful yet? Undoubtedly we can.

In our praise for the mixer let's not forget the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A., for it is they who started the movement. With their desire to see the students of the College on better terms with each other came the idea of trying out the All College mixer. It has proved successful at other institutions, they said, why should it not here? Each one who was present Monday night can testify to its success here. Let's hope it will come again soon.

ARE WE ALL FAKERS?

"America's journalism holds the record for faking. In its masterful manner of misleading the public it has yet to be surpassed," is the statement with which Max Sherover begins a pamphlet on "Fakes in American Journalism." Then he goes on to decry the press, asserting its untruthfulness in nearly all things, and attacking its ideals. He says his purpose is to "agitate for the building up of a free press—a press that will serve the people."

The American press has only itself to thank that such opinions of it ever sprang into existence, but when Mr. Sherover applies them as universally as he does to present conditions he is unjust. In quoting fakes he often goes back to famous ones of fifteen and twenty years ago, a time when American journalism was at its worst. He does make some legitimate charges, but again, as in the handling of the present war news, he brands as a fake every story that papers differ on or that is found to be wrong, and he says such stories are manufactured in the office. As a matter of fact, the papers are doing their best to get correct news, and everyone knows that the main cause to prevent it is the censorship.

It cannot be denied that there are sensational papers yet being published, and that all can make improvements. However, Mr. Sherover fails to mention that many newspaper men are working all the time for truth and cleanliness in their papers, trying to overcome the distrust in journalism. He fails to recognize the great advances that have been made.

The real inspiration of his attack is seen in the oft repeated assertions that practically the entire press is capitalistic and presents its news with the sole purpose of destroying Socialism. And he appends a list of "clean, free and unmuzzled" papers every one of which is a Socialist organ.—Daily Missourian.

OPPORTUNITY.

They do me wrong who say I come no more
When once I knock and fail to find you in;
For every day I stand outside your door,
And bid you wake, and rise to fight and win.

Wail not precious chances passed away;
Weep not for golden ages on the wane;
Each night I burn the record of the day;
At sunrise every soul is born again.

Laugh like a boy at splendors that have sped,
To vanished joys be blind and deaf and dumb;
My judgments seal the dead past with its dead,
But never bind a moment yet to comé.

Though deep in mire, wring not your hands and weep,
I lend my arm to all who say, "I can."
No shamefaced outcast ever sank so deep
But yet might rise and be again a man.

Dost thou behold thy lost youth all aghast?
Dost reel from righteous retribution's blow?
Then turn from the blotted archives of the past
And find the future pages white as snow.

Art thou a mourner? Rouse thee from thy spell;
Art thou a sinner? Sin may be forgiven;
Each morning gives thee wings to flee from hell,
Each night a star to guide thy feet to heaven.

—WALTER MALONE.

DO YOU KNOW?

Which pretty little sorority lass is going to be on the receiving end of a diamond-set Pi Kappa Alpha in the near future?

Who it was that said, "John loves me, dirt and all?"

That the pall bearers were absolutely innocent of design when they dropped the Royal Purple treasurer in the sectional stunt at the mixer?

And that had some of the other seniors been lugging poor "Buck" around they would not have been half so considerate?

What Aztex met his lady friend in the museum chapel hour the other day and after she had produced a needle and thread had her do some needed repairing on his clothes?

That a senior K man who is not usually thought of as a fusser, is going to McFarland Friday, on very urgent business?

That the Theta Chis get the award for displaying the most extreme piece of spring head gear?

That all the waste paper that is laying around on the campus is not dropped there by students? Several profs. have been seen throwing away small pieces of paper as they walk along, of late.

That a certain junior was found spending a very enjoyable chapel date in the old ag building last Thursday?

That a sophomore journalist got in bad with his landlady by letting the basin in the bathroom run over while washing pictures?

Is Working on a Bulletin.

Northwestern Gets Endowment.

The endowment of Northwestern university has been increased during the past year by $458,000, and there is an excellent prospect that $100,000 more will come from the Rockefeller Foundation on condition that $900,000 additional is raised by the first day of June.

No High Grades Here.

In one class in the University of Missouri there is at least some consolation for those who do not get the highest grade. The junior electrical engineers recently established the rule that the one who makes the highest grade in the class on each quiz must treat the rest of the class.

Taft May be Texas "Prexy."

Ex-President W. H. Taft has been asked by Governor Colquitt of Texas to accept the position as president of the state university. As an inducement to Mr. Taft, the salary of the position was raised from $5,000 to $7,500, and Texas authorities are quoted as saying that a higher amount will be paid if the ex-president will come to the college.

Profs. on Leave of Absence.

Many complaints have been received at Toronto university about three professors of German in regard to their being alien foreigners, and last week the board of governors of the institution held a meeting to deal with the situation. This meeting considered all sides of the case and decided that the best thing to do was to grant leave of absence to the three professors in qustion.

Williams Breaks With Dartmouth.

Williams college has dropped Dartmouth in football, giving as the reason too ardous a schedue. With the exception of one break in relations in 1900, Dartmouth and Williams have engaged at football since the early '80's. The basis for the elimination of the game next fall according to Williams, lies in the fact that the Purple, with such big contests as those with Cornell and Princeton on her schedule, feels that it must be lightened. However, there is nothing permanent in the agreement and it is likely that the resumption of the annual game will be in order in 1916.

TO READ BOOKS DURING SUMMER

Committee Selects Books Which Engineers Must Read During Vacation.

In order to increase the efficiency of the division of engineering Dean A. A. Potter has appointed a number of standing committees. One of these committees has charge of the selection of books for summer reading for the engineering students. The committee consists of Prof. C. E. Reid, Prof. H. B. Walker, Asst. Prof. R. G. Taylor, W. H. Sanders, and P. J. Freeman. It is the intention of the engineering faculty to require the engineering students to read a list of books during the summer vacations in order to strengthen their general knowledge and training along other lines than engineering. This is a method in use in many of the large technical colleges of this country.

All Juniors who have not had their class book photographs taken should do so at once.

K.U. BASEBALL WORRIES OVER

COACH McCARTY FOUND WONDERFUL PITCHER IN WORKOUT LAST WEEK—FILLS LOSS OF BISHOP AND SMEE.

AGGIES HAVE HOPES OF TWIRLER

"Yes," says the Honorable William Oliver Hamilton, manager of athleics at the University of Kansas; "our baseball worries are over. Coach McCarty found a wonderful pitcher in one of the workouts last week. This new discovery has everything and will completely fill the gap caused by the loss of Bishop and Smee, last season's stellar twirlers."

Mighty funny this business of discovering a stellar pitcher in one afternoon. Great man this that can show his speed, curves, and control; all in one afternoon's workout. Probably an even greater coach who can foresee all these traits in a twirler's arm; all in one afternoon's workout.

Aggies Will Have One, Too.

Coach Guy S. Lowman has been working his battery candidates daily in the gymnasium and says that he may be able to develop a pitcher or two by May. Hodgson is the only material of known quality on the staff. Brechenheisen has a clever variety of goods but his control has never been sufficient to get by. Should this big lad garner in a quantity of "con" the opposing batters would find several deliveries to worry over. His speed, last season, was his chief asset.

The Emporia Normals will be hosts to the State basketball tournament this season. Coach Hargis secured the tourney by raising $200 among the Normal students.

TO STAGE WINTER CIRCUS

Boxing, Wrestling, Minstrel Show, and Clown Acts Will be Features of Carnival in Nichols Gym.

The Athletic K fraternity will stage its first annual Athletic Carnival and Winter Circus in Nichols gym Monday night, March 8. Boxing, wrestling, inter-sorority and inter-fraternity relay racing, a minstrel show, clown acts, tumbling and apparatus stunts, and the College band, will fill the evening's program. A committee has been appointed to confer with the various fraternities and make arrangements for each to stage stunts.

The fatty athletes are to be dragged from their holes of hibernation and forced to scamper the various routes devised by man. Campus curios who once adorned their manly busoms with the coveted K, will be lead into captivity and banted upon one cigarette a day togetser with four or five carbohydrates. Thus, a man with a glass eye can very easily see that a prize winning crew will freeze their little pink legs in the crimpy ozone of the gym when they come cavorting out to death or victory. The winter circus marks the first time that the old men who wore the purple will be given a chance to compete with the younger generation, and it will b worth the admission to see them in action and formulate your own dope on how good they used to be.

The University of Virginia hurdlers captured all three places in the 100-yard low hurdle championship event of the South Atlantic Intercollegiate conference last Saturday. The time for the event was 11 4-5 seconds. The half mile run went to "Ted" Meredith, of the University of Pennsylvania, in 2 minutes and 2 seconds.

TO HOLD INTERCLASS MEET

CONTEST WILL BE HELD ON THE NICHOLS TRACK IN MARCH AS FINAL EPISODE OF INDOOR SEASON.

VARSITY MEN TO BE ELIGIBLE.

The final episode of the present indoor track season will be a novel interclass track meet held on the Nichols track early in March. The varsity athletes will be eligible to compete in this meet for the first time in the history of these contests. But there will be a string on their competition.

None of the letter men or candidates for 1915 letters will be permitted to compete in the events that they are working in against conference teams. The shot putters will take to the hurdles, at least so sayeth Archie Marble; the hurdlers will become pill tossers, and some few may become pill rollers.

Re-instate Ineligibles.

All of the in-eligibles will be reinstated for this meet and little accurate dope is obtainable as to a possible winner. The latest comeback is "Shorty" Fowler, who hurls a many-worded challenge to all comers over the 880 route.

It is possible that a special match race will be arranged between the gushing I. Loren and a member of the All-Star basketball quintet. We are not permitted to mention the name of Mr. Fowler's opponent, but for the benefit of those who like riddles we state that it will be the heaviest man that played on the "ex" gang.

The Emporia Normals have laid out a baseball diamond on their basketball floor and put up a backstop net in preparation for the indoor baseball workouts this spring. Regular batting and fielding workouts have been started.

Minnesota's athletic board has provided for dancing after basketball games. This action was taken to stimulate interest in the game. The plan was tried several years ago and worked successfully. The first try was made after the Purdue game.

C. W. Loomis, Massachusetts Institute of Technology's crack sprinter, equalled the world's indoor mark for 50 yards in the Armory Games in Boston last Saturday night, when he scampered ahead of the field and broke the tape in 5 2-5 seconds. Kent of Harvard, won the mile in the remarkably fast time of 4:25 2-5.

Crippled for Life.

Britain Patterson, left tackle on the Washington and Jefferson college football team the past two years and who was given honorable mention by Walter Camp last fall, is crippled probably for life as the result of an injury to his right knee cap suffered in a game with Georgetown at Washington, D. C., last season. Patterson, who weighed 225 pounds in training, now weighs 175 pounds and walks with a crutch.

All Athletic at Cornell.

All but 300 students at Cornell university are engaged in some form of athletics, according to statistics recently furnished by the director of physical training there. This is a percentage of over 92.5 percent of the undergraduates, and the number is exceptionally large in comparison with other leading universities.

According to the statistics the most popular of the many branches of athletics indulged in by the students are track and tennis, although the other lines of sport are also patronized to a large extent.

Cornell Expects Big Year.

Cornell students and graduates are confident that the season of 1915 will be a banner one for the athletes of the Ithaca university. The rattle with which the carnelian and white closed the 1914 campaign has aroused athletic interest to a fever pitch at Cornell and they are getting ready to push their banner to the highest point before the curtain drops on the sporting show of 1915. Cornell is eager to grab some of the honors that have fallen with such consistency in the last few years to Harvard. The chances are in favor of this ambitious program being successfully carried out. The bulk of the credit for Cornell's fine showing on the gridiron goes to Dr. Sharue, who is also the coach of the baseball and gasketball teams.

Princeton vs. Michigan.

Coach Keene Fitzpatrick has issued his last call for candidates for Princeton's 1915 track team, and with this comes the publication of the Princeton track schedule, which contains a date with Michigan's track team.

The Orange and Black track season for 1915 will open in Ann Arbor on Feb. 20, when the Tigers will journey westward to meet the Wolverines in the first track event of their indoor season. The announcement, as made at Princeton, N. J., gives only the time and place at which the meet will be run off, and the information that a two-mile relay is the event scheduled.

Schedule for Nebraska.

The 1915 football schedule of the University of Nebraska gives the Cornhuskers the strongest schedule of any Missouri Valley school. Eight games will be played, six of them at Lincoln. The biggest foreign game the Nebraskans will have is the battle with Kansas on McCook Nov. 13.

The schedule follows:

Oct. 2—Drake at Lincoln.
Oct. 9—Kansas Aggies at Lincoln.
Oct. 16—Washburn at Lincoln. (?)
Oct. 23—Notre Dame at Lincoln.
Oct. 30—Ames at Ames.
Nov. 6—Wesleyan at Lincoln.
Nov. 13—Kansas at Lawrence.
Nov. 20—Iowa at Lincoln.

Believe Explorers Lost.

The fate of Steffanson and Anderson, the artic explorers, is of great interest to Iowa university because both men are former Iowa students and Iowa City boys. Consequently their progress in the frozen north has been closely followed ever since their last visit to the university year before last. At that time both explorers spent several days at the university visiting and lecturing. They were then completing plans for the exploration of the artic region lying north and east of Alaska.

MOTT WILL LEAD CAMPAIGN

Religious Campaign Will be Conducted at Kansas University Next Week Under Leadership of John R. Mott.

Next week will be known as "Mott Week" at the University of Kansas. The student body has drawn a circle around the dates March 2 to 8, and set aside that week from the regular routine of student activities in honor of the coming of John R. Mott, and a large company of famous religious workers, who will conduct the greatest religious campaign ever held at any university in the United States. According to international secretaries of the Y. M. C. A., no American university has ever had so many great experts in student religious work to conduct a series of meetings.

Here are some of the men of prominence who will compose the team. John R. Mott, is the general secretary of the World's Student Christian federation, and is considered by many authorities to be the greatest executive mind of the evangelistic world. He was offered the ambassadorship to China, but declined.

Raymond Robins of Chicago is a civic reformer and sociologist. He was once a prospector in Alaska, then a minister in Nome. He has worked as a common laborer in mines, in logging camps, on ocean vessels, in steel mills, and in harvest fields.

E. C. Mercer was a famous athlete during his student days at the University of Virginia. In the past five years he has visited 90 percent of the leading colleges and universities of America, has spoken before fully 400,000 college men, and has visited more than 35,000 fraternities and club houses.

A. J. Elliott, H. L. Heinzmann, John L. Childs, F. W. Rindge, and H. S. Elliott are international secretaries of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Heinzmann graduated from K. U. in the class of 1906. The entire state force of the Y. M. C. A. will also be on hand, including L. K. Hall, John E. Manley, F. E. Pierce, and H. H. Grafton.

Convocations of the university as whole and separate meetings of the various schools and colleges will be held under the leadership of such men as Mott, Robins, and Mercer. An opportunity will be given every student of the university to have a private 20-minute interview with one of the leaders concerning life work, moral, and religious questions. The women of the university will have separate meetings, as well as the general meetings. The leaders will be entertained at the different fraternity and club houses and will address members of these organizations daily.

The business men of Lawrence will meet at luncheon every day during the campaign and listen to one of the leaders, as will the committee of 100 students. A similar campaign, but on a much smaller scale, will be conducted at the same time at Haskell Indian school just south of Lawrence.

Dr. E. O. Caldwell Returns.

Dr. Otis E. Caldwell of the University of Chicago will return to Manhattan Sunday for a week's stay at the College. During this time he will finish reading the proof on Doctor Waters' book, "The New Agriculture." Collegians are welcome, as are all who will trudge out to talk to the detained.

PEST HOUSE PROVES POPULAR.

Smallpox Victims Enjoy Flowers and "Eats" From Sympathetic Friends.

Since the advent of smallpox to our thriving institution, seven of the College midnight oil burners have sojourned to the vicinity of the hospital of detention. The unlucky (or lucky) victims are Messrs. Bell, Willis, Jones, Flippo, Layton, Shull, and Lantow. One victim begged a Collegian reporter to include Mr. Stuckey, the parlor maid.

The horror victims reside in a one room mansion, sleep under quilts which were last bathed seven years ago, and are fed rations entirely satisfactory to both man and beast. "Scarlet fever" does the cooking, and a very good cook is he so they say. None of the boys are sick, but spend the time improving their minds, reading, playing nosey-poker, and rough housing. All kinds of papers especially Collegians are welcome, as are all who will trudge out to talk to the detained.

PRESENT THREE-ACT FARCE

ANNUAL PLAY OF THE DRAMATIC CLUB WILL BE GIVEN IN THE COLLEGE AUDITORIUM MONDAY NIGHT.

WILL HAVE SPECIAL SCENERY

Proceeds Will be Used to Improve Auditorium Stage and Buy Scenery—College Orchestra Will Furnish Music—No Reserved Seats.

The Dramatic club will give its annual play, "Facing the Music," in the College auditorium Monday night, March 1. Special scenery and costumes have been secured for the presentation of the play. Music will be furnished by the College orchestra under the direction of Prof. R. H. Brown.

The proceeds of the play do not go to the club or to members of the cast. They will be used to improve the auditorium stage and to purchase additional scenery and other stage accessories of use in presenting dramatic entertainments.

"Facing the Music" is a high grade three-act farcial comedy depicting typical English life. It is a case of mistaken identity and has all the laughter-provoking complications that result from such a plot. The thread of the story is wound around the Rev. John Smith and a John Smith of race track gambling tendencies who have apartments in the same London flat. The wife of one of the men makes an awkward mistake as to which apartment her husband has rented while she is away. The complications that follow this mistake are extremely humorous.

Tickets for the play can be secured at the Palace, the Co-Op, Knostman's, or from members of the cast. There will be no reserved seats. The doors of the auditorium will be open at 7.30, the curtain going up at 8:15.

Following is the cast of characters:

The Rev. John Smith, the Curate of St. Andrews—A. T. Colth.

John Smith, the other Mr. Smith—Lawton M. Hanna.

Dick Desmond, the other Mr. Smith's guest—Claude E. Lovett.

Colonel Duncan Smith, the other Mr. Smith's uncle—P. D. Buchanan.

Sergeant Duffel, attached to Vine Street Police Station—Elton E. Giles.

Mabel, the Curate's wife—Pauline Clark

Nora, the other Mr. Smith's wife—Lois Noyes.

Miss Fotheringay, of the Bijou Theatre—Corine A. Meyers.

Mrs. Ponting, the other Mr Smith's housekeeper—Emma E. Evans.

SENIORS PLAN "TACKY" PARTY.

Have Controversy With "K" Fraternity Over Date of March 8.

Flushed with the success of their party of last term, the seniors are planning to give one more frolic before their final appearance in society on May 14.

Sometime ago the seniors decided that they would hold a "tacky" party and the committee in charge of the social side of the function have made arrangements to hold it on the night of March 8 in Nichols gym. Now along comes the athletic "K" fraternity stating that they have secured the gym for that night for their indoor circus. The seniors, however, are confident and are not worrying over the matter.

None but seniors are to attend the party and owing to the short time in which dates can be made the date committee is anxious that all engagments be turned in as soon as possible. The committee consists of Miss Bess Pyle, H. S. Ewers, and "Shorty" Fowler. The window opposite the postoffice will be open next Thursday at which time those who have not registered may do so. The committee intends to assign dates to all seniors who have not registered the same by next Thursday night.

SCHOOL OF AG PLANS MIXER.

This was Decided at a Mass Meeting on Thursday.

At a mass meeting of the school of agriculture on Thursday it was decided to hold a school of agriculture mixer. The mixer is to be held some time this term for the purpose of getting the students in the school of agriculture better acquainted and to create more interest and loyalty in the activities of the school.

It was decided that space should be purchased in the Royal Purple for the representation of the school. A 10-cent assessment was levied for this purpose. Miss Cooley has been authorized to collect this assessment at Professor Kent's office.

OFFERS $300 SCHOLARSHIP

L. M. Crawford of Topeka Presents the Award—Is to be Offered in Division of General Science.

A scholarship worth $300 a year has just been offered to the Kansas Agricultural College by L. M. Crawford, of Topeka, who desires that a young woman be the first recipient of the award.

The scholarship, which was offered through Dr. R. K. Nabours, professor of zoology, is to be offered in the division of general science. The donor desires that when a young woman holds the scholarship she take her elective courses largely in home economics, and that a young man holding the scholarship pursue work chiefly in agriculture.

Mr. Crawford offers the scholarship to begin with the fall term of 1915 and suggests that the same person hold the honor from the time of its award till graduation, provided the scholar continues to show high promise in his work. Applications for the scholarship are, according to the donor's plan, to be considered by a committee composed of the president of the College, the dean of general science, the dean of home economics or of agriculture, and a member of the faculty appointed by the faculty.

MONTRAVILLE WOOD PLEASED

His Demonstrations of Ultra-Violet Ray and Gyroscope Were the Most Remarkable Ever Given Here.

Montraville Wood gave a scientific lecture and demonstration last night in the auditorium. Mr. Wood has been a student of science for many years and has spent much time in investigation. The results of his numerous experiments and investigations are given to the public in his remarkable lectures.

The two main divisions of Professor Wood's entertainment were the demonstration of the ultra-violet ray and the demonstration of the gyroscope of which instrument he is the inventor.

The demonstration of the ultra-violet ray is an exhibition of remarkable and unusual beauty. The ray itself is invisible to the human eye but it has a wonderful effect upon surrounding objects in the matter of color production.

After a brief explanation of the sources and use of the ultra-violet ray, and the movement of the gyroscope, Professor Wood proceeded with his demonstration. The stage was fitted up as a laboratory and Mr. Wood's daughter, Miss Alline, assisted him in his work.

The lecture and demonstration was one of the most remarkable ever given here. Professor Wood avoided, as far as possible, scientific and technical terms and left his audience with a larger knowedge of varied scientific phenomena.

Prof. W. T. Stratton is now acting dean of the school of agriculture during the absence of Prof. Kent.

ENTER 11 MEN IN K. C. MEET

AGGIE TRACK ATHLETES LEAVE AT NOON TO TAKE PART IN KANSAS CITY ATHLETIC CLUB MEET.

HAVE EDGE ON SOME EVENTS

Frizzell has Good Chance in High Jump—Colth and Holroyd Will Measure up in Quarter—Run Relay With Missouri.

(By E. H. Smith.)

The Kansas Aggies will place eleven track athletes in competition in the annual indoor meet of the Kansas City Athletic club at Kansas City tonight. Captain Colth, Holroyd, Crumbaker, Welsh, Vandenberg, Frizzell, "Tex" Collins, Weaver, Wilder, Osborne, and Smith, will wear the purple. The team will leave at noon.

Coach Merner, before leaving with the basketball team on Thursday for Ames, expressed the opinion that the Aggies would garner several K. C. A. C. medals tonight. Based on the results of the K. U.-Aggie dual meet at Lawrence February 15, the Aggies appear to have the edge on several of the intercollegiate events.

Aggies May Take High Jump.

With Frizzell in the high jump the Aggies have nothing to fear from any of the Missouri Valley high leapers. Of course Joe Loomis, the Chicago sensation, who will probably be scratch man in this event, is capable of 6 feet 2 inches and will probably win the event from scratch although the Kansas City A. C. has a high falooting leaper in "Bill" French the former K. U. star and captain, and "J. P." Nicholson, competing for the Columbia Athletic club of St. Louis, still maintains a six-foot range.

Captain Colth and Holroyd are entered in the 440 handicap and should they draw decent offsets are billed to take the measure of some poor quarter miler. Collins, Wilder, and Weaver are entered in the distance events and probably will show best in the 1000-yard handicap. Collins will also take a fling at the mile though Weaver is still suffering from injuries to his right heel and will stick to the 1000-yard event.

Enter Three Hurdlers.

Crumbaker, Osborne, and Vandenberg are scheduled to test out the 50-yard distance. Welsh, Vandenberg, and Frizzell, will measure strides with Loomis, the whirlwind hurdler from Chicago. Smith will enter the 12-pound shot putting contest.

The Aggie relay four will step with Missouri in a mile event. The Merner quartet is weakened by the loss of Grandfield, who is now residing at the city pest house; Lovett, who will not make the trip owing to conflictions with rehearsals for the Dramatic club's farce on Monday night.

INSPECT TRACTION ENGINES.

Thirty Short Course Men Make Trip to Wichita.

Thirty short course students taking the course in traction engineering in charge of W. H. Sanders left in a special car over the Rock Island the first of the week for Wichita to attend a meeting of Kansas harvesters. The men were very enthusiastic over the trip as was shown by the banners which decorated their car.

Owing to a mistake in dates it was thought that the meeting was to be held the first part of this week instead of the last. Accordingly the men arrived in Wichita several days ahead of time, but they are spending the time profitably in visiting the many threshing machine agencies of that city.

START POULTRY SHORT COURSES.

Classes Will Start Monday With Enrollment of 200.

Nearly 200 students will be enrolled in the short courses in poultry which will begin on Monday, March 1. The course consists of lectures and laboratory work. The lecture work will cover the general subject of poultry as related to the farm. The laboratory work will take up such subjects as housing, brooders, testing the embryo of the egg, study of the anatomy of the egg, caponizing, dressing, killing, and boning. This work will be carried on at the College poultry farm. The short course closes March 17.

AND STILL IT CONTINUES.

When the fast mail train on the Bingville and Northern was held up by masked robbers and its pouches of registered mail rifled, it spread abroad in the countryside and in a comparatively short time everybody was on the search for the robbers. It was news; every was interested; a crime has been committed.

Every day in the library of this College a crime is being committed, a crime which has not only a present effect but for which students in future years will have to pay. Books are disappearing from the stack room, from the class reserve room, and from other departments. Not only is there a bodily carrying away of volume after volume but a wholesale mutilation of magazines and books is going on. Beautiful color plates, for example, are being torn from magazines. Pictures of works of art are also disappearing from the magazines and books. Volumes which are held in the class reserve room mysteriously disappear only to make their appearance after they are not needed. Some selfish student has taken the book and kept it for himself during the time when it is needed by fifty or more of his fellow classmates. He gets his lessons and receives the commendation of his instructor, while the other members of the class suffer.

Is not this news? Is it not a crime? Should it not be of vital interest to every student of the College? What are we going to do, is the question. The library force has done all it can and still the books disappear. Either one of two things must be done to preserve the library to future students; locked shelves with all their inconvenience will have to be put in, or each student must take it upon himself to become a detective and keep his eyes open when around the library. The books do not walk off, that is certain. Obviously, then, someone must carry them away. If we appreciate our library we will take enough interest in it to watch for the thief who is robbing it of the literary and scientific treasures it holds. Suppose we had no library. How far would we get in our pursuit of knowledge? Let's keep watch over it then and see that the person who abuses its privileges is reprimanded.

GOD'S LOVE.

For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. —S. John, iii, 16.

A CHANCE TO HELP.

On Monday night, March 8, the athletic department of the College will put on an indoor circus in Nichols gym. There will be worlds of fun and amusement. Also there will be some exhibitions of athletic prowess.

The proceds of the evening will go toward paying the expenses of the track team to Kansas City where it will take part in the meet of the Kansas City Athletic club. Other schools in the state will have teams there. It is right that the men on our track team should not be this privilege? Football last fall was disastrous to the coffers of the athletic department and if the track team is to take part in this meet the students must send it. Why not miss the picture show on this night? The big gym will present the scenes of a circus ring and there will be something doing every minute. How about it? Success or failure?

OBSERVATIONS.

Students in the University of Washington are alarmed over a bill that has been presented to the state legislature asking that all athletic sports in the state institutions be abolished. They ahve characterized the measure as, "cheap way of getting publicity." The athletic coaches of the institution remain silent. It is not their fight. The bill evidently is the work of some rustic legislator desiring to let the state know that the train from Sleepy Hollow has arrived. But what of it? A legislature must have something to argue about.

How blatant are the criticisms of that modern educational tool the note book. Truly the note book bears the same relation to a modern education as does the weather topic to a conversation.

If this weather keeps up it will almost be time to get out the sassafras tea and other remedies for spring fever.

No tango dancers on the Harvard track team! The crimson coaches say there are too many chances for sprains and that over indulgence in exercise might bring on breakdown.

Jack Lazybones says that it's too bad we don't have a Washington's birthday every week.

Our definition of a student: One who gets up on a holiday and starts for a first-hour class

Students of the University of Kansas are to enjoy an All-University party Saturday night.

The "Yellow" number of the Washburn Review made its appearance Wednesday. It contained some interesting bits of scandal.

Owing to crowded conditions in the electrical department of the school of engineering at the University of Kansas it is being found necessary to hold lab classes two evenings each week.

DO YOU KNOW?

When we are going to have another Mixer?

That somehow it does not look right to see the College colors being used for dust rags?

We almost missed the one about Professor Dickens beating his wife up the other morning? Sure, she got up at seven and he got up at six-thirty.

The minstrel show at the Mixer helped bring to light some exceptionally clever talent that up to the present has blushed unseen?

What progressive junior man at the Mixer left his girl to get ices, had some trouble obtaining them and on his return discovered his lady friend eating out of the same dish with another man?

That the University of Illinois has a special professor hired by the state, whose entire time is devoted to giving dancing lessons to the students?

That a junior boy with rare forethought arranged his schedule for the winter term with a heavy assignment on Mondays and when Washington's birthday rolled around this progressive son escaped six hours?

What popular young lady on a dare, put furniture glue in her steady's hat when he called, just to see how he would take the joke and found out, for he has not spoken to her since?

That one of the best dancers in College seldom attends and absolutely refuses to dance any of the new dances when she does go to a dance?

What business like young woman who was in the habit of sending the Collegian home each week to save writing thought it wise to clip a couple of items out of last week's issue before she mailed the rag, and as a result has stirred up more trouble than the original article would have caused?

Why as soon as a sorority has pledged a new girl, all the old members begin to wear her hats and coats?

That the young lady in the vaudeville team at the Marshall last week has a sister attending K. S. A. C.?

Who the man is who is on duty two hours each evening in front of the Alpha Mu house?

"THE BARGAIN."

A story of the West—Western characters—Western scenery—laid in the Grand Canyon of Arizona. "The Bargain" produced for the Paramount Corporation by Thomas H. Ince with the famous Broadway favorite, William S. Hart, in the role of Jim Stokes, The Two-gun Man. Wareham Theater Wednesday matinee and night, March 3.

The Collegian prints all the College news twice a week.

SHORT COURSERS PLAY A JOKE.

Fill Fire Hose in New Agricultural Building With Water.

One of the favorite tricks of some of the short course students in agriculture is that of turning on the water in the fire hose located in the new agricultural building. They think it a huge joke to turn on the hydrant and fill up the hose, thus necessitating much work on the part of the janitors in unwinding the hose, draining the water, and drying the hose. No doubt such "jokes" bring back memories of times when they have turned on the hydrant for the village fire brigade when there was a blaze in Hiram Schoopshovel's hen house.

INSTRUCT QUILL CANDIDATES.

They are to Submit Manuscripts to Miss Ada Rice.

The students who are working for admission to the Quill fraternity have certain directions to follow. Themes should be from 800 to 2000 words according to the nature of the article. The subjects written upon should not be of a political nature, but should be on any topic of general interest, whether a short story or feature article. It should have the qualities of a salable manuscript. The name of the writer must not appear on the theme but should acompany it in a sealed envelope and the theme and envelope bear similar numbers or means of identification. When the manuscript is prepared in this fashion it may be handed to Miss Ada Rice in the old agricultural building. The manuscripts should be in by March 1, but this date is not compulsory.

This music has never been given on the hill before says Prof. Olaf Valley.

The faculty quartet is made up of Miss Esta Hungerford, soprano; Miss Jessie Machir, alto; Prof. E. N. Wentworth, tenor; and Prof. Olaf Valley, bass. Miss Fanchion Easter will be the accompanist.

All the songs on teh program are modern to the fullest sense of the word. Solos will be given by M. A. Lindsey, and E. W. Wilson. The "Aggieville" quartet is to be another feature of the evening.

The program consists of the following: "On the Road to Mandalay;" "Ashes of Roses;" Elegy of a Mad Dog;" "Mamy's Lullaby;" Sprose's arangements from Dvorak's "Humoresque;" and "When Mabel Sings."

FAMOUS SHEPPARD TO COACH

Famous Sheppard to coach

Melvin W. Sheppard, once the world's greatest middle-distance runner, holder of many world's records and former Olympic champion, set all rumors at rest about his retirement from competition in track athletics by signing a contract yesterday as a professional coach for the Millrose Athletic Association, which organization is composed of the employes of John Wanamaker in New York. As a result of a conference yesterday with Val Dysert, President of the Millrose A. A., and John J. McGowan, Chairman of athletics, Sheppard agreed to t ake hold of the track team of this organization, which has made much progress in athletic competition during its comparatively short career.

Sheppard is still under the doctor's care as a result of his fall at the new York A. C. games in Madison Square Garden last week. It was at first feared that blood poisoning would set in in the wound he received in his arm, but medical treatment has now put the new professional past the danger point. Sheppard is going to remain indoors for a few days in order to rest before taking up in earnest his new duties as coach of the Millrose A. A.

Sheppard's wonderful career of thirteen years on the cinderpath has been the best possible training for him in his new vocation. Since resigning as a member of the Irish-American A. C. nearly a year ago he has been connected with the Millrose A. A. in an amatuer capacity, and was responsible in a great measure for building up its present team of star athletes. Now that he is going to give his entire attention to the development of the Millrose A. A. athletes he should put this organization out in front in athletics competition in a very short time. Sheppard's first goal will be the priming of a winning team to be sent by the Millrose A. A. to the Panama-Pacific Exposition in June.

HAS LARGE BASEBALL SQUAD

SEVENTEEN NEW MEN REPORT VARSITY BASEBALL AT MISSOURI—THIRTY-THREE REPORT FOR FRESHMAN SQUAD.

HOPE TO PICK A WINNING TEAM

Seventeen new men reported for varsity baseball, at the University of Missouri and thirty-three men, one third of whom are pitchers, reported for the freshman team.

From the seventeen new men and the seven M men in school, the coaches hope to pick a winning team for the coming season. Of the new men reporting, four are catchers, nine infielders, three outfielders, but only one man signed up as a pitcher. Four M men also reported They were Wikoff, catcher; Capp, pitcher; Woody, outfielder and Hogg, infielder. Davis and Palfreyman, infielders, and Taylor, pitcher, did not sign up last night, but will be found working with the rest of the squad, from now on.

Among the freshmen reporting to Coach Gray, were eleven pitchers, eleven infielders, eight outfielders, and three catchers.

Sport Salad

Harvard Begins Baseball.

Thirteen men appeared at the opening of the spring baseball practice at Harvard as candidates to pitch for the baseball team this season. Four prospective catchers completed the group of battery candidates who answered the call of Captain Ayres.

Captain Mahan of the football team, Frye and Whitney, each of whom made his letter in baseball last year; Wilcox, whose twirling for the freshmen last season showed promise, and Withington, another football man, were among the pitchers.

Waterman, who also caught last year, and Hart, who was behind the bat for the freshmen, are considered the most likely catchers.

May Abolish Sports.

The students of the University of Washington are up in arms over a bill to be submitted to the State Legislature which will advocate the abolition of inter-collegiate sports.

The students characterize the action as "freak" legislation and "cheap scheme to gain publicity" and are almost unanimous in their disapproval of the proposed measure. The bill would do away with all athletic contests between State schools in Washington, and with other colleges without the boundaries of the State.

The director of physical training at the school said that inter-collegiate athletics hurt the students in their development. He would have regular exercise substituted.

Williams Abolishes Two Sports.

Owing to the low financial condition of the A. A. and the continued lack of necessary water wherewith to fill the tank because of the drought the athletic council at Williams college has found it impossible to continue the swimming team for the 1915 season. For less imperative reasons, chiefly the lack of interest manifested in the team, the council has decided to withdraw recognition from the fencing association as an authorized sport.

Such a Poor Marksman.

Sergeant (disgustedly to Private Jones)—Ugh! don't waste your last bullet. Nineteen are quite enough to blaze away without hitting the target once. Go behind that wall and blow your brains out.

Jones walked quietly away and a few seconds later a shot rang out.

"Great sausages, the fool's done what I told him!" howled the sergeant, running behind the wall. Great was his relief when he saw Private Jones coming toward him.

"Sorry, sergeant," he said apologetically, "another miss."—Kansas City Star.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN.

VOLUME 21. NUMBER 48. KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 3, 1915. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

HEAR ORCHESTRA THURSDAY

SIXTH ANNUAL CONCERT OF COLLEGE SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA WILL BE GIVEN IN COLLEGE AUDITORIUM THURSDAY NIGHT.

HAVE EXCELLENT PROGRAM

Miss Fanchon Easter is the Soloist—Advance Seat Sale has Been Large—Proceeds go to the Pipe Organ Fund.

The College symphony orchestra of which Robert Henry Brown is the conductor will give its sixth annual concert in the College auditorium on Thursday night, March 4. Miss Fanchon Easter will be the soloist.

The College orchestra consists of 40 musicians of the College. The proceeds of its annual concert will go toward the pipe organ fund. This is the first year that the annual concert has been scheduled for the College auditorium and the advance seat sale has been large, proving that the management made no mistake when it decided to give the annual treat upon the campus.

Will Assist Orchestra.

The orchestra will be assisted by Mrs. Rose French-Brooks, viola, better known as a violinist and teacher, who but recently moved to Manhattan. She has taken a prominent part in musical affairs. William Dalton, celloist, of Lawrence, who ranks as one of the best celloists in the state, and Oscar Darlon, flutist of Topeka, who has been a prominent member of Marshall's band of Topeka, will arrive this afternoon to assist the orchestra with their program.

Miss Fanchon Easter will play the Concerto for Pianoforte, No. 1, Op. 23, by Tschaikowsky with the orchestra. Miss Easter's playing has always called forth a great deal of appreciation and her number alone should fill the auditorium.

Under the leadership of Prof. R. H. Brown the orchestra has always been noted for the excellent quality of its productions. It cannot be compared with other college or university orchestras for it has placed itself far above them. Both in execution and tone quality it can truthfully be said to have lost all touches of amateurism. An excellent program is being offered; one which will appeal to the lovers of classical music.

The Program.

Following is the program:

"Aida" ..... Verdi

Symphony No. 6 ("Pathetique")

"Some Phases in the Development of the Diesel Engine," will be the subject of the lecture which will be given by H. R. Setz before the engineering students of the College in the engineering amphitcatre on Thursday, March 4, at 3:30 o'clock. Mr. Setz is one of the foremost authorities on the designing of Diesel engines. For several years he was professor of mechanical engineering in the Carnegie technical schools. He is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

SOLD 45 HEAD OF HORSES.

Lee Brothers Held Annual Sale in Stock Pavilion Tuesday.

Lee Brothers of Harveyville held their third annual horse sale in the College stock pavilion yesterday. An unusually large crowd attended the sale.

Forty-five head of Percheron horses were offered for sale. The horses sold very well and bidding was fast and keen. One beautiful stallion sold for the price of $510 in less than one minute of bidding. But three bids were made on him. During the noon hour the Jayhawker Saddle and Sirloin club of the College served a 20-cent lunch in room 15 of the new agricultural building. A large number of out of town horse breeders attended the sale.

PLANS CARLISLE COURSES

Federal Government Chooses Prof. H. L. Kent to Outline Courses in Agriculture for the Carlisle School.

The Indian boys who attend Carlisle are to receive the best possible courses in agriculture. Harry L. Kent, principal of the school of agriculture and associate professor of education in the College, has been granted a leave of absence by the board of administration upon the request of the United States government so that he can spend a month at Carlisle school, Carlisle, Pa., working out a course of study in agriculture.

Before extending an invitation to Professor Kent, Oscar M. Lipps, supervisor in charge of the Indian school, visited many of the leading agricultural colleges in the country in a study of their work and methods. That a member of the faculty of this College was chosen to prepare the Carlisle course comes as a marked recognition of the work done here.

Professor Kent wil spend a month at Carlisle. During this time he will study the Indians and will learn their agricultural needs and the location of their reservation. He can then outline a course in agriculture that will be of practical benefit to them, as many of the Indians want to go back to their farms.

Carlisle is the largest of the Indian schools maintained by the federal government. Its enrollment is approximately 1,000, about 60 percent of which consists of boys and young men, practically all receiving elementary school training.

Emphasis has always been laid on industrial training in the Indian schools, the belief of the authorities being that this is the best way toward economic independence. The school at Carlisle gives manual arts instruction to all except its secondary school students.

HOLD ORATORICAL TOMORROW.

Date of Woman's Christian Temperance Union Contest Postponed.

The oratorical contest which was to have been held last Thursday evening at the Methodist church was postponed a week. It will be held tomorrow night. This contest is under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Manhattan and the contestants are all College students.

Mrs. H. W. Davis returned Monday from Indiana where she was called by the illness of a relative.

Any student enrolled in the College, except members of stock judging teams and winners of previous contests, are eligible to take part in this contest. The contest will consist in the placing of a class of four cows for each of the four dairy breeds. The committee wishes to encourage all short course men to enter. This will give them an opportunity to show the four year men the value of the training they have receive on the farm.

Prof. O. E. Reed and Ass't. Prof. J. B. Fitch will be the judges of the contest.

TO STAGE WINTER CIRCUS

Cream of all the Talent on the Hill Will be Out—Track Team Stars Will Perform.

The first annual winter circus given by the athletic department will make its appearance in Nichols gym Monday evening, March 8, beginning at 7:30. The cream of all the talent on the hill will be out; the literary societies, fraternities, and sororities have stunts in view, and almost every organization on the hill that has members with red athletic blood in their veins will cut a caper or two for the benefit of athletics at the College.

Miss Jessie Burns of the physical culture department will present a class who will do folk dancing, athletic dancing, and other fancy steps. There will be a relay race between the sororities of the hill, special stunts, and happenings galore. The military department is slated for something fancy, maybe a German "goosestep" or a scene from Custer's last battle. The fraternities have not been allotted their particular field, but will have plenty of material out for everything, as each chapter together with the pan-hellenic council is standing solidly behind the entertainment.

There will be almost a field meet between the various stars of the track team, who will perform on the local field for the first time.

Coach Lowman, Merner, and Holaday will give an exhibition on the bars and rings which will be a thriller. To top off the performance there will be band music all evening, boxing, wrestling, and everything that can stir the red blood in a wide-awake citizen. The real sports and fellows who have been boosting the College will be there. Doors open at 7:30; admission 25 cents.

Can't Meet Boxing Classes.

Wesley Bruce, who has had charge of the boxing classes this term has been unable to meet with the men this week. A large boil on the right wrist will keep him from putting on the gloves for another week at least.

COLLEGE ACTORS SCORE HIT

"FACING THE MUSIC," ANNUAL DRAMATIC CLUB PLAY, WAS GIVEN WITH SUCCESS IN AUDITORIUM MONDOY NIGHT.

PLAY MARKED BY GOOD ACTING

This Year's Presentation was a Clever Three-Act Farce—Large Crowd Attended—Acting Showed Careful Coaching and Thorough Rehearsal.

The Dramatic club play "Facing the Music" given Monday night in the auditorium was a decided success. The play itself is a very clever one, abounding in witty lines and funny situations.

Two men having the same name—John Smith—and living on different floors of the same apartment house in London; their wives, both away on a visit and both returning unexpectedly; a London fog, a robbery, and some mixed identities combined to make one of the catchiest and funniest plays ever presented here. The acting was quite difficult in places but every member of the cast was more than equal to it. Their portrayal showed careful coaching and thorough rehearsal combined with much natural ability. Lawton M. Hanna, who played the leading part showed unusual power of inerpretation and expression.

Large Audience Sees Play.

The audience was larger than usual although the annual Dramatic club play is always popular. Music was furnished by the College orcestra.

The characters were taken by: A. T. Coith and L. M. Hanna, who played the two John Smiths; Lois Noyes and Pauline Clark, the two Mrs. Smiths; P. D. Buchanan, another Smith, uncle to one of the John Smiths; Miss Corinne Myers, an actress who is befriended by one John Smith during a robbery; Miss Emma Evans played the part of the housekeeper; and C. E. Lovett played Mr. Desmond, a guest of one John Smith.

WILL INSPECT ARMY HORSES

Students Interested in Animal Husbandry Will Make Annual Excursion to Fort Riley on next Monday.

Students of the College who are interested in animal husbandry will make their annual excursion to Fort Riley on Monday, March 8. Dr. C. W. McCampbell will be in charge of the party.

This excursion is made for the purpose of studying cavalry and artillery horses. The morning will be devoted to lectures and demonstrations while in the afternoon a horse show and some riding exhibitions will be given in the mammoth amphitheater.

This trip affords the students an excellent opportunity to become acquainted with the best types of cavalry and artillery horses. In former years the excursion has been very popular among the students and several hundred make the trip each year. The program for the day and further details will be given later.

Held Joint Program.

The Webster and Eurodelphian literary societies held a joint program Saturday evening. After the program light refreshments were served, followed by a short "get acquainted" meeting.

Chapel Program.

Prof. L. E. Call of the agronomy department will speak at the chapel exercises at 10 o'clock this morning on the subject: "Germany's Food Supply." Every student of the College should hear Professor Call on this timely subject.

SHOOT WITH RHODE ISLAND

College Sharpshooters Made Score of 924 Last Saturday—Is the Highest Score Made This Year.

The College rifle team shot off a match Saturday afternoon on the indoor range in Nichols gym, the team score of 924 together with the targets being sent to the headquarters of the National Intercollegiate Rifle association at Washington, D. C., there to be compared with the score made by the rifle team of Rhode Island State college. This is the highest score that the team has made so far this season and if this record is kept up the team will land well up near the top at the end of the season. The term is now in third place.

Following are the names of the five men who made the highest scores last Saturday afternoon together with the scores made:

D. S. McHugh	189
C. F. Croyle	188
L. C. Allis	185
B. M. Williams	183
J. F. Troutman	179
Team score	924

HAS NO AUTHORIZED SOLICITOR.

Some Person is Falsely Soliciting Money for the College

That no person is authorized by the College to solicit money for papers, bulletins, lists of names, or any other articles is the statement of Dr. Henry Jackson Waters, president of the College, who has received a number of letters indicating that some person is obtaining money on the pretense that he is an agent of the institution.

The man has worked under several different names and has operated in widely separated parts of the state. His activities have been in soliciting subscriptions, concerning the existence of which the College knows nothing, and selling lists of names of residents on rural mail routes.

No clue to the identity of the man has been obtained and the names which he has used have never appeared in lists of employees or students of the College.

DROP BOTH GAMES TO IOWA

Scores Were Close but Ames' Style of Playing Counted—Aggies Defeat Tigers in First Game.

The Aggies dropped two basketball games to the Ames five on the Ames floor Friday night and Saturday afternoon of last week. The scores were 15 to 14, and 26 to 19. The Ames five plays a different style of basketball than the Mernerites; the playing of the men instead of the ball is the chief characteristic of the Iowa Aggies method of procedure.

At Columbia Monday night the Aggies triumphed over the Tigers in a contest marked by the attempted assault upon Referee E. C. Quigley. The final count favored the Mernerites 28 to 19. "Umps" Quigley's work seemed to rile the Columbia sports or rather a group from Moberly, and the St. Marys official escaped injury by a hasty retreat to a dressing room.

AGGIES TOOK TWO SECONDS

ALSO TWO THIRDS WERE PULLED DOWN IN K. C. A. C. MEET LAST SATURDAY NIGHT—CRUMBAKER SPRINGS SURPRISE.

ALL FINISHES WERE CLOSE

Crumbaker, Weaver, Frizzell, and Smith Were Winning Men—Weaver Staged Exciting Race With Chicago Man in the 880 Event.

(By E. H. Smith)

The Aggies fared well in the K. C. A. C. indoor met held at Kansas City last Saturday night, pulling down two seconds and two thirds. Crumbacker won second in the 440-handicap; Weaver, second in the half mile scratch event; Frizzell, third in the high jump, and Smith third in the 12-pound shot put. The competition was torrid in every contest and the greater number of finishes were extremely close.

One of the big surprises from the Aggie eye was the running of Crumbaker in the quarter handicap race. With a fifteen-yard start, the Aggie sprinter covered the distance well up on the heels of Eaton of Missouri, running with a 22-yard start, and forced the Tiger double furlong artist to make 52 2-5 seconds to win the event.

Weaver Takes Second in 880.

The second surprise of the evening's competitions came when Joe Weaver took second in the 880 scratch event after running Joe Eby, Martin Delaney's Chicago Athletic Association half miler, off his feet for five laps around the Hall. Weaver raced the Chicago youth neck and neck all the way; never ahead but always so close that the pursued could feel the breath of the pursuer. The pace told on the Merner entry in the final lap, however, when the 17-year old Eby out-sprinted Weaver and breasted the tape a a winner by inches.

"Duroc" Frizzell found himself in the fastest competition of his career and after leaping over the bamboo at five feet eleven inches had to be content with third place. Pittam, a former Kansas City Westport high school star cleared the bar at six feet and with his handicap of three and one-half inches won the event easily. Frizzell's two and one-half inch handicap placed him third among the finishers. Joe Loomis, the wonderful Chicago athlete, "passed up" the event until the bar was hiked to six feet. The Illinois Athletic Association star cleared this height handily but could not make the 6-3 raise.

Tie for Second in Shot Put.

Smith tied with Lee Talbott, the K. C. A. C. star weight man, for second place at 53 feet 5 inches in the 12-pound event, Talbot taking the second place medal owing to his being scratch man in the competition.

The Missouri relay team defeated the Aggie quartet in the special mile relay race the Mernerites being separated from victory at the tape by about 20 yards. The Aggie four was handicapped by the absence of two of the regular racers, Lovett and Grandfield being unable to make the trip.

OFFER DEBATING SCHOLARSHIP.

Anonymous Donors Again Offer $100 Award as Forensic Honor.

Through the generosity of two former debating friends of J. W. Searson, professor of the English language, the Forum debating scholarship of $100 will be offered again this year. Professor Searson made this announcement at the last meeting of the Forum.

The forum scholarship is awarded to the debator who in the opinion of the debating coach, the debating council and the Forum has been of most value to the team. The donors of the scholarship require that the gift be anonymous. The winner of the scholarship this year will be announced in the spring. Joseph L. Sweet is the present debating scholar. W. A. Sumner, now of the industrial journalism department, was the first holder of the scholarship.

Will Hold Joint Program.

The Eurodelphian and Ionian literary societies will hold a joint program Saturday afternoon in the Web-Enro hial.

EDUCATION IN POLITICS.

It was under this caption that the distinguished J. R. Burton of the Salina Union voiced his editorial sentiments upon the corrupt and hypocritical influence which in our state politics centers around the tax-supported institutions of higher learning. Much of the editorial is the truth, it cannot be denied. Yet some glaring fallacies appear.

For instance, the Honorable Mr. Burton would have us believe that the taxpayers of the state are annually paying out thousands of dollars for the maintenance of educational institutions that are "duplicated in our Christian colleges without one dollar of taxation." Is the investigational work in the fields of agriculture and animal husbandry being done by the Kansas Agricultural College duplicated by any of the so-called Christian colleges of this state of which Mr. Burton speaks? Is it duplicated by any Christian college in any state? When it is the federal government will make note of the fact and cease to ask the Kansas Agricultural College to prepare two-thirds of the exhibits of investigative agriculture and one-third of the exhibits of research work in animal husbandry for such world expositions as the Panama Pacific.

In the course of the article the writer refers to the agricultural college at Manhattan as an institution "where they teach most everything except farming." And yet in the face of such statements young men in every corner of the United States are advised to take a course at the Kansas Agricultural College if they desire to secure the best possible training for a lifework of scientific agriculture. And not only in this country, for every year several of the foreign nations send their representatives to study agriculture in this institution. Perhaps we should split hairs in the terms agriculture and farming, but we leave it here—the judgment of Mr. Burton of the Salina Union opposed to the judgment of agricultural authorities over the country.

"Misnamed farm school" is another of the epithets of our good friend of the Salina Union. Really, Mr. Burton, you astonish us with the remarkable wisdom of your reasoning. Let not any citizen of our fair state unduly refer to us as a "farm school." We have outgrown that stage in our existence and have become an agricultural college. As for "$6,350 for a HEN HOUSE for sick chickens," every good poultryman of the state knows better than to keep a sick chicken in a hen house. Let us not forget the proverb of the one spoiled apple in the barrel of good fruit.

Perhaps, some day, Mr. Burton will humble himself so far as to pay a visit to our "misnamed farm school," and then indeed it will be a pleasure to show him the work being done by this institution "where they teach most everything except farming." Also it would present an opportunity for his enlightenment on the practice of keeping sick chickens in a "HEN HOUSE."

THE PATH OF THE JUST.

The path of the just is as the shining light, that shineth more and more unto the perfect day.—Proverbs iii, 18.

SERVICE TO THE MANY.

The following editorial in regard to college fraternities and their future appeared in a recent number of The Christian Science Monitor. The editorial is reprinted in full to call attention to the questions suggested by the writer:

"The college fraternity is still on trial. The energetic awakening of the majority of the Greek letter societies is somewhat indicative of that fact. The number of fraternity men, estimated recently by The New York Post at 290,000, and their 1100 chapters and $8,000,000 worth of property, cannot cloud the situation.

"No one can doubt that the college fraternity has within it the seed of a great agency for good. President Abram W. Harris, of Northwestern university, has seen this and taken advantage of it. Other educators in Western institutions also are working through the fraternity to reach the student. The most striking form of this new co-operation is the publication of the scholarship rankings of the fraternities. In the news columns of this issue of The Christian Science Monitor, the national president of one of the large Greek letter societies is quoted as asking this co-operation. President Harris believes this official scholarship competition among the societies marks the end of the days when the faculty attitude was that learning should be followed for its own sweet sake in that it presages a conviction on the part of educators that competition in studies has beneficial effects as in athletes, and a return to the old-time prizes. Along another line, the Rev. Dr. Thomas R. White, university pastor of the Presbyterian church at the University of Indiana, at a recent meeting of college presidents and church workers in colleges, reported his conclusions drawn from a questionnaire, circulated at his institution, that fraternities have a distinct influence toward making students religious. During the last December holidays three national societies, Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Delta Theta, placed themselves on record as opposed to the use of liquor, while the recorded tendency in other fraternities is said to be moving slowly but steadily in the same direction.

"Improvements in each of these directions is commendable, but it is limited. What of the men who do not wear the mystic badge? The advantages of the college chapter are in a measure offset by the heartburnings of the men who are denied the privileges of brotherhood—too often by mere chance, a pre-college friendship, a relationship, and sometimes, it is asserted, merely because they are well dressed. And, it must be remembered, fraternity lines do not loosen with graduation, but remain binding and dividing long after the brother, perhaps, has forgotten the last word of his Greek and Latin songs. The broad efforts being made at Northwestern university to obtain a real brotherhood of all the college men is among the most advanced attempts at a solution. The oldest college fraternity is not old, as time goes, still within a hundred years, and many cannot claim a half century. These collegiate secret societies have proved of no little service to the few. Whether or not they are to continue depends, we believe, on whether or not they prove of nearly equal service to the many."

Genius is infinite painstaking.—Longfellow.

Stop Missouri Keg Parties.

There are to be no more hilarious gatherings around the beer keg for the students of the University of Missouri, at least not for the students in the College of Law. President Hill says that all lawyers must sign the pledge; and until they do, they are to be on probation.

The president's demand came after 15 freshmen lawyers had been arrested for attending a strenuous and alcoholic party at a Columbia dance hall during Christmas week.

There is great indignation among the would-be lawyers at Columbia, Mo. Some of them declare that they will not sign a white ribbon pledge, because they were not in attendance at the celebration which caused all of the trouble.

OHIO STATE HAS RECORD COW.

Guernsey Produced 12 Tons of Milk in One Year.

Tests completed by the dairy department of the Ohio State university establish a new world's record in milk production, according to figures made public at the university. The new queen of the dairy world is Murne Cowan, a five-year-old Gurnsey cow, who, during the last year, produced 12 tons of milk. According to the university figures the cow's milk averaged 5 percent in butter fat. During the year she produced 1096 pounds of butter fat, which churned into 1400 lbs. of butter. Murne Cowan's home is a farm near Barberton, Ohio.

Officers will be elected and other details in connection with the organization given attention. One of the first activities will be a tennis tournament and practice will commence as soon as the weather will permit. A silver cup will be presented to the team making the best score.

A basketball team will also be organized and will play with other co-ed teams of the Central Illinois colleges. A hockey team is also proposed and it is likely that other lines of activities in athletics will be dicided upon. The work of enrollment will commence immediately.

MANY PITCHERS TURN OUT

DIFFICULT TO GET LINE ON THIS YEAR'S BASEBALL SITUATION—BATTERIES HAVE FLOOR THREE DAYS A WEEK.

FIX GYM FOR INDOOR BATTING

(By Frank Sargent.)

It is a proposition to get a line on the baseball situation for the coming season. The batteries have the floor three afternoons a week and with the return of "Bath-house Bill" Scanlan the prospects take on a rosier hue. Numerous indeed are the aspirants for positions on the pitching staff. The coach should have slight trouble in finding a man to take care of Bailey's old job and act as a fit running mate for "Kid" Hodgson.

Captain Briney, with the assistance of some of last year's veterans has taken charge of the work with the infielders. The practice so far has consisted chiefly of bunting and fielding grounder balls with the idea of getting the correct form and method of going after the ball. Just enough throwing to get the arms in shape and four or five laps on the track usually complete the practice. This week with the coach back, the work will start in earnest; among other things the novices will receive some practical instructions in the gentle art of sliding by the "hook" method.

Net Protects Property.

A large net, suspended from the running track to the floor during batting practice, is proving a great aid in the protection of both life and property from the wild heaves of some of the ball tossers.

"As soon as I can get the lights screened and with the new net in place," says Coach Guy S. Lowman, "we will have some straight-away hitting the gymnasium. We must be in shape to take the field as soon as the weather permits work out of doors."

The hand ball matches between the different members of the baseball squad are still in progress. This is the first time that handball has been used here as a means of getting the men into condition or as it is sometimes termed, "taking the boards out of their backs." The work has been so successful this season that there is little doubt but that it will be given a regular place in the indoor work of future seasons.

Harvard Athletics.

A new record in the number of students participating in athletics was set up at Harvard this year, when 324 students, according to the statistics given out at Cambridge, took part in some form of athletics. The 1914 figures show an increase of 187 participants over last year's figures. In the freshman class, approximately 8 per cent of the entire enrollment went out for athletics.

Penn Crew at Exposition.

The University of Pennsylvania is planning to send its varsity crew to the Pacific coast next summer to compete in a special race which will be a feature of the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco. The university officials are enthusiastic over the plan and they believe the race will be a big advertisement both for the crew and the university.

Schedule Indiana Elevens.

The following completed football schedule of the Kentucky State University was announced as follows: Butler at Lexington, Oct. 2; Earlham at Lexington, Oct. 9; Kentucky State at Mississippi A. and M., Oct. 16; Se-Wanee at Lexington, Oct. 23; Purdue at Lexington, Nov. 6, Kentucky State at Louisville, Nov. 13; Tennessee at Lexington, Nov. 25.

No Oxford-Cambridge Race This Year.

There will be no Oxford-Cambridge boat race this year. The official announcement came as no surprise, since many of the members of the crews have enlisted in the British army. The boat race between Oxford and Cambridge has been an annual affair for the past 86 years. In 1855 the contest was cancelled on account of the Crimean war. This year will, consequently, mark the second cancellation of the races since their inauguration.

$1,400 FOR STEVENSON PAPERS.

"The Hair Trunk" by Author of "Treasure Island" Valuable.

Manuscripts in the handwriting of Robert Louis Stevenson were the feature of the sale at the Anderson Galleries in New York of the novelist's autographs, books, and curios recently. The highest price of the session was $1,400 paid by eGorge D. Smith for "The Hair Trunk; or, the Ideal Commonwealth: an Extravaganza by Robert Louis Stevenson, author of 'An Inland Voyage,' 'Picturesque Notes on Edinburg,' 'Travels with a Donkey.'"

It consists of 146 small quarto pages entirely in the handwriting of Stevenson, and is an extremely interesting and valuable literary item, being his first serious attempt at story writing.—New York Times.

MAKE THEIR OWN TEA SETS.

Kansas University Girls are Handy in Clay Modeling.

The women of the University of Kansas make their own dishes from native clay. The first girl to do this was Miss Lucile Kreider of Lawrence, who graduated last year from the school of fine arts at the university. Miss Kreider modeled her three-piece tea set entirely by hand, as the potter's wheel in use at the time would not turn pieces of the desired thinness. More than one graduate of K. U. has begun housekeeping with dishes, vases, etc., all of her own manufacturing.

F. H. Rindge, a graduate of Columbia university and a leader along the lines of industrial service movement, will address the engineering students in the engineering amphitheater on Monday, March 8, at 4:30 o'clock. Mr. Rindge is the author of many magazine articles in The World's Work, Engineering News, The Coal Age, and other leading industrial magazines.

Harvard Banner on Trial.

The first steps in the "Red Flag" legislation as to whether the Harvard crimson banner will be allowed to be carried in parades will be made soon. The case will be heard at the Massachusetts State House. Professor Beale of the law school, who has done a great deal to help bring the matter to a hearing, will be there, but will not enter into the discussion unless called upon.

During the past football season a white flag with a red "H" was substituted for the regular crimson banner, but by this spring it is hoped that the old banner will be brought out again.

PAY FINE FOR TAKING EXTRAS.

Syracuse University Will Charge Students $2 for Additional Hours.

A charge will be made of $2 per hour for every hour that a student in the College of Liberal Arts of Syracuse university takes next year in excess of 16. Such is the announcement that has been made by Registrar Jewell and confirmed by Chancellor James R. Day. The plan has been completely worked out by the university authorities and it will be presented to the trustees for ratification at their meeting next June.

In speaking of the proposed change for excess hours that students may wish to take in the future, Chancellor Day said that there are two reasons why such a change is made necessary. In the first place the university cannot afford to give students more than 16 hours without charge, and, in the second place, the university authorities wish to keep students from overcrowding their courses. — Syracuse Daily Orange.

Percent to Alma Mater.

It is expected that the "One Percent" Club recently formed by members of the University of Michigan Club of New York, will give considerable financial aid to the university. Each member of the new organization pledges himself that in his will he will leave one percent of his estate to the University of Michigan. It is a part of the club's constitution that the amount of the contribution shall never be made public.

ERECT FOUR NEW FIRE ESCAPES.

Are on Home Economics Building and Denison Hall.

Four additional fire escapes have just been erected at the College, two being placed on the west side of the home economics building and the other two on Denison hall. The buildings are crowded, and the board of administration felt it to be best to have the escapes built at once.

The scapes were designed and erected under the direction of R. A. Seaton, professor of applied mechanics. The steps of the fire escapes are constructed of small iron bars which do not catch the rain and snow.

The whole College is now under fire protection. Each building is supplied with hand extinguishers and can be reached from fire plugs on two sides.

VOTE FOR COMPULSORY CHAPEL.

On Monday the freshmen only attend, on Tuesday the sophomores, on Wednesday the juniors, on Thursday the seniors, and on Friday there is a meeting for the entire college.

The plan is said to have been successful in creating a greater class spirit, as well as a better unity of spirit in the university as a whole. Arrangements are in the hands of the Y. M. C. A. Music, a short talk, and prayer comprice the program.

F. B. Cromer took first place in the second annual stock judging contest which was held by the Jayhawker Saddle and Sirloin club of the College in the stock pavilion on the afternoon of Saturday, February 27. W. L. Wilhoite ranked second in the contest and W. R. Martin third.

There were 117 entries in this year's contest. Eight classes of live stock were judged, thus making more than 900 papers that the judges had to correct. The first prize in the contest was a gold medal and the winner's choice of any fall gilt in the College herd. A silver medal was given to the winner of second place and the winner of third place received a bronze medal. The judges of the contest were Prof. E. N. Wentworth, Dr. C. W. McCampbell and A. M. Patterson.

The men were graded on a scale of 800. The 10 highest men and the scores they made are:

F. B. Cromer	703
W. L. Wilhoite	676
W. R. Martin	674
D. D. Bird	671
E. J. Otto	663
J. G. Freeman	659
E. H. Jantz	653
Joe Sweet	651
W. H. Wilson	641

W. Houghton tied with F. C. Krighaum, score 639.

The Saddle and Sirloin club intends to make the stock judging contest an annual event.

Send the Collegian home.

No Coal Famine.

Rumors that there is danger of a coal famine are unfounded, according to Dean Potter of the engineering division. The coal supply was very low on Thursday but the heating plant succeeded in getting by without the necessity of shutting down. This is the first time in years that the classes have not been dismissed on acount of cold class rooms.

INSPECT THE DELIVERY SYSTEM.

Class Will Investigate System at Junction City Next Week.

The class making the meat and delivery survey for the extension department of the College will go to Junction City next week to investigate the delivery system used there. The class, composed of Ivar Mattson, J. M. Macarthur, L. V. Rhine, and L. C. Mosier is being backed by the meat market men and the Manhattan Merchant's association. The men have been figuring on the advisability of a municipal abbatoir and the cost of a common delivery service. The report will be given out about the end of the term.

WILL HEAR THE ZOELLNERS

Famous String Quartet of Brussels Will Give Concert in the College Auditorium on Friday, March 12.

The Zoellner quartet of Brussels, recognized as one of the great string quartets of the world, will be heard in the College auditorium on the night of Friday, March 12. The quartet consists of Antoinette Zoellner, first violin; Amandus Zoellner, second violin; Joseph Zoellner, Sr., viola; and Joseph Zoellner, Jr., 'cello.

The repertoire of the Zoellner quartet comprises the standard works of Beethoven, Haydn, Mendelssohn, Grieg, Franck, Dvorak, and so on; but they have the distinction of introducing to American audiences important works of modern composers, notably the Dohnanyi quartet, the Glazounow suite, and the Brandts-Buys suite. The annual New York recitals at Aeolian hall of the Zoellner quartet are looked forward to as events of the musical season.

The Zoellner quartet give a program much better than that produced by the average Lyceum talent. In order to secure them for a single engagement, the Lyceum committee has had to guarantee them $250. The price of the concert, however, has not been correspondingly raised, the tickets remaining at 50 cents. The quartet is under the sole direction of Harry Culberston of Chicago.

"The Zoellner quartet has been quietly making a secure place for itself in public favor, both locally and throughout the country, as a dignified and efficient exponent of chamber music. The quartets usual standards were maintained in the program offered last night. The players gave a good account of themselves in their work and displayed not only zeal and musicianly feeling in delivery but a carefully trained skill."

POPULARITY CONTEST IS ON.

The First Count Will be Made on March 18.

The poularity contest which is being conducted by the managers of Royal Purple Volume VII in order to find out the most likable girl and man in College, is in full blast. The first count will be made on March 18. The contest closes on March 24. It is now time for those holding class book receipts to vote on their favorites. As announced before the winners will receive handsome prizes, a De Luxe Royal Purple going to the most likable girl and $5 worth of merchandise being given to the most popular man.

SIGMA TAUS ENTERTAIN.

Honorary Fraternities Were Entertained at Smoker Friday Night.

The Sigma Taus gave a smoker Friday night at the Odd Fellow's hall entertaining the Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity, honorary Alpha Psi, honorary veterinary; and Gamma Sigma Delta, honorary agricultural fraternity. Light refreshments were served and speeches were made by various members from each fraternity. The smoker is expected to be an annual affair and was held for the purpose of good fellowship.

The short course students in the engineering division had a group picture taken on the south side of the engineering building yesterday.

NOW COMETH THE CARNIVAL

FIRST ANNUAL CARNIVAL WILL BE GRAND JAMBOREE OF ATHLETIC DANCING, APPARATUS STUNTS AND SPORTS.

IS BACKED BY K FRATERNITY

Athletic Coffers Need the Money—Women Will Stage Folk Dances—Relay Races Will be Featured—Old Timers Will Appear.

And now cometh the first annual Athletic Carnival—a grand jamboree of athletic dancing, apparatus stunts, and athletic sports. And the cause of this jollification—a sadly depicted athletic coffer, and a worthy motive on the part of the Athletic K fraternity to shove a few shekels into same. For this stunt is backed by the Athletic K fraternity of the Kansas Agricultural College, and for this reason should be backed by every student in the College.

The women's department will submit some of the latest folk dances and will also frolic through several clever minuets and other feature steps. Charley Holladay's best classmen will stage a set of drills and do a few athletic dances to demonstrate that grace can really be acquired on a gymnasium floor.

Then there will be a series of contests between Guy S. Lowman, Carl J. Merner and Charles Holladay. These tests will be performed on the apparatus. Professor Lowman maintains that he has lost none of his old time form and agility and that the youngsters will have to cut a few capers to beat him. Merner and Holladay do not seem to be worrying any over the trials. This should prove an uproarious spectacle for the crowd to watch.

Will Have eRlay Races.

But best of all will be the interfraternity and intersorority relay races. These events have always brought the utmost rivalry to light and developed into wind-busting adventures long before the end of each race. The military department is running a series of intercompany races that promise to be equally thrilling.

Last but by no means least will be the annual rejuvination of the old timers. The varsity track men have not had an opportunity to perform before the fans this season and will be entered in their events against such old timers as "Shorty" Fowler, "Bobby" Christian, "Pete" McNall, and others who are now employed around the hill.

The varsity track men will be handicapped severely in an effort to give the old heads an equal chance and also to make the regulars do their very best to win. Fowler will be set out ahead of Weaver and Wilder so far that there will be no heel dust in the varsity runners' eyes, and the half mile event promises to be a corker. Every one of the track stunts will be arranged in a like manner and the regulars will be forced to go some to win.

The price of admission is too small to hinder any from attending and every student in College should attend and help the Athletic K fraternity to make this card one big booster night for Aggie athletics.

GLEE CLUB TO GIVE CONCERT

Annual Concert of College Songsters Will be Given Next Wednesday—Proceeds go to Organ Fund.

The College Glee club will give its annual concert in the College auditorium next Wednesday night. The club will be assisted in its concert by the Faculty quartet and by the Aggieville quartet.

The Faculty quartet wil sing Liza Lehman's, "In a Persian Garden." This is a song cycle the words of which are selected from Omar Khayyam's "Rubaiyat." The quartet is composed of Miss Esta Hungerford, Soprano; Miss Jessie Machir, alto; Prof. E. N. Wentworth, tenor; and Prof. Olof Valley, bass.

The proceeds of the concert will go toward the pipe organ fund. There will be no reserved seats for the concert. Tickets can be secured at the door.

Co-operate to Move Billboard.

The women's clubs of Manhattan have signified their intention of co-operating with the Student council in an effort to secure the removal of the billboard opposite the south entrance to the campus.

JUDGE DAIRY COWS TODAY

STUDENTS ANNUAL DAIRY JUDGING CONTEST WILL TAKE PLACE IN THE JUDGING PAVILION AT 2 O'CLOCK TODAY.

MEDALS OFFERED AS PRIZES

Classes of the Four Dairy Breeds Will Be Judged—Students Desiring to Enter Contest Must Be Excused by Their Deans.

The students' annual dairy judging contest will be held in the judging pavilion this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Prizes of gold, silver and bronze medals on leather watch fobs are offered to the winners of the contest. These prizes are now on exhibition in the military bulletin case in Anderson hall.

The dairy department of the College is anxious to have all men who are interested in dairy cattle enter the contest. It will be good practice for the men who intend to try to make the dairy judging team next fall. Last fall the judging team representing the College won second honors at the National Dairy show held in Chicago.

The contest will consist in the placing of a class of each of the four dairy breeds. All students enrolled in the College, except members of judging teams or winners of former contests, are eligible to enter. Students desiring to enter the contest will be excused from classes by their deans, provided their grades warrant it.

Prof. O. E. Fitch and Ass't Prof. J. B. Fitch will be the judges of the contest.

OUT-SHOOT ARIZONA RIFLERS

College Rifle-men Score 910 to Arizona's 883—Team is Tied With Nebraska for Second Place.

The College sharpshooters are out after game these days and what's more they are getting it. The University of Arizona rifle team is the latest to fall before the unerring aim of the local rifle-men. This team was defeated by the decisive score of 910 to 883.

The local riflers are shooting right up in Class A style, there being but one team in Class C which is besting them—the Yale five—and but one other team in the class which is equaling the work of the locals, the University of Nebraska men. At present the Yale team is leading the class and the Aggie and Nebraska teams are tied for second place. With a little more improvement, which the team has been showing lately, the Aggies should soon nose Nebraska out of second place.

Following are the names of the men who took part in the last shoot and the scores they made:

M. W. Converse	185
D. S. McHugh	183
B. M. Williams	182
C. L. Creyle	182
R. C. Warren	178
Team score	910

Here is the way the teams in Class C are standing according to the latest report received from Washington, D. C.:

Yale	.91
Nebraska	.90
Kansas Aggies	.90
Michigan	.89
Arizona	.86
Mississippi	.84
Washington	.83
Idaho	.80
Lehigh	.62
Rhode Island State	.40

TEACH SCHOOL ADMINISTRATION.

Have Course in Summer School Adapted to Rural Schools.

Dr. A. C. Monahan of Washington, D. C., will give a special course in rural school administration at the summer school of the College. Doctor Monahan is specialist in the administration of rural education for the United States department of agriculture. The summer session will open on June 17 and close on July 29.

Move Engineering Offices.

The south bay of the engineering building is being remodeled and quarters will be built for offices and a drafting room for the highway engineer and the irrigation engineer and their assistants. The offices of these engineers are now in the southwest basement of Anderson hall.

Chapel Program.

J. B. Case of Abilene, president of the International Dry Farming congress, will speak to the students of the College at the chapel exercises at 10 o'clock this morning.

WORLD'S RECORD COW DIES.

Dairy Department Loses One of Its Valuable Animals.

Elizabeth of Juneau, age six years, died last Friday. Who was Elizabeth? She was one of the world's record Ayrshire cows, one of the few who had selected Kansas for her residence. When a three-year old, Elizabeth established a world's record for the Ayrshire breed, producing 15,122 pounds of milk and 536 pounds of butter fat in a year.

Elizabeth was raised and developed by the dairy department of the College. "She could not be replaced," says O. E. Reed, professor of dairy husbandry, "for less than $1000." Elizabeth was the mother of four sons, three of whom are still living and are helping to build up the standards of the dairy industry of Kansas.

WAS A BRILLIANT CONCERT

Small Crowd Heard Annual Concert of College Orchestra—Concerto Admirably Rendered by Miss Easter. Easter.

The College orchestra gave their sixth annual concert Thursday evening in the College auditorium. The program consisted of seven numbers by the orchestra and one by Miss Fanchon Easter at the piano accompanied by the orchestra.

The crowd was small, due to an 8-inch snow fall which lay in a thick blanket upon the ground and demoralized street car traffic. This however did not seem to dispress the spirits of the musicians and under the inspiration of their very capable leader Prof. R. H. Brown they showed remarkable interpretation of ,the great musical masterpieces. There was a delicacy and richness of tone that was pleasing to the ear of the listener, and yet there was a fullness of volume that was drawn out at the will of the director.

Tschaikowsky's concerto for the pianoforte, No. 1, Opus 23, was admirably and brilliantly rendered by Miss Fanchon Easter. She played with all the power and technique that the piece demands. There was a determination and assurance about her playing that left no fear with the audience that she would not be able to meet any demand that the selection might call for.

The orchestra is an institution of which the College is justly proud. Made up of students who receive no compensation for their work except the appreciation of all who hear them it has developed, under the leadership of Prof. Harry Brown into one of the best orchestras in this section of the country. The concert Thursday night was an exhibition of what it is capable of doing. As a high class musical entertainment it was the equal of any heard here this year.

Arrangements are practically complete for the presentation of the orchestra concert in Clay Center in the near future.

WILL SPEAK AT CHAPEL.

Prominent Denver Minister Will Address Students Next Week.

The Rev. Frank T. Bayley of Denver will speak at one of the chapel exercises of the College next week. Dr. Bayley arrives in Manhattan next Thursday to spend a week with the Congregational church. While in the city he will make addresses at the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. meetings, at the high school, and at the College.

Dr. Bayley is a popular speaker at all student conferences and is always a favorite of the young people wherever he speaks. He has been addressing student audiences for the last 20 years and is always in demand as a speaker at colleges and universities throughout the middle west.

Y. W. WILL ELECT OFFICERS.

Officers Will be Chosen at Business Meeting Next Thursday.

The following girls have been nominated: president, Emma Taylor and Vivian Herron; vice president, Wilma Burtis and Mary Wieble; treasurer, Vilona Cutler and Mary Dakin; secretary, Grace Gardner and Gladys Spring.

AGGIES CLOSE 1915 SEASON

CURTAIN WAS DROPPED ON 1915 BASKETEERS AT COLUMBIA ON LAST TUESDAY WHEN THE TIGERS HUMBLED THEM 32 TO 16.

HAND KANSAS ONLY DEFEAT

This Year's Freshman Squad Produced Little Promising Material for Next Year—Every Varsity Player at Kansas Will be Graduated.

(By E. H. Smith.)

The Kansas Aggies closed a basketball season chuck full of reverses at Columbia on Tuesday night when the Tigers doubled the count on the locals and won 32 to 16. Bengston and Leonard were the prolific point pilers for the Aggies while "String" Wear played the best scoring game for the Missourians with Captain Palfreyman doing an excellent job in the backfield.

But with all of the losses of the season the Aggie fans have seen some mighty good basketball games. Very few of the home contests have been runaway matches for the opponents. In every battle the Merner crew has played well enough to win from teams of its own weight and fighting ability.

Is Style to Blame?

By many, the different style of basketball played in other parts of the Missouri Valley clique is blamed for the reversals of the Aggies. This should not be so for the locals have had just as much of a chance to fight back as has any healthy organization of basketeers. Of course, however, they have not been trained to play this indoor football.

And of the outlook for next season. There is very little promising material on this year's fresman machine. The great weakness in the pivotal position still remains. But one must figure the decrease in ability through loss of players on the other Big Muddy teams. At Lawrence, the sport wheezers are lamenting the fact that every varsity player will be graduated and that there is not a substitute on the crew worthy of the captaincy of the 1916 team.

Missouri Outlook is Bright.

Missouri stacks up the best of all of the Valley fives. Van Ghent loses a few men and in those that remain he has placed the nucleus of a new style of basketball to the conference. This short-passing game was ridiculed by some at the beginning of the season but in running through the schedule with but one loss to the Aggies and four to Kansas, the Tigers have proved that they will be up and coming in next year's championship contest and that the short pass has been a distinct success.

Ames, Drake, and Nebraska, failed to show to advantage off their own courts. Ames was easy pickings for Kansas, and Nebraska, although conquerors of the Aggies, failed to tally high against the Jayhawkers. The bright spot in the local's season lies in the fact that Kansas dropped its only lose to the Aggies.

The chief end of all good journalism is helpful public service.—Walter Williams.

SATURDAY, MARCH 6, 1915.

HARD HITTERS.

When he beheld the public auction of slaves for the first time, Abraham Lincoln was heard to utter these words, "If ever I get a chance to hit that thing I'll hit it hard."

Many a young man has gone to college with a similar intention. At sometime in his life he has witnessed a scene or act, or has heard a word that has driven him to college with this determination stinging him into action, I must prepare for the time when I can strike this thing and strike it hard.

So some of us take up the study of law, some the study of medicine, some the profession of journalism, some the engineering profession, and some the study of agriculture. But we all have in mind one determination, to better the ethical standards in our chosen field of work. Our determination is a noble one—but alas when we get to college. Here many of us become lost in the maelstrom of social events; some waste their time inseeking petty honors, others, surrounded by overpowering attractions, give way to impulse and grind under the heel their their lofty aspirations; some become quitters and give up early in the game; while occasionally we find one who is still playing the game, making no compromises, and hitting hard while he has the chance.

Did you ever stop to think what a baseball team would do without its hard hitters, the men who can be depended upon in a pinch to snatch victory from the rival's camp and hang the laurels on their own training bench? It is the same way out in the world. The man who is known for hitting things hard—right between the eyes as they say—is the man who is inevitably called upon when the chances for failure must be reduced to an absolute zero. The man who compromises in no degree from his ethical standards; who does not know what it means to quit; who bides his time and hits hard when the opportunity presents itself—that is the man who becomes a leader in industry; who cements together a divided nation; who leads an oppressed race out of bondage; who conquers an empire; who rights wrong, speaks true.

College days are training days, and not a twenty-four hours ever goes by but we are given the opportunity to line up on some proposition. It should not be difficult to determine what side of the question we will support, for that is decided in a large measure by our individual ethical standards. The thing for us to do is to make our stand, hit the opposition hard, and never quit. What we have trained ourselves to do in college life we will duplicate out in the world. We will find ourselves unconsciously lining up on questions as they present themselves. Our associates in business life will learn to look to us for leadership. We will be known as decision-makers and men will realize that when we hit a thing we hit it hard. Let's be known as hard hitters.

FOLLY.

Folly is joy to him that is destitute of wisdom: but a man of understanding walketh uprightly.—Proverbs xv, 21.

BUSINESS NEWS STORIES.

Did you ever stop to consider that every well written advertisement is a news story? The advertising columns of a paper contain political news, news of the commercial world, facts from history, pictures and interesting statements of summer resorts and foreign countries, and other forms of news of the day. In fact much of our information comes from the advertising columns.

Subscriptions, you know, never paid for a paper. Indeed the average metropolitan newspaper is sold so cheaply that the reader does not pay for the white paper used in its production. News is the chief product of the newspaper and advertising is a by-product. Yet it is this by-product that furnishes four-fifths of the gross income.

The public attitude toward advertising has changed within the last decade and now it is considered a dignified and fair thing for the merchant to tell his business message through the paid columns of the paper. Realizing that the advertisement must be widely read in order to secure a return on the investment, there has sprung up a new profession in the man who makes his specialty that of writing advertisements—business news stories. Consequently the advertisements of today are well written and they are presented in a form that will appeal to the reader. Remember that circulation is only a means to an end. Advertising is the real power behind the throne.

A generous man places the benefits he confers beneath his feet; those he receives nearest his heart.—Greville.

THE NEW JOURNALISM.

The war is having a sobering and economic effect upon newspapers as well as upon everything else. There are to be some realignments. In my opinion, the next change in the conduct of newspapers is to be along the line of constructive and conservative journalism. Papers are to be more carefully edited, and more attention given to facts and less to fiction. Instead of a daily diet of snarl and sneer, as Mr. Reid once said, we will boost and build. We shall see more good in our public officials, and less of evil in our corporations. We will give knock-down blows when necessary, and we will fight corruption and fraud in public and private life, but we will avoid perpetual nagging.

The journalism of the next decade will be sane, sober, and sincere; sane as opposed to silly; sober as opposed to sensational; sincere as opposed to selfish. There will be more newspapers for discriminating readers and fewer catch-penny sheets. The newspaper of tomorrow will aim to be sound as well as to resound; it will be a newspaper of sense, but not of sensation; devoted to service, but shunning servility. There will be a marked discrimination between real newspapers and mere advertising sheets. The newspapers will be better printed, and greater attention given to typographical appearance. The size of the pages will be made smaller rather than larger. All this will be brought about, first, by better trained newspaper men. The thirty-five schools of journalism in our colleges, teaching the ethics of journalism, will help. Moreover, the public will not long stand for much of the present-day journalism. There is to be a new order of things. The president of the United States has indicated the change. When prosperity returns, all great forces will combine to help to advance all interests of the nation.

There will be a return to strong editorials; not necessarily long, but illuminating and convincing; comments as the result of study and investigation, and without prejudice or passion. There will be so much news that the editors must condense and summarize for the benefit of the average reader. And there will also be a greater service to the public in the way of information and education apart from the newspaper pages. There will be a return of power to the editor.—Herbert F. Gunnison, Manager of the Brooklyn Eagle.

OBSERVATIONS.

One star beams out in the 1915 basketball season, the Aggies were the only team in the Missouri Valley conference to humble the Jayhawk.

They say that drop after drop will wear away the stone, but the trouble is that most of us pass to the great beyond before we see the deed accomplished. Better put in a few big strokes while we are here.

The state legislature seems to have bit off a chunk when it came to the distribution of funds for the state educational institutions.

A FLY.

A fly flew in Joe Cooper's shop—
He flew toward the razor and he flew
toward the strop—
He flew toward the mug and he flew
toward the chair,
And said, "It's no place for me, because it's SANITARY THERE."
There's a reason:

WILL HOLD A FARM CONGRESS.

People of 18 Counties Invited to Attend Meeting at Emporia.

There will be a live stock conference and farm congress at Emporia March 24 and 25. The Kansas Agricultural College, the Kansas Normal, the Lyon county farm bureau and the Lyon county farmers' institute are co-operating in this conference.

The live stock industry is one of the most important enterprises in Kansas, and congresses of this nature --which are really schools--deal with the problem which is a large one to the farmers: that of growing more and better live stock. Farmers, farm women and townspeople throughout 18 counties of central and eastern Kansas are invited to attend.

The speakers will be: Pres. H. J. Waters, Pres. Theo. P. Butcher of Emporia, Secretary J. C. Mohler, Dean W. M. Jardine, Prof. W. A. Cochel, Prof. E. O. Reed, Dr. C. W. McCampbell, Geo. S. BASEBALL — TRACK — INTRA-MURAL

BY ERLE H. SMITH

TO ENTER RELAY RACE

NOTED COLORED SPRINTER WILL CONTEST IN UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA CARNIVAL IN APRIL.

DREW RAN 100 YARDS IN 9 3-5

Howard P. Drew, the sensational colored sprinter of Springfield, Mass., who is now attending the University of Southern California at Los Angeles, Cal., is coming east for the University of Pennsylvania relay carnival at Philadelphia on Friday and Saturday, April 23 and 24. The Springfield boy is now assistant manager of track athletics at his university and will be in charge of the team of Southern California athletes who will come East for the Pennsylvania games.

In a letter received by a New York friend recently, Drew stated that he is in the best shape of his career, and will attempt to prove to the skeptical followers of athletics that his 9 3-5 for 100 yards, made at Berkeley, Cal., last March, which equaled the world's amateur record made by Dan Kelly, was an actual performance and not a myth, as some have said.

Since going to the coast more than a year ago Drew has done some wonderful running. In addition to his world's record performance in the century dash he also ran 220 yards around a slight turn in 21 1-5 seconds, tying the international record made by Bernie Wefers, Ralph Craig, and Donald Lippincott, and accepted by the International Federation last year as the world's best figures. Drew's marks were ratified at the annual convention of the Amatuer Athletic Union.

Many experts assert that Drew is the only amatuer ever capable of turning 100 yards in 9 3-5 seconds, but there are many who doubt that he is equal to that mark. If it had been made in the East there is no doubt it would be recognized as a wonderful performance, but the skeptics always refer to Dan Kelly when word comes from the West of another record breaking race.

Efforts to induce George Parker, the Olympic Club sprinter, who beat Drew in a 220-yard race and ran the distance in 21 1-5 seconds, to come East have been unavailing. Prominent San Francisco athletic enthusiasts tried to encourage him to come here for the indoor championships, but he could not spare the time necessary for such a long journey.

Invite Missouri to Frisco.

Missouri has been selected as the representative of the Middle West in the football tournament at the Panama-Pacific Exposition, according to information received by the St. Louis Times, and negotiations wil be opened with the Tigers. Prof. L. C. Brewer, of the department of physical education has received no official notice of this selection. A committee of two former Yale players is arranging the tournament. Eleven colleges will be invited for this tournament. Princeton, Dartmouth, Pennsylvania, Cornell, Yale, and Carlisle are assured invitations.

This Athlete Prefers to Study.

Because of his studies at Harvard, R. Norris Williams, 2d winner of the national tennis tournament last year, has been obliged to forego playing in the national indoor championship now being held on the courts of the Seventh Regiment Armory.

Football Coach Advises Rowing.

Strong in the belief that rowing is a good way to build up football material, Lieutenant Ingram, head coach of the navy squad, has advised all who expect to try out for football to take up rowing this spring. His recommendations were especially directed to those expecting to be candidates for center and guard positions.

Does Rowing Weaken Heart?

The question of whether rowing is injurious to college oarsmen is to be determined by the medical supervisors of Harvard athletics. It was announced that X-ray photographs were being taken of the hearts of members of the varsity and freshmen eight-oared crews. These examinations will be continued for several years and from the data the medical experts expect to be able to obtain valuable conclusions.

New Baseball Machine.

Harvard college pitching candidates were subjected to a test for accuracy by Dr. Sexton, the baseball coach, recently. The coach had erected a backstop six feet high and nearly as wide with an opening corresponding to the limits within which called strikes would pass after crossing the plate. The pitchers delivered the balls at this hole, and were scored on their successes and failures in locating it. Dr. Sexton said he would continue to use the new device for some time.

Syracuse Winning Streak Broken.

Syracuse suffered its first basketball defeat in two years when the Orange five was recently beaten by the Army quintet at West Point. In February, 1913, the Orange was defeated by St. John's at Brooklyn, and since then Syracuse's record had been kept clean of defeats. For four consecutive years they have not been defeated on their home court, having won 30 games without suffering defeat. Up to the Army game, the Syracuse five had won 21 consecutive victories on all courts played upon.

Yale Star Pitcher Ineligible.

Des Jardiens is not the only athlete star who is suffering from scholastic difficulties. N. W. Way, '16, the Yale basketball and football star will not be able to compete during the remainder of the semester because of scholastic deficiency. Way failed to pass the mid-year examinations and now his only chance is to show phenomenal improvement before Easter. Way is the mainstay of the varsity pitching staff and in fact almost the only pitcher. He also played guard on the football team and was counted upon to play next fall.

Juniors.

Those who have not paid their classbook assessments should do so before March 20. Pay to G. M. Schnick, Geo. C. Ferrier or T. K. Vincent.

TEACH FOOTBALL BY MOVIES

HARVARD FOOTBALL IS CLOSE TO PERFECTION IN DESIGN AND IN EXECUTION—PICTURES SHOW MOMENTS OF DECISION.

MOVIES GIVE RIGHT MEN CREDIT.

"Harvard football, as most of its opponents admit, is close to perfection in design and execution," says Herbert Reed, well known sport writer. "It remained, however, for Percy D. Haughton, head coach, at a gathering of alumni at the Harvard club on Saturday night, to explain that the Cambridge system had reached such a stage of progress that it could afford to indulge in what he aptly termed 'decoys.'

"Aided by pictures evidently chopped wisely and well from a 'movie' film, the Crimson master coach, armed with a pointer as long as a billiard cue, indicated the men of whom nothing was expected save a general flustering of the opposition, whether Yale or Princeton, the Crimson's dearest foes.

Where They Are Used.

"Very active were these 'decoys,' as the pictures showed, but there was no guarantee by Mr. Haughton that the same decoys would be used another year. It was interesting to note that in every case the 'decoy' was used beyond the line of scrimmage where, by the way, most of the Harvard attack takes effect.

"Another salient feature of the illustrated lecture by one of the master minds of football was the emphasis placed upon the individual interference that has become one of the keystones of Crimson football.

Individual Aid.

"Those of us," says Reed, "who have seen the big games in which Harvard participated since the advent of Haughton at Cambridge, have become accustomed to the sudden appearance in the open of men like Hardwick and Mahan, and the equally sudden toppling over of the nearest tackler. This was the result, of course, of the perfect co-ordination of a good runner with high-class interference beyond the line of scrimmage. Naturally the average follower of the game followed the denouement of the play more carefully than its conception, with the result that he missed the point at which the individual interferer made up his mind to cut loose from the ball and cut down some man in the opposing defense."

Moment of Decision.

The pictures showed the all-important moment—the moment of decision. It was in moments such as these that men like Bradlee and Hardwick made reputations that will endure as long as the game shall last among students of football, while most of the glory went to other men for whom they carved a path. Haughton's pictures showed not alone the clever work of Bradlee and Hardwick, but that of men like Pennock and Trumbull, the latter having a far greater range than any one would have suspected.

Gives Right Men Credit.

The camera has given Bradlee, Hardwick, Pennock and Trumbull the credit that they could not have attained in any other way, and proved, if proof were needed, that the Harvard "system" is not dependent upon stars alone.

Incidently, the pictures showed that even so good a defensive back as Brickley could err upon occasion, and that there was always a man at hand to retrieve the error. Naturally the pictures showed the Crimson at its best, and illustrated the defense only after it had stopped the opponent's play beyond the line of scrimmmage but since Harvard's attack has yet to be solved the display was of the greatest interest to outsiders as well as to Harvard men.

STUDY THE MODERN AUTOMOBILE

Overland Company has Loaned 1915 Machine to Engineering Department.

Through the courtesy of the Willys Overland company of Toledo, Ohio, the steam and gas engineering departments of the College now have a new 1915 Overland machine for experimental and class work. The machine is equipped with electrical starter and electric lights.

The Overland company intends to leave the machine here until the middle of May or the first of June. It is the intention of the steam and gas engine departments to use the cylinders in connection with extensive tests that they are carrying on with automobile oils. Incidently the machine will be used to acquaint the engineering students with the details of a modern automobile.

The company has promised to send extra parts of the machine for the classes to study. It is possible that a sectional chasis will also be sent.

Unkind to the Pigs.

A minister, spending a holiday in the north of Ireland, was out walking, and, feeling very thirsty, called at a farm house for a drink of milk. The farmer's wife gave him a large bowl of milk, and while he was quenching his thirst a number of pigs got round about him. The minister noticed that the pigs were very strange in their manner, so he said:

"My good lady, why are the pigs so excited?"

The farmer's wife replied: "Sure, it's no wonder they were excited, sir; it's their own little bowl you are drinking out of."—Tit-Bits.

Gave an Interesting Illustrated Lecture on the Diesel Engine.

"The Development of the Diesel Engine," was the subject of the illustrated lecture made to the engineering students of the College in the engineering amphitheater on Thursday by H. R. Setz, chief engineer of the Fulton iron works of Pittsburg, Pa. This was without doubt the most highly interesting and scientific lecture that has ever been presented before the ngineers of th College. In spite of the many theoretical formulas and reports the audience kept awake and enthused for two hours.

Mr. Setz is a graduate of the Zurich Polytechnical Institute of Switz, Germany. For several years he was designing engineer for a company in Augsburg, Germany, which manufactured the original Diesel engine. He has also been with the Westinghouse company of this country and professor of engineering in the Carnegie technical school.

MACARTHUR TALKED TO CADETS.

English Professor Gave One of Best Speeches of the Year.

Speaking to the cadet corps Friday, Dr. John R. Macarthur of the English language department told in a fascinating manner the reasons for maintaining a cadet corps at the College, and the problem which the United States is now facing.

"Universal peace is the great ideal of men," he said, "but it will never come in our day. The president of Leland Stanford declared that there would never be another great European war only six weeks before the volcano exploded. The lines of devopment of three great European nations—England, Germany, and Russia—all meet in Constantinople, pointing towards the east, the fertile valley of the Euphrates along the path of the ancient conquerers, and on to India, the jewel of Great Britain's empire. The friction caused by the meeting of these lines of expansion is one of the great causes of the present war.

"The United States can be invaded as easily as Belgium was by an army of 200,000 men within six weeks. To stem the tide we have some 30,000 men. The finger of fate is pointing towards the Japanese nation at present, although their statesmen smile and smile and say, 'We do not want a war with the United States. We cannot afford it.' Look at them now, fighting side by side with their enemy of ten years ago, and with a complete upheaval of their wily diplomacy. We can profit by their actions and forsee as as complete a change toward us. If the yellow come to America and we are unable to meet them, it is our mothers, wives, and sweethearts who will fall a prey to them. Men can die and have it over with but women live a hundred deaths in the hands of the conqueror. Ask some friend what happened in the boxer uprising when the yellow men conquerored the foreigners.

"It is your mother, your sister, and your sweetheart that you are defending by strengthening the national defenses. I am not a militarist but I know the military men know some truths, and they are right when they say we can be invaded in six weeks. It is up to the college man to look at the question scientifically and see that this country is not caught unprepared in a crisis such as Europe was six months ago on the fatal fifth day of August."

Doctor Macarthur has traveled widely over the United States, and has spent a great deal of time in California, thus getting a chance to look closely into the Japanese problem. He is a graduate of the University of Chicago and one of the best educated men in the college.

Letter Men Cannot Compete in Contest Saturday.

Coach Carl J. Merner announced yesterday that the fourth indoor interclass track meet would be held in Nichols gymnasium on Saturday afternoon. No letter track men will be permitted to enter the meet but special events for these athletes will be held. The freshmen have a strong aggregation this season and bid fair to win first honors in the contest.

H. T. Adams expects to return to school this week to resume his studies after being detained out of school several weeks on account of illness.

HOUSE SAYS NO TO SENATE.

House Will not Agree to Appropriation for Building.

According to Preident Waters who is in close communication with the legislature at Topeka, nothing definite is going on in regard to the College budget. "The legislature is practically agreed on the maintenance for the College but not on the buildings," said Doctor Waters yesterday.

The senate and house are arguing back and forth. The senate is in favor of appropriating a large amount of money for new buildings to the various state institutions but the house cannot see it that way. There is nothing definite, however, and if things go on as at present there will probably be no decision at this meeting of the legislature.

400 MAKE TRIP TO RILEY

Four hundred or more of the students of the College who are interested in animal husbandry took advantage of the annual excursion to Fort Riley on Monday to hear lectures by army officers on the army horse and to witness riding demonstrations.

The morning program began at 10 o'clock with lectures on the cavalry horse, his specifications and conformation, and on the Army Horse. At 11:30 a demonstration of unsoundness in the horse was given and at 1:15 a lecture on the Thoroughbred horse. These lectures were illustrated with horses from the Fort. One of the main points brought out in the lectures was that the horse should be trained instead of broken. The importance and value of the Thoroughbred horse in the production of cavalry and artillery horses was emphasized.

During the afternoon a horse show and riding demonstrations were staged. Owing to the unstable footing for the horses the saber demonstration was not given. During the noon hour Major Rhodes, the commandant of the post, and other officers entertained the members of the faculty at lunch. The men were served dinner at the Exchange.

Dr. C. W. McCampbell, Prof. E. N. Wentworth, C. M. Vestal, Harry Smith, and Dave Gray were in charge of the excursion. Both the faculty men and the students were profuse in their praises of the cordial and hospitable treatment given them by the officers and men of the post.

WARMEST FEBRUARY SINCE '92.

Last Month Had Least Sunshine Since Weather Bureau Started.

According to the United States Weather Bureau last month was the warmest February since 1892 and it was equal to that year. The years 1892 and 1915 hold the records as having had the warmest Februarys since the bureau was established. There was also less sunshine durin the month by 20 per cent than during any February since a record was started in 1898. There were only four clear days during the entire month. Seven days were partly cloudy and seventeen had .01 per cent or more of precipitation.

The highest temperature for the month was 69 degrees on the twelfth. The lowest temperature was 19 degrees on the eighth. The normal temperature for the month was 30.1 degrees.

The total precipation for the month was 2.14 inches; snowfall, unmelted 2.4 inches. The greatest precipitation for 24 hours was 0.66 inches on the twenty-second.

Samuel Barber and sons Vernon and Cecil of Randolph, were the guest of Miss Edna Barber Saturday. Mr. Barber is the uncle of Miss Edna Barber.

The honorary members of the Browning literary society gave a program Saturday. The program was featured by a recitation by Wilma Searson.

The Nakkerieka club will give a St. Patrick dance Friday evening.

ZOELLNERS COME FRIDAY

EXQUISITE SHADING AND TONAL BEAUTY CHARACTERIZES PLAYING OF THESE ARTISTS—AN EXCELLENT PROGRAM ASSURED.

IS FAMOUS STRING QUARTET

The Zoellners are Now Making Extensive Tour of This Country—Lyceum Committee Made Guarantee of $250 for the Engagement.

Music lovers of the College and of Manhattan will be afforded an opportunity to hear an excellent musical program consisting of the standard works of the great composers and of modern composers when the famous Zoellner quartet, recognized as one of the great string quartet of the world, comes to the College auditorium for a single engagement on Friday night, March 12.

The exquisite shading and tonal beauty which characterizes the playing of the Zoellners is the result of a lofty adherence to classic traditions and a keen sense of proportion. "Much decision, ensemble, and expression are qualities that the Zoellners bring to light," is the way the L'Independance Belge, Bruxelles, puts it.

Are on Extensive Tour.

The annual New York recitals of the Zoellner quartet at Aeolian hall are looked forward to as events of the musical season, and in each succeeding season the critics have discovered new beauties in the playing of these remarkable artists. The Zoellners are now filling one of the most extensive tours ever booked for a string quartet in this country.

The Zoellners are not under Lyceum booking and in order to secure them for a single engagement the College Lyceum committee had to make them a guarantee of $250. The price of single admission tickets, however, has been kept at 50 cents.

The following is a criticism by the New York Evening World on the appearance of the Zoellner quartet in Aeolian hall:

"The Zoellner quartet, gave another concert at Aeolian hall last night that charmed and held the closest attention of a critical audience. The Dohnanyi quartet, a melodious composition as well as a fine piece of craftsmanship, was played with skill and taste, and sent everybody home in a happy frame of mind."

CLASS AIDS THE MERCHANTS.

Advertising Class at Maine Will Offer Practical Assistance.

The University of Maine, through a class in advertising, is now in position to offer practical assistance to merchants and mercantile organizations on the subject of advertising. Suggestions will be made on local state, and national advertising campaigns if requested, covering cost, medium, material, etc. Advice on the content and form of advertisements will be given when sought. Styles of type and preparation of copy also will be taken up. In special cases, when desired, tentative copy will be prepared.

It is hoped the new idea in extension work will not only help merchants make advertising a stronger selling force, but will help printers and publishers. They probably would appreciate an improvement in advertising copy.

Misses Pauline Groves, Ethel Carey, Bess Walsh, Grace Cool, and Edna Gulick attended the Mott meetings at K. U. over Sunday.

Dr. Otis L. Caldwel left for Chicago university Saturday, having finished his work on President Water's book.

1500 SEE FIRST CARNIVAL

INITIAL APPEARANCE OF ANNUAL ATHLETIC CARNIVAL WAS DISTINCT SUCCESS—YOUNG BROKE COLLEGE POLEVAULT RECORD.

MANY CUTE CLOWNS CUT UP

Frizzell Wins High Hurdle Event—Pi Kaps Take Inter-Fraternity Relay, Phi Phis Inter-Sorority Event—Webs Take Tug-of-War.

A record-breaking crowd greeted the initial appearance of the annual Athletic Carnival in Nichols gymnasium on Monday night. Guy S. Lowman, director of athletics, estimated the crowd at fifteen hundred persons. And the stunt was a grand success from the first dance to the final bout. The laugh provoking antics of the clowns and the scientific performances of the gymnasts and tracksters drew enthusiastic applause from the huge crowd.

In the polevaulting exhibition, Edwards broke "Spin" Young's College record of 10 feet seven inches, raising the mark to 10 feet eleven inches. "Duroc" Frizzell defeated "Mickie" Welsh in a special 40-yard high fence race for the indoor record. Frizzell's time was 5 3-5 seconds, one-fifth of a second behind the world's record for the event. Holroyd won the 440 in 58 3-5 seconds with Crumbaker, Lovett, Colth, and Osborne, finishing in the order named. Weaver, Wilder, and Cromer, made a dead heat in the 880 in 2:22 4-5.

Pi Kaps Win Relay.

The Pi Kaps won the inter-fraternity quarter-mile relay in 54 3-5 seconds. The Sig Alphs and Aztex teams tied for second, with the Betas running fourth. The Beta four running for the Phi Phis in the inter-sorority race won first, the Lambda team copping second. The second battalion quartet won the inter-battalion half-mile relay in 1:56 1-5.

The Webster tug-of-war team outweighed the Hamilton crew many pounds to the man and had little difficulty in pulling the Hamps off the floor. The wrestling bouts proved good, Gehrke winning the welterweight honors from Long; Gilmore trimmed Hagge in the middleweight division; and Alsop throwing Franz in 12 minutes for the heavyweight championship of the College.

Pull Off Boxing Act.

The best stunt of the show was the burleaque boxing act staged by the fraternity fresmen. Each man was blind-folded and armed with a left-handed tincup and a right-handed boxing mit. By sounding their tin cups on the floor the "white hopes" learned the location of their enemies and the guesses on some of the swings spoke well for those who did the blindfolding act. "Dutch" Hewey won out at the finish being the last man standing.

The apparatus work of Instructor Holladay, Copple, and Garvey, was excellent; and the work of the representatives of the Women's department of athletics spoke well for their training. Haucke's eyesight proved a handicap in his bike riding act against Earl Briney and after hitting the railing on two consecutive laps Haucke finished second to Briney in a three minute mile.

HAVE COURSE FOR MOTORISTS.

University of Wisconsin Will Instruct Motorists of the State.

The extension division of the University of Wisconsin has prepared and is offering to Wisconsin motorists a very interesting and effective course of lectures on the gasoline automobile. This course is the result of a widespread demand from owners and drivers for a better knowledge of the mechanical principles of their machines.

The value of this service offered by the university can be appreciated when one considers the complexity of the present-day motor car and the fact that over nine-tenths of the cars in use are operated by men with little or no experience in the handling of machinery. The university hopes with this course of lectures to reach every important city in the State. Six experienced mechanical engineers of the staff of the extension department are available to give the course in different parts of Wisconsin.

"Bob" Karper, '14, now teaching at Oklahoma A. & M., was a visitor at the Sigma Nu house Saturday and Sunday.

ARGUE ON MILITARY SERVICE.

Kansas, Oklahoma, and Colorado will Compete in Tri-State March 19.

The agricultural colleges of Kansas, Oklahoma, and Colorado will compete in a tri-state debate on March 19. Oklahoma will send a team of two men to Manhattan, the Kansas Agricultural College will send two men to Fort Collins, Colo., and Colorado will send two men to Oklahoma. Each college will have two teams in action on the same night.

The question for the debate is: Resolved, That every able bodied man in the United States should be required to perform one year's continuous military service before attaining the age of twenty-five. In each case the affirmative team will remain at home.

Joe Sweet and J. V. Quigley will represent the College at Fort Collins, Colo., and J. L. Lush and Shelby Fell will remain in Manhattan to wrangle with the men from Oklahoma.

The debaters have been working hard for several weeks under the direction of Dr. John R. Macarthur of the English department who is coaching the debating teams this year.

WILL READ THE "SKY PILOT"

Adrian M. Newens, noted Lecturer and Critic, Will Read Ralph Connor's Work in the Auditorium March 16.

Adrian M. Newens, noted lecturer and lyceum critic, will give a reading of "The Sky Pilot," by Ralph Connor, in the College auditorium on Tuesday night, March 16. This number of the Lyceum was scheduled for January 22 but Mr. Newens could not fill the engagement at that time.

Before the public Mr. Newens is a monologist, that is to say he is an individual artist presenting many characters in one continuos story. His entertainments have a great purpose behind them. Perhaps the strongest point in his work is the message that he brings to his audience in every program.

As a usual thing Mr. Newens reserves "The Sky Pilot" for Sunday readings, but he has kindly consented to give it in the auditorium next Tuesday night. Critics have said that it is little short of marvelous the way he handles this western story. It is a selection which has delighted many lyceum audiences.

TOLD OF F. AND M. DISEASE.

Dr. R. R. Dykstra Gave Interesting Discussion of Present Outbreak.

Dr. R. R. Dykstra of the department of veterinary medicine of the College gave an interesting talk in chapel yesterday morning on the foot and mouth disease. He told of the disease, its forms and symptoms, remedies, and of its rapid spread over the country.

Doctor Dykstra explained why the government veterinarians did not recognize the disease as the hoof and mouth disease when it first broke out last August. "This was due," he said, "to the fact that there are several diseases closely resembling it; that this country is not expected to suffer from the disease, hence the veterinarians would not be on the lookout for it; and that many of the men had not seen an outbreak of this particular disease."

Mr. Dykstra told of the three theories that the government men are working on which might lead to possible causes of the present malignant form of the outbreak. He said that there was no foundation to the rumor that the disease might have been spdead by men from the European nations in order to cut down the exports from this country. In closing he told of the extraordinary precautions that are being taken by the government to confine the disease to present infected localities.

Harvard Has Infant Prodigy.

Harvard is to enroll one of the youngest freshman in its history in Louis B. Kean, the 15-yer-old freshman, who is the only short trousered student in college. Kean aside from his scholastic prowess is also quite a track athlete.

The Brownings will put out the next number of the Ladies Home Journal, March 16.

Mrs. W. M. Godfrey of Holton is visiting her daughter, Rosalie on Park Row.

OUT-SHOOT NEBRASKA TEAM

COLLEGE RIFLEMEN DEFEATED THE CORNHUSKERS IN MATCH LAST SATURDAY BY SCORE OF 935 TO 928.

ARE TIED FOR SECOND PLACE

Each Team Has Won and Lost Same Number of Matches—Nebraska Has Larger Aggregate of Points—Yale Ranks First.

The Kansas Aggie rifle team outshot the University of Nebraska sharpshooters last Saturday afternoon by the score of 935 to 928, thus showing their superiority over the Cornhusker men with whom they are tied for second place in Class C of the Intercollegiate Rifle Competition series.

The two teams are quite evenly matched for second place in the class, but if the locals keep up their present winning streak they wil soon nose the Cornhuskers out of the second berth. Each team has won three contests and lost two. They have a percentage of 90. Nebraska, however, leads in the aggregate number of points scored this year; the Cornhuskers having a total of 4544 points while the Aggies have a total of 4524 points.

Yale Holds First Place.

The Yale riflemen are holding first honors in Class C. In none of their matches have they made a higher score than the Aggies made against Nebraska last Saturday, 935 points out of a possible 1000. With a continuation of their present unerring marksmanship, the Aggie men should give the Yale team a strong pull for high honors in the class.

Following are the Aggie men who shot and the scores they made: McHugh, 192; Bixby, 187; Croyle, 186; Williams, 185; and Warren, 185. Total for team, 935.

WILL SING ANCIENT WORDS.

Faculty Quartet Will Sing Words Written a Thousand Years Ago.

The song cycle, "In a Persian Garden," which will be sung by the Faculty quartet at the Glee club concert next Wednesday night, had its origin in the quatrains written almost a century ago by the famous Persian poet and astronomer Omar.

Omar, called Khayyam or the tentmaker, was born in the ancient Persian city of Nishapur, located at the foot of the Elbruz mountains. This city is said to have existed before the time of Alexander the Great. The exact date of Omar's birth is not known, although tradition places it in the year 1123.

Omar Kayyam was one of the eight learned men employed to revise the ancient Persian calendar. Occasionally he composed an exquisitely perfect little quatrain or Rubiay. The conventional form of the quatrain called for a rhyme of the first two lines and the last. The third line was generally left blank. These Rubaiyat are entirely distinct and disconnected.

About a thousand years after these quatrains were written Fitzgerald ingeniously "tesselated" a selection of them into a sort of Persian mosaic, making of them a sort of loosely connected elegy. The first translation of the Rubaiyat was published in 1884. It is through Fitzgerald that the English speaking world has come to know Omar Khayyam.

Several years ago Fitzgerald's translation of Omar's Rubaiyat was set to music by Liza Lehmann. The selection is arranged for a quartet and contains solos for each part. This production is very popular and is a beautiful piece of music. It has been rendered in Kansas City several times but no farther west.

Hamps and Io's Banqueted.

The Hamiltons entertained the Ionian literary society Saturday evening with a five-course banquet at the Congregational church. The church and banquet room were decorated in the Hamp and Ionian colors and masses of fern. There was music during the reception and banquet by society members. Covers were laid for 180 guests. John Parsons acted as toastmaster, and talks were given by Will Haggard, Miss Stella Gould Don Irwin, Miss Amy Gould, P. Goudy, Miss Mary Scott, and Dean Brink. Chaperones for the evening were Dean and Mrs. Brink and Prof. and Mrs. L. A. Fritz.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 10, 1915.

GETTING BY.

Genius is infinite painstaking, says Longfellow.

Did you ever notice a genius at work? Did you not wonder at his superior aptitude to patience, his never tiring efforts to make each detail a perfect part of the whole? Time after time some part was fitted, taken off and adjusted, then refitted. You, no doubt became tired and walked away bu genius worked on. Infinite painstaking marked the completion of each task and at last the perfect whole crowned his labors.

The real student is a genius. He believes in taking pains with his work. He not only grasps the main facts of a subject but masters the details. He works out the relationship of each idea to every other. Contrast with him the student who pretends to gain only such knowledge of a subject as will enable him to "get by." He cares nothing about the details, he is not interested in the relationship of one phase of a subject to another. He is satisfied if he "gets by."

Watch these two men after they leave college. They enter the same office. Genius becomes absorbed in his work. No detail of it is so small but that it demands his attention. Perhaps he remains five or ten minutes after quitting time in order to finish a task. He never forgets his job. In spare moments he is considering this and that phase of his work in an endeavor to increase his efficiency. Perhaps they are details, but he works on the theory that details mastered lead to larger things. His employer notices his aptitute to patience, his painstaking attitude toward details is looked upon with an approving eye. The manager has taken his measure.

Notice the student who prides himself upon "getting by" in college. He watches the manager as much as he does his job in an endeavor to discover just how much he must do in order to "get by" with his work. When quitting time comes he is the first to ring out his card. From then until eight o'clock the next morning his mind is a hundred miles from his work. He succeeds in "getting by" for a while but before long the manager has got his measure, also, and at the end of the month his position "expires."

Why the difference? you ask. Both had diplomas from the same institution? Yes, BUT the one man made his aim that of getting an education: the other that of "getting by." Are YOU getting an education or are you "getting by."

THE FATHER'S GIFTS.

Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning.—James II, 1, 17.

OBSERVATIONS.

Sure sign of spring, when the drug stores display their supplies of sassafras.

What, Anderson street does not need paving? If you had chanced to see the wagon load of coal that was mired hub deep in the plastic gumbo of that thoroughfare just south of the gymnasium last Friday afternoon perhaps you would think different.

It doesn't help much to aim high if you use blank cartridges.—N. Y. Times.

Yes, we have had a great deal of moisture this winter but they say that the subsoil has not become soaked yet.

If this kind of weather keeps up there will be no planting of potatoes a week from today.

Of course we take it for granted that you know why we said next Wednesday instead of Thursday.

They say that the Russian army averages one rifle to every two men. Also that many of the Canadian reserves have only revolvers with which to fight.

It must be getting rather muddy when a farmer has to have four horses to pull his spring wagon out of the barnyard.

MANHATTAN DEFEATS SALINA.

Mound Ridge won the basketball championship of the Fifth Congressional District on Nichols court Saturday afternoon by trouncing the Dickinson County high school five, 50 to 34. Center Derks was the whole show of the series and scored more than two-thirds of the Mound Ridge team's total points. Captain Voran also played well for the Mound Ridge team. The Dickinson team wasted many opportunities to tally by throwing wild and too far. The scores:

Footwear for Spring is unsurpassed in style elegance by any production of previous seasons.

Seneca says of Hercules, "His mind is like his walk." So every woman expresses in her step the state of her mind in a certain degree.

Freedom and confidence do not find expression in her walk if the shoe cramps or has lost its shapeliness.

Gave a St. Patrick Dance.

The Bachelor club gave a St. Patrick dance Monday evening in Aggieville hall. The hall was beautifully decorated in green, and this color scheme was carried out in the programs and in the refreshments. Green carnations and shamrock leaves were presented to the dancers as favors. Dacquet's five-piece orchestra furnished the music. Thirty couples attended.

One of the prettiest dances of the season was given Saturday night in Elks' hall by the Theta Chi club in honor of visiting Chi Omegas from Lawrence. The hall was effectively decorated with poppies and butterflies, the Chi Omega colors of cardinal and straw predominating. During one of the dances a large Chi Omega pin covered with poppies was outlined in cardinal and straw lights in honor of the visitors. Dancing continued until eleven when supper was served at quartet tables. The chaperones of the evening were: Mr. and Mrs. McNair, Miss Fewell, and F. A. Wirt.

The Social club entertained Monday afternoon in the domestic science reception rooms at a mock carnival. The affair was given in honor of the senior girls. The decorations were carried out in St. Patrick Day colors. The carnival consisted of eight attractions which were conducted by the different ladies. Candy, punch, and ice cream were served at different booths. There was also a fortune telling booth and a fish pond. The women who assisted during the afternoon were: Mrs. Kenney, Mrs. Price, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Losh, Mrs. Simmering, Mrs. Vestal, Mrs. Cochel, Mrs. Valley, Mrs. Gainey, Mrs. Ackert, Mrs. Holton, Mrs. Potter, Mrs. Brubaker, Miss Palmer, and Miss Harrison.

WILL LEGISLATURE AGREE?

SECOND JOINT COMMITTEE HAS BEEN APPOINTED FROM SENATE AND HOUSE TO DECIDE BUILDING APPROPRIATIONS.

MAINTENANCE FUND ASSURED

But There is no Assurance That Money for Buildings is Forthcoming—House Confines Appropriations to 9 Million Dollars.

According to reports which were received from the legislature yesterday, the College will not get $80,000 for a physics building nor $6350 for a slaughter house and poultry laboratory but will receive liberal appropriations for maintenance for the next two years.

The second joint committee from the senate and house is hoping that they will soon come to an agreement. The difference between the two bodies on appropriations is more than 1 and 3-4 million dollars. The senate desires to appropriate 10 and 3-4 million dollars. The house wishes to confine its appropriations to 9 million dollars. The greater part of the difference is on appropriations for the state institutions.

The Hays Normal will get $125,000 for a building but the other institutions have not received any assurance that they will get the appropriations for buildings which they have asked for.

Doctor Bayley showed the importance of having a definite aim in life. "Many of us have no other aim than to make a living," he said. "We should all wish to make a mark in our sphere. We should make the world better for our living in it. That mark should be the expression of what we are."

PICTURES CANADIAN LIFE

ADRIAN M. NEWENS, NOTED LECTURER AND CRITIC, WILL APPEAR IN THE COLLEGE AUDITORIUM ON FRIDAY NIGHT.

READS CONNOR'S "SKY PILOT"

Newens Gives Wonderful Interpretation of Western Story—Humor and Pathos, Joy and Sorrow, Thrill and Suspense are Intermingled.

If you wish to get an indelible picture of the rough life of the Canadian Rockies and a lasting impression of all that is finest and best in that life, you will be afforded the opportunity next Tuesday night when Adrian M. Newens, noted lecturer and lyceum critic, gives a reading of Ralph Connor's "Sky Pilot" in the College auditorium.

Mr. Newens gives a remarkable interpretation of this western story. Humor and pathos, joy and sorrow, thrill and suspense are wonderfully intermingled. The interest of the hearer is held closely by this superb lecturer and reader. The time slips away and before the audience is aware of it the evening has passed and they have more than read this wonderful western story in a single night.

There is a purpose behind all the entertainments given by Adrian Newens. Perhaps this is one of the reasons why his programs always have a power of holding the close attention of the hearer.

Is Prince of Public Speakers.

"As an entertainer Newens is a wonder," said Prof. J. W. Searson to a Collegian representative yesterday. "For fun, good sense, perenial joy of soul, Newens is an exhaustless wellspring. Those who heard his "Message from Mars" were hungry for more. Prince of public speakers, first among platform entertainers, superbly human, joyous, and clean—that is Adrian M. Adrian M. Newens."

The lecture will begin at 8:15. Single admission tickets can be secured at the door on Friday evening.

WILL INSPECT CREAMERIES

Senior Dairy Students and Short Course Men Will Inspect Plants in Kansas City and Topeka.

The senior dairy students and dairy short course men will leave Monday on an inspection trip of the creameries and milk plants of Topeka and Kansas City, Mo. About twenty men will make the trip.

This inspection trip is an annual event in the dairy department of the College. It affords the men an excellent opportunity to look over the creameries of the large cities and to secure ideas as to their management. G. A. Gilbert, instructor in dairy husbandry, will be in charge of the men. Prof. O. E. Reed will join them in Kansas City.

The Beatrice Creamery company and the Topeka Pure Milk company will be visited in Topeka. In Kansas City the following plants will be inspected: The Creamery Package Manufacturing company, The Meriden Creamery company, The Meyers Pure Milk company, The Franklin Ice Cream company, The Missouri Dairy, and The Holmes Dairy. The men will return on Tuesday.

Will Carry on Boiler Tests.

Preparations are now being made to carry on extensive boiler tests at the College heat and power plant. These tests will be carried on by the senior engineering students.

HOME OCCUPIED BY GERMANS

MANDUS ZOELLNER TOLD COLLEGIAN REPORTER YESTERDAY EVENING THAT GERMANS HAD ENTERED HIS BRUSSELS HOME.

WOULDN'T LIKE TO BE SOLDIER

But Mr. Zoellner says he Would Offer Services if Country Needed Him—Says We Have Better Schools Than Europe.

"I wouldn't like to be a soldier," laughingly said Amandus Zoellner of the Zoellner quartet to a representative of the Collegian yesterday evening. "Of course if my country needed me I would be glad to offer my service," he added.

Mr. Zoellner thought the College a military school and of course the interview quickly drifted to military topics and to a discussion of the European war. "We have received notice that our home in Brussels has been occupied by German soldiers, but are not able to discover just what it is being used for," said Mr. Zoellner. "Two and a half years ago when we played before the royal family of Belgium, the mother of the present King Albert said to me that all seemed happy in Belgium but that there was a cloud hanging over the country, meaning the coming of the present war."

Admires College Buildings.

"You have a beautiful campus and buildings here," said this fine looking musician as he pulled hard at the stub of a cigar. He had that quick, nervous temperament about him that is characteristic of all musicians. "You have much better schools in this country than there are in Europe. There the buildings and equipment are very poor and the students have to put up with a great many things. That is the reason why so many young men come to this country to finish their education."

"We have found the people of Kansas very appreciative and responsive," remarked this American-born musician as he changed the interview to topics along musical lines.

From here the Zoellners go to Salt Lake City, Utah, for a concert engagement and then on west for a 14-day tour of the coast states.

Prof. E. N. Wentworth has received an invitation to deliver an address at the next meeting of the American Genetic association in August in San Francisco. "The Effect of Sex Limited Inheritance upon the Breeding of Livestock," is the subject upon which he has been asked t ospeak. Mr. Wentworth does not know at this time whether or not he will be able to accept the invitation.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT PLEASED

Feature of the Evening was Rendition of Liza Lehman's "In a Persian Garden" by Faculty Quartet.

One of the most pleasing musical events of the winter was the Glee club concert that was given in the College auditorium Wednesday night by the College Glee club assisted by the Faculty and Aggie quartets.

The feature of the evening's program was the rendition of Liza Lehman's "In a Persian Garden" by the Faculty quartet. In the singing of this classical piece the audience was transported to a Persian garden, there to hear the beautiful little quatrains composed almost a thousand years ago by Omar Khayyam. Each one of the members of the quartet showed remarkably ability in their solo work in this difficult composition. Miss Jessie Machir, contralo of the Faculty quartet, was ill and her place was filled with credit by Miss Mary M. M. Sands of Topeka.

The Glee club numbers were greatly appreciated by the audience. The tonal quality of the club was excellent and the voices blended remarkably well. Then, too, there was a volume that showed the club capable of meeting any demands that might be made upon it.

'Baa-baa Black Sheep," rendered as an encore by the Aggie quartet, was greatly appreciated by the audience. The singing of this quartet was very popular with the audience. Their voices blended well and the tones were of even volume. About 200 people attended the concert.

To Issue Scandal Number.

The Collegian of Wednesday, March 17, will be known as the "Scandal Number" of the Collegian. It will also be a "Green Number" for it happens that St. Patricks Day falls on Wednesday. We promise you that the paper will be full of real scandal. Copies of this issue will sell for ten cents.

HAVE BABY TRACTION ENGINE.

Engineering Division has Tractor Weighing Less than Three Tons.

A Little Mogul traction engine which weighs less than two and one-half tons has been received by the steam and gas engineering laboratories of the College. This toy traction engine is smaller than the ordinary horse but is capable of pulling several plows. It has 8 hp. on traction and 16 hp. on belt.

On account of lack of room in which to store traction engines, the steam and gas laboratories are forced to turn down the offers of many traction engine companies to leave their tractors here. As it is several good machines are left out in the weather.

BUXTON IS BEST DAIRY JUDGE

Took First Honors in Dairy Judging Last Saturday—Crumbaker Placed Second and Loyd Third.

C. L. Buxton won the gold medal in the dairy judging contest held in the judging pavilion on last Saturday afternoon for being the best judge of dairy cattle. His score was 710. J. W. Crumbaker took second place with a score of 705 and H. S. Loyd placed third with a score of 700.

There were 37 entries in the contest. This is accounted for by the fact that no short course students participated. The short course students had received no instruction in dairy judging up to the time of the contest, their work along that line being taken up first of this week. Prof. O. E. Reed and Ass't Prof. J. B. Fitch were the judges of the contest.

Following are the names of the seven highest men and the scores they made:

IS BASED ON WATERS' ADVICE.

New Agricultural Paper is Published by Philippine Bureau.

The Philippine Farmer is a new practical agricultural paper founded in accordance with a suggestion made by Dr. Henry Jackson Waters, president of the College, in his recent investigation of agriculture in the Philippines.

When Doctor Waters went to the islands, he found a single agricultural paper published by the government and endeavoring to combine technical and scientific matter with hints for the average farmer. His advice was to separate the two classes of matter and publish a scientific review and a general agricultural paper.

The Philippine Farmer is a neat well written, and well printed paper of eight pages, carrying no advertising. In its opening number, it says:

'It is the purpose of the Philippine Farmer to encourage co-operative effort among the farmers. In no country in the world is co-operation in agriculture more necessary than in the Philippine Islands. We now have a million farmers, each of whom is working separately and alone. Under these conditions they never can achieve very great results. What we need is a million farmers organized and working together for the common good of all."

Mack Crether, formerly a well-known Kansas journalist, now superintendent of co-operative organization in the bureau of agriculture in the Philippines, is assistant editor of the paper. Editions are published in English and Spanish.

Photograph Dancing Clubs.

A new feature of the Royal Purple this year will be photographs of the dancing clubs of the hill. The Garcia club had their picture taken on March 5 and last night the Nakkerreka were flashlighted at the Aggieville hall.

Miss Anna Louise Arnold of Simmons college, Boston, will arrive in Manhattan tomorrow to visit a few days at the College. While here she will be entertained by Mrs. A. R. Losh.

HOLD INDOOR MEET TODAY

FOURTH ANNUAL INDOOR INTERCLASS TRACK MEET WILL BE STAGED IN NICHOLS GYM THIS AFTERNOON.

VARSITY MEN CANNOT ENTER

Fight for First Honors Lies Between the First and Second Year Teams—Arrange Special Events for the Varsity Performers.

The fourth annual indoor interclass track meet will be conducted on the Nichols speedway this afternoon at 4 o'clock. According to past results the fight for first honors will be between the first and second year teams. Each team has several promising men and the competition in many of the events promises to be thrilling. None of the varsity men will be permitted to enter the events although Coach Carl J. Merner announced yesterday that there would probably be several special events arranged for these performers.

Edwards will vault for the sophomores and more than likely will raise the mark of 10 feet 11 inches which he established in his exhibition at the Athletic Carnival on last Monday night. The clever second year pole jumper bested "Spin" Young's mark of 10 feet seven inches easily and would have hiked the mark higher than he did had not the time limit been exhausted. Schaper in the shot-put looks good for first place in that event, although Billings, a husky freshman, has been shoving the leather out well in recent workouts.

The sophs dope to hook the point advantage in the hurdles too. Edwards and Bell have been stepping over the barriers on the heels of the varsity runners and should outdistance the interclass field handily. Wenn will run in the distance events for the sophs and Seeber is also expected to garner points in these runs for the second year men.

Mrs. Henry J. Waters, 2 Park Road, underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Swift Memorial hospital this morning at 10 o'clock. Mrs. Waters was reported as resting comfortably yesterday afternoon. Dr. Perkins of Kansas City, Mo., was in charge of the operation.

ZOELLNERS ARE TRUE ARTISTS

Purity of Tone and Perfection of Ensemble are Unexcelled—Maintain Sympathetic Relation with Audience

The Zoellner do not merely play. They have to such a degree the faculty of keeping in touch with their audience that the concert is a personal as well as an artistic success.

The playing of these artists is truly remarkable. For purity of tone and perfection of ensemble work they are unexcelled in the musical world. The concert last night was one of the really fine things to which it is a privilege to listen.

The members of the Zoellner quartet are Americans by birth, but European in education and training. Of Austrian and French descent, they are decidedly foreign in appearance but they lack the foreigner's usual inability to understand his audience. The beauty of their playing, perfect in itself, was enhanced by the sympathetic relation maintained throughout between the players and the audience. It is the desire of all who were present last night that the Zoellners may be persuaded to come again to Manhattan.

BRAINS BEHIND THE BRAWN.

We step into a power plant. On every side is the hum and purr of machines. The room fairly vibrates with the energy that is being produced. The big machines move swiftly but silently, each movement a power-producing stroke. We are thrilled with the wonderfulness of it all. Ah! but do we stop to consider that behind all these energy-making machines, behind this brawn is the brains?

In our admiration for the many efficiency-creating devices of our time, we often forget the brains that are responsible for their existence. It is brawn, you know, that is doing the daily work of the world. It was brawn that produced a wireless telegraph; that built a motor car in fifty-eight seconds; that joined the waters of two oceans by a Panama canal. Ah, but it was the brains of a Marconi, the brains of a Henry Ford, the brains of a Goethals that made it possible.

In this age of hustle and bustle, in this twentieth century, in this electrical era, brains is the master and brawn but does his bidding. It is brawn that sails the ocean but brains that handles the wheel. It is brawn that is fighting the battles of the world but it is brains that plans each movement, that maps out each campaign, that says do this, do that.

Ah, it's brains that counts for things in this world, say what you will. It's brains that is guiding the nations; that is making destiny; that is causing the desert to bloom as the rose. It is brains that is raising the ethical standards of the world. It is brains that causes us to appreciate all the beauty and wonder of nature.

Brains or brawn, which shall it be? Shall we be the brawn that constructed an instrument to send messages vibrating across the ether, or shall we be the brains that produced the idea? Shall we be the brawn that built a motor car in fifty-eight seconds, or shall we be the brains that demonstrated how it could be done? Shall we be the brawn that united the waters of two oceans, or shall we be the brains that proved it could be done? Brawn or brains, it is for each one of us to decide. Brawn is the easy road to travel. Brains is the highway upon which we make progress only by determination, fortitude, patience, watchfulness, and that twentieth century characteristic—stick-to-it-iveness.

A GOOD NAME.

A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favour rather than silver and gold.—Proverbs, xxii, 1.

FAKE ADVERTISING.

Under the onslaughts of Samuel Hopkins Adams in the New York Tribune the fake enterprises of that metropolis are falling one after another. The patent medicine fraud was dealt a death blow by Mr. Adams in his book "The Clarion," and now he is attacking with the same vigor fakes of the clothing industry, fake medical appliances, and other schemes designed to catch the unwary.

The metropolitan newspaper that has as its policy helpful public service, has ceased to lower the standards of its advertising columns by the acceptance of matter advertising fakes. Some of the great metropolitan dailies of the country, like the New York Tribune, have not only excluded such matter from their paid columns but are carrying on aggressive campaigns exposing such frauds. Naturally the paper loses an immense amount of advertising. Can it withstand this loss?

Such a policy strengthens a newspaper in the community and among its respectable advertisers. Consequently the reversal is only temporary. The people demand the paper because they know that it stands for the truth, circulation is boosted, and then comes the rise in advertising rates.

As a result of these campaigns that have been waged against frauds and fakes, has come a higher ethical standard in the paid columns of the metropolitan daily. Of course the movement is still in its infancy, but the next few years will see a revolution in the attitude of the publisher toward the public in regard to the standard of the advertising matter which he carries in his paid columns. Many of the better newspapers and magazines of the country guarantee their readers against fakes in advertising. The time is coming, when every successful publisher will refuse to accept matter advertising known frauds and fakes.

If there be any truer measure of a man than by what he does, it must be by what he gives.—South.

HOLDS MYTHS ARE UNTRUE.

W. H. Maxwell Says Poor Learn as Rapidly as Rich.

With the submission of various reports the annual session of the department of superintendence of the National Education association came to a close at Cincinnati last Friday. Superintendent William H. Maxwell of the New York City public schools, in addressing the final session, warned his hearers against what he termed "two myths."

"One popular myth holds that the child from the poor home can not do as good work as the child from the home of means," said Mr. Maxwell. "The other is the belief that children of country schools are better off in body and in brain than city children. As a rule neither of these is true."

Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of the Chicago public schools, in telling why she is opposed to a survey of the Chicago public schools, said:

"It was when I learned authoritatively that at the conclusion of the survey, its report would include a recommendation for a dual system of vocational training, that I decided I did not want a survey. It was planned that half of our vocational training be organized on a separate plan in connection with Chicago manufacturers and that a separate fund would have to be obtained for this work.

"Vocational training costs money. The cheapest things furnished the public school child are books and paper."

In the last seven years the number of children graduating each year from elementary schools of America has doubled, according to Dr. Leonard P. Ayres, director of the division of education of the Russell Sage Foundation. He asserted that the increase in graduation was the result of the nation-wide efforts of schools to reduce backwardness among school children, and to the school survey movement.

TO BE A JOURNALIST.

Irvin S. Cobb Says There Is no Such Thing as Born Writer.

When Irvin S. Cobb was asked by Yale men how to succeed in the business of writing he said:

"I don't think there is such a thing as a born writer. I don't believe any literary rooster was ever hatched that could crow the day he pipped the shell. I do think there are some who are born not to be writers. Writing is a trade to be learned—like bricklaying, for instance. As in any other trade, some learn it faster and some learn it better than others.

"From my observation," continued Mr. Cobb, "I should say that a college education neither makes nor mars a man if he is born to be a newspaper man. I do not say born a newspaper man I am sorry I did not get a chance to go to college, for I believe it rounds out a man's life, when he is at a period when he is particularly responsive to the peculiarly beneficial influences of the college life and is enthusiastic for mere living.

"As for the regular schools for journalism, I think they are without doubt justifying themselves. I don't think anyone could be graduated from one of them and at once become a finished newspaper man, but I do think he would stand a better chance eventually of becoming one than a man of equal ability who had not taken such a course.

"One of the first fields to which the literary aspirant turns is newspaper work. And it's a bully game; though perhaps not as a life work, unless a man intends to specialize in some of its branches. I do not know any trade where a man sees more angles of life than as a reporter. It is certainly the most attractive, the most fascinating and the poorest paid trade in the world.

"To be a good reporter is to enter the most useful form of endeavor that a so-called literary career can assure. Novelists and short story writers are common, essayists are also numerous, as are dramatic critics and the like, but good reporters are the scarcest and most valuable things in the newspaper business today.

"Some of the greatest things ever written were written in a rush to catch an edition. I think that without doubt the best thing I ever wrote was a story in a daily paper. Probably no one remembers it but me, but I know I have never done anything better.

"I think the best natural asset a reporter can have to start with is a good memory, with some of the features of a card index to it—a classifying memory with a power of reproducing what has been entrusted to it. If a reporter is not naturally endowed with such a memory I should advise him above all to do his best to cultivate one."

Alumnus in Favor of a "K."

Editor of The Collegian:—Noting your editorials regarding the placing of a "K" on Bluemont, I thought perhaps it would be interesting to recall some of the efforts along that line made before this.

In the fall of 1909, ust before the freshmen-sophomore football games (on the old Bluemont field), some half dozen of the 1913 class, including George Kirkpatrick, Eddy, T. G. Spring, and myself, spent several arduous hours of hard work one dark night in placing the numerals '13 on Bluemont, fashioning them from the loose pebbles lying around. Several nights following we spent with our hearts in our mouths ready to repel any attack, especially from the 1912 class. Following the games the numbers were changed to a 12, but only for a short time. Then the juniors held them at a 11 for quite a while. The net result was that practically the same group that started it changed it to a "K," which persisted during the remainder of the school year. Although it was partially destroyed from time to time it was always repaired. The night before the K. U.-Aggie football game a "U" was added to the "K," but this did not last long, I can assure you.

Of that group Eddy dropped out. Spring was out for a couple of terms and dropped to the '14 class, and Kirkpatrick got too energetic in favor of the class dance—the others I have forgotten. If there are any others that remember the first night I would be pleased to hear from them.

The University of Utah has a large concrete "U" upon the mountains back of Salt Lake City, and as it is in plain view of all trains passing through Salt Lake it amounts to a splendid advertisement. The campus is barren and entirely lacks the beauty of our campus, but the view from the buildings is superb and the start made toward beautifying the grounds promises much. In our case a well designed "K" will give a good impression of the school, which will only be heightened by closer inspection. Even transcontinental travelers will be bound to inquire about our "K" and thus the fame of the school will spread far and wide in channels which pay little attention to schools as a rule.

I wish you the very best of success in this effort, as well as in all others for K. S. A. C. welfare.

THE COLLEGE WRITER AND HIS TRAINING

By NELSON ANTRIM CRAWFORD

Contrary to popular belief, there has been no period in English or American history in which the average of literary achievement has been so high as it is at present. The critic who sighs for the literature of fifty or one hundred or three hundred years ago has his mind centered only on the best productions of those times. Contemporaries of Shakespeare wrote verse out of accord with every known law of metrics, and prose in which sentences were considered unnecessary. If we look at the average literary productions of the time of Hawthorne, Poe, and Emerson, we find work that is excelled by many university and college students today. Here is the first stanza of a poem contained in one of the best-known American periodical publications of the year 1838:

"Brave son of a Chieftain! beloved Cherokee!
This token of wampum is woven for thee;
A token to flutter and shine on thy breast,—
My bravest and brightest, my wisest and best!"

Here is the beginning of a story by J. K. Paulding, who was one of the most popular American writers in the thirties, forties, and fifties of the nineteenth century:

"Whosoever cannot read and ponder over the simple and affecting memorials of the early adventurers to this new world, may be safely pronounced equally devoid of all true feeling, as well as all genuine patriotism. Their persecutions in the old world, their adventurous heroism, in cutting themselves adrift from all the enjoyments of social life, and severing all its ties of kindred and country, and their steady endurance of all the dangers, privations, and sufferings of the pathless wilderness, rather than submit to the tyranny of an inexorable hierarchy, and a bigot king without religion, furnish noble examples to their posterity, at the same time that they demand its respect and reverence through all succeeding ages."

There are now fifty monthly magazines, at least an equal number of weekies, and a large and growing group of daily newspapers that never publish anything so weak and lacking in literary merit as the quotations just given.

There is probably less opportunity now than ever before for the writer whose resources consist merely of conventional thought and conventional ways of writing, but the opportunities were never greater for the writer with some new truth to present or some brilliantly new way of presenting old truth. There are now no authors starving in proverbial garrets because originality is unacceptable. Originality is acceptable. It does not always meet immediately with the persons to whom it is acceptable. But young men and women whose talent has not yet met with striking recognition are nevertheless doing strong, effective work on newspapers and other publications and are receiving a reasonable financial return while they await larger success.

It is the periodical publications which have produced the enormous increase in literary opportunities. There are in the United States approximately 25,000 periodical publications. The number, however, does not tell the whole story. These publications appeal to a wide range of readers and, therefore, afford an opportunity for a variety of writing. They vary from the literary conservation of The Atlantic Monthly to the artistic radicalism of the latest futurist magazine. They vary in content from the material interests of the hardware trade to the esthetic culture of Poet-Lore and the social idealism of The Unpopular Review.

In the nature of things colleges must train their students to write, for self-expression is the goal of education. While, by means of special courses in English, in journalism, and in other subjects, the college endeavors to direct the writing of students to specific practical ends, the originality which is a fundamental to the creation of literature needs often a further stimulus. This is furnished, in part, by such organizations as the Quill Club, which exists in most institutions and are composed of men and women interested in intensive, constructive literary work. The broader the field of literary interests represented in such a society, the more beneficial its efforts will be.

The Kansas State Agricultural College offers a large amount of material for the special articles that have in the last fifteen years become widely popular in magazines and newspapers. The fields of agriculture, engineering, and other applied sciences are far from exhausted, while at the same time there is a strong, steady demand on the part of editors for articles applying the principles of economics, sociology, political science, and esthetics to the rural life with which the institution is closely in touch. Articles of this sort may be highly serious or merely popular and yet find markets with reputable newspapers and magazines, so diverse are the classes of readers to which different publications appeal.

Nevertheless, there is no reason why the efforts of college men and women should be confined to this field, large as it is. By reason of the great number of magazines now published, prose fiction offers larger and broader opportunities than ever before. Probably more careful effort is necessary in this field than in any other, except poetry, because of the high importance of technique. Yet the technique is obtainable through practice. A former magazine editor, now a succesful teacher of the short story, said recently to the writer:

"There is a type of salable short story, the writing of which can be taught to any person who has brains and a knowledge of the English language."

The technique of verse can be learned as can the technique of the short story, and, by means of this, clever, attractive verse can be written, which while it may not live through centuries, will give genuine pleasure to those who read it. Moreover, though one has the talent to write poetry of permanent appeal, he must practically always study the technique of verse before he can make his work appeal to the reader. The most careful and painstaking revision marked the work of even so apparently spontaneous a poet as Burns, while Tennyson would rewrite a single line scores of times.

Again, the writer has often wondered why the nature essay, so common in the East, has been written almost not at all in the Middle West. For the young man or woman with a seeing eye and a responsiveness to nature's moods, this type of essay offers an opportunity for something fresher, more vital, and more artistic than practically any work yet done in this region.

For one interested in any of these or other types of writing, the value of college training cannot be over estimated. It is not so much that the college gives technical skill or that it furnishes one a mass of subject matter, though often it does both of these. The most important office of the college to the literary-minded man or woman is the contact that it gives with the thought of the world, the world of today and the world of ten thousand years ago. The college man or woman gets to see the world and its perspective, and that is what makes really great literature.

One of the clearest recent examples of this quality is a lyric by Miss Harriet Monroe, in which the reader feels at once both the history of the world, as revealed by modern science, and the primal wonder that was felt by men long centuries before science was thought of:

"How wild, how watch-like weird that life should be!
That the insensate rock dared dream of me,
And take to bursting out and burgeoning—
Oh, long ago—yo ho!—
And wearing green! How stark and strange a thing
That life should be!

"Oh mystic mad, a rigadoon of glee,
That dust should rise, and leap alive, and flee
Afoot, awing, and shake the deep with cries—
Oh, far away—yo hay!
What moony mask, what arrogant disguise
That life should be!"

College training gives to the discriminating power to see the world as Miss Monroe and others who produce world literature see it. This is a prerequisite to creative power.

GUTENBERG BANQUET

A most important—and most enjoyable—social event was the Gutenberg banquet held November 32. A banquet is held annually by each chapter of Quill in commemoration of the birth of Johann Gutenberg, reputed inventor of the printing press.

The long tables were arranged to form a hollow square and were beautifully decorated with pink and white carnations and roses. At each place was a tiny boquet of violets. Covers were laid for forty.

At the conclusion of the five-course dinner, a few short, clever toasts were given. Miss Ada Rice in "Reminiscences of Mainz" gave an interesting account of a visit to the birthplace and the scene of the struggles, the work, and the disheartening failures of the man who made printing a commercial possibility.

Miss Edna Barber gave a toast to "The Devil," "without whose presence no print shop would be complete, who is blamed for all the errors, and to whom much of the credit of a successful newspaper is due."

W. D. Hutchinson gave a concise and valuable talk on "Editorials, and Why," and Miss Izil Polson spoke of "The College Editor, his Trials and Tribulations." Prof. H. W. Davis read an original poem which met with great favor, and which could, with all regard for truth, be called a gem of thought—and sentiment.

Dean Clark Mills Brink, a guest of the club, gave a snappy extemporaneous talk. W. A. Sumner acted as toastmaster.

This was the first annual Gutenberg banquet of the Beta chapter.

Guests of the club were: Dean and Mrs. Brink, Mrs H. W. Davis, Mrs. J. W. Searson, Mrs. T. G. Taylor, Miss Constance Syford, Miss Emma Boerner, Miss Wilma Van Horn, Mr. Ralph H. Heppe, Mr. E. H. Hostetler, Mr. V. L. Polson.

The committee in charge of the banquet were: Prof. R. G. Taylor, chairman; Martha Tunstall, Mildred Branson, W. T. Douglas, Tom Blackburn.

THE MIDNIGHT VISITOR

BY MILDRED BRANSON.

"Listen!"

Edith and Florence sat up in bed.

Tap, tap, tap. A moment of silence. Then tap, tap, tap, is sounded again.

"What is it?" whispered Edith.

"How should I know? Just a screen banging or something," yawned Florence.

"No, it isn't a screen banging or something. I'll bet it is somebody trying to get into this house."

"Oh, I guess not. But if it is, I wish 'em luck. Let's go to sleep."

"Well, I won't go to sleep. Oh, I just knew something dreadful would happened if Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer left."

The D. B. girls from Rockhill were spending their Thanksgiving vacation with Margaret Sawyer. It had been a jolly party in the old farm house, but today Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer had been called away, and the girls were left to keep house alone.

Tap, tap, tap, came the mysterious sound.

"Oh, my goodness, whatever shall we do?" cried Edith.

"Let's call Kate. Maybe she'll know something about it. She's been here before."

Hand in hand the girls crept across the hall and entered the opposite room.

"Kate! Kate! Wake up! What's that funny noise?"

Kate slept on peacefully.

"Kate! Wake up! Wake up!" called Edith this time, shaking her violently.

"CH, COOH plus C2 H," muttered Kate.

"Oh, she's still talking about that stupid old chemistry. I do wish she would get it out of her mind just once. Kate!—there's somebody in the house or getting in or trying to get in, or—"

"Oh, get out! I don't want any burglar." Kate was beginning to wake up.

"That doesn't make any difference," remarked Florence. "You seem to be getting one, just the same."

"Oh, I do wish Miss Monroe or Mr. Sawyer or somebody else was here," cried Edith.

Tap, tap, tap. The strange tapping had begun again.

"Here he comes now," wailed the terrified Edith.

Kate listened intently.

"Oh, no," she said reassuringly. "I guess that's just a mouse in the wall."

"A mouse!" screamed Edith, looking wildly about. "Heavens! I do hope not. No, sir, I just know it's a burglar or two burglars or—"

"Well, let's go see what it is," interrupted the practical chemistry student.

"Oh, my goodness! He'd shoot us just as sure as anything."

"Come on, let's go."

With Kate leading the way they started down the stairs. As they approached the second floor, the knocking sounded again—this time more distinctly than ever.

Kate was growing more curious and a little bit frightened.

"Let's go get Margaret. Then we'll look around and see what it is."

Accordingly they descended to the first floor. Here Margaret and her roommate joined the procession. The mysterious tapping continued at brief intervals.

"It seems to be coming from the dining room. Let's look there," suggested Margaret.

All was dark.

"He must be out on the porch. Let's be quiet so he won't hear us," whispered Kate, as she bumped against the table.

"And then maybe we can slip up on him and see who he is," added Margaret, stumbling over a chair.

They crossed the dining room to a big window and looked out. No one was in sight. Carefully they raised the window and opened the screen. Everything was quiet.

Tap, tap, tap. This time it seemed to be directly over their heads.

The girls scurried back to Margaret's room.

"There isn't any burglar out there anyway," they reported. "The sound seems to come from upstairs. Let's look up there."

"Well, we'd better be careful or we'll have the whole crowd wakened up, and you know how cross it makes Betty to be disturbed, and Helen has a headache, too."

Tap, tap, tap.

"We got to know what that is, anyway," said Kate. "I'm going to find out if I have to disturb the whole neighborhood."

The entire procession started up the stairs. On the top step they halted.

"That sounds like it's in Helen's room," whispered Margaret to Kate. "You'd better go in and see if you can find anything."

"No, I'm afraid to. You do it."

"Well, I'm a little bit scared myself," confessed Margaret.

Tap, tap, tap.

"Oh, I just know Helen's gone," wailed poor Edith. "I just know the old burglar man has carried her off."

Margaret and Kate had never thought of that.

"Oh, do you suppose so," they chorused.

"Why don't you open the door together?" suggested Florence.

Together they started toward the door.

"Betty Brown," called a tearful voice. "Aren't you ever going to wake up? My head is about to split, and I've most pounded a hole in the floor with this old door knob."

HOME ECONOMICS, A BROAD FIELD

BY MRS. ELEANOR B. PATRICK

That the young women who graduate from schools of home economics should specialize along the various lines that are opening in this field rather than adhere to the one idea of training for instructing in cooking and sewing, is the thought uppermost in the minds of educational leaders.

Ever since home economics has been a part of the curricula of our schools and colleges, it has been the target of much criticism as to the narrowness of its scope, its limited vision, and kitchen-minded ideals. One of the great problems of the age is to find the right place for each individual; the place each is best fitted to fill; to give each the work that can be done best with joy and enthusiasm, not for self alone but for others as well.

The first thing for a girl to do in considering a career is to take a careful inventory of her assets for success for if she goes into a work with the idea that it is merely a transitory stage, a period of waiting for the prince of her dreams, or some other (unforetold) good, it were better at the start that she be disillusioned as to the outcome. The world over, human nature is the same, showing a constant sifting out of the chaff from the wheat.

The girl who seeks a career because she wishes to be of some service in the world will find that she has many qualities which will give her a tremendous advantage in certain lines of endeavor. All can call to mind instances of undreamed of resources called forth from girls who have been tenderly reared, never brought up to work, and never having learned how to make their own living. Then a great emergency comes, and one of these very girls shoulders the responsibility, develops powers and resources, ingenuity and originality and initiative, and manages to help not only herself but those left with her. And with a training such as colleges and other institutions are offering today, sending out girls superbly equipped, well educated, and practically trained, what may we not hope for?

There is, however, another phase of the situation. Our colleges are filling up with girls who have heard of the wonderful successes made by graduates of domestic science and domestic art courses. Following that lead, they have enrolled in colleges all over the country, counting on equally brilliant futures. But they have overlooked conditions. Those earlier graduates were older and brought with them, oftentimes, practical teaching experience, which, upon the completion of the four years' course in home economics, sent their working capital up to par.

Under present conditions the children in the grade schools and the high school are being given more advanced training than ever before. Therefore the freshman now entering college must specialize more than the freshman of even five years ago. In order to maintain a high standard of efficiency, and to be able to stand shoulder to shoulder with the more mature instructor of assured position, it will be necessary for the students of today to specialize more definitely along some one line of endeavor; to select that phase of the subject which appeals most strongly to them, and to have for that line of work a compelling desire to make it the best and most to be desired. But always the girl must choose work for which she has special aptitude.

There is such a tremendous field for women who are trained in domestic art that it seems strange indeed that so few enter it, unless it is because our colleges fail to offer courses in domestic art strong enough to attract. Certainly not all the girls who enroll in the course in home economics feel that their specialty is domestic science. But today there are more cooking teachers available than teachers of any other line of home economics.

There is also a demand for designers of furniture, wall paper, rugs and carpets, lighting fixtures, jewelry, lace, and all kinds of textiles. Women of training are succeeding in all these fields.

What one earns depends upon one's ability and the effort put into one's work, for never was there more call for such workers than today.

Physical education, too, is coming to be recognized as of great importance in the training of young people for service. Directors of physical training and education are found in all colleges and normal schools as well as in the public schools and recreation centers. There is a wide demand for trained supervisors and teachers for playgrounds. The work is interesting, and the salaries are good.

For the girl who is more interested in domestic science training, an intensely interesting field, in which there are more situations than can be filled, is the work of trained dietitians for hospitals. The dietitian not only must know food values and proper combinations of foods, but must be capable of selecting, from an economic and nutritive standpoint a diet suited to the peculiar needs of the person for whom it is intended. In substance she must know people. Emergency diet kitchens, places where scientifically prepared food as prescribed by physicians is obtainable have all proved successful.

Another inviting field is that of manager for lunch rooms and cafeterias for stores and factories, and for dining halls of women's clubs and colleges.

Trained housekeepers are in demand for college and school dormitories, hospitals, and sanatoriums. Cottage mothers are needed in orphanages, and housekeepers in settlement houses. This work calls for much executive ability and includes the buying of food and house furnishings of all kinds, the care of many rooms, the employment and discharge of workers and of course the supervision of every detail of the work.

Many women enjoy industrial chemistry and bacteriology as applied in testing milk and water and inspecting food manufacture. This public work is carried on by state boards of health.

It is contact with such real problems of life that has ever been a controlling factor in the development of all great men and women.

A JOCKEY'S REVENGE

BY HOWARD W. ORR.

"I'll get even with him," muttered Simp, as he sneaked away from the crowd of "swipes" who had gathered to hear Shorty tell how Simp had been bluffed out of some money in the Lincoln Derby.

The next day Simp was to ride Skeeter in the Kansas Derby, while Shorty was mounted on Dora, one of the swiftest little mares that ever wore a jockey's saddle. Of all the eneries, Skeeter and Dora were by far the fastest and Dora's chances were three to one in the betting ring. Simp had orders to win no matter what happened, but Skeeter was not in the best of condition and Simp knew that unless something happened, he would finish in Dora's dust.

His uneasiness and hatred for Shorty increased when he saw how fresh and well-groomed Dora was as she pranced down the stretch to the starting post.

After a few false breaks, the judge sent the whole field off in a bunch. As they rounded the first turn, Dora and Skeeter drew away from the rest and raced neck and neck down the back stretch, two lengths in front of the field. Dora had the pole and was hugging the inside fence, while Skeeter was scarcely a whip's length away. Simp saw his chance. He would crowd Dora into the fence and cripple her. The dust would prevent the judges and the trailing jockeys from seeing the cowardly trick. It was done in an instant. Dora swerved against the fence. There was a snap as a board broke and rattled on the track behind them. A protecting board slashed Dora's flank and hip like a huge knife.

The mare wavered, then struck her stride again, and raced after the fleeting Skeeter. The blood gushed forth while the torn flesh flapped up and down, throwing great blots of blood on the whitewashed fence. She gained. At the half she was in her old position. Could she hold it? Would not the loss of blood weaken her?

Simp cut Skeeter with his whip and he forged to the front. At the three-quarters, he led by a length. Then Shorty leaned forward and shouted in Dora's ear, just as he had shouted in a hundred other races. The mare responded and began to close up on Skeeter.

Simp began to whip furously. Only half a length separated them now. Could the mare gain that much in her weakened condition? Simp made one final effort to increase his advantage. Skeeter increased the pace, but the mare clung to his flank like a leech and crept forward. Twenty yards to go. Could she make it? No—yes—there! She darted under the wire with a stirrup's length to spare.

It was a sickening sight. Her once glossy side was now dyed a crimson red by her sparkling life blood. They hurried from the track and fifteen minutes later a pistol shot ended the suffering of the noblest little runner that ever stood behind a starter's rubber. Poor Shorty broke down and cried, as he looked into the dying eyes of his faithful horse. He sat beside her, patting and rubbing those sweat-covered legs long after they were cold and stiff.

WRITING STORIES FOR THE BOYS AND GIRLS

By ESTELLA M. BOOT

The writing of children's stories is comparatively new business. Although children have been on earth six thousand years, children's literature was unknown until within the last two centuries. Even in 1915, when writers innumerable lay siege to magazines, there is still a dearth of good children's stories. Much of the fare that is being dished up for American children would suffer, were it subjected to the test of literary pure food laws.

There are plenty of stories about children, but child delineation does not make a child's story. A librarian tells of a small girl who came to the desk and asked for "a good story for children." When the librarian offered her a well-known book, reputed to be a child's story, the discriminating little reader said, "No, I had that; and it's not a children's book." The librarian was non-plussed, and murmured that she had been under the impression that it was. "Well" amended the little girl, "it's not a childen's childen's book." And she knew whereof she spoke.

Booth Tarkington, George Madden, Martin, and a host of other writers, have been doing stories about children that interest grown-ups and make them laugh; but their stories are not funny to children. The matters recounted are serious affairs to children—they are a part of children's business in life. To illustrate: A speaker at a normal school, recently, told an audience of grown people about a boy who had written to him to ask how a stuffed rabbit's ear could be kept from curling. The adults thought the question ridiculous, and laughed long and loud. Later, one of the listeners asked the lecturer to talk to her pupils. "Tell them that funny story about the rabbit's ears," she said. Now the lecturer was a wise man and knew how it would be, but he complied with he request. No sooner had he repeated the boy's question than the room fairly bristled with hands. Twenty pupils wanted to furnish the information. Stuffed rabbit's ears are a part of the serious business of youth.

A cleverly written little story in one of the recent magazines is of this kind—the kind to amuse only grown-ups. It pictures very naturally the worries of an eight-year-old boy because he feared he was not "a part of the United States gov'ment," because he had never received a letter through a real post-office. His schemes for getting such a letter, and the scrapes he falls into thereby, provoke much mirth—on your part and mine. But no eight-year-old would laugh, were you to read the story to him. He would realize the seriousness of the problem that confronted the hero.

The writer of children's stories must get the child's point of view. Few people study children; and fewer still are able to construct a coherent story from the results of their study. But no one can write a successful story for children unless he understands his audience.

The canons of all short-story writing are applicable to the children's story, but with greater force. The period of attention in childhood is short. Children form a restless audience. You can't hold their attention for any outside or conventional reasons. The interest must lie in the story itself and must be paramount, even while the small listener is fondling a handful of fish-hooks, and knives, and strings, or whatever treasures may be unearthed from the depths of a handy and ever-present pocket. The ordinary child would rather do any one of a dozen things than read your story. Therefore you must "lasso, down, and tie him" in the first paragraph. But your compelling first paragraph is only a promise that must be fulfilled in the paragraphs that follow. One paragraph must push the reader on until near the end, the strongest point, known technically as the climax, is reached. But your reader must have scented that climax by the way you held him back from knowing just how the story would end, while you were at the same time baiting him on with hints of the outcome. In the language of the trade, you must create suspense and sustained interest. Then, when the end has been reached, stop! Bring your reader up with a gasp, but beware of prolonging that gasp into a sigh. In other words, steer clear of anti-climax.

Some things you must not do. You must not talk nonsense to a child—rather to anyone else. Children are men and women in nature, though not in development. And the writer of children's stories must take children seriously. Children want the true thing said to them in a true and fitting way. Platitudes can not be palmed off for wisdom, or baby-talk for simplicity. It's pretty hard to "fool" a boy.

Information should not be substituted for atmosphere. Children must be transported to a really-truly fairy land, or to a jungle whose vines actually grow denser while he reads. Juvenile readers are eager for facts, but they won't stand for the dumping into their stories of whole sections from the geography or the encyclopedia.

Then the love element must be kept out of your story. Children recognize that ther is love in the world, but to them it is colorless, dispassionate, sexless thing. Children have no business with and no interest in love affairs.

Sordidness and misery have no place in your story, either. In theii stead, cheerfulness and happiness will give the atmosphere which is childen's own by natural right. The trite story doesn't hold the interest of the healthy, normal child. The editor of The American Boy says that half the stories he receives are wretchedly trite. You know the type; the boy whose widowed mother can not pay the mortgage; or the poor girl who is kind to the unknown old lady, who proves to be rich and sends the girl to college; or the football story involving stolen signals, and the successful story-writer will not preach. He will hold up the worthy, but will follow the advice on the final page of the Book of Goops:

"When you practice virtue,
Do it with a laugh."

The moral will be none the less effective if it is discovered between the lines. Truthful, interesting stories are good tonics—as refreshing and stimulating as sunshine and seawater.

If you want to find out just how good your story is, before you send it to an editor, read it aloud to a group of not too polite children—children naive enough to manifest any boredom they may feel. They will let you know if you are too long-winded, if you talk over their heads, if you don't stick to the point, or if you violate other principles of good story-telling. If they lose interest, know well that your story is a failure.

When it comes to selling your story, you will find the editors of childen's magazines unusually discriminating. The editor must reject not only everything that is uninteresting to his juvenile readers, but everything that is objectionable to his most critical parent subscriber. For the editor is in a position of trust, and in a way guarantees that every story stamped with the seal of his approval is fit to enter the most carefully guarded home. He is conscientiously critical, and consequently difficult to please.

Furthermore, the market is limited. The number of juvenile publications is comparatively small. The amount paid for the stories is limited, too; for juvenile publications are not good advertising media, since children are not generally buyers of advertised goods. But this limitation is offset, in part, at least, by the lack of suitable story material. Editors say confidently that you will find a hearty welcome in the juvenile field. The editor of a well-known boys' paper says there is nowhere else the dearth of good stories that there is among boys' magazines. And any observant reader will agree that the periodicals exhibit a surprising absence of strong, wholesome stories for girls.

The Youth's Companion and St. Nicholas stand at the head of juvenile publications. The former, I am told, pays from twenty-five to fifty dollars each for the short stories it publishes every week. Daniel S. Ford, who, as editor, really formed the paper, once wrote to a young contributor to whom he was sending a small check: "With regard to continuing to write, I wish you would send me a story as often as you have a good plot and can work it out satisfactorily to yourself—even if this often comes as frequently as three times a month. Please remember that the Companion is a weekly paper and uses a large number of stories. In fact, I am really troubled to obtain satisfactory contributions more than I am troubled about anything else connected with the paper." To the same contributor he wrote later, "I should prefer to pay you fifty dollars for a story than to pay you twenty-five, as I do now, and I will pay you fifty each for your stories when they come up the required excellence."

The American Boy wants really good stories for boys. The editor, Clarence Budington Kelland, says: "Do you know that I have had personally to develop nearly every author writing for The American Boy. That bespeaks a bad condition. Really, you know juvenile work pays." This magazine wants good business stories of from 2500 to 4500 words, for boys from fifteen to sixteen years old. The rate of payment is fair and prompt, and the magazine is an altogether satisfactory market for a writer capable of doing good boy stories.

The Rapeco Magazine is a small monthly journal published by the Rogers Peet Co. as an advertising feature. Its editor wants stories for boys from ten to sixteen years old, preferably stories of adventure or of athletics. The call is for straight fiction of from 1500 to 5000 words, and the pay is moderate.

John Martin's Book is a new high class magazine for youngsters, and is quaint and droll. It calls for "active, virile, and helpful stories for boys from eight to ten, for good history, normal adventure, and funny pages."

The Boys' World, a David C. Cook publication, is in need of "live, up-to-date stories for boys from fourteen to eighteen years of age. These stories should embody adventure, heroism, and mystery, and the characters should be modern American boys."

Boys' Life (New York) needs short stories of from 200 to 300 words, "full of action that appeals to growing boys."

Whether your children's stories sell well or not, it is worth while to write them. The practice of clothing your thought in simple language is fine training for other kinds of writing. And there is always the possibility of doing something artistic. Many well-known writers are best known through work of this sort. Among such are Swift, Dickens, Stevenson, Kipling, and Mark Twain. It is a rare honor to be found working in company with such authors.

THE WAR'S EFFECT ON OUR INDUSTRY

By W. A. LATHROP.

Probably the most important question in the minds of the American people is: What American industrial situation will grow out of the present European conflict?

At the beginning of the war the industries of the United States were in the midst of slack times. This was attributed to various sources, such as the tariff, the federal banking law, and other considerations of seeming importance. The immediate effect of the declarations of war was to aggravate these existing conditions and the resulting stringency in the money market was most natural. To avoid a panic the financial interests took every precaution to prevent losses of any kind which would bring a drain upon the banks of the nation.

Up to the present time the industrial and financial conditions are far from desirable but the increasing optimism in the outcome from our point of view is being shown in all lines of activity. This increased optimism seems to point to a future of great importance and economic value to our industries.

At the outbreak of the war the exports and imports of Germany and France were cut off. Next to England and Canada, France and Germany were our largest customers. It was evident, then, that the United States had to find new markets for her products which had heretofore gone to these European countries.

Our attention was immediately turned to South America, where it was expected that our goods would find a ready market because of the inability of these countries to get the European products. It was soon discovered however, that the war had also closed the principal markets for the exports of the South American countries, which consisted of raw materials and food stuffs. The fact was then realized that it would be necessary for the United States to buy more of the raw materials of South America in exchange for finished products which the United States wished to sell.

The value of this experience to the manufacturers and business men of the United States lay in the fact that there were two big problems that they had not solved heretofore. First, the nation had never had a definite foreign trade policy, and second, the country had not been developing its natural resources to the best advantage.

With reference to this matter, it may be stated that the United States has never had to go after her customers to any great extent, as have the European countries, the profit from whose manufactures has been a great source of revenue. Our raw materials have always been in demand, and home consumption has taken a large part of our finished products. The manufacturers of Europe have, during this time, been buying our raw materials, and in turn supplying the markets of the world with the finished products. They have gone into new countries, developed the resources, and created markets for European products.

Take for example the South American market for German goods, where several methods have been employed to secure trade. The chief of these methods may be stated thus: (1) the industrial and financial interests of Germany have cooperated in establishing credit relations with these countries; (2) they have bought the raw materials which these countries have had for sale; (3) they have sent business men and engineers into these countries to develop their resources and create a demand for the German manufactured product. England and France have a similar foreign trade policy, while the United Staes has been to a considerable extent treated the same as South America. In other words, these European countries have been working their foreign-trade policy on the industrial resources of the United States by sending money and brains here to help develop our resources to provide in return a supply of raw materials for their manufacturers and a market for their finished products.

The war has also brought us to the realization of our second proposition—that we have not been developing our own resources to the best of our ability. As stated before, the first effect of the war was to diminish the market for our raw materials and render unobtainable many of the products which we have heretofore been importing.

Most notable of these imported products were the aniline dyes. Two months after the declaration of war the American manufacturers were facing the possibility of having to make white the fashion. Aniline dyes are derivatives of coal tar products, and coal tar passes off as volatile matter when coal is burned with insufficient oxygen. It is therefore present in the dense black smoke from all our factories and power plants that use soft coal as fuel. Coal tar is also a by-product from the manufacture of gas. So much of the raw material we possess as well as Germany, but the manufacturing of the derivatives from which the dyes are obtained is done largely in Eastern Prussia. We have been buying the coal tar products, or the first derivatives from the coal tar and from these have been manufacturing 30 per cent of our dyes, but we have not been saving our coal tar and manufacturing these derivatives. The other 70 per cent of our dyes we have been buying in the finished state.

In this connection it should be noticed that the manufacture of these derivatives is so interwoven with the other allied industries of Germany, such as the textile and chemical industries, that no one factory produces all the necessary ingredients. It is estimated that a complete plant for the coal tar industry in this country would have to be equipped to manufacture more than 700 different dyes. This would demand an enormous outlay of capital. If, however, our textile and chemical industries were developed like those of Germany, the production of these dyes would be much less expensive. Already steps are being taken along these lines, and, contrary to the expressed fears at the beginning of the war, our chemical industries are meeting the problem in an admirable manner.

Creosote oil, used as a wood preservative, is another coal tar product. Coal being cheap in this country, we have been sending creosote oil out into the atmosphere from our factories and power plants, and have each year purchased from 50,000,000 to 60,000,000 gallons from Germany. In this instance steps were already in progress, at the outbreak of t he war, which would better conserve our resources for the product; and, now that the foreign supply is entirely cut off, the American producers have thus far been able to meet the situation.

Ferromanganese is a compound which enters into the manufacture of Bessemer steel. We had, up to the beginning of the war, been importing this product from Germany and Austria. Since war was declared we have had to depend upon South America for our supply, and more recently we have come to realize that this compound exists in our own country in considerable quantities.

The tin can industry was threatened by a shortage of tin. Tin cans and other tinware are merely sheet steel coated with a thin layer of tin to prevent corrosion, and for this tin we have been depending upon other countries. Trade restriction limited our supply so that our own resources were more carefully investigated, whereupon it was found that there was plenty of the metal in our own country.

In like manner our nickel supply was threatened, but now American genius and industry is turning to the development of the great nickel resources of South America.

Platinum, a very expensive mineral used in the manufacture of incandescent electric lamps, has been imported from Russia. The cost of this metal is approximately $45 an ounce, and its use was due to its being the only metal which would fuse into glass and remain air-tight under the influence of temperature changes. Recently an alloy has been produced which has the same expansion coefficient as glass, so that now we can get along with less platinum and the price of the incandescent lamp has been materially reduced.

The potash industry has also been seriously affected by the war. The largest source of this product in the world is the Strassburg mines in Germany. Carbonate of potash, in which form the deposits occur, is refined and sold as lye for laundry purposes. Nitrate of potash, or saltpeter, as it is commonly called, is used largely in the manufacture of gunpowder and other explosives. It is used also as a fertilizer. Again we find American industry investigating our own resources and in this case discovering indications of large deposits of potash in Texas.

Another source of potash is in the ashes from kelp and seaweed washed up on the ocean shores. In this form potash is not commercially valuable in competition with the German mines, but it is said that in case of necessity the supply would be sufficient for our most necessary demands.

At the outbreak of the war only one-half of the orders for foreign-made toys had been shipped. It was impossible to get any more, and there was great fear that American children would not have their share of toys for the 1914 Christmas. American manufacturers took the matter into their hands, with the result that not only was every American child as well supplied as usual, but many toys were shipped to children in the war-stricken countries.

One could go on at length describing the articles which we have been importing but which we shall now either have to manufacture ourselves or provide substututes if we are to be an independent nation. The following are a few of the articles which are nominally imported by the United States but for which equivalents can be made here in our own country: carpets and carpeting, china (plain and decorated), cloths and clothing, feathers, downs, etc., furs, hides and skins, laces and embroideries, leather and leather products, linen fabrics, precious and semi-precious stones silks, velvets, plushes, etc.

These are only a part of the entire list. Besides these, there are a large number of articles which we cannot get without importing and for which substitutes will be required in the event of a long war. This list includes such articles as burlap, beeswax, beads, and like ornaments; certain chemical and medicinal preparations; motion picture films; perfumes, cosmetics and toilet preparations; and raw silk.

That America has before it a wonderful opportunity is beyond all doubt. The political whiners who have caused much of the business depression of the past two years, have fled before the impetus of the present business life. Indications are that the war will continue for some time to come and the American business and financial leaders are meeting the situation with the best of business sense and keen foresight.

We have in the United States most of the important natural resources of the European countries and, with better government co-operation with the manufacturers, and scientific research and investigation on a large scale, we can develop our industries so as to make our raw materials serve our own needs first. As has been pointed out, this is already taking place. It thus appears that a new industrial and economic era is at hand. In the words of J. P. Morgan, "The men who bet against the future of the United States will lose."

HISTORY OF QUILL

By W. A. LATHROP.

The Quill club at the Kansas State Agricultural College had its origin in the class in English practice under Prof. Carl Ostrom, during the winter term of the year 1913-1914. The members of the class conceived the idea of forming an organization, the sole purpose of which would be the cultivation of better literary expression.

Professor Ostrum favored this idea and called a special meeting of the class, with a few others who were interested, February 10, 1914. It was unanimously agreed that an organization should be formed, and accordingly, a committee was appointed to draw up a constitution. There being a Quill club at the University of Kansas, permission was obtained to use the same name for the proposed organization and on February 27, 1914, at the home of Miss Ada Rice, a constitution was formally adopted.

At this time there were the following eight students members and four faculty members in the club: E. A. Vaughn, president; Miss Nellie Aberle, secretary-treasurer; Miss Blanche Burt, R. E. Gwin, D. L. Miller, Miss Minnie Pence, W. A. Sumner, P. H. Wheeler, Prof. Carl Ostrum, J. W. Searson, Miss Ada Rice, and Prof. H. W. Davis. Regular meetings were held once a month in the Forum room in Fairchild hall. The programs consisted of original stories and feature articles. The attendance at these meetings was good, in view of the small membership of the club at that time.

Toward the end of the winter term the local club was invited to become the Beta chapter of the American College Quill club which the University of Kansas Quill was soon to organize. This invitation was accepted and the membership of the local club was increased to meet the requirements of the national council. The installation was held in the evening of May 23, 1914, Dr. Edwin Mortimer Hopkins of the university presiding as installing officer, assisted by Miss Ethelyn Miller, Miss Helen Rhoda Hoopes, and Edmund C. Bechtold.

The regular meetings of the local chapter are held on the second and fourth Monday evenings of the month. The meetings are interesting and are well attended by the club members, and by visitors who are always welcome. A source of unusual benefit to the club members lies in the liberal criticism and discussion of the numbers appearing on the programs. The annual meeting of the club is held in November in honor of Johann Gutenburg, who is popularly regarded as the founder of modern printing. A banquet, followed by numerous toasts, makes this a very enjoyable occasion.

The membership of the Quill club is drawn from students, members of the faculty, and others whose interests lie with the College. The application for membership must be accompanied by an original composition which may be fiction, narrative, literary essay, feature article, or dramatic composition of not more than 3,000 words and not less than 800 words. This composition is to be handed to the chairman of the waiting list (at present Miss Ada Rice), who will present the composition to the membership committee without the name of the author. On the recommendation of this committee the applicant is eligible to membership in the club.

Initiations are held in May and November and applicants are required to have their compositions in the hands of the chairman of the waiting list by the first of April or of October.

In the selection of the All-5th District basketball team the writer took into consideration the balance of the teams as selected. Each five possesses a pair of reliable forwards and a good center. Also each has a close guarding backfield, and a free thrower or two capable of caging the single points on a great majority of the attempts.

Dirk Leads First Five.

Around Captain Dirks, of the Mound Ridge combination, the first five is built. Not only is this clever player reliable from the field but he is also reasonably certain to gain 90 percent of his free chances. In the championship contest against the Dickinson five he caged 12 out of 14 tries from the white line and threw ten buskets from the field. D. Taylor, of Chapman, is given the captaincy and center position on the second team. Knostman of Wamego, also a clever center is shifted to a guard position on the second five.

In Callahan and Wilhoitte, the first team is equipped with a pair of fast forwards. Each of the men is expert in point piling and sufficiently alert to keep the opposing guards from breaking into the score column with any great degree of regularity. Monniger, of Dickinson, and Starkey, of Minneapolis, draw the forward jobs on the Collegian's second string team. These players showed class but not in amounts equal to the first team pair.

Voran Best Defensive Man.

The diminutive Voran, of the Mound Ridge championship aggregation was easily the best defensive man of the series. His continued doggish fight throughout the Mound Ridge-Dickinson county championship game spoiled many of the Chapman team's chances and kept the score of that team very low considering the cleverness of Dickinson's forwards. Thompson, of Wamego, draws the other guard position on the first string team. Not only is this player a good guard but he is also a clever free thrower. Buehler, of Mound Ridge, and Knostman, of Wamego, are given the guard positions of the second team. Knostman was easily the third center of the series and should be able to assist the second team in scoring and on the defense. Sprinkle, of Salina, and Cowell, of Clay Center, deserve special mention as their work classed them but a scant margin behind the men chosen for these teams.

Bowdoin Athletes Good Students.

According to a census computed at Bowdoin college, men engaged in eight kinds of athletics are above the average of the college in scholarship. The average of the entire institution is represented by 12.3, while the average of the athletes is 14.8. Cross-country runners stand highest among the athletes with 17.3, and tennis, which is the only sport below the general average, ranks lowest, with an average of 10.

Strong Man at Michigan.

Roy W. Johnson, a husky 180-pounder, is believed to be the greatest strong man unearthed at the University of Michigan. The gymnasium authorities believe that with a little training this youth will be able to take away the title of 'strong man' from the present holder, Willam Roos of Yale. Johnson's greatest strength is in his grip. With his right hand he can push the needle around to 210, while Roos can make but 148.

K. U. Prepares for Meet.

To get the men into better condition for the dual meet with the University of Missouri, on Friday night at Kansas City, Manager Hamilton of K. U. has erected a track on the open space on McCook field. It is fifty yards in length and may be used for hurdling and sprinting. One of the causes of the good condition of the Missourians at the present time is the fact that they have been working on a similar track whenever the weather permitted.

Fresh air, and lots of it, serve to keep the athlete in better competitive shape than the drudgery of the indoor grind and the next two weeks should work wonders with the Jayhawker squad.

It appears to the close student of the track situation that the coming meet is going to be full of uncertainties. The Tiger coaches did not show a full hand at the K. C. A. C. meet and it is up to the Kansas students to show a great burst of interest and ability.

WORKOUTS ARE HANDICAPPED

PRESENT WEATHER CONDITIONS SERIOUSLY HINDER BASEBALL AND TRACK WORKOUTS—INDOOR WORK BENEFITS LITTLE.

PLAY FIRST GAME ON APRIL 6

With the present weather conditions prevailing in Aggieville, baseball and track workouts are seriously handicapped. The first baseball game of the 1915 season will be played on College Field April 6 and from the present outlook the players will not be in any too good shape. Indoor work under the restrictions of Nichols gymnasium does not offer any real amount of benefit to the diamond athletes. Track work does not suffer to any great extent.

During the fall term, Professor Lowman negotiated with several university and college baseball managers in Oklahoma for a spring training trip for the Aggies through Oklahoma. The plans failed to carry owing to the ruling of the Missouri Valley Conference hindering a member of the conference from playing more than 18 games during a season. The least number of contests that the Lowmanites could have played and made expenses would have cut the home season out of reasonable proportions.

But it does seem that could this spring training trip have been handled the players would have been in excellent shape to meet their Missouri Valley opponents. There would have been no end to the fight for positions on the training trip.

ARRANGE TENTATIVE PROGRAM

Annual Relay Race Carnival Will be Held in Philadelphia.

A tentative program has been arranged for the twenty-first annual intercollegiate and interscholastic relay race carnival at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, Friday and Saturday, April 23 and 24. The athletic authorities of the University of Pennsylvania plan to run the interscholastic championships together with the pentathlon and special events on Friday, while the championships for colleges, high, and preparatory schools and universities will be decided on Saturday According to the time schedule, eight relay championships will be decided in one hour and a quarter.

Eleven track and six field events are set for the opening day of the carnival, the field events including the penthathlon, while five open track events, eight relay championship races, and six field events are scheduled for the closing day of the meet.

PLACE BAN ON CIGARETTES.

Bill Would Prevent State Aid for Institution Having Smokers.

Students at the University of Wisconsin are wondering what is going to happen next. Some time ago a bill was introduced in the legislature to bar them from the luxury of living outside the state. A short time later another bill was introduced to bar them from the very agreeable privilege of voting.

Last week the climax to the anti-student-enjoyment legislation was reached when Assemblyman McGowan of Adams county introduced a bill for the purpose of preventing students and faculty members as well from smoking cigarettes.

The proposed legislation provides that no state aid be granted to an institution which has students or faculty members who smoke cigarettes. It is alleged that 15 percent of the students and an equal number of faculty members are users of cigarettes.

To Have Newspaper Short Course.

Iowa's weekly newspaper men are to have a short course all their own at the Iowa State College, March 18, 19, and 20. This special "school" was authorized by the state board of education at its meeting in Des Moines. It is to be a place where newspaper men can come together to study their special problems and to work out a solution for them with the help of practical men. The instruction will deal with the important phases of agriculture because the men back of the short course believe the future success of country journalism is closely linked with rural prosperity and happiness.

MEXICO U. FOUNDED IN 1553

Is Second Oldest University on the Western Hemisphere.

The University of Mexico is one of the oldest on the western continent. The date usually assigned as its beginning is 1553, and it is antedated only by the University of San Marcos, Lima, Peru. During the entire colonial period the university had a continuous and honorable history. With the political independence of the country came a change in its status.

The centennial year of 1915 witnessed the first important change in the manner of organization and administration of the University of Mexico. The inaurugation of the new Universidad Nacional de Mexico was one of the elaborate festivities that marked the centennial celebration. The independent faculties were formed by breaking up the old colonial system and the new institution was next formed by the amalgamation of the existing schools.

Important adjuncts of the university are the two museums of natural history and of Mexican archeology, ethnology, and history. These institutions are more than museums as they maintain staffs of professors and conduct classes in their respective specialties. The classes in Mexican history, archeology, ethnology, and Aztec language enjoy a considerable measure measure of popularity.

SHOW LACK OF PERSONALITY.

Policies of American Newspapers is Wrong, Says Prof. Carl Fish.

"The fundamental policies of American newspapers are wrong," declared Prof. Carl Russell Fish in an absorbing half hour's talk before the Wisconsin Press club on "The Soft Spots of American Journalism."

"English newspapers are written for the upper class, but American papers are written for the under class and the upper has to read them," he said.

"This feature of American journalism is responsible for the fact that our newspapers have a tendency toward the bizarre rather than the notable."

Professor Fish's talk was sprinkled with a subtle humor which kept his audience in continual expectancy. He emphasized that the newspapers should make interesting the usual, everyday occurrences, rather than devote their pages to presenting the unusual with an over supply of color; that reporters should strive to portray some of the real, individual habits and traits of the characters of their stories; and that the local newspaper of the community should not try to put national news before local.

True Love and a "Crush."

Serious scientific inquiry is the object of the University of Chicago co-ed as is indicted by the following exshange:

There are four kinds of love—self-sacrificing, selfish, infatration and mere affection.

Miss Carol Cody, a University of Chicago co-ed, says so. She's "sweet and twenty," and engaged, and is confident she knows all about what poets, philosophers and writers of romance have tried to define. Here are her conclusions:

"True love or self-sacrificing is the highest type of expression of which a woman is capable. It is the only approach to happiness.

"Selfish love is the kind that makes a brute of a man in a panic; that causes a woman to forget her baby when her house is afire.

"Infatuation is a kind of 'crush' that makes a girl forget every one else except the object of the 'crush.'

"Affection is practicing love without understanding it."

DECIPHERS ANCIENT LAWS.

Babionian Tablet Containing Earliest Law Code has Been Unearthed.

A Babylonian tablet, belived to have been buried in the earth more than 4,000 years and containing the earliest law code, recently has been unearthed and is now in possession of Yale University. The tablet is heavily encrusted, but part of it has been cleaned and deciphered.

The laws are written in the Sumerian language, the language of southern Babylonia, prior to its conquest by the Semites or Accadians in the time of Hammarabi.

The laws that have been translated refer to legislation; concerning injury to women; the repudiation of children who have perhaps been adopted; elopement; the hire of boats and cattle, and provision for the killing of a hired ox by a lion.

These laws are believed to have been written about 2500 B. C.

A FLY.

A fly flew into Joe Cooper's shop.
He flew toward the razor and he flew
toward the strop;
He flew toward the mug and flew
toward the chair,
And said:

This fly, he told his flylets
That they should never stop

One flylet did not take his heed,
And flew right in with terrific speed.
He flew around here and there
And finally lit right on the chair.
This man, Joe Cooper, was on the

And swatted the fly right on the bean.
Poor fly is now in Tiperary—
That's why they call it SANITARY.

LURE CADETS

PLOT DISCOVERED TO ABDUCT ROOKIES AND CONVEY THEM BY UNDERGROUND RAILROAD TO EUROPEAN WAR ZONE.

INVOLVES 2 FACULTY MEN

Trap Discovered in Anderson Hall by Dean Brink—Underground Tunnel Led to Searson's Cellar Which Was Gang's Stronghold.

That Lieut. Roy A. Hill is Count Drilsweatcusky in disguise; and that Professor J. W. Searson is in reality a German spy working under the personal orders of Kaiser Wilhelm; and that the Kansas Agricultural College cadets are being kidnapped and conveyed by underground railway methods to the European war—these are some of the astonishing discoveries that have been brought to light during the last few hours.

The horrible, blood-curdling facts were uncovered when a trap was discovered in Anderson hall where "Chief" Haucke, a prominent football player, was being lured into an underground passage beneath the building. Dean Clarke M. Brink is responsible for the discovery. Walking through the main hall shortly after chapel yesterday morning, he heard screams. Running to the rear of the telephone booth he discovered a hole in the wall from whence the screams were coming. Dashing fearlessly in, the brave dean of the College found the diminutive Haucke lying helpless on the floor, surrounding by his daredevil abductors.

Brink Rescues Haucke.

Around him were "Buck" Smith, Paul D. Buchanan, Nicholas Enns, Mickie Welsh, "Bob" Hannah, and "Andy" Anderson. In a voice of thunder Brink called for order. The conspirators frightened at their discovery, fled away through their tunnel leaving Dean Brink to rescue the fast tiring Haucke.

The "Chief" released, told a tale of how by keen cunning and many bribes of moochings of Piper he had been lured to enter the secret passage where he had been waylaid and gagged and bound in preparation for his trip to Europe via the underground railway.

Grasping a pair of fire extinguishers left by the fleeing villians, the pair groped their way through the tunnel in a generally easterly direction. After about what seemed an hour's traveling Dean Brink's trusty eyesight spotted a light in the distance. Creeping cautiously forward, they came to the end of the tunnel. Imagine their surprise when they found themselves in Professor Searson's cellar on Fremont street. Before them, the conspirators were all gathered about a wireless telegraph instrument on a table, and all were conversing in rapid German.

Searson Emissary of Kaiser.

Brink and Haucke listened and discovered that they had stumbled into the stronghold of the gang. From the message that was going out over the wires it was plain that they were already in communication with Berlin. Searson was seen to be the personal emissary of Kaiser Bill.

Judging from what the others called him, Hill was none other than the famous counterfeiter and four-flusher, Count Drilsweatcusky, who for a few years was a famous general in the German army and had led his country to victory in 1871. He had been sent to Manhattan to spy on the latest methods of planting potatoes and was on the point of returning to Germany.

Around the room, in the corners, were seen some dozen Aggie rookies, gagged and bound ready for shipment via the weekly Blue Valley Sunday freight edition, for Germany. The message over the wire was telling Berlin that reinforcements would be shipped as soon as the Blue Valley round house manufactured another cart wheel for its sole Ingersoll engine. Plans were disclosed which proved that this daring crew was crimping the entire Aggie cadet corps as rapidly as they could be spirited away.

Raid the Joint.

Fearing discovery, the two brave investigators fled back through the passage-way and out into the air. The startling news was phoned to Prof. W. O. Hamilton, who immediately summoned his assistant, Dean Justly Terrible Willard, and proceeded to raid the joint. The entire gang was apprehended, the wireless instruments confiscated, and the rookies revived and released. The attennae of the wireless plant were found concealed in the chimney of the raider spy's house.

DISTURBED CHURCH SERVICES.

Colt and Rose Will be Tried Before Students Council.

Arrested for disturbing the church services by applauding in the midst of prayer by the Right Reverend Clarke M. Brink in English literature last Tuesday morning was the fate of James Colt and Harrold Rose. The culprits were apprehended by Sheriff Dickens, the original "Keep Off the Grass" cop and lodged safely behind the bars of the Manhattan bastile. They will be tried before the Student council at its weekly smoker and knitting bee at the Sigma Nu house tomorrow night.

The news of the arrest will come as a distinct surprise to those who know these two kind, gentle, loving sons of Pilsner and Piper. The cause of the outburst seemed to be centered in "Bud's" remark—"Well, why didn't you tell me you wanted to hear that kind of a story?"

SOLVE BROKEN SWING PLOT

ETA BETA PORCH SWING WAS BROKEN WEEKS AGO AND MYSTERY HAS BAFFLED THE CLEVEREST MINDS.

FIND WEIGHTS OF FAIR CO-EDS.

Even as the great presses that turn out this sheet are revolving the last scattered threads in one of the greatest mysteries of the decade are being drawn together and the authorities stand ready to secure the guilty parties at the first suspicious move. For weeks and weeks this enigma has baffled the cleverest minds on the hill but the list of suspects is growing Smaller, the clues are fitting together and the net of circumstances is being drawn tighter and tighter around the culprits.

The Collegian has spared neither time nor money to get at the heart of this matter; in order to handle it scientificately the reporters on the case took a course in deteckating from a popular correspondence school and it is only by following their latest and most advanced methods that we are able to announce progress in the baffling case.

Three weeks have elapsed since the porch swing at the Eta Beta house was broken but the time is nearly at hand when the guilty parties will be apprehended and several innocent persons whose names have been under a cloud since that fateful evening, will be cleared.

The first step in the solving of the mystery was taken some time ago when samples of the chains were tested in the engineering laboratories and the tensile strength and breaking point under various conditions were determined. Next the weight of the swing itself was ascertained and deducted from the results obtained in the tests. The remainder naturally represented the combined weights of the guilty parties and here for the first time the men on the case were baffled.

An exchange of letters with headquarters straightened things out and the investigation was again taken up with renewed vigor and enthusiasm.

Truth Seekers Rewarded.

In various disguises the truth seekers took turns haunting the penny scales in front of Harrison's and after many days their perseverence was rewarded and they now have a complete list of members and their actual weights. Two attempts have been made to steal this valuable paper but it is still locked in the office safe and will not be made public unless it is found necessary to help clear some innocent party.

The weights of the male suspects were secured from the athletic department and it only remained to run through the two columns and find the two whose sum plus the weight of the swing itself was equal to the breaking point of the chains. The only flaw in the hypothesis is the fact that Dave Grey started to school before the present system of measurements was established and so far no data has been secured on him. But as soon as this is accomplished the case will be complete and officers of the law will be notified to do their duty.

ABDUCT THE PHI PHI SWING

BOLD SEIZURE OF POPULAR SWINGING "LOVE" ROCKER WAS MADE AT MIDNIGHT WHEN ALL WAS STILL.

HIDE IT IN BETA BASEMENT

Was Daring Trick, at Least so Thought "Nick"—And so did he of the Soft, Slow Tread, the Lanky "Fred."

It was the dead of midnight and all was still 'round the Phi Phi house. Not a moving thing stirred, not even a mouse. Occasionally a gentle breeze whispered through the leafless trees, and now and then came a squeak that made one's blood run cold and freeze. The moon remained unseen behind its screen of thick, black clouds, and the night became blacker and blacker 'mid its enfolding shrouds.

Slowly and stealthily there crept up to the porch two figures that lighted their way with an electric torch. Up the steps they made their way and then in hiding there they lay. But once more when all was still they started out thir mission to fulfill.

Make Way With Swing.

At one end of this south-facing porch there hangs a swing whose chains are known to clink and ring. Toward this the figures crept with slow, soft tread and 'tis said one answered to the name of "Fred." When they had reached the swinging bench, from his pocket one drew a monkey wrench, and then with fingers deft and true proceeded the bolts thereto unscrew. Soon the chains hung loose and free just as the court house clock struck three. Deftly the swing was hoisted o'er the rail and then the culprits proceeded to turn tail.

In the basement of the Beta house tis said the swing reposed, disturbed not even by a mouse. Right there for many a day it lay while accusations fierce and strong were heaped upon an unsuspecting throng.

It really was a daring trick, at least so thought the fairhaired "Nick." And so did he of the slow, soft tread, you know we mean the lanky "Fred." But just the same one still, dark night this intrepid pair, shivering with fright, returned the swing to the Phi Phis fair and never again have they visited there.

W. F. SMITH GETS 30 DAYS.

Put in Lock-Up for Disturbing Peace at 601 Manhattan Avenue.

Walter F. Smith, the genial cash-grabber for Royal Purple Volume VII, was hailed into court Monday morning for disturbing the peace. Neighbors have been hearing doleful sounds from the upper story of the residence at 601 Manhattan avenue, and Monday at midnight the strong arm squad from down town broke in. Mr. Smith was pumping wind through his bear-tone horn and never noticed the difference. On trial the police judge said: "Thirty days. I can sympathize with the prosecutor for I have a Tomcat in my neighborhood."

Prof. Rollo Miller reports that his classes contain an unusually good looking bunch of girls this term. Ah, there, Rollo!

RUN JITNEYS ON MAIN WALK

Board of Deans Draw up Ordinance After Severe Accident Last Night to Dr. Robert Christian.

That Grant cars, Fords, and all cycle-cars will be allowed to run on the main walk beginning next week is the gist of an agreement and an ordinace draw up by the board of deans following the severe accident to Dr. Robert Christian which occurred at the corner of Fourth and Poyntz last night. While rounding the corner Dr. Christian (horse not human) was making a difficult left hand squeeze and right hand drive when along came "Shorty" Fowler on a velocipede and smashed into the defenseless Ford. Fowler picked himself up out of the gutter and brushed the dust of his Monkey-Ward three wheeler while six physicians rushed to the scene of the accident to administer to the last wants of "Doc" Bobby. It was found that aside from a small scratch where a piece of tin slid across his face. Dr. Christian was uninjured. As soon as the sympathetic people of Manhattan jar loose with two more tomato cans the three cans will be shipped to Detroit to secure Bobby a new gadabout.

ARE SOCIETIES ANGELIC?

PAST AND PRESENT OF LITERARY SOCIETIES WAS INVESTIGATED LAST SATURDAY BY A LOCAL CATFOOTED SHERLOCK.

A COLLEGIAN CUB SAYS NO

Webs Meet Behind Closed Doors—Franklins Put on Clog Dancing—Hamps would Increase Membership to 250—Brownings Have Kid Party.

Saturday night the catfooted Collegian cub looked into the past and present of the literary societies of the hill and almost got in bad because he saw so much. The Webs meet behind closed doors. "The trouble with we fellows," said Bundy, "is that we browse about like a bunch of dopes. Let's introduce a little beer into the crowd and make a jovial peppy evening of it."

The Euros spent a sleepy afternoon. Ella Miltner snored a little but the president was too polite to rap for order. The Franklins put on a great exhibition of clog dancing. "People," said Jay Lush, "it's only 123 days till our engine ride and we little Franklins can chew cones and all be happy."

The Ionians and Alpha Betas meet in joint session to consider amalgamating. 'Ladies," quoth an A. B. "We'uns have got the orators, but you people have shore got the looks." Wallace D. Hutchinson objected because certain Ios were not on speaking terms with him. Cookies and cider were served.

Hamps Want New Members.

The Hamps discussed new names. "Fellows," orated "Red" Rammage the prominent floorleader, "I propose that we extend our membership limit to 250. There are only 150 now and I do not know half of them so an extension cannot hurt." The Athenians held a closed session and the debate team ran signals and practiced falling on the ball. 'Brethren," said Lathrop, "You know we lost all of our keen men last year. It's up to us to hunt up some more of 'em. Where'll it be? Also if you see any goodlooking chickens kindly introduce them to the Brownings. Every little bit helps." The Brownings had a kid party with Wilma Searson and held no afternoon session.

After society various members sneaked back into the gym and held a dance. "But it'll never do to let the great unwashed do such a thing," explained Fat Coxen, "You see they'd be like a bunch of cattle and ruin the floor so we couldn't dance any more."

"BUCK" IS SOME CUT-UP.

Blushes to Roots of Curly Hair When Host in D. S.

It was a pork roast. And that is only the beginning. It was beautifully trimmed around the edges with dressing, most artistically arranged—before Buck Smith began to carve.

"Buck" was host. Grasping the feeble and antiquated corn knife extended to him by the waitress, he attacked the business of carving and serving, calmly. He had done it before and was perfectly confident and self-possessed—at first.

But the roasting process on this particular pig had only gone about half far enough. Though bravely speared, the meat held its own. It skidded across the platter. Exit some of the dressing over the edge onto the spotless linen. "Buck" begins to blush and into his eye comes a determined gleam. He goes after the piece of meat and back it scoots toward him. Exit more dressing and Buck retreats in haste. Finally after a prolonged tussle he lifts the plate—minus all the dressing—and passes it around requesting everyone to help themselves.

Debate Oklahoma Friday.

The Oklahoma A. & M. Team will wrangle with the Kansas Aggies Friday night at the auditorium on "Military service." There will be an opening stunt by the Forum. The negative Aggie team will argue in Colorado the same evening. This will be the best debate of the season.

Elect Basketball Captain.

Adams, forward on the 1915 basketball team was elected captain of the 1916 five at a meeting of the 1915 letter men on Monday. The following men received letters for their services this season: Captain Jones, Captain-elect Adams, Leonard, Bengston, Reynolds, McIlrath, Ramsey, and MacMillan.

THE GREEN NUMBER.

With this issue of the Collegian the scandal of the Hill is dealt out to the breathless and unsuspecting public. The board of censorship is responsible for much that is not herein printed. For what is included no one is responsible but the office boy, the "devil" and the linotype operator. And he has had to read it all.

LOCK WIRT OUT OF CLASS.

Farm Mechanics Prof. Arrived Late at First Hour Class.

Wireless reports received from the College wireless station early last night state that F. A. Wirt arrived late at a first hour class Tuesday morning and was locked out by members of the class who have suffered the same fate at the hands of the relentless prof. upon many an occasion.

This farm mechanics instructor is one of those who believe in calling the roll and taking up class while the echo of the last clap of the 8 o'clock bell is still resounding among the hollows of Prospect hill. For once, however, he arrived late himself, was locked out of class, and, as the reports have it, could not see the joke.

BID FOR MILITARY PLUMS

DISCARD MERIT SYSTEM—SEND CADETS TO FRISCO AND FIT OUT TANGO TEA ROOM WITH THE PROFITS.

SWAT DIRECTED AT HIGH-UPS.

Beginning with the spring term, the scandal reporters are able to announce with assured asininity, that the military department has decided to put an end to the present pure, simple, virtuous way of distributing officers by the merit system and substitute a method by which the commissions, the military plums, shall be knocked down to the highest bidder.

During the last four years cadet officers have been selected by the pure sweet merit system. The change to the pecuniary method is therefore a pleasant surprise to many struggling kay-dets, who stand as much chance for promotion under the old regime as a snowball—oh Well.

Swat the Higher-Ups.

"We believe the new system will be a direct swat at the higher-ups," announced an authority yesterday. "You see I have little chance to pick my officers because of my banking, boning for something better than a shavetailship, etc.; but if the regiment really has to have a colonel why can't the plum fall to the highest bidder instead of a politician?"

"The profits from the sale of offices can be used to advantage to send the good little cadets to San Francisco in 1915, and the remainder ought to fit out a tango tea room in the commissary department with upholstered leather chairs and "fixin's," Lieutenant Mosier will look after all the little details.

Deserving Men Not Officers.

"In times gone by this department has diligently neglected to promote men who deserved it, such as Bixby, the record man of last year, and has carefully picked out men who wouldn't be apt to fall over their sword at a pink tea battle.

"If the sale of commissions does not bring in enough to further our plans, I intend to contract with the 'Whirly-Girly Girls,' or the 'Queen of the Moulin Rouge' and have my good men sell tickets over town at 50 cents a head. The principal idea of this change is to obtain plenty of funds and raise the standards among the cadets. I feel sure that the sale of offices will fulfill a long felt want."

Frosh Win Interclass Meet.

The freshman won the fourth annual indoor track and field meet held in Nichols gymnasium on last Saturday afternoon by a final score of 71 points. The sophomores tooke second place with 39 points and the juniors third with an even twenty tallies.

Just for Fun.

"Now, Tommy," reprimanded his mother, "don't let me catch you throwing any more stones."

"Well, what will I do when the other fellers throw 'em?" asked Tommy.

"Just come and tell me," his mother replied.

"Tell you!" he exclaimed in astonishment. "Why you couldn't hit the broad side of a barn!"—Lippincott's.

OH, HORRORS!

WAR DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS SEIZE D. E. LEWIS AS PERPETRATOR OF PLOT TO FURNISH ALLIES WITH MOTOR VEHICLES.

FIND 2 IN HORT BASEMENT

Involves Signal Corps—Lewis Denies All Connection With Conspiracy—Try Case in Supreme Court—Released Lewis Under $10,000 Bond.

Early this morning one of the boldest of conspiracies known to the United States War Department was disclosed when D. E. Lewis, well-known horticultural instructor, was seized as the perpetrator of a plot to furnish the allied armies with motor vehicles to be used in the transportation of troops.

War department officials have been watching the basement of the horticultural building for some time and it was only yesterday that they were certain that this daring conspiracy centered around this popular horticultural instructor. Further it was found that the Kaw State All Cowards cadet corp's wireless station was being used to keep in touch with French and English army officers, thus involving "Sailor" Cushman, captain of the signal squad, and other prominent members of the military department.

Denies Connection With Plot.

When Mr. Lewis was seized at an early hour this morning at his home, 1819 Poyntz, he denied all connection with the plot but later at the Manhattan lock-up, where he was guarded by six U. S. deputies who kept him covered with automatic six-shooters, he admitted to a Washington official that he was in communication with the French government, but refused to state for what purpose. Immediately after his seizure an inspection of the basement of the horticultural building was made and two motor vehicles, a Ford and an Oakland, were discovered.

Mr. Lewis has waived a preliminary trial and his case has been bound over to the Supreme Court. Until the date of his trial, which has been set for April 1, Mr. Lewis has been released under $10,000 bond which has been signed by M. F. Ahearn, F. S. Merrill, and Albert Dickens.

HEAR COLLEGE HORN BUSTERS

Ozment Will Invade Chautauqua Field This Summer With Ballyhoo Organization of Shyster Musicians.

Burr H. Ozment, leader of the College horn busters and near-harmony makers, will invade the Chautauqua field next summer and will be accompanied by 20 of his best music defilers. We hate to think of the poor ginks that pay their good dimes to hear this ballyhoo organization of shyster musicians. Already Perfessor Ozment has begun the training of these musical upstarts. Such numbers as "John Brown's Body Lies Moldering in the Ground," "My Country 'Tis of Thee," "How Dry I Am," and many other patriotic and semi-religious pieces will be included in each program. The organization will be novel in one respect. They expect to carry a stove with the outfit to cook up all of the fruit and vegetables that they are able to rescue from the angry mob of common boobs after each performance.

STUDY KANSAS CITY POST

F. C. Winship Will Use It as Model of Moral Tone.

Fred C. Winship, the popular English teacher, announces that he intends to have his classes study the Kansas City Post as a model of moral tone, style, etc. "Of course," he said, "I'll surprise them by giving the examination out of the text which they have never studied, but 'Ish ki bibble.'" Evidently Fred has for his motto: "Says I to myself, says I, the Post is the paper to buy."

Mathematics Club Meets.

The Mathematics club will meet in M-30 Friday at its regular session. An interesting program has been prepared. Jack Richards will talk on, "The Hypotenuse on the Square." Professor Remick will sing "Rescue the Perishing." All boners are invited.

THE GREEN NUMBER.

It is here, the GREEN number. We could not wait until the end of the year to dish out some of the campus scandal so took advantage of the fact that St. Patricks Day falls on Wednesday this year. We sincerely hope that your Irish wit will come to the rescue and help you see through some of the scandal herein printed.

New, inexperienced, young, are some of the meanings given to this word "green" by the honorable Webster. We confess that we are new, inexperienced, and young, at this scandal game and we hope that you will take our offering with due regard.

Dancing with the same girl all evening is like making love on the installment plan—a little bit each time. —Ohio State Lantern.

A GREEN EDITORIAL.

Of course green numbers are not to be taken seriously. Neither are green editorials. As a matter of fact we never take anything seriously that is green, not even a freshman. You know anything that is green signifies that it is growing, hence there is a hope for better things.

Of course we didn't expect that this number would be read, green is too far from that color in the spectrum for any such hopes. And so, knowing that it couldn't be read, we printed it on green paper signifying that there were hopes that this green stuff would in time be read!

One swallow doesn't make a summer, but a couple of swallows have made many a fellow think he was a bird.—N. Y. Times.

OBSERVATIONS.

Well, what's going to be done about that objectionable billboard at the south entrance to the campus?

Students council, is it not about time to take in hand the innocent freshmen who are fond of partaking of the weed just outside the south gate?

Is the discipline committee asleep? A quart whiskey bottle was found concealed in one of the hollow posts of the stair rail in Kedzie hall the other day.

Prof. Albert Dicken's latest horticultural book is just off the press. Its title is, "Principles of Manhood."

"Jitney" Ford: Say, Merrill, give me a chew.

Merrill: I'm just out of it this morning.

By actual count 76 cigarette butts were found on the campus along the walk betwen the south gate and the auditorium. And yet there is a rule against smoking on the campus.

One of the most discouraging things in the world is to see a talkative barber shaving a deaf mute.—N. Y. Times.

Dean C. M. Brink is delivering a series of uplifting lectures in English literature classes these days.

One of the most justly accused people on the campus these days is Ralph C. Erskine. Most everybody takes him for the editor of Spotlight.

Talk about dissenters! The Kansas legislature is a living example.

A new one on us: the man who sits on his letters to seal them.

Wanted: Somebody to interpret the jokes in the Spotlight.

That never-ending string of talk that "Grandpa" Buchanan turns out would do credit to a British ambassador.

One of our cub reporters remarked the other day that he had just got the point to a joke cracked in chapel last fall term by Prof. J. W. Searson.

It is reported on good authority that cold storage space will be scarce in Manhattan this summer as Prof. H. W. Davis has leased all the possible room for the preservation of his poetry during the hot months.

Wireless reports from the front, closely censured, have it that E. H. Smith has been seen with a 'date" lately.

F. C. Winship takes it that a force that would be considered large on a metropolitan daily is putting out the Collegian. In one breath he is reported to have said, Tell the boys to get out and hustle the ads, send some of your reporters up her to copy off this dope, and—by that time the cub made a hasty exit.

"SPARTACUS OR THE REVOLT OF THE GLADIATORS."

This is a George Kleine photodramatic masterpiece, which artistically, realistically, and vividly portrays on the screen historic and romatic events that were attendants upon the revolt of the gladiators against Roman rule. It is presented in eight parts and necessitated the enlistment of 7,500 actors in the making of the various scenes of which Rome and Turin were the locale. Wareham Theatre, Thursday afternoon and night, March 18.

CHILDREN'S COLUMN.

Jimmie Colt, one of the pet kiddies of the hill, is parading a new toy—a "zychophone"—which he claims as an originau invention. So far the instrument has proven a wonderful addition to the world of science.

Yes, gentle reader, "Eddie" Updegraf is just as much a child as ever. She told us to put this one in so that the folks at home wouldn't think that the College was making an old maid of her!

Freddie Stevenson is rapidly outgrowing this column. He was recently seen on Manhattan's gay white way garbed in a pair of "two-fers" that hit the tops of his shoes!

Wellington Brink, the husky offspring of the noted dean of the College, is taking lessons in the manly art of self defense. His last lesson was mailed to teh correspondence school yesterday and set forth a wordy discussion on the subject of the proper lacing of teh gloves.

As we go to press word comes to us that Pauline D. Buchanan is still searching for his bottle he lost last week. No, no, Geraldine! Not milk!

Louise G.—No indeed, we do not approve of such doings. We do not think that green would be becoming to your style of beaty anyway.

Mickie Welsh lost his rattle at the Athletic Carnival the other night and now has it that Frizzell glommed the thing.

Mildred B.—Yes dear, by all means. Chapel dates are just as good as the ones from Sunny Italy and besides they are heaps better for teh complexion.

DO YOU KNOW?

To the Editor of the "Do You Know" Column:

If you possess the slightest vestige of honor I beg that you will stand out and assume the responsibility rightly yours and clear an innocent man of the shadow that has hovered over him for many days.

Two weeks ago I was first accused of perpetrating your column and of course I denied the allegation vigorously but my attempts were futile, the stronger I asserted my innocence the more positive people became that I was the author. A terrible change has taken place in those 14 days; my friends shun me on the streets, when I approach a group of fellows the trend of the conversation is changed for they fear that their most cherished secrets may be torn from them by a ruthless hand and exposed in the next issue of the paper to the gaze of the scandal loving public.

Professors eye me suspiciously as I enter the class rooms for the news has spread like wildfire and you have dealt none too gently with many of them. Even the dogs on the street seem to have heard for with their tails between their legs they slink to cover when I pass by. My postoffice box is filled with interrogative letters from persons who wish to break into print themselves or hope to pay off a grudge by exposing the skeleton in the closet of a friend. The postmistress threatens to close my box, my landlady intimates that that she wil have our telephone taken out and the whole student body shuns me as a leper, a thing unclean.

My case is in your hands and I plead for mercy. F. SARGENT.

We cannot see how any one ever conceived the idea that you were responsible for our stuff but after observing the courageous manner in which you have born up under fire we see no reason why we should repeat the experiment. For a time we had considered the idea of signing this column but your vivid description has driven all such plans out of our head. We suggest that you buy a notebook and let your hair grow and continue to accept the honor that has been thrust upon you, you should be flattered.

What the plumber who repaired the hot water system at the Phi Phi house saw and heard last Saturday? Well, we do and we were going to make a special story of it. In fact we had it all written up when the young man appeared at the office and with tears in his eyes he begged us, (on his bended knees) to "kill" the story.

He had a most pitiful tale—the harsh and exacting employer who would fire him if the matter was made public—the wife and little girl depending upon him for support—we are a hardened and crusty lot, but this man's plight made a deep impression on us and that bit of scandal will not appear.

Mildred Branson was in school yesterday. This isn't important but she likes to get her name in the paper.

LAMBDA BREAKS HIS HEART

SHORT COURSE LAD RETURNS HOME TODAY WITH A HEAVY HEART, BROKEN SPIRIT, AND SHATTERED COLLEGE IDEALS.

SHE SCORNED HIS ADVANCES.

Today a short course lad is leaving for his home, his heart is heavy, his spirit is broken and his college ideals are shattered. Let us hope that there is a girl back there who can help him start life anew, for he can never hope to forget the events of the last few weeks that have been seared into his mind. And a certain Lambda is responsible for this blighted life!

The Lambda Farm is situated in the middle of a pleasant rural district and it naturally follows that many of the men from the agricultural sections would be attracted to that neighborhood. Surrounded by such homelike conditions these men expected to get wonderful results from their short sojourn at K. S. A. C.

Shortcourser Smitten.

One shortcourser in particular was severely smitten with a fair Lambda; the poor adjective fair,' hardly distinguishes her from the rest of the group but for several reasons we cannot be too explicit. The young lady refused to consider his advances but this instead of quenching the fire her labors only served to fan the flame. The desperate suitor waylaid the girl just as she was leaving the auditorium with a companion and pointed a kodak at their heads.

Just as the 'fair one' was recovering from the shock she received a letter from the despondent suitor, and with the letter, a picture. The photograph was not a success and the poor fellow's plea was pitiful in the extreme. He begged his ideal to give him just one more chance by attending the remaining days of the week; a likeness of the 'fair one' to paste in his watch and take home with him would make all the difference in the world.

Scorns His Advances.

But the hard hearted female still scorned his advances, she has not attended chapel and does not venture out on the campus when the sun is shining without a friend to serve as a shield in case the lovelorn ruralist approaches her.

Today she laughs and jokes with her companions, her heart is light and her mind free from care; if she realizes the damage she has done she does not show it—and the poor heart-broken boy is already on his way back home.

SO THE PEOPLE MAY KNOW.

They Tell a Good One on G. C. Smith, 1101 Bluemont.

The other day G. C. Smith took a Vattier street car down town to look after parental checks, etc. The car was full and he had to sit down by a fat old lady with a wheezy woolly poodle. He stood it until he saw a flea crawling on his knee, then he tapped the lady' arm and said:

"Madam, do you see that?"

"What is it?" snapped the dog holder.

"That," protested the above student "is a flea."

"Well," clicked the old lady, as she moved the dog to the other side, "I've been wondering where Snookie has been getting them."

The Collegian prints all the College news twice a week.

"AIN'T IT AWFUL?"

The way Mosier used to get the hook when he tried to lead the cheering at the basketball games this winter?

How when a fellow really needs a friend everyone turns him down and thinks he's merely bluffing?

To think of the poor ginks that read the stuff in these colms that'll think we're doing this for a living and mean every word we write?

That some of these fellows that never hit the date business regularly get out and use the hammer when some of their number falls for the paint and powder Vampire?

The job that this same minority has the morning after cleaning said Vampire tracks off the coat shoulder nearest the heart?

But for me—
I wish I had a Vampire
With locks of gold and eyes of blue,
A Pickford stare, plus smile demure
And a Spot Cash peek-a-boo!

The greenness of some fouks? The man in the vodevile, hidden from sight, played rottenly on an ocarina; and the little lass next me slid down into her seat and vouched that if she possessed a voice like that she'd stay out of sight too!

The rush some of the fair co-eds have been putting on in an endeavor to be first to exhibit Easter styles? One girl we know owes the boarding house mistress a tidy sum which she told us confidentially that she had spent on spring duds. And now she's busy working father on a stall that the classbook committee assessed her for teh whole of it!

And speaking of grafters
You'll get panned to the rafters
If you try to put out a classbook

Cause it takes lots of kale
To keep out of jail
If in June there's a jit in your bankbook!

The way some of these know-it-all damsels will blame this colm on poor defenseless Sargent?

To hear "Jitney" Ford say—"Step right up fellows. I'm decorating for this round" That's the lost chord, believe muh!

That the "Spotlight" should be the graveyard of so many clever pens?

The way Erkie ditched those pink collars? What? Who was she? Well, how in Sam Hill do you expect us to know?

FORD, ERSKINE, MARBLE, AND RHINE ARE ON CARPET FOR STEALING MANURE SPREADER AND FOUR PITCHFORKS.

LINN AND BUCHANAN CAUGHT 'EM

Anson Lane Ford, Ralph Erskine, and Archibald Clemintine Marble, and Lyle Vernon Rhine, are on the carpet for stealing a patent manure spreader and four pitchforks from the Farm Mechanics laboratory. At a recent hearing none of the accused would make a statement and the hiding place of the stolen goods is still a mystery.

The defendants were last seen together in the telephone booth in Anderson Hall, Mr. Erskine, it was later learned, being engaged in a mild and harmless flirtation with one of Harry Wareham's long distance queens. 'Hawkshaw" Buchanan thought this a peculiar gathering and scented the trail but after careful cross-examination of the complete telephone force from Wareham to Harem it was discovered that the hounds were on the wrong meat-path.

Shortly after three bells this morning, Detective Buchanan met Messrs Marble and Rhine slipping through the alley in the rear of the Aggieville Palace. Failure to give the countersign caused the arrest of this pair and James Linn caught Mr. Ford and Mr. Erskine after a thrilling pursuit race through the south part of Manhattan two hours later. The fact that the defendants sought to avoid arrest is a serious point against them.

Distinction In Dress

Fashion in women's wearing apparel is an elusive thing--hard to catch, still more difficult to express.

But come here and see how happily these coats accord with all that's good in this season's styles.

Visit our garment department and let us tell you of what is new in the fashions for Spring.

The Coats for Spring

Examine these coats carefully. Take note of their grace and swing, their beauty of line and proportion. Every one of these qualities should be possessed by the coat you wear.

But desirable as these style points are, there are other things to be considered.

The illustrations cannot show you the masterful tailoring nor the high quality materials that make these coats worthy of their title "Distinction in Dress."

There is only one way to truly appreciate these PRINTZESS Coats. See them in our garment department—let us show you where they excel.

TO HOUSE NABOURS' HOPPERS

Pneumonia Has Appeared Among Them Due to Exposure, and Legislature is Asked for Building Appropriation.

An appropriation of $175 is being asked of the state legislature by Dr. R. K. Nabours with which to construct a building to house the innumerable families of grasshoppers which this zoology professor has progogated.

Last week some mischievous freshman threw a stone breaking a window in the green house in which the hoppers are being kept. It was a rainy day and the hoppers who got out, not being used to the outside air, contracted pneumonia which resulted in the death of many important specimens, thus hindering seriously the professor's experiments.

Reports agree to the fact that all evidence points toward Z. C. Rechel as the freshie who threw the stone, and he has been bound over to the district court to be tried at its next session, so the reports run, for the destruction of state property.

Inthe meantime the disease has spread among the remaining hopper families and the entire force of the College medical mechanics under the leadership of Dr. R. T. Nichols, is working night and day to stop the malady. Doctor Nabours is reported to have recovered from the shock that resulted from the loss of so many of his beloved hoppers and was last seen, sachel in hand, going at a 2:20 pace in the direction of the Rock Island depot endeavoring to catch the noon train for Topeka, which happened to be on time. A wireless bulletin was received from Topeka last evening stating that the house and senate had passed upon the appropriation of $175 to be used in constructing a germ proof building for the protection of Doctor Nabours' grasshoppers

A social evening was spent in gossip, tea, and crunching nabiscos. R. F. Myrick read a paper on "Acritochhomacy and Taglia," Miss Eva Hostetler sang "Oh, Where's that william Boy?" Prof. N. A. Crawford read extensively on "Vxumyezl." As a treat to the assembled company Prof. A. A. Potter went to the kitchen and got some of Prof. H. W. Davis' poetry, where he had been keeping it on ice, and read it to the exhuberant select. Prof. J. W. Searson said it was a fine program, particularly the nabiscos. The aim of the club is to introduce other culture beside agriculture at the College.—One Who Was There.

WILL HAVE NEW SCHEDULES

THE SCHEDULES FOR THE SPRING TERM WILL BE PRINTED IN THE FORM OF A THIRTY-TWO PAGE BOOKLET.

USE SAME PLAN AS LAST TERM

Registration and Assignment Will Take Place in Nichols Gym on March 29 and 30—Not Decided About Distributing Schedules to Students.

Registration and assignment of students for the spring term will take place in Nichols gymnasium on Monday and Tuesday, March 29 and 30. The first classes of the spring term will take up on Wednesday, March 31.

According to Prof. A. E. White of the assignment committee, the schedules will be out on Tuesday, March 23. A new type of schedule is to be used the spring term and it has not yet been decided as to whether the schedules will be distributed to the students as they were last term. The new schedule will be in the form of a 32-page booklet. It will contain a map of explanation of the room designation, an explanation of the schedule, and brief descriptions of each department in the College together with the subjects offered for the spring term. There will also be an index to the pamphlet.

Registration and assignment will be conducted as it was last term. The new system worked very satisfactorily and the assignment committee was entirely pleased with the new plan. With this system it is possible to enroll more than 1000 students a day.

MANY WANT HATCHING EGGS.

Poultry Department Receives Orders From all Over State For Eggs.

The poultry department of the College is in receipt of letters every day from various parts of the state asking about eggs for hatching. Most of the inquiries are for eggs for utility stock and from flocks laying strains. In other words the farmers of the state want blooded stock and desire to build up the laying qualities of their flocks.

Eggs from the College poultry department are hatching very well this year. A 96 percent hatch from 140 eggs has been reported. The fertility is running as high as 92 percent.

HELD LIVESTOCK CONFERENCE.

Many of College Faculty Spoke at Norton Wednesday and Thursday.

A livestock conference was held at Norton on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The conference was well attended and a great deal of interest was shown in the work. The following members of the faculty gave addresses: Dr. C. W. McCampbell, Dean Wm. M. Jardine, E. C. Johnson, Prof. O. E. Reed, Prof. W. A. Cochel, and Otis E. Hall.

Squad Takes to Diamond.

Despite the interruptions of J. Pluvious, the Aggie baseball squad was able to wade around in the mud of the freshman field beginning on Wednesday afternoon. Very little beneficial work can be done with the ground in such a muddy condition and Coach Lowman is not putting out much glad news now-a-days.

Y. M. C. A. ELECTS OFFICERS

L. N. Moody is Chosen President and Walter Ott Vice President—Association Expects a Good Year.

The Y. M. C. A. held its annual election of officers on Thursday of last week. With one or two exceptions the newly elected officers will take up their work at the beginning of the spring term. The Y. M. believes it has a good choice of officers and is expecting a great deal to be accomplished during the coming year.

Following are the newly elected officers: president, L. N. Moody; vice president, Walter Ott; secretary, Wilbur Wright; chairman of committees in cabinet—finance, Ray Whitnack; building, Don Irwin; publicity, Ralph H. Heppe; Bible study, Harold Luhnow; missions, Harold Gulick; religious meetings, J. L. Garlough; personal, work and prayer life, C. Ferrill; literature, J. Hull; conference and conventions, Walter Ott; new student, John Keine; employment, D. W. Wooley; sick visitation, W. Brink; social, H. Haymaker, gospel teams and boy work, men under consideration; member of board of directors—commercial men, Richard Bennett; faculty, Prof. C. O. Swanson.

HAVE ISSUED 6000 LICENSES.

Office of State Livestock Register Is Busy Place.

Six thousand stallion licenses have been issued so far this year by Dr. C. W. McCampbell, secretary of the state livestock registry board. Four different licenses are issued to owners of stallions used for public service: pure bred, cross bred, grade, and scrub.

The object of requiring the owner of a stallion to have a license is to protect the farmers of the state. The value of the law is shown by the results of investigations made in 1909 when there was no law and in 1914. In 1909 there were 2000 scrub and grade stallions in the state that were advertised as pure bred. Last year there was not a single scrub or grade advertised as a pure bred. The Kansas stallion law is looked upon by horsemen from other states as the most useful and practical stallion law in existence.

ELECT COMMENCEMENT ORATOR

Dr. Benjamin Ide Wheeler, President of University of California, Will Deliver Commencement Address.

Dr. Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president of the University of California, and one of the leading classical literary scholars of the world, will deliver the Commencement address to the class of 1915 of the Kansas Agricultural College on June 17.

Doctor Wheeler has been president of the state institution at Berkerly for 16 years. He is recognized as one of the ablest college administrators in the United States. The University of California, under his direction, has grown in numbers until it is now second in size among American institutions and has a graduate school drawing students from every part of the United States and from many foreign countries.

Holds Many Degrees.

Doctor Wheeler earned his degree of doctor of philosophy at the University of Heidelburgh and holds honorary degrees from the most conspicuous educational institutions in this country as well as from the University of Athens, which rarely confers degrees on American scholars.

Doctor Wheeler has been on the faculty of Harvard, Cornell, and Brown universities and of the American School for Classical Studies at Athens. In 1909-1910, he was exchange professor in the University of Berlin. He is the author of a number of philological, sociological, and educational works and is a frequent contributor to scholarly publications.

PLAN COMMUNITY INSTITUTES.

They Will Take Place of Chatauquas in Larger Towns.

Due to a great demand from the smaller towns and communities of the state, community institutes will be held over the state during the coming summer by the Rev. Walter Burr, rural service expert in the Kansas Agricultural College. These community institutes will take the place of the regular chautauquas in the larger towns.

The program for the community institute will be composed of lectures on agriculture, sanitation, landscape gardening, home economics, community beautifying, and community musical expression. At many of the evening meetings, the lectures will be illustrated by moving pictures. The meetings during the summer will correspond to the rural life conferences and community conferences which proved so popular in the part winter.

A local organization can sell enough tickets to cover all the expenses of this new chautauqua, believes Mr. Burr. The money above actual expenses may be retained and used for community improvement work.

The meetings will be held in groves and parks under tents, but when the weather conditions are not suitable, the meetings can be held in community halls, churches, and other public meeting places. It will be possible to conduct about 12 of these summer chautauquas at about one-tenth the cost of a commercial chautauqua. The sessions will hold for three days. Mr. Burr hopes to arrange immediately for the meetings to be held this summer.

200 Seniors Pay Up.

To date 200 seniors have paid all their class dues and assessments. This is a great many more than were paid up at this time last year. In order to have his picture in the class book a senior must have paid all dues and assessments. Friday, April 9, will be the last day upon which seniors can pay their obligations.

BUDGET IS FINALLY PASSED

LEGISLATURE CAME TO AGREEMENT ON BUDGETS FOR THE STATE EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS THURSDAY NIGHT.

THE COLLEGE GETS $1,071,350

Appropriation Includes $1,065,00 for Maintenance and $6,350 for New Buildings—Nelswender Bill Passed the House Late Friday Afternoon.

The legislature has finally come to an agreement on the budgets for the various state institutions and has appropriated the College $1.071,350 for the next biennium. The appropriation includes $1,065,000 for maintenance and $6,350 for new buildings.

It was under protest that the house Thursday night passed conference agreement appropriations for the state educational institutions under the board of administration. Only the fact that it was impossible to vote against the buildings items without cutting out the maintenance appropriations allowed the members of the house to vote. Twenty-one mebers refused to vote even on that condition.

Pass Nelswender Bill.

Late yesterday afternoon the Nelswender bill passed the house. This bill, introduced by a graduate of the College who is one of the representatives from Shawnee county, provides for the equipment and support of the serum plant located north of the College. The object of this bill is to reduce the price of serum to the farmers.

The appropriation for the College and for the branch experiment stations, itemized and by years, follows:

	1916	1917
Maintenance	$500,500	$515,000
Repairs	25,000	25,000
Sheds, agronomy department		850
Slaughter house ...	3,000

WIN DEBATE

AGGIE TALKSTERS SUPPORTING AFFIRMATIVE SIDE OF COMPULSORY MILITARY SERVICE WON FROM OKLAHOMA LAST NIGHT.

DECISION WAS TWO TO ONE

Shelby Fell and J. L. Lush Represented the College—Arguments of the Visitors Counted Little Against the Carefully Planned Aggie Speeches.

By a decision of two to one Shelby B. Fell and J. L. Lush, forming the affirmative team of the College in the tri-state debate, won last night's contest from the Oklahoma men on the subject: Resolved, That all able bodied men in the United States should be required to perform one year of continuous military service before attaining the age of twenty-five.

Shelby Fell was the first speaker for the affirmative. His speech brought out the fact that at the present time the United States has only 50,000 men in the regular army, and 118,000 men in the militia. He said that the country needed a regular army of 500,000 men.

William Green of the Oklahoma team followed and argued that the policy of the government was one of peace, and it was against the whole idea of armament. 'Armament brings war," he said. "It also increases the tension between nations."

Give Large Reserve Force.

Jay L. Lush spoke next for the affirmative. Patriotism fails, was one of the startling statements which he made. He showed that ni the Mexican scare last May the army was unable to recruit its ranks to its full quota. "By the plan that the affirmative advocates," he said, "the United States would have an army of 600,000 men each year. In 20 years by this system there would be a reserve force of ten million men. This would make invasion impossible. The system could not damage industry for the young men would receive valuable training in this military school. The physiques of the American youth would be strengthened and the period of their lives would be lengthened."

Impossible to Invade U. S.

Joe Robinson concluded the debate for Oklahoma. He said that the European nations were weakening under the present war. "The present conditions in the United States do not call for a large army," he said. "There is no danger that the United States would be invaded. Its geographical position makes it impossible to bring troops into the country." Mr. Robinson argued that the system advocated by the affirmative would be too costly. "It is greater to live for your country,' he said, 'than to die for it." In conclusion he asked the judges to consider what a vast amount of good could be accomplished with the money that it would take to keep up the military training school.

Dr. John R. Macarthur of the English department has coached the debating teams this year. He has received valuable assistance from Lieut. Roy A. Hill in preparing the men for this debate on compulsory military service. Lieutenant Hill has been able to point out the weak points in the argument as seen by an army man.

The judges of last night's debate were: Judge John F. Dawson of Topeka, A. L. Caviness of Fairbury, Neb., and E. G. Bodwell of Beatrice, Neb.

READ CONNOR'S "SKY PILOT."

Adrian M. Newens Interpretation of This Western Story Pleased.

Adrian M. Newens read "The Sky Pilot," by Ralph Connor, Tuesday night, as the eighth number of the society lyceum course. Mr. Newens is a reader and impersonator and his work here was all and more than his friends had promised for him.

The several different characters in the story were portrayed clearly, each personality standing out plainly before the audience. The simple heart gripping little story was told in a manner that went straight home to Mr. Newen's hearers and gained for him their hearty support.

Prof. and Mrs. J. W. Searson entertained at dinner Monday evening in honor of Adrian M. Newens of Kansas City.

SENIORS ELECT OFFICERS.

Favor 100 Foot Flag Pole as Class Memorial.

At its meeting on Friday the senior class elected officers for the spring term. The following officers were chosen: president, Don L. Irwin; vice president, Calvin A. Hooker, secretary, Pauline Clarke; treasurer, John D. Parsons; marshal, Richard T. Wilson; and assistant marshal, William A. Hagan.

The proposition of a class memorial was discussed. The proposition which seems to be most favorable is that of erecting 100-foot flag pole between the gymnasium and the walk leading from the auditorium to the domestic science building.

The following committees were appointed recently: addition to the senior dance committee, Mary Churchward and W. W. Haggard; class day, F. W. Johnson, Clara Willis, and R. A. Shiley; commencement, J. W. Linn, Mildred Hollingsworth, and O. E. Smith.

WILL OFFER STRONG COURSE

Holton Says Summer School Will Have Strongest Course Ever Offered—Have Many Good Leaders.

The strongest course ever offered at a summer school by the College is the way in which E. L. Holton, director of the summer school, characterizes the courses offered this summer. Especially strong is the work in rural education and home economics. The College has been fortunate says Professor Holton, in securing a number of the strongest men and women in the country in these lines.

Dean Shailer Mathews, a former dean of the divinity school in Chicago university and now president of the federated council of the churches of Christ in America, has been secured for the school for rural leaders.

John M. Gillette, professor of sociology in the University of Dakota, who is an accepted authority upon rural problems, will also assist in the rural leaders' school. Professor Gillette is the author of several of the best texts on rural sociology.

Dr. W. A. Jessup, dean of education in the University of Iowa, will be one of the lecturers upon education. Dr. Frank Crone, who is now the director of education in the Philippine islands, and Dr. C. H. Magee, director of education in Manila, will also be present.

Dr. A. C. Monahan of Washington, D. C., will offer a special course in rural school administration. Doctor Monahan is at present the specialist in administration of rural education for the United States department of agriculture. H. B. Wilson, superintendent of the city schools of Topeka will also teach a course during summer school.

One of the strongest courses in the country will be given in home economics. Miss Anna Gilchrist Strong, director of household arts in the University of Cincinnati, will be in charge of the work of home economics education.

Cafetera work will be emphasized for the first time in Kansas by the College this summer. Miss Mary Ward, who is in charge of the cafetera of the public schools of Kansas City, Mo., will be here to direct this work.

HAS COLLEGE WAR WRITER.

Washington University Daily has Special Correspondent in France.

The University of Washington Daily is to have a special war correspondent who will write directly from the battle trenches of France. Almar Auzias de Turenne, ex-'13, varsity track star, in a communication to the Daily, received recently, promises to act in that capacity as soon as he is sent on from Salisbury Plain, England, where he is now drilling, to the south of France. He expects his corps, the Fifth battery, Second Brigade, to be ordered to the front at any moment.

Mr. Turenne adds that he possesses a little camera, which may enable him to send the Daily from time to time prints of the trenches and other interesting matters from the fighting lines. In conclusion, he gives a big "Oskey" and asks to be remembered to all of his friends.

Get In Your Copy.

Copy for all organiaztion writeups that appear in Royal Purple should be in the hands of the class book committee on or before April 1. The committee will appreciate it very much if the various organizations will try to have their writeups completed by March 26, the last day of school in the winter term.—James Linn, organization editor.

A FIGHTING CHANCE.

When Admiral Dewey swept into Manila Bay early in the morning of that beautiful May day he had a fighting chance to defeat the Spanish fleet which lay under the protection of the forts of the harbor. The chances were two to one that his ships would strike a mine, but the magnificent fleet swept boldly up the bay. Admiral Dewey took the chance and brought renown and honor upon himself and upon the flag with the starry field and the stripes of white and red.

Final examinations are upon us and many a student has a fighting chance to get through. It's up to him whether or not he will take the chance and make it good. Suppose Admiral Dewey had not taken his chance on that May morning. The Spanish fleet would not have been destroyed, the harbor of Manila would not have been blockaded, and there is no telling what damage this fleet might have accomplished before it was sent to the bottom by American gunners.

It's not merely that you fail if you don't make your chance good. That is the smallest part. The real effect is upon your character, your life, your standing in the College. The fellow that "flunks" continually soon gets discouraged. He becomes indolent; he loses all his spirit and fire; he doesn't care whether he passes or not. In other words he is a quitter.

Would you like to have that term "quitter" applied to you? Ah, don't the very sound of it make you cringe! You turn in disgust upon the fellow whom it fits. You have no respect for him, neither has the world.

Perhaps yours is a fighting chance. If so dig in and work these last few days. Resolve to be honest with yourself for once. Be sincere in your work. Move forward with never a doubt but that you will succeed. Let up on pleasure and see what real work is like. Then when the examination comes take it calmly and confidently. Hit it hard! Make every minute count, and you will have turned a fighting chance into victory.

FEED THINE ENEMY.

If thine enemy be hungry, give him bread to eat; and if he be thirsty, give him water to drink.—Proverbs xxv, 21.

BEST SELLING PRODUCTS.

Today the best selling products, especially those of home consumption, are those being advertised in the daily newspapers. Many of these were practically unknown until recently. Now they can be found on the shelves of nearly every dealer.

Inquiry will reveal that the dealer recognizes the fact that the advertising of these products in newspapers published in his home town and read by his own, or possible customers, is not only helping to hold his trade by giving them what they want, but it is likewise developing trade for him by bringing more customers to his store.

He realizes that only a small per cent of his trade are readers of national publications. He does know that in practically every home served by him a daily newspaper is read and that paper is one or more of the daily newspapers published in his own town.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

The useful and the beautiful are never separated.—Periander.

OBSERVATIONS.

Once a month the University of Nebraska cadet band gives a free concert in the university auditorium. What's the matter with the band here doing the same thing?

One hundred years ago this coming June eighteenth the battle of Waterloo was fought on one of the world's greatest battlegrounds. What will be happening there this year?

And now they say that we must wait until Easter for our spring weather.

Some people were so unfortunate as to take seriously some of the things that were printed in the Green number.

It beats all how these Mexican generals have a way of breaking into print. They are almost as good at the job as our friend Harry Thaw.

The seniors are considering the placing of a 100-foot flag pole on the campus for a class memorial. Not a bad idea, is it?

Many wealthy Germans and men ineligible for military service are leaving Germany for Denmark, Sweden, and other countries in order to decrease the number of people in the Fatherland that will have to be fed during the war.

The passing of the budget by the state legislature is almost as bad as the coming of spring. Let's hope that spring will come tumbling along our way now soon.

I HAVE THE SORROWS.

If this is all it will be like
I wish to die; I don't care how—
While I am very, very young;
As young as almost now.

They never felt what sorrow was
Or never learned their Golden Rule;
They say "These are your happy days"
With school, school,—school!

When Saturday's all out of breath
With all the week before in sight;
And Monday coming after you—
Spoils every Sunday night!

And nothing done but yesterdays;
And nothing coming but tomorrows;
Don't cheer me up; Please let me be!
I have the sorrows.—

Frosh Frolicked in Gym.

The fresman class party, which was held in Nichols gym last Monday night, was one of the biggest social functions of the season. The gym was beautifully decorated with the class colors, blue and gold, and also with the College colors. Each freshman was expected to kiss the Blarney stone as he entered, and he was then given a shamrock and a name card. Various forms of amusement were provided after which brick ice cream was served. The College band furnished music during the evening. About two hundred twenty-five freshmen were present. Prof. and Mrs. E. V. Floyd, Mr. R. W. Miller and Miss Buxton, and Chas. Holladay and Miss Burns chaperoned.

Dresses and Bones Chickens.

F. E. Mixa of the poultry department will give a demonstration of dressing and boning chickens at the high school on Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. He also shows how a fry and broiler should be prepared for cooking. Mr. Mixa gave these demonstrations at the domestic science building on Thursday afternoon before a large crowd of domestic science women of the College.

School of Ag. to Have Mixer.

The school of agriculture will have a mixer in the girl's gymnasium on the evening of Monday, March 22. The committee in charge of the mixer is planning for an evening of fun. This will be one of the big events of the year for the school of agriculture and all students are urged to attend.

Math Club to Meet Tuesday.

The postponed meeting of the Mathematical club will be held next Tuesday, March 23, at 3:30 o'clock in A-74. Prof. E. V. Floyd, R. F. Mirick, and Mr. Hall will speak.

CLOGS IN THE WHEELS OF PROGRESS.

DO YOU KNOW?

That it is just like sobering up after a big souse to sit down and write a column of half serious stuff after taking part in a mad spree like the Scandal number?

What pair of seniors, but recently engaged, strolled around town for two hours during one of our recent snow storms and were so wrapt up in each other that they were not aware that the sun was not shining?

What Aggieville business man has been buying coal by the bushel for the last month?

Why the results of the girl's basketball games have not appeared in the Collegian up to date?

That one of the Phi Phi freshman speaks of her maternal ancestor as 'maamaaaah?' Yes, Horace, the 'a' is soft as in fish.

That the latest slang, direct from the East, is j-l-t' meaning "just like that?" Think it over, we did not get it the first time either.

Why so many of the girls insist on telling you what perfectly awful grades they made in that quiz and when you really come to compare papers you discover they have you beaten about 40 points?

What dark haired sophomore miss actually stole a zoology note book from a perfect stranger who happened to be making up some work in her section?

That a freshman girl who is taking her second term of cooking did not know whether raisins grew on trees or under the ground?

Of anything that has a more forlorn appearance than a porch swing with six inches of snow on it?

That the old fashioned man who wears wristbands was located on the campus again last Thursday?

What junior ag went to sleep in the bath tub the other evening and did not wake up until half an hour later when the water got too cold to be comfortable?

What proud maiden made 100 in an organic chemistry quiz?

That a certain freshman girl is an accomplished chess player?

That K. S. A. C. has an old fashioned girl who began to mend her own clothes and darn her stockings when she was ten years old—and it was not more than ten years ago that she began the stunt?

We wish the young lady who wrote the last three items above and mailed them to us would sign her stuff in future. We can assure her that her secret will be respected but it is necessary that she show her confidence in us to that extent. The donations are appreciated all right. We believe they are sent in the right spirit but we would rather know just who we are indebted to for them.—Editor of this column.

Have Sixty Spring Lambs.

Have 600 Little Chicks.

Six hundred fluffy little chicks are now to be seen at the College poultry farm. This number will be raised to 1000 before the hatching season is over. There is one little four-weeks old chick at the farm that already weighs a half pound. It has been fed on the regular rations the department recommends and has also been given buttermilk.

INTERPRETS THE NEW RULES

WALTER CAMP, A FOOTBALL EXPERT, EXPLAINS THE CHANGES MADE IN THE NEW FOOTBALL REGULATIONS.

TO CORRECT FOUR OBJECTIONS.

From the New York Sun.

Walter Camp has made the following summarization of the changes in the rules for the coming season as they would affect Yale:

"There were some four tendencies in the sport which were beginning to grow and produce objectionable features. First of these was the very exasperating way in which men on the attack coming through to take the secondary interference, kept on after the whistle had blown and the runner had been stopped, and oftentimes endeavored to knock down a backfield man. Often in the last two years we have seen an entirely unsuspecting back who, owing to the fact that the play had been on the other side of the line and the runner stopped before he got through his opening at all, had relaxed, suddenly struck by one of these interferers and perhaps knocked down. To the victim this naturally appeared a wholly unwarranted attack and even though it might not injure him it made him mad and produced a bad spirit. The interferer had only as justification that he had been told to take the secondary man, and had not known that the run had been stopped and the whistle blown. Now the rule has been made that will put an end to this unnecessarily running into men after the whistle, for a ten yard penalty will be inflicted.

Tripping Includes More.

"The secondary tendency to be corrected was the gradual increase of a peculiar style of tactics consisting of throwing the legs and feet into the air and swinging them like a flail into the knees, or sometimes almost as high as the face of an opponent. As long as those legs did not strike the opponent below the knees it could not be ruled as tripping, so a new rule was made and such swinging of the legs against an opponent will cost the offending side 15 yards.

Assistant for Lineman.

"The third point was the inevitable result of the way in which a team on the attack, using a starting signal, gradually learns to 'beat the ball' in getting off. This is of course distinctly hard to see. The lineman was busy with his watch oftentimes and so the thing grew. This next year the use of four officials is made mandatory and the linesman freed from the duty of keeping time, the watch being given to the field judge and this official instructed to see that offside is called when any man starts his head or foot across into the neutral zone before the ball has been snapped. The fourth objectionable feature was the rushing into the field of resubstitutions during the last period. This has been checked by a return to the old ruling that no resubstitution may take place except at the beginning of a period.

"A ruling also was given on the position of linemen. Several have felt that the restriction placed upon a lineman on the attack of having one foot and the opposite hand up to or within a foot of the line of scrimmage has worked hardship on the really good and active man who could get into interference. The general impression has been that the present rule made it necessary for a lineman to bend over with that opposite hand on the ground. This is not so. The man may stand up with one foot on the line and the other back, and then if his opposite hand is within a foot of the line he conforms to the rule whether that hand is in the air or on the ground—a rather difficult thing for officials to determine, but certainly allowing the man to stand up.

More Protection for Fullback.

"There was a return to the old rules regarding running into the fullback, making a 15 yard penalty for this and disqualification for roughing this player. A forward pass going out of bounds, whether hitting a player or not, will be ruled as incomplete; the center in snapping the ball must actually let it go; substitutes must report immediately on going on the field, and in case of an illegal substitution not being discovered until play has been going on, the man is disqualified, half the distance to the goal line is penalized and a report made to the central board of the case. There were many minor changes in wording and the committee recommended numbering all players besides deprecating the sending of substitutes in for the sole purpose of carrying instructions."

GIRLS BASKETBALL CLOSES.

Juniors Finish With First Honors in Interclass Series.

The interclass basketball contest between the girls closed yesterday afternoon with an exhibition game between the short course girls and the school of agriculture team and another between two picked teams from the four year class teams. The school of agriculture team and the senior sophomore team were the winners.

In the regular girl's interclass championship series, the juniors won out with two wins and a single loss. The sophomores finished with the same percentage but lost a game and the championship to the juniors. The seniors and freshmen tied up for third place in the finals with a brace of losses and a win each

STUDES CRAM FOR FINALS

SPRING IS FORGOTTEN, PICTURE SHOWS LOOK VACANT, AND EVEN MIDNIGHT SONGSTERS HAVE DESERTED THE STREETS.

TERM CLOSES FRIDAY, MARCH 26

Final examinations of the winter term began Friday morning and will be the chief attraction for the students of the Kansas Agricultural College until 11 o'clock Friday, March 26, when the winter term closes.

Spring weather has been forgotten, the picture shows look vacant, the buying of spring clothes has been set aside, and even the midnight songsters who are wont to sally out at the wee small hours and warble to third-story windows no more frequent the streets of the village. Lights, however, are said to twinkle far into the night from innumerable study rooms, and it is reported that the dividends of the electric light company are soaring.

Cramming Machine is at Work.

The cramming machine is in full operation and is said to be putting in the maximum number of hours a day. The faces of the students wear a look of determination, and many eyes bear traces of long hours of study.

Eleven o'clock Friday, March 26, however, will see the end of the long grind and the railroad trains will then be crowded with students anxious to put in a few days recuperating under the paternal roof. The first classes of the spring term will begin on Wednesday, March 31.

"FALSE COLOURS."

"CUBS" RECEIVE LETTERS.

Ames Gives Journalists College Monogram—Button at Illinois.

A man does not need to be an athlete to win his "A" at Ames, for the scribes on the Student are awarded with a Journalism "A." Ames is at present one of the very few colleges in the country which confer any honor upon the men who supply the students with news, but the movement is fast spreading over the country. The Daily Illini staff receive buttons, which are, however, more for the purpose of aiding the men in getting news than as a reward for service.

BRET HARTE PRAISED DICKENS.

Says That he Found Humor in Everything.

On the day the news of Dicken's death reached him, Bret Harte was camping out in the California foothills. The last sheets of The Overland Monthly for July 1870, were then going to press, and he immediately sent a message to San Francisco to delay them, following it with his well-known poem, "Dickens in Camp," and an editorial. "Of his humor, it may be said," he wrote, "that for 30 years the world has accepted it as its own—as the articulate voicing of some sense of fun that was not so much Mr. Dicken's as common property. A humor so large that it was not restricted to the eccentricity of animate beings, but found fun in inanimate objects—in drawers that had to be opened with a knife, like an oyster,' in door handles that 'looked as if they wanted to be wound up,' in well-like parlors, where the visitor represented the bucket'; a humor that was a delightful and innocent pantheism, and as in 'Martin Chuzzlewit,' invested even the wind with jocular sympathies. The reader has to look back to the limitations of the humorists of a preceding age to appreciate what the world gained 30 years ago in the wonderful spontaneity of Mr. Dickens, and has not entirely lost now. For its influence has been since then steadily felt in literature—not entirely in the way of imitation but in recognition that human is nearly akin to human sympathy and love."—New York Post.

Not Even Expected.

There is a certain veteran hotel clerk of a certain small hotel up in the Maine woods who is noted for two things—his peculiar choice of words and the fact that every day for thirty-odd years he has inscribed on the top lines of his register the principal items of current news in the village.

Not long ago a New York editor, who chanced to be stopping at the hotel, borrowed the register long enough to copy down the following entries:

"Monday, October 12. Yesterday, while percolating round the milldam, George Bates fell into the water; and, owing to his wife's failing to make him change his wet clothes, he is now threatened with pneumonia."

"Tuesday, October 13. George Bates is rapidly becoming no better.

"Last night his wife sent for Doctor Linden, who looked him over, collecting two dollars, and departed, looking very unsatisfactory."

"Wednesday, October 14. George's symptoms are rapidly eventuating into fatalities."

"Thursday, October 15. At seven-thirty this morning our fellow townsman, George Bates, went to his Maker, entirely uncalled for."—Post.

A certain janitor boy was given instructions recently to dust a certain instructor's office in the new agricultural building. Said janitor boy had never before investigated the mysteries of a dustless duster, and he began to give a stage demonstration with the rag. The dust flew like the smoke of battle; the instructor looked up and glared. The janitor boy got up into the window, popping his rag at the dust, and the room became more foggy than ever. The instructor gave a warning sneeze or two, but still no one heeded her. After awhile the young man worked nearer, and blew some dust off the top of the desk. The lady-professor grabbed him by the ear and marched him doorwards; "Young man," she said "You're worse than a bear in a china-shop. Go!"

'What's the matter, sonny?" he asked.

"My English teacher's da-dead," cried the towheaded youngster.

"How do you know that?" comforted the aged one.

"Cause," explained the freshman tearfully, 'I just got my paper back, and she'd had a hemorrhage."

Th' hardest thing about bein' a newspaper humorist, next t' writin' two real jokes a week, is lookin' intelligent when somebuddy asks you how you kin think of so many funny things.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN.

VOLUME 21. NUMBER 49. KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 24, 1915. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

ASSIGN STUDES MARCH 29-30

REGISTRATION AND ASSIGNMENT OF STUDENTS WILL BE CONDUCTED AS IT WAS FOR THE WINTER TERM.

SCHEDULES OUT TOMORROW

Students Remaining in Manhattan Should Take out Assignments Monday—Students Must Bring Fee Checks to Get Assignments.

Registration and assignment for the spring term will take place in Nichols gymnasium on Monday and Tuesday, March 29 and 30. The gym will be open each morning at 8 o'clock and will close at 5 o'clock.

The assignment of students for the spring term will be conducted as it was for the winter term. The system has proved very efficient and with a few changes that have been made everything should go off in fine shape. Students who will remain in Manhattan between terms should take out their assignments on Monday so that there will be no rush when the out-of-town students begin to come in Tuesday morning. The student who gets his assignment out early will also have the advantage of securing the classes which he wishes. This fact was evidenced at the beginning of the winter term when class after class was closed on the second day of the assignment period because of full enrollments.

Have New Schedules.

The schedules for the spring term are to be printed in the form of a 32-page booklet. These will be off the press either today or tomorrow. They will not be distributed to the students but will be posted in the offices, halls, fraternity and sorority houses, and in conspicuous places about the College.

Students should remember to bring their fee checks at the time of paying fees to avoid the delay of returning for them or of having a duplicate check written. Miss Jessie Machir, the registrar, says that no duplicate fee checks will be written until all students having fee checks have been assigned.

Rules for Assignment.

Following is a set of rules that has been drawn up by the assignment committee to help the student in getting his assignment:

(1) Get permit from dean for any departure from the rules concerning assignment, such as:
- a. Extra work.
- b. Light assignment.
- c. Postponement of, or excuse from, any subject due.
- d. Taking work in an irregular manner.

(2) Register, unless already registered for the current year.

(3) Pay fees.

(4) Get dean's card.

(5) Work out own assignment as far as possible.

(6) Give to assigner the dean's card registrar's certificate to dean (old students simply show fee receipts at winter and spring assignments), Dean's permits and any other papers bearing upon assignment and get assignment.

(7) Write a roll card for each class to which assigned at tables provided for the purpose.

(8) Deposit assigner's proof ticket with first checker.

(9) Get assignment checked by enrollment checkers and deliver each roll card to proper checker. In case of closure of class to which student is assigned before he is checked in, he shall gather up roll cards which have been delivered to checkers and return to assigner for new assignment.

(10) Deliver three assignment slips to final checker.

(11) Receive second carbon of assignment stamped "Assignment checked."

(12) Show checked assignment and receipt for fee at north door in going out.

(13) Report to classes according to schedule. Absence will be reported to dean from the first meeting of the class to date of enrollment.

Miss Elizabeth Mills has returned to her home in Topeka after visiting several days at the Phi Kappi Phi house. Miss Mills was accompanied by her cousin, Miss Lucille Mills, who has been in this city for several days.

Prof. H. L. Kent, principal of the school of ag. is expected back from Carlisle, Pa., Saturday.

Today's issue of the Collegian is the last issue of the winter term. The first issue of the spring term will be published on Saturday, April 3.

THEY WRITE "MOVIE" PLAYS.

Missouri Men Engaged in Photo-Play Writing.

Writing photo-plays is a student occupation at the University of Missouri The English department has given this work more attention this year in the various composition classes. R. L. Ramsay and E. A. White of the English department include instruction along this line in their classes in narration and description. Several students who wrote scenarios in these classes continued to write for producing companies.

W. W. Campbell and Gene Swartz, former students in the university, are now with producing companies.

There are in the United States about thirty companies who receive scenarios from amatuer writers. The prices vary from $5 for short suggestions to several hundred dollars for the longer plays. The average writer receives about $25 for each scenario.

POST OFFICE IS BUSY PLACE

Several Thousand Pieces of Mail are Handled Each Day—Large Amount of Merchandise is Sold.

"In one day we handle 1200 incoming letters and 1500 outgoing letters," says Miss Nellie May, postmistress, in the College postoffice, "besides 400 pounds of incoming second-class matter and 300 pounds of outgoing second-class mail. The local mail is very heavy, 1,000 letters and notes between students being handled besides 1,112 copies of the Collegian and 400 copies of the Industrialist. Thirty thousand bulletins pass through the office in a year."

In a single year 2000 pounds of quiz papers are issued by the College post office to the instructors. If these were laid end to end, one sheet thick, they would make a walk two feet wide and extending all around the campus. If they were made in one large sheet it would be 511 feet square.

Enough pencils are sold in a single year by the post office to furnish every person on the hill with two. Four thousand five hundred pen points are sold in a year, also 35,000 clips and 100 quarts of ink. All such supplies for the College offices and instructors are issued through the post office.

In the "lost and found" department everything can be found from pins to muffs. There are dissecting sets, glasses, gloves, fraternity pins, pocketbooks, and 250 other articles.

Last year stamps valued at $8,687.30 were sold by the College post office. In a year $2,329.25 worth of notebooks were sold to students.

The College post office is not a government station, but an exchange maintained by the institution for the convenience of students and faculty. The College is outside the corporate limits of Manhattan.

The following week Mr. Bower will do similar work near Cherokee, where a group of 20 farmers have formed a club and asked his services. The week of April 5 he will spend with a similar club in the vicinity of Burlington giving crop and soil demonstrations.

SCHOOL OF AG. HAS MIXER.

200 Preparatory Students Celebrate in Nichols Gym Monday.

The school of agriculture held its first annual mixer in Nichols gym on Monday evening with a crowd of 200 as a starter. The three different classses shook hands, drank punch, and nibbled Nabiscos in regular College fashion and played such games as Hoyle agrees should be played at such functions. The chaperones were: Prof. W. T. Stratton, acting principal, Miss Ada Rice, asst. principal, Miss Buxton, Miss Reynolds, and Miss Holroyd.

Dr. F. S. Schoenleber of Manhattan, William Bolen of Leroy, George Bolz of Topeka, and Harold Hilts of Kansas City were initiated into the Acacia fraternity last Saturday night at the Masonic hall.

INSPECT CADETS MAY 10-11

WORD TO THAT EFFECT WAS RECEIVED FROM THE WAR DEPARTMENT AT WASHINGTON, D. C., ON MONDAY.

HOLD ALL DRILL OUTDOORS

Beginning With Spring Term all Work Will Tend to Prepare the Corps for Spring Inspection—Announce new Officers Soon.

The military department of the College received word from the war department at Washington, D. C., on Monday that the annual inspection of the cadet corps of the Kansas Agricultural College would take place on the campus on May 10 and 11.

Lieut. Roy A. Hill says that beginning with the spring term all the work of the cadet corps will be outdoors and will consist of whipping the men into shape for the spring inspection. Some theoretical work will be taken up, but only such as is necessary to a better understanding of the outdoor work.

The entire cadet corps has been reorganized during the winter term and new officers, both commissioned and non-commissioned, have been selected. The list of officers for the spring term will be published soon.

Train Cadets Thoroughly.

The cadets will be put through a very thorough training this spring. The outdoor work will consist of pitching conical and wall tents, guard mounting, rear guard duty, light arms drill, Butts manual with music, and all forms of marching formations. Work will be resumed on the outdoor range and all the cadets will have an opportunity to improve their marksmanship. The engineering corps consisting mostly of juniors and seniors, will be reorganized under an engineering graduate of the College and it will take up its work at once. The wireless tower will be erected and the signal squad will begin using the wireless in the field and in communicating with Fort Riley.

The corps is in excellent condition to take up its spring work and the military department will be a busy place during the spring months. A recruit squad will be organized for any new men who may enter the department.

LOST DEBATE TO COLORADO

Each Team in Tri-State eLague Lost and Won Last Friday—Scores for Previous Years a Tie.

The negative tri-state debating team of the College composed of J. V. Quigley and Joe Sweet lost to the Colorado Agricultural college last Friday night at Fort Collins, Colo.

Each college represented in the tri-state debate last Friday night won and lost a contest. The score for the previous years is almost a tie, as is seen by the following results since the tri-state debates began.

1912—Oklahoma won from Colorado and K. S. A. C.

1913—K. S. A. C. won from Colorado and Oklahoma; Oklahoma won from Colorado.

1914—K. S. A. C. won from Colorado and lost to Oklahoma; Oklahoma won from Colorado.

ENTER ROYAL PURPLE DAY

SPECIAL EFFORT WILL BE MADE BY CLASSBOOK MANAGERS TO GET ORDERS FOR VOLUME SEVEN.

TO HAVE CHARGE OF CHAPEL

Band Will Give Concert and Classbook Will be Discussed With Student Body—Will Take no Orders After This Term.

Today is Royal Purple day. The classbook committee will have charge of the chapel exercises and they have engaged the College band for a concert at this time. The managers of the 1915 annual will discuss the book with the student body and a final effort will be made to secure orders for Royal Purple Volume Seven.

This year's book is going to be a classic of its kind according to Editor W. M. Skourup. There will be one distinctively new feature in that there will be photos of professors and assistants in their native habitat. This will be valuable to the student because it will enable him to identify in later years the man who bowled him over in civics, trig., or chem. The snapshot section is to be unusually large as the editor believes that student life can best be shown in this way. All the organizations including the cadet companies will have photographs. There will be individual pictures of students in the sophomore, junior, and senior classes. The freshmen will have a group picture.

Orders for Royal Purple will not be taken after this term and the managers will then decide definitely upon the number that will be printed.

THE DEBATERS BANQUETED.

President Waters and Coach Macarthur Made Speeches.

After the Tri-state debate last Friday night there was another event, an event that was of as keen interest to the debaters as the debate itself—the debaters' banquet.

The banquet was unique in that Pres. H. J. Waters was the guest of honor. Dr. John R. Macarthur gave a rousing talk in which he said that he was planning debating at K. S. A. C. in a manner that will make possible the use of the largest number of debaters rather than a few very highly specialized men debating a single question all season. "No debater has any more right to quit debating with one or two debates than an athletic K man has any right to quit athletics before graduation. A debater ought to strive as vigorously for the reputation of his college as any athlete," said Doctor Macarthur.

President Waters said that he would rather see a victorious debate than a victorious foot ball game, though he does not depreciate the latter. The president explained some of the great disciplinarian value of debating, and heartily seconded Doctor Macarthur's plea to see the debaters stay with the work for several seasons. "Get in early and stay with it," he said. He was greatly pleased to know that we had a forensic fraternity and sorority here. "I am heartily in favor of all scientific and honorary societies. The more of them that we can get into our institution, the better it will be for us. They improve the morals of the student body, encourage higher scholarship, make the College work more interesting, and best of all they are a big factor in the development of their individual members."

The guests of Pi Kappa Delta, were Zeta Kappa Psi; Messrs. Green and Robinson, the Oklahoma debaters; Mr. Samuels, the Oklahoma coach; Dr. J. R. Macarthur; and Pres. H. J. Waters.

SEND OUT PRAIRIE DOG POISON.

Zoology Department Helps Farmers to Eradicate This Pest.

The prairie dog is following the path taken by the buffalo that used to swarm the great western plains. A few more years and this little pest of the farmer will almost be eradicated.

During the last four months the zoology department of the College has sent to the farmers of the state enough poison to kill three-quarters of a million prairie dogs. The poison contains three deadly agents, strychnine potassium cyanide, and a poison extracted from green coffee by means of egg albumin. The prairie dog is killed instantly before he can run into his hole.

The scholarship average of the Ionian literary society for the fall term was 84.3 percent. This places the Ionians at the head of the list of literary societies.

The short course girls gave the school of ag a run for their money as many of them are just off of high school teams. The score: school of ag, 19; short course, 16.

WHO IS THE MOST POPULAR?

That is Question That is Worrying the Students Just Now—Contest Will Close on Thursday.

Who is the most popular man and woman in College? That is a question that is worrying the students just now, and right in the midst of this examination week, too. But fears and all hopes can be laid aside after tomorrow for this contest which has been conducted for the past few weeks in an effort to discover the most popular man and woman in the institution will close Thursday afternoon.

Of course there will be disappointments, also some surprises. Just now it is rather hard to tell what the outcome will be. In the vote that was taken last Thursday Misses Ruth Hill, Faith Harling, and Wilma Burtis received the largest number of votes for being the most likable women in the College. The most popular men are W. F. Smith, L. B. Mann, Robert Cushman, Ralph Erskine, and "Fat" Hooker.

Tomorrow will be the last chance you will have of voting for your favorites. The purchase of a classbook will give you a certain number of votes, depending upon the kind of binding you order. Present indications point to a heavy vote for today and tomorrow.

IMPROVE KANSAS ORCHARDS.

College Sends Men Over State To Do Orchard Demonstration Work.

Geo. O. Greene and T. J. Talbert have aeturned from Miama, Linn and Franklin counties where they have been doing orchard demonstration work.

Mr. Greene and Mr. Talbert have charge of 24 demonstration orchards in Kansas. In some cases these are commercial orchards, in others they are abandoned tracts, given up in the belief that they were an utter failure. In every case the orchard being experimented upon is marked with a large sign board, labeled "K. S. A. C. Demonstration Orchard," so that all who are interested may watch and note the result of the experiments.

The orchards are run exactly according to directions given by the demonstrators. Pruning and spraying experiments are carried out and careful accounts kept. The owners do all the work, and each orchard is visited frequently by the men from the College who advise, note progress, and discuss fruit growing with the people of the community. A decided improvement in Kansas fruit both as to quality and quantity is resulting from this work.

This week, College men will be in Leavenworth and Atchison counties, and next week in Jewell. After that their time is to be given exclusively to work connected with the demonstration orchards.

E. T. Englesby will not be in College the spring term. He leaves on April 6 to take up work on a ranch in Texas. He intends to be back in school next fall.

The Rev. and Mrs. B. R. Smith of Kansas City, Kans., spent several days last week end with their son Elbert Smith at the Acacia house.

Send the Collegian home.

DEBATE WASHBURN MARCH 30

INDEPENDENCE FOR PHILIPPINES WILL BE SUBJECT WHICH MEN AND WOMEN WILL WRANGLE ON WITH WASHBURN.

GIRL'S TEAMS CLASH HERE

This Second Intercollegiate Debate for Aggie Co-eds—Is Washburn Girls First Appearance in Manhattan—Meet Salina April 9.

The debates with Washburn college of Topeka on the subject of Independence for the Philippines will be held on Tuesday night, March 30, the girl's team of the College meeting the Washburn girls in the College auditorium while the men's team wrangles on the negative side of the question on the same night at Topeka.

Last year was the first time the girls of the College participated in an intercollegiate debate and it proved so successful that arrangements were immediately made for one or more girl's debates for this year. This is the first time that the Washburn girls have been scheduled to meet the Aggie co-eds.

The girls who will meet Washburn next Tuesday night are, Misses Mary Polson, Lola Davis, and Stella Gould. The men's squad which goes to Topeka is composed of James McArthur, O. E. Smith, and W. F. Taylor.

The men's team will debate with Salina on April 9 on the question of restricting immigration to this country.

ROMAN POETS WERE IMITATORS.

Incorrect to Class Greek and Latin Literature Together says Critic.

"To put Greek and Latin poetry together and call them 'classical literature' is a proof of incredible barbarism in taste and of regrettable ignorance of the essence and value of the art of genius," writes Houston Stewart Chamberlain in "The Foundations of the Nineteenth Century," which has been translated into English by John Lees. "Whenever Roman poetry attemps the sublime, as in Virgil and Ovid, it clings with a correct sense of its own hopeless unoriginality as slavishly as possible to Hellenic models. As Treitschke says, 'Roman literature is Greek literature written in Latin.'

"The genuine and the false, the glorious, the free creation arising out of the greatest creative necessity, and the finely formed technique in service of gold and dilettantism, genius and talent, presented as two flowers from the same stem, differing but little!'

"If, however, the Latin tongue is to be retained at all costs . . (instead of teaching Greek alone but more thoroughly), then let it be seen at work where it accomplished wonders, where it, in accordance with the particular tendency of the Roman people and with its historical developement, does what no other language ever did or will be able to do—in the plastic moulding of legal notions. People say that the Latin language educates the logical sense; I well believe it, although I cannot help remarking that it was this very language in which, during the scholastic centuries, in spite of all logic, more nonsense was written than in any other at any time; but whereby has the Latin language acquired a character of such conciseness and definiteness? By the fact that it was built up solely as the language of business administration and law. This the most unpoetical of all languages is a magnificent monument of the momentous struggle of free men to obtain a sure code of law."

Furnish Armament Literature.

A large number of the colleges and universities of the country are debating this year on the subject: Resolved, That in view of the present situation the United States should take immediate steps to materially increase its army and navy. The American League to Limit Armaments, 43 Cedar street, New York City, has a quantity of literature on this subject which it offers to send gratis to college men upon application.

E. D. Baker will attend the Livestock conference which will be held in Emporia from March 24 to March 29th.

J. H. Merrill is in Leavenworth inspecting a shipment of foreign nursery stock. He will return Thursday.

The chief end of all good journalism is helpful public service.—Walter Williams.

WEDNEDAY, MARCH 24, 1915.

For his bounty, there was no winter in't; an autumn 'twas that grew the more by reaping.—Shakespeare.

STEP BY STEP.

How often we become discouraged and feel as if it were not worth while to work so hard. Every inch of progress it seems is attended by a struggle. We no more than get a new foothold than we are forced to battle to hold it. And yet when you sum it all up we do make quite a degree of progress in a year or a few years. The distance from step to step seems very short, oh unutterably short. But did you ever stop to realize that one step leads to another and that gradually you are climbing up the ladder of progress?

Fifteen years ago Henry Ford, perhaps the best known automobile manufacturer in the world, was an engineer in an electric plant in Detroit. Fifteen years ago Charley Murphy, the baseball millionaire, was a reporter on the Cincinnati Enquirer. Fifteen years ago Thomas H. Ince, the motion picture magnet of today, was a comic opera comedian, glad to get $50 a week. These men have ascended part way up the ladder of progress. They did not reach their positions by a single leap or by two or three. No, they made their way upward step by step.

Perhaps in college life we think sometimes that we progress too slowly. We become restless and like the little birds are anxious to try our wings. But hold! We are on the charging side of the dynamo of life. Our mental storage batteries are being filled and now and then the constant inpouring of energy and power and knowledge causes us to recoil.

But let's not get discouraged. What if it does seem as if we were making headway slowly even tediously? Think of what you were fifteen years ago. Haven't you advanced some? In the next fifteen years there is no telling what you will have accomplished. With you lies the whole secret of progress. You are master of your own destiny. In direct proportion to the degree to which you are charging your mental storage batteries will be the degree of your progress. And remember that just as you are charging your mental batteries degree by degree, so will you progress step by step.

OPPRESSING THE POOR.

He that oppresseth the poor reproacheth his Maker: but he that honoureth him hath mercy on the poor.—Proverbs xiv, 31.

A FORENSIC SOCIETY.

An athletic team is composed of the pick of the athletes of the school it represents. A grain, fruit, or stock judging team consists of the best judges of grain, fruit, or livestock in the institution whose laurels it upholds. Why, then, should not the debating teams of a college be composed of the best debaters in that institution?

At the present time a person must belong to one of the literary societies of the College before he is eligible to try ort for a place on the squad that represents the Kansas Agricultural College in the intercollegiate debates. In other words debating is not a collegiate activity but an organizational activity. Is it fair to thus exclude some person who is not a member of a literary society from participating in the intercollegiate debates?

No doubt there are some students in the College interested in forensic activities who, because of the present restrictions, cannot take part. Why not make debating a collegiate activity, one in which any student of the College will have the opportunity of trying out for a place on one of the teams? This could be accomplished by the formation of a debating organization or forensic society. This organization would be open to all students of the College interested in the subject of debate. It would make this activity democratic and would doubtless stimulate interest in it.

By skillful conduct and artificial means a person may make a sort of name for himself; but if the inner jewel is wanting, all is vanity, and will not last.—Goethe.

OBSERVATIONS.

At last it has come—the spring. Don't it make you feel like a new person?

HOW ABOUT CONCRETE "K?"

CLASSES HAVE CONSIDERED THE PROPOSITION AND APPOINTED COMMITTEES TO CONFER WITH OTHER CLASS COMMITTEES.

PROMPT ACTION IS NECESSARY.

The proposition of putting a concrete K on Bluemont hill has been agitated about the College for some time, and now each class has taken the matter up in its meeting and has appointed a committee to confer with the committees from the other classes.

Thus far has the matter gone, but no farther. The committees have not yet concurred with each other and the matter has been left to drift. Doubtless this has been caused by the nearness of the term's end.

The Collegian is ready to do all it can to help this movement along and would be glad to have the various class committees meet in its office in the basement of Anderson hall at the beginning of the spring term. If the movement is to gain any headway this year it will call for prompt action on the part of the class committees. If the K is going to be built the work will have to be done during the spring term so that it will be in position next fall when the incoming freshmen are matriculated. They will not know of its recent appearance on Bluemont and will consider it one of the time-honored duties of the incoming freshmen to keep the K in good condition.

"THE MILLION DOLLAR MYSTERY"

The final episode of the "Million Dollar Mystery"—Episode No. 23—is enacted by the all-tar cast that played the previous chapters. It will also show a photograph of the winner of the contest. It will show how the entire mystery was solved in 100 words—how the million dollars disappeared and how it was found. Another very interesting subject will be shown the title of which will be announced later. Wareham Theatre, Saturday afternoon and night, March 27.—Adv.

SHOW UNIVERSITY BUILDINGS.

A Prototype of Illinois Campus is Exhibited at Panama-Pacific.

One of the features of the Illinois exhibit at the Panama-Pacific exposition is a miniature prototype of the university campus and buildings, now almost completed under the direction of Prof. J. M. White.

The base upon which the "University" is built is of wood, covered with plaster. Walks, driveways, flower beds, elevations, and even the "boneyard" are represented by means of clever relief work. The buildings are proportioned and constructed so as to represent exactly the originals and they are placed in the same relative positions on "the campus."

The buildings are constructed of wood and are covered with paper. The entire piece of work is in colors and they are just as easily recognized as are the actual buildings. There are 1,500 trees on the campus and they also are placed as nearly as possible in the positions of the real trees.

Such things as the senior bench memorial sun dial and even the weather flags on university hall are clearly represented. The trees are made of loufra sponges and they vary in size. Different kinds of flowers are represented in the beds and the shrubs are cleverly shown. All are colored.

Miss Alice E. Skinner, Miss Grace Averil, and Miss Florence Hunt will spend the vacation between terms at Arcola Ranch as the guests of Miss Bertha C. Root.

ADVISES VOCATIONAL WORK

AFTER TWO MONTHS STUDY OF COURSES IN INDIAN SCHOOLS PRINCIPAL H. L. KENT MAKES THAT RECOMMENDATION.

NEED MORE SPECIFIC COURSES

Advises Education in Agriculture, Mechanics, Home Economics—Kent Believes School Work and Agricultural Practice Should be Related.

After two months of inspection and study of the courses offered at the Haskell and Carlisle Indian schools H. L. Kent, principal of the school of agriculture of the College, recommends that stronger and more specific courses in vocational work be introduced into the Carlisle Indian school. Professor Kent's recommendations are embodied in a preliminary report sent to the commissioner of Indian affairs for whom he was special supervisor.

Carlisle is being reorganized and in this reorganization it is planned to put in three-year vocational courses in agriculture and shop work for the boys and in home economics for the girls. The plan of reorganization submitted by Professor Kent corresponds closely to the organization of the school of agriculture at the College.

Relate Work and Practice.

Modifications recommended by Mr. Kent include the equalization of industrial and academic advancement, better organization of industrial instruction, special training of teachers and a closer correlation of academic work and vocational practice. The school work and the agricultural practice should be more closely related, Mr. Kent believes, and this can be accomplished by the use of special school plots, by laboratory exercises in agriculture, by facilities for library reference work in agriculture, and by summer sessions. Careful vocational guidance is strongly recommended.

Professor Kent was asked the nature of the productive work now being done by the students.

"Practically everything," he replied, "A blacksmith shop, a carpenter shop, a woodwork shop, a plumbing and painting shop, a shoe shop, a harness shop, a tin shop, and a tailor shop are maintained. In the tailor shop, all uniforms worn by the boys are made. In addition to these, there are two farms, a garden, greenhouses, and a dairy herd.

"The girls make all their own clothing, and all the bedding used in the school. They do general housekeeping, but very little cooking. This is done in the school kitchens and bakeries, by steam power, and because of the heavy work the boys instead of the girls assist in the cooking.

Carlisle Grads Make Good.

Many of the Carlisle Graduates," said Mr. Kent, "are making good. Mrs. Denny, who has charge of the outing system, is a full blood Sioux, and Mr. Denny, a full blood Chippewa, is assistant disciplinarian in charge of the boys. Miss Bender is a teacher in the fourth grade and is one of the strongest teachers in the institution.

"Another instructor, Mrs. Dietz, a full blood Winnebago, has charge of the drawing and art work. She is said to be the best authority on Indian art in America. She is a graduate of Smith college and was a pupil of Howard Pyle. Mr. Dietz, a half blood Sioux, has charge of industrial drawing for the boys. Many of the graduates and students are filling clerical positions at both Haskell and Carlisle."

Professor Kent has some hand wrought tools made by the second grade student, which are of remarkable workmanship. They resemble machine made tools in smoothness of surface and perfection of line.

Carlisle prepares for trade and vocational positions, while Haskell specializes in business training.

Curtis A. Brewer has returned home for the spring term where he has accepted a position as temporary secretary of the Abilene Business Men's association and Commercial club. Mr. Brewer will return to the College next fall.

Members of the sophomore class will have an opportunity to pay their class dues next Tuesday at the window opposite the College post office.

ALUMNI TO VISIT EXPOSITION.

Plans for the Excursion are Being Made by H. C. Rushmore.

Alumni of the Kansas Agricultural College will go in a body to the Panama Pacific International exposition at San Francisco in July.

Plans for the excursion are being made by H. C. Rushmore, '79, of Kansas City, one of the most loyal and enthusiastic alumni of the institution and the man who engineered a similar trip to Seattle in teh summer of 1909. The excursion to Seattle received the widest publicity along the entire route and caused numerous comments on the activity and loyalty of the alumni to the institution. The trip also proved the means of great enjoyment to those who took it.

It is anticipated that the trip this coming summer will have even a larger number of alumni as participants and will give even more pleasure. Alumni who are interested should write to The Industrialist concerning the trip.

SEND OUT 11,000 CATALOGS

Bulletins Announcing Summer School of the College are in Great Demand—Send Them to Many States.

Eleven thousand catalogs announcing the courses in the summer school that will be held by the College have been sent out to people in every state in the union. Inquiries asking for the bulletins have been received from southern California to the Eastern states.

The catalogs have been sent to all the graduates of the College who are engaged in teaching, to the directors of every summer school in the United States, and to all the school teachers of Kansas. A special effort is being made to reach the rural teachers of the state.

The attendance at the summer school last year was about 550. From the inquiries that have been received so far and from the number of students of the College who have signified their intentions to remain for work in the summer school, it is expected that from 700 to 800 people will attend this year.

SELECT THE POPULAR STUDENTS.

Miss Ruth Hill and W. F. Smith Received the Most Votes.

The Royal Purple contest to find the most popular man and girl in the College ended Thursday, March 25, and the count showed that Miss Ruth Hill, of Wichita, a senior in home economics, was the premier for feminine popularity. She received 1020 votes. Walter F. Smith, of Mankato, a senior in general science, was awarded 980 votes to prove him the most popular man on the hill. Other students around the top of the popularity contest were Miss Faith Harling, 780; Miss Wilma Burtis, 150; "Fat" Hooker, 370; L. B. Mann, 300; Ralph Erskine, 285; and Robert Cushman, 210.

Miss Hill will receive a De Luxe edition of Royal Puprple Volume VII bound in Spanish Morrocco. Mr. Smith has been awarded $5 in trade with Boley and Company of Kansas City, Mo. Both of the winners will be written up in the classbook.

K. U. TO OFFER PEACE COURSE.

Carnegie Foundation Finances Course to be Offered in Summer.

To promote international peace the Carnegie endowment for international peace foundation will establish courses at the University of Kansas, beginning with the coming summer session.

An advanced course in Spanish has already been arranged and one in the history of South American countries is under consideration. These subjects are offered in other universities and colleges throughout the United States. Expense is borne by the Carnegie peace foundation.

McCALL GIVES UP DUTIES.

Illness Forces Government Expert to Give up Hog Cholera Work.

Dr. C. A. McCall, who was sent to the College by the bureau of animal husbandry, U. S. department of Agriculture, to cooperate with the state in the control of hog cholera, has been compelled to give up his work on account of ill health.

Dr. and Mrs. McCall will leave soon for a visit of several months with relatives near Dodge City, where Doctor McCall hopes to regain his health.

Miss Flora Harrington and Miss Frances Cornick of Topeka who have been visiting in Manhattan left yesterday to resume their work in Washburn college.

ENROLL 1763 STUDENTS

THAT NUMBER HAD BEEN ASSIGNED AT 5 O'CLOCK YESTERDAY EVENING ACCORDING TO MISS JESSIE McD. MACHIR, REGISTRAR

33 NEW STUDENTS REGISTER

Nearly 1000 Students Took out Asignments on First day of Registration Period—New Type of Schedule Proves Satisfactory.

Seventeen hundred sixty-three students, including 33 new students, had enrolled in the College for the spring term yesterday evening at 5:30, according to Miss Jessie McD. Machir, registrar.

On the first day of enrollment nearly 1000 students took out assignments for the spring term. This number was brought to more than 1600 at the close of the two-day period of registration. A large number of late comers have been registering all during the week. The total enrollment for the spring term of 1914 was 1769.

The new type of schedule has proved satisfactory in every way. The general opinion of the assigners is that it is an advancement over the old form. The students also expressed themselves as being pleased with the new form of schedule.

It is expected that students who have not been able to get back to school yet wil swell the enrollment to the figures of last spring term.

WAS RECORD BREAKING CLASS.

Calc. Class Last Term Had no Flunks or Absences.

No flunks and every member of the class present each day of the term was the remarkable record set by the second-hour class in integral calculus, taught by Prof. A. E. White, winter term. Professor White appreciated the unusualness of it and as a reward of merit invited the class to take six o'clock dinner with him on the last day of the term.

This splendid record of scholarship and attendance is a testimony of the spirit promoted in the class by its instructor. One member of the class was heard to remark, "Why, I would have gone to that class with a broken leg."

RIFLERS OUTSHOOT LEHIGH.

College Team Makes Highest Score in Class in Eighth Match.

In the eighth match of the Intercollegiate Rifle Competition series the College rifle team outshot the Lehigh riflers by the score of 941 to 898. The local team also made the highest score in Class C for the match, the second highest count being made by the University of Nebraska team-928.

For the last few matches of the intercollegiate series the College rifle team has been making the highest scores in the class. Nebraska leads Class C with a percent of 91.47, Yale comes second with a percent of 91.30, the Kansas Agricultural College comes third with a percent of 91.07, and Michigan comes fourth with a percent of 90.36.

TO TEACH AT IOWA STATE.

Miss Helen Monsch Appointed Assoc. Professor of Home Economics.

Miss Helen Monsch, '04, has been appointed associate professor of home economics in the Iowa State college. Miss Monsch was instructor in home economics in the Kansas Agricultural College for one year after her graduation. She has held the headship of the home economics department in the vocational schools of Gary, Indiana, and in Simmons college, Boston. For the past year she has been working for an advanced degree in Columbia university. Miss Monsch is a sister of Mrs. H. F. Roberts, wife of Prof. H. F. Roberts of the College.

COLLEGE MEN IN "WHO'S WHO."

Several Prominent Manhattan People Are in the 1915 Book.

To be recognized as being among the first 5,000 citizens in the United States is the honor that comes to a man when his brief biography is published in "Who's Who in America." The College is luck in having quite a number from the few dozen that hail from Kansas. These men are Dean W. M. Jardine, Prof. J. W. Searson, Pres. H. J. Waters, and Dean J. T. Willard. The only other person given credit from Manhattan is Charlotte Wilder, an author.

CLOCK CONTROLS ALL BELLS

PROF. J. O. HAMILTON HAS PERFECTED CLOCK THAT REGULATES RINGING OF BELLS IN ALL BUILDINGS ON CAMPUS.

INTENDS TO PATENT THE IDEA

Clock is Very Simple and Quickly Adapted to Changes in Schedule—Several Inquiries Concerning the Timepiece Have Been Received.

A clock on the west wall of Prof. J. O. Hamilton's office in the chemistry building now regulates the ringing of all the bells in the buildings on the campus. The timepiece is an ordinary Regulator clock that has been adapted by Professor Hamilton to perform the task of controling the bells.

The clock is fitted with an automatic cutout that stops the ringing of the bells after 5:30 in the evening and on Sunday. The hour hand of the timepiece is fixed to a brass annulus which is divided into sections on its circumference corresponding to five-minute periods of time. Small holes are drilled into the annulus at each of these divisions, and brass pegs put in them at intervals corresponding to an hour of time make the connections which cause the ringing of the bells. The clock is quickly adapted to any change in schedule. For instance it took but five minutes to change the clock to conform with the change of schedule made this term.

Will Patent Idea.

This is doubtless the simplest regulating clock of its kind in existence. Prof. Hamilton worked out the idea of adapting the clock. All the work connected with making the attachments was done by Prof. E. V. Floyd in the physics laboratory. Mr. Hamilton has received a number of inquiries from other institutions of the country asking about the working of the clock. He intends to patent his idea.

ATTEND DENVER Y. W. MEETING.

Miss Wilma Burtis Represented Three Institutions There Last Week.

Miss Wilma Burtis returned last Sunday from Denver where she was one of the student members of the West Central Field committee of the Y. W. C. A., which held its annual meeting there last week. Miss Burtis represented three educational institutions, Washburn at Topeka, Kansas university at Lawrence, and the Kansas Agricultural College at Manhattan.

TEACH STUDENTS PHOTOGRAPHY.

Twenty Students Will Kodak Scientifically This Spring.

The physics department is giving a course this spring which is unique in its practicalness and interest. Twenty students are taking photography and the campus will be dotted soon with students who use it for a laboratory. Mr. Orr, a downtown photographer, has been secured to teach the class which on account of the limited number was not placed on the schedule.

DAIRY ASSOCIATION MEETS.

Several Interesting Talks Were Given at Meeting Last Night.

The Students' Dairy association of the College held its first meeting of the spring term at the Y. M. C. A. building last night. The meeting was well attended. The following addresses were given: "The Inevitableness of Dairying," by Pres. H. J. Waters; "The Dairy Cow and the Family Farm," by Dean W. M. Jardine; and "The Making of a Dairyman,' Prof. O. E. Reed.

SCIENCE CLUB TO MEET MONDAY.

Prof. L. D. Bushnell and Prof. H. H. King Will Speak.

On Monday night the Science club of the College will hold its first meeting of the spring term in room 26 of the chemistry building. Prof. L. D. Bushnell will speak on the subject, How We Resist Infectious Diseases. Prof. H. H. King will give an address on the subject, The Vapors from Drying Paint Films. The meeting will be called at 8 o'clock.

Miss Kathryn Adams was operated on for appendicitis the first of the week. She is getting along nicely and will be out in about ten days.

Miss Esther Boell, '14, is taking graduate work during the spring term.

THEY EDIT TELEGRAPH COPY.

Journalism Department Receives the Full United Press Service.

Journalism students taking the course in copy reading this term must edit and write heads for the full United Press news service which amounts to from 18,000 to 25,000 words of copy a day. The "flimsy" is received by mail from Kansas City each day.

No newspaper in Kansas has the full United Press telegraph service. The cost of this service ranges from $40 to $300 a week, according to the distance it must be sent over the wires. The United Press furnishes the journalism department this copy free of charge on the condition that none of it is to be used outside of the class.

The laboratory work in the class in copy reading consists of four hours practice each week in editing this copy and in writing heads for it. Practice will be given in writing all the various styles of heads used by American newspapers. There will also be some work in proof reading. From a newspaper man's standpoint this course is extremely practical.

ARGUE WITH SALINA APRIL 9

Question Under Debate is That of Immigration to the United States—Girls' Teams Meet Here.

On April 9th two teams will take the field against the Kansas Wesleyans, the men's negative team going to Salina and the girls' affirmative team debating in the auditorium against a girls' team from Salina. The subject for discussion will be the Immigration question of the United States and the desirability of its restriction. The members of the girls' team are Miss Mary Dakin, Miss Mae Sweet, and Miss Ina Belle Wilson.

BURTIS IS MADE A COLONEL.

For the First Time in its History the Cadet Corps has a Colonel.

At the last general appointment of officers, Orville B. Burtis, a junior in animal husbandry, was made colonel of the College cadet corps. This is the highest cadet office ever given by the College, all previous cadet commanders having been designated by the rank of lieut.-colonel. Lieut. Roy A. Hill believes that the size of the present cadet corps makes such a rank necessary.

IN A PARAGRAPH.

Cattlemen's Convention.

The third annual convention of the cattlemen of Kansas will be held on April 23 and 24. The first day of the convention will take place in Hays and the second day at the College.

Several of the students who took the short course in engineering became so interested in their work that they remained at College for two weeks after the short course closed.

Talks to Teachers.

A. E. White, associate professor of mathematics, went to Hutchinson on Thursday to speak before a mathematics club and the teachers of the high school of that city. He will also deliver an address before a general meeting of all the teachers of the city and the public.

Terry White spent last week end at his home in Jewell.

OPEN SEASON WITH BETHANY

CURTAIN WILL BE LIFTED ON 1915 BALL TOSSING SEASON ON COLLEGE FIELD ON NEXT TUESDAY AFTERNOON.

WORKOUTS HAVE BEEN GOOD

Squad is Reported to be in Good Shape—Hodgson Will Bear the Brunt of Pitching Work—Hold Practices Each Afternoon.

The Aggies open the 1915 baseball season next Tuesday afternoon on College Field against the eBthany Collegians. Despite the frantic efforts of Old Man Pluvius to dish out more than a just share of rotten weather. Coach Lowman has managed to get a fairly good preliminary workout out of the squad and the men, with the exception of McClymonds, are all reported in good shape. "Mac" hit a boulder on the path between second and third stations in Wednesday nights's practice and turned an ankle and will be out of the running for at least a week.

The gang has been holding six-inning sessions each afternoon this week and the team looms up well as a whole. Hodgson, Ferrier, and Harvey, appear to be the best available pitching stock Hodgson did the ironman stunt for the Lowmanites last year and will probably have to bear the brunt of the work again this season, although Ferrier and Harvey each look to hold something in the pitching line. Captain Briney and "Chief" Haucke are working on the receiving line.

Agnew Will Hold Down Second.

"Red" Agnew appears to have the second station berth cinched. With McClymonds out of the running for the first week's games, Scanlan or Frank will probably decorate the first sack. Denman, Newton, and MacMillan are other infield candidates of promise. Of the new outfield material, Reynolds looks best. This player starred in last spring's interclass series with his heavy clouting and seems to be able to continue to hit the ball on the nose this season. McLeod and McGalliard are also doing good work in the outer gardens.

SCOTT IS IMPROVING CAMPUS.

Spring Work Is Carried on Under Direction of State Forester.

Spring improvement work is being carried on under the direction of C. A. Scott, state forester, on the College campus. Trees and shrubs are being set out and dead branches are being removed from the older trees. Ground around the hall of agriculture is being leveled and will be seeded to grass.

Massachusetts Alumni Met.

The local alumni association of the Massachusetts agricultural college held a reunion at the home of M. F. Ahearn, assistant professor of horticulture, last Friday night. Ralph M. Watts, secretary to K. L. Butterfield, president of the Massachusetts agricultural college, was the guest of the evening. J. P. Poole, a former resident of Massachusetts, now an assistant in botany in the College was present also.

The members of the local association are M. F. Ahearn, J. P. Merrill, and F. S. Merrill.

Brother Struck by Train.

Miss Edna Baird, assistant in the department of music, was called to her home in Russell on account of an accident to her brother, who was struck by a train. Mr. Baird was severely injured and is not expected to recover. Miss Baird chaperoned at the Alpha Mu house and during her absence Miss Nellie McClurg will be with the girls.

Board Meets.

The board of administration is holding a meeting at the College. All the members of the board are present. General matters concerning the College are occupying the attention of the members.

Judge a Debate.

R. G. Taylor, associate professor of history, H. W. Davis, associate professor of English, and I. V. Hess, assistant professor of history, left for Chapman Friday noon to judge a debate at the Chapman high school.

Dr. J. G. Jackley of the bacteriology department left for Chicago Thursday on a short business trip. He expects to return Monday.

SELF-STARTERS.

Some automobiles have self-starters. They start on the instant and glide swiftly away. Others have to be cranked. The driver must waste time and energy to get his motor started before he can "throw her in gear" and be gone.

It is the same with students. Some get started at the beginning of the term and keep ahead of their work each day. Studies are completed on schedule time and when the term's end with its final examinations arrives they enter gracefully upon the homestretch. There are no unfinished tasks to make their ending precarious.

Then there is the student who has to be started. He makes no headway until the three-weeks quizes or the mid-terms come to crank him up. He loses time and energy. Much of his effort is wasted. He comes to the tape at the end of the term—if he gets there at all—with boiling radiator, motor knocking, and cylinders missing. It's doubtful whether he will even place in the finish.

If you are not a self-starting individual better get modernized before the term progresses much farther. Why not acquire that feeling of starting smoothly away without the necessity of having somebody crank you up? Perhaps you are only a two-cylinder individual and do not expect to make much speed in the race of life. A self-starter will increase your efficiency, nevertheless. No matter whether you are a two or eight-cylinder person there is a type of self-starter made for you. Why not become up-to-date today and cease to depend upon something or somebody to start you off?

THE LORD'S MERCY.

But the mercy of the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting upon them that fear him, and his righteousness unto children's children. —Psalms ciii, 17.

THE WATER QUESTION.

Just how does the question of a pure water supply for Manhattan affect the College?

The present water system is a great drawback to the growth and development of the College. In every part of the state from which students come to the institution—and that's from every corner—the Manhattan water supply is a subject of unfavorable comment. Especially is this true of the town which has sent students to the College in former years. Now we are all rather finical about the purity of the water which we drink, and so when we hear unfavorable criticisms concerning the water supply of a town we become prejudiced. When a student who is contemplating attending the Kansas Agricultural College hears of the hard, iron-tasting, periodically rusty-colored water of Manhattan, he immediately draws the conclusion that the water system—which should have the careful attention of every city—is characteristic of the town. The growth of the student body of the College, so desirable in every educational institution, is thus bound to be restrained by the adverse conclusions drawn about the town in which the student must live.

Next Monday at the polls the voters of Manhattan and the College will have the opportunity of casting their ballots for or against a proposed pure water system for the city. Every voter who considers in any measure the future growth and development of Manhattan and the Kansas Agricultural College will vote on the pending bond issue.

WHERE HAS CULTURE GONE?

They Say it Has Taken Refuge in Women's Colleges.

At last we learn what has become o fthe "cultural idea" in college education. That it had fled, we knew, but where it had gone we were ignorant. It now appears that it has taken refuge—its "last refuge," we are told—in the women's colleges. As it was the president of the new woman's college at New London, Conn., who said this at New Haven recently, we suppose we are bound to take his word for it. The men's universities have become great technological and vocational machines. As for the "humanities," they have been invaded by athletic and upstart scientific and special courses. So what was there left for culture to do but to flee tearfully to the girls' colleges, like Smith and Vassar, where, as everybody knows, there are no student societies or outside activities to distract the young ladies, or prevent them from giving all their time to Plato and Kant, Lucretius and Pascal. It is really a bit absurd, this attempt to say just where the still air of delightful studies is to be found. Culture, like genius, has a way of cropping out in the most unexpected places. Where you make all your arrangement to get an unfailing supply of it, you are puzzled to see it steadily vanishing; while, suddenly, out of some school given over apparently to the "practical," you find graduates coming who are passionately devoted to ideas. It's a parlous business, this of trying to locate the "cultural idea." Like other things of the free spirit of man, it bloweth where it listeth. It is always wise to distrust too confident answers to the appeal: "Tell me where is culture bred."—Boston Transcript.

AGGIES LOSE BOTH DEBATES

WASHBURN TEAMS WERE SUCCESSFUL IN ARGUING BOTH SIDES OF INDEPENDENCE FOR THE PHILIPPINES.

DECISIONS WERE UNANIMOUS.

The men's negative debating team of the College, which met the Washburn men's team at Topeka, and the girls' affirmative team of the College, which met the Washburn girls in the College auditorium, lost to the Washburn arguers last Tuesday night by unanimous decisions on the question: Resolved, That Independence should be granted to the Philippine Islands.

Dean Mary Pierce Van Zile presided over the debate. In making a few introductory remarks she spoke of the fact that it was no longer considered surprising for a team of girls to enter the debating field. In the course of her remarks she allued to the growing tendency of women to enter into all fields of work on equal opportunities with men.

The girls' team was composed of Miss Stella Gould, Miss Mary Polson, and Miss Lula Davis. The men's team which represented the College at Topeka was composed of James McArthur, O. E. Smith, and W. F. Taylor. The girls' debate was well attended.

K. U. HIRES FOOTBALL COACH.

Herman Olcott of Yale Is Given 3-Year Contract by Board.

Lawrence, Kan., April 1.—Herman Olcott of Yale was chosen to coach the 1915 Jayhawker football team by the board of administration, following a recommendation by William O. Hamilton, athletic manager. Olcott was picked from among 25 applicants, and only after Manager Hamilton had discussed the matter at length with the athletic board and Capt. Tony James. The contract runs for three years, and requires the new coach to devote his entire time during 40 weeks to the training of the team.

Olcott says his football career began when at 8 years, at the time of the flying wedge, he first played. At the age of 15 he played with the College of the City of New York. In 1898 he entered Yale, and played at tackle, guard, or center, during the years of '99, '00 and '01. The '00 team, that of Captain Gordon, is probably the best that Yale ever produced, defeating both Harvard and Princeton by decisive scores.

Following his graduation Olcott coached at North Carolina in '02 and '03, and had two successful seasons, winning his big game against Virginia. In '04 and '05 he was line coach for the Navy, and in '06 assistant coach.

In 1907 he began the practice of law in New York City, and confined his coaching operations to his vacation months at the University of the City of New York. In 1910 he produced a never-defeated team, tying with Yale. His team was ranked as twelfth in the United States.

Olcott is 36 years old, six feet tall, and weighs 220 pounds. Aside from playing football during his college years, he was a member of the freshman rowing team, and a weight and hammer thrower in the track team. His reputation at Yale is good. Registrar Merritt says of him: "He is steady as a clock, and never failed in any college work. He is a bully good man, and was popular and respectable at Yale."

"EUROPEAN WAR PICTURES."

The reign of terror in Europe depicted in the New York Sun's War Pictures of the greatest tragedy the world has ever known. Every detail of the business of killing men is shown—you see the war as it really is—and all because a few mere men were game enough to crank a camera under a rain of bullets. Wareham Theatre, Tuesday afternoon and evening, April 6.—Adv.

COLLEGE SHIPS MANY TREES.

People of State Take Advantage of Good Season for Planting.

The College nursery is busy these days shipping trees to various parts of the state. During the drouths of the past few years many trees have been killed, and the people of the state are taking advantage of the present good season to replant trees in those sections which have suffered the most.

The College is sending out a large number of evergreen trees. These are from two to four years old. According to C. A. Scott, state forester, the best trees for planting are those which have been transplanted once or twice. The transplanting helps to develop a root system which takes up the plant food in the soil quickly and enables the trees to withstand a period of drouth.

DePAUW STUDENTS UP IN ARMS.

New Social Rules Rouse Students' Ire, Due to Parents' Protests.

DePauw students are up arms over recent actions of the faculty committee on social rules at the university. No social engagement may be held at night between individuals except over the week ends, and these must terminate at 10 o'clock.

Men and women students are permitted to be together in the daytime only from 4:30 in the afternoon until dinner time at 5:30, or until 7 o'clock if they care to eat elsewhere than at their regular boarding places. The most important of the new rules is one that prohibits buggy riding in the day time and at the hours named Women students, who violate the rules, may lose all social privileges or be subject to suspension or expulsion. No penalty is provided for the men. Protests from parents who assert that the expenses of men students are abnormal, is said to be the cause of the new rulings.

COMPLETE SEVEN-DAY TEST.

Dairy Department has Tested Pure Bred and Grade Holsteins.

The 7-day test that the dairy department of the College has been carrying on with two pure bred Holsteins and two grade Holsteins from the College dairy herd was completed last week.

The result of the test are surprising as the grade cows showed up almost as good as the pure breds. The cows were all three-year olds. One of the pure breds made 22 pounds of butter in the seven days and the other made 19.4 pounds. In the same time one of the grade cows produced 21 pounds of butter and the other 20 pounds, the two pure breds thus producing but 0.4 of a pound more butter than the two grade cows.

Election of officers of the junior class for the spring term was held yesterday. The following elections were announced last night: president, J. L. Garlough; vice president, F. R. Rawson; secretary, Miss Ruth Adams; treasurer, P. H. Wheeler; marshal, J. H. Welsh.

ERECT THE WIRELESS TOWER

SIGNAL SQUAD OF CADET CORPS IS BUSY ERECTING THE 60-FOOT TOWER NORTH OF THE CHEMISTRY BUILDING.

USE WIRELESS IN FIELD WORK

When Completed the New Station will Send Messages 500 Miles and Will Receive Them From a Distance of 1000 Miles.

The signal squad of the College cadet corps, assisted by the engineering department, is erecting the 60-foot wireless tower north of the chemistry building. A 30-foot mast will be fastened to the top of the tower, thus making the aerial, upon which the antennae will be strung, 900 feet high.

The antennae of the wireless will extend from this tower to the top of the chemistry building. When completed the station will be capable of sending messages from 300 to 500 miles, depending upon the condition of the atmosphere, and under favorable conditions will be able to "hear" the wireless station at Savannah.

Use it For Field Work.

The signal squad will use the wireless for field work and will be in communication with Fort Riley at all times. A number of the members of the squad are already familiar with the working of the instrument, and as rapidly as possible the others will become acquainted with its manipulation. There are about 30 men in the squad.

FORM AN EIGHT WEEKS CLUB.

Purpose of Movement is to Train Leaders Among College Girls.

The Y. W. C. A. is starting the "Eight Weeks club" movement in the College. The object of this movement is to train leaders among our college girls for the purpose of bringing together the young women and girls of their home community during the summer months, to learn some of the things which lead to a happier, more useful life, and unite them in definite service to the neighborhood.

This club will meet every Tuesday morning during the second hour in the domestic science building and all girls are cordially invited. The topics which will be dealt with are: Books girls like and How Leaders may secure Them, Miss Derby: Country Handcraft and Native Material, Miss Averil; Fundamental Problems in Rural Sanitation, Miss Rigney; Rest Room Work in Small Towns, Good Times for Country Boys and Girls, Music and Story Telling, Dr. J. R. Macarthur: Modern Improvements in the Farm Home, Country Association Work, Miss Groves; The Home and its Decoration, Miss Holman.

WILL SHOW DEADLY KISS GERM.

Denatured Kisses Will Feature Wisconsin Exhibit.

Why a kiss should be idelivered through a screen will be demonstrated by the University of Wisconsin at its exposition this week.

The persons who attend the show will have a chance to see just how the bacteria which are transmitted from the lips of some Don Juan to those of his lady love develop and endanger the health of the recipient.

Just how the demonstration will be made is kept a secret, but the deadly kiss germ according to bacteriological experts, has been dragged from its lair and will be laid low.

To Form Forensic Society.

Students interested in the organization of a forensic society met during the second hour Friday morning in A 51 to talk over the idea. Carl Hoffman was appointed chairman of a committee to draft a constitution for the organization. The meeting adjourned before the other members of th committee were named. Another meeting will be held in the band room next Saturday evening.

GIRLS WILL DEBATE SALINA

DUAL CONTEST WILL BE HELD WITH WESLEYANS ON FRIDAY NIGHT BY THE GIRLS' DEBATING TEAMS.

ARGUE IMMIGRATION QUESTION

Affirmative Team Will Remain at Home—Coach John R. Macarthur is Following a New Policy in Debating Circles This Term.

The girls' debating teams of the College will meet the girls' teams of Salina Wesleyan in a dual debate on Friday night on the subject: Resolved, That immigration to the United States should be further restricted by a literacy test. The affirmative team will remain at home, the negative team making the trip to Salina.

This is the last co-ed debate of the year. The girls have been working hard this week in preparation for this final contest. Coach John R. Macarthur has been giving the captains individual work and Prof. A. E. Shower of the public speaking department has been coaching the girls on delivery.

Follow a New Policy.

Coach Macarthur is pursuing a policy in intercollegiate debate this year that is different than any used at the College heretofore. Instead of making use of only a limited number of people in the contests and thus having a small number of highly specialized debaters, he is endeavoring to bring as many people as possible in touch with this activity. Of course this means inexperienced teams for the first year or so, but gradually a large circle of experienced debaters will result. Thus the yearly schedule can be enlarged to include contests with more institutions.

The affirmative team, which will meet the negative team from Salina Wesleyan in the College auditorium, is composed of Miss Ina B. Wilson, captain, Miss Mary Dakin, and Miss May Sweet. The negative team which wil make the trip to Salina is composed of Miss Madge Thompson, captain, Miss Marion Fowler, and Miss Rose Baker. Miss Estella M. Boot of the English department will accompany the girls to Salina.

Two of the judges for the contest had been secured yesterday. They are W. D. Ross, superintendent of public instruction of the state from Topeka, and J. Will Kelley, secretary of the Commercial club of Topeka.

TO GIVE LECTURE ON TURKEY

K. Bagdasarian of Armenia Will Give a Lecture on Turkey in the Old Chapel on Thursday Night.

K. Bagdasarian, an oriental lecturer and entertainer, will give a lecture on Turkey in the old chapel on Thursday night at 8:30.

Mr. Bagdasarian gives a masterly lecture on the manners, customs, society, government, languages, and religion of all the races throughout the Turkish Empire. He will sing in four languages, namely Turkish, Armenian, Arabian, and Persian. He will also give an exhibition of a large number of beautiful oriental costumes, representing various countries and nationalities. A grand exhibition of three wedding ceremonies according to the Turkish, Armenian, and Arabian customs will be included in the evening's entertainment.

K. Bagdasarian was born in the city of Haspoot, Armenia, about 22 days' journey east of Canstantinople. He was graduated from an American college, where he spent eight years. Soon after he completed his course of study he occupied the chair of history in this college for three years. Later on he served the American consul as a secretary.

During the Balkan war he came to America for higher education. After his return to the capital of the Turkish Empire he was arrested with friends for leaving the country without having secured a passport. They were thrown into a dungeon for 91 days where two of his friends died of starvation and the cruel treatment of the Turkish officers. When the facts became known to the American ambassador he offered his assistance and secured their freedom from the dungeon.

Mr. Bagdarasarian has given his lecture in a number of Kansas churches and colleges this winter.

The circulation manager of the Collegian wants five students to canvas the student body and the faculty for subscriptions to the Kansas State Collegian. A liberal percent will be paid. Apply at the Collegian office.

ADVOCATES 12 MONTHS' SCHOOL.

Andrew Would Have Extra Time Spent in Industrial Training.

Public schools open for 12 months of the year instead of nine, and vocational guidance for pupils, were advocated by W. H. Andrews, associate professor of mathematics and representative of the College in the state high school survey, who addressed the child welfare conference at Lawrence recently on the subject, "New and Progressive Measures for the Board of Education."

Professor Andrews has been for several years a member of the Manhattan board of education, where he has been a vigorous advocate of modern educational practices.

In lengthening the school year Professor Andrews would not have the extra time spent in book study, but in industrial training and in out-of-door expeditions.

A four-day financial campaign will be launched on Thursday by the Y. M. C. A. to line up the men of the College on the financial proposition for next fall. The campaign will be handled by men who will have as their special duty a personal canvas of the four classes of the College.

Of the budget which the Y. M. C. A. is working for, $950 will be used for improving the local building and for buying equipment. It is hoped that $1,500 of the budget will be raised among the College men.

The following men are in charge of the campaign in the four classes of the College: D. W. Woolley, freshman; Harold W. Luhnow, sophomore; J. L. Garlough, junior; W. W. Haggard, senior.

IN A PARAGRAPH.

As a result of a decision made by the board at its meeting last week, the work in home decoration and color and design will be transferred from the division of mechanic arts to the division of home economics. The work in farm mechanics will be transferred from the division of agriculture to the division of mechanic arts.

AGGIES TAKE INITIAL CONTEST

TROUNCE THE BETHANY COLLEGIANS IN A LISTLESS CONTEST ON COLLEGE FIELD TUESDAY BY THE SCORE OF 5 TO 0.

SWEDES SECURE A LONE HIT

Feature of Game was Pitching of Hodgson—Ten Bethanites Strike Out—McGalliard Makes a Three Base Hit to Center Field.

(By E. H. Smith.)

The Kansas Aggie baseball team celebrated the coming of spring by trouncing the Bethany Collegians in a listless baseball contest on College Field yesterday afternoon, the final count being 5 to 0. The feature of the game was the pitching of Lowman's iron man, Hodgson. So perfect was his work and the support of the help that the Swedes failed to hammer out more than a single hit in any one inning. Hodgson's bluff also figured in on the contest, an even ten of the Bethany batsmen whiffing the drizzly ozone the required number of strokes.

Bethany Nails a Hit.

Bethany nailed a hit in the initial round and left a pair on the sacks when Coolbaugh skied out to Reynolds in the center garden. Broddle rapped the pill through second and Agnew drew a walk and died on the path; Reynolds living through the play, at first. Captain Briney crashed a hit through second and Reynolds and Broddle counted. McGalliard's powerful blow to the center-field running track went for three bases and Briney counted the final tally of this chapter.

After retiring the Swedes in order in their half of the second period the Aggies came back again and errors put Hodgson over with the fourth counter. A hit by "Bill" Scanlan and an error on Third Baseman Edinburg put Lowman's hefty first sacker over the plate with the final counter of the game in the eighth.

OREGON HAS LARGE LIBRARY.

Volumes Now Number 53,800—Is Second Largest in Northwest.

The University of Oregon library now ranks second in size of all college libraries in the Northwest. The University of Washington ranks first.

At present the Oregon library numbers 53,800 volumes, and an addition of 400 to 800 is made each year. There are of this number 470 books unaccountably missing.

Oregon students are said to be using the campus library much more this year than ever before. Many books are sent to people over the state. So far this year 1443 books have been distributed by mail.

Lists of books have been prepared by the librarians and sent out over the state. Special lists have been made on such subjects as child study, and outlined reading for doctors and ministers. Upon request the librarians will prepare a list of books on any subject.

Lawton Hanna spent the week end with his parents in Clay Center.

The chief end of all good journalism is helpful public service.—Walter Williams.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 7, 1915.

Light is the task where many share the toil.—Homer.

IMPRESSIONISTIC CONDUCT.

During the vacation between terms the editor made a little trip to a neighboring city. The train was crowded and only the seats in the smoking car were vacant, so there he tried to pass away the time by studying some notes on the ethics of journalism.

At a small division point where the train stopped a group of four traveling men boarded the train and made their way to the smoker. The air in the coach was already heavy and blue with the smoke from cabbage-leaf cigars, corn cob pipes, and hand rolled cigarettes, but now the atmosphere became punctured with streaks of blue like the lightening pierces the heavy rain cloud. Profanity seemed to be the sole vocabulary of the quartet, and so loud were their voices that they could be heard from one end of the car to the other. And then of course came the songs and stories.

In less than three minutes the observing person could have had these characters pigeon-holed. You did not have to see their faces, their language distinguished them. If they had not said another word after the first five minutes they were in the car, you could have placed them in their classification.

You have heard of impressionistic art and of impressionistic literature. Here is an example of impressionistic conduct. The language of these four, the trend of their conversation, and the very atmosphere that hung about them were sufficiently outstanding to give an accurate portrayal of their characters.

Did you ever stop to think that some little act, perhaps a careless word will act as a key by which some person—whom you may never see again—will form his estimation of you? We cannot be too careful of our conduct at any time. The observing person needs but a few actions, a few words to unfold a character to him. Conduct is highly impressionistic and we should be careful that our actions and words produce only the best of impressions. And we must consider more than just ourselves in this connection. We must think of our associates on whom we might reflect, of our college, of our home. Impressions of conduct are lasting and it may take years to wipe out what has resulted from a careless word or action.

Let us be exemplary in our conduct. Let us make every action, every word impressionistic of the highest, the best, the noblest in life.

THE GREATNESS OF THE LORD.

Who in the heaven can be compared unto the Lord? Who among the sons of the mighty can be likened unto the Lord?—Psalms lxxxix, 6.

CAPT. ADNA G. CLARKE.

We are delighted to know that Capt. Adna G. Clarke has been detailed for service with the cadet corps at the college. Captain Clarke is one of the real heroes whom Kansas has produced; and, at the same time, a kinder or more gentlemanly soldier would be mighty hard to find. He will be admired and loved for his sterling worth, both as man and commandant.

His record in the war in the Philippines ranks with that of the very best Kansas sent there, and they were the best of all. His boys who saw him fall that day with a Philippine ball through him, will never forget the heart-pangs which swept through them at the sight. His manly courage and enduring patience through the long days and nights of suffering that have followed from his wounds have been a daily lesson to those of us who have had the privilege of being his friends.—Manhattan Mercury.

DO YOU KNOW?

That a number of us might get a lesson from the convict who is taking a course in theme writing under one of the instructors in the English department of the College? When advised to recopy a theme, he replied, "I will gladly do it for I have plenty of time. I have thirty-eight years of my sentence yet to serve." Although we have not a term of thirty-eight years to spend in prison most of us are sentenced to use the English language for at least that long.

What the Eta Betas think of the man who is erecting a grocery store across the street from their house on Poyntz avenue?

Why when for a change we have a good College quartet people refer to it and it is even mentioned in print as the Aggieville quartet? If the custom continues the uninitiated will soon think that it is composed of a group of fellows in no way connected with the College, who gather on the street corners in Aggieville and produce those old barber-shop chords.

That one member of the band is so "fussy" about the clothes he wears that he had cuffs put on the trousers of his band uniform before he would wear them?

What good looking stranger with a sorority girl afforded the crowd in the College Inn Saturday evening considerable amusement by his serious attempts to toss paper wads through a large mirror in to what he thought was another room? Sure Kansas is dry.

That a young lady on Fairchild entertained a date on the porch Sunday afternoon and the poor fellow stood up for half an hour before he got up enough nerve to move three pairs of rubbers that occupied the end of the porch swing opposite his fair one

Suggestions to paragraphers over the country, "Why not pull that old one about the sassafras tea?"

We are sending out a tracer for the old-fashioned barber who, when he had completed his work on your hair, always said, "Wet or dry?"

If the Lambdas intend to keep a goat this spring? We see they are collecting all the tin cans in the neighborhood and storing them in their back yard.

"He ought to be a good singer," commented Simson Brocton, as a student in a rooky uniform passed through Main, "for he has a pair of legs that would make a canary envious."

We wish to take this opportunity to thank the gentleman who so kindly substituted for us in this column last issue.

"THE GIRL I LEFT BEHIND ME."

William Fox presents Robert Edeson in David Belasco's scpectacular drama, "The Girld I Left Behind Me." As Lieutenant Hawksworth, Mr. Edeson has a part well fitted to his exceptional abilities and the dashing manly courage with which the young officer meets the many difficulties and dangers that confront him makes a way for him into the hearts of the spectators as well as into the hearts of the heroine who is most charmingly portrayed by Miss Clare Whitney. COURSES COVER A BROAD FIELD.

Special emphasis on the teaching of home economics will be laid in the summer session of the Kansas Agricultural College. An attractively illustrated bulletin announces the courses in the subject.

Methods in home economics education will be taught in two divisions, one open to experienced teachers of the subject, the other to inexperienced ones. The courses will cover a broad field, including the organization of the course of study in academic, technical, trade, vocational, and junior high schools, and the presentation of topics relating to nutrition, foods, sanitation, home nursing, textiles, clothing, costume design, laundry, and household furnishing and decoration, Mrs. Ann Gilchrist Strong, professor of household arts in the University of Cincinnati, will offer the courses.

Extensive work will be given in the typical courses in domestic science and art. Some courses of unusual interest deal with the home, modern developments in household arts, home nursing, institutional cookery, public school drawing, and home economics for rural schools.

AMONG THE ENGINEERS.

Experiment With Fuels.

Dean A. A. Potter and J. C. Shutt are carrying on experiments to determine the effects of various compression pressures upon the economy of gas engines. They are also testing the various ratios of air to fuels.

Construct a Dynamometer.

W. H. Sanders and W. A. Buck, a fellow in steam and gas engineering, are doing research work this term with the various forms of traction engines. They are also constructing a new form of dynamometer to be used in determining the tractive effort of the engines.

Install Steam Flow Meter.

A steam flow meter has been installed in the steam and gas laboratory in the engineering building. This meter measures the amount of steam consumed by the DeLaval steam turbine.

Work Out Improvements.

The making of designs for the future improvement of the engineering laboratories and power plant of the College is a part of the work being done this term by the senior students in mechanical engineering. Among the problems that are being worked out are designs for cooling ponds, cooling towers, and new machinery for handling coal and ashes at the heat and power plant.

Have New Type Oil Engine.

Through the courtesy of the international Harvester Co., the steam and gas engineering department of the College has for its use the latest type of oil burning engine which is designed especially for small town electric light plants. The engine is rated at 25 hp. and is of the two cylinder vertical type. It is equipped with an air starter. The steam and gas engineering department now has engines valued at $20,000 which have been loaned by various concerns.

Label the Switch Board.

The various switches on the College switch board located in the engineering building have been labeled. This is in accordance with the policy of the division to label all things in the engineering building, thus facilitating and making more enjoyable trips by students or visitors through the buildings.

I. I. Taylor, instructor in applied mechanics, is carrying on extensive investigations with Kansas sands.

G. B. McNair, instructor in electrical engineering, is doing research work on the problem of illuminating the rural home.

(By the House of Kuppenheimer)

TO know Who's Who in the world of Young Men's Clothes it is only necessary to keep your eyes open.

Where else will you find such class as in the WAYNE, for instance?

It mirrors every latest detail of fashion. There is a self-possession, a general expression of rightness about it that makes it a safe suit to buy and an effective one to wear.

The coat has a soft roll front and closes with two buttons. It shows the new military tendency in its high waist-line, natural shoulders and its shapely sleeves finished with narrow cuffs.

If we were asked to account for the remarkable growth of our young men's business over the entire country, we should say that the facts are getting across to more young men every day.

They have a better idea of the thing to wear —who makes it, the dealer who sells it and where they can come the nearest to getting value for both sides of their dollar.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN.

VOLUME 21. NUMBER 32. KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, SATURDAY, APRIL 10, 1915. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

GRANT PRESS CLUB CHARTER

SIGMA DELTA CHI, NATIONAL JOURNALISTIC FRATERNITY, HAS GRANTED CHARTER TO PRESS CLUB OF THE COLLEGE.

KANSAS BETA WILL INSTALL

Fraternity Consists of 20 Active Chapters and More than 1000 Members—Membership Excluded to College Men Entering Journalistic Work.

Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity, by a unanimous vote of the executive council, has granted a charter to a petitioning body in the Kansas Agricultural College known as the Press club, a journalistic organization composed of the men of the College who are enrolled in the course in journalism. The chapter will be installed by the Kansas Beta chapter.

Sigma Delta Chi is a national journalistic fraternity whose membership is limited to College men who intend to take up some form of journalism as their lifework. The fraternity has 20 chapters and more than 1000 members. These chapters are located in 17 states extending from Ohio to California and from Washington to Louisiana. Eleven of these chapters are west of the Mississippi river. At present there are five colleges and universieies petitioning the fraternity for charters.

Recognizes Work Done Here.

It was through the suggestion of N. A. Crawford, in charge of the department of journalism, that the Press club took steps to petition Sigma Delta Chi. The obtaining of the charter is largely due to the efforts of the department of journalism. A local journalistic organization of the College made an unsuccessful effort several years ago to secure a charter from Sigma Delta Chi. The following statement by F. M. Church, secretary of the fraternity and well-known newspaper correspondent of Ann Arbor, Michigan regarding the department of journalism in the College shows how the work being done here is considered: "I have learned through several channels of the surprisingly broad extent of the practical and technical journalistic work that your men are accomplishing and I have no hesitancy in predicting that the fraternity will act favorably on your petition." The granting of the charter comes as a recognition of the strength of the department of journalism in the College.

Members of Press Club.

The active members of the Press club to which the charter has been granted are: V. E. Bundy, Tom Blackburn, C. J. Graham, D. P. Ricord, E. H. Smith, and Ralph H. Heppe. The alumni and honorary members of the club are: E. W. Hoch, of the board of administration; H. J. Waters, president of the College, E. N. Wentworth, professor of animal breeding; J. W. Searson, professor of the English language; N. A. Crawford, in charge of the department of industrial journalism; W. A. Sumner, assistant in the department of journalism; G. C. Wheeler, '95, A. G. Kittell, '09; O. W. Weaver, '11; Harlan D. Smith, '11; Thomas A. Leadley, '13; E. T. Keith, '12; V. V. Detwiler, '13; C. G. Wellington, took special course in journalism in the College; thomas J. Harris, '14; and Harry Zeigler, '14.

INSPECT MANY TEXT BOOKS.

Book Companies Submit Texts for Examination by Commission.

Several hundred text books on various subjects designed for use in high schools occupy a table in the office of the president waiting to be examined by Dr. H. J. Waters, president of the College, who is a member of the State Text Book commission.

A Kansas law requires all book companies interested in having their publications adopted as state texts to submit them to the State Text Book commission for approval. The merits of the various texts are then passed upon by the commission. In this work the members of the commission are aided by prominent educators of the state.

CAMPUS IS A BUSY PLACE.

Presents Appearance of Military Parade Grounds on Drill Days.

Spring work in the military department is going on with a rush these beautiful balmy days and the campus is a busy scene during drill hours with all the companies, the band, and the signal corps, preparing for the annual inspection in May.

Wednesday Company A began practice on the Butts' manual of arms. A number of the companies also began the practice of erecting wall and conical tents. The College wig-waggers were to be seen about the campus waving their signals to each other. Even the band was out parading around and enlivening the work with some inspiring martial music.

"Work for the spring inspection is in full swing now," says Lieutenant Roy A. Hill, the commandant, "and in a few weeks we hope to have the corps in such shape that they will be able to secure again the title of 'Distinguished institution for the College" This title is conferred upon the ten land grant institutions in the country that have the most efficient military departments.

NATIONAL PRIDE AND RESPECT

Yesterday afternoon while the College band played the "Star Spangled Banner' and the cadet corps passed in review a group of College students—and professors too—stood on the east side of the auditorium laughing and talking. Is there no such thing as respect for our national song and the flag of the stripes and starry field? Certainly one would think not from such actions.

It may have been carelessness, if so it was a form hardly excusable. Surely as true American citizens we should be proud to stand at attention and remove our hats when the "Star Spangled Banner" is being played and our flag is passing in review. By all means we should do so to set an example to the many foreigners in attendance at our College.

When dress parades are held next week why not stand at attention remove your hat, and show the respect due to our national song and our stainless flag? We should be proud that we are Americans. Let's show it.

CATALOG COMES OUT MAY 15.

It will be the same size as that of the university, and will be issued some weeks prior. The 1915 edition will contain the names of those who received degrees and certificates during the previous year. There will be several changes in courses, chiefly in the home economics department and the school of ag. Otherwise the catalog will be practically the same as last year's.

COLLEGE GIRLS PLAY TENNIS.

All Physical Training Classes are Taught to Handle a Racket.

The girls' physical training classes are being given some practical instruction in playing tennis at the gym this term and as soon as the weather permits they will have access to the College courts west of Nichols. "Most girls," said Miss Burns, "and many men for that matter, handle a tennis racket as if they were playing ping pong. While it is not the intention of the department to develop any experts, the girls will probably get enough pointers so as to avoid many of the beginner's blunders." Every physical training class will receive tennis instruction.

Suggests How to Plant Trees.

C. A. Scott, state forester, was in Great Bend on Wednesday giving suggestions in tree planting in the city. The Civic club of the town has taken up the matter of planting trees on the streets. While in Great Bend Mr. Scott met E. J. Bird, '14, and H. C. Bird, '14 who are on a farm near that city.

Karl Knaus, '14, who has been helping his father feed cattle the past winter at his home at Benedict, expects to teach next winter.

Horace W. Chittenden has gone home for the spring term.

WILL FROSH WEAR CAPS?

FRESHMEN ARE ANXIOUS TO PURCHASE HEADGEAR AND WILL DO SO WITH THE SUPPORT OF UPPER CLASSES.

TO SUBMIT SAMPLES TUESDAY

If Upper Classes Support First Year Men in the Movement it Will be Started—Decide Definitely at Meeting Tuesday.

At the meeting of the freshman class last Tuesday the first year men decided that they would start the custom of wearing caps this spring if they were backed in the movement by the upper classes of the College.

"Dutch" Hewey has been appointed a committee of one to secure samples which he will present to the class at its meeting next Tuesday. At this time the frosh hope to pick out a style of cap that will suit them. A motion was made at the last meeting that the caps should be worn all the time but it was killed. The type of cap and time of wearing will be decided at the meeting Tuesday.

In starting this movement the frosh feel as if they should have the backing of the upper classes. If the upper classmen will get behind the freshmen and see the thing through that is all the first year men desire. As one freshman expressed it the class is hanging back a little just to see if the other classes of the College will suport them. As soon as this is evidenced the frosh will push the movement and in a short time the caps of the 1918 class will be seen on the campus. A little pep now at the psychological moment and the movement will be a success.

IT IS TIME TO GO SWIMMING.

Both Men's and Women's Pools are Full of Warm Water.

The swimming season was formally ushered in this week when Instructor Holladay had had the men sswimming filled with warm water and permitted the water ducks to splash and plunge to their heart's content. The pool filled with warm water and permitted the water ducks to splash and ter 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when there will be a man in charge of the "swimming hole" to rescue the unfortunates who get into deep water. All swimmers must have a swimming permit from Mr. Holladay.

The class in the morning will be taught to swim useing the latest styles of strokes. The new spring board is now in place and some attention is paid to different forms of diving. The class consists of about 100 school of ag. men and some 30 College students.

SCHEDULE POULTRY SCHOOLS.

Ross M. Sherwood Has Arranged Three Two-Day Schools.

Two-day poultry schools have been scheduled for St. Marys, Cheney, and Zenda, and requests for schools at Coldwater and Mineola have been received by Ross M. Sherwood, extension poultryman in the College. The two day courses include lectures on breeds, breeding, housing, incubation, brooding, sanitation, care and marketing of poultry, feeding, and methods of preparing poultry for consumption. The courses are practical and are proving popular where they are scheduled.

WILL BOYCOTT OLYMPIC GAMES.

German Football Union Calls on Members Not to Participate.

Berlin.—The Duetsche Fussballbund, the leading football league in Germany, in a statement just published throughout the empire, opposes the participation by German football players in the Olympic games next year. The great contest was to be staged in the German stadium The statement says:

"The directors of the Duetsche Fussballbund are of the opinion that the time and energy of all Germans should be devoted in these grave times to more important aims.

"The directors of the Fussballbund therefore expect from its members that they will not participate in that contest."

Mrs. J. D. Myers and little son of Kansas City, Mo., and Miss Mattie Beck of Holton have returned to their homes after visiting with Prof. and Mrs. E. H. Holton.

ACCORDING TO BULLETIN RECEIVED FROM WASHINGTON YESTERDAY COLLEGE RIFLE TEAM TOOK SECOND PLACE IN CLASS C.

PUTS COLLEGE IN CLASS B

Yale Placed First in Class by Six One-Hundredths of a Point—Aggie Gunners Made Highest Score in Last Match.

According to a bulletin received from the headquarters of the National board for the promotion of rifle practice at Washington, D. C., late yesterday, the rifle team of the Kansas Agricultural College took second place in the inter-collegiate rifle competition series and just missed taking first place in Class C by .06 of a point, the Yale team taking first place.

By ranking second in Class C the Kansas Agricultural College will move up into Class B of the intercollegiate rifle series for next year. The rifle teams in Class B that made the lowest scores this year will drop back into Class C. It is expected that four teams will change places in these two classes this year.

CO-EDS WIN FROM SALINA

Decision of Judges was Two to One—Girls Won Fairly and Easily said Coach J. R. Macarthur.

By a two to one decision of the judges the co-ed affirmative debating team of the College defeated the Salina girls last night in the College auditorium before an audience of 400 on the subject; Resolved, That immigration to the United States should be further restricted by a literacy test.

Coach John R. Macarthur expressed himself as being satisfied with the work of the team. "The girls won fairly and easily," he said to a Collegian reporter last night.

Just before the debate the members of the Webster and Eurodelphian literary societies staged a mock prize fight between Willard and Johnson. Willard, who represented the Aggie team, knocked out Johnson who represented the Salina team. Miss Laura Falkenridge refereed the fight.

The members of the girls' team of the College who debated last night are: Miss Ina Wilson, Miss Mary Dakin, and Miss May Sweet. The members of the Salina girls' team are: Miss Stella Kuhn, Miss Baumert, and Miss Smith. The judges of the debate were: Professor Foster, of the state historical society; W. D. Ross, state superintendent of schools; and J. Will Kelley, secretary of the Commercial club of Topeka.

Prof. O. E. Reed was in Kansas City Tuesday.

BUYING SOMETHING TODAY?

There is no school on Saturday afternoon as you know, therefore it is an excellent time in which to do shopping. Doubtless you will have some purchase to make this afternoon. Why not look over the advertising in today's Collegian and make your purchase at one of the stores herein advertised? They are supporting the Collegian why should you not support them? A trial will please you we are sure.

BOARD WILL MEET MONDAY.

An important meeting of the Collegian board will be held in the Mercury office on Monday evening at 7:15. It is imperative that every member of the board be present as matters of vital importance will be taken up. The meeting will be brief.

FARM CONTESTS ARE POPULAR.

College is Conducting Contests for Farm Boys and Girls.

The boys' and girls' contests, which are being conducted by the various farm organizations under the direction of the College, are proving popular among the farmer boys and girls of the state and they are showing an eagerness to enroll. Montgomery county expects to have the greatest number of contestants, E. J. Macey, agent for that county, having nearly 500 boys and girls enrolled.

Southwestern Kansas is also getting into the contest game. Lee H. Gould, district agricultural agent, reports that he will have at least 300 enrolled. Mr. Gould has already secured the promises of 50 free trips to the statewide institute at the College. These trips will be awarded to the winners in the boys' and girls' contests.

LAY PLANS FOR CONCRETE K

Committee Composed of Two Members From Each Class Met Wednesday—Start the Work This Spring.

Plans for the construction of a concrete K on either Bluemont or Prospect were taken up at a meeting last Wednesday evening by a committee composed of two members from each of the four classes of the College.

The committee discussed the different phases of the subject and made plans to get the construction of the letter under way as soon as possible. If the proper financial suport is given, the letter will be built this spring. The committee has not decided definitely yet where the letter will be placed but has planned to take a hike over Prospect and Bluemont and then decide which would be the better location.

H. H. Coxen was elected chairman of the committee.

INDIAN INSPECTS WORK HERE.

Henry Cloud is Getting Pointers for Wichita Indian School.

Henry Roe Cloud, an Indian who is working for the education of his race, visited the College recently for the purpose of getting pointers to use in establishing an Indian school at Wichita next fall.

Mr. Cloud intends to make industrial and agricultural work a strong feature of the school. He was greatly impressed with the work being done at the College and remarked, "These are the things I want my people to learn."

Mr. Cloud was born on the Winnebego Indian reservation in Nebraska. He took his preparatory work in Mt. Vernon, Mass., and was graduated from Yale in 1910. He is also a graduate of Oberlin Theological seminary. He has been a member of several important commissions, and is at present connected with the Phelps-Stokes fund for which he is traveling. This is a fund to be used in the education of the Indian.

Education for the Indian, which will make him independent, is Mr. Cloud's belief of the salvation of his people. This will enable him to better protect himself against the grafter who is continually watching for a chance to get hold of the Indian's money.

OFFER SPECIAL COURSE IN H. E.

The course will be presented under rural school conditions, using rural school apparatus with pupils of school age. The course is designed for teachers who have had no special training in home economics but who wish to install such a course in their schools.

H. Hall, instructor in the English language, has been sick for several days and unable to teach his classes. He has a touch of pneumonia.

MEET WESLEYANITES TODAY

CONDITION OF COLLEGE FIELD INDICATES THAT THIS AFTERNOON'S GAME WILL BE A MUD-WADING CONTEST.

AGGIES ARE SLUGGING HARD

In Initial Appearance Briney's Crew Showed Ability to Swat the Pill—Hodgson's Pitching Proves to be Nine-Reel Feature.

(By E. H. Smith.)

With the kind permission of that old gink, J. Pluvius, Coach Lowman's help will endeavor to entertain the diamond 1915 appearance of the Briney Pill mud-wading contest on College Field this afternoon at four bells. The second 1915 apearance of the Briney Pill Pasters will be for the purpose of subduing one Salina Wesleyan aggregation of embryonic National leaguers. This gang of Wesleyanites trimmed the Cooper Collegians who in turn forced the St. Marys Irishmen to play a fairly respectable piece of Chadwick pastiming to draw a win. And therefore according to the bubbles in the foam, the local fence demolishers are due for a forced assault on the Serum Plant and all parts west of Wild Cat in this afternoon's fracas if game No. 2 is to be chalked up in the W column.

Aggies are Hitting Well.

There is a deal of ability to smite the seams off the old alley ball out there on the Lowman nine, too. Take that nasty three-base crack McGalliard poked out in the first session of the tussle with the Messiah singers. One pretty little piece of slugging followed another, for Captain Briney had just slashed one over second that shooed two off the path. And then take for further proof, the hit "Spareribs" Scanlan scored. The gazaboo that placed "Bill" at the bottom in the batting average column has another guess coming. "Red" Agnew didn't land in the H column but our advice to opposing pitchers is to trust him no farther than one could shoot a Krupp shell with a pop-gun.

Hodgson a Nine-Reel Feature.

With four outer gardeners of egg-like similarity, Coach Lowman is trying to make room for the quartet. Reynolds will probably grace the right wing and McGilliard will be used on the rubber. "Mac" has a few slants and hops that will fool some little old ball team one of these murky days. But when it comes to heaving the horsehide Lowman has the original Million Dollar Mystery standing knee-deep in the brine with this nine-reel feature, Hodgson.

Many's the time you'll hear someone say, "Well, he ain't got a thing but a head." But he gets by with it just the same so there you are. Why the need of argument? At the end of the season our guessing apparatus has it that this Aggie pitcher will be the king pin in the Missouri Valley.

THE BADGE HAS A HISTORY.

"The Docs" Scarlet Circle Traced to American Revolution.

London—The Duke of Cornwall's light infantry wear caps the badges of which are backed with scarlet cloth. The little splash of red is one of the most highly treasured honors of "the Docs." The tiny circle is all that remains of the scarlet feathers which the predecessors of the Second battalion of the Forty-sixth Regiment of Foot brought back after the American war of independence.

The story has often been related and testifies to the reputation which the regiment secured from the enemy. With five other corps forming a light battalion, the Forty-sixth dipped their feathers red so that the Americans might know "The Light Bobs," to whom they had promised "no quarter."

Miss Jeannette Wheeler left last week for her home in Garden City. Miss Wheeler's mother has been very ill for several weeks but is doing quite well now.

Sherman Bell will arrive this week from his home in Perry to spend several days with friends at the Pi Kappa Alpha house.

W. A. Atkinson, who was called home several days before the close of the winter term, enrolled in the College this week.

SATURDAY, APRIL 10, 1915.

There is but one virtue—the eternal sacrifice of self.—George Sands.

THE LESSON OF THE IVY.

A little ivy vine was planted on the west side of a building in the hopes that it would grow and spread and make beautiful the otherwise bare wall. Day by day the little vine pushed its way upward. It was filled with life and vigor and there was in it a something that made it long for the blue sky above. It would not be satisfied until it had crowned the pinnacle of the building. Even when the wintry winds began to blow and the first frost of the autumn sent the leaves of other trees and vines fluttering to the ground in myriad numbers the little ivy remained as green and beautiful as ever, for it was an evergreen.

Is there not something in this little story of nature for us to learn? What have we set as our mark? Are we going to be satisfied with life's progress before we reach the pinnacle of our ambitions?

What a truly wonderful thing it would be if we would be satisfied only with making the most possible out of life; if, instead of stopping when a degree of success comes, we would make it a stepping stone to higher things, to nobler purposes. Why cannot we like the ivy keep our eye on the goal to which we have set ourselves? Why stop while there are heights unscaled?

What a world this would be if everyone would measure success not in dollars and cents but in the amount of good accomplished; if each one, instead of being concerned only with his own selfish progress, could look beyond to see the effect upon his fellow man. Perhaps if we would be satisfied only with the highest and noblest in life the desired effect would be produced. Why not take the example set by the little ivy vine? Its life was consecrated to high and noble aspirations and its daily growth was toward the attainment of these.

The fight is a hard one and to the quick. But stay with it. Did the ivy vine give up when the frigid blasts of winter began to blow? No, it remained as green and beautiful as ever and put forth every effort to sustain itself. Nothing could satisfy it but the attainment of its ambitions.

Push on. Let no external conditions discourage you. Leave no heights unscaled. Heed no scathing criticisms or ungarnished remarks. Keep your eye ever on the pinnacle of your ambitions and some day you will awake to find God's outdoors in tune with your nature and the world ready to count you a winner among men.

It's better to do something and let the world talk than to talk about what you are going to do and never do it.

The more goodness we have in our hearts the more of it we will be able to see in the world about us.

DO YOU KNOW?

Which one of the deans of the College disregarded all rules, stepped over a sign, and walked on the tender grass on the way to his office the other morning?

That those hats that we predicted have been on display for some time now and they are still holding their own with the headgear of the ten dollar class, too?

That there is a fellow attending College who can whistle and desiring to see a certain young lady on a matter of grave importance the other evening he was forced to take a companion along to "whistle her out."

What notable campus character who likes onions and admires the fair sex has considerable trouble in reaching a decision when the loud vegetable is placed on the table at his boarding place? It seems one of his particular lady friends detests theperfume of the violent fruit and told him he could choose between them and when it comes to deciding between onions and dates the poor fellow is in a dilemma indeed.

That a bright junior Miss preserves all the garment and hat labels that chance her way and later by their judicious use she is able to give an air of class and distinction to many of her home-made productions?

What senior girl has a pronounced antipathy for sweaters and even refused to wear one that was given her by an admiring friend?

What professor in the A. H. department has such a fondness for norfolk coats and wash ties that he wears them from December around to December again?

What junior who receives about three letters a week from the girl back home has asked her to change her brand of stationery? It seems one of the letters remained on the hall seat for several hours and some one read right through the transparent envelope. They have a new name for him now.

What freshman bought a bicycle because his girl lived so far away?

That about a dozen fans smoked at the baseball game Tuesday? Nothing like having faculty rulings, is there?

Why Lantz-Young Clothes Are Serviceable

WE have not forgotten that clothes are made to wear. Snappy styles—handsome patterns are desirable and expected here—but these qualities in clothes do not add to durability. Lantz-Young clothes for women give a dollar's worth of wear for every dollar put in them. They hold their shape—they look practically as well after months of service as when first put on. We buy only from makers who stitch to old-fashioned ideas of service. We require them to live up to the present day tastes in styles. Upon that sound basis the success of Lantz-Young clothes rests.

ANNOUNCE CADET OFFICERS

LIST OF OFFICERS IN THE COLLEGE CADET CORPS FOR THE SPRING TERM HAS BEEN GIVEN OUT.

HAVE COLONEL FOR FIRST TIME

The list of the spring promotions in the College cadet corps has been given out. For the first time in the history of the College there is a cadet colonel, O. B. Burtis holding the position. On account of the great number of students leaving College the spring term the military department cancelled all non-commissioned offices at the end of the winter term and later promoted enough men to fill the correct number of vacancies. While most of the men held their offices this method prevented any excess of non-commissioned officers in the corps.

Another innovation is the creation of 2nd lieutenancies for each company of the battalions. Most of these offices have been filled with promotions from the non-commissioned officers. The officers for the spring term are:

ONLY 69 H. S. PLAY FOOTBALL

OUT OF 356 KANSAS HIGH SCHOOLS QUESTIONED BY PROFESSOR LOWMAN THAT NUMBER ENGAGE IN THE SPORT.

THE BENEFITS SURPASS EVILS.

That only 69 high schools out of 336 questioned, in Kansas, played football last season is the surprising fact unearthed by Prof. Guy S. Lowman, director of athletics, in a recent investigation carried on among the larger preparatory schools of the state. The total number of football participants in this number of schools was 942, an average of 15 to the school. The average length of the high school football player's career was found to be one and six-tenths years.

With this mediocre training, the Kansas Agricultural College, the University of Kansas, the Kansas State Normal, and the many other educational institutions of the State, take men and attempt to put out winning football teams. The effort on the part of many schools has been unsuccessful when contesting with schools that secured material of better calibre. It was to draw a statistical conclusion on the matter of material that Professor Lowman investigated the proposition.

Benefits Surpass Evils.

Many other interesting facts were disclosed by the investigation. The chief benefits derived from athletics in general among the high schoolers surpassed the evils by far. The matter of proper coaching by competent men of good moral standing was emphasized in almost every reply. The matter of low scholarship was held to rest more with the teacher individually than with athletics. One objection referred to the proposition of the number permitted to play in sports.

The average number of contests played was 6.8 games. The Thomas county high school and the Belleville high school played ten games each last fall. Lost Springs scored 313 points during the season and Alma tallied 284 counters. The 69 teams playing football scored a total of 7,746 points during the entire season.

TRACK TEAM IS WORKING

THE RETURN OF TEETER AND THE RESULTS OF THE WORKOUTS FORETELL A TEAM WITH PLENTY OF "PEP."

WILL GIVEMO. VALLEY A FIGHT

The First Meet Will be Held at Columbia Against Missouri University on May 1—Aggies Stand a Good Chance.

Although the Aggies may not be returned winners in a single Missouri Valley track and field contest this season they bid fair to give their opponents in the Big Muddy clique torrid battles for points in each event. The first meet of the 1915 season will be held at Columbia, Mo., against the University of Missouri runners and field athletes on Saturday morning, May 1. The reason for holding the meet in the morning is to enable the Tiger athletic authorities to run off their interscholastic event in the afternoon of the same day.

The return of Teeter, College record holder in the two-mile event brightens the outlook for points in this run. Teeter stepped the distance in 9:54 last spring and should be able to clip a few seconds off that time under pressure. Kansas appears to have the best layout of two-milers in the Valley in Poos and Grady who ran close to the 10-minute mark in the dual indoor tussle with Missouri this winter. Kline, of Missouri is a comer in the event and probably will line up well with Teeter and the K. U. runners before the season is completed.

As yet no outdoor tryouts have been held but several good marks have been made and speak for creditable performances from the athletes in competition. Marble has hit the forty-foot mark with the shot and Smith has bettered 115 feet with the discus on two occasions Vanderberg cleared 21 feet 6 inches in the broad leap on Saturday afternoon. Frizzell, Welsh, McGilliard, and Vandenberg, have been making good attempts over the two hurdle distances although the bad weather has not permitted of real time tryouts in either event.

Coach Carl J. Merner claims that Wilder will beat two minutes in the half this season and that Holroyd will be one of the fastest 440 runners around the circuit. Captain Coith and Holroyd are racing the distance neck and neck in each attempt. Crumbacker, Osborne, and Shelley are working on the sprints. Osborne is due to make one of the fastest 220 sprinters the College has ever had.

K. U. SCOUT IS HERE.

Jay Bond Gave the Aggies the "Once Over" on Saturday.

Jay Bond, probably the most famous "scout" the University of Kansas has ever turned out and undoubtedly the most popular of this species of pests in the Missouri Valley, visited Manhattan on last Saturday primarily to give the Aggie baseball team the "once-over" in action. It is hardly possible that he will carry much news to Lawrence.

Speaking of "scouting," Jay says that it is fast becoming a matter of form now-a-days. The athletic sleuth used to gum-shoe his path into the camp of the enemy and stand on the top of a neighboring hill and gain all possible knowledge through the use of a telescope or field glass. The custom now is to walk right into the manager's office and ask for a "comp" to the contest, and why not? Let the manager do the same by you. At least so sayeth Jay Bond.

ERECTED A "K" MONDAY NIGHT

Unknown Juniors Climbed Bluemont and Put up a Bunting "K;" Is a Good Boost for the Concrete "K."

Believing that prompt action would help the "K" committee, enterprising unknown individuals of the junior class proceeded Monday night to erect the much talked of "K." The huge monogram was placed on the west end of Bluemont and it about 20 feet in length. At the base of the letter is a little '16, some two or three feet high. The entire affair is made of bunting as the individuals who erected it believed that hustling rocks on a dark night was too much of a job.

The identity of the perpetrators remains unknown at the present time; the only identification mark found is the "'16" and none of the junior class claim credit of having a hand in the business. However this letter will show the possibilities of the concrete "K" when it finally is erected.

FRESHMAN TEAM IS OUT.

Frosh Baseball Candidates Started Work on Monday.

Freshman baseball candidates were called out Monday and more than 30 men have reported for the workouts which are being conducted each afternoon on the freshman field just north of the varsity diamond. The workouts are being held under the guidance of Harold Newton.

STENOGRAPHERS TAKE ENGLISH.

At their own incentive, 35 stenographers from the different departments on the hill joined an English class under Prof. Searson which is held the ninth hour every Wednesday afternoon. The class will study practical English and is a purely business efficiency proposition, in that the members believe that the money value of good English more than pays for the effort of attending such a class.

Forensic Society Organized.

The Forensic society has been organized especially for work along the lines of debate and oratory, and is different from the literary societies in that it is not limited in membership, and permits outsiders who wish to try out for debate and oratory to become associate members. School of Ag. men may become auxillary members for tryouts for contests with other secondary schools. The officers are: pres., John Sellon; vice-pres., E. C. Thompson; sec., G. B. Shields; treasurer, Geo. Miller; atty., Carl Hoffman; marshal, G. W. Fisher; asst. marshal, J. R. Wood.

That Y. W. C. A. House Party.

Last year's Y. W. C. A. cabinet entertained the new members at a house party last week end, at the association house on Fremont. A picnic supper was served Saturday evening followed by a "kid" party. Devotional services were held Sunday morning and the cabinet dined at the Sweet shop. Talks on the Y. W. C. A. were given by the members in the afternoon.

Ionians Elect.

At the regular meeting of the Ionian literary society, the following officers were elected: president, Miss Amy Gould; vice-pres., Miss Esther Lyon; rec. sec., Miss Laura Mueller; treas., Miss Buelah McNull; critic, Miss Ina B. Wilson.

Seniors Pay Up.

By Tuesday evening the Royal Purple books showed that 221 seniors had paid up and would appear in the annual next June. This finishes the list.

"K" TO BE ON PROSPECT

COMMITTEE HAS CHOSEN MOST PROMINENT PLACE POSSIBLE FOR MONOGRAM WHICH WILL BE A MONSTER.

DIMENSIONS ARE 60X75 FEET

Prospect Was Chosen Because it is Best Seen from the Railroads—The "K" is to Advertise the College to Out-of-Town People.

Harry Coxen, chairman of the "K" committee announced today that the site for the permanent concrete "K" had been chosen, and that the monogram will be placed on the west side of Prospect instead of upon Bluemont, as the old "K. S. A. C." had been.

The "K" will be 60x75 feet in size and may be seen plainly from both the Union Pacific and Rock Island depots and from the College. The reason for placing the "K" on Prospect instead of Bluemont is that the main object is in advertising the College to outsiders, and Bluemont does not offer a satisfactory view to passenger trains. The cost is estimated roughly at about $150.

"So far as I know," said Mr. Coxen, "None of the "K" committee had a hand in putting the "K" on Bluemont Monday night. It is a good thing though and will help boost the big "K."

KILLS MONTANA PRAIRIE DOGS.

Poison Sent Out by College Proves Successful in Other States.

The prairie dog poison manufactured by the zoology department of the College is proving successful in Montana, as well as in this state, as shown by a letter received by Dr. Nabours from George L. Forge, an extensive live stock dealer of Havre. Mr. Forge says that the poison manufactured here is the only kind that he has seen which gives satisfactory results.

Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN IS ON

About 50 Per Cent of the Students Have Been Canvassed by Some 50 Workers.

According to figures given out by Mr. McClain of the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday evening, the financial campaign being carried on is being boosted by almost all the students. Over $465 has been pledged by 196 men and only 50 per cent of the student body has been visited. Then students are not asked for immediate financial support but are desired to fill out cards which may be paid upon next fall when the students return to school flush. The generosity shown everywhere proves the interest of the school in the Y. M. C. A. and Mr. McClain hopes to raise $1000 by next June.

FORM ANTI-MILITARISTIC CLUB.

Students of New York University Oppose Military Work.

New York university students, who met in the auditorium at the Heights recently, asserted they would banish war talk on the campus and work together for universal peace. An anti-militaristic society was formed. Several weeks ago an agitation was started at the university for the establishment of military drill among the students. W. K. Doggett, president of the junior class, headed a committee of three to study the matter, and a negative report was presented.

Upon recommendation of the committee, the matter was dropped. Incidently, however, the appointment of this committee led to the formation of the Anti-Militaristic club. Doggett, who was elected president of the club, said that if those interested in the military drill had not come to New York university, there probably would not have been any Peace club.

It is expected that at least 40 percent of the student body will join the club. This organization is not the first one of its kind. Cornell, Columbia, Princeton, Yale Pennsylvania, Trinity, and others have already formed clubs. Dean Archibald L. Bouton, Chancellor Elmer E. Brown, Dean Charles Snow, and other members of the New York faculty are backing the new organization.

Laidler Will Speak.

At the nine o'clock assembly on Thursday morning Harry W. Laidler, Ph. D. ,of New York City will speak on "Justice to the Toiler."

TO HAVE ONE ISSUE A WEEK

COLLEGIAN BOARD MET ON MONDAY EVENING AND DECIDED TO PUBLISH BUT ONE ISSUE A WEEK.

KLECT NEW STAFF MEMBERS

Ralph Heppe Resigns for Position on Mercury—Blackburn, Sargent, and Ricord are New Men on the Staff.

Acting upon the advice of President Waters, the Collegian board voted on Monday evening to issue the Collegian once a week for the remainder of the term in order that the note might be paid which has been hanging over the paper for the last four years. This money must be paid sometime and the board figured it would be much more creditable to start with a clean slate next fall than to simply drag out the old story and have more compound interest accrue. It is admittedly a step backward but with the present circulation and amount of advertising there was bound to be a crack somewhere.

Need New Subscribers.

If 250 new subscribers would come in the next two weeks, it would not be necessary to drop to one issue a week, figures the business manager. The question simply resolves itself into whether the Collegian note should be paid, President Waters and the Collegian board think that it should.

The once-a-week issue will carry six pages as often as the advertising makes it practicable. There will be several special issues during the term.

Tom Blackburn, a sophomore in industrial journalism, was elected by the board of directors of the Kansas State Collegian to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Ralph H. Heppe, Frank Sargent was elected associate editor, and D. P. Ricord, advertising manager.

The Collegian board voted to allow the Hesperian literary society in the school of agriculture to elect one member of the Collegian board.

NEW STROKE BEATS "CRAWL."

"Kahanamoku" Proves Faster Than Famous Australian Movement.

The performance of Kahanamoku, the Hawaiian, in the New South Wales championship swimming carnival a few days ago, particularly the Olympic record holder's lowering of the world's record for 100 yards of 54 3-5 seconds by four fifths of a second, has caused a decided stir in Australian swimming circles. Indeed, it is predicted that the Australian "crawl" stroke will have to give away to what is being called the "Kahanamoku kick."

It has been contended ever since "Dick" Cavil first used the "crawl" in championship races that the leg work did not materially assist the pace of the swimmer except in keeping the body well balanced on the water and thus minimizing the retarding effects due to the legs and feet sinking. But this theory was quite upset by the methods of the "Duke" and his swimming mate, George Cunha, also of Hawaii, who use the rapid independent movement of the feet, as against the Australian fashion of smacking the leg from the knee down upon the water at every stroke of the arm. The slow, easy movements of Kahanamoku and Cunha from the hips to the tips of the fingers was markedly in contrast in the races with the style which the Australian cracks pitted against them. The buried heads of Barry and Longworth of Sidney, who, are among Australias best, was also in contrast with that of the Hawaiian. The "Duke" kept his head well clear of the water and had, what his competitors did not possess, a clear view of what every opponent was doing.—New York Post.

QUILL MET MONDAY NIGHT.

A Short Story Program was Given; Entrance Stories Were Discussed.

The regular meeting of the Quill was held on Monday evening in the Forum room. A short story program was given by Miss Eva Hostetler, Miss Martha Blain, Frank Sargent, and Miss Edna Barber. The stories that have been handed in for entrance requirements are being worked on by the committee and the successful applicants will be announced in a short time.

DRILL TWO HOURS NOW.

Military Department is Preparing Men for Inspection Held in May.

Beginning last Friday, the cadet corps will drill two hours every day instead of one hour as formerly. This is being done with the consent of the president, on condition that the men receive back every minute of overtime in the form of vacations for ball games and time off after inspection. A program showing when the men receive back their overtime has been posted in the military department and students who find any error in it may take up the matter with the commandant or the president.

OBTAIN JUDGES FROM COLLEGE.

Faculty Members are in Great Demand to Decide Contests.

The high schools and colleges of Kansas are calling upon the College to furnish judges for many of the debates this year. On a single day as many as 12 judges have been sent from the College to different towns.

EDITOR W. R. NELSON IS DEAD

End Comes to the Duke of Newspaperdom; Was One o fAmerica's Greatest Editors.

W. R. Nelson, editor of the Kansas City Star, died at his home in Kansas City on Tuesday. His death marks the end of one of the few great American editors, and the Kansas City Star, perhaps the second greatest paper in America is a monument which he built in the last 30 years. President Waters sent the following telegram to the Star:

"In the death of Colonel Nelson, American journalism has lost one of its most conspicuously successful leaders, and the Kansas State Agricultural College has sustained the loss of one of its staunchest friends and suporters in the work of agriculture and country betterment. For many years Colonel Nelson has stood for agricultural development and for the cultivation of the finer things of rural life. He was among the first to catch the vision of rural life betterment and the first permanent leader to undertake a systematic study of family life conditions on the farm. Before Theodore Roosevelt organized a country life commission, Colonel Nelson established a privately financed commission to investigate farm life problems. He gave to the great papers he controlled a distinctive rural flavor and made them exponents of better farming and better methods of distributing farm products."—H. J. Waters, president.

BIBLE BASIS OF LITERATURE.

Washington Gladden Thinks Scriptures are Key to Reading.

"We have been learning during the last half century that a knowledge of English literature is an indispensable element in public education," writes Washington Gladden in the Atlantic Monthly; "that 'in getting to know,' as Matthew Arnold contended, 'the best that has been said and thought in the world,' we broaden our horizon and purify our ideals, and thus prepare ourselves for the duties of citizenship. Our colleges and universities have been enforcing this truth upon us by their requirements for admission.

"But if a knowledge of literature is indispensable to the education of a citizen, acquaintance with the English Bible is surely fundamental for that knowledge. All our best English literature is shot through and through with Biblical quotations, maxims, metaphors, character, and allusions; the one book with which a reader needs to have familiar acquaintance is the English Bible. It is ridiculous for any one to undertake to teach English literature who does not know his Bible at least as well as he knows his Shakespeare. On the pages he is undertaking to elucidate he will meet the Bible five times where he will meet Shakespeare once. For purposes of critical exposition, it is certainly quite as necessary for him to understand Jacob as to understand Shylock; familiarity with Job is of greater practical value than familiarity with 'Paradise Lost.'"

Dairy Commissioner Returns.

George F. Hine, state dairy commissioner, returned Sunday from an inspection trip in western Kansas. He returned by way of Omaha, Neb., where he attended a meeting of the American association of butter manufacturers.

John and Lester Barnes of 810 Moro were called to their home at Fontana this week by the death of their sister.

PLAY CHINESE TEAM TODAY

THE CHINAMEN HAVE THEIR USUAL FAST TEAM AND SOME MIX-UP IS EXPECTED THIS AFTERNOON.

CHANGE THE AGGIE LINE-UP

Several Shake-Ups Have Taken Place on the Aggie Squad; Weather Man Promises a Fair Day For The Game.

The Chinese university baseball team blew into Manhattan on Tuesday evening and are slated to mix with the Aggies on College Field at 4 o'clock today. This is the third game for the Aggies and judging by the reputation of the yellow men will be one of the best played here.

There is no guessing about the ability of the Chinamen to play baseball, and they do it in a way to interest an American crowd. The game promises to draw a large attendance.

Coach Lowman says the bugs may see some new faces in the Aggie lineup tomorrow, at least some shifts will be made. McMillian probably wil be found playing first base, and Bill Scanlan probably will do part of the receiving for Haucke. Reynolds is due to decorate one of the positions in the outfield, in place of McGalliard, who will be used for a pinch hitter.

The weather man promises a fair warm day for the game and the field was in fine condition on Tuesday for a fast game. A large downtown crowd is expected out to see such a cosmopolitan game. Bob Cassel will umpire.

STATE MEET COMES MAY 8.

Kansas High School Track Meet Will be Here on That Date.

The fifth annual Kansas State High School track and field championship meeting will be held on College Field on Saturday, May 8, under the auspices of the Kansas State Agricultural College and is slated to star promptly at 3 o'clock. The preliminaries in all the field events will be run off at 10 o'clock in the morning.

There is no direct line on the number of teams which will enter the meet but Guy S. Lowman, director of athletics, expects a much larger attendance than in last year's meet. The teams go through the elimination congressional district meets and filter down to the champions of their respective districts before entering the State meet on College Field.

The College will give a large loving cup to the winner of the meet and a gold medal to the highest individual scorer. Gold, silver, and bronze medals will be given the winners of first, second, and third places in each event.

TO OFFER JOURNALISM COURSE.

Michigan Will Give Three Courses in the Summer Session.

Prof. E. H. Kraus, acting dean of the summer session in the University of Michigan, announces several new courses which will be given for the first time in the summer session. Two courses in journalism will be given, the one being a course in "Elementary Newspaper Writing," and the other a course in "Advanced Newspaper Writing." The former will be a study of the simpler principles of newspaper writing, while the latter will consist chiefly in individual work, in which those enrolled will take up some phase of newspaper work in which they are particularly interested. Both of these courses will be given by L. L. Bryson, and from time to time experienced newspaper men from nearby cities will supplement the class work by giving informal lectures.

"The Psychology of Advertising," a psychological survey of principles involved in advertising, will also be offered.

Philomathians Elect.

At the last meeting of the Philomathian literary society the following officers were elected: pres., Miss Minnie Peppiatt; vice-pres., Miss Bertha Holladay; rec. sec., Miss Ethel Gorton; treas., Miss Lydia Senn; critic, Miss Zattie Carp; marshal, Miss Mabel Nienhenke; ass't., Miss Abbie Swafford; committees elected were Miss Alice Hawkins, Miss Amanda Olson, Miss Edna Mitchell, Miss Velda Stewart, Miss Alice Williams, Miss Nellie Yeatis, and Miss Gladys Patterson.

The chief end of all good journalism is helpful public service.—Walter Williams.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 14, 1915.

BY WAY OF LEAVING.

Things move fast in this world. It is indeed an electrical era, an age of hustle and bustle. A week ago tonight I would never have dreamed that my position as helmsman of the Collegian would have been severed so quickly. But more happens in a day now than formerly took place in a week or a month. And so it goes.

In severing my connections with the Collegian I cannot help but look back over the months in which I have been connected with it as a time of great worth and experience. The life of a college editor is strenuous—too much so—but you must confess there is a certain glamor and fascination about it. It brings you in close touch with the students and members of the faculty and gives you an insight into the possibilities of the field of journalism.

It has been my endeavor to keep a high moral tone in the editorial columns of the paper, and the number of kind remarks made have shown that it has been appreciated. In so far as has been possible the news has been uncolored and at no time has it savored of the editorial. All comment has been left for the editorial columns and there the policy of the editor upon all questions concerning the student body and the College has been plainly stated.

And so in leaving the Collegian to take up work in a larger field of journalism, I wish to thank each friend for his support and encouragement. Criticisms have been taken in the spirit given, and at all times as editor I have welcomed suggestions for the improvement of the paper.

The work of editing the Collegian falls upon a competent and experienced man, and every friend of the paper should continue to give it his hearty support and cooperation.

RALPH H. HEPPE.

Today's Collegian brings a change in the staff; the new editor has been taking journalism for about seven years, beginning in his father's office by exercising a broom handle, picking up "pi," and getting spanked by the foreman. Mr. Ricord has had a good deal of experience out of school and until recently has been with the Campbell dairy company. The editor would like to thank the students who have been boosting the Collegian in the past and announces that the office in Anderson is open to all students with news, subscriptions, or just plain ideas. Come around.—T. F. B.

NEWS WANTED.

The livest part of a newspaper is the personal local; when Bill Brown goes to Bingville he likes to see it in print, so do his neighbors, and everyone else is satisfied. The most insatiable appetite of the Collegian is for local news. It can use all of them and the individual who receives a vote of thanks is the man who hangs a local on the hook down in the Collegian office. As soon as possible there will be a news box placed by the post office window and the student body is invited to put scraps of news, hints, protests, corrections, in fact any suggestions, in the box, and the editor will use all the locals and as much of the remainder as possible. Remember the Collegian wants local news; the editor's box number is 596 and his phone is 376, 2-rings. Bring on the news.—T. F. B.

THE HORSES OF WAR.

It is very interesting to learn that 1,500 horses heave left New York on the Gascogne, bound for the French army, and that even the bridal suite on that too commodious liner has been dedicated to their shelter. It would be still more interesting to know how many of them will be wasted by negligence on the battlefield.

The English press recently compared the attention to horses in their army with the lack of care given in the German army, and attributed the great losses in the latter to the fact that wounds were not treated, with the consequences that a wounded horse became practically a dead horse. In the English army veterinary surgeons have done good work, and many a horse has been saved, in the interest not only of common humanity, but of economy as well.

France has not been conspicuous for her kindness to her equine friends, saving her good offices for the ubiquitous native dog, so far as the observation of foreign visitors may be trusted. She will be wise, however, if in this dire emergency she thriftily conserves her supply of horses. It is not every day that a liner can sail with 1500 patient beasts from our shores.—N. Y. Times.

Dr. J. S. Merrill, assistant entomologist, is at Atchison superintending the San Jose scale suppression work.

Miss Elsie Hart and Miss Ella Phenicie have returned from Topeka where they spent several days shopping.

Dr. Nabours will go to the Crawford Ranch in Chase county the first part of next week. He will make records of sheep.

AGGIES LOSE TO SALINA 6 TO 1

SALINA'S TIMELY HITTING WHEN HITS MEANT RUNS DID THE WORK; AGGIES HAD NEW LINE-UP.

CANNON'S PITCHING DID IT.

The Salina Wesleyan baseball team came out to College Field last Saturday afternoon wearing a fine set of hitting clothes and the result was that The Briney Pill Pasters went down to their first defeat and that in the second contest of the season. The final count was 6 to 1 but that doesn't say that it wasn't a real live walloping little baseball contest.

The Aggies slipped a counter across the pan in the first round and led till the third when the Coyotes took the lead by one tally. As the game wore on the peerless pitching of Cannon told on the Lowman help and the hits were scattered to the Four Winds. On the other hand the Salina players hit the ball hard when hits meant runs and at times added a little inside baseball to their repertoire that showed the Aggies up mighty foolishly.

The prime feature of the contest was a little fielding stunt pulled off by "Red" Agnew back of first when he raced into the mud to grab out a hot one and throw a Salina player out at the initial sack. The wind that raged in the heavens spoiled the chances of the fielders in handling the high ones. The score:

SELECT AN ALL GIRLS TEAM.

Here Are Girls Who Would Play Intercollegiate Basketball.

Sometime in the misty future there may be as fiercely contested basketball battles between the feminine teams of K. U. and Manhattan as are staged between the men's teams today. Women's intercollegiate games at present are frowned upon by the faculty but it is interesting to note who the girls are who would make a team in case the hard hearts of the higher-ups should soften and permit the girls to indulge in interschool battles

Many girls in College have played four years in high school and this results in plenty of good material for the class teams which are turned out every year. During the winter term the interclass games were fast and furious and the title several times hung by a hair. In fact it still is claimed by one or two classes who were elbowed out by a few second's play. The 1915 teams were coached by Miss Margaret Burns of the physical education department.

The all-college team has been picked with reference to the all-around ability of the players.

Here are the first and second teams:

"THE CHILDREN OF THE GHETTO"

William Fox presents Isabel Zangwill's masterpiece, "The Children of the Ghetto" with Wilton Lackaye, the clever dramatic actor in the leading role supoprted by a strong all-star cast. Wareham Theatre, Saturday afternoon and night, April 17.

FUSSY HINTS OF FASHION.

The hats this season are tending toward the large black picturesque type. The smaller hats are only used in the morning or with strictly tailored suits. The shepherdes shapes in rose shades, battleship grey, putty, and the old blues are going to be very good. The flat trimming is good but crown top trimming is the latest. Masses of brightly colored flowers and loops of ribbon are used extensively. Tulle hats are quite dressy especially in black.

There are many new designs in collars that will be worn this spring. The broad collar is good, one of Louis Treize's models, which fastens closely about the throat, tying with twisted cords. The high white pique collar is just having its delight. The collars with high points under the ears and across back are popular. They may be worn plain or with cravats of moire ribbon or silk cord with small weighted ends.

Taffetas, foilles, and corded silks are very good. Changeable taffetas in the blues, geens, and golden browns, are ravishing. The skirts are extremely full, some fully six yards at bottom, flaring and circular. They are worn at least eight inches from the ground.

Black and white is quite a fashionable color. Stripes, checks, and other conspicuous designs are going to be used very much in suits and dresses. Combinations with the black and white are also popular.

There are many stunning patterns in hose. Clock work and fancy embroidery are going to be used all season. To be extreme the latest is stripes of bright colors going around the hose.. The old fashioned open work lace hose is beginning to come in again and it is predicted by summer that these will be in vogue.

W. F. Hayes, '13, assistant entomologist for the experiment station, has taken up his work in the southern part of the state. Winfield will be his headquarters for the spring and summer.

SHIP STOCK TO THE FAIR

ANIMAL HUSBANDRY DEPARTMENT OF COLLEGE HAS BEEN ASKED TO PREPARE AN EXHIBIT FOR PANAMA PACIFIC.

WILL AID THE SMALL BREEDER.

The livestock interests of Kansas will be well represented at the Panama-Pacific exposition. The animal husbandry department of the College has been requested by the livestock commission to aid in preparing an exhibit which will be sent to San Francisco.

The state will pay the expenses of all Kansas livestock shipped to the exposition that is accepted as worthy of representation. The committee which will decide upon the stock, will consist of one breeder of each breed represented and a representative from the animal husbandry department of the College.

In order to help teh small breeder who may have individuals of exceptional merit but unable to fit his stock for show, the animal husbandry department is offering to make special arrangements with the breeder whereby he may have his stock fitted at the College. The cost of this work will be the actual money spent for feed and attendance.

The freight to the exposition and return, together with the expenses of an attendant for each carload of stock, will be paid if the stock is accepted and afterward brought back to the state. Expenses of animals accepted at the fair and sold will not be paid unless the stock places sixth or better in open competition. When a breeder is unable to ship a carload of stock, arrangements will be made to combine several exhibits of stock at some central transfer point.

Breeders who expect to make an exhibit will do well to notify W. A. Cochel, professor of animal husbandry in the College, of the number of animals they desire to exhibit.

DO YOU KNOW?

That one freshman girl has a new plan that up to date is exceeding even her expectations. She takes her meals at one of the best boarding places in town but always has a tale of woe about the poor food when she writes to the folks at home. As a result she gets a big box of eats with the home label on it every week or two.

That one of the Lambdas lost a dollar bet to one of her boy friends and told him she would pay him in trips to the picture show Clever girl, in the first place it insured her several dates and in the second it saved her a dollar for she knew the fellow lacked the nerve to stand back and allow her to buy the tickets before the curious crowd in the lobby.

"The more I see of the new spring millinery, the more respect I have for my grandmother."—Simpson Brocton

What popular sophomore boy sang for several years at a picture show in another state when he was a kid?

What D. A. teacher from the east had heard all about the terrible winds of Kansas and in order to avoid all difficulties, this far-sighted lady had her dressmaker insert six or seven pounds of lead weights in the hems of her skirts?

That one of the D. S. instructors writes real poetry?

Sim Brocton says, "He is not satisfied with pressing his scarf into service as a muffler but he even tries to make it serve as a shirt."

That it is a peculiar rule that allows an instructor to keep a book out of the library for ten weeks and puts a fine on the student when he forgets one over night?

That if they only knew it those bright colored ribbons tied with the saucy bows, that many of the girls are wearing in their hair have the down town creation backed off the boards?

Alright Emmet, since you called our attention to it we will desist and further more we promise that feminine head gear will not be mentioned in this column next week either.

"Mesmerism," stated the instructor, "is merely putting the subject to sleep." Sim Brocton says he knows one professor who has been practicing mesmerism on his class for years.

Two different men, each minus his hat, were sighted on the campus this week and—go ahead and finish the paragraph yourself.

Simson Brocton says, "I will bite, why did they build a tent around that tree on the campus?"

What young man, who has a class under one of the stiffest professors on the hill, had a brilliant idea and attended the last meeting of the Science club, guessing by feigning an interest in this subject he might raise his grade but instead on appearing in class the following morning he was given a quizzing that more than exposed him?

He could not be in school this spring and naturally the parting with his girl chum was a touching one. The next morning when her friends missed her and found a note on her dresser saying she had gone to K. C. they were to excited to eat. "What a romance!" They would telegraph her parents at noon. Of course they were mad when they saw her on the hill and discovered she had slept in the attic just to make her joke good.

What K man attended the last class meeting and due to his ignorances of parliamentary law he was forced to sit in silence when the entire class voted that he lead them in a new yell?

That two senior girls waited until the last hour of the last day to hand in the subjects of their thesis?

What Eta Beta expressed the following desire when caught in the jam in front of the theater Saturday evening, "Oh, I wish I had a pair of stilts?"

What the Sig Alphs intend to do with the steamer trunk that has decorated the roof for several days?

That Doctor Nabours' geology class was returning from a hike the other morning one of the members was met by two young ladies? And the meeting was not accidental either.

That we heard a girl refer to the last flurry of snow as the "equinoctial storm?" We would like to know what she called the tri-weekly storms we have had for the past month.

"THE MORALS OF MARCUS."

Charles Frohman presents Marie Doro in "The Morals of Marcus." The picturesque oddity and originality of the charming play is further illuminated by the sweet witsfulness and captivating personality of Marie Doro and the all-star supoprting cast. FRESHMEN WEAR CAPS?

FIRST YEAR MEN AGREE TO WEIRD LIDS PROVIDED THREE-FOURTHS OF COST IS PAID FOR.

WILL BE PURPLE AND WHITE

It Will Take 250 Caps to Deck the Freshmen Class — Upperclassmen Asked to Draw Up Rules as to Wearing.

To wear caps or not to wear caps, was the bone of contention in the freshman class till last Tuesday when it was voted to wear the fancy headgear. Believing that freshmen should wear some badge of inferiority, some enterprising upperclassman proposed that the first year class hang out a vacuum sign in the shape of a loud skull cap.

The freshman class has voted to wear any cap however hideous in design and coloring, providing that the upperclassmen help pay three-fourths of the cost. They have chosen as an appropriate cap a neat purple thing with a white button on top. It is well known that the higher-ups do not favor compulsory badges for freshmen, so the gift of three-fourths the price would enable the freshman treasurer pay the other fourth without bankrupting the cashbox and make a gift of a nice purple cap to each Freshie. This would remove all obnoxious objection to compulsory purchasing of a class badge.

Furthermore, the freshman class voted the upper classes the privileges of passing rules and by-laws as to when and where said caps should be worn.

At present the only flea in the ointment is the sophomore and junior classes's refusal to pay the necessary one-fourth. The cap proposition will probably be finally decided on next Tuesday.

"Eat too Rich Food" Said Miss Barrows Tuesday.

"People want too rich food, thereby shortening their lives," declared Miss Anna Barrows in her demonstration to the girls in the home economics division Tuesday afternoon. The "Uses of Milk and Eggs" was the subject of Miss Barrows demonstration.

"Cheese is thought to be indigestable when used with white sauce" continued Miss Barrows, "but the fault lies with the white sauce. In using white sauce with cheese do not put butter in the sauce. Cheese has enough fat in it without adding the butter fat."

Different methods of using milk and eggs were shown by Miss Barrows.

SENATOR OWEN WILL SPEAK

UNITED STATES SENATOR FROM OKLAHOMA WILL TAKE PLACE OF CHAPIN, THE LINCOLN IMPERSONATOR IN LAST NUMBER.

LAST LECTURE IS ON APRIL 20

This Closes the Lyceum Season—Senator Owen is One of the Biggest Men in the Senate and is a Talented Speaker.

Robert Latham Owen, United States Senator from Oklahoma, is the next and last number of the lecture course coming Tuesday, April 20.

The doors open at 7:30 o'clock, the lecture being timed for 8:15. All late comers must take back seats. The single admission is 50c and tickets may be secured at the door.

Senator Owen wil speak on "Government by the People," an address without a political flavor. The speaker will be preceded by a number of the faculty quartette, and will be introduced by President Waters.

Senator Owen is a graduate of the Washington and Lee university, finishing in 1877. He is at present senator from Oklahoma, starting on his second term in 1913. His senatorship is the climax of a career of thirty years in the Indian territory when the Dalton train robbers and unruly Indians kept the territory in a perpetual turmoil and made life as hardy as that of the extreme frontier. Senator Owen began as a lawyer, later turning to educational work which gradually brought him into the publishing field. He was one-time editor of the Indian Chiefain. He was U. S. agent for the Five civilized tribes, and organized the first national bank of Muskogee. His first big work was in 1891 when he acted as attorney and recovered from the United States government, nearly $9,000,000 for Choctaws, Chickasaws, and Cherokees. Later he got an act through Congress giving citizenship to every Indian in the Indian territory. Mr. Owen was sent to the senate in 1907, when Oklahoma was admitted as a state, and has been the only man ever elected to his seat in the senate.

He is a remarkable speaker as is shown by his popularity on the lecture platform; Congress had barely adjourned on March 4th, when he began to take up his lecture course duties. Senator Owen has the added distinction of being a big man; he is yet in his fifties and is one of the most prominent men in the senate. Undoubtedly he will rise to still higher in distinction in government affairs.

Takes the Place of Chapin.

The last number of the lecture course is a fill-in number to take the place of Benjamin Chapin, the Lincoln impersonator, who was injured last term and unable to fill his date Mr. Chapin gave impersonations of Lincoln.

AZTEX 30; ACACIA 4.

Slow Game Was Called in the 7th Inning Account of Darkness.

The Aztex walked all over the lot with the Acacias in the opening game of the 1915 Pan-Hel series on the City Park diamond on Thursday afternoon winning by a final count of 30 to 4. The Acacia slab artists couldn't fool the Moro street crew's batters but at that more walks than hits were handed out. Weimer, Wenn, and Skinner formed the Aztex battery; while Barnard, Smith, and Phipps worked for the Masons.

PLAY CLASS BASEBALL NOW

Next Tuesday Afternoon Will See First Exhibition of Scholarly Twirling—Class Teams Doped to be Good.

Next Tuesday sees the beginning of the interclass baseball series and Guy S. Lowman is desirious that class managers make a slight noise in his office at their earliest convenience. The class schedule has been out for some time and gives the four classes a well arranged set of contests. The freshmen have been at work for a week and bid strong for first honors. More than 40 men are working on the freshman field each afternoon with Harold Newton in charge.

DON'T LIKE TO "ROOKY."

Columbia U. Students Protest All Forms of Soldering.

Militarism received a decided shock in Columbia University recently, when the students of Columbia drafted and dispatched a series of protests to President Wilson, urging him to discourage the formation of the proposed "Legion of Honor," which was lately much aired by former President Roosevelt and prominent military authorities. The tone of the communication from the students of Columbia University was that they would use every means within their power to prevent the spread of the militaristic spirit in the institution. Furthermore, they intimated that they would take no part in the establishment of summer military training schools for college students, which was proposed by prominent military authorities and approved by several college presidents. Columbia University has taken a prominent part in the national peace movement among American colleges, and their action in this matter seems to be in harmony with their previous attitude toward military movements.

GEO. WASHINGTON WAS YALE MAN

Facts Indicate That he Received Degree From Yale.

On Alumni Day at Yale an exhibition was shown of correspondence between President Stiles and George Washington, showing that Yale had conferred on Washington in 1781 the degree of Doctor of Laws. The fact that Washington had been so honored by Yale, it was pointed out, while a matter of record, was not generally known.

Spring improvements are now the order of the day. The entire campus has been raked under the supervision of C. A. Schott, and work is soon to begin in leveling the ground south of the Nichols gymnasium where vines and shrubs will be artistically planted. There is also to be some flowers planted near the diary commissioners building on the east of the engineering building.

Miss Grace Copeland of the Hays Normal school visited the College on Wednesday. Miss Copeland came here from Emporia where she had been attending the inter-state normal oratorical contest. She was the winner in the contest and the representative of Hays at Wisconsin.

Professor G. A. Dean was in Kansas City, Kansas, Wednesday inspecting some imported nursery stock from Holland. Both federal and state law require inspection of all imported nursery stock before it can be distributed within the state.

Mrs. H. H. Welty of Topeka stopped off in Manhattan several days on her way to Eureka Lake to visit her daughter Miss Rebecca Welty.

The Red Men are Good but the Lowman Help Must Not be Underestimated—Hodgson Will Probably do the Pitching for Locals.

(By E. H. Smith.)

Nine Q-less Celestials gave the Lowman help a few pointers in the gentle art of Chadwick pastiming out on College Field on last Wednesday afternoon and when the smoke of the bombardment and the stench of the conglomeration of Aggie errors had wafted heavenward the Briney crew Atlas-ed around under a load of an 18 to 0 defeat.

Perfect fielding and clever pitching by the Chink experts drubbed the Aggies in the worst defeat they have been handed at baseball in years. Flashing double plays and wonderful one-handed stabs of liners that would have been good for hits in average contests marked the play of the Mongolians.

And then Pitcher Chin was right out there on the mound serving the Lowman batters such a wierd assortment of backbreakers that Captain Briney was the only Aggie able to hit consistently and he did that off the Chink's spitter. The rest of the crew tried hard enough to win but the Mark showed heel dust on his homer in the first chapter.

Honolulu students were out for a decisive win and they made good with a vengeance.

Hodgson was touched up for four safeties in the six innings he worked. In the first round the Chinks hammered out a triple and a homer netting two tallies. The eighth found the Mongolians counting eight on top of their six run lead and the ninth gave them four more. The Aggies filled the path in one round but a flashy double play from short to second to first, with one in the well, cut off a score and goose-egged the Aggies.

The score by innings:

Aggies—0. Chinese—18.

	R	H	E
Aggies ..... 000 000 000—	0	7	5
Chinese ..... 201 003 084—	18	12	1

Batteries—Chin and Mark; Hodgson, McGalliard, Harvey and Scanlon. Umpire—Cassell, Manhattan.

Coach Arthur Venne's Haskell Aboriginies play the Aggies this afternoon on College Feld at 4 o'clock. The Red men put up a red-hot brand of baseball and the game should prove close. The Lowman help looked good in spite of their defeat at the hands of the Mongolians on last Wednesday afternoon. MacMillan at first performed well and Scanlan back of the plate seemed better fitted for that position than at the initial sack.

LILIES TAKEN FROM JERUSALEM

Purple Fleur de Lis West of Old Ag. Were Planted 30 Years Ago.

Some thirty odd years ago ex-president Anderson of this College was traveling in the Holy Land. One day in a florist's shop in Jerusalem he bought some lily bulbs and later planted them on the College grounds and at his home on south Juliette. Bulbs from these lilies are now growing all over Manhattan but the only original bed is west of the old agricultural building. White lilies mixed with the purple ones form a design.

PROF. HERDS BUFFALOS.

Oklahoma Man Leads Frontier Life in Wichita Mountains.

Prepared to care for buffalos, fight fires, build fences, live all alone in the Wichita Mountains, doing his own cooking and washing, leading a life similar to the regular forest ranger, Ed Crabb, who has been employed as a taxidermist by the Oklahoma geological survey during the past eighteen months, left Thursday for the Wichita National Game and Forest preserve in the Wichita Mountains west of Fort Sill in Comanche county.

Before taking up his new work near Mount Scott, Crabb will visit his parents at their home near Yukon, where he will "brush up" in the culinary art and prepare for his solitary work in the game and forest preserve.—Oklahoman.

Put in Cooler for Playing Marbles.

Two Wisconsin seniors were recently arrested for playing marbles on the sidewalk. The charge against them was disorderly conduct. Where the marble playing involves disorderly conduct is a debatable question, but perhaps perfectly logical to a Madison policeman.

Illinois Wins Championship.

Twelve victories and no defeats was the record won by the University of Illinois basketball five this season. This fine showing gave them the championship in the Middle West with Chicago second.

But Two Free Colleges in U. S.

Washington State University was recently added to the universities charging fees, when the state legislature passed a bill providing for a $10 tuition. The University of Idaho and the College of Hawaii are the only remaining free institutions in the United States.

Song of Spring.

The violets soon will bloom again,
The skies are getting blue,
The milliner wil lsend her bill,
And we shall get so, too.

All things announce the gentle spring:
The grass is growing greener;
Far down the pleasant street doth sing
The sweet-voiced vacuum cleaner.

Cruiser.

"What sort of aboat is this?" asked the inquisitive man.
"A cruiser," replied the smart lad.
"And where is she going?"
"A cruise, sir."
"What makes it go?"
"Its screws, sir."
"Who are on board?"
"Its crew, sir."
"We have to keep it clean, or rubbish and dust would accrue, sir."
"Oh, your are to too smart. Where do you come from?"
"From Crewe, sir."

DO YOU KNOW?

That the son of one of the department heads received a package the other morning and when he opened it, discovered a fine hard rubber pipe? On the enclosed card was the name of a popular professor and the request that the lad use the pipe instead of smoking cigarettes.

That nine fellows who know the circumstances of the above have turned again to the "coffin nail" and are watching the mail boxes closely?

What Sophomore Ag. is rushing the daughter of a down town merchant?

That the Alpha Mus made a horrible mistake in the identity of the crowd of fellows who seranaded them the other evening? But they realize their mistake now and are ready to apologize.

That the printer slipped in a bunch of copy in the last issue that was written for this column about the middle of last term?
(Do you know—that you have another guess coming?—Printer.)

Why T. K. Vincent avoids certain sorority girls?

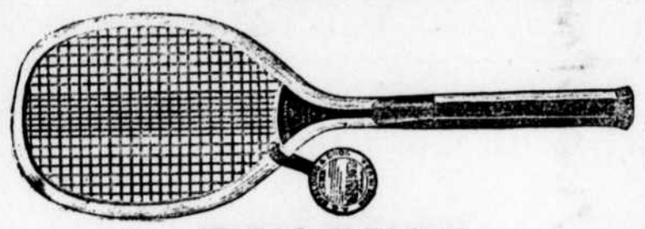

What freshman girl is so infatuated with the game of tennis that she has missed breakfast three mornings in succession to participate in this popular pastime?

Which one of the captains of the Military Department attracted the attention of the students in all parts of the library when he paraded through the building Thursday morning? If grease will not stop that nerve racking squeak why not soak the offending boots in the bath tub over night?

That two Manhattan girls, both graduates of K. S. A. C. have figured the matter out and believe there is more money working as a stenographer at the College than living at home than in teaching at a large salary in a distant town where they would have to pay for board and room?

Do away with your "attire" trouble

YOU men know how it is on these little Saturday and Sunday jaunts and "spins" into the country; usually when it's too late, you wish you had taken along a cap, a soft collar shirt, perhaps a "throw-on" overcoat or a lounge suit.

Get in the habit of coming to see us before you start; make this your supply station; we have everything that a well-dressed man needs; good things to wear for smart appearance and comfort.

The fact that we sell Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes, coupled with our personal service idea, is probably the reason so many men think of this concern as "my store"--it's an expression of their satisfaction and confidence.

NOTES OF INTEREST TO ENGINEERS

Unusual interest is being displayed in the baby mogul engine of the International harvester company.

Prof. C. E. Reid, W. W. Carlson, and G. R. Pauline will chaperone 30 engineers on a trip to Kansas City and St. Joseph next week.

The steam turbine of the power plant is now equipped with a steam meter, by means of which the steam consumption can be read.

The steam and gas engineering departments expect to exchange the old producer which has been obsolete for some time for one of later style and of greater capacity.

Students taking traction courses this term besides making the usual amount of noise are being used to improve the campus by grading and filling some of the bad spots.

Any student interested in automobiles is welcome to inspect the new Overland, '15 model in the laboratory. It is expected that students will refrain from damaging parts.

The College is offering for the first time a course in military engineering. W. A. Buck, a fellow in engineering, is captain. Unusual interest is being displayed by upper classmen in this course.

The national association of stationary engineers will hold their next meeting at Wichita on Wednesday and Thursday, May 12 to 14. Dean A. A. Potter and G. R. Pauling will appear on the program.

The sheds which have been marring the landscape west of the carpentry shops are being wrecked and made into one shed for housing steam traction engines. It is located west of the present blacksmith shop.

Dean Anson Marscon of the engineering department of Iowa state college is expected on Monday, April 19, to address the engineering students. Dean Marscon is president of the American society for the promotion of engineering education and will be entertained by local members of that society.

Considerable research work is being conducted by the instructors of gas engineering on traction engines. The professional societies in engineering which includes branches of the American electrical engineers, the civil engineering society, and the Architect's club, have had interesting meetings at regular intervals.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN.

VOLUME 21. NUMBER 55. KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 21, 1915. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

SENIORS GET CAPS AND GOWNS

ABOUT 170 FIRST-YEARS HAVE ORDERED STATELY ROBES; WILL BE NO ORDERS AFTER MAY 3.

The Different Divisions Have Differently Colored Tassels Which Denote the Divisions—The Higher Degree Have Georgeous Robes.

Monday, the third of May, will be the last day on which seniors can order their caps and gowns. The cap and gown committee, consisting of W. H. Wilson, Miss Mary Glenn, and Frank Freeto, began taking orders on April 14th, and to date 170 seniors have ordered their robes of state.

The caps and gowns which were first worn in 1910 are donned on June 4th and all seniors are supposed to attend class so clad. The gowns are made of black serge and the sizes vary only in regard to length, the fit being very loose. The only distinguishing characteristic between divisions is the colored tassel on the cap. For agriculture, the tassel is maize colored, for engineering, orange is the hue, domestic science claims a yellow-orange, and general science dons a sober black tassel. The gowns are to be ordered from Moore & Co., of Chicago.

Profs. Won't Wear Gowns.

Despite sundry agitations in senior class meeting, the faculty steadily refuses to wear their official robes graduation week. Some of teh higher degrees have quite gorgeous gowns and the Doctor of Philosophy wears a hood. There are 15 Ph. D's. and Ph. M's in College now. The time is undoubtedly not far off when all faculty men will appear in full regalia commencement week.

SELECT SENIOR PLAY.

Name is a Secret as Yet, but Committee Tells all About the Details.

The senior class play has been selected and parts have been ordered so that rehearsal can start immediately. The committee, consisting of W. F. Smith, Miss Laura Falkenrich, H. S. Coith, and J. D. Parsons, refuse to divulge the name of the Thespian production but state that it is a good one. It is a three act comedy with a cast of 13 people.

Seniors wishing to try out for the cast will meet on Wednesday the third and fourth hours or from three to six o'clock in the afternoon. This will be the last opportunity for tryouts. The play committee will meet on Thursday afternoon to select the cast.

OUTDOOR PLAYERS COME MAY 29

Ben Greets Will Put on Two Plays Under the Trees.

The date for the Ben Greet Shakespearian players has been fixed for Saturday, May 29. They appear as a special attraction given by the Lyceum course committee and the season tickets are not good for either performance. Tickets will sell for 75 cents a performance or $1 for both afternoon and evening.

The plays given this year are "Twelfth Night" and "A Winter's Tale." The English departments of the College and high school are cooperating in having the students study the classics to be presented.

LAST OF LECTURE COURSE.

Senator Owens Gave Talk of Non-Political Flavor.

At the last number of the lecture course on Tuesday night, Senator Owens of Oklahoma held the interest of a two-thirds house all through a two hours talk on the "Rights of the Common People," a discussion of things as they are in Washington. The senator was introduced by President Waters and preceded by a duet given by local talent. Senator Owens stated that he was interested in this College as his mother was a student here under the second president.

ANOTHER MONSTER "K."

Websters and Hamps Climbed Prospect on Saturday Night.

To push the good work along, Saturday night after society a group of Hamiltons and Websters, perhaps aided by some girls of the sister societies, climbed Prospect with a load of bunting and stuck a "K" on the side o fthe hill about 60 feet high. This is about where the cement "K" will be. The bunting "K" which was on Bluemont the other night was torn down by obstreperous freshmen and sophomores.

SENIORS EAT AT D. S. NOW.

Ten Seniors a Week are Permitted to Sample D. S. Girls' Cooking.

The seniors are again flourishing their knives, and pushing squeaking chairs around in the sanctity of the domestic science eatin' room. Ten boys and girls a week are boarded along with members of the faculty at the eight tables which are assigned to senior girls to look after. At each table are host and hostess who see that everything is shipshape and conducted according to the latest Queensbury rulings. Three senior girls look after each table as waitress, cook, and helper, each taking a turn in the different positions. The question arises, are the senior boys eating at the D. S. for instruction in the gentle art of self-feeding, or merely to spy on the cullinary abilities of certain girls?

DEBATE BAKER FRIDAY NIGHT

Negative Team Remains at Home; Dean Willard will Preside Over the Philippine Independence Debate.

The Baker debate is the next thing on the wrangling program; this clash comes Friday, April 23, when the Aggie negative team will defend its question in the auditorium while the Aggie affirmative debates at Baldwin.

The question under discussion is in regard to Philippine Independence during the next five years. The negative team which appears in the auditorium consists of J. P. Rathbun, R. W. Thompson, and G. C. Rhine. The affirmative team is made up of A. B. Adair, V. S. Griffin, and V. E. Bundy.

"You may regard this year's debates as mere practice affairs in comparison to what we are going to have next year," said Prof. Macarthur, "I am trying to get a body of people trained to debate chis year and we will start in earnest next season."

Dean Willard will preside. Prof. Macarthur wil laccompany the affirmative team to Baldwin, and Prof. Searson will have charge of the negative trio. The judges are, Senator Carney, Representativ Carnahan, and Dan Olin Temple of K. U.

SEND STOCK TO FRISCO.

Prof. Cochel has Charge of World's Fair Exhibit.

"Kansas live stock will be well represented at the Panama-Pacific exposition," says W. A. Cochel, professor of animal husbandry, who is in charge of the work of preparing the exhibit. "We are planning to send 15 or 16 carloads of the best stock in the state."

The live stock will include a number of animals from many breeders. Those who have so far signified their intention of sending stock include breeders of Poland China, Duroc, and Berkshire hogs; Angus, Galloway, Hereford, shorthorn, and red polled cattle; Holstein cows; Percheron, Clydesdale, Belgian, and standardbred horses; and Shetland ponies.

The rules for sending Kansas live stock which were prepared by Professor Cochel are to be used as a model for several other states, according to I. D. Graham, who is in charge of the live stock at the fair.

Sophomores Won, 4 to 3.

In the first of the interclass series on Tuesday afternoon, the sophomores won from the freshmen, 4 to 3. The soph battery was Brecheisen and Sherwood. Batteries for the freshmen were Scott and Slattery; Clecca and Curtis. Brecheisen allowed but 4 hits. The feature of the performance was a home run swat by Newton, the sophomore Ty Cobb. The seniors forfeited to the juniors.

The farm mechanics department of the College have some new machinery which has recently arrived. This machinery is to be used for class work, partly for experimental work, and partly for actual work on the farm. Part of the implements were purchased for the purpose of testing their value and for experimental work.

Col. O. B. Burtis and Major J. W. Linn, delegates to the national committee of the Scabbard and Blade, left Tuesday for Rochester, New York.

Miss Anna Searle, Miss Nila and May Morrey have returned to Herinton after spending several days the guests of Miss Bess Brown.

ENGLISH DEPT. HUNTS NEWS

ALL SOPHOMORE AND FRESHMEN ENGLISH STUDENTS GIVEN A CHANCE TO WRITE PERSONAL ITEMS FOR COLLEGIAN.

HAND IN NEWS ON TUESDAY

Theme of Personal Items Will Get as Much Credit as Other Themes—Stealing News From the Pages of Collegian is Barred.

Beginning at once the English language department intends to see to it that every sophomore and freshman taking English shall be given a chance to write for the columns of the Collegian.

Once a week each class member is to write one theme which shall be made up of not less than five absolutely fresh breezy personal items. These items must be of news value, that is, must be authenic and have happened within the previous five days. No opinions of an editorial nature will be counted as being items. Each local must be written ready for publication and should be similar in length to society and personal items which appear regularly in the Collegian.

The themes containing locals will go through the regular route of the English department and be turned over to the Collegian immediately which will use all of the news which is alive, in the next issue. In this way no faction or organization of the College will go unrepresented for a single issue. Check will be kept upon the best newsgatherers and also upon the ones that regularly fail to turn out anything worth while. The best writers will be put on the Collegian staff. The value of a student's output may be measured by the amount which is used.

Any English student who steals local news from the previous issues of the Collegian will fail in his work.

New Plan Covers Field Thoroughly.

Upon the plan about to go into effect, every faction and organization of the College will be represented, and every nook and cranny of student life will be reported upon. The Collegian will hold this news first in estimation and if necessary will leave out top head stories to run the personals. The personals are to be the No. 1 news.

Hints as to Getting Locals.

While the picking up of local news is easy to do, a few hints as to where to get the most locals may not be amiss. Boarding houses are perhaps the best places as the gossip of the day is rehearsed and daily events are discussed. Rooming houses are next, followed by societies, organizations, and "bunches." Pure unadulterated gossip is the best place on earth to find locals if the hearer has the discrimination to select the good from the poor news. Depots are good places, as some students are always coming and going. Personal items are plentiful during spring term and the reporter should always get a guest list if authentic.

GET OUT A Y. M. HANDBOOK

Helps New Students to Get Located and Contains Useful Information; P. D. Buchanan is Editor.

The Y. M. C. A. Handbook of information for freshmen and all new students for school year '15-'16 is now being prepared. P. D. Buchanan is editor.

The Christian organizations of the College publish this handbook every year as do those at most other colleges and universities.

The purpose is to give such information as the new student needs to get board, room, assignment, etc., with the least outlay of trouble, time and worry.

With this end in view the editorial and business staff have secured books thru Secretary McLean from other colleges and the staff hopes to be able to publish a book even more helpful than that of last year.

Instructions for taking out assignments and other information regarding student conduct, clas hours, etc., wil be secured from the faculty as the staff intends to cooperate with the possible.

J. D. Colt will leave this week for Springfield, Missouri, where he will spend several days.

Winifred Williams of Winfield visited his sister, Miss Nina Williams, on Sunday.

TRACK MEN WORK FOR JOBS

COACH CARL J. MERNER IS HAVING A LABORIOUS JOB PICKING THE BEST MEN FOR THE COLLEGE TEAM.

OLD RECORDS ARE SHAKING

Weaver Hammered Off a Mile in 4:30 2-5 the Other Night—Wilder Has Leapfrogged 21 Feet 7 1-2 inches. Aggies Look Good.

Picking the men for the jobs on the 1915 track team will be the task of Carl J. Merner in the tryout meet which will be held on College Field this afternoon at 4 o'clock. In several events the candidates are working on nearly even terms and the finishes promise to be close and competition keen. The first dual meet of the season will be held at Columbia, Mo., with the University of Missouri's track team on Saturday morning, May 1.

Weimer's leap of 5 feet 8 inches in the high jump and Joe Weaver's running the mile in 4:30 2-5 are the best results obtained in the tryouts of the last week-and-a-half. Weaver's time is but one second slower than the College record for the distance held by Louis Hutto and established in the Missouri Valley meeting at St. Louis in 1912.

The broad jump trials have three men who can do better than 21 feet. Wilder holds the best practice mark with 21 feet 7 1-2 inches. Vandenberg leaped 21 feet 6 1-2 inches last week and Bernard has been clipping off leaps of 21 feet with great regularity recently.

TIGERS ARE FAST BOYS.

Saturday the Missouri University Team Showed A No. 1 Speed.

The University of Missouri relay team bids strongly to be the fastest the Missouri Valley clique has been in action in many seasons judging from its performance at the Drake relay games held at Des Moines on last Saturday afternoon. The Tigers pulled first in the one-mile university event through the disqualification of the University of Chicago quartet when the latter failed to carry the baton the full route. Chicago finished a scant yard ahead of the Columbia team the time being 3:23 1-5, one second better than the old record.

Dismond the Maroon's fleet negro runner and Niedorp the Tiger sensation furnished the thrills of the afternoon's races when they met in the final lap of the event. The Chicagoan was timed 48 2-5 and Niedorp was given 48 3-5 being a scant yard off the Maroon sprinter's heels at the tape. Murphy, Eaton, Wyatt, and Niedorp ran for Missouri.

The University of Kansas runners took third place in the 2-mile event Purdue winning first and Northwestern coming in second ahead of the Jayhawkers. Ames finished fourth. The time was 8:01 3-5. The Kansans had expected to enter the relay games of the University of Pennsylvania to be held at Philadelphia on next Saturday afternoon but their reverses at the Drake contests may alter the plans of Mentor William Oliver Hamilton Slightly. Kansas started in the mile and half-mile events but was distanced at the start.

Believe in 2 Hour's "Rookie."

The Forensic society had as an attraction Saturday evening a debate on whether two hours' drill was worth "Distinguished Institution." The judges decided for two hours of drill. Members putting on the program were J. W. Barker, J. R. Wood, Mr. Thurber. The debate team was made up of Sellon, Hiatt, Rhine, and Shields.

George Campbell, F. R. Rawson, and L. B. Garvin motored over to Wamego on Sunday to spend the day on the Rawson farm.

CO-OP. GIVES SCORECARDS.

Every Game Has Score Card Containing Line-up of Both Teams.

Ray Pollom, of the Co-Op book store has a new advertising scheme which is handy and appreciated by fans at the ball games. For every game he has printed score cards with the line-ups of both teams and the batting order. At the game Saturday dozens of fans were seen keeping score where formerly they merely guessed at the facts.

AMES HERE FRIDAY.

First Missouri Valley Contests on Friday and Saturday.

The Kansas Aggies play their fifth baseball game and first Missouri Valley contest on the College Field diamond on Friday afternoon when they tangle with the Ames Aggies at four bells. The same teams will play on Saturday afternoon.

Ames is of unknown quality but is expected to put up a real lively brand of Baseball.

THE BELGIANS ARE HUNGRY

Congressman Chas. F. Scott, in Chapel Tuesday Said that the U. S. Should Keep Out of the War.

"One of the most profound impressions one gets in coming in contact with the men of the fighting nations is the attitude of the belligerants toward each other. The war is between England and Germany. Germany is sorry for France, shows nothing but contempt for Russia, but hates England."

These are some of the sentiments made this morning by Charles F. Scott, former congressman of Kansas, in an intensely interesting address at the college this morning at 9 o'clock on the subject, "Belgium." Mr. Scott has just returned from Belgium where he accompanied the ship that carried flour from Kansas to the stricken Belgians. He said that his trip was intensely interesting. "It was no pleasure trip, however," he remarked. "The Atlantic is no calm body of water in winter and is is not exactly a pleasure to ride through a cold, bleak country in an automobile in January and February. However, I am glad I went, but nothing could induce me to make the trip again."

Vivid descriptions of ruined cities and forts, deserted towns and villages, pillaged farms and the horrors of war were given by Mr. Scott. He told of a ride in mid-winter with a German major general in an automobile through southern Belgium and northern France. "At every cross-roads, at every railroad crossing, at the outskirts of every village we were stopped by soldiers who must be satisfied that we had a right to enter or leave a town. But in all cases we found them courteous and kindly."

"I see no early end for the war," said Mr. Scott. "In fact, I do not believe that an early peace is desirable. It would only mean an armed truce and the nations would only go home to prepare huge armaments for another war. The war can only end in the complete exhaustion of the belligerants so that there will remain no idea of rearming in the minds of the people.

"It is not our fight," said Mr. Scott in conclusion, "and we should not allow ourselves to be drawn into it. When the end comes of the war let the nations turn to the United States to lead them to peace."

Curtis Brewer of Abilene, came down and spent Sunday at the Acacia house. He is secretary of the Abilene commercial club which position he wil hold till next fall when he expects to return to College.

D. E Lewis of the horticultural department left Monday to do some orchard demonstration work in spraying.

Mrs. J. W. Searson left Saturday for Lincoln, Nebraska, where she will be the guest of friends a short time.

H. L. Kent, principal of the school of ag, went to Holton Tuesday to address a meeting of the Y. M. C. A.

LOWMAN HELP MADE THE EXHIBITION INTERESTING ALL OF THE TIME FOR THE NOBLE RED MAN.

HODGSON TWIRLED REAL BALL

McMillan Cleared the Sacks in the Seventh With His Homer—Several Surprises Popped—The Indian Portwheeler Pitched Good Ball.

(By E. H. Smith.)

The Haskell Braves fresh from conquests of the St. Marys Irish and the Salina Wesleyan baseball teams hit College Field all pepped up to trim the Lowman help on Saturday afternoon last, but their southpaw slab artist DeLorme failed to mystify the Briney Pill Pasters who collected 9 hits and scored 9 runs to three for the Redskins.

All told it was a pretty good game. Several surprises were forthcoming. "Stubby" Broddle up five times reduced his number of trips to the plate by one through drawing a walk and hit his batting average a hard lick with four strikeouts. McMillan's timely four-baser cleaned the sacks of two loafers in the seventh and might be termed hitting 'em when the're needed.

That the Aggies played ball is shown by the fact that DeLorme whiffed 13 of the Lowman Louisville Slugger carriers. Hodgson heaved a fairly decent game but was forced to throw too many balls for one ordinary contest. Mzhickteno drove out three hits in three trips to the plate one being a homer over the same route MacMillan pasted his in the seventh. The score:

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 21, 1915.

Probably the most generally appreciated organization in College is that collection of harmonizers, the orchestra. During the prelude to most chapel services the audience sits in rapt attention, marking time, and watching the little man-in-the-tinshop producing the spirited rat-a-tat-tat on the cocoanut shells. The speaker most particularly a poor one, makes a sharp contrast to the melting tones of the orchestra a few minutes previous, and the attention of the audience proves it. On these green growing days when the student body flys from the class room to a date and stroll over the tree-clumped campus, it will be a titanic task to lure anyone indoors to listen to a chapel discourse on any dry as dust subject. Why not use more orchestral programs full of sweet dreamy operatic music, as a bait?

AFTER FIVE.

Jesse L. Lasky presents Broadway's most humorous comedy artist, Edward Abeles in the most amazing series of comedy complications ever devised entitled, "After Five," founded on the successful play by that name. Not a screen farce but an indescribably laughable picturization of a genuinely humorous dramatic hit. Wareham Theatre, Thursday afternoon and night, April 22.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY WILL SEE MEETINGS AT MANHATTAN AND HAYS; AT MANHATAN ON SATURDAY.

HAVE A NUMBER OF SPEAKERS.

A thousand out-of-town stockmen are expected at the meetings conducted by the agricultural college and experiment station next Friday and Saturday. A large number have already written of their intention to be present. The meeting on Friday will be at Hays and the one on Saturday at Manhattan, as announced last week.

In addition to live stock raisers, many general farmers and mary men engaged in business related to animal husbandry will be in attendance at the meetings. The sessions offer not only the oportunity to hear able discussions, but also the chance to meet prominent men interested in stock raising in the middle west. The experiments, the results of which will be announced Friday and Saturday, have attracted unusual attention because of their highly practical character.

The first meeting will be held in the old chapel beginning at 9 o'clock in the morning on Saturday. Hon. Ed. T. Hackney of Wellington, will preside. The program consists of articles by Mr. Hackney, Dean Jardine, President Waters, and Profs. Schoenleber, McCampbell, Cochel, J. E. Poole of the Breeder's Gazette, and David Gray. Part of the program will be given at the Live Stock pavilion.

HISTORY OF THE BARBER POLE.

The spiral white stripe on a barber's pole is said to symbalize the winding of a ribbon or bandage around the arm of the patient upon whom the barber had operated in the capacity of a surgeon. In former times when the operation of bleeding was extensively practiced, blood-letting formed a part of the duties of the barber. The spiral white stripe on the pole meant the bandage and the red stripe stood for the blood while the blue is said to have represented the artery. The profession was first brought to Rome from Sicily in 299 B. C.

Fifteen hundred and forty barbers and surgeons formed a company in London in 1744. This company exhibited the barber-pole at its doors and the barber profession has continued its use to this day.

One of the most important events of the week occurred Tuesday noon, when the marriage of Miss Goldie Masters and Mr. Otis Burkett took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Masters. Only the members of the family were present: the bride and bridegroom were unattended. The receiving rooms were attractively decorated in plants and spring flowers. The marriage yesterday was the result of a romance which had its beginning in Kansas State Agricultural College. The bride is a member of the Phi Kappa Phi sorority, a very charming and attractive young lady. Mr. Burkett has just graduated from the Kansas State Veterinary school at Kansas City, Mo. While in College here he was a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity and very popular. The couple left yesterday for their home in Herington, where Mr. Burkett is engaged in business. They will be at home to their friends.

"Inspect Experimental Cattle," David Gray.

HAVE ELABORATE INSPECTION.

Military Department Will Be in Its Glory for Two Days.

Romantic natures who love the clanking of arms and the flash of bared swords will have their warlike souls satiated on May 10 and 11, when the inspection of cadets takes place.

There will be a sham battle, a dress parade and the band will top it off with snappy lively music. The inspection takes up two days. On the first day in the afternoon will be a regimental review and inspection; on the following morning the cadets will be excused from classes and perform the allotted duties. Company A puts on a close order drill and Butt's manual to music; Co. B has extended order drill, manual of arms, and loadings and firings.

The 1st battalion will put on an extended order drill; Co. F will pitch conical wall tents and common wall tents; Co. G has guard mounting and guard duty; Co. H has patrolling; Co. I forms an advance guard and pursues a retreating force; Co. K forms a rear guard and pursues a retreating force; Co. L pitches shelter and wall tents; the 3rd battalion does close order drill; Co. C signal corps semaphore, wigwag and wireless work; Co. D engineers, constructing bridges and destruction of same.

STATE ENGINEERS MOVE.

Occupy Rooms in Engineering Building; Tear up Basement.

The state engineers have moved their offices over to the engineering building to make way for the repair department which is trying to exterminate a colony of termites in the basement of Anderson hall. It will be necessary to tear out the flooring of the entire south basement as fumigation cannot reach the wormlike wood borers which fill a timber so full of holes as to make a shell of it. The termites are small white worms about one-fourth of an inch long which live in timbers or any woody material.

Prof. Wells has made some changes in the regular class hours of his general botany class. These changes will enable the students not regularly assigned to laboratory to enjoy the benefits of laboratory research.

Send the Collegian home.

COMPANY A DRAWS A CROWD.

Girls Like to Hear Catchy Music and Watch Rookies Work.

Every drill day a crowd of girls from 25 to 50 in number take their tatting or household physics, etc., and stroll down by the auditorium to hear the band play. Company A is allotted to Butt's Manual for inspection day and the company and band put on a regular circus for the pleasure of the audience. The band plays pretty waltzes and two-steps and company A endeavors to exercise in time to the music. Butt's manual is the system devised by the army to give men the greatest amount of exercise in the shortest time and the band plays to give a sort of sugar coating to the work. Although they have the hardest job, the company A men are getting the most benefit from their preinspection work as the exercises are the greatest things in the world to build them up physically. Besides playing to a grandstand is rather nice.

COLLEGIAN MOVES TO KEDZIE

Will Occupy Office With the Journalism Department. New 'Phone is 651; Office Number is K51.

The Kansas State Collegian moved Thursday from its old office in Anderson hall to the journalism office in K51. In the new office the staff has tabel room, file racks, copy hooks, and desks for the editor and business manager. The typewriters of the journalism office are used by the Collegian staff.

The change was made to bring the college paper and the journalism department into closer conjunction so that students taking journalism might gradually get experience and work on an actual publication. Up to the present the English language department, the school of journalism, the College paper, and the printing department have been widely separated and much energy has been going off at a tangent. From now on the students taking English language will do practical work for publication, the journalism department and Collegian while remaining distinctly separate, will cooperate, and the printing department will be the only associated branch which remains, unallied, under the engineering department.

For the last 10 or 12 years the student paper office has been in Anderson hall. Many memorable election fights were carried out there for the editorship, the climax coming in 1911, which was perhaps the most bitter fight the paper ever had.

PICK "PIRATES" FOR PLAY.

Music Department Chooses Cast for Play Coming May 21.

The music department has started work on the musical play for 1915, which is Gilbert and Sullivan's "Pirates of Penzance," coming May 21. The cast is chosen and Prof. Valley is in Chicago this week selecting costumes and scenery for the various scenes of the 2-act play. The story of the musical comedy hangs on an English plot, the tale of a slave of duty. The cast is as follows:

Frederick, a pirate apprentice.. ..... John Carnahan
Pirate chief ..... E. R. Martin
Mabel ..... Clare Biddison
Major-General Stanley..G. C. Smith
Ruth ..... Sarah Marty
Sergeant Edwards .... D. W. Wooley
Samuel, a lieutenant..Paul Carnahan
Edith ..... Illa Bruce
Isabel .....

There are 40 in the chorus and the orchestra will accompany the singers.

ENGINEER'S MAGAZINE COMING.

Will be Out Some Time Next Week; W. A. Lathrop is Editor.

The Engineering magazine, a student publication issued by the engineering divisions will be out sometime next week. W. A. Lathrop is editor and Paul Jackson is business manager.

FIGHTING THE DANDELIONS.

A Dozen Men are Grubbing the Pretty Weed From the Campus.

There will be no lovely color schemes of gold and green artistically dotting the campus if the College authorities have their way about it. About a dozen men are at work with dibbles grubbing out the yellow weeds before they bloom and blow away to seed the campus for a worst plague in the future. The dandelions kill out the grasses.

Professor and Mrs. A. W. Bellamy are the proud parents of a daughter born Sunday.

WE PAY LESS FOR OUR BOARD

MANHATTAN IS PROBABLY THE MOST ECONOMICAL COLLEGE IN THE MIDDLE WEST IN REGARD TO TABLE FARE.

AVERAGES $2.75 TO $4 WEEK

Secretary McLean of the Y. M. C. A. Has Been Compiling Figures on the Low Cost of Living to Agricultural College Students.

"College students here pay less for their board than at almost any other place in the middle west," says Secretary McLean of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. McLean has visited a great many schools in both the United States and Mexico and has been compiling statistics on the board proposition.

The price of board to most students here is from $2.75 to $3.50 a week. There are some $3.75 houses and a few charging $4. There are a number of boys' clubs, such as that at the Young Men's Christian association building, and in such an organization board is cheaper than at a place admitting both boys and girls.

Furnishing Board at Cost.

The Young Men's Christian association club has 40 members this year. An initiation fee of $5 is charged. Board is furnished at cost. Out of the $5 fee the dishes and other equipment are bought. The weekly board bill includes the cost of food, the wages of the cook, and room rent.

"For all this term," said Mr. McLean, "the board has cost $2.75 a week, and there is some money on hand. Last fall, the club ran at $3 a week, paid out $70 for new equipment, and had $60 in the treasury at the close of the term."

What the Boys Eat.

This is an average daily bill of fare there:

Breakfast—choice of two kinds of cereals, fried potatoes, biscuits, bread and butter, syrup and coffee or cocoa. Once or twice a week eggs and toast are served.

Dinner—mashed potatoes, fried or boiled meat, two kinds of vegetables, coffee, and pie or pudding.

Supper—potatoes, two vegetables, bread and butter, sauce, cookies, meat once a week.

An average daily bill of fare at the houses charging $3.50 and $3.75 is:

Another Bill of Fare.

Breakfast—fruit or cereal, biscuits, bread and butter, ham, bacon, sausage, or eggs, cocoa or coffee.

Dinner—potatoes, meat, two vegetables or one vegetable and a salad, bread, butter, coffee, dessert. Frozen dessert with cake is served once a week.

Supper—Soup once or twice a week, meat, bread and butter, two vegetables, cookies, stewed or fresh fruit.

At the places charging $4, dinner is usually served in the evening, and the meals are served in courses. Fraternity and sorority houses average about $4 but they account for this difference by the amount of entertaining necessary.

Room rent is from $8 to $12 a month, with $10 as the average. A few places charge more than $12. Two students usually occupy a room, making the price to each half of the figure given.

PLAN U. S. FOR HIGH SCHOOLS.

Experts From Over the State Decide on Uniform Course.

To plan a uniform course in home economics for the high schools of the state is the purpose of the committee from the Kansas State Teachers' association which is meeting at the College this week. Mrs. Mary Pierce Van Zile, dean of women in the College is chairman.

The members of the committee represent the state institutions teaching home economics together with representatives from several of the larger high schools teaching the same subject.

K. C. MAN TALKS TUESDAY.

Was Considered Best Chapel Speaker Here During Last Year.

Rev. Dr. Frank G. Smith of the First Congregational church of Kansas City, Mo., will address the students at chapel on Tuesday at 9 o'clock. His subject is, "The college student's greatest asset."

Dr. Smith will be remembered as the man, who, in the estimation of many students, made the best chapel talk of last year. He is witty, profound and forceful.

WILDER STEPPED HALF IN 2:01

"Duroc" Frizell Broke High Jump Mark With a Leap of 8 Feet 10 1-4 Inches —Holroyd Won Quarter in 51 4-5 Seconds.

(By E. H. Smith.)

Nineteen-fifteen track prospects assumed a more brilliant outlook on the strength of the varsity tryout meet staged on the College Field cinder course on Wednesday afternoon when two College records were shattered in a meet marked by close finishes and fast time in the several events.

Wilder running well in the lead of Cromer upset Joe Weaver's 1914-made 880 time of 2:02 3-5 putting the new record at 2:01. "Duroc" Frizzell leaped 5 feet 10 1-4 inches in the high jump besting his own varsity record of 5 feet 9 3-4 inches made in the Missouri-Aggie dual tangel on College Field last spring.

"Mickie" Welsh holder of the College records in both hurdle events did not enter the meet owing to an injury he received early in the week, a strained tendon in his right stepper. Frizzell copped the high hurdle event easily in 16 2-5 seconds and showed ability to have clipped off the distance in much better time had he been pushed. As Welsh and Vandenberg are the best of the field in the low barrier event no trial in this race was necessary to decide the entries in the Missouri meet which will be held at Columbia, Mo., on Saturday morning, May 1.

The 440 proved sensational, Halroyd winning the event in the good time of 51 4-5 seconds which is two-fifths of a second off the record held by "Bobby" Christian. In the final effort at the tape Granfield pulled up ahead of Captain Colth and forced the Aggie leader to be content with third place. Each of the first three finishers were besting 53 seconds. Holroyd also staged a wonderful spurt near the tape in the century dash and won in 10 2-5 seconds.

Joe Weaver stepped off the mile in 4:40 and failed to make faster time owing to lack of competition and orders from the boss of the tracksters. Weaver has made 4:31 2-5 over the four lap course already this season and the track boss is fearing very few of the Missouri Valley milers as a result.

Vandenberg pulled up well in the lead at the start of the 220 sprint event but could not hold and lost to Osborne and Crumbaker in 23 4-5 seconds. Osborne is looked upon as the fastest man over the short dash distances and Crumbaker will also have to be reckoned with when it comes to putting the Purple sprinters on the starting marks in this season's meets.

The result in the broad jump trials was in doubt until the fourth round when Bernard cleared 21 feet 4 1-2 inches and Wilder leaped ove 20 feet 11 inches of sand and loam. Vandenberg took third place in the event although he has been credited with much better distances than were registered in Wednesday's trials. Marble took first in the shot with a heave of 39 feet 2 inches and Smith won the discus event at 112 feet 1 inch.

PROFS. AT HAYS FRIDAY.

Campus Was Desolated in Appearance When Profs. go to Hays Roundup.

There was an exodus of professors, particularly of the ag. variety, toward Hays, on Friday. The annual Hays round-up was being held, which was of interest to all farmers in the state. Today the Manhattan program is being given in the old chapel, and at the pavilion. There will be several interesting talks.

CO-EDS LEARN TO KNIT.

Old-Fashioned Occupation Attracts Girls' Attention.

Two generations from now grandmothers, instead of fox trotting and doing the other things in which modern cartoonists portray them, will be sitting in big arm chairs knitting. At least Kansas State Agricultural College grandmothers will. Each year an elective course in knitting is offered to the senior girls in home economics. This year 36 girls are busy solving the mysteries with the ivory needles under the supervision of Mrs. Bessie W. Birdsall, professor of domestic art, and Miss Ethel H. Jones, assistant in the same subject.

"The first lesson or two is pretty hard for the girls," said Mrs. Birdsall. "The most difficult part of knitting consists in learning the needles. A large number of our girls, we find, can pick up the Dutch method of handling the needles much more readily than the English method. They are taught however, to use both methods. Long ivory needles are being used at the start. The girls first learn a number of simple stitches and gradually work into the more difficult fancy stitches.

Thorough Knowledge is Important.

"A thorough knowledge of all the different stitches, we feel, is of most importance. The girls can take the stitches they learn here and develop their work after leaving school."

After the girls learn the plain knitting stitches they will take crocheting and will learn the stitches used in this work. After the crochet stitches are finished, the different embroidery stitches will be learned. By the time the girls have completed this course they will have learned how to make a large number of articles such as wearing apparel, table decorations, and house decorations, besides being able to work from a pattern or design.

WHY NOT HERE?

In the Past Athletes Didn't Receive Letters.

By arecent action of the Athletic Board, the baseball players who made the Varsity squad between the years 1891 and 1898, inclusive, are to be awarded "K's" in recognition of their services. Although imperfect records were kept by the athletic association in those days a list of eighty-four candidates has been prepared by Dr. James Naismith, of the physical education department, which will stand as the official list. The letter will be sent to the men as soon as their corect addres can be found.

The receiving of a "K" even at this late day will be a source of joy to the farmer athletes, many of whom are now engaged in business in various parts of the world and have almost forgotten the many hours spent in practice, the games and the trips taken. However, these old memories will be recalled and the business man will spend a pleasant evening with his family musing over the by-gone days.—Kansan.

TUMBLED IOWANS 8 TO 2

THE TIMELY AMES ERRORS DID A GOOD DEAL TOWARD RUNNING UP THE AGGIE SCORE IN YESTERDAY'S GAME.

HODGSON WORKED LIKE CHARM

Aggie Aggregation Annexed 10 Hits, Ames Men Nailed—McBride Galloped the Circuit on a Homer.—2nd Mo. Valley Contest Today.

(By E. H. Smith.)

Playing errorless ball and laying the wood on the old cork center opportunely the Kansas Aggies won their first Missouri Valley contest of the 1915 season on College Field yesterday afternoon from the Iowa Aggies by a final count of 8 to 2. The Iowans juggled the spheroid on six important plays slipping the Lowman help the long end of the the decision on each.

With Broddle in the well Agnew hit the pill over second for the first rap of the contest in the first period. Enns died Lauer to Kerrigan and Briney shot another offering back through the gap at second scoring Agnew. With two dead in the third Enns drew a life at first on Perkins's error and scored when Captain Briney pasted the pill to the right garden for one sack. Two infield errors scored Briney and placed Reynolds at the third station where he died for want of a hitter.

The Aggies now had a three run lead and Hodgson was working like a charm so the help floated along till the fifth chapter before they counted another. In this round Agnew walked and counted on Reynolds' single to left. Two more crossed the pan for the Aggies in their half of the sixth when McClymonds hit and counted on Hodgson's triple to left. Perkins's juggling act scored Hodgson and Agnew went third to the morgue when thrown out at the plate, Baughman to Kinneally.

Ames counted their brace in the sixth when Captain McBride swung the Louisville biffer on one of Hodgson's pets for four sacks. Kinneally walked and pilfered the second station and counted when Davis rapped one to center. Kerrigan waved the wood three times for the third death and henceforth Ames was worse than puerile as far as counting tallies goes.

In the seventh frame the Lowman help annexed another when Reynolds, first up, hammered the pill to center for one bag and counted when McClymonds hit his third consecutive blow. Broddle counted the final tally in the next chapter drawing a neat single, and stealing second, and counting when Captain McBride booted Agnew's roller. The score:

DO YOU KNOW?

Which one of the Pi Kas got a bunch of flowers out of his post office box early in the week? And the address had been written in a feminine hand too.

That one o fthe popular instructors in the chemistry department took his small son out to the baseball game and as the lad trudged along he kept looking at his father's feet? "See," remarked a voice in the bleachers, "the kid is wonderin' if his feet will ever get as big as his dads."

That a certain red bird always nests in the trees directly north of the auditorium and one professor accounts for it by saying that the bird can be sure of good accompaniments from the department of music when he wishes to sing and he is generous with his selections too?

What College professor has a fondness for sweets and his idea of a devil of a time is to buy a big sack of taffy and a motion picture magazine and spend the afternoon devouring the two?

That there are three women in Manhattan who make a regular practice of riding bicycles when ever the weather permits?

Which one of the Lambdas is a crack shot with a rifle and can hit a nickel at thirty paces?

What young man, deeply interested in political affairs took a certain little maiden, who leads a strenuous life, to hear Senator Owen lecture in the auditorium and is still afraid some of his friends will find out that his companion fell asleep and used his shoulder for a pillow during part of the entertainment?

That we are sorry it was necessary to move the Collegian office out of the basement of Anderson hall but if the party who left the angel food cake and the pie there this week ever has another attack of generosity and does not care to go to Kedzie it will only be necessary to drop us a line and we wil call for the eats.

That the same girl missed one of her pictures which had been taken for the class book, and discovered that it was posted in the window of the said man's room?

What senior girl, whose home is in Manhattan, has been locked out three times in the last month? And that her family do not keep early hours, either?

BRIGHT BOYS LEARN FOOTBALL

HARVARD THINKS THAT POUNDING MEN INTO SHAPE IS FOOLISH WHEN THEY CAN BE DEVELOPED.

BRAINS AT A BIG PREMIUM.

At Soldiers Field in Cambridge Percy Haughton has a big squad of athletes and is following out his favorite principle of taking bright youths and teaching them football, rather than following the old plan of taking a football player and trying to impart to him intelligence. Haughton, with the system he has established in Harvard football, was one of the first football coaches to realize that under the new rules of the game, mental training means more than brawn and strength.

Brains at Premium.

According to Haughton, brains are at a greater premium on the gridiron than ever before in the history of the game. In speaking of the last football season, the Crimson coach points out that both the public and the newspapers have been impressed with the mental developments of football.

"A tremendous advance has been made," says Haughton, "over the old-time method of preparation, when pounding, rather than thinking, put a team in shape for its final test.

Takes too Much Time.

"The faculty's attitude toward football," continued the Harvard coach, "is that there is too much time devoted to it, too much time taken away from the books, as they put it. The professor is apt to dwell upon and see only one side of the game. When he says that there is too much time taken away from the books, he forgets that a boy, when he goes to a football practice, is getting just as good mental training as he does in the schoolroom, if not better. I say as good or better, because football players are always very much interested in their subject, and I doubt if that can be said of all other subjects which are given in college.

Keeping Up in Studies.

"The professor forgets also that, owing to the intensity of feeling and the pressure which is brought to bear from graduates and coach, these men are actually made to keep up in their studies. Most of the colleges in this country have a rule which says that if a man goes on probation he is not allowed to represent that college on the varsity team. In order that no candidate be lost for this reason the captain, coach, graduates, and undergraduates join together and say to the boy who is not a world beater in his studies, 'If you do not keep up in your studies and if you go on probation you are disgraced, just as much disgraced as if you broke training physically.'

"It seems to me that this is a movement which should spread through every college, so that the football and baseball player and other athletes should be automatically kept up in their studies. I know parents who have thanked me for my interest in that movement at Harvard. We have worked hard there and have organized an elaborate system."

FUSSY HINTS OF FASHION.

(By Edith Updegraff.)

The gloves to be worn this season are much the same as has been worn previously. With street suits gray silk gloves with stitching of black are indeed up to the minute. White and natural colored chamios with deep stitching still holds good.

The newest fad with the young girls now are the silk sweaters. They have been used quite extensively in Paris and London for some time. The sweater is made of Jersey silk and more the shape of a smart top coat than a sweater. The silk is quite transparent, so that one must wear a fine blouse underneath. There is nothing rough and ready about the garment or is it for the purpose of warmth but really just a luxury.

Bright orange, Belgian blue, Japanese red; Chinese yellow and all the other colors are quite fashionable. They will be worn with white or sand colored corduroy skirts with hose to match the sweaters.

The hair dressing is quite a problem for it is constantly changing. At last we have come back to simple and flat coiffure. The hair is brought lower over the ears and done in tight twisted "bun" at the nape of the neck. For evening brilliant pins and old fashioned silver combs are used by the smartest dressers.

Various types of yokes are used on the new skirts, some being deep enough to reach below hip line, while others are short in pointed, scalloped or straight finish. Clusters of wide tucks of graduated widths and small gathers at the waist line are considered very good.

Dressy models for afternoon wear have puffings, cordings and pleatings. These are used more in the softer silk fabrics, while the linens, palm beach cloth and other mannish materials are trimmed with pockets, buttons and fancy flaps of the matrial.

Eurodelphian Program.

The Eurodelprian program for April 24 is to be Shakesperian in character. The program: music, Miss Lois Noyes, Miss Kate Sumner, and Miss Estella Barnum; criticism of Shakespeare, Miss Minnie Gugenheim; incidents from Shakespeare's life, Miss Edith Parkhurst; dialogue, Miss Blanch Berger and Miss Edna Hawkins; Delphi, Miss Bess Walsh, Miss Alice Gih, and Miss Blanch Gorrell.

Girls Make Garden.

A number of girls dressed in costumes which they were not afraid of soiling made gardens on the College campus Monday. These girls were allotted a piece of ground and are to keep an account of all expenses, market the products, and aside from other educational advantages, learn the real cost of growing vegetables.

Band Concert Postponed.

The concert which was to have been given by the College band early next month has been postponed to an indefinite date. The inspection of cadets throws too heavy a load of work on the musicians for the program to be worked up and given before inspection.

Newton's Fireplace at Amherst.

In a new fraternity house, which was built at Amhurst this winter, the old fireplace of Sir Isaac Newton has been set up in the smoking room. It was presented to George A. Plimpton, Amherst, '76, of New York, who happening to be in London at the time the house of Sir Isaac Newton was torn down last summer, purchased the fireplace and had it shipped to this country for the new chapter of his fraternity.

Should Freshmen Wear Green Caps?

Northwestern College freshmen are still permitted to cover their heads according to their own individual tastes, but the tSudent Council has recently written to some of the other colleges to make inquiries into the advisability of instituting a freshman cap rule. Green scull caps will probably be prescribed.

Princetonian Board Salaried.

The Daily Princetonian has adopted a system of fixed salaries for members of both the editorial and business boards. Salaries range from $500 a year for the chairman of the board to $100 for news reporters. The business board shall receive fifty percent of the paper's earnings, to be divided as they see fit. Special provisions are made in case the earnings fall below the average yearly surplus of $3,300.

Professors Not Human!

In room 104 of Folwell hall, several University of Minnesota professors were discussing the humanitarian effect of the present war of the human race and the possible evolution of civilization as effected by Zeppelins and Ford automobiles.

In room 105 of Folwell hall at exactly the same time, G. Solis, of St. Louis claiming to be a syndicalist organizer, was declaring before an audience: "Professors are not members of the human race."

Guess It's Worth It!

Is a "tubbing" worth a kiss from a pretty movie actress? Carl Smith Kegley, a Stanford freshman from Los Angeles, says it is. He tried it the other day. He suffered himself to go through the tortures of a severe ducking, that his lips might rest momentarily against those of Grace Darling.

The actress was visiting the Farm. She had heard that freshmen are sometimes given discipline via a watery route. She wanted to see with her own eyes.

Kegley was summarily submerged in a fountain and rose to his sweet reward. A movie man caught it all on a film.

Judge says: California University girls eat ten pounds of candy a year, according to reports; but the boys of that institution can prove that they are the sweetest things on earth until the candy statistics from other colleges come in.

Wood—That was a peach of a looking dame you had over at Busty's the other night. She has awfully good taste.

Dood—Yes, the bill proved that.—Princeton Tiger.

Oh, the Duece!

They went on the courts to play tennis,
It was his first attempt:
All at once he threw down his racket
And left the court in contempt.
She asked him. "Why"—a sob detecting,
He said: "This game is too effecting."
One man called out "What is the score?"
'Tother said "Forty love." What's more
It surely is a sad, sad shame
To talk like that in such a game.

Earth in Afternoon of Life.

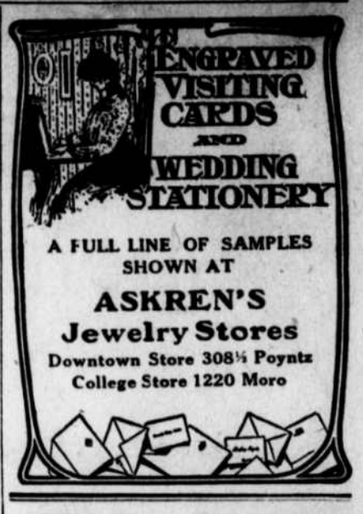

This is early afternoon in the life of the planet Earth. Heat will gradually grow less and cold become greater. Moisture wil slowly disappear. Atmospheric conditions will change.

When the loss of heat has proceeded to a degree where all the earth has a temperature below freezing, plant life will disappear, and without plants animals must also cease. Mercury and Venus, planets nearer the sun than the earth, have already reached this condition.

These are among statements made in a lecture on "A Theory of World Formation," delivered by Orin F. Stafford, professor of chemistry at the University of Oregon before the University assembly. For 200,000 years, however, the earth will remain much the same as now, Professor Stafford comfortingly says.

VOLUME 21. NUMBER 57. KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 28, 1915. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

FRESHMEN BUY PURPLE CAPS

A SHIPMENT IS NOW ON ITS WAY WHICH WILL BE WORN DURING REMAINDER OF THE SPRING TERM.

IT SHOWS AWAKENED SPIRIT

Caps Will Not be Compulsory But All Freshmen With Any College Spirit Wear Them—Girls are Also Eligible to Wear Caps.

All classes having agreed to donate to the Freshman cap fund, the first shipment of caps has been ordered and will get here during the next few days. They may be obtained by freshmen from the window opposite the post office.

This ends the spirited class wrangling that has been going on for the last few weeks. The freshmen have shown their mettle and have agreed to follow the rules and by-laws laid down by the upperclassmen.

The caps which are resounding purple affairs are to be worn to show college spirit, and may be worn outside of the hours decreed by the rulings in accordance to the freshman's own personal opinion of how he looks in the cap. Different divisions may have different colored buttons if they so desire. Here are the rulings for wearing:

The caps shall be worn on the afternoons of all athletic contests for the remainder of the spring term.

They shall be worn all day the day of the State high school track meet.

They shall be worn every Tuesday and Thursday morning of each week for the remainder of the term.

There is no objection to the freshman wearing the cap any other time that he likes. It would look well if they would wear them as much as possible when they get them, as it will show who has or who has not the real spirit of the school at heart.

The caps that have been ordered are all uniform, being of royal purple serge with a white button.

The girls are not to be asked to wear the caps but if they wish them arrangements can be made to get them. The men with freshmen assignments this term are the ones asked to get caps.

TAYLOR AT COMMENCEMENT.

Former Regent Will Give Address at Exercises for School of Agriculture.

Edwin Taylor of Edwardsville, who was a member of the board of regents of the College from 1907 until 1913, will deliver the commencement address for the first class to be graduated from the school of agriculture. The address will be given Friday evening, June 11.

"Mr. Taylor was asked to deliver the first address because of his interest in the work of the school," said H. L. Kent, principal of the school. "He is one of the agricultural leaders of the state.

"Many of the graduates of the school expect to return to the farm, and for that reason we shall select speakers who are interested in and give their attention to vocational work."

The rest of the day will be spent visiting the high schools and studying the methods of presenting home economics. MISSOURI MEET COMES MAY 1

Fourteen Track Men Will Leave Friday to Beard the Tiger at Columbia, on Next Saturday.

Fourteen Kansas Aggie track men will journey to Columbia, Mo., on Friday to meet the University of Missouri track team in the opening dual meet of the season at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning. Coach Carl J. Merner will accompany the team. Missouri is strong this year in several events and weak in many others. In the polevault the Tigers are supreme and it is hardly probable that any of the Valley 440 men can take the measure of Niedorp the former St. Joe crack. Simpson is an all-round gun capable of running the hurdles and the sprints and handling himself mighty well in the jumps if necessary.

But the Aggies travel to Columbia with fourteen plain-clothes track men. Not a man in the bunch is a Simpson or a Niedorp and it is possibly better for the team for should a Simpson or a Niedorp stub a toe the stuff is all off as compared with the work of a well-balanced all-round team. The following men will make the trip:

Captain Coith, Holroyd, Grandfield, Osborne, Wilder, Weaver, Cromer, Teeter, Frizzell, Welsh, Vandenberg, Marble, Bernard, and Smith.

PRINTING FIRST TAUGHT IN 1873.

College Was Pioneer in Introducing Subject—Now in Many Schools.

Printing has been taught in the Kansas State Agricultural College perhaps longer than in any other college in the United States. It was introduced by President J. A. Anderson in 1873, along with other "industrials." With the starting of The Industrialist in 1875, it assumed an even more practical character, which it has retained to the present time. Printing is now taught in a number of colleges, usually in connection with work in journalism.

This is the old catalog writeup: "Mention has been made of the invaluable aid given by type-setting in mastering the English language. The cases are as valuable to the student of practical English as is the blackboard to the student of practical mathematics, or the anvil to the blacksmith."

Milling Inspectors Here.

The inspectors of milling industries held a conference at the College Saturday. The object of the meeting was to talk over the work of inspection of the feeding stuffs. Dr. Brown and F. H. Grey, government inspectors were present. The inspectors of the College are A. E. Langworthy, inspector milling industry and O. C. Miller, deputy inspector of milling industry.

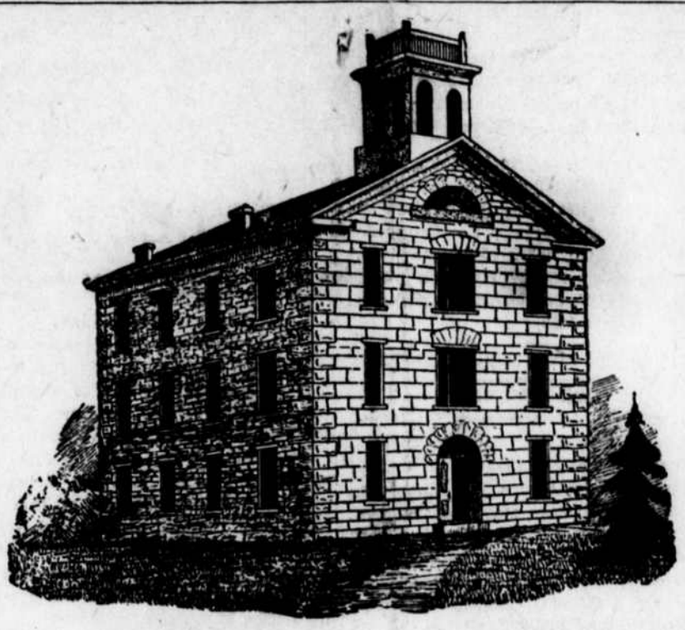

Y. M. C. A. Will Open Campaign.

The finance committee of the Y. W. C. A. will commence a campaign on April 30 to get their share of budget for the coming year. One hundred girls have been organized to carry out the work and have set their aim at $500.

Macarthur Will Talk to Y. W. C. A.

Prof. J. R. Macarthur will address the Young Women's Christian Association on Thursday evening.

Sam Kirby established a new 2-mile record for the College of Emporia when he stepped the distance in 10:02 2-5 in the interclass games held in Emporia recently.

The First College Building used for Library, Museum and Dormitory.

WHEN THE COLLEGE WAS NEW

THE COLLEGE OF YEARS AGO OCCUPIED THE PRESENT AND BLUEMONT SITE; THERE WERE THREE COURSES.

TURNED BARN INTO MAIN B'LDG.

The Kansas State Agricultural College 40 years ago was situated on two campuses, or farms, as they were then both called. On the original tract of 100 acres, three miles from the main part of town, stood the old Bluemont Central College building, erected in 1859 and given to the state in 1863. Near this was a small boarding hall accommodating 33 students.

The literary and scientific instruction was given in the Bluemont building, which contained the college library of 3,000 volumes, but students came to the present campus of 100 acres for instruction in agriculture. Here were the barn, the various experimental tracts, and the live stock. The stone building now farm mechanics hall, was then employed as a stable. It cost $11,000 and had been intended to form a part of a barn worth $80,000, which however, was never finished. Even in its incomplete state it was larger than the Bluemont college building.

Within a short time, however, the barn was converted into an "industrial hall and workshop." The first floor was occupied by the departments of practical agriculture, practical horticulture, English history, mathematics, botany, and entomology. The upper floor was altered to furnish an assembly room and space for the department of political economy, chemistry, and physics.

HOT SUN STAMPS OUT EPIDEMIC.

Foot and Mouth Disease Situation in Kansas Is Encouraging.

"The foot and mouth disease situation in Kansas is encouraging. The hot sun, through disinfection, and rigid inspection and quarantine will eventually win in Kansas. We can safely predict a clean slate and return to normal conditions by January 1, 1916."

These were the statements of Dr. F. S. Schoenleber, professor of veterinary medicine in the college, before the cattlemen's meeting last week.

Kansas has had six outbreaks of the foot and mouth disease. It was necessary to kill 1,217 cattle, valued at $72,588.78; 313 hogs, valued at $3,463.20. Of this amount the owners were reimbursed in full by the state and national governments. Besides the value of the animals for which Kansas has paid amounting to $38,025.99, the cost of disinfecting the premises and the necessary veterinary inspection will make the total cost of the foot and mouth disease to Kansas $50,000 or $60,000.

SCRIBNER'S WAR WRITER.

Speaks at Fort Riley May 1; 4000 Feet of War Pictures.

The first chance students will have to hear a war correspondent lecture will come Saturday afternoon at 3 p. m. at Fort Riley, when James Archibald, Scribner's war correspondent, will give an uncensored talk on the European struggle. Mr. Archibald has been with the German and Austrian armies and has seen the struggle from almost all angles. He has 4000 feet of moving pictures and 150 colored slides to exhibit.

This lecture has been given at West Point, and several eastern cities and is fresh and vivid, so much so that the war correspondent was invited to talk to the Ft. Riley officers.

WANT TO GO CAMPING?

U. S. Government Will Conduct Summer Camps in Michigan.

Uncle Sam intends to have a summer camp for College men again this year at Ludington, Michigan. The best men in the country from military or civilian schools may enter the camp which will be open from July 5 to August 8. The government has decided that this method is the best way to acquaint men with military methods and establish a sort of land force which would be valuable in case of war. The student gets everything at cost and has the privilege of meeting men from all the schools in the country.

Michigan is a beautiful country in the the summer time ebing full of timber and trout streams. The summer months are cool and Michigan is as popular a summer resort as Colorado. The trip will be thoroughly enjoyable to any Kansasman who has been used to spending his summer on the flat dry prairie. Information about the details of the encampment can be secured from the commandant of cadets.

PROF. WRITES "THE FIRST KISS."

Quill Meets.

The Quill meet in its regular session on Monday evening at the Forum room. A short program was given consisting of a sketch by Miss Madge Thompson and a review by Miss Mary Polson.

Send the Collegian home.

MUSICAL PROGRAM ON FRIDAY.

Students Will Entertain Gratis at 8:15 o'Clock.

The students of the department of music will give a program in the auditorium, Friday evening at 8:15. The department believes that an important part of musical training is the ability to appear well before an audience and at the same time they desire to give the people on the outside an idea of what their students are capable of doing.

This is the third of the series of entertainments presented by the department this year and from the enthusiastic manner in which the different pupils have entered into the work there is every reason to believe that the affair will be a success. The following people will take part in the entertainment: Miss Edith Walsh, Miss Marie Long, Miss China Rogers, Miss Hazel Brown, Miss Grace Lyons, Miss Francis Stall, Miss Lois Bellamy, Donald Brush, W. B. Adair, and G. C. Smith.

AGGIES DROP TWO DEBATES

Baker Talkers Badly Outpointed the Aggie Conversationalists in Both Debates—Our Men Inexperienced.

The Baker debating squad tasted victory twice last Friday night when both Aggie teams had the steam roller put over them by 3-0 scores. The question for debate was Philippine Independence and every man but one on the local debate teams as going under fire for the first time.

"I did not expect that we would get very far," said Prof. Macarthur; "the men had never debated before and I wanted to get them seasoned for next year. Baker has a law school and turns out strong debaters every year. The local men did very well against Baker considering all sides."

After the debate the team at Manhattan was entertained at the Webster-Eurodelphian hall. Talks were made by Prof. Searson, the Baker coach and by Shelby Fell who had charge of the affair.

PURDUE CO-EDS BUSY.

Will Have an Elaborate May Day Fete This Year.

The co-eds of Purdue are very busy outside of study hours preparing their costumes and flower garlands for the annual May pole dance and court festivities which are associated with the crowning of the May queen. The affair is always set for May day. Many interpretive dances, fairy dances, the May pole dance and dances of the seasons are scheduled to be on the program. Plans are under way to seat 2,500 people when the affair takes place.

THE MERRY MONTH OF MAY.

The Time for the May Fete is Drawing Near.

Only a few more weeks and the Queen of the May will be announced Everyone in school gets a chance to vote for her but none knows her name until the royal coach drives out on the campus on May day. There have been four May queens crowned already, the May fete originating in 1911. Miss Clara Morris was the first royal personage; Miss Mildred Inkeep held the scepter for a day in 1912; Miss Lydia Stoddard was queen in 1913; and Miss Margaret Blanchard reigned in 1914. Nineteen fifteen's queen will be.....?

What of It?

A statistician at the University of California who had nothing better to do compiled the following statistics:

Since the women's swimming pool has been opened this spring, nine gallons of soap, 3,000 towels and 4,000 gallons of water have been used. Red ranks first as the favorite color of bathing caps, with green and blue close behind.

The department of botany has added a new course in plant breeding for the summer school. The work is to be of a practical nature. The different methods of breeders, the hybridization of plants, and the methods used in the field, greenhouse and the breeding of agricultural, horticultural, and ornamental plants are to be studied. So far as will permit, things are to be studied in the field, garden, or orchard.

Prof. King of the chemistry department went to Rocky Ford Saturday afternoon in pursuit of the finny tribe. Judging from the amount of bait the Prof. was carrying he was evidently figuring on catching a summer's supply of fish.

AN AGGIE TRIUMPH, 6 TO 3

THE LOWMAN'S RAPPED MERRILY ALONG FOR NINE SESSIONS WHILE FERRIER SMOKED 'EM ACROSS THE PLATE.

AGGIE ARTILLERY AT WORK

The Pitching of George Ferrier was the Feature of the Game—His Support Wasn't Slow—Prospects are Bright for Wins Over Kansas.

(By E. H. Smith)

If the Lowman crew sports any saffron-hued spinal column embellishment they were not on display in Saturday afternoon's battle with Ames for the three-run lead the Iowans piled up in the first inning only served as an incentive to stiffer efforts and the Lowman help finally won out on a 6 to 3 count.

Ames took an early start and after putting Bangham and McBride on the path in the first round, Kinneally hit a homer and three tallies crossed the pan. Jones, third up, hit to center for one base and Haucke threw Davis out at first. Kerrigan fanned and Okey took one in the ribs for a ticket to first and Firkins whiffed the ozone three times for the third death. This ended the Ames scoring for the entire nine innings but not the danger of a tally from that team for on three occasions they had men on the third station and in the sixth inning Jones, running ahead of Kerrigan's three-base blow, cut a base in the path and was dropped into the well.

The old Aggie fight loomed up big in the home half of the first with Broddle and Agnew in the well Enns rapped a single and scored when Captain Briney pasted the pill to left center for four bases. Briney's three-baser in the third followed by Reynolds' timely hit to center gave the Aggies a tied-up chance to win which they improved on in the sixth.

MacMillan walked and took third on Left Fielder Jones' error. McClymonds hit one sack and Haucke's hit lifted the Ames gang off the diamond, Captain McBride throwing the ball through an empty first base and the two Macks romped home with enough tallies to put the game in the ice-box.

In the eighth frame Reynolds and McClymonds hit for three bases each and the Aggies' count mounted one higher.

The pitching of eGorge Ferrier and the sensational beating the Aggies administered to the sphere were the features of the game although Captain Briney pulled off a screaming circus peg to first to avoid an error on one occasion and MacMillan fielded the pill mighty well on all his chances at the first station and it can be truthfully said that he had but one or two decent pegs in the whole afternoon's workout. And as bluffs go, "Chief" had his working non-union hours on the Ames gang when it came to stealing. The old peg was right there too but Ames' appetite for such maneuvers was shy. The score:

THE COLLEGE RULES OF 1875.

1. Behave as a true man or woman should, at all times and in all places.
2. Attend to your own business promptly, thoroughly and courteously; and vigorously let alone that of other people.
3. Penalty: "Leave!"

Forty years ago Saturday the Industrialist first saw the light of day; forty years in which the management has changed from the hands of a president who wrote out his copy every week end and sometimes helped set the type, to a complete journalism department which does nothing else. The Industrialist goes to every graduate of the College and is purely an alumni and publicity paper, having turned all local news-getting over to the College paper long ago. The Industrialist is the strongest booster the College has in the state, is young and vigorous, and appears to be perfectly able to repeat several times the span of life it has already completed.

DO YOU KNOW?

That with all the freshman English students on the lookout for news, a person, to escape publicity, has to be more circumspect in his actions than has been necessary since the advent of the Spot Light?

What senior girl, the star of the class basketball tournament, has given her class pin to a freshman whose front name is "Hennery?"

What bashful youth makes it a practice after the evening meal to follow his heart's desire home from the boarding house and sit in the porch swing and thus evade the (to him at least) terrifying ordeal of asking her for a date?

What heartless fellow classman at the same boarding house has been hiding the poor fellow's cap for the last three evenings and by so doing has thrown the little romance sadly out of line?

What senior man is forever telling his friends about having dates with "the keenest woman this side of the Mississippi?"

Why some of the girls do not start an inter-sorority baseball league? We see the Eta Betas have organized for the season and are holding regular practice in the evenings.

What young woman who is an energetic worker on committees, while engaged at her various duties in the different buildings last week, lost four new powder rags?

What sophomore engineer wore silk hose and white collar and shirt on a recent fishing trip but is not apt to repeat the offense?

That a senior who has a second hour class in Anderson caused considerable excitement Monday when he dropped his celluloid handled knife into a pocket containing matches and started a fire of a very personal nature?

As a crowd of girls passed Simpson Brecton and his chum, one of them was relating in a penetrating voice the details of her experience in getting up at five o'clock to play tennis.

"Huh!" grunted Sim, "that's not a boast, it's a confession."

Who drew the piece of cake that held the thimble at the wedding breakfast given at the Alpha Mu house recently?

That if the Aggie baseball team keeps up its present gait it will land us up around the top in the Big Muddy conference?

What popular junior girl has had a date for the junior-senior for over four months?

That the same professor who lost his derby in a mud puddle last winter had a similar accident last Monday? This time he said, "Tut, tut," rescued the damaged hat and hurried on to meet his class.

What crowd of girls invited their friends to go on a hike early Sunday morning with the idea of viewing the sun rise from the distant hills and then over slept and were only awakened by the invited guests whistling under their windows?

That there are two sisters attending the College and the younger one bosses the elder around, gives her advice she does not attempt to follow herself and even wears her sister's prettiest dresses when the occasion arises?

"THE ARRIVAL OF PERPETUA."

The Shubert feature presented by the World Film Company with Vivian Martin in the leading role. When her father died and left Perpetua to Thadeus Curzon, her eccentric young guardian, he was responsible for the love story that followed. Curzon was poor. Perpeua was rich. The resulting tangling and untangling of the love story makes a delightful play. Wareham Theatre, Friday afternoon and night, April 30.

Clotheraft Clothes at Knostman's.

Last week an affair occurred, which, transposed to a different community, say Kansas City, would mean a fine of $50 and three weeks on the rock pile. But as this is an educational institution the person in question is given a chance to redeem himself. It is a serious question as to whether these tactics are valuable. The real student is never arrested for forgery, robbery, or any deeds of a dark hue, and we do not need the other kind.

Six Universities in China.

The new ministry of education of the Chinese republic is planning for six great national universities located in six sections of the country. The minister of education, Tang Hua-lung, reports that approval is to be forthcoming immediately and the actual work for the establishment of these institutions, intended to have such vital relation to the nation, will be started at once. It is expected that within the next year or two the system will be in complete operation.

It is hoped that ample preparation will be made in these new universities for the education of Chinese women, who like the women of virtually every oriental country today, are beginning to look forward to having a share in the intelligent training of their own sons and daughters, as well as exerting their influence upon the whole nation.

NOW COMES MO. VALLEY MEET

THE BIGGEST ATHLETIC EVENT OF THE SPRING COMES MAY 28-29 AT MISSOURI UNVERSITY, COLUMBIA, MISSOURI.

OVER 100 TEAMS WILL CLASH

Aggies Will Send a Fast Bunch—It takes a Real Man to Breuk a Record—Competition Limited to the Valley This Year.

What is expected to prove the greatest athletic contest of thsi section of the United States, the eighth track and field meet of the Missouri Valley Conference, is to be held on Rollins Field May 28 and 29. This will be the first time the meet has not been held in a large city.

Invitations and preliminary entry blanks have been sent out to nearly 100 universities and colleges in the four states, Missouri, Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska in which conference schools are located. All the members of the conference have signified their intention of entering full teams and several other schools have already indicated that hey will be represented.

Until this year invitations were sent to all the leading universities of the United States. Some of the large schools, not in this district, entered only when their track prospects were unusually bright. At the meeting of the faculty representatives last winter it was decided to limit competition to schools in the Missouri Valley Conference territory, so as to make the meet more representative of this section.

The Universities of Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska, Drake University, Iowa and Kansas State Agricultural College make up the membership of the Missouri Valley Conference.

Meet Started in 1908.

On account of finances the annual track meets has been held in larger cities heretofore. The first meet, in 1908, was in Kansas City. The next four, 1909, 1910, 1911 and 1912, were in Des Moines. In 1913 and 1914 the meets were held on Francis Field, Washington University, St. Louis.

Missouri is the only school which has won a permanent trophy of the conference. The Tigers won three successive meets, 1911, 1912 and 1913, with the result that a large loving cup is in the trophy case at Rothwell Gymnasium.

The first meet was won by Ames with 52 points. Missouri won four first and two thirds and ranked second, with a total of 22 points. The next meet, in 1909, went to Nebraska. The Cornhuskers made 30 points Missouri was fourth with 22 1-3 points. Kansas won the third meet with 30 points. Missouri was again second with 23 points. In 1911 Missouri placed in every event except the 100-yard dash, one-half mile relay, pole vault and high jump, and won the meet with 40 points. Kansas was second with 31. Misouri won the 1912 meet by a big margin, making 60 1-2 points while Nebraska, second, made only 21 5-6. The cup was given to Missouri in 1913 when the Tigers won seven firsts, one second, one third and three fourths in the meet at St. Louis. Misouri's score that year was 42. Ames won second place with 26 points.

Last year Missouri and Kansas tied for fifth place with 12 points each. Moss won the two-mile run in 9:48.4 Thatcher broke a conference record when he threw the discus 126 feet 10 4-5 inches. He also took third place in the shot put. Chicago won the meet.

WILL THE AGGIES WIN?

Ames Men Say Aggies Have as Good a Team as K. U.—Provided the Old Fight Sticks Game Will be interesting.

The University of Kansas baseball team comes to Manhattan on Thursday for a two-game series with the Kansas Aggies. The Jayhawkers come minus the Bishop-Smee-Sommers formula for winning ball games and the Aggies look like a mighty good two-time bet. "Red" Craig is the best that K. U. offers in the box this season and the Ames men said that he will be easy for the Briney Pill Pasters. Well, here's hoping!

The remarkable growth of the Pennsylvania relay carnival, which attracted 25,000 persons at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, last Friday and Saturday, has been the outstanding feature of the collegiate athletic world. Starting twenty years ago with representation of ten colleges and eight schools, the event has steadily developed until this year 100 colleges and 200 schools were on the competitive list. During this time the intercollegiate athletic games have shown little or no advancement.

Each year since its inception this event has grown in popularity and the competition has become steadily keener. Because of the greatly increased number of entries this year it was found necessary to devote two days to sport instead of one day, as in previous years.

The relay races were begun in 1895, in which year eighteen relay teams were entered in the different events. Four of the teams represented Philadelphia institutions. This year more than 2,500 contestant tickets were issued, which is 600 more than sent out last year, and every college and school of any importance between the Atlantic and Pacific was represented at the games.

In the early years of the races Harvard and Pennsylvania were the only contestants in the one-mile championships. Yale soon joined the pair, and the Crimson and Blue were Penn's greatest competitors for the first ten years, but for a time these two universities did not send their best teams. Harvard and Yale both returned to the fold this year, the former finishing second to Pennsylvania, in the one mile event, in which a new world's record was made, while Yale was third in the two-mile title event and won the one-mile freshman championship.

Pennsylvania has won more of these championship events than any other college, which is accounted for by the fact that the Quakers enter a team in each of the three championships every year. Other colleges cannot do this for various reasons. Pennsylvania has won twenty-two championships, winning the four-mile event eight times, the two-mile event eight times, and the one-mile event four times, and the one-mile freshman race twice.

The peculiar part of the games is that Cornell has won but two championships, which can be explained in various ways. The Ithacans do not put their best efforts into getting into shape for the relays, but this year Cornell was represented by a speedy quartet of milers, and easily captured the four-mile championship.

The relay races have been the means of developing more good men at the quarter mile than any other meet in the world. Nearly every quarter-miler has done his best work at the relay races. It takes a better performance now to win a high school relay than it did to win a college relay twenty years ago. The distance relay events were inaugurated in the relays after Yale and Pennsylvania ran a five-mile race. The finish was exceedingly close, and it proved to the promoters that the people wanted more of the distance events.

Simpson, Missouri University star all-around track athlete, captured third honors in the high hurdle event in the Penn Relay games at Philadelphia on last Saturday afternoon and is credited with the fastest time made in the event. The Tiger star won his heat in the preliminaries in 15 2-5 seconds which is getting right down and digging. Kelley, University of California and World's champion high hurdler won the final race in 15 3-5 seconds.

The Emporia Normals defeated Baker's track team on the Emporia track on Friday of last week by a final count of 77 2-3 to 35 1-3 in a slow meet. The best records were made in the shotput and in the 440. Nichols clipped off the quartermile in 53 2-5 seconds for the Teachers and Taylor, a former Dickinson County all-around athlete now attending Baker won the shotput with a healthy heave of 41 feet 8 inches.

Powell tied for third with 23 other polevaulters at 11 feet 9 inches and the Tiger relay four was totally outclassed in their meeting against the Harvard and University of Pennsylvania, quartets the latter team winning the event and establishing a new world's record of 3:18. The former mark was held by the Irish American Athletic Club's team at 3:18 1-5.

The Aggie track men will meet both Powell and Simpson and also the Tiger four in the dual tangle with the Missourians which will be held at Columbia on Saturday morning.

SEARCH FOR THE MAY QUEEN

THE RULER OF THE CAMPUS FOR A DAY WILL BE CHOSEN FROM THE SENIOR CLASS BY BALLOT ON CANDIDATES NOMINATED.

NAME SIX SENIOR GIRLS

Senior Class Will Eliminate Two of These Next Thursday—Hill, Downing, Helwig, Kingon, Bryan, and Gould are Nominated.

Who will be the next May Queen?

Whoever she may be is unknown to the College as yet, but on Tuesday the senior class started the course of destiny which will ultimately place a beautiful blushing princess on the throne of May.

Tuesday the seniors nominated six girls on the primary ticket, so to speak, for May Queen. The girls are Miss Ruth Hill, Miss Valeda Downing, Miss Elsie Helwig, Miss Jane Kingan, Miss Elsie Bryan, and Miss Amy Gould.

At the next senior meeting the class will again vote and the four girls receiving the highest vote will go on the ballot for May Queen. At a future date the ballot box will be open to those holding May fete tickets, and the Queen of May will be elected. The ballot box is under the supervision of a senior committee who will kep the election secret till the day of the crowning. Even the girl elected does not know the fact.

HAS $85,000 TRACK.

California University Used It First Time Last Week.

The University of California boasts of a new $85,000 track which was used for the first time last week in a meet with Stanford.

The oval covers a land area of 700 by 300 feet. The c is twenty-four feet wide and allows for eight lanes. The field was not fashioned after any particular track, but embodies all the best ideas in plan and construction. One feature that is distinctively new and that is being put into effect for the first time is the use of shavings and rice mates to get a springy foundation and thus prevent broken muscles and strained tendons. Another feature is the drainage system. A porous gravel drain on the inside circumfereance of the track will carry the water off the track as soon as it falls and will make it possible to hold meets even though it is raining. The field is of double construction with two pits and two take-offs for each event. This will allow field event men to take advantage of the wind.

The bleachers have a seating capacity of 12,900, which is double that of Stanford's. Beneath the bleachers are the secondary training quarters, equiped almost as completely as the one in the gymnasium. Track men will use these quarters during football season. Next fall the field will be turfed and beautified by planting flowers and shrubs around the edges.

APPOINT NEW FELLOWS.

Milton and Scott Will Succeed to the Jobs of Seiglinger and LaTourette.

Clyde Milton, B. S. in agriculture from Oklahoma A. & M., has been elected to the fellowship of J. B. Seiglinger who will leave in June. His fellowship amounts to $400 a year.

Herschel Scott of the University of Kentucky, 1915, has been elected Fellow in Soils to succeed L. D. LaTourette. The fellowship amounts to $400

School of Ag. Elects.

The Athletic Association of the School of Agriculture met last Thursday morning and elected the following officers for the spring term: Pres., Geo. E. Kennedy; Vice Pres., R. F. Coffey; Sec., D. C. Thayer; baseball manager, F. W. Barker; track manager, H. G. Beatty.

The Association decided to send representatives of the school of agriculture to the high school track meet which is to be held in Abilene today. It is not known yet who will represent the school of agriculture at this meet.

Build a Platform.

Following up the general plan of beautifying the south side of the campus, the College authorities have built a car stop at the south entrance. This will take the place of the present unsightly stone affair. This finishes the cement work that has been going on on Anderson for the last year.

PROF. IS CENSORED.

British Sherlock Holmes Looks for Possible German Information.

"Opened by the censor" was stamped in large red letters across the face of a letter received by George E. Bray, industrial engineer of the extension division, last week. The letter was from the secretary of the educational department of the Mysore economic conference, Ringwood, High Ground, Bungalore, South India.

The letter requested a copy of Mr. Bray's bulletin, "Manual Training in the Village and Rural Schools." This bulletin has a world-wide reputation and requests have come from many other countries for copies of this work. Teachers and students from 32 states have written for copies, and a number of state superintendents have commented upon the bulletin very favorably.

HIGH SCHOOLS TEAMS COME

Fourth Annual Track and Field Meet Will Be Held Here on Saturday, May 8.

The Fourth Annual State High School track and field meeting will be held on College Field on Saturday afternoon, May 8, and the management is expecting the largest entry list ever arranged for a high school meet in the state. Several outside athletes, that is from out-laying districts, who have been unable to compete in their respective district elimination meets have sent in requests to be entered in Saturday's meet and will make the going decidedly faster, especially in the sprint events with the little speeder Collier from Marquette toeing the marks.

Last Saturday this runner clipped off the 50-yard event in 5 1-5 seconds at a meet at Lindsborg tying the world's high school time for the distance. To be correct this ties any old mark that has ever been chalked up for the run as it never has been clocked any faster than 5 1-5. The Swedish timers must have used Big Bens for it's mighty good work for any sprinter to do after years and years of training and when one of these lightly clad athletes does a mark of this kind with one season's work, bring out the trumpets. Let the scribes drag out their old six-cylinder self-starters and reel off many reams of that old stuff.

Any way this high school track meet looks like a good investment for one afternoon and it is deserving of a good house. Forget the hikes for one day and tug yourself out to the cinder course and see a good show.

"K" FRATERNITY ELECTS.

"Duroc" Frizzell is Elected President on Thursday.

The Athletic K Fraternity held a meeting in N56 on Thursday morning and elected the following officers for next year: "Duroc" Frizzell, president; "Fritz" Hartwig, vice-president; L. C. Teeter, secretary; "Sid" Vandenberg, treasurer.

The K organization also adopted an initiation ritual and new pledging regulations. The twenty-five cent fine assessable on all members failing to appear at meetings of the fraternity will go into effect at the next meet which will be held at 10 o'clock in N56 on next Tuesday morning. Wearers of the Purple K take heed!

The State High School track and field meeting which will be held on College Field on next Saturday afternoon was also the subject of considerable debate. The K fraternty will attend to the entertainment of the visiting high schoolers.

APPOINT MORE OFFICERS.

Company "A" has Four New Non-Coms. Appointed Friday.

The following appointments for Company "A" have been officially announced: to be sergeant, N. E. Pearson; to be corporals, F. K. Hanson, D. M. Green, and C. L. Hedstrom. Corporals E. V. Kesinger and E. F. Golding were reduced to the grade of private at their own request.

Lardner Checks up K. U. Books

Financial secretary Lardner is having quite a time with the organization books at K. U. Two trips to Lawrence have already been made and only 12 ledgers out of 65 organizations have been turned in. Most of them are in ordinary shape. Mr. Lardner is having the K. U. registrar express him the rest of the ledgers which must be turned in by May 23, so that they will be overhauled thoroughly by vacation. The financial office will also take care of the books for organizations at the other state schools.

BUILD NEW TENNIS COURTS

THE BOARD OF ADMINISTRATION VOTED SATURDAY TO GIVE THE STUDENTS PLAYGROUNDS ON THE CAMPUS.

LOCATION IS NOT DECIDED

Will Cost Not Over $450—Probably Will be of Cement or Crushed Rock; Are to be Open to the Student Body.

Believing that the students did not have sufficient opportunity to play tennis, the Board of Administration voted at its last session here Saturday to build six tennis courts on the campus.

These courts will be distributed over the campus in such a way as to not interfere with the present landscape plans of State Forrester Scott. They will probably be placed near or west of the two courts by the gymnasium. At present these two courts are being played upon only by the girl's physical training classes.

The cost of the six courts is not to exceed $450. This will not permit the expenditure of more than $75 on each court.

While no definite plans have been laid as to how the courts shall be constructed it is probable that they will be made of concrete or crushed rock. The average rock courts scattered over Manhattan cost from $25 to $50 each, complete. The cement court is much faster than the crushed rock or dirt as the balls rebound faster, making it necessary to play faster. The crushed rock courts can be used at all times except when softened by heavy rains, and the cement court is good at all times. The chief disadvantage of the cement court is its very hardness which makes a fall serious. Cement courts when smooth make it hard to play in the direct sunlight because of reflected light.

The tennis courts will be constructed as soon as possible and will be open to the student body. It is expected that a large number will take advantage of their convenience.

GO TO K. U. GAME.

Down Town Merchants Shut Up Shop Thursday.

We like H. W. Brewer's spirit. Mr. Brewer is proprietor of Brewer's Book Store located on Poyntz avenue downtown. On Thursday a sign displayed in front of his shop read thus: "We close at 4 o'clock today. We're going to the ball game. Are you?

That's the proper spirit and we like it too. A vote of thanks should also be sent to "Fritz" Frank, Knostman's right-hand haberdashery salesman and ad-writer. It was he who suggested that the merchants of the village lock up their shops and journey out to College Field for the Thursday afternoon battle.

HELD SHIRT TAIL PARADE.

About 500 Thundered Through the Village on Wednesday Night.

About 500 pepsters held an informal meeting Wednesday night—so informal that shirt tails were considered a necessity—and paraded the streets working up steam for the K. U. game Thursday. The column was headed by the band; at the court house Captain Briney, "Red" Agnew, "Chief" Haucke and "Stubbie" Broddle made impassioned speches. A show at the Marshall was given to the crowd.

FRESHMAN CAPS HERE MONDAY.

First Shipment is Due on Saturday for the Youngest Class.

Freshman class officials announce that the freshman caps are due here on Saturday, having been ordered plenty of time in advance. They will be ready for distribution by Monday. The freshman engineers have decided on yellow buttons as indication of their rank and will place a can of chrome yellow in the office so that the buttons may be appropriately daubed when secured.

Plant Flower Beds.

The formal flower beds are soon to be planted again. The flowers have been started in the greenhouse and as there is very little danger of frost now they are to be transferred to the beds. There are several of these beds near the buildings and the mass beds by Lover's Lane will soon be planted also.

M. F. Ahearn, associate professor of horticulture, was in Marysville yesterday refeering a track meet.

CHECK UP STUDENT BOOKS.

The Financial Office Looks Over all Organization Business.

The financial office at present has the job of looking over all the various organizations' ledgers. Out of 31 clubs and classes, 24 ledgers are checked at the present. The books which have not been turned in yet are those belonging to the debating council, the lyceum course committee, the Forum, and the sophomore class. The Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. come under the head of student organizations as College students are members.

Beginning with this term the treasurer of each organization must turn over all money in the treasury to the financial office at the end of the spring term. This money will be returned in the fall and make the business of the year strictly accounted for.

ENGINEERS DAY COMES THE 27TH

Committees for the Third Annual Day are Appointed.

Preliminary preparations for the third annual engineers' day have been made. The date of the celebration is May 27. Mr. W. H. Buck of the department of engineering is in charge of the preparations. A chapel program in the morning, a base ball game with the aggies in the afternoon, a movie in the evening, and a hike the following day is the program under consideration. The architects are the first ones to appoint their committee to begin work. Loyd Ruedy is chairman, and Fred Korsmeyer and Stanley Baker are the members of the committee.

THERE ARE 341 GIRLS SWIMMING.

"Quite a Few can Really Swim, too," Says Miss Burns.

College girls learning to swim? Certainly. Three hundred and forty-one of them are making a great splash in the big pool in the gymnasium every day under the direction of Miss Margaret Burns, instructor in physical education in the tgricultural college. Most of them are really swimming, too.

Was Sentenced to Siberia.

Mrs. Marie Leff, formerly of Keis, Russia, gave a very interesting review of the educational situation in Russia to the Ionian literary society Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Leff at the age of twelve, was taken to Russia and was educated in the schools at Kers. After finishing her work in the schools there, she started to teach the peasant children to read and write. For this activity, she was banished to Siberia by the Russian government. Before ariving at the mines, she and her husband escaped and made their way to America. Mrs. Leff is now a social worker in Topeka. While in Manhattan, Mrs. Leff was the guest of Dr. Green.

Violets Behind Chemistry Building.

Perhaps they only grew there wild, and again some lovesick chemistry prof.—imagine such a being—might have planted them in the shadow of the rough gray stone to thrust their tiny violet heads from behind the velvety green leaves and look at the world with its blithe spring suit. Thursday morning there was quite a colony of violets sheltered on the east side of the chemistry building. Perhaps in a few days they will be gone but violets tucked in out of the way corners as these do more toward creating a venerable charm about the old campus than any amount of fresh brick and masonry. Are they worth while?

Lost Collegian Copy.

One ofthe Collegian reporters took the last copy off the Collegian news hook yesterday and proceeded to take it to the ball game with him. During the sensational finish of the ninth the copy was lost in the cheering and as a result the Collegian went to press Friday night minus quite a number of interesting stories. This will account for the absence of several notices and other items. As yet the copy which was picked up by someone in the crowd remains lost.

Send the Collegian home.

AGGIES LOST BY 2 INCHES

LAST DECISION ON LAST PLAY WAS ALL THAT KEPT THE LOWMAN TEAM FROM A STIRRING NINTH INNING WIN.

FINAL SCORE WAS 11 TO 10

Both Pitchers Were Hit Hard In All the Sessions—Rain Made the Field Slippery—K. U. Got 18 Hits and the Aggies 17.

(Frank Sargent.)

The people who left before the last out colled in the game with Kansas, yesterday should feel cheated for they missed one of those thrills that come but once in a lifetime. The Aggies did not win but they put in a strong bid for the game and the old fighting spirit was there.

After playing a weird sort of ball for eight innings on a slow and muddy field they upset the dope and started a 9th inning rally. Reynolds, the first man up, hit and McGalliard, pinch hitting for McMillan followed with another safety. McClymonds Walked, Haucke grunded out to the shortstop but business was picking up and things began to look like a ball game again. Before the umps had called Enns out at the ulate for teh third count the Lowman crew had accumulated five runs from the six hits in that inning and raised the final count to 10 to 11.

Both pitchers were hit hard and fast fielding was an utter impossibility on the muddy field. Kansas did most of her scoring early in the game and pushed 4 runs across in the third inning and added 5 more in the fourth. The score:

Aggies, 10.

DO YOU KNOW?

What popular senior grl when answering a phone call recently asked the man, "How is your foot?" three times before she discovered that she was mistaken in the voice?

That the Manhattan stores close for some of the big K. S. A. C. baseball games but that the eight hour classes all meet?

That a certain English teacher was seen trundling a domestic art instructor through Lover's Lane in a wheelbarrow

What sorority girl has blosomed forth with a new diamond ring: and is wearing it on the business finger too?

That a dark haired sophomore maiden is anxious for the term to end and is already planning her summer campaign and has selected her dresses for the first skirmishes?

What girl, who lives on Bluemont, could give most boys a few pointers when it comes to throwing a baseball.

What junior, who has the reputation of being one of the best dressed lads on the hill, paraded around one whole morning, recently, with a large hole in the heel of one of his socks?

That when you buy ice cream at the Dairy building you are expected to eat it with one of the pasteboard caps that are used as stoppers in milk bottles?

That we were surprised to find that the news items handed in to one English class by a freshman sorority girl all related to the work of the Aggie track team?

That five people took in the K. U. baseball games from the roof and the fire escapes of the domestic science building?

What young man was almost let out of College this week because he had neglected to pay a 44 cent chemistry lab fee?

That a young man who calls frequently on a Poyntz avenue maiden was struck in the back of the head with the evening paper and that fact is the only thing that prevented the girl in the case from being hit in the face?

Who called up the Phi Phi house the other day and said: "I guess I will not have that crumb date tonight?"

What young lady had so much interest in wireless that she reported lats Monday for instruction in the military wireless squad?

What the wireless corporal said when the private closed the switch and shot about 2500 volts through said corporal?

Collar Pins, Bar Pins, Friendship Cubs at Askren's Jewelry Stores.

Cupid Gambles at U. of Oregon.

All students at the University of Oregon, except those excused by training rules, assembled last Friday afternoon to draw lots for their partners at the all-university dance held that night. After learning his fate each man went to the registrar's office, found where his partner lived, and went and introduced himself to the fair co-ed. As the number of men and co-eds did not coincide, there was a body of "reserves" who were called out in case some one failed to show up.

Northwestern Frosh Celebrate.

University of Northwestern freshmen celebrated their first and last "cap night" recently. On a hill above Evanston, Ill., a large fire was started and kept alive by the addition of many green caps which the 1918 men were at last permitted to discard. The town cemetery was also awakened by shouts of jubilant freshmen. Effigies of prominent sophomores were burned and buried there with much pomp and cecemony.

Alarmed by the noise and the immense conflagration on the hill the police and fire departments hastened forth to quell the disturbance and put out the blaze. After the light of the fire waned the noisy participants broke into a moving picture show and saw the entire performance gratis.

COULDN'T KEEP 'EM ON GROUND.

And Aggies Lost Game Where Hits Meant Runs Yesterday.

(By E. H. Smith.)

The classic balloon ascension and Craig's clever delivery shut the Lowman help out in Thursday afternoon's little nine-act comedy-drama out on the College Field diamond while Kansas hit the ball every now and then and observed the rules of baseball etiquette by taking advantage of every misplay and crossed the pan five times during the two hours and ten minutes Umpire Moss permitted the game to run.

Several ivory plays and a handful of errors left Hodgson out there on the mound toiling all alone. "Hoddy" did not appear able to fool the Jayhawkers in the pinches but managed to make ten of the McCarty batsmen bite the dust. Craig fooled eight and some of them were right up in the heavy part of the hitting program too, but that seemed to make little or no difference.

Errors by Agnew and McClymonds put DeLongy over with the first Kansas score in the fourth chapter. In the next round Kansas increased an unnecessary lead to three runs. Two more, one in the seventh and one in the ninth, completed the pile.

The Aggies had chances to count in the fourth and eighth rounds when Reynolds and Briney got as far as third base. Each time the spurt ended when the next hitter failed to smack one down on the ground. This seemed the chief difficulty with the Lowman gang's batting. The score:

ATHLETES ARE VAIN.

Moving Picture Machine Brings Out Best Work Every Time.

Percy D. Haughton, the Harvard University football coach, is responsible for the introduction of the moving-picture camera into the training quarters of the Harvard athletes, in the hope of instilling a little enthusiasm and inspiring the athletes to better efforts. This innovation has proven to be the best athletic stimulus discovered at the university since Haughton took up the reins of head coach of the football team. With a moving-picture camera trained on them, the boys perform right up to championship form. However, as soon as the moving picture apparatus disappears there is a noticeable falling off of "pep" on the part of the practicing athletes.

"Doc" Sexton, the Harvard baseball coach, recently had a scheme whereby he could get the maximum of efficiency out of his players by having a dummy moving-picture operator projecting a camera at his squad during their most important games. Coach Sexton has always dabbled in psychology and its effects on ball players, but the "movie" man gave him an absolutely new idea.

Since the opening of the training season at Harvard the baseball and lacrosse squad and the 'Varsity crews have been snapped several times by moving-picture men representing the weekly news film services. While the moving picture operator was working the crank on the crew it was noticed by the coach that the men in the boat pulled their best stroke. The same was true of the baseball players.

Queer Training Method.

What would people think of us if they should see us eat a big piece of meat with our fingers, wipe the greasy fingers on a piece of bread, and calmly throw the bread under the table? They would call us barbarians—nothing less, certainly. Supose we ate our meals lying down. They would say we were sick; and probably there would be something wrong with us. Yet old Sopholcles, Euripides, Eratosthenes, and all the lords and statesmen of ancient Greece did these things habitually; and people called Greece the cultured nation of the world.

What if our athletes had to bathe themselves with oil, as the Athenian youth did, every time they worked out. It is doubtful if many Aggie men would go out for athletics in the first place if oil baths were a prerequisite; and then just think what a time the poor fellows would have afterward trying to wash it off with Manhattan city water. It makes us wonder if the Greeks used lava soap Funny what a change a few centuries can make in opinions.

'Can't Keep a Good Man Down."

A cannibal was seated on a green Pacific isle
With the temp'rature at ninety-nine degrees;
His dress was rather scanty, in a truly savage style,—
Just a pair of Boston garters 'round his knees.

But he didn't seem quite happy, for now and then a groan
Escaped, which tore his savage breast in two,
And he chanted in a melancholy meditative tone,
The ditty that I now repeat to you:

"I have eaten hostile tribesmen with the greatest of urbanity,
I have feasted on the yellow, black, and brown;
But to eat a missionary was the acme of insanity,—
You can't keep a good man down."

—Yale Record.

"D'ye know, I think teacher c'n see behind her!"

"Well, she said her eyesight was going back on her."

"This is a sore trial," said the mother bird, as the fledgling flew from the nest for the first time.—Cornell Widow.

GIVE EACH DEBATER A "K"

THIRTY TEAM MEMBERS WILL RECEIVE THE HONOR NEXT THURSDAY AT THE CHAPEL EXERCISES; PREXY WILL PRESIDE

COLLEGE ORCHESTRA IS ON

Prof. R. H. Brown's Harmonizers Will Play for 45 Minutes—Prof. J. W. Searson Will Talk on Debating at K. S. A. C.

Tomorrow in chapel, the debating "Ks" will be awarded to the members of the team, by President Waters. There are approximately 30 people who will receive "K's," as there are quite a few alumni who are eligible to that honor. Prof. J. W. Searson will make a short address upon the history of debating at this College followed by the presentation of the "K's" by President Waters.

The debating "K" is in the shape of a 14-carat gold pin, and is a block letter surrounded by a golden circle. It was chosen by the debaters on account of the fuss started by the athletic department when felt monograms were awarded, and carries with it as much prestige as the athletic letter.

The people who will receive the honor are: J. B. Sweet, J. V. Quigley, W. S. Taylor, R. W. Thompson, James Macarthur, Florence Justin, J. L. Lush, Ivar Mattson, J. C. Rathbun, W. H. Wilson, T. H. Wheeler, O. E. Smith, Waldo Grimes, Floyd Hawkins, Edna Barber, Madge Thompson, L. V. Rhine, B. F. Griffin, Dwight Hull, G. W. Rhine, J. W. Barker, W. B. Adair, Rose Baker, Marion Fowler, Mae Sweet, Ina Belle Wilson, Mary Dakin, Lula Glee Davis, Mary Polson, and Stella Gould. William A. Sumner, Merle Collins, and about 15 alumni will also receive the pin.

Have Musical Program.

Prof. R. H. Brown's orchestra will put on a special program Thursday as only about 15 minutes will be taken up with the presentation of the "K's." The program is as follows:

Selection, "Aida" by Verdi; ballet, "Les Millions D'Arlequin," by Drigo; violin solo, "Romance," by Svendson, Miss Helen Palmer; comic opera, "High Jenks" by Friml; "March Militaire" by Schubert; selection, "Lohengrin by Wagner.

HARVARD MAN SPOKE SATURDAY.

Frank Storms of Boston Talked to Classes in Economics.

Frank Storms, representing the Babson statistical organization of Wellesley Hills, Massachusetts, lectured before Prof. Kammeyer's classes in economics last Saturday morning during the first hour. His subject was, "The Method of Ascertaining and Forecasting Business Conditions." The speaker declared that the law of physics concerning action and reaction has its analogy in the business world, as is shown by the periodicity of seasons of prosperity and panic. A period of rising prices and increasing business activity is certain to be followed by a corresponding period of falling prices and depression. The duration of such a period is inversely proportional to the intensity of stimulation or depression.

By keeping an index number of twenty four different factors such as bank clearings, empty freight cars, immigration, discount rates, etc., the Babson organization undertakes to forecast business conditions and to give good advice to business men as to when to sell or when to buy. This does not apply to the daily fluctuations of prices in a speculative market, but to periods of five and ten years. The speaker illustrated this point by means of one of the Babson charts of business cycles.

Mr. Storms is a Harvard man and is very much at home in academic surroundings, and a pleasing speaker. He held the close attention of the class and visitors.

FRESHMEN HAVE CAPS.

The ePrky Headgears are Being Worn by Both Girls and Boys.

The freshmen caps arrived on Tuesday a day late and were immediately placed on sale at the window across from the postoffice. Before the first hour was over the campus was dotted with the emblems of the energetic freshmen and judging from appearances the whole class wil be togged out in the next two days.

Send the Collegian home.

POSTPONE RELIGIOUS DANCE.

Pottawatomie Indians Would Rather Hear About Farming.

The Indians on the Pottawatomie Indian reservation in Jackson county were so greatly interested in the agricultural demonstrations which the entension workers from the Kansas State Agricultural College had been presenting during the week that they postponed a religious dance to give the college specialists a chance to talk on better farming. Three hundred twenty Indians attended the closing powwow which was held in the dance hall in the center of the reservation. Thirty white men who rent or own land on the reservation were present. This is the first time that extension work has been done among the Indians in Kansas by the College.

BUT THEY'RE NOT MILKSOPS

Reporters Find Washington University Students Take 5,383 Hours a Year Delivering 70,000 Milk Bottles.

Seventy thousand malted milks are consumed annually by students at the university of Washington, for which luxury $8,750 is paid. At least such is the case if a campus investigator labored with due regard for the truth.

When Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalistic fraternity, initiated a group of "neophytes" last week the youngsters were required to appear in full dress suits throughout the day and write, edit and make up an edition of the University of Washington Daily, mimicing Mr. Hearst's New York Journal. It was on this occasion that the consumption of malted milk was investigated.

Would Educate 29 Youths.

The money spent on the beverage would put 29 students through the university annually, the Daily figured. The liquid, not considering the glass of water that goes with each malted milk, would fill a reservoir of 5,000 gallons capacity.

The nourishment in the 70,000 malted milks, as prepared for the students, is equal to 70,000 pounds of beef steak, or enough to sustain two companies of infantry for 12 months.

5,383 Hours Lost.

Eleven hundred pounds of malted milk go into the mixer each year, combined with 20 pounds of nutmeg, 70,000 eggs and a vast quantity of milk and cream.

Straws used in conveying the liquid to the parched gullets number approximately 105,000, and if placed end to end would stretch over 14 miles.

Allowing five minutes to the glass, 5,383 hours are lost in discussing the refreshment.

WORTH OF JOURNALISTS.

Wisconsin Governors Have Newspaper Men Secretaries.

Wisconsin governors have almost without exception chosen newspaper men as secretaries. At least they have as far back as Col. W. J. Anderson can remember and that is going back some distance.

Col. Anderson gave as the reason of the popularity of the newspaper men for this position that they are as a general rule, of wide acquaintance and good mixers.

NAB A PEEPER.

Bold Bad Man Scared the Phi Phi's Last Sunday Night.

Sunday evening Prof. O. E. Hall at 712 Poyntz noticed a man hanging around the east windows of the Phi Kappa Phi house at 714 Poyntz. As the same man was there one-half hour later, the police were notified and the curious stranger was locked up. He was about 25, had gray eyes and brown hair, wore a blue serge suit and is well known locally. Monday morning the prisoner was taken before Judge Porter who fined him $15 and costs. This is the second time in one year that a Jack-the-peeper has been arrested at the Phi Phi house.

DEBATE NORMAL ON FRIDAY

EMPORIA TEAM OF SEASONED DEBATERS WILL LOCK HORNS WITH THE LOCAL MACARTHURITES MAY 7.

WILL HAVE BUT ONE JUDGE

Prof. F. R. Harrison of K. U. is the Mentor—The Question Will be Debated Next Year in the Tri-state Meetings.

On Friday the last debate of the year will be held with the Emporia Normal team in the auditorium. This wil be a single debate, the other two specified by the contract being dual affairs.

The Aggie team is made up of Floyd Hawkins, D. F. Hull, and J. W. Barker. As yet the line-up for the Normalites has not been sent in, but it is understood that their men are seasoned debaters. The question for debate is whether or not the Federal government should own the telephone and telegraph systems.

"This subject, said Prof. Macarthur, "is the one which will be debated next year in the tri-state meet. It is a very interesting subject, and I would advise all students who are thinking of going out for debate next year to listen to this one."

A new system of judging is being tried out, that of having only one judge. The mentor will be Prof. F. R. Harrison of the extension department of Kansas University. The forum will entertain the debaters after the contest.

GET DATES IN BY MAY 10

So Says George Ferrier, Chairman of Entertainment Committee for May May 14. Over 600 Guests Expected.

The entertainment on the evening of May 14 wil probably be the biggest social event of the year in point of rize. The party will be held in Nichols gymnasium and the junior and senior classes, the entire faculty, and the board of administration will be invited.

At present a committee, made up of George Ferrier, R. V. Adams, Harlan Sumner, Wilma Burtis, Annette Perry, and F. W. Johnson, is planning the program. All juniors and seniors who do not make their dates and notify the committee before May 10 will be assigned dates.

The entertainment this year will be more elaborate than usual. Some form of entertainment for everyone has been provided, and the evening begins with a performance of the junior farce in the auditorium, a secret affair whose keys are held by Price Wheeler. After the farce the evening in the gymnasium will start; light refreshments will be served and th utmost efforts will be put forth to have everybody enjoy themselves. A College orchestra of 15 pieces will help entertain the crowd.

"We expect a crowd of 600," said George Ferrier to a Collegian reporter, "everybody's going to have a good time if possible, and say—tell them to be sure and report their dates by May 10."

JOURNALISM FOR WOMEN.

This Field Offers Large Opportunity Says Vassar President.

That women have a large field open to them in journalism was the statement made by Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken, the new president of Vassar College, at a breakfast recently given at the Claypool, Indianapolis, by the Indiana Vassar College club.

The speaker said that, of course, women are not fitted to pursue such courses as forestry, mining and engineering, but that journalism offers them practical as well as interesting field in which to specialize. Dr. MacCracken said he thought too much emphasis was laid on teaching as a woman's work and enumerated social service, nursing, landscape architecture, in addition to many other branches as suitable work for women to enter.

FIFTY PEOPLE WILL WARBLE

It Isn't Mere Press Agent Fiction Either Says Prof. Valley; Pirate Costumes Come From Chicago.

"Fifty People in Cast" says the advertising paper of all these girly-whirly knee-action shows. And there "ain't." The Piratical inhabitants of Penzance who appear positively for one night only at the auditorium on May 21 have the sure 'nuff number of 50 people, not counting the property man or orchestra. The pirate costumes have been ordered from Chicago or maybe Pittsburg the bona fide home of the pirates.

The Collegian printed in a previous issue most of the characters of the play. Here is the entire chorus:

E. R. Martin, a pirate chief; P. Carnahan, his lieutenant; J. R. Carnahan, a pirate appretice; G. C. Smith, Maj. Gen. of British Army; D. W. Wooley, sergeant of police; H. W. Cave, J. R. Mingle, W. A COLLEGE ROMANCE BLIGHTED.

Miss Ethel Theis Obtained Warrant for Her Former Fiance.

The end of a romance begun at the Kansas State Agricultural College more than a year ago, came Friday in the prosecuting attorney's office when Miss Ethel Theis was given a warrant for her fiance, Claud Fish, charging grand larceny.

The two attended school together, Miss Theis told James Kilroy, a deputy prosecutor, and were engaged to be married. Miss Theis said she gave her $200 diamond ring, a present from her father, to Fish to wear. A few days later he explained that he had lost it. But that didn't break the engagement and the couple were to be married this spring. Instead of preparing a home, Miss Theis said she heard Fish was traveling with a circus somewhere in Kansas and that he had even failed to write to her on the day the wedding was to take place.

After some investigation she found that Fish had pawned the ring with a Kansas City pawnbroker for $55, she said, and spent the money on another girl.

"If I can't have him I want my ring or the money," she told Mr. Kilroy, "and I will send him to the penitentiary."

Miss Theis lives with her parents at 1940 Parallel avenue Kansas side. Fish is a son of C. S. Fish, a grain dealer at La Crosse, Kan.—K. C. Star.

CENTURY GOES IN 10 FLAT

HOLROYD WAS A STAR IN THE MISSOURI MEET SATURDAY; THE 100 AND 440 DASHES IN EXCELLENT TIME.

FINAL SCORE IS 70 TO 39

The Aggie Track Team Landed Six First and Three Seconds in the Tournament—Was Closer Than the Score Indicates.

(By E. H. Smith.)

M. L. Holroyd's running the century dash in 10 flat featured the work of the Kansas Aggie track team in their dual meet with the University of Missouri at Columbia, Mo., last Saturday morning, the Missourians finally winning out, 70 to 39. The Aggies landed six firsts and three seconds and were defeated largely through their inability to place more seconds.

Holroyd, a first-year man on the track, was the most brilliant performer for the Mernerites winning the 100yard dash, the 440-yard dash, and placing well in his lap in the relay. Frizzell was second high point plier for the Aggies landing a first in the high jump and second in teh high hurdles.

Simpson Starred.

The meet was fetaured by the wonderful exhibitions by "Bob" Simpson in the hurdles in 15 3-5 seconds and 24 4-5 seconds, in the 220-yard race besting the University of Missouri record for the distance but the time will not stand as he was assisted by a strong wind. The same reason robbed him of a record in the broad leap which he won with a jump of 23 feet 1 inch. He also took second in the 100-yard run, totaling 18 ponts for Missouri and capturing high point honors. The summary:

100 yard dash—Holroyd, Kansas Aggies, won; Simpson, Missouri, second; time 10 seconds flat.

One mile—Weaver, Kansas Aggies, won; Lansing, Missouri, second; time, 4 minutes 38 seconds.

120 yard hurdles—Simpson, Missouri, won; Frizzell, Kansas Aggies, second; time, 15 3-5 seconds.

Quarter mile—Holroyd, Kansas Aggies, won; Wyatt, Missouri second; time, 52 2-5 seconds.

Discus, Warren, Missouri, won; 123 feet 4 inches; Drumm, Missouri second, 120 feet 11 inches.

220 yard low hurdles—Simpson, Missouri, won; Daggy, Missouri, second; time 24 4-5 seconds; record disallowed.

Pole Vault—Powell, Misouri, won; 12 feet; Browne, Missouri, second, 11 feet 6 inches.

Half mile—Murphy, Missouri, won; Wilder, Kansas Aggies, second; time, 2 minutes 3 45 seconds.

220 yard dash—Niedorp, Missouri, won; Daggy, Missouri, second; time, 22 seconds.

Shot put—Marble, Kansas Aggies, won, 40 feet 2 1-2 inches; Warren, Missouri, second, 38 feet 1 1-2 inches.

High jump—Frizzell, Kansas Aggies, won, 5 feet 9 1-4 inches; Johnson and Williams, Missouri, tied for second place at 5 feet 8 inches.

Two mile—Teeter, Kansas Aggies, won; V. Kline, Missouri, second; time, 10 minutes 8 seconds.

Broad jump—Simpson, Missouri won, 23 feet 1 inch, Bernard, Kansas Aggies, second, 21 feet 10 1-4 inches.

Mile relay—Missouri won, (Porter, Eaton, Wyatt, Niedorp,) time, 3 minutes, 30 seconds.

Final score, Missouri 70, Kansas Aggies 39.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 5, 1915.

Next Saturday the College will be the host of a multitude of high school students who come to contest for the championship of this district. The young men will form an opinion of the College that day, and upon that opinion will depend whether we or some other school gets these graduating high school stars. At the present time there are several other events planned to conflict with the meet. Would it be too big a sacrifice to work for the present and future of the College only one day, give up these trivial hikes and welcome the men we want to go to school here some day?

Some of the professoral staff have conceived the idea that all newsb should be cancelled for a couple of weeks and allowed to leak out via the gossip line. Some are complaining because the English department gets news, contrary to what is conventional for them to do. When actual news happens and Collegian reporters ask for it, it is denied them and the general public. Perhaps these professors will notice that the men who get the biggest pay checks are not the ones who strangle the live item.

DO YOU KNOW?

What lady fan had a violent quarrel with her escort at the baseball game last Saturday? She wanted to stay for the finish but he was afraid he would be late to dinner?

That we saw an attractive freshman girl pick up a discarded Collegian in front of the Bungalow Store, Saturday and that her rooom mate says she carried it home and read every word of it?

Speaking of consolation: when Briney kicked one in the first Kansas game our old friend Col, Brady sang out from the bleachers, "Never mind it, boy, I could not have done half that well, myself."

What Lambda has a crush on a popular young gentleman who works in Aggieville?

That we discovered two items that concerned us, personally, among the English papers written by some aspiring freshman and headed them off just in the nick of time?

That we are still anxiously waiting for word to call for that second installment of pie and cake

That two couples of College folks together with a chaperon had a very peculiar accident while out in a car Sunday and spent most of the afternoon with a pair of spades digging themselves out?

What freshman girl always eats pickles with ice cream?

And there is a certain boy at the same boarding house who always puts cream in his ice tea?

What sophomore youth who is taking military enjoyed a visit from his mother recently and was forced to move his own and his room mates rifles into another part of the house because his mother, "just couldn't enjoy a minute's peace with those awful guns in the same room," with her?

Who the absent minded professor was that recently took a trip and forgot that he had classes until he reached Emporia?

That one of the Lambdas is seriously thinking of giving dancing lessons on the stage in the auditorium?

That there is a junior girl boarding on Bluemont who is known as the "daily news?"

STUDENTS WERE WILD.

Medievatl Undergraduate Was no Gentle Book Worm.

The University of Paris in mediaeval times, foremost of theological schools, was not an institution devoted wholly to biblical study, as the sermons plainly show. Students, they say, care not for sermons, use holy days for holidays, absent themselves from mass, and neglect confession. "The student's heart is in the mire," says a Dominican, "fixed on prepends and things temporal." He is much more familiar, Robert de Sorbon declares, with the text of dice than of the Bible, which he recognizes, no matter how rapidly thrown.

Parisian students were not noted for a love of peace. With the prevost's men the citizens, or the monks there was ample opportunity for a brawl, frequently with the students as aggressors, sometimes with the attack wholly premeditated. Deaths were not infrequent, and at Oxford brawls frequently assumed the proportions of battles.

All types of students were enrolled, rich, poor, diligent, slothful, dissolute, ascetic. Some go to class only once or twice a week, choosing lectures that begin at nine, in order that "they may lie abed." Some never return home, enjoying their benefices in idleness. There are the hangers-on of a university town, servants of students, bedels of the school. Revels in the Latin Quarter and on Straw Street in Paris are picturesque and interesting. One student has a dog named Rose, trained to walk on its forelegs; another steals it, renames it Violet, and teaches it to walk on its hind legs. Others amuse themselves by playing dice with the neighbors's cats. The cup is put in the cat's paws, and if it loses, its skin is sold, and the money goes for wine.

"THE MAN WHO FOUND HIMSELF"

A wonderful film formerly under the stage name—"The Mills of the Gods," with Robert Warwick in the leading role. Imagine yourself in the position of James Clark, an escaped convict, blackmailed by a fellow prisoner, and hounded by the law. What would your solution to this problem be? Make New Walks.

Some ofthe cinder paths around the gymnasium are to be replaced by cement walks and some new walks added. The walks are to extend from the south side of the gym even with sixteenth street entirely around the gym. There will be a walk leading from the north side of the gym to connect with the walk on the west side of the auditorium and another leading from the gym to connect with the walk east of the domestic science building. There will also be a walk from the west to the south door of the girls gym and another leading from the west walk along the south side of the gym to the south entrance. This work is to be done by contract and will commence before very long.

Starts Prettier Campus Move.

"Keep off the Grass!" yells the Syracuse Daily Orange to its subscribers. A Campus Improvement Committee has been appointed and all students at the University are going to cooperate for a more beautiful campus. Each class is going to give vines and trees and every member of the student body is being asked to pledge himself to walk around, instead of across.

Want 100 Students.

There has been some talk among the students about petitioning for a holiday to dig the dandelions from the campus. But so far there has been nothing done. Orders have been given to hire all the boys possible to do this work. The dandelions are commencing to go to seed now and it is too late to work anything up along this line. If the dandelions go to seed this year there will be a need of something like this next year.

Play St. Marys Tomorrow.

The Aggie baseball team will go to St. Marys tomorrow afternoon to hook up with the Irish. Since Quigley quit the Catholic institution the pep has been on the decline and this year's baseball team appears to have less than the required amount. The Aggies are expected to win easily. It is probable that Hodgson will do the throwing for the Briney gang.

The interclass baseball series has filtered down to the sophs and freshmen no other team having entered the race. The yearlings have some good men but the second year men have Breicheisen and "Breckie" holds an unpleasant uncertainly of delivery on his fast ones that has buffaloed the opposition completely. Notwithstanding their good men the tyros are likely to lose the championship through "Breck's" wildness.

"Shorty" Fowler refereed the Fifth District track and field meet at Abilene last Saturday and predicts that this man Collier from Marquette is going to spread a little heel dust in someone's face in the State Meet sprints on College Field next Saturday afternoon. Collier won four firsts at Abilene and all in the mud. He navigated the high seas of the Dickinson County race track for a 57 second 440 which is going some when made on a dry path.

Rider most of the work has been done by the students, who have contributed generously both time and funds, and have thus shown the results of cooperative effort.

It is expected to have the work completed in another week. The meet of May 22 will be the first ever held in Hanover, and the local enthusiasts are looking forward to it with unusual interest.

Crimson Opposes Militarism.

In a recent issue, the editors of the Harvard Crimson came out in decided opposition to the government's plan of summer military camps for college men, a project which has recently received the public approval of President Lowell and which Persident Hadley of Yale has also sanctioned.

In a long editorial, which it is stated, is to be followed by others on the same subject, the Crimson takes a stand against the camps as tending to the cultivation of a militarist spirit. The argument reduces itself to this—that if the country has no army or navy, then it will be impossible for it to go to war.

The spirit of the Crimson editorial is expressed in one sentence: "The patriotism which it is the peculiar task of the educated man to exercise must cease to be linked with military service, if progress toward universal peace is ever to be made."

Students' Council Boosts Pep.

At a meeting of the Students' Council yesterday afternoon it was decided that all hikes, picnics, and outing parties scheduled for Saturday afternoon should be called off. This is the day on which the high schools of the state are sending representatives to Manhattan to contest in the Fifth Annual State High School Meet and as one of the means of showing loyalty, the council asks that every student stay in town and attend the meet.

The council has extended an invitation to the faculty of each high school sending contestants, to visit the College. Arrangements are being made to meet the visitors and show them everything of interest on the hill. All graduates from the contesting high schools are urged to get in touch with their high school teams and show the visitors a good time while they are in Manhattan.

Visiting Journalists Fall for Pretty Girls in White Aprons.

The installing officers from Beta chapter of Sigma Delta Chi last Tuesday were, with one exception, strangers to the College. SCORN HONOR SYSTEM.

Butler Finds It Good Device for Cheating.

Dishonest students have found in the honor system of examinations at Butler College a convenient device for cheating. Cheating in examinations has been a common practice among certain students since the system was installed.

The degree of every Butler graduate has been cheapened by the dishonesty of these students. These were some of the assertions made in a stormy student meeting in the college chapel.

The conclusion was that the system as it exists has been a failure and a new system probably will be substituted. It was pointed out that students will not report cheating thus defeating the basic principles of the system.

Harvard Classes Are Rich.

With classes now at Harvard the habit of keeping a full treasury seems to have become ingrained, and Yankee thrft has supplanted the hand-to-mouth policy,, or lack of policy, that was the usual thing until a short time ago. A report of the secretary-treasurer of the sophomore class shows that he has on hand in class funds a balance of $1,428.17, after paying expenses of the year to March 31 amounting to $639.51. That some men in the class have no more business acumen than the college student is generally credited with is apparent from a charge of $19.20 for "bad checks" in the treasurer's account. Other classes have made financial records almost as good as that of 1917; for instance the present junior class found itself able to withdraw a sum from its income and purchase a bond for investment.

A Valuable College Course.

$1,079,111 is the amount that Bachelor Degrees have cost the class of 1915 at Yale. In the freshman year the most extravagant student managents to spend $4500 while the poorest student, with equally good management turned in another direction, managed to get through on $200. The average cost a student in the sophomore year was $1076.

SPANIARDS GAVE "$" SIGN.

Pillars of Hercules, Like Modern Symbol, Found on Old Coin.

The dollar sign, known the world over as the symbol of American money, appeared as the pillars of Hercules upon the Spanish milled dollars used by the Amercan colonies at the time of the Revolution. Professor Edmond S. Meany, of the University of Washington history department, has one of these old coins dated "1797," He believes that the use of the dollar sign dates back to these coins.

The coin in the possesion of Professor Meany has on its reverse the two pillars of Hercules, which were supposed to be in the Temple of Hercules at Cadiz. These two pillars are intertwined with banners. The pillars support the Spanish Coat of arms, but the banners are draped in such a way that, if drawn together, they would produce the modern dollar sign.

This idea is opopsed by many, who believe that the monogram "U. S." with the curve of the "U" cut off, was the origan of the symbol.

JAP IS KNOX BASEBALL CAPTAIN.

Goro Milanie of Kofu Leads Illinois Coleige Team.

Over at Knox College, Galesburg, Ill., a native of Japan has been elected captain of the baseball team. His name is Goro Mikanie.

Mikanie entered Knox College as a member of the class of 1917. When the first call for baseball was given "Mike," as Mikanie is called over there, was one of the first men to come out. He had no trouble in making a place on the team. He played shortstop, and was generally recognized as one of the best college infielders in the middle west. Mikanie expects to retain his old position this year, and to pitch a little is necessary.

Mikanie was born in Kofu, Japan. He played baseball while in the grammer grades. After being graduated from high school "Mike" enrolled in Waseda University, the largest private school in the Jpnanese empire. During his first two years he played in the outfield, and played shortstop during hs senior year.

WOULDN'T SEARSON SCREAM?

If He Could see Some of the Junior and Senior Notebooks.

Are the upperclassmen educated? Some are and others undoubtedly "ain't." A Collegian reporter has been prying into some "E" notebooks sizing up the contents. Here are some of the classics taken from a civics notebook written by a junior which pulled an "E" recenly: passangers, controle, sistum, tendancy, conseption, ellected, presinct, moast, bicicle, plain clothes men—plane close men, foarce, dissapeared, concequently, nusances, moove hiway.

GO TO HIGH SCHOOL MEET.

Good Sports Will Attend the Tournament Today in a Body.

Are you going to the meet today? Do you want to help the College get the high school stars to attend here? We have he same opportunity today that the other state institutions have, that of giving our visitors the royal hand and inviting them to come back next fall to school. Let's get out in a body, the peppy freshmen with their caps, and rave righteously when the winning men come in.

INSTRUCT FRIVOLOUS FRESHMAN.

Timely Advice is Given the First Year Men About Caps.

At Minnesota the question has arisen as to how the freshmen should tip their new caps which have just been chosen. The Daily Minnesota devoted a whole column telling how the caps should be lifted from the head. The paper suggests that if the head of the usual freshman consistency a thumb tack may be used to keep the cap in place.

Beat Oklahoma

DEFEAT SOONERS IN A FAST MEET BY SCORE OF 56 TO 53 POINTS.

THREE RECORDS BROKEN

Holroyd, Smith, and Frizzell Crack Records in Their Events—Meet Is Fast and Exciting All The Way Through.

(By E. H. Smith.)

The Aggie cinder path and field artists ramped on the Sooners in their dual meeting on College Field yesterday afternoon winning 56 to 53 in one of the most exciting meets ever staged on the local track. Three Aggie records were broken. "Duroc" Frizzell bested his own College record in the high jump with a beautiful leap of six feet one-quarter inch. The former record was five feet nine and three-quarters inches made by the auburn haired kangeroo in the Missouri-Aggie dual meet last spring. Holroyd ran a wonderful race in the quarter-mile event pulling up on Lively, Oklahoma's crack 440 man, in the home stretch and winning by five yards in the good time of 51 flat. "Bobby" Christian held the old record two-fifths of a second slower than Holroyd's time. Smith bested "Jake" Holmes' mark of 117 feet 4 inches in the discuss throw when he hurled the Greek missle 121 feet 2 inches.

But the Aggie tracksters were not the only ones staging the old reversal stuff. Captain Jacobs was the most wonderful performer on the field. The Sooner leader copped three firsts and one second for 18 points of the Oklahoma score and his work in each of the events was marvelous. Perhaps his best work was in the running broad jump which he won with a leap of 23 feet 3 1-4 inches. Wilder leaped 22 feet 3 inches for second place in this event. Jacobs copped first in the high hurdles in 15 2-5 seconds and first in the low barrier event in 26 seconds. He also leaped five feet nine inches in the running high beating the Aggies' second jumper, Weimer, out by one inch.

The Oklahomans started out in the first event to trim the Aggies and trim 'em good, when Liveley assumed the lead in the century dash event at the start and held the lead to the tape winning out in 10 flat. Holroyd took second three yards behind lively. The second event, the mile run, gave the Aggies their initial first when Weaver defeated Fields of Oklahoma in easy fashion in 4:41 1-5. Then came the first hurdle event with the Sooners chasing down the cinder course for eights points when Captain Jacobs and Edwards, also of Oklahoma, drew first and second in the fast time of 15 2-5 seconds.

The discus returned the first new record and five more points to the Aggie pile when Smith hurled the platter 121 feet 2 inches beating Anderson of Oklahoma whose best throw was 115 feet 6 inches. This was followed by Holroyd's clever winning of the 440 from Liveley of Oklahoma in the record breaking time of 51 flat.

The two-twenty hurdles netted the Oklahomans eights points when Captain Jacobs and Edwards again romped through the lanes in 26 flat for first and second. Wilder had little trouble winning the 880 and Cromer ran well drawing second in a close finish. Fields of Oklahoma was outclassed. The 220 netted the Oklahomans five points when White galloped across the finish line a bare margin ahead of Osborne of the Aggies. The Aggies entered Bell in the pole vault and he performed well for his first meet, drawing second to Freeman of Oklahoma who won at 10 feet 3 inches.

Teeter proved himself a good sport in the two-mile run when he permitted Baird to cop first after the latter had forced H. Edwards to quit the going after three-quarters of the distance had been run. Baird has been one of the hardest working candidates for varsity track the squad has had for several years and his winning yesterday's race was timely. In fact we were all out ther pulling for Ernest!

The high jump decided the meet when "Duroc" cleared the high bamboo at 6 feet 1-4 inch. All the Aggies now needed was a place in the running broad jump and Merner was practically sure that either Wilder or Bernard could deliver the count. Wilder made good this time, behind Captain Jacobs' aerial flight of 23 feet 3 14 inches. One of Wilder's marks was 22 feet 3 inches but on that leap the hair-pin trackster mis-caluculated the distance and his stride carried him over the take-off and the jump failed to tally. However, he had another that beat out the field and placed him second and gave the Aggies a three-point lead that a loss in the relay race could not overcome.

The shot-put saw Archie Marble in the best form he has ever put behind the 16-pound weight his best shove making 41 feet 4 inches. Smith drew a second with a put of 38 feet 6 inches and the event gave the Aggies an eight-point increase.

The relay was the most exciting event of the program. Essick lead off for the Aggies and took an early lead on Captain Jacobs which he lost out out at the finish but Lovett came back and picked up some of the distance. Grandfield ran well but still was unable to give Osborne the final Aggie speeder a lead on White of Oklahoma. Osborne staged a wonderful sprint and beat out the Oklahoman at the tape by a scant margin. The Oklahomans were awarded the race though, when the judges ruled that two of the Aggies went beyond the white line of the touch-off zone in passing the baton. The Aggies' time was 3:37. The summary:

100-yard dash—Won by Liveley, Oklahoma; Holroyd, Aggies, second. Time 10 flat.

1-mile run—Won by Weaver, Aggie; Fields, Oklahoma, second. Time 4:41 1-5.

WIN FROM NORMAL.

Judge Hamilton Decrees for the Aggie Team Last Night.

The Aggie debate team won from the Kansas Normals last night on the telegraph ownership question. The Brownings and Athenians gave the usual stunt. PERVERSE FASHIONS.

Man so easily adjusts himself to immediate conditions and there is so much sheer perversity in events that fluctuations are always unexpected and untimely. That is true of fluctuations in all manner of things, especially wheat, shares, railroad earnings and the quantity of material required to make a fashionable skirt. It is possible at times to say that a maximum or minimum has been touched, and so to determine the direction in which the next change will occur, but the time itself is then uncertain, for there is also an inertia in things. It was long ago apparent that the skirt had found its irreducible proportions. Any change at all would have to be toward greater fullness.

Indeed, when walking in it up and down steps became hazardous and sometimes fatal, one might have been reasonably certain that the diminishing tendency had gone already too far, that the reaction would be violent, and that the beginning of change was imminent. But even so probable an event as that was strangely retarded. The skirt, instead of growing wider, appeared with a slit, and manufacturers of fabrics continued to complain of ruin. Now, suddenly, unexpectedly, and at an awkward time the change comes. The world being all upset by war, and everybody, on that account, feeling poor and frugal, fashion decrees that a skirt shall be wide again.—New York Times.

It is a common saying that for slumbering purposes pick some state office where the work won't disturb you. However among the exceptions to this rule the College printshop is found, and its foreman keeps it as live as the best private shops. The other morning a senior committee was able to get a job out in an hour which would have taken several hours in the ordinary shop. This is appreciated by the student body.

HER REVELATION.

A little girl traveling in a sleeping car with her parents greatly objected to being put into an uper berth. She was assured that papa, mamma, and God would watch over her. She was settled in the berth at last and the passengers were queit for the night when a small voice piped:

"Mamma!"

"Yes, dear."

"You there?"

"Yes, I'm here. Now go to sleep."

"Papa, you there?"

"Yes, I'm here. Go to sleep like a good girl."

This continued at intervals for some time until a fellow passenger lost patience and called:

"We're all here! Your father and mother and brothers and sisters and uncles and aunts and first cousins. All here. Now go to sleep!"

There was a brief pause after this explosion. Then the tiny voice piped up again, but very softly:

"Mamma."

"Well."

"Was that God?"—Kansas City Star.

MANDALAY.

Rudyard Kipling.

By the old Moulmein Pagoda, lookin' eastward to the sea,
There's a Burma girl a-settin', and I know she thinks o' me;
For the wind is in the palm-trees, and the temple-bells they say:
'Come you back, you British Soldier; come you back to Mandalay!'

Come you back to Mandalay,
Where the old Flotilla lay:
Can't you hear their paddles chunkin' from Rangoon to Mandalay?
On the road to Mandalay,
Where the flyin'-fishes play,
An' the dawn comes up like thunder outer
China 'crost the Bay!

When the mist was on the rice-fields an' the sun was droppin' slow,
She'd git 'er little banjo an' she'd sing 'Kulla-lo-lo-'
With 'er arm upon my shoulder and 'er cheek agin my cheek
We useter watch the steamers an' the hathis pilin' teak.

Elephants a-pilin' teak
In the sludgy, squdgy creek,
Where the silence 'hung that 'heavy you was 'arf afraid to speak;
On the road to Mandalay, etc.

Ship me somewheres east of Suez, where the best is like the worst,
Where there aren't no Ten Commandments an' a man can raise a thirst;
For the temple-bells are callin', and it's there that I would be—
By the old Moulmein Pagoda, looking lazy at the sea.

THE COOL STRANGER.

Business was brisk in the village store says the London Answers, when the stranger entered.

"Any of you drive up in a trap?" he asked casually.

"Yes, I did," said Farmer Greenacre.

"Why do you ask?"

"Gray horse, and an old lady inside?"

"Yes, that's right. But—"

"Can she manage him all right?" said the stranger.

"I should think so," replied Greenacre. "Why, my wife's druv that horse ever since he was a three-year-old!"

"That's all right then sid the stranger. 'I merely asked because the gray has just gone down the street like a mad bull, and the old lady's hanging on the back of the trap screaming 'Murded!' Still, if she can manage him, there's nothing to get excited about. How's the price of potatoes down your way?"

Dr. Macarthur's talk on "Aida" was enjoyed by a large number of the junior girls Wednesday evening. "Aida" is the opera the D. S. girls heard while they were in Kansas City.

AGGIES ROMPED ON OKLAHOMA 56-53 YESTERDAY.

AGGIE ATHLETICS

By ERLE H. SMITH.

EVERY MAN JOHN WANTS TO SEE THE HIGH SCHOOL MEET.

HIGH SCHOOL STARS SHINE

WHILE NOT OF THE SOL BUTLER CLASS PROMISE SOME INTERESTING TIMES THIS AFTERNOON.

EVERY LOYAL AGGIE WILL GO.

(By E. H. Smith.

In a meet of the type of this afternoon's State high school affair a well-balanced team often loses high honors to one carrying a few men capable of pulling down firsts. When two of these teams meet the fight is worth watching.

Two years ago Hutchinson with "Sol" Butler, the clever negro runner, almost defeated Wichita in a wonderful exhibition of point piling by the two teams. This afternoon's meeting does not bring a team to the front that carries a man of the "Sol" Butler type and the battle will go to the team that is best all around.

But not that some of the athletes in this afternoon's meet are not good all-round men. In Gailbraithe of Lost Springs, Neeley of Enterprise, Whitacker of Reno, Miller and Smalley from the Capital City school, Knostman from Wamego, Axline of Pratt, and Casey from Noron, the spectators will see some of the future stars of the cinder course and each is good for places in more than one event. All of these and not one word about Collier of Marquette

This Collier is coming to Manhattan to clean up four first. He is accredited with 5 1-5 seconds in four races in the fifty-yards sprint. And on the other end of his program is the 440 which he has covered in 54 seconds several times. Opposing the Marquette wonder will be Gailbraithe of Lost Springs with records of ten-two in the century dash and 24 flat in the 220. Miller of Topeka and Smailey of the same school are each fast in the sprints and placed well in the meet at Lawrence last Saturday, which by the way, Topeka won by one-half point from Kansas City, Kansas, high.

In the pole vault Knostman of Wamego bids fair to break the record as he has been clearing the bar at the eleven foot mark with great regularity this year. He won the event at Kansas in the interscholastic meet last week end with a leap of 10-9. He is also a capable performer in the weight events and may place. Music of Carbondale has the best record of any shot putter enered in today's meet having 42 feet 8 1-2 inches with the 12-pound lead at Carbondale this spring. He will find plenty of opposition in Casey of Norton, Cutright of Haviland, Axline of Pratt, and Knostman of Wamego, not to speak of the chances of some high school coach springing a "darkhorse."

Beatty, the local school of agriculture athlete, captured seconds in the high hurdles, high jump, and broad jump in the Fifth district meet at Abilene last Saturday, will compete in this afternoon's meet for the school of agriculture. Sink of Mankato, has made several good marks in the distances this season and is looked upon as a likely winner in the half and mile events.

"RULE G."

"Rule G" is a picturization of Rufus Steele's story "Keeping John Barleycorn off Ohe Trains," which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post. Produced by the Blazon Film Company and said to be the greatest railroad picture ever produced. A Paramount feature release. Wareham Theatre, Wednesday afternoon and night, May 12.

A Discriminating Decision.

The opening of the baseball season reminded Edwin Stevens of this one: "The first ball club ever to play in England many years ago, didn't carry players enough to furnish an umpire. So the manager of the tour asked two local cricket players to umpire. The game was explained to htem, and one umpire was stationed behind the pitcher to call decision at the plate.

"A close play came up and the umpire who had been cautioned to get on top of all close plays at the plate, raced up to as the baserunner slid into home. He looked on for a moment and then started to walk back to his place behind the pitcher.

"Well, what's the decision? Make a decision quick! ' roared both pitcher and base runner.

"The Englishman looked dazed, and finally said: 'By jove, I call it extraordinary marvelous."—The Orpheum News.

There are one hundred uses for the marshmallow which perhaps you do not know, remarks one advertiser. "Let's see," says the Wichita Beacon. "Pencil mark eraser, core for rubber ball, teething pad for babies, cud for cudless cows, bath sponge for infants, shock absorber for heels, substitute for Ben Davis apple—pshaw we can't think of the other ninety-three."

An Olathe man got his first glimpse of moving pictures the other night, says the Register. After watching the shifting scenes a few minutes, the old fellow turned to his companion and cried in a frightened voice: "Heavens, man, I'm stone deaf. I couldn't hear a word they said."

A Howard, Kansas, woman with a protruding chin is quoted as saying: "It took me a good while to convince my husband that man and wife should not be everlastingly arguing and disputing, but I finally got it through his head."

He poised a drop of ink upon his pen; "what thoughts this drop may give the world," he said. The drop fell on his shirt front—ah, well! Then, his thoughts rolled out like hailstones off a shed.—O. W. Weaver.

"Pop, what's a monologue?"

"A monologue is a conversation betwen husband and wife."

"I thought that was a dialogue?"

"No, a dialogue is where two persons are speaking."

Auction Old Posters.

At the Massachusetts Institute of Technology the institute committee has perfected a plan by which it is hoped to keep the posters on the bulletin boards until they have finished their term of usefulness. Every two months the posters are collected and auctioned off.

INSPECT ROOKIES MONDAY

VISITORS MAY SEE THE CADETS AT THEIR BEST AT 3:00 O'CLOCK ON MONDAY AFERNOON ON THE CAMPUS.

MAJOR MOSES IS COMING

There Will be a Dress Parade and Inspection East of Auditorium Monday--Tuesday Morning the Companies Will Go Through Exercises.

The annual inspection of the cadet corps will be held Monday and Tuesday east of the auditorium. Major Andrew Moses, General Staff, will overlook the men and decide whether the College deserves the title of "distinguished institution" for another year or not.

Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock the part of the program will occur which is most pleasing and impressive to isitors, the dress parade and inspection. The band will play lively new music practically all of the time and any student who has not had the opportunity of watching the troops will find it very interesting.

Tuesday morning the different companies will go through the drills allotted to them. All men taking drill are excused from classes Monday and Tuesday for inspection.

THEN THE SCENE CHANGED

By V. E. BUNDY

They were strolling through a shady path in the park, in ample time for a third hour college class, and were evidently enjoying the walk. The young man from time to time cast glances of most thorough approval at his companion, and the approval expressed in the glances was not ill-founded. Pretty, vivacious, and a bit flittatious, and the young man was plainly being drawn into the net of her attraction.

The path was isolated, and the solitary observer of the pleasant scene was unnoticed. The conversation grew animated, and the young woman emphasized her remarks by little skipping steps and the shrugging of charming shoulders. Presently she came to a full stop, and the boy did the same, she said something to him, hurriedly, and with a flashing smile. He grinned sheepishly and cast a hasty glance around, seeing no one. Her face alluring and smiling, was close to his own. His embarassment increased, but he was game. Awkwardly he leaned toward her, and lifted a tremulous hand toward her beautiful hair, picking therefrom a spring canker worm, which had swung down from a tree, and "Thank you," she said, and they proceeded up the shaded path to College.

"Pa, is there any difference between tar and pitch?"

"I don't think so, my boy. They are practically the same."

"Then would it be all right to say that Coveleskie's going to tar the opening game?"

"You clear out of here, right away."

Late Dancing Not Good For One.

"Two nights of late dancing until 1 or 2 o'clock every week is not good for any K. U. woman," declared Mrs. Eustace Brown, advisor of women at the University of Kansas.

Mrs. Brown intends to start a campaign next fall to have the fraternities and sororities as well as all class and other University organizations start their dances promptly at 8:00 o'clock and close at 12 o'clock. At the University of Missouri dances for the past year have been required to start at 7:30 o'clock and the plan has proven successful.

"Women are worn out after dancing so late," said the advisor of women "and and several have asked me that something be done to make the dancing hours more reasonable."

NELSON GAVE $10,000,000.

Editor of the Kansas City Star Enriched Three Colleges.

The Universities of Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma have received a bequest of $10,000,000 from the estate of Col. William Rockhill Nelson, late editor and owner of the Kansas City Star and Kansas City Times. The money is to be held in a fund for the three schools after the death of Col. Nelson's wife and daughter.

The presidents of the three universities are to be members of the board of trustees of the fund, their terms of office expiring when they cease to be presidents of one of the three institutions. For twenty-five years Col. Nelson's evening paper, the Kansas City Star, has been the most important paper in its field, and has received its support from people in the State where the three universities are.

Pictures, sculpture and rare books are to be purchased with the money left by the Kansas City editor. He explained in his will that he wanted the money spent for furthering the fine arts, since most State universities had difficulty in securing appropriations for expenditures on these brauches of learning.

Nelson's fortune amounted in all to about $15,000,000. To each of his daughter's children he gave a million dollars outright, and all the rest of the money will one day go to the three universities which are nearest to Kansas City.

PADDLE CAPLESS FRESHMEN.

High School Track Meet Saw Much Spanking and Tossing.

The freshmen who wandered out to the high school track meet Saturday without the customary purple cap were paddled without benifit of clergy or tossed sky high in the "K" blankets of the athletes. The possesion of a date did not stop the cruel procedure and many a scared girl was left in the bleachers holding a watch, keys, and money while her "date" was marched off to run the gauntlet for better or for worse. The high men were much surprised at the weird doings which amused them highly.

Saturday evening several bunches of upperclassmen and properly capped freshmen hunted out slothful youngsters and administered the barrel stave. At one place on Bluemont avenue a prominent freshie had to run a 100 yards under fire while his girl looked on and held his books. Many freshmen declared they could not afford to purchase caps, but Saturady evening the "cap committee" was doing a land office business. Safety first.

Many Pictures Taken.

Judging by the number of kodaks and cameras aside from the two moving picture machines, enough pictures of military doings were taken to fill soveral scrap books. Nearly all of the spectators carried kodaks.

Company "A" under Captain Hopkins, started things Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock, when the company put on Butt's manual. The entire morning was taken up with ordinary forms of drill, tent pitching, firing, and sgirmish work. The rifle range and the wireless station were looked over. A feature of the dress parade was the portable wireless outfit hauled in a cart.

The writeup of the formal reception given the major is given on the society page. The affair was managed by the scabbard and blade fraternity and was hndled. About 200 copies attended.

Announce Cast.

The seniors who will take part in the senior play, "What Happened to Jones" which is to be given commencement week have been definitely picked. The cast is as follows: Herbert Coith, W. F. Smith, W. H. Wilson, G. W. Williams, "Shorty" Fowler, A. T. Coith, John D. Parsons, Ethel Carey, Ruth Nygren, Carrie Harper, Laura Falkenrich, Phoebe Lund, and Ruth Hill.

Vote on Tuition Question.

The movement to put the DePauw Daily upon a tuition basis took on definite form today when the Student Council voted to submit the matter to the student body for a referendum vote at the time of the election of student body officers May 18. While the details of the Daily management are yet incomplete, should the student body favor the change, a decided improvement of the paper will result under the new plan. Because of the increased circulation it will be possible to reduce the price of the Daily.

NORTON H. S. WINS MEET

A REIGN OF ABSOLUTISM.

Not Since Stuart Days Has Sway of British Government Been So Complete.

As to the attitude of the house generally, it is one of almost unques-tioning acceptance of the decision of the government.

There has never been such a reign of absolutism in the land since the days of the Stuarts; and the British people, like Warren Hastings, may well express astonishment at its own moderation—at the obedience with which it has surrendered liberties which it had thought were the breath of its existence, at its whispering humbleness in criticism, at its acceptance of an iron discipline of the press at the murmuring instancy with which it gives whatever the government asks, without so much as requesting details.

"We used to have more bother to get a vote for one thousand pounds through committee than we have now to get a vote of 300 million pounds," said one of the government whips to me, after Mr. Asquith had asked for the last vote of credit.

It would be a mistake to argue from this strange spirit of compliance that the country has undergone any loss of its tradition. It only means that it is overshadowed by a peril that has blotted out temporarily all the ordinary separatisms of society, and that there is a universal disposition to avoid any spirit of nagging or querulousness, and to trust the government absolutely with the fate of the country.—Alfred G. Gardner, editor London Daily News, in the Atlantic Monthly.

NORMALITES COME MONDAY.

Looks Like Another Win for the Aggies.

The Kansas State Normal track aggregation meets the Mernerites on the College Field cinderpath Friday afternoon at 4 bells in what gives advance promise of being another win for the Aggies. The Normals trounced the Bakes team in a recent exhibition that failed to unearth anything alarming from the Aggie outlook. The Hargiss team sports a god sprinter or two and a fairly reliable 2:05 man in the half mile but that will not cause Merner with his man Wilder any loss of sleep.

The Aggies should clean up in the field events and hurdles for first and second in all but the shot at which Hartwig, of the Normals, is reported going better than 40 feet and this will take an easy second form Merner's weight casting duo. The pole vault stil has a slight air of uncertainty as Bell has been able to clear but ten feet in competition this year. Should Edwards make the hump the Mernerites can be chalked up with an advance eight points for this event as he can make 11 feet with ease.

Who's Who For May Queen.

Amy Gould answers to a phone call 430 red at 1414 Fairchild street. Her middle name is Pearl. She was born recently at Basin, Wyoming. At present she is a member of teh senior home economics class and will finish in June. Miss Gould learned quite a few things in the wild and wooly tuff old west and is some horseback rider. Miss Gould is a sister of Rev. J. Orrin Gould of this city. When a Collegian reporter pried into the Gould family history for more news, it was found that Miss Gould was a real biscuit shooter and when she used to live out on a ranch where the grass was short and the jackrabbits tall the cowboys were perfectly willing to miss two or three hours work every day in order to eat dinner and some of Amy's biscuits. They must have been some biscuits—or else it was hot in the fields that day.

Who's Who in May Queendom.

Valeda Edith Downing is on the far end of phone 506 and resides at 1215 Laramie. She calls Stafford home. Unfortunately Miss Downing is well known and to print anything about her activities on the hill wouldn't be news. Miss Downing's chief peculiarity is her fondness for hikes. While hiking she is a culinary shark and can take a skillet with her strong right arm and flip flopjacks—no, flip flapjacks—never missing the skillet more than four out of five tries.

College Club Moves.

The College club moved Thursday from its former location at 815 Poyntz avenue to 1615 Anderson avenue. The present location will be a great improvement over the former residence as it is closer to the College and fills their wants much better.

CADETS GIVEN 'ONCE OVER'

MAJOR MOSES INSPECTS MILITARY DEPARTMENT AT COLLEGE ON MONDAY AND TUESDAY.

HAVE A FIERCE SHAM BATTLE

Crash of Rifles Brought out Streams of Spectators—Rookies Kept Something Doing all Day Tuesday—Take Moving Pictures.

Six hundred rookies fought, bled, and cheerfully gave up the ghost yesterday in order that the military department might have the title of "distinguished institution" for another year.

Each man was issued 30 rounds of ammunition with instructions to fire every round at the wily forms of the khaki colored troopers climbing over the venerable stone wall for the 'steenth time. The military department referred to the happenings as a tactical problem but the local Tommy Atkins could only call it a sham battle.

During the hottest moments of scrimmage a fat moving picture machine man stood calmly under heavy fire cranking away at his machine. The two picture machines were both ran by local operators.

Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock the prettiest part of the inspection took place when the cadets gave a dress parade, which was followed by a personal inspection by Major Moses and his staff. The men were surprised at the personal interest exhibited by the Major toward thm.

"Why don't you play football?" he asked of one husky kaydet who towered above the rest of the company. To another it is said he asked "how do you like drill?"

The Collegian cannot print the answer.

AGGIES GET TROUNCING.

Missouri Wins, 9 to 3, From the Locals Yesterday.

Missouri won a torpid victory over the Aggies at baseball on the College Field diamond yesterday afternoon and evening the final count being 9 to 3. The game lasted more than two hours and a half and a good sized kick can be registered against the delaying tactics of Catcher Wykoff, Missouri's clever grandstander. This kid stuff is excusable in the corner-lot league but should be laid on the shelf in the play of grown-ups.

Missouri took a good four-run lead in the first inning and by hammering Hodgson hard in the pinches and utilizing the Aggie blunders romped five more across the pan before the close of the matinee. Taylor gave the Aggies a fine assortment of twisters and speed baffling every attempt at consistent hitting and his help stood up well in the crucial moments and mowed the Aggies off the path with wearisome regularity.

The same teams play on the same little lot again this afternoon at four bells. The score by innings:

		R	H	E
Missouri	400 020 300	9	10	5
Aggies	000 120 000	3	5	6

Batteries—Taylor and Wykoff; Hodgson, Harvey and Haucke, Briney. Umpire—Moss of S. Marys.

From a Junior Engineer.

The Engineering association has purchased some yellow paint for the freshmen engineers to color the buttons of their caps with, and as yet few have taken advantage of this opportunity. It looks a little bit as though they were ashamed of their profession or they would take steps to identifying themselves with that branch of science on which the world commercially is so much dependent.

A. E. H.

Have Their Troubles Playing Ball.

Cops in Iowa City are not in sympathy with an inter-fraternity baseball series unless the students can find some other grounds than the city streets. Several students have been pulled in already; one of them was caught while hiding in the bath tub at the Phi Delta Theta house, while some of his fraternity brothers chose better hiding places and escaped.

Prize Saber Here.

The gold mounted sword which will be awarded to the captain of the best company has arrived and is on exhibition in the commandant's office. It will be given in June.

BEN GREETS HERE SAT., MAY 29.

Will Present "Twelfth Night" and "The Taming of the Shrew."

The Ben Greet Woodland Players, who appeared here last year in Shakespearian roles, have been engaged for another appearance on the College campus Saturday, May 29, under the auspices of the College Literary Societies. The plays to be presented this year are "Twelfth Night" as the matinee, and "The Taming of the Shrew" as the evening performance.

The Ben Greets are the original company in the presentation of out-of-doors plays. This company of native English players was organized by Ben Greet in 1903 in response to popularly expressed demand for a Shakespearian performance with an outdoor setting. Since that time Mr. Greet and his company of 25 players have appeared in practically every civilized country on the globe and with unvarying success.

To those who have never seen a pastoral performance there is rugged simplicity and a delightful sense of reality that is beyond description. The swaying of wind blown branches, the odor of nature's own scenery, apd the chatter of the birds are a distinct relief to the tired theater-goer.

In the evenlag a battery of calcium lights furnish ample light. The effect is delightful. A judicious use of stringed music lends further attractions.

Last year the Ben Greets presented "As You Like It and "A Mid-Summer Night's Dream" to a highly appreciative audience of over two thousand people. This was the first appearance of such a company in Manhattan It is in response to popular demand made at that time that the literary societies decided to contract for a second appearance.

In all probability the same site will be used this year as was used last year, although one or to others are being considered.

Over two thousand seats will be erected and reserved.

The prices will be 50 cents for the matinee, 75 cents for the evening performance or one dollar for both. Only tickets for both performances will be reserved. Tickets wil be placed through the society members and at the stores soon.

STIEHM RUSHES SEASON.

But This Time as Society Man in Straw Hat.

"Jumbo" Stiehm demonstrated his qualifications for the title of "a brave man" by appearing on the streets of Lincoln one day last week in a straw hat. Mr. Stiehm has won fame as a football specialist. He has oftimes been accused of being somewhat of a pugilist. And when it comes to war he can give the late Genereal Sherman, himself, pointers. In other words the coach of Nebraska athletics has always been considered anything but a coward. He surpassed all his previous records for bravery however, when he got out his straw lid and appeared in public. The hat was very stylish in the summer of 1902, but has again appeared in the up-to-date styles this year. A movement is on foot to produce a Carnegie medal for Mr. Stiehm.—Daily Nebraskan.

GIRLS PLAY REAL BASEBALL.

University Women Quit Tennis and Hockey for National Game.

Baseball is rapidly crowding out tennis, hockey and basketball as a sport for the women of the University of Missouri, if the crowded condition of the baseball diamond on the Woman's Athletic Field, south of Read Hall, is to be taken as evidence. Each afternoon from 50 to 100 young women garbed in white linen gather on the field, "choose up" and give a real exhibition of the natonal pastime.. These young women play real baseball. The pitcher usually has more than her "glove and a prayer." They use regulation sized bats, balls, and gloves; they "kid" the umpire and "rag" the opposing batters. The catchers "take-em off the bat" and the white linen dresses often are more green than white after some enthusiastic base-runner has used the "hook" in sliding in to third.—Missourian.

Two College Records.

Two college records were broken in the annual spring track meet at Yale Saturday, J. W. Overton of Nashville, Tenn., ran the two miles in 9·36 2-5, lowering the previous record by 12 seconds. Vallean Wilkie of New York city bettered the quarter-mile record by two-fifths of a second, going the distance in 48 2-5.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 12, 1915.

The Collegian has been petitioning the janitor division of the College for over a month now, trying to persuade them to put up a news box for the general public in Anderson hall. Up to date there have been four miles of red tape unwound and it may be necessary to refer the matter to the governor. It's a good thing for some of these speedy departments that nothing very exciting happens around College otherwise someone might get a tumble in one of these pitfalls of officiousness.

WHAT IMAGINATION DID FOR ONE PROFESSOR.

By Grace Dickman.

Into the domestic science hall came and type. Taking a look at him on this as round and nearly as bald as an orange, with twinkling gray eyes and a pronounced Roman nose. The numerous freckles upon which were deepened by his funeral dress. He was to act as host on that day. Not unlike other professors who had preceded him in the occupancy of this seat of honor, he felt the responsibility of the situation, and had assumed that dignified air of importance that is becoming to one of his complexion and type. Ta look at him on this particular occasion, one would think he was master of human destinies.

After due deliberation the professor very good naturedly set himself to work carving the roast. He brought the knife down gently with a lady-like, 'cort a 'lovely' touch, but it made neither impression nor depression on the roast. He tried again, this time on the other side, but it withstood the blows like the rock of Chickamauga. He had been in a most amiable mood, but one could see that this was changing. He mumbled a few words under his breath, a sort of growl, but he didn'a bite,—probably due to his lack of teeth.

He rang for the waitress. In a moment she was at his side, ready to obey his order, and wearing a revered look of obedience. By this time the prof's. wrath was softened somewhat and he remarked apologetically, "I am very sorry to put you to some extra trouble, but I believe this knife wil have to be sharpened before I can carve the roast."

The waitress left the room and in a few minutes returned with the knife. The innocent professor again braced himself in his chair and set to work at the task. Slowly but surely the meat yielded to his strength and he cut it in a dainty sliced pieces. A pleased expression came over the professor's face, like that of a boy in his first pair of overalls, or brass toed boots.

When the waitress returned to the dining hall to remove the dishes, the professor smiled coyly and remarked "that knife cut 100 percent better after you sharpened it." She fingered her apron for a minute and then smiling sweetly, replied:

"We didn't have a steel in the kitchen so I just rubbed it across the top of the stove a couple times." The professor, being possessed of infantile innocence, walked lowly from the hall, totally bewildered at the wonderful truths that the study of domestic economy was bringing to light.

DO YOU KNOW?

Wha Io is so interested in military affairs that she even addresses the marshall of the Ionian society as "sergeant?"

That a sorority girl and a fraternity man exchanged several articles of wearing apparel and called on the different Greek letter houses Sunday evening?

What sophomore girl rose at 5 o'clock the other morning and searched the neighborhood for her glasses and later in the day discovered them in her room?

That the deep scratch across the forehead of an auburn haired senior lass is the result of an escapade in May-basket hanging?

That we take this means of notifying a certain dark haired senior girl that the chain attached to her locket is leaving a black ring on her neck? We were not sure the first time but three mornings running is enough to convince the most critical.

"We haven't any more knockers than any other school but the trouble is that ours are so blamed activ?—Sim Brocton.

Simpson Brocton played a game of tennis with a girl once or rather they started a game for it was never finished. Sim says, "If Miss Burns can teach the girls to use the right end of the racket and keep the tennis balls in the same block with the courts she should be given the Iron Cross."

What senior boy, after six attempts is still without a date for the junior-senior and is getting so desperate that he is threatening to advertise?

What senior boy, while on a hike, last week, side stepped the job of carrying out the provisions and cooking utensils had the tables turned on him coming back and did not discover that several rocks had been added to the sack he was packing until he was back in the city limits?

That with all the work the College is doing to keep the campus clean we ought to do our part and not scatter waso paper around on the grass?

And why wouldn't it be a good idea to have large waste paper receptacles placed near the bulletin boards at the south entrance and at the junction of the main walks?

That there is a girl enrolled in the freshman class who can pole vault over eight feet and has considerable ability in other branches of athletes, too?

We give you your money's worth or refund your money. The Leader Merc. Co.

Protect Campus Grass.

An effective means of preserving the grass plots on the University of Missouri campus has been put into effect by a strong arm squad of that university. Armed with paddles they lie in wait for the offender. No distinction of classes is made, senior and freshman alike get paddled.

Is Mayor of North Chicago.

Dr. L. B. Jolley, a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Jolley of 1217 Kearney street, has been elected mayor of North Chicago, a suburb of about 6,000 people. Dr. Jolley graduated from the College in 1901, afterwards attending a medical college in Chicago. He has lived in North Chicago ever since graduation.

California Nine Successful.

Owing to the early spring in California, the baseball season gets an early start. The University of California has already finished a very successful season with twenty victories out of the twenty-eight games played. Prospects are very bright for even a better showing next year as only three men will leave the squad.

Another Tradition for Colorado.

The sorority women of Colorado University are busy sewing dainty track trousers for the athletes who will compete in the intercollegiate track meet. Fifty such trousers are in various stages of manufacture. Some of the co-eds could not forbear to put a little lace and what not on 'em Brightly colored ribbons are also used extensively.

Rob Seniors of Mustaches.

Facial decorations evidently do not appeal to Northwestern College freshmen. They recently shaved the mustaches off of three members of the senior class. They even went after an instructor, but as luck would have it they captured the gym instructor. He proved perfectly capable of retaining his mustache.

MISSOURI VALLEY MEETS.

Contests of Last Week Develop More Dope.

Missouri and Kansas won track meets from Ames and Nebraska last Saturday in Missouri Valley competition. The Jayhawker victory over the Cornhuskers was lop-sided, 80 to 29 being the final count. Missouri proved stronger than the Iowa Aggies in the field events and experienced little difficulty in piling up 72 1-2 points to Ames' 54 1-2. In this latter meet several extra events were carded and third places were counted, this accounting for the large total score.

The surprises in the Ames-Tiger meet came in the defeat of "Bob" Simpson in the high hurdle event by Parker of Ames in the good time of 15 2-5 seconds and in the defeat of Missouri's mile relay bunch by the Ames quartet in 3:43 3-5. Niedorp did not run in the relay for the Missourians and this may furnish the Tigers a broad alibi. Simpson showed good form over the low hurdle distance performing in the consistent time of 25 flat.

Another ten-second runner in the century the for 1915 season was Dickinson of Ames who defeated Simpson in the first race of the Ames-Tiger dual by an even stride. Dickinson also romped to the tape a winner in the 220-yard dash in 22 1-5 secondss over Daggy of Missouri who defeated the Kansas Aggie 220 sprinters in 22 flat at Columbia in the tussle with the Mernerites.

Kansas shut Nebraska out in five events in the Lincoln meet Saturday while the Cornhuskers scored a "slam" in the 100-yard dash only. The men of William Omar Hamilton appeared lamentably weak in the sprints again this year. Rodeky of Kansas did good work in the 440 defeating Captain Edwards in 51 1-5 seconds. This time is one-fifth of a second lower than Holroyd's clip in the Oklahoma-Aggie meet on College Field last Friday.

The only consolation Nebraska had in the pole vault was that Reavis has been able to clear 12 feet 6 inches on a few other occasions. Last Saturday was one of his "off" days and 11 feet and a tie with Campbell, the K. U. comer was his limit. Elliot and Reber won the shot and discus while Elliot drew firsts in the hurdles in 16 3-5 and 28 flat.

The high jump record would have been poor enough in a high school meet McKay of Kansas winning at 5 feet 1 inch almost a foot less than the heighth cleared by "Duroc" Frizzell in the Sooner meet last Friday. Grutzmacher, a new man on the Kansas team, won first in the running broad leap with 21 feet 7 3-4 inches. Grutzmacher formerly represented Onaga in track athletics and has competed in severeal District and State meets on College Field during the last four years.

Low hurdles—Simpson, Missouri, first; Doggy, Missouri, second; Packer, Ames, third; Noble, Ames, fourth. Time 25 flat.

440-yard dash—Niedorp, Missouri, first; Mellor, Ames, second; Evans, Ames, third. Time, 52 2-5.

The Jayhawker baseball team returning home from an invasion of the eastern leg of the Missouri Valley clique stopped off at Tarkio, Mo., last Saturday long enough to drub the Tarkio Collegians 7 to 1. "Lefty" Sproul worked on the hill for the Kansans and toiled well feeding the Missourians six bingles during the nine rounds. The score by innings

The University of Nebraska baseball team lost to the Beatrice State League team at Beatrice last Saturday, 3 to 0. The Cornhuskers made four errors behind Chamberlain's pitching and were unable to hit safely more than once during the engagement.

Orono, Me., May 8.—Throwing the hammer 173 feet 7 1-4 inches. H. H. Bailey of the University of Maine, broke the record of the inter-collegiate amateur asociation of America today at a dual meef in which Maine defeated Bates 87 to 39. The former record was 173 feet 6 inches made by Lee Talbot of Pennsylvania in 1910.

According to Spalding's Track Almanac the American intercollegeiate record for the hammer throw belongs to the husky Carl Shattuck of the University of California at 175 feet 10 inches. While Bailey's wonderful whirl with the sixteen-pound lead may break New England records we do not think that it alters the mark of Shattuck in the record book. It's a mighty good mark though and should place Bailey head and shoulders hurlers in the 1915 intercollegiate.

At Columbia, Mo., the University of Kansas tennis team defeated Missouri's hopefuls in the annual dual tournament last Saturday. Captain Dix Teachenor of Kansas, a Kansas City boy, defeated Captain Loomis of Missouri in singles and in the next match easily won from Bland of Missouri. The doubles set the Jayhawkers easily won, 6-1, 6-0.

Princeton met defeat at the hands of Yale Saturday in their annuad track meet, 62½ to 42. The pronounced superiority of the Yale men in some of the events, coupled with their all-around ability, was sufficient to decide the meet. The visitors took all three places in the 100-yard dash, the broad jump and the 2-mile run.

Strength in the weight events enabled Cornell to win from Harvard in the annual dual meet Saturday by a score of 59 1-3 to 57 2-3. Six dual records were broken, five of them being better han last year. The new marks were made in the quarter, half, mile and 2-mile runs, the high jump and the hammer throw.

Seven state collegiate records were broken in the first triangular athletic meet between Rolla School of Mines, Drury College and Springfield Normal held at Springfield last Saturday. Drury won with 53 points; the Miners second with 45 and Normal last with 38. Marr, Drury, was the point winner with 18. He also broke the records in the high hurdles, shotput and high jump.

Although not definitely decided, the successor to Bill Weidlein as gradate coach for K. U. athletics for 1915-16 will probably be one Lefty Sproull, basketball and baseball star. Manager Hamilton admits that Lefty stands a good chance to land the job. In addition to his actual work in basketball, baseball and track, Sproull has taken the coaching course offered in the department of physical education this spring, in order to acquire some theoretical knowledge along with the practical variety.—University Daily Kansan.

Military Reception.

The most beautiful reception of the season was given Monday evening in Nichols gymnasium.

The reception was given in honor of Major Andrew Moses of the General Staff from Washington, D. C., and his aide Captain Oden of Fort Leavenworth.

The hall was decorated in palms, flowers and an abundance of green foliage. The purple and white bunting was used effectively with flags, guns, and sabers. In the center was hung an enormous American flag.

The College band played behind an embankment of pams and flowers. Punch was served all evening.

The grand march, made up of the officers and their friends was the prettiest drill ever given here. The march was strictly military, and the clanking and crossing of swords made a finishing touch.

The grand march was led by Lieutenant and Mrs. R. A. Hill, Col. O. B. Burtis and Miss Jane Kingan.

Many members of the faculty were present; Dean and Mrs. J. T. Willard, Dean and Mrs. A. A. Potter, Dean and Mrs. W. M. Jardine, Dean Mary Pierce Van Zile, Prof. and Mrs. E. H. Girls Athletic Association.

Tentative plans are being made for a girls athletic association, to be organized by the girls of the four College classes and the school of agriculture. A member was elected by each class at their last class meeting, and these five girls form a committee which is working on a set of rules and a charter. After these are completed the plan will be submitted to the authorities and it is to be hoped that the association will become a settled fact. Such an association will have charge of basketball, tennis, baseball, hockey, volley ball and other indoor and outdoor sports.

Prof. Albert Dickens received a card from I. C. Root, '12, in Nagasake saying he will be here for the commencement.

MAY FETE WILL BE SHORT.

Is a True Fete This Year Instead of Series of Stunts.

The May Fete, coming on the 28th, is in charge of the Miss Burns of the physical culture department this year and is an inovation in that instead of the usual series of stunts "pulled" byt ehdifferent organizations of the hill, there will be the frolic of May in its true sense as held by the eastern schools.

The entire affair is to be a pageant, a series of poses and gestures so to speak, making the ceremonies much more formal. The procession will be headed by 20 youthful sons and daughters of the faculty and these will be followed by some hoop rollers from the girl's physical training class. Then come a group of fairies also girls, followed by the orchestra disguised as minstrels. Twelve men will act as attendants to the Queen of May and her maid of honor. The monarch will be carried on a float. The Y. W. C. A. will choose eight girls to act as attendants to her.

After the entry the entire company of 300 will dance a characteristic May hop as decreed by the physical taining department. This is followed by by a dance of the fairies which precedes the crowning of the queen. There will be a song while the queen is crowned to which an attendant to her royal highness will respond.

The closing climax comes when the five May poles will be wound to the strains of the orchestra.

LANDS A BIG JOB.

Wray Reeves Will Be Wyoming Agritural Adviser.

Wray Reeves, '15, who finished last winter term, is probably the luckiest of the '15 graduates in the job line. He is agricultural adviser for Crook county, Wyoming at a salary of $1800. Mr. Reeves is married and graduated from the agricultural course in 1910, later coming back for work in the animal husbandry course.

APPLICATIONS ALL IN.

Only 196 Candidates for Degrees Have Filed Petitions.

The total number of senior candidates for degrees this year is 196, a slight falling off from last year. This means there will be a large number graduate next Christmas because the senior class is greater than last year's.

Miss Aleen Coryell of Junction City was the guest of Miss Francis Ewalt Sunday and Monday to attend the military reception Monday evening.

Dr. Will A. Pulvar, practicing veterinary at Wamego, and a former student of this College spent Sunday visiting at the Sigma Nu fraternity.

Miss Mauriine Doran and Miss Mary Braden of Kansas City, Mo., were week end guest of Miss Emily Lofinck of Manhattan.

Miss Hildegarde Mense returned from Lawrence Sunday night where she attended an Alpha Tau Omega spring party.

SMACKED 12 TO 3 VICTORY

SHIFT OF AGGIE PLAYERS WORKED LIKE A WATCH CHARM WHEN KANSAS MET MISSOURI LAST WEDNESDAY.

FERRIER DID THE HEAVING

Reynolds Garnered the Biggest Number of Hits for Lowmanites—Missouri Worked Three Pitchers Before It was Over.—Day Was Perfect.

(By E. H. Smith.)

The old shift play worked to perfection when Coach Guy Lowman re-distributed his ball players over the lot for the second game with Missouri on Wednesday afternoon and with what some folks called an "impossible" combination beat Missouri 12 to 3. And then there comes the anvil chorus explaining, namely, that Missouri had a couple of new pitchers and thought Wednesday afternoon the proper time to try them out. But the Aggies were out there playing the old Chadwick game, folks, and any little old ball club would have had its hands full trimming 'em.

Captain Briney replaced Briney behind the bat and Denman was not feeling well so Reynolds went to left and McGalliard to right. Reynolds played the same old steady heady game and Mac looked good enough in the right garden to stay right there for the rest of the season. Also, the batting list was revised with "Red" Agnew first up and Reynolds hitting clean-up. This program worked well.

With Denman and Enns on the path in the first round Reynolds jammed the sphere through second and two counted. Briney dallied around till one slipped across the plate to his liking and the Tigers stood around with thumbs in their mouths while Reynolds tallied. Briney was forced at third after McClymonds lived on the path and McGilliard was safe at the same place on a fielder's choice. Frank whiffed the ozone and Ferrier, ninth up in the initial round, died Morgan to Hogg. Missouri went to the bench in order.

The Tigers went to the morgue, one, two, three, and Agnew hit a liner through second off Morgan's first delivery when the Aggies came to bat. Agnew died at second and Denman and Enns again drew lives and counted on Briney's hit through short. McClymons made the third out rolling to Hogg.

Missouri counted one in the fifth when McMillan walked and Hogg and Palyfreyman hit safeties to left. A walk and two hits counted two more in the sixth and Missouri sacked up the hit sticks and quit for the day.

The Aggies counted again in the sixth when Agnew walked and scored on Enns' two-baser to left. Reynolds followed with a pretty single to right but Briney and McClymonds took three healthies apiece and returned to the bench.

Four more came in the seventh when two hits and a walk soused the path and Reynolds delivered a three-bagger in the pinch. McGalliard's three-bagger in the eighth with McClymonds on scored the Aggies thir final tally. The score:

It is in the singles that the most exciting part of the meet will occur, as most of the doubles teams have not had time to practice much. However the doubles contestants are well represented, the latest entries being: Class '15, Katrina Munger and Esther Boell; class '16, Nell Pope and Cora De Vaub, Rose V. "I hope a large number enter in the tournament," said Miss Burns, Thursday, "most of the girls in College do not realize what a great game tennis is and a live meet would do much to arouse some interest."

BEN GREETS AT LOVERS LANE.

To Change Location as it Will Give More Shade.

The Ben Greet Woodland Players, who will present "Twelfth Night" and "Taming the Shrew" on the College Campus Saturday, May 29, will appear at Lovers' Lane instead of last years' site, which was at the clump of trees directly east o fthe auditorium. The auditorium site is a very good one but the Society Lyceum Committee, after a careful comparison, has decided in favor of the Lovers' Lane location. The vividness and beauty of the Ben Greet pastoral performances depend greatly upon the sufficiency of rustic background scenery and an absence of wind. The pine-treed nook just north of Lovers' Lane meets these requirements admirably.

The Ben Greets, who are the originators of the idea of an out-of-doors presentation of Shakespeares wonderful plays, have given over two thousand performances in England and America.

Their appearance has become an extremely valuable supplement to the entertainment and instruction at many of the great American Universities.

The matinee performance, "Twelfth Night," will begin at 3:30 while "Taming of the Shrew" will begin at 8:15 p. m.

Tickets have been placed on sale at the Aggieville and down-town Palace Drug Stores and by 200 members of the College literary societies, under whose management the Ben Greets were booked.

Og the 2000 seats that will be constructed , only 1100 will be reserved. Only combination tickets—those for both performances—will be reserved. Reservations may be made at either Palace Drug Etore as soon as tickets are purchased.

The prices will be: Matinee, 50c; evening, 75c; combination (both performances), $1.

THE WIRELESS IS UP.

Steel Tower Was Erected Previous to Military Inspection.

The steel wireless tower, lifting its antennae 50 feet from the ground was erected Saturday in time for the inspection. The tower was constructed prostrate to the ground and then pulled up on its foundation. It is situated about 100 feet behind the chemistry building and the antennae wires stretch from the wireless room in Dennison hall to the tip of the mast. The antennae consists of five or six galvanized wires fastened to a crosspiece which may be lowered at will from the mast's end.

The telegraph is now in operation and messages can be picked up readily from Ft. Riley and Galveston. If the plant at Paris was pwerful enough there would be no difficulty in hearing from thke war zone as receiving end of the wireless does not depend upon the power of its spark. When the wireless corps is sending there is a loud buzzing sound which may be heard all over the building.

MERNERITES SPENT A PLEASANT AFTERNOON RUBBING IT INTO KANSAS NORMALS ON COLLEGE FIELD.

FRIZZELL HOPPED 6 FT. 1 IN.

Thereby Putting up a New Record for Future Generations to Conquer—Teachers Only Copped One First—Wind Prevented Fast Times.

The Aggie track team experienced little difficulty in trouncing the Kansas EStp1234 3twedeh heredlt trdeltt sas State Normals in yesterday afternoon's track meet on College Field allowing the Emporians but one first and a total of 23 points while the Mernerites garnered 86 tallies. A high kind cut down good times in the events but did not seem to bother "Duroc" Frizzell who cleared 6 feet 1 inch in the high jump and broke his own record made in the Oklahoma meet last Friday by three-quarters of an inch.

Holroyd started the Aggie landslide by copping the century dash in 10 3-5 seconds, VanCampen of the Normals taking second when Osborne failed to get away with "Mike" Ahearn's pistol-shot. Weaver delivered in the mile run winning the event easily from Portwood in 4:39 3-5 which is traveling some for such a day and such a wind as hit the runners on the back stretch of the course.

Smith and Marble won the discus handily from Hartwig the Normal's husky weight heaver when Smith hurled the Greek platter 120 feet 4 inches and Marble threw 116 feet 3 inches. Marble was off form on the shot but won from Hartkig with a heave of 35 feet 9 inches, the Emporian taking second with 38 feet 3 inches.

Teeter was not forced to extend himself in the two-mile drag but Baird was nosed out in the last 50 yards by Weber of the Normals. The time for the event was good considering the setback of the elements. Edwards hurdled the eligibility barrier and vaulted for the Aggies for the first t me this year winning the event easily at 10 feet 9 inches. Bell took second at 10 feet. Wilder cleared 22 feet 2 inches in the broad jump but stepped over the boundary and was forced to take a mark of 21 feet 6 inches as his best. The Aggies copped the relay in fast time when Grandfield running first slipped a 30-yard lead to the second Aggie runnner, the final time be ng 3:55. Grandfield was clocked in 52 flat on his lap. The summary:

100-Yard Dash—Won by Holroyd, Aggies; VanCampen, Normals, second. Time, 10 3-5 seconds.

220-Yard Dash—Won by Holroyd, Aggies; Crumbacker, second. Time, 23 3-5 seconds.

Mile Run—Won by Weaver, Aggies; Portwood, Normals, second. Time, Time, 4:39 3-5.

440-Yard Dash—Won by VanCampen, Normals; Osborne, Aggiesfi second. Time, 54 flat.

880-Yard Run—Won by Keyes, Aggies; Boll n, Normals, second. Time, 2:05 1-5.

120-Yard Hurdles—Won by Frizzell, Aggies; Taskman, Normals, second. Time, 16 flat.

220-Yard Hurdles—Won by Welsh, Aggies; Vandenberg, second. Time, 27 1-5 seconds.

Discus—Won by Smith—Aggies; Marble, Aggies, second. Distance, 120 feet 4 inches.

Shot Put—Won by Marble, Aggies; Hartw g, Normals, second. Distance, 38 feet 9 inches.

Pole Vault—Won by Edwards, Aggies; Bell, Aggies, second. Height, 10 feet 9 inches.

High Jump—Won by Frizzell, Aggies; Bernard, Aggies, second. Distance, 21 feet 6 inches.

Relay—Won by Aggies. (Grandfield, Essick, Lovett, Wilder). Time, 3:35

Final score—Aggies 86; Kansas State Normals, 23.

The dreadnought Arizona is to be launched May 19, but it is hardly likely that a bottle of water will be used in christening it as was done with the battleship ship Kansas. Arizona has no water to squander in such a manner.—K. C. Star.

Montana Enlarges Facilities.

"Athletics for Everyone" is the slogan at the University of Montana.

To make this possible Montana Field has been enlarged to include a new baseball field, a 220-yard straightaway and additional tennis courts. The football field has been harrowed, sowed and rolled and will not be used next year except for the intercollegiate games. A separate field for practice purposes will be used.

The new baseball field is located between the football gridiron and the new straightaway. The infield has been covered with clay and although new is already considered one of the fastest fields in the state. The outfield is level and free of any gravel.

Carries Baseball Loyalty Too Far.

"I agree that the Federal league should be supported, and all that," says Mrs. Sarah Bellum, "but this thing of a Federal tax on telegrams and drug store sundries is going a little too far."—K. C.

A tie meet without the relay is the way the dual meet with the Missouri Tigers looms up for Saturday, especially after looking over the workouts of the last two afternoons. Even the most optimistic do not claim more than this for Hamilton's men, while the doubtful ones are inclined to have Missouri leading about 56 to 48 with out this final event.

There is a total of 109 points to be contested for in the meet, including the relay. After glancing over the lists of half a dozen track men and several others, the following schedule of points was arranged:

Event	Kansas	Missouri
100 yd. dash	3	5
220 yd. dash	3	5
Mile	8	0
Half	8	0
Quarter	5	3
High hurdles	3	5
Low hurdles	0	8
2 mile	8	0
Pole vault	0	8
Broad jump	3	5
High jump	3	5
Shot	8	0
Discus	0	8
Relay	?	?
	52	52

To a close follower of track who has seen both Kansas and Missouri in action on the cinder trail the above line of dope taken from the Daily Kansan looks like a poor shot in the arm or head, whichever weapon it came from. Missouri's wearers of the Olympian negligee will surely wipe the Kansas crew off the map in some of the events. Kansas will surprise many if she scores a place in the two early sprints and the quarter will make Herr Rodkey pour out a little energy to win. The half also may work an upheaval in the dope sheet as Missouri's leader, Murphy, is up and at 'em these days. The pole vault may place Campbell, we say "may." One of the Missouri sharks is likely to break a leg! Not probable though. McKay may win the high leap for the Kansans as Missouri has no one capable of better than 5-9 and Missouri is likely to change the final result in the broad jump with Williams clearing 21-10.

Martin W. Souders, a former Kansas Aggie basketball star, is making good in basketball circles in the East. At present he is attending he Y. M. C. A. Training School at Springfield, Mass., where he was recently elected captain of the 1916 basketball team. Souders was chosen as an all-Kansas forward in 1913. While attending K. S. A. C., Souders was prominent in basketball circles for three years being captain-elect of the 1914 team but owing to some conflictions with the eligibility rulings of the Missouri Valley Conference he was barred from participation that year and Frank Root was elected to fill his shoes.

While with the Aggies he led the team in scoring both from the field and from the foul line. His natural position was forward but owing to a scarcity of pivotal material Coach Lowman shifted him to center, the change seeming to be to his advantage for the experience gained enabled him to step into the same position on the Springfield team this last season.

His work with the Springfield team has been featured with heavy scoring combined with a strong defensive game. He was one of the best shots Coach Johnson had and strengthened the offense considerably on team-play. The Training School schedule included such teams as Dartmouth, Williams, Rennselaer, Amherst, Princeton and Syracuse. Souders played in a greater number of the games but was out for about two weeks with an injurd knee. His selection as captain of the 1916 Springfield team did not come as a surprise to those who saw him in action during the last season.

Herbert S. Coith, captain of the 1915 varsity track squad, will not be permitted to don a track suit again this year owing to illness which Dr. E. J. Moffitt considers of such a serious nature as to hinder the Aggie track leader from wearing the Purple in another meet this season.

His loss hands the relay team an especially hard blow as "Hub" was always good for at least a 52 second lap in the four-man event. Essick will probably land the odd berth on the relay team.

Germany Annexes Belgium.

Germany has annexed Belgium. Proclamations dated May 7 have been posted in Antwerp to this effect.

DON'T GIVE LETTERS.

English Universities Give College Colors Instead of Monograms.

English track meets are not like the American variety, according to Prof. George E. Putnam of the department of economics at the University of Kansas. Professor Putnam has taken high honors on both sides of the Atlantic, having won the Oxford "blue" in weight events. Afterwards he represented England in a competition between Oxford and Cambridge on one side and Yale and Harvard on the other, and won points in the hammer throw.

Win "Blues" Instead of Ks.

Winning the "blue" in either Oxford or Cambridge means winning first place in the meets of students in one university. Oxford's blue is dark; Cambridge has a light blue. Only winners of positions are allowed to wear the colors—offenders against this regulation being ducked in th river by their conscientious fellow-students. Winning second place secures "half-blue." The colors are displayed in clothing and pennants and letters, much as they are here.

Only first place counts in the intercollegiate meets, second and third being ignored. There are few events—five field and five track—but fast work is necessary. A man who cannot make a mile in less than 4:30 has small chance of being chosen to represent his college. The field events are hammer throw, shot put, high hurdles, broad jump and high jump. The track events are hundred yards, quarter, half, mile and three mile. The pole vault was once used, but a man was killed falling on the point of the pole, whereupon contest in that line was abandoned as a "dangerous American innovation." The discus throw was also abolished for the same reason.

Indoor Meets Unknown.

Indoor track meets are unknown in English schools. All students compete for all the events; the athletic work is not limited as it is here to a few of the best.

NOTICE TO BAD BOYS.

It Means a Jail Sentence to Paint Number on Tank.

Thinking that the youths who paint class numbers on the water tank do not realize the legal side of their prank, the Collegian has been asked to print the law on the case so that any further mischief will not be done in ignorance of the result if the practies are caught. The penalty is: "He shall be punished with a fine of not less than five nor more than $100, or by imprisonment in the county jail for a period of not less than 30 or more than 90 days or by both such fine and imprisonment."

SOPHS GET CHAMPIONSHIP.

Lick Freshman Thursday 3 to 1 in Title Contest.

The sophs' clinched the interclass baseball championship Thursday afternoon by trouncing the freshmen in a well-played 3 to 1 contest. The sophomores are slated to play the varsity Saturday afternoon. Brechenheisen, Freeman, and Sherwood formed the battery for the second year team and Hewey, Blecha, and Sullivan worked for the yearlings.

"SATAN SANDERSON."

AMOROUS COUPLES WORRY PROFS

Oklahoma Geology Trip Was a Regular Cupid's Hike.

Naughty spooners should not spoon was the dictatorial decree of Prof. Taylor to his students while on the geology trip to the wilds of the Arbuckle Mountains last week. T o aid him in enforcing his chaperonic duties he took along a little electric search light with which to do the "Eddie stunt" about camp.

One night as he cast his light about the tents a tall slim young man and another wearing a red coat of design familiar to the professor were seen tramping down the road.

To say that the professor was shocked is to state matters lightly. Instantly he gave chase. The elusive couple escaped.

A search revealed the owner of the coat in her tent bewailing the loss of her coat for the night was cold and clothing was none too plentiful.

A half hour later the professor still searching for the wayward couple came upon two young men sheepishly sneaking into camp.

One of them was carrying a bundle suspiciously folded. A strip of red showed in spite of all precaution.

"It was a put-up game," says the professor.—Oklahoman.

EXTRA DRILL FOR ABSENTEES.

Accumulated Demerits to be Marched Off by Delinquents.

Cadets don't cut militiary drill! The first extra duty drill was held yesterday afternoon. Forty-five delinquent cadets marched an hour extra working off demerits, which had been marked up against them for absences.

"There have been entirely too many men absent since the Federal inspection," says Liutenant C McH. Eby, "and extra duty must be imposed upon the basentees. Military drill does not end when the inspection is over."

Extra duty drill is to be held every drill day until the number of absentees is materially reduced.—Missourian.

Talks to Engineers.

Dr. J. A. Wadell of Kansas City, international specialist on bridge structures, delivered an interesting lecture on "Ethics of Engineering," to a large number of men students in the engineering building at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Miss Broughton of the extension department expects to leave the first of June for the vicinity of Cawker City where she will demonstrate for one week, the preserving of fruits and vegetables by the Pressure method.

Joe Pierce of Fredonia is spending several days at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house. He has just returned from Florida where he was ill with typhoid fever.

HOBOES LIKE COLLEGE TOWNS.

Tired of Main Line, They Take the Road to Quiet Places.

Three "bums" lolled on the grass of a meadow near the Stewart Road bridge and smoke curled up from the fire of their "jungle." With cigarettes between their lips they were seemingly contented. Growing weary of the hardships of the road, the wanderers drift from the main line into the college town where they are assured of enough to eat, a cozy hollow for a "jungle" and rest and contentment.

The men who drift in are of all ages, types and professions. One may be nearly 65 while his "pardner" is a sophisticated boy of 17 who is out to see the world. The "bo" who is an undertaker by trade discusses the news events of the day with two friends, one a tramp printer and the other a bush league prize fighter. The topic of the conversation may turn from the great war to the Willard-Johnson fight for the men of the road are versatile.—University Missourian.

BEN GREET WOODLAND PLAYERS
in Shakespeare's Comedy-Drama, "Twelfth Night."

PIRATES PLAY FRIDAY NIGHT

PIRATES OF PENZANCE PUT ON MUSICAL COMEDY AT AUDITORIUM; FORTY PEOPLE IN CHORUS AND CAST.

HAS MANY SNAPPY DITTIES

Third Gilbert and Sullivan Musical Comedy is as Popular as Previous Two—There Will be Special Music by the Orchestra.

The piratical virtuosos of the village of Penzance will invade Manhattan for the first time next Friday night at the auditorium.

The Pirates of Penzance is now in the last stages of construction and the local Carusos and Melbas are getting a final polish before the collegiate world is astonished on the 21st. Rehearsals are held every afternoon this week and Friday the warblers will deck themselves in their vain plumage and display their charms to the empty seats just to see that things are shipshape, yo ho!

Prof. Olaf Valley has ordered the costumes from Chicago this year and while not telling a thing to the press public or pulpit, he mentioned that several innovations in this year's styles of scaroving garbs would be exposed to the delectations of the elite.

The swashbuckling pirate is a beast with a rolling gait—the more roll the stagier the effect—long whiskers which he has thoughtlessly set afire, a guaranteed fast red sash, daggers, and lean looking pistols tucked here and there in the alcoves of his clothing. The regular pirate voice specifications calls for one with much basement capacity and it must needs be able to sing "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep" with such rumblings that the nearby victims will rock the singer for ever rocking anything that way, no credit given for being on dry land.

The "Pirates of Penzanze" was written in 1879 by Gilbert & Sullivan and was first staged in New York City. This makes the third Gilbert & Sullivan opera to be sung by the music department, the others being Pinafore and the Mikado. These productions are the highest type of musical comedy and have become perenial.

There will be some good solos Friday night. The following are characteristic musical numbers: "When Frederic was a little lad," Sarah Marty; "Oh! Better far to live and die," E. R. Martin; "Oh! Is there not one maiden breast," John Carnahan; "Poor wandering one," Miss Biddison; "I am the very pattern of a model major general," G. C. Smith; "Dear father why leave your bed," Chorus; "Tarantara,' policeman's chorus; "For some ridiculous reason," E. R. Martin; "O leave me not to pine," Miss Biddison; "When a fellow's not engaged in his employment," D. W. Woolley.

Model Students at Cornell.

The annual report of the committee on student affairs at Cornell university shows that 937 undergraduates participated in athletic and other official activities during the 1913-14 college year. In a group of eighteen social or athletic societies, teams or fraternities the average number of days' leave of absence for the activities listed was 1.25, as against 2 in 1912-13 and 2.2 in 1911-12.

This is far below the limit set by the university faculty, which allows any freshman two days' leave of absence in each term and other students seven days in each term for such purposes. The maximum athletic schedule seldom exceeds five days' leave of absence and the committee is constantly exerting pressure to reduce the limit of all schedules.

Miss Bess Chase is visiting her sister, Miss Olive Chase.

ENGINEER'S DAY, MAY 27.

May 27 Is the Date Set for the Entertainment.

The program for Engineer's Day has been announced. From 9:00 to 10:00 on the morning of May 27 the Home Economics, the Ags, and the General Science divisions, just how a chapel program should be given. This will be followed by an open house at the Engineering building to which every one is invited. The afternoon will be spent at Rocky Ford and in the evening a two reel movie will entertain the celebrating engineers. One reel will show the workings of the Ford factory and the other is entitled "A Concrete Romance." Every student in the College is invited to attend.

HOLD FIELD DAY.

Agronomy Department Plans Celebration for June 2.

The Agronomy department is planning to have a Field day on the College farm to show the Riley county farmers what the experiment station is doing with crops. If proper arrangements can be made, the big day will be June 2. Part of the entertainment will be a picnic dinner followed by interesting talks from members of the faculty. The Riley county farmers will be shown the variety tests with wheat and oats, methods of seed bed preparation, and some experiments in rotation.

WILL INSTALL CAFETERIA?

Miss Ward Will Instruct a Class This Summer.

One of the novel courses to be offered in Summer school will be a class in cafeteria work. Miss Ward who has charge of the cafeteria of the Kansas City, Kansas, high school, will instruct the class. If Miss Vard's work with the class proves successful, there is a possibility of a cafeteria being installed on the campus next year. To date nothing but lack of room seems to have held up the installation of a cafeteria on the campus.

Prize for Best Hitter.

Mr. M. L. Blair of the Review of Reviews Company has offered a complete set of O. Henry's works of twelve volumes to the member of the Indiana baseball team who gets the most hits in the game with Illinois at Urbana Saturday. In the event of a tie, Mr. Blair suggests that the winner be determined by tossing a coin. In case the winner already has a set of O. Henry's works, he will be given a choice of Maupassant, Kipling, London or Balzac.—Indiana Student.

The Latest Jew Story.

A man died, and willed his property equally among three friends, an Irishman, a German and a Jew, on condition that each one of the three men place $1,000 in his coffin. After the funeral the three men met, to discuss their deceased friend's peculiar will. "Well, I sure put ten $1000 bills in his coffin," said the Irishman. 'Vell, I put two $500 bills in his coffin yet," said the German. "Vell, I met his terms, too," said the Jew. "Didn't I write a check for $3,000, place it in his coffin, and take out $2,000 in change" I know my duty, already."—Dod Gaston.

Ios Will Hold Cake Feast.

Following the custom of the past several years, the Ionion society will have its annual cake feast next Saturday afternoon in Lovers Lane. It is a custom among the Ionian girls that whenever one of the alumni is married, she must pay the penalty of sending a cake to the active members of the society. The ice cream to be served with the cake is to be bought by the Ios in school who are wearing diamond rings or fraternity pins.

Prof. O. J. Ferguson of Nebraska University will be the guest of Prof. C. E. Reid of the electrical engineering department Thursday of this week.

TRAMP CHASES COLLEGE GIRLS.

A Saturday Afternoon Hike Ends in a Rather Rude Manner.

While out walking on Prospect Saturday afternoon, three college girls noticed a young fellow circling about them in the bushes. He wore blue serge trousers, slouch hat, and his light complexion made him appear about 20. His peculiar actions attracted their attention but the girls were not alarmed until he began to follow them closely. They walked faster but the tramp caught up with them, remarking, "You don't need to try to get away that side path, cause I'll get you there too."

The girls caught sight of a couple out for a stroll and ran towards them. When the tramp saw the man he slunk into the bushes. The matter was turned over to Mayor Goheen who advised that no girls from now on go hiking without an escort as the country is full of tramps and hoboes who are waiting for the harvest.

The girls in question asked that their names be withheld; one is a senior and the other a freshman.

BAND WILL PLAY AT BEN GREETS

College Harmonizers To Give Concert Preceding Shakesperian Play.

The College band will give a concert preceding the Ben Greet plays to be given May 29. Many people are reading the plays previous to witnessing them; the two productions will be "Twelfth Night" and "The Taming of the Shrew."

TO PAY STUDENT DEBT.

New York University Levies $5 Tax for Purpose.

According to the budget adopted by the Executive Board of New York University, the sum necessary to carry on its ten schools for 1915-16 will approximate $670,635.01. The university expects to receive $636,508, of which $520,985 will come from students' fees.

Among the new course is one designed to furnish the training necessary for State health officers under the new requirements of the State Health Council.

At the request of the student body of the College of Arts and the school of Applied Science, it was voted to impose a yearly tax of $5 on each student registered in these schools. The money will go to the support of all non-athletic activities with the exception of fraternities. The committee also provided for the appointment of an alumnus treasurer for these school. These men will have control over the finances of all the activities to which the tax of $5 extends. This is a guarantee that all bills which are incurred by student activities will be paid. Should a class not pay a debt before graduation it is probable that the diplomas will not be awarded. It is also likely that this will do away with the non-payment of damages which are the result of underclass fights.

Faculty Maidens Go Wading.

'Twas a lovely day and four faculty damsels had decided to take a walk, all shop talk barred. They trod along through the leafy green woods, brushing aside overhanging boughs and winding down along the everlower verdent gulleys until the last branchs were swept aside and the merry four spied the Wildcat in one of its hapist moods bubbling along in a demure manner where the bottom could be easily seen. The faculty maidens wouldn't take a dare, so three of them doffed shoes and stockings and went wading, leaving the fourth damsel nervously running back and forth on the bank. It was a beautiful day in May and they never noticed the College youths nearby in the timber; nor did anyone hear the click of a kodak, making a record for next year's Royal Purple.

Profs. Throw Horseshoes.

A number of professors of the University of Nebraska are engaged in a horseshoe pitching tournament, and hold forth at 4 o'clock every afternoon except Sunday on a secluded portion of the campus.

Some of the dispensers of knowledge were adepts at the sport in their youth and have not forgotten all of their cunning in heaving the shoes about the peg.

So far the professors in the Agricultural School are leading, with the men of the Engineering School close behind.

Mr. J. M. Dunlavey of Kansas City, Kan., will talk to the girls at 4:00 p. m. today in the old chapel. His subject will be "Girls' Work in the City."

MAKE NEW STUDENT RULING

FACULTY ELIMINATES MONDAY NIGHT FUNCTIONS FROM THE CALENDAR; GYMNASIUM OPEN FOR ENTERTAINMENTS.

IS TO CUT DOWN EXPENSE

The New Legislation Has Been Made With a View Toward Lessening the Cost to Students and for Keeping Up Standard of Affairs.

New faculty rulings which pertain to the government of social affairs were issued yesterday by the committee on student affairs.

They decree that all student social affairs which require the use of a public hall shall be held in the College buildings, principally the gymnasium. This will knock out the Aggieville hall, the new Harrison hall, and the Elk's hall. No student may attend a public dance either at the Woodman hall or Eureka lake. The authorities will prepare the girl's gymnasium so that it may be used simultaneously with the big gym. None of the new rulings interfere with any sort of an entertainment which any organization may give privately.

The Monday night social affairs will be banned from now on as it interferes with studying for Tuesday classes.

The committee figures that there will be 30 entertainments a term given in the gym and that each organization shall have but one social function a term which will require the use of a hall. Each function will close at 12 o'clock with the exception of one annual affair for each organization when the closing hour will be fixed by the committee on student affairs.

There will not be more than two general College entertainments held in the gym each term. This is a great sufficiency as there never before has averaged one general College entertainment a term. The Garcia, Nakkerreka, and Batchelor clubs will be limited to one entertainment a term.

The purpose held in view by the committee on student affairs has been not to seemingly attempt to curb the students or to "slip" anything over but to cut down the needless expense by furnishing a hall for nothing and seeing that the entertainments were open and above board. Thirty entertainments a term total up to as many as are now being held at the various down town halls. The head of the committee, Prof. J. O. Hamilton, states that he will be glad to co-operate with any organization in whatever way he can.

The new rulings will take effect next fall term.

The legislation which has roused so much interest is mild in tone and very frank and open. It does not deal with hiking and extends privileges to the students which have previously been denied. The aim of the committee is to co-operate with the student body, cut out the questionable public dances, and provide the students some good place for their entertainments. The rules are as follows:

First—All social entertainments requiring the use of a public hall shall be held in the College buildings.

Second—That all student social affairs be limited to Friday and Saturday nights.

Third—That no student shall attend a dance which is open to the general public.

Fourth—That all student social entertainments shall close not later than 12:00 p. m., except one annual affair for each organization, the closing hour to be fixed by the committee on student affairs.

Fifth—That the committee on student affairs shall arrange in advance a schedule of social affairs for all student organizations.

Sixth—That not more than two general College entertainments be held in the College gymnasium each term and that a committee known as the Committee on Social Affairs, be appointed.

Seventh—Each organization shall have but one social function a term.

College Baseball.

Nowhere in the sphere of college athletics doe sthe air of the amateur characterize a sport as in the game of baseball. Most every college baseba l team, though able to play the game fairly well, is slow in base running, in hitting, sometimes in fielding. The fine points of the game are understood almost as well as in the case of the professional players, but the knowledge.

The average college rooter is at times openly disgusted with such baseball playing. He does not, however, understand that this is simply an argument of the strength of the game of baseball. It requires practice and lots of it, study of the game and quickness of wits, to play the great game at its best. The professionals who make a business of playing the game must play it cleverly, and even they fall down frequently. The college man with little practice, a short season, his studies and a world of other things to do, can hardly be expected to play with the cleverness of a professional. It is only after he has been graduated from his college nine and has studied and practiced his game to a degree of perfection in minor company that he is able to make the "big league," in most cases.

Some ball players probably are born with a faculty for the game and show up on the corner lot at fourteen years of age, or i nthe freshman nine at college. But in the majority of cases, time with practice makes the clever baseball player. So be patient with your college nine when errors and bobbles are happening and when hits are few.—University Missourian.

Do you know that none of the seniors received invitations to the junior-senior reception?

AGGIE ATHLETICS

The Kansas Aggies defeated Kansas University 5 to 3, and incidentally handed the Jayhawkers their first conference drubbing of the season. Missouri trims the Jayhawkers on the cinder path on McCook Field showing great strength in the sprints, hurdles, and several field events. University of Nebraska loses third straight track contest when Minnesota romps 90½ to 30½. Too bad the Aggies don't meet the Cornhuskers in track! Merner's lightly plads tangle with Jayhawkers at Lawrence on McCook next Friday and look likely winners.

By ERLE H. SMITH.

Sport Notes

Raymond Dickinson, Ames' speedy sprinter, came within one-fifth of a second of equalling the world's mark for the 220-yard dash in the dual Ames-Drake affair at Ames last Saturday afternoon when he clipped off the distance in 21 2-5 seconds. One of the four times caught Dickinson in 21 1-5 seconds the same time that is held by Bernie Wefers of Georgetown and Ralph C. Craig of Michigan, but admitted that he had slipped a fast start into his Ingersoll so the time of the other three watch holders was accepted as final. Ames had little difficulty in winning the meet with a final score of 72 1-2 to 54 1-2. Krull of Drake established a new state intercollegiate mark of 41 feet 10 inches. Dickinson also negotiated the century in 10 flat.

Cornell romped over the University of Pennsylvania track team at Ithica last Saturday by a count of 72 2-3 to 43 1-3. on the same day the Cornell freshies trimmed the Quaker stripplings in a dual contest at Philadelphia, 66 to 51.

The Ottawa University baseball team defeated Friends at Ottawa lats Saturday, 8 to 0. Taylor pitching for Ottawa sruckout 13 men and held the Wichita Quakers to one lone hit.

Haskell and Salina Wesleyan staged a pitcher's duel at Lawrence last Saturday ,the Indians winning 1 to 0. McCloskey for Haskell whiffed an even dozen and allowed two scratch hits.

Seven Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association records fell and one was equaled in the twentieth annual track and field meet completed at New Orleans last Saturday. Mississippi agricultural and mechanical contestants easily won the meet, piling up fifty-nine points. Tulane made twenty-eight, Louisana State University, twenty, and Vanderbilt, ten. Athletes from four schools competed.

Don Scott of the Mississippi Aggies broke two records, doing the 440-yard dash in 49 1-5 seconds, and the half mile in 1:55 4-5. C. T. Noble also of the Aggies' team in the preliminaries Friday, set a new record in the 220-yard dash, when he did it in 22 seconds flat. W. Parker of the Aggies set 11 feet 8 1-8 inches as a new mark in the pole vault and Forest Oakes of Tulane increased the broad jump figures to 22 feet 1-4 inch. Robert Gardner of Vanderbilt ran the mile in 4 minutes 29 1-5 seconds, a new record. The other record to fall was the relay, which the Aggies won in 3:26 4-5.

Providing all of the men perform in the same style they have shown in the last two meets on College Field, the Kansas Aggies should win from the University of Kansas track team at Lawrence Friday afternoon. Missouri had no difficulty trouncing the Jayhawkers and the Aggies will do some of their heaviest scoring in the events in which Missouri drew her heaviest pointage.

The sprints will give the Aggies points the same as the Tigers and it will be sore misfortune if the century dash does not return at least eight points. The 220 should give the Aggies at least a first. Osborne has not come through with any real classy running this season and Friday will be his chance. It will be impossible for Holroyd to step through all of the sprints and then face a lap in the relay such as will be necessary if it comes down to that event to win the meet.

Welsh and Frizzell should have no trouble winning the high hurdle event as each is a sixteen-second man and Kansas is shy on anything better than 17 flat. Welsh and Vandenberg can win the points in the 220 event. Weaver will be up against the best opponent of the season in Herriot the Jayhawker crack. Herriott is capable of 4:35 and not much better. Joe can step faster than that and Merner counts this a sure first, although the race will be torrid.

Teeter is able to make better than 10 minutes in the two-mile run and should trim Poos and Grady. The Wamego runner has not been put to a real test this year. The 880 should be an Aggie race, too, with Wilder back on the healthy list again. This lanky runner is capable of 2:01 in a pinch and ought not to be bothered with Rodkey after the latter has had a hard grind with Holroyd in the 440.

Just how fast Kansas can make the relay is unknown. If they made Missouri get out and hit a 3:26 pace to win the event the Aggies are out of the game for it is hardly probable that Merner can unearth fast enough men to make 3:28 or better.

In the field events the Aggies should fare well, also. The discus should net the locals eight points while the shot will probably bring a second unless Marble returns to grace this week. Reber has made 41 feet 9 inches in competition this year, while Marble has made 41 feet 3 inches, but once.

Edwards will be able to make 11 feet or better in the pole vault and should win an easy second behind Campbell who is doing well around 11-6 at present. Frizzell need not worry and Weimer will probably be able to beat out the Kansans for second place. Grutzmacher is beating 21-6 for Kansas in the running long jump and will meet Wilder and Bernard both of whom can do better than that mark.

Now this is one side of the question, and perhaps you have another version. The Aggies will give the Jayhawkers a mighty close rub for the money and the chances are that Merner's men will bring home the bacon.

Little Journey to the Diamond—The Second Baseman.

The second baseman is a shortstop whose arm has slowed up. When the trusty whip of his youth has lost its snapper he is moved over a few feet closer to the station where he is supposed to flag the ambitious.

One of the principal duties of the second baseman is to block base runners. There are two ways of blocking, crude and refined. The crude blocker frequently gets spiked. Whereupon he declares that the opposition wanted to get him out of the way. The refined blocker does his work so artistically the other fellow likes it. The umpire smiles pleasantly when the hostile manager mumurs, and waves him back to the bench.

The second baseman must be some baby cat at putting the ball on the runner if he expects to have the club owner come through with a raise every time he joins the Holdout Society.

There are various methods of putting the pill on the runner. If the gink coming down happens to be a boob with a puffed turret the second-baseman grabs the ball and beans him as though he were putting the 56-pound weight.

If the B. with the P. T. attempts to capture the bag with a hook slide the second baseman barks a section of the enemy's shin. The wounded athlete beats it for the shelter house at the umpire's urgent invitation and mutters in diamond dialect for several innings there after.

Sometimes the second baseman subs for the first baseman. When the F. B. goes in to scoop an S. H. the S. B. man hurries to first to take the assist. The second baseman dotes on this play. It affords him most excellent chance to show the first baseman how the bag really ought to be played.—K. C. Star.

At Minneapolis last Saturday the Cornhuskers lost their third straight track meet to the University of Minnesota by a final count of 91 1-2 to 30 1-2.

Sol Butler, the former Hutchinson negro star, copped individual honors for himself and a tie for second place for Rock Island, Ill., high school for which school he is now competing, in the University of Iowa Interscholastic meet at Iowa City last Saturday with a total of 23 points. Davenport high school won the meet with Rock Island and West Des Moines tieing for second place.

The Aggie Base Ball Team.

The following spasm from the eloquent typewriter (neuter gender, please) comes to use from Joe Cooper the famous Aggieville poet-tonsorialist.:

Wake up you students, wake up,
Boost, shout, yell and scream,
Get acquainted with the players
On the Aggie baseball team.

Who is that man that plays third base?
Who's hair is slick and shiny,
And always gets to see first base?
Why that's our captain Briney.

Stubby Broddle out in the field,
Where is he standing, can you tell?
If you should hit a ball out there
Just say its in the well.

A word for Haucke, the foot ball man
Who catches for the team,
Two hits he got the other day,
Strange it does not seem.

And when you see old Agnew,
Meet him face to face,
Just say, "Your worthy of that sack
They call second base."

McMillan is a wonder,
And so is McClymonds too,
Just hit the ball to one of them
And see what they will do?

Watch Reynolds when he gets on,
For what I say is true,
He'll scare their pitcher till he's wild,
Then steal a base or two.

This man's name is for you to guess,
For freckles he's a yielder,
A three bagger he'll get once in a while,
For he's the center fielder.

The pitchers are the best what is,
At these words do not shudder,
When the opposing team gets up to bat,
All they'll do is mutter.

..ow all you knockers show some style,
Brace up and keep in step,
Get out and boost once in awhile,
And show a little PEP.

—Joe Cooper.

IS 1ST NATIONAL SORORITY

SECRETLY INSTALLED FRIDAY BY VISITING OFFICERS; WHEN FACULTY BARRED THURSDAY THE INITIATES CHOSE FRIDAY.

DELTA ZETA IS ANNOUNCED

Eight National Officers and Members From Nebraska State University are Here—The New Sorority is a Complete Surprise.

The rivalry between the sororities on the hill as to which would be the first to be installed as a national was completely quenched Friday when the new national sorority, Delta Zeta, was announced. The new sorority is Lambda chapter.

Nine girls, Dorothy E. Hadley, Ruth Milton, Georgia McBroom, Carolyn Lear, Ruth Hutchings, Mary Alice Wilcox, Mary Polson, Kate Summers, and Grace Fox quietly petitioned the national council during the fall term and unwomanlike kept the matter so complete a secret that even few of the faculty ever suspected, much less the rival sororities.

The Delta Zeta national officers and members from Nebraska state university came in Thursday to install. They were Mrs. C. E. Shugart, national secretary; Miss Bess Jeffrey of Creston, Iowa, chairman of the midwest, and Misses Clara Dodd, Venus Leamar, Nettie Jeffrey, Esther Ellinghusen, Edna Brown and Winifred Estes of Nebraska Zeta chapter.

Delta Zeta was founded at Miami university at Oxford, Ohio, in 1902 and has chapters at Miami, Cornell, DePauw, Indiana State, Iowa State, Nebraska State, Washington State, California State, Lombard college, and Kansas State Agricultural College.

The following ladies will act as patronesses: Mrs. J. C. Wilhoit, Mrs. J. T. Willard, Mrs. Brooks, Mrs. O. A. Hutchings, Mrs. Kimball, Mrs. A. A. Potter, Mrs. W. S. Gearhart, and honorary patron and patronesses President and Mrs. Waters and Mrs. Mary P. Van Zile.

A banquet for the installing officers and visitors and the members of the chapter will be given tonight and on Monday afternoon an official reception is to be held.

Delta Zeta will have a chapter house next fall term.

SOME POINTERS ON RULES.

What Is and What Is Not in the College Rule Book.

Since the College was started, there have been many rules and regulations made governing student affairs and student conduct. The following extracts are quoted to inform the new students and to remind the older students of the existing rules concerning hikes, dances, and all other social functions. The rules are taken from the Handbook of Information, 2d Edition, authorized August 1, 1913.

"It is the duty of the Committee on Student Affairs:

"1. To sanction all social affairs before the same may be allowed.

"2. To decide whether or not a chaperon may be required in case of a social event participated in by such organizations, and to approve the chaperon. (page 31.)

"3. All student gatherings in the nature of picnics, county parties, hay-rack rides, steak roasts, public dances, and the like, shall be under the supervision of the Committee on Student Affairs. The students of the College are counseled against attending dances or other social functions that are not under the supervision of the committee; and the College reserves the right positively to forbid students to attend such functions whenever it may seem wise to do so. (page 32)."

Since the last edition of the handbook was issued, the committee on student affairs has made rulings prohibiting Sunday picnics and camping parties. The time limit of all outdoor functions is left to the discretion of the committee.

GIVE FUND FOR STUDENTS

PRES. WATERS WILL DONATE ROYALTIES FROM TEXT TO STATE INSTITUTIONS AS A LOAN FUND TO STUDENTS.

WILL RUN INTO FOUR FIGURES

For the Next Five Years Cash from Agriculture Book is to be Turned Over to K. S. A. C., K. U., and K. S. N.—Is Best Text.

Students who are working their way through the College, the Normal, or the University will have a fund to borrow from when in a pinch in the future. President H. J. Waters announced this week that he would turn over all royalties received from his new text book on agriculture in the state of Kansas for the next five years to form a fund to lend needy students at the three state institutions.

This will mount up into four figures and high school students over the state who buy the text on agriculture will be aiding directly in helping out many men and women who are at the institutions of righer learning.

The announcement of the gift came at Topeka when the state text book commission was puzzling as to whether to accept a book whose author was one of their members. The book on agriculture was written before President Waters became a member of the commission and was by far the best book on farming that had been submitted. He told the other members of the commission that if in their judgment the book was best suited for use in Kansas high schools he would relinquish his royalties to the commission to be used as a loan fund for students working their way.

Dr. Waters wrote the book before he came to Kansas. He receives no salary for his services on the school book commission.

A GIRL "CASEY AT THE BAT."

Iris Russell, 19, Will Play in a Kansas Side League.

A young woman is going to play baseball his season with the First Presbyterian Church team in the Sunday School Athletic league of the Kansas side. Miss Iris Russell, 19 years old, daughter of M. D. Ruesell, 2025 North Fifteenth street, has "signed" to pitch and play second base for the First Presbyterians.

The games in the Sunday school circuit are played Saturday afternoons. Miss Russell will start the game in the box for her team today against the Seventh Street Methodist Episcopal church (South) at Heathwood Park. The game will be called at 4:15 o'clock. How long Miss Russell will continue to pitch depends upon the customary considerations. If her arm is in good condition, she will pitch the whole game.

Miss Russell takes an active interest in all branches of athletics. She coached and captained a basket ball team of girls at the London Heights Methodist Episcopal church this winter, and with girls who never had played the game before, she won three out of five games. The captain herself scored more than 75 per cent of her team's points for the season. She also is a good tennis player.

When Miss Russell attended the Agricultural College at Manhatuan she played hockey and indoor baseball and led her gymnasium class in all branches of gymnastics. She holds the strength test record for the College.

Miss Russell learned to play baseball, by playing "scrub" and one-old-cat with her brother, and other playmates when she attended the Abbott school.

A tennis hat, a middy blouse, bloomers, heavy stockings and regular "spiked" baseball shoes comprise the suit that Miss Russell wears when she plays the great American game. She has a glove, too, of course, and knows how to use it. She goes after grounders, line drives and pop-ups back of the infield just like a big leaguer.—Kansas City Star.

DAIRYMEN TO KANSAS CITY.

Advanced Dairy Judging Class Looks Over Lula Long's Herd.

The advanced dairy judging class, chaperoned by Prof. J. B. Fitz, went to Kansas City Friday, stopping at Topeka to inspect some cattle. The dairy students from Missouri and Kansas will compete at a fair given by Miss Lula Long.

Collegian Board Meeting.

There will be an important 15 minute meeting of the Collegian board May 25 at 8 o'clock at the Mercury office. This meeting is for the purpose of electing next year's staff and every member is expected to be present.

BEN GREETS PREPARED FOR RAIN

Will Show in Auditorium in Case of Showers.

Some of those people who intend to see the Ben Greet out-of-door plays on the College campus Saturday, May 29, have expressed a very natural curiosity as to how, when, and where the comedies will be presented in case of rain on that date.

In answer to this question the Society Lyceum committee wishes to say that the Ben Greets came fully prepared for such an emergency, should it arise. They carry with them a specially painted scenic curtain. If rain should come this curtain can be quickly hung in the College auditorium and the play given without delay or inconvenience to the patrons.

Work on the stage and the 2,000 seats has already begun at "Lovers' Lane." Not only will the stage be elevated three or four feet above the ground but the back seats will be well elevated so that all may see. Around the whole will be stretched a 10-foot canvas wall.

The seats will be substantially and comfortably built with reclining backs. Those who wish to add to their comfort may bring sofa pillows. Lovers' Lane is closely wooded with evergreens which will stop all strong wind that might otherwise make it difficult to hear. Also the pine trees furnish ample shade for the matinee performance, and the somewhat disagreeable sunshine experienced at last year's performances will be absent this year.

Attention is called to the fact that the 1100 seats available for reservation are being rapidly taken and that when they are all reserved no more combination tickets—those for both performances—can be reserved.

Single admission tickets will be placed on sale soon for the accomodation of those persons that for some reason cannot attend both plays. These tickets will also be on sale at the entrance.

OPEN WHEAT-TESTING COURSE.

Third Annual Short Course Has Enrollment of 12.

The third annual short course in wheat and flour testing, offered by the milling industry department in the College, opened May 17 with an enrollment of 12. The course is of special interest and draws its students from wheat buyers, millers, bakers, and flour salesmen. It is the only one of its kind in the middle west. Students attend the course from many neighboring states.

Lectures, discussions, and laboratory practice are included in the course which is largely along the lines of experimental milling. A large part of the work will be given in the small experimental mill though the large model mill will also be used.

Special talks upon field insects and the fumigation of elevators and mills will be given by George A. Dean, professor of entomology. Experimental work along the lines of wheat breeding and improvement will be presented by L. E. Call, professor of agronomy. The courses in milling, baking, and bread judging, besides experimental milling and testing, will be given under the direction of L. A. Fitz, professor of milling industry, and Leila Dunton, assistant in the same department.

CADETS EAGER TO DRILL.

Benton Hall Men Practice Voluntarily to Win Cup.

A few ambitious cadets, who room in Benton Hall, are firm believers in the old saying that practice makes perfect. They put in their spare time practicing the manual of arms and other movements that were used in the individual competitive drill yesterday afternoon.

Since the announcement that the competitive drill was to be held these cadets have braved the heat, drilling regularly on the campus south of Benton Hall. "Shake a foot" was the command given when the heat began to lessen the energy of any of the men.—Missourian.

Miss Mabel K. Bennett, 701 Osage, is confined to her home with the mumps.

TUMBLE K. U. 56 TO 53

AGGIES START THINGS WITH THE CRACK OF THE FIRST GUN WHEN OSBORNE AND HOLROYD NAB THE CENTURY.

IS A GENUINE MUD BATTLE

Aggie Clean-Up Men Do a Neat Job, Getting the Points in Most Cases Which Were Doped for Them—Break No Records.

Lawrence, Kans., May 21.—By a score of 56 to 53 the Kansas Aggies defeated the Jayhawkers on McCook Field this afternoon in the first dual meet ever won by the Manhattanteam in the athletic history of the school. The better balance of the Merner team won out over the men of William Omar Hamilton. The track and field events were run off in a veritable quagmire, the jumpers and weight men working in mire ankle and almost knee deep. Despite this handicap several good marks were made, mostly in the track events, however, as this part of the field was in the better condition.

Frizzell was the high point winner of the meet, copping firsts in the high jump and high hurdles. Wilder, with a first in the 880 and a second in the broad dive, was second point winner of the meet. For the Aggies, Holroyd came second with seconds in the century dash and quarter mile events.

Of the eighteen men Coach Merner took on the trip eleven placed in the events of the matinee. The Aggies upset dope in the opening event when Osborne and Holroyd copped the 100-yard spring in order named. When the 220 was run off, with Kansas beating Crumbacker at the tape, the score stood 50 to 38 for the Merner men and but two seconds were needed to drub the Jayhawk in its initial bath. Teeter came through with three points in the 2-mile grind and Wilder best Crum of Kansas for second in the broad jump and the meet was won. Kansas worked hard, though, to win the relay, but the story of that comes later.

Weaver had little work defeating Herriott of Kansas in the mile event, staging a leisure sort of finish and making the trail through the mud in 4:36 3-5. Frizzell romped through the high hurdle lane in 16 1-5 seconds, breasting the tape a good two yards ahead of Heath of Kansas. Rodkey and Holroyd staged a beautiful race in the quarter fighting every inch of the distance, the Jayhawker delivering Kansas' initial first by a scant margin at the tape. Vandenberg picked up speed from a poor start in the slime and drew an easy first in 27 flat in the low stick race.

Wilder found Fiske of Kansas a regular little leech for the first three-quarters of the half mile run, but the pace told on the Jayhawker and his fire was extinguished in the final 200 yards where Wilder pulled away and won in a walk in he good time of 2.03 1-5. Crumbacker started strong in the double furlong sprint, but weakened in the last 50 yards and lost to Hilton in 23 3-5 seconds.

The best performance and by far the most thrilling of the matinee was the two-mile event which Grady won from Teeter by less than a yard. Teeter led from the start but gauged his sprint too late. As the runners turned into the straightaway, Grady pulled up beside Teeter and the pair raced neck and neck down the stretch first one ahead and then the other. At the tape it just happened to be Grady's turn to be the stride ahead and the time was 9:55 1-5, a truly wonderful performance for such a track. As in the mile, the time would have been at least ten seconds faster had the race been run on a dry path.

With little incentive toward running a strong race, the Edwards crew came to the marks for the relay. Fiske led off for the Jayhawkers against Crumbacker for the Aggies. There was one yard advantage at the finish of this leg and that went to the Mernerites. Captain Edwards opened up a 15-yard gap between himself and Osborne on the second lap but Essick ran a classy lap against Creighton and picked up an even leg for Grandfield who was pitted against the Kansas warhorse, Rodkey, in the final leg. "Grany" gave a wonderful exhibition against the Missouri Valley's most speedy 440 yard man and was beaten at the string by only two yards.

The weights made an even split in the points, Smith and Marble taking an easy eight points in the discuss nd Reber and Keeling garnered eight for the Kansans in the shot. Campbell cleared 11-6 for first over Edwards in the pole vault, the Aggie leaper going 11, even. Mud worked a mighty handicap in the high jump and "Duroc" Frizzell could make but 5 feet 7 inches. Gruztmacher proved the best mudder in the running broad jump, diving into the chocolate pool 21 feet 5 inches. Wilder pulled an easy second with a leap of 20 feet 6 inches.

R. L. Hoopes, athletic mentor of the Kansas City Westport high school, refereed and started the meet, and made way with high honors. The summary:

OFFER SUMMER JOURNALISM.

Choice of Five Subjects Will Be Given In Torrid Session.

The announcement of the teacher's courses in industrial journalism and printing was issued this week by the journalism department for the torrid session. The subjects are: How to teach newspaper English; how to get school matter published; how to run a school paper; how to prepare good advertising; how to teach printing, and, through printing, spelling, English composition and harmony in design.

One of the purposes of the work in industrial journalism offered in the summer school of the College, is to give a clear idea of the plans and methods that have been found to produce practical results where journalism has been taught to high school and grade pupils. Attention will be given to the demands made by editors both as to matter and as to form. Members of the class will be shown just what is necessary to secure the publication of matter written by their students. The high school paper will also be given attention.

ANNOUNCE STORY WINNERS.

Mrs. Ethel M. Strother, 1st; Tom Blackburn, 2d; Harold Snell, 3d.

The games are played every afternoon at 4:15 o'clock on the women's athletic field south of Read Hall. The last inter-class game will be played Monday, and Tuesday the game to decide the class championship will be played.—Missourian.

DO YOU KNOW?

This is to warn a certain senior lad who has been boarding at the D. S. for the last few weeks that he will surely get in bad with the girls if he continues to eat the lettuce leaves that are served with the salad.

The young ladies who take dinner work have to figure very close to come out even on the meals and with ordinary care a good vigorous leaf of lettuce can be washed and used for several successive days.

That a freshman girl who lives on Poyntz up to a late hour yesterday did not know that there was such a boat as the Lusitania or that one of the greatest disasters of modern times had occurred on the Atlantic within the last two weeks?

That one lady who had a part in the sketch given by the Dramatic club Thursday, was speaking the whole truth when she mentioned a June wedding?

Where the most popular man obtained the collection of jewelry that he displayed on his last appearance before the footlights?

That is about the time of year for you to get an invitation to the annual alumni banquet of the high school back home? Sure, they know you can't attend but they will be just as well satisfied if you simply mail your dues?

That one professor who attended the Junior-Senior got away with six ices during the evening?

What lady, connected with the College, is a trifle absent-minded and while riding down town in the street car the other day attempted to give her fare to a professor who had just boarded the car and was standing beside her seat waiting for an invitation to sit down?

Who left a pair of leggins in the girls' cloak room in Anderson Hall?

That it was a boy and not a girl as you might have guesses, who ordered the biggest number of commencement invitations this year?

That one of the popular Aggieville boys after considerable planning, got a date for last night and had to borrow two dollars from a friend before he could fill it ?

What Io said, "Just think, only two Hatops engaged to fourteen Vos."? (Looks like that is pretty good to start with.)

Not an Intelligent Woman.

Postcards have set the concentration of the soldier in the trenches. But there are still some who distrust the telegram. It was a serious Highlander who came into the soldiers' club and wished, in the soft Highland voice, to send a telegram to his wife in the north. He spent some hours in writing out the message on the form provided. And then just went over the sixpence. In addition to the address it was: "Wire to me at soldiers' club, Victoria." A kindly adviser suggested cutting out a "to" and an "at" as appealing to the facer of the music of the trenches. "Nae, she's not an intelligent woman," replied the Highlander, and spent an extra penny on his love.

ARTIST HATED LATIN.

Rembrandt's Parents Released Him From School to Paint.

In his book, "Art and Common Sense," Royal Cortissoz gives an interesting sketch of Rembrandt and his surroundings. The story of his life is not an affair of aloofness from the world, "of technique enveloped in an hermetically closed studio, but of prosaic effort."

The home of this miller's son was a comfortable house on the ramparts of Leyden. "His parents were in easy circumstnces; they appear to have been kindly, sympathetic folk, quick to understand the ambition which their son disclosed at an early age. He experienced none of the usual difficulties when once he had made his choice of a career.

"The miller and his wife saw no reason why they should compel the lad to study Latin when his heart was set on handling the brush. They released him from school when he was still in his teens, to enter the studio of Swanenburch, and after three years under that mediocre painter of Biblical and historical compositions he started alone on the career which brought highest honors to his name.

AGGIE ATHLETICS

By ERLE H. SMITH.

Sport Notes

Although his proteges were victorious in Saturday's meet, "Indian" Schulte, the Tiger track coach is by no means convinced that Missouri is due for a cinch at the Missouri Valley Conference meet, to be held a week from Saturday at Convention Hall.

"I look for four schools, Missouri, Kansas, the Kansas Aggies and Ames, to fight it out," said the Tiger mentor after Saturday's jubilee. "However both Coe and Grinnell will send some fast men which will make the above quartet hustle."—Daily Kansan.

Coach Carl J. Merner of the Aggie Olympian negligee squad claims second place in the Missouri Valley meet for his protoges. They will pull points in odd events where many of the Missouri Valley teams are weak. The Aggies will be represented by a team of at least eight men.

The Chinese pitcher in the ball game played Monday between the Chinese and DePaum teams at DePauw was up against a real proposition for the first few innings of the game and for a while his team was threatened with defeat and several of the DePauw batters were in danger of losing their lives, says the Greencastle Banner. "Bo," the Chinese twirler, was wild, and after hitting several batters and trying to lose the ball, the manager asked him what was wrong and with a downcast look on his face he said to his manager: "Too much girlee," and pointed to the grand stand where the DePauw co-eds were out in force and who had been singing and giving the DePauw yell. It was too much for "Bo" for a short time, but he soon regained himself and won his game, 3 to 1.

GAME TAME IN ENGLISH SCHOOLS

Americans at Glasgow Say Silence Was Strain On Nerves.

Enthusiasm for athletics is not so marked in English universities as it is here. An American student in Glasgow attending a football game between the universities of Glasgow and Oxford describes it as a strain.

"No colors, no decorated carriages, no bands, no rooters, no magaphones. I did see one man with a wee knot of pale blue baby-ribbon in his buttonhole and by diligent inquiry I at last found someone who said it was Oxford's colors. But toward the end of the second half, some way or other, they began to grow a little excited. A few small boys yelled. I could hear one pair of hands clapping in the grandstand, and five or six beets applauding. We were relieved to hear any plaudits; you can't imagine what a terrible strain it is to witness football in dead silence, and if you stay in America, you never will.

"But what do you suppose we saw the next morning? What but an editorial in the leading daily severely censuring Glasgow students for the unmannerly boisterousness and rude yells heard on the football field the day before, and loftily giving its opinion that the gentlemen from Oxford would never debase themselves again by playing before such a coarse mob.

"And Glasgow colors are black and yellow."

Apparently a Total Loss.

Two cockneys went down the Thames for a bank holiday. In the afternoon they decided to try fishing. The owner of a stream-side mill rented them some tackle; and, as neither one of them had ever wet a line before, he warned them that they must stand financially responsible for any damage occurring to the outfits as a result of their inexperience.

Presently, when they had been fishing a little while ,one called along the bank to his friend:

"Garge, wot does yer call the thing that bobs abaht on the water?"

"The float."

"Well, then, I'll 'ave to pay that there miller for mine—that's all."

"W'y so?" demanded Garge.

"Because the bldomin' thing's sunk?"

"A preacher has to be on de watch de whole blessed time to 'scape frum de wiles o' designated females'" pessimistically declared Parson Bagster. "Traps is bein' set continual for de man o' de Lawd by dem sistahs dat smiles wid a mouffle o' gold teef and paints deir faces twell dey looks like de side o' a dead fish."

"Must be tollable tough on a preacher, I 'magines, pahson," replied Jim Dinger, the gambling man. "But if 'twas me dat was defaced dut-uh-way, I'd say to dem scan'lous females, 'Bring on yo' trap."—K. C. Star.

SPOONING GIRL NOT IN FAVOR.

Kansas Normal Boys Write About Their Ideal.

"The Kind of a Girl That a Boy Likes,"—this interesting topic was discussed at the meeting of the Secondary Y. W. C. A. Tuesday morning. Letters written by the young men of the school were read. The questions which the young men answered in their letters were: "What is your ideal of a girl?" "As to health and appearance," "As to scholarship," "As to social conduct," "As to moral standards," "As to religous purposes."

Most of the young men agreed that the ideal young woman should have good health, but need not be dainty. She should dress well, though not expensively. She must have a practical education and fair ability in music is considered desirable

Above all, however, she should be a good cook and a home-maker. She should be an active Christian and have a broad view of life, and must not gossip, but be kind, loving and sympathetic.

Her social conduct must be above criticism and she must be select in her friendship. She should be frank and jolly, not loud and yet not timid and bashful and must be able to converse on all live topics of the day. Some pertinent quotations from the various letters follow:

"Any girl can make a splendid appearance even in a gingham dress, if it is clean, well-made and well-fitted."

"One that has courage to tell a young man that he can either give her or cigarettes up."

"One that will require a young man to have just the same high ideals—just the same clean life that he requires of her."

Colleges Aid Missions.

Michigan is one of several American institutions of learning to supoprt missionary activities in foreign lands. Harvard and Pennsylvania universities undertake only medical mission work.

Most of the colleges engaged in missionary work concentrate their energies upon Asia, and do not confine their activities to medical work. Princeton is doing work at Peking; Syracuse is sending graduates to Tientsin; McGill University at Montreal sends alumni to Ceylon; Wisconsin is active in the Christianizing of Tokio; Illinois sends workers to Montevidio; Iowa State to Manila; Kansas to India; North Carolina to Hangchow; and Dartmouth to Nardin in Turkey.

Let's Be Patient.

A Greencastle scientist has advanced a new theory for the present drought in this section. He says it is due to the war in Europe.

This scientist says that because of the heavy cannoading in Europe, it has caused all the moisture to be concentrated in the vicinity of the explosions and that as a result of this there has been heavy rainfalls in France and Belgium, heavy snowfalls in the Carpathian mountains and a heavy fog in the Dardanelles, and there is a drought in this country.

"Haven't I always been on the 'square' with you?

"But you may have 'vices,'" she remonstrated.

"Not a 'bit' of it," he asserted.

"What made you 'brace' up?" she queried coquettishly.

"The fact that I 'saw' you," he replied with a bow.

"I ought to 'hammer' you for that," she answered saucily.

"Come on and sit by me on the 'bench'," he urged.

"Suppose the others should 'file' in? she murmured. "You shouldn't let your arms 'compass' me."

"I know a preacher who is a good 'joiner'," he suggested, and they rushed off for the license.—Building Age.

Seemed Necessary.

"Mother," said little Mabel, "do missionaries go to heaven?"

"Why, of course, dear," her mother replied.

"Do cannibals?"

"No, I am afraid they don't."

"But mother," the little girl insisted, "if a cannibal eats a missionary, he'll have to go, won't he?"

AGGIES LOOK GOOD FOR MEET

WILL ENTER MEET AT COLUMBIA FRIDAY IN GOOD SHAPE: AGGIES HAVE A GOOD BUNCH THIS YEAR.

HAVE SOME KEEN RECORDS

Holroyd Wilder, Weaver, Smith, Frizzell, and Others Look Like Sure Point Winners; Aggie Victory Over K. U. Upset the Dope.

The Aggies will probably send nine men to the eighth annual Missouri Valley track and field championships meeting which will be held on Rollins Field under the auspices of the University of Missouri next Friday and Saturday afternoons. Holroyd. Weaver, Teeter, Frizzell, Marble, Smith, Wilder, Grandfield and Essick will wear the purple. On dope and past performances the Aggies look good for second place in the meet and should the seconds and thirds be badly split the Merner gang may do even better.

Holroyd will be up against Irwin of Nebraska, Shearer of Drake, Dickinson of Ames, and Simpson of Missouri. Irwin, Shearer, Dickinson and Holroyd has made the time of 10 flat this season and Simpson has lacked hitting this by 1-5 of a second, so the century dash will be a torrid affair. In the double furlong event, Neidorp of Missouri, has clipped off the distance in 22 flat while Shearer of Drake and Dickinson of Ames have each made 21 4-5 this season. Here again will come a close event with Shearer and Dickinson fighting for the first two places and Missouri copping the third. Holroyd may place if he enters this sprint.

The 120-yard high barriers threaten another close race when Packard of Ames ties up with Simpson of Missouri. Each has made 15 2-5 over the sticks this year and Packard was returned winner over the Tiger star in the recent Ames-Missouri dual meet. Daggy of Missouri is doped third with Frizzell of the Kansas Aggies fourth but it is hardly probable that Frizzell will attempt the high hurdles as he is out for a record in the running high jump.

The low hurdles will present another good race when Lighter of Coe, Shrader of Drake, Packard of Ames and Simpson of Missouri hook up over the low flight. Every man in this bunch has made the run in less than 26 seconds and Packard and Simpson are credited with times below the 25-second mark.

Holroyd of the Kansas Aggies, Neidorp of Missouri, Mellor of Ames, Johnson of Drake, and Rodkey and Captain Edwards of Kansas, will make up the field in the quarter and though the record of 48 2-5 seconds, made by Cowman of Rolla at St Louis last year will hardly be touched, the time threatens to be less than 50 seconds. Neidorp is a much-heralded man in this killer but has not made the distance in exceptional time outside of the relay at Drake, when he was credited with 49 seconds against Dismond the crack Chicago 440 man.

Captain Murphy of Missouri holds a mark of 2:03 in the 880 for the best time made in the western section of the Conference this year though Smith of Drake hit a 2-minute clip in the Iowa State meet at Ames last Saturday. By virtue of this record the Drake runner should make a fast race out of the Conference half-mile. Rodkey and Fiske of Kansas, Wilder of the Kansas Aggies, and Watson of Drake are other fast men in the event.

In the mile run Weaver of the Kansas Aggies reigns supreme in the western half of the Conference, and Barker of Ames with a mark of 4:33, holds down similar honors in the eastern section. Weaver has bested 4:32 in practice but has not been forced to extend himself in any of his competitions. Against Herriott of Kansas last Friday, a walk across the finish line netted him a 4:36 mile.

Grady of Kansas looks strongest in the Conference in the 2-mile event, but only on paper. His win over Teeter of the Kansas Aggies in the recent Kansas-Kansas Aggie dual meet, was by inches and brought out more similarity than contrast between the men. Poos of Kansas and V. Kline of Missouri are the only other long distance men in the conference to have made good marks this season but neiter of these has come near equalling the marks of Grady and Teeter.

The Kansas Aggies have one sure winner on their roster and that athlete is none other than "Doroc" Frizzell, the invincible kangeroo from the wilds of Oklahoma. The auburn-haired phenom has lifted his anatomy over 6 feet 1 inch of vertical ozone this season and claims a new Missouri Valley mark already. Burris of Ames, Williams of Missouri and Miller of Kansas appear to be the other placers.

Unless run down in his other contests, Simpson of Missouri should cop the broad jump as he has done 23 feet this season and will again compete on his home grounds which is always a strong incentive to Tiger athletes. Grutzmacher of Kansas, Wilder of the Kansas Aggies and Lucy of Drake are good broad leapers but not consistent. Wilder has cleared better than 22 feet this season but lost to Grutzmacher at Kansas last Friday by clearing only 20 feet 5 inches.

Missouri looks strong in the discus with Drumm and Warren each capable of better than 120 feet. The only other heaver of the Grecian missle to better this mark this year is Smith of the Kansas Aggies and with Warnock of Drake these men appear to be the winning quartet in this event. Krull of Drake with a mark of 41 feet 10 inches; Reber of Kansas with 41 feet 9 inches; Marble of the Kansas Aggies with a cast of 41 feet 4 inches, and Keeling of Kansas with several marks better than 40 feet this season should be the high man in the weight putting contest, although several of the Missouri and Iowa colleges are sending men with 40-foot records.

Reavis of Nebraska, Floyd and Powell of Missouri are the 12-foot men in the pole vault. Each claims a higher practice mark and the going looks strong for a new record to replace that held by Lambert of Washington at 11 feet 11 3-4 inches. Campbell of Kansas and Wilkins of Ames are 11-6 men and should tie up for fourth place.

Missouri and Ames are doped to fight it out in the mile and half-mile relays. Ames trimmed the Tigers in their dual meet with the Clumbia team but Missouri alibied out by claiming they ran two substitutes. Kansas is reasonably strong in the event and the Kansas Aggies will enter Wilder, Holroyd, Grandfield, and Essick in the going just to make the competition a trifle keener.

John C. Grover, a Kansas City lawyer and one-time noted Washington University hurdler, will officiate as starter and referee of the meeting.

The two plays are being studied by the English classes and a synopsis of each play will be given in Saturday's Collegian. The outdoor plays are truly beautiful with the rustic wildwood setting. In case of rain the plays will be presented in the auditorium.

HAIL SMASHES GREENHOUSE.

Icy Pills Caved In About $1,000 Worth of Conservatory Glass.

The juicy little storm Sunday morning that made you hide your head under the pillow when the thunder crashed, raised particular thunder in the direction of the College greenhouses. About 500 panes from each of the six big greenhouses and 200 from the show house were knocked in with the minature hen's eggs from on high. The horticulture department figures it will cost $1,000 to replace the glass in the greenhouses alone, to say nothing of the various windows in the other buildings. The falling glass cut down numbers of plants in the houses and the value of these and the cost of picking out the glass cannot be accurately estimated. Undoubtedly Sunday's storm cost $2,000 or more to the College alone.

Last year the total cost of broken glass was only $154. The horticulture people are planning on a wire netting to put over the glass roofs to protect them.

THIS MUST STOP.

College Youths Are Not Supposed to Kiss Girls Hanging May Baskets.

The following note reached the editorial sanctum yesterday protesting against the osculatory maneuvers of College youths when they discover May baskets hanging on the door knobs. It follows: "Mr. Editor: Do you know that a bunch of boys on Laramie really appreciate May baskets so much that one of the bunch will hold the girls while the others take turns at kissing them. I think that this should be stopped. A Victim.

P. S. Be sure and print this in the paper."

AND ST. MARYS LOST 7 TO 0

Aggies Paund Out Hits in a Wanton Manner the Catholics Getting But 3 Hits.

The Kansas Aggies trounced St. Marys in a one-sided baseball contest at St. Marys last Saturday afternoon by a final score of 7 to 0, when Hodgson let the Catholics down with but three hits two of these being of the fluke order. The Briney crew hit the ball opportunely and traveled the sacks in wanton fashion. Following the contest Coach Lowman put the regulars and the subs through a stiff batting practice that being the last workout before the Missouri series at Columbia Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons of this week.

CADETS WRITE MILITARY THEMES

Hand In Review of Military Policy of the United States.

The cadet corps is being required to write themes upon the "Military Policy of the United States." A number of the best themes heve been handed over to the Collegian. One of the best, by Otto Githeris, may be summarized as follows:

"The great weakness of the United States is that it relies almost totally upon volunteers . . . at this day and age it is folly to expect volunteers to go out and win against well-trained and equipped troops . . . the Civil war was prolonged and expensive when a timely stroke at Bull Run by regulars would have prevented the war . . . Many will argue we are well separated from the rest of the world . . . wars of the United States have been unnecessarily expensive on account of lack of preparation . . . The great mistake is to consider military resources as military strength. Military strength is the power that can be welded on the field . . . Folly for the United States to continue on a weak and inexpensive military basis.

Private W. H. Thomas mentions that elementary history text books give the results generally as either an unimportant defeat or a glorius victory, and naturally corrupt the public mind. The other two themes are by D. G. Tubbs and Fred Carp.

KANSAS PROTEST THROWN OUT

K. U. Tried to Grab Saturday's Meet On the Ground That Smith Was Ineligible to Enter.

Kansas protested the right of E. H. Smith to compete in the recent Kansas-Aggie dual meet in which he won the discus event. W. O. Hamilton, director of athletics at the university, claimed Smith ineligible on the grounds that he had competed for the Kansas City Athletic club in its indoor meet held in Kansas City last February. The following clipper from the Lawrence Daily Journal-World, gives the outcome of the howl:

"The protest, entered by Coach Hamilton after the meet yesterday afternoon, against Smith competing for the Aggies in the discus throw will not stand according to statements made by Dr. J. A. Reilly and George Forester, coach and secretary of the Kansas City Athletic club.

"Coach Hamilton contended that Smith, who won first place for the Aggies in the duscus, competed last winter for the Kansas City Athletic club, which would make him ineligible for this meet.

"According to Reilly and Forester, however, Smith first sent his entry in as competing for the club, but a day or two before the meet notified them that he was eligible to compete for the Aggies and that he would withdraw as a K. C. A. C. entrant, going in as an Aggie man.

"The fact that his name appeared on the program as a K. C. A. C. entry was because the change came too late to correct the program which was already being printed, according to Reilly. Consequently, Hamilton's protest, which if allowed would have changed the outcome of the meet, will not be allowed."

Band Gives Concert.

The College harmonizers, under B. H. Ozment, gave a concert in chapel Tuesday morning to an appreciative audience. The numbers were lively, tuneful and held the interest of the assembly. WEDNESDAY, MAY 26, 1915.

Today's Collegian may look topsy turvy as a word of explanation will help. The entire staff underwent a business meeting last night wherein several revolutionary plans were brought forth. Results will be published later.

If ever the students should have been allowed to go on a spree and spend maybe a nickel on a picture show celebrating, that time should have been last Saturday night when the week-end saw the winning of three events, a track meet from K. U., a baseball game, and the picking of the tailfethers out of Missouri agriculturists by a local stock judging class. There's plenty of roaring when the Aggies lose and wise heads figure out what should be done to keep the school from going to the bow wows. When the old school takes on a winning streak enthusiastic students should be encouraged to chip pieces off the welkin and sing "Hail, Hail—," We should not be so conservative about our winning.

DO YOU KNOW?

That a popular senior miss can hop street cars in the most approved style and that one of the local motormen is aware of her talent along this line and when the coast is clear always gives her an oppartunity to test her ability?

What member of the newest sorority hailed a young man who was passing by her house Sunday afternoon and took him down to the train for the edification of the departing visitors?

Sim Brocton, who will graduate this spring, says, "There are several reasons why I hate to leave this school and I don't even know the names of some of them,"

What instructor in the department of music was heard to remark on the advantages, under special conditions, of a certain shaded street in the extreme west end of town and even added that she must remember to mention it to one of her friends?

That there is an attractive freshman maid who cannot walk a block without stubbing her toe?

What three well known girls (and two of them expect to teach school some time) were seen wading in an alley back of Leavenworth street after the rain Monday? Sure they had their shoes and stockings off.

That a fraternity man, who should know better, has been having dates with a little girl from the eighth grade of the city schools?

That at a rooming place that houses several popular girls but affords only one porch swing, the right of possession is settled in advance by the ladies concerned? One fellow has been lucky enough to get a reserved seat for three dates in a row.

Progressive.

"Well, I like your cheek!" exclaimed the indignant maid, after the young man had landed a kiss on her complexion.

"And I like yours," he rejoined. "But I imagine I would like your lips better."

Fussy Hints of Fashion.

(Edith Updegraff.)

The oxford is again one of the smart shoe models for both men and women. There are various colors and kinds of leather used. Russet kid and champagne give a new and distinct type of footwear. Tan and white leather is used to some extent. Black patent leather and white kid are used quite extensively and combined with a simplicity that is a trimming. For evening there are white kid and even the old fashioned brocaded slipper. The most noticeable feature of the new footwear, aside from the combination of color, is the absence of all ornamentation on shoes both for day and evening wear. Not a bow, buckle or strap is used.

It is rumored that we are again to wear the lace frock—white or cream lace. However the sheer organdies and French embroideries will always be good. Another model is one of white muslin with pale blue make believe flowers scattered over it. The skirt is ruffles with a white footing for every ruffle and a pilot edge for every footing. Odd little ruffles are set into the bodice at the sides. The girdle is black velvet and minature black velvet bows are used on the embroidered white chiffon yoke.

A touch of color gives distinction to many of the new neck pieces. A bright colored linen is used as binding for this tailored chemisette and high collar of white linen.

There are many different types of vests that will be worn this spring. The latest is one of cretonne, or linen matching in color the material of the skirt and trimmed with self-toned black or white braid worn with white wash blouses.

(*) Records made during the 1915 season.

Six records have been smashed by Aggie track men this year in one of the most successful seasons an aggregation of Purple thinly clads has ever had. Of four out door meets the Aggies have copped three and lost one. The season was fittingly closed with an initial victory over the University of Kansas team on its home path. Wolloping the bird in its own coop is glory supreme to any fighter.

Seventeen men have won points this season and "Duroc" Frizzell leads the field by two points. His total is 36 and Holroyd comes second with 34 tallies. The others follow in order: Wilder, 24; Marble, 21; Weaver, 20; Smith, 18; Teeter, 16; Vanderberg, 8; Edwards, 8; Osborne, 8; Crumbacker, 6; Bell, 6; Welsh, 5; Baird, 5; Keyes, 5; Cromer, 3; Weimer, 3; Captain Coith, Essick, Grandfield and McGilliard have ran on the Aggie relay team and "Chi" Seeber deserves a word of praise for his work in the distance.

MISSOURI ENTERTAINS TEAM.

Athletes Will Be Given Glad Hand at Big Meet.

Contestants and visitors will find the eighth annual Missouri Valley Conference Field and Track meet one with a social as well as an athletic side. Friday night, the visiting athletic directors and faculty representatives will be the guests of the Athletic Committee at a dinner. Saturday morning all the visitors will be given an automobile ride over the city. Members of the Columbia Automobile club will have the visitors as their guests at this time.

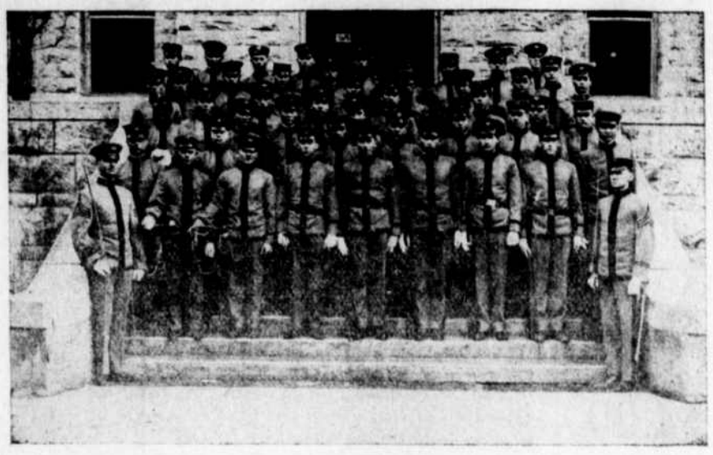

An informal dance and reception will be held in Rothwell gymnasium from 8 to 10 o'clock Saturday night, the student body being hosts to the visitors.

All special trains which bring visitors to the meet will leave at 11 o'clock Saturday night. One car will go to St. Louis, two to Des Moines, two to Kansas City and one to Lincoln.

The Athletic Committee has recommended to the conference that there be a charge of 75 cents admission to the meet. Each general admission ticket will give the privilege of a reserved seat. All the concrete bleachers will be reserved. Box seats will be sold at $1.

One section on the east end will be open to high school students only, where seats will be sold at 50 cents. All seats to go on sale Tuesday.

Missouri is the only school in the conference that has won a permanent trophy cup. To get one of these cups, a school must win the meet three years in succession. Missouri won in 1911, 1912, 1913. Another cup was purchased by the Conference last year, but as Chicago won the cup and was not invited to the meet this year, it was decided best to give the cup to Chicago and to buy another one. The cup is on display now. In addition, a cup will be given to the winners of each relay. There will also be thirteen sets of gold, silver and bronze medals, gold medals being given to the winners of each event, silver to the second, bronze to the third and fourth.

Baseball.

Missouri Valley standing ending week of May 22:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
Kansas	7	3	.700
Kansas Aggies	4	4	.500
Missouri	4	5	.400

Following the double dose of defeat handed to Kansas, the Daily Missourian claimed a tie for first place in the Missouri Valley standing with Kansas. The above reckoning figures in the two games Captain Taylor earned for the Tigers and shows that Missouri ranks sixty-six points lower than Lowman's Aggies at the end of the week, and is only in third place in the Valley baseball series.

If Missouri humbles the Aggies, as she did Kansas, in the games the Lowman crew play at Columbia yesterday and today, then the Tigers will have a standing of .550 with six games won and five lost. But, on the other hand, if the Aggies win the pair from Missouri and draw two more at St. Louis from Washington then their standing will be .666, with eight won and four lost. This leaves Kansas still on top of the pile. How about the postponed contest with the Jayhawkers? They'll surely want to crawl out of that deal with the Aggies.

Ames probably figures fourth in the rating with Washington, Drake and Nebraska completely out of the going. Even though the St. Louisians were to take two from the Aggies they could not claim the honors as they have not played enough teams in the Conference.

"Gretna Green."

In "Gretna Green" Marguerite Clark bewitchingly portrays the character of Dolly Erskin a little English belle and a bit of a flirt, who queens it over the beaux of the realm with soverign sway until she loses her heart under circumstances both humorous and dramatic. Refuses to Fly for Villa.

Curtis LaQue Day, the youngest licensed aeroplane pilot in the world, and a sophomore in Illinois University, has received another offer from Villa, one of the Mexican warriors, to fly for him. Three hundred dollars a week is his last offer, or $150 a week if Day does not furnish his own machine.

"I don't think I shall accept the offer," said Day. "I have a new Benlost biplane in process of assemblage in Chicago, and it will not pay me to leave it. I plan to make a series of exhibition flights this summer, and have been booked by four agencies already.

"I should like very much to accept Valla's offer," he added, "for the adventure appeals to me. Under favorable conditions, however, I can make $500 a day doing exhibition work this summer, so I am afraid I can't do much to help Villa out of his tight place."

A BIT OF SCENERY ON THE RIVER

Dielemmas of College Life.

If a girl majors in chemistry or Greek, she's queer. If she doesn't she's looking for a soft snap.

If a girl is athletic she loses her maidenly charm.

If she is'nt—well, girls can't amount to much anyhow.

If she doesn't wear a diamond, she's not engaged.

If she does, she's running a bluff.

If she belongs to a club she's frivolous.

If she doesn't, she couldn't get in.

If she asserts herself in class she's strong minded.

If she doesn't she hasn't any brains.

If she doesn't talk much she is not interesting.

If she does, she's tiresome.

If she goes with the boys, she's a coquette.

If she prefers a steady, she couldn't get anyone else.

What's a girl to do, I would like to know?—Exchange.

Traveling Museum for Schools.

St. Louis has a traveling museum for its public schools. The exhibits are sent to the various schools by means of an automobile truck, and are used in connection with the regular courses of study. There are no freaks or curiosities among the exhibits, but there is an abundance of interesting material illustrating the life and occupations of various races; there are mounted birds and animals, mineral products and many colored charts and lantern slides for use in helping pupils to gain a realistic knowledge of such studies as geography, astronomy and physiology.

The Barque Without a Bite.

Willie was struggling through the story in his reading lesson.

"No," said the captain, "it was not a sloop. It was a larger vessel. By the rig, I judged her to be a-a-a."

The word was new to him.

"Barque," supplied the teacher.

"No," said the captain, "it was—"

Still Willie hesitated.

"Barque!" repeated the teacher, this time sharply.

Willie looked as though he had not heard aright. Then, with a very apprehensive glance at the class, he shouted:

"Bow-wow!"

Nothing Like That Here.

Cornell University is well abreast of other American universities in the matter of supervising college club meals to students. The university has already three dining halls and is about to begin building another large dining hall in connection with the new domitories for men. Besides, the university will in the fall take over the management of the lunch room, which has for some time been run under private auspices.

The girls gymnasium classes will put on some special dances which will be one of the big attractions of the May Fete.

Dubs Will Run for Prizes.

The Universiy of Michigan will soon hold an indoor "dub" track meet, entry in which is open only to non-athletes. All prizes will be edible. The order in which the wards will be made will be sealed in envelopes, to be opened after the races. Thus a cripple, finishing last, may win a whole head of cabbage, while a good sprinter contents himself with a dried prune. All entries are at least reasonably sure of a light lunch.

The annual May Fete you cannot afford to miss, College campus May 28.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN.

VOLUME 21. NUMBER 66. KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, SATURDAY, MAY 29, 1915. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

WILL BE NO CLASSES MONDAY

DECORATION DAY IS A LEGAL HOLIDAY HENCE THE VACATION FROM DRY BOOKS AND CLASSES. HONOR NOTION'S DTAD.

ROOKIES WILL PROMENADE

The Usual Walk to the Cemetery Is In Store for Aspiring Militaris—Cadets Will Form at 8:00 On Campus.

There will be no classes on Monday, it being Decoration Day.

Cadets will fall in at 8 bells east of the auditorium for the annual promenade to the cemetery. The march has become a classic in the institution and has been performed for years even back in the days when the salutes were fired with black powder. Those days there was no paving up to Kimball Castle and the perspiring kay-dets would trudge up the three-inch dust on the hill road, fainting under every convenient tree and praying, "if I could only take this coat off."

The cadets will act as an escort to the old soldiers down on Poyntz avenue and later march to the cemetery where the bugles will play "taps" and a reminiscent volley fired over the graves of the sleeping veterans. The ceremony is a beautiful one, and the crowd, particularly the old soldiers, are much impressed by it.

WILL RUN HESSIAN FLY SPECIAL.

Santa Fe Will Send Train Through Southern Kansas.

Starting June 7 from Newton a special train carrying speakers from the Kansas State Agricultural College will be run by the Santa Fe railroad over its system in the Hessian fly districts. The train will stop at nearly every town on the system south to Wellington, west to Harper, and north to McPherson and Marion. Meetings in the towns off the railroad will be held, the speakers making connection by automobile.

The speakers who are making the trip are George A. Dean, professor of entomology; L. E. Call, professor of agronomy; James W. McColloch, staple crop entomologist in the experiment station; T. J. Talbert, entomologist in the extension division; Edward C. Johnson, superintendent of institutes; H. M. Bainer, agricultural demonstrator representing the Santa Fe railroad; E. G. Kelley, entomologist in the United States department of agriculture; and F. P. Lane, county agent of Harvey county. The train will stop at the different towns from 30 to 40 minutes, and the talks will be along the lines of the best preventive measures that may be adopted.

SCHOOL OF AG. ENDS JUNE 11.

The invitations for the school of agriculture commencement are out. The commencement exercises will be given June 11. Edwin L. Taylor of Edwardsville, a former regent of the College will give the Commencement address.

St. Marys will invade Aggiedom on Tuesday, June 1 to play the final game on the home field this season. The Catholics, while not the peppy bunch that Quigley bossed, are still able to play ball and the game Tuesday will be interesting.

PREXY AT STILLWATER.

Will Deliver Commencement Address to Oklahoma A. & M.

President Waters left Wednesday for Stillwater, Okla., where he will deliver the commencement address to the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College. He will be gone several days.

Neyland Excels Marquard's Record.

When the Army nine won their twelfth consecutive victory by defeating Washington and Lee on Saturday, Cadet Robert R. Neyland established a record for consecutive games won by a pitcher. Neyland's record is 20 in a row, exceeding Marquad's record, made in 1913, by one game. The last defeat chalked against this cadet was administered in May, 1913. During last season and thus far this season, he has kept a clean slate.

Send the Collegian home.

DON'T TOUCH MACHINERY.

Engineering Dept. Is Troubled With Pests Who Damage Apparatus.

A tip to the wise: Don't trouble the machinery in the engineering building.

Several weeks ago, on a Sunday, a student came into the engine room, unobserved, and short circuited the armature on one of the dynamos at a cost to the College of a considerable amount. Saturday night between 6:00 and 6:30 a student came into the engine room and shut down one of the engines. This interrupted service for ten or fifteen minutes before any of the operators knew that any such thing had occurred.

The engineering department has not put up signs as yet for they believe in allowing students the greatest possible freedom. But when it comes to breaking up machinery through ignorance and carelessness something must, and will be done.

DEBATING "K's" ARE HERE.

Were Issued Thursday to the Members of Debate Squads.

The official debating "K's" were issued to the lucky members of the College debating squads Thursday. The official monogram is a plain block letter surrounded by a circle, all of plain gold. The letter is copyrighted and may only be worn by debaters.

DEBATE BANQUET WEDNESDAY

Were Entertained by Forum and J. W. Searson at Christian Church at a Three-Course Dinner.

The annual debater's banquet was given at the Christian church Wednesday evening by the Forum and Prof. J. W. Searson. Sixty people were present at the three-course dinner, members of the debating squads, the Forum, Zeta Kappa Psi, Pi Kappa Delta, and several members of the faculty.

W. A. Sumner acted as toastmaster and the following lengthy program was given by the "talkers:" "The Below Freshman," Floyd Hawkins; "Freshman Debaters," Mary Dakin; "The Debating Council," W. F. Taylor; "Single K Folks," Mae Sweet; "Double K Folks," Florence Justin; "K to the Nth," Jay Lush; "The Graduating K's," Edna Barber; "The Forum," John Rathbun; Debate between Zeta Kappa Psi, represented by Mary Polson and Pi Kappa Delta, represented by Price Wheeler, on "Resolved, that a Zeta Kappa Psi girl can win more debates than a good looking Pi Kappa Delta kid." Result was a draw. Dr. Macarthur and Professor J. E. Kammeyer gave short talks, and Prof. J. W. Searson concluded the toasts with his subject, "The Faculty."

The decorations were in green. Every "K" winner was required to wear a dunce cap with the number of "K's" upon it that he had won. Jay Lush and Joe Sweet were high men, each having won four debate monograms.

Veterinary Banquet.

The Veterinary Medical association held their annual banquet at the College Inn Monday night. Speeches were made by Doctors Jackley, Benner, Burt, Dystra, Wentworth, and Schoenleber. Speeches were also made by several of the senior veterinary students, who for the most part gave a brief history of the development and work of the association in past years, and urged the underclass men to continue the high standard and efficiency of the association.

Dr. Schoenleber mad ethe closing speech and presented each senior veterinary student with a diploma which intitles the holder to a life-time membership in the American Veterinary Association of America.

Ben Greets Play Today In Auditorium

The Ben Greet Woodland Players will give an afternoon and evening performance at Lover's Lane today. The pine treed nook north of Lover's Lane furnishes an ideal rustic spot for the outdoor Thespian presentation. The matinee performance, "Twelfth Night" will commence at 3:30 o'clock and "The Taming of the Shrew" starts at 8:15. Tickets have been placed on sale at the Aggieville and down town Palace drug stores and may be secured from 200 literary society members, under whose management the Ben Greets were booked. Of the 2,000 seats that are constructed, only 1100 are to be reserved. Only combination tickets—for both performances—will be reserved. Reservations may be made when the ticket is purchased. The prices are: matinee 50c; evening 75c; combination $1.

The Ben Greets players will present the highest class performance that has been in Manhattan this year. They rank among the first five Shakespearian companies in the United States and are endorsed by the faculty. The Ben Greets performance of last year was exquisite in the outdoor beauty of the natural woods and the plays were twice as effective as when played indoors.

Today's performance will make the third appearance of the Ben Greets at Manhattan. It is hoped that all of the students will witness the performance of the greatest plays in the English language.

ENGINEERS HOLD SPECIAL

SHOW STUDENT BODY ON INSPECTION TOUR THURSDAY WHAT THERE IS IN THE ENGINEERING BUILDING WORTH SEEING.

HAVE A MECHANICS CHAPEL

Fake Profs. Speak and Cavort About the Stage While Real Instructors Grow Indignant In the Pit—Engineer Band Can Play Real Music.

The engineers put their best foot forward Thursday, held chapel and took the rest of the College as guests through the engineering building and in the evening treated them to a moving picture show in the auditorium.

The feature of the chapel program was a speech by J. P. Rathbun in disguise as Dean Potter. He spoke for about 15 minutes and brought out several humorous poses. "Dean Potter" was introduced by B. F. Griffin, posing as Prof. J. E. Kammeyer. "Daddy" Walters was impersonated by C. L. Clewes; William W. Haggard was "Cap" Sanders, "Shorty" Rawson was M. R. Bowerman, and Frank Freeto impersonated Prof. L. E. Conrad. J. S. Hagan, president of the Engineer's association was the only serious minded individual on the stage, giving a short talk. The engineer's band under the leadership of C. H. Zimmerman, played "Get Out and Get Under" and proved that the engineers claimed the majority of musicians in the College band.

Students being excused the third hour the engineers held open house in their building for the other divisions. Every machine that would run was going, the engineers acted as guides and walking encyclopediaes, and a large crowd of interested students surrounded the various machines all during the hour. Of particular interest was the metal pouring with its showers of sparks. The architecture end drew a crowd by means of the many drawings on the walls. In the shops several of the machines were kept busy making little pieces of metal work which were handed out as souvenirs to the visitors.

Thursday evening a movie show was given in the auditorium showing the manufacture of Ford automobiles and various other mechanical processes. Over 5000 feet of film were shown. The engineer band played and the quartet sang.

The idea of having an engineer's day was worked out by the Engineer's association.

Ben Greets in Auditorium.

On account of the rains the Ben Greet play site at "Lovers' Lane" cannot be used. The Ben Greets, who arrive this noon from Topeka, will appear for both Shakesperian comedies in the College auditorium before a specially painted scenic curtain which they carry for use when inclement weather makes an out-door performance impossible.

The Lyceum Committee at a meeting last night decided to hold 1000 of the best seats in the auditorium for those holding reserved seat tickets. No numbers will be designated and it will be a case of first come, first served, as far as the choice of seats is concerned.

The College Military Band will give a half hour's concert preceding each play. "Twelfth Night," the matinee performance will be given at 3:30. "The Taming of the Shrew," the evening play will begin at 8:15.

Henry Cornell of Wakefield is visiting friends in Manhattan.

POSTPONE THE MAY FETE

HEAVY RAINFALL MAKES THE GROUND TOO SLOPPY FOR THE BLEACHERS AND PERFORMANCE FRIDAY.

WILL COME NEXT FRIDAY

Jane Kingan is the Queen to Be—Will Take Several Days of Sunshine to Make Campus Fit—Comes On Night of Military Ball.

Jane Kingan is May Queen to be—the secret could not be kept and the name of the campus royalty is fairly well known over the hill.

Second Fact—The May Fete will be held Friday, June 4, and will be, properly speaking, a June Fete.

The veritable deluge that has been coming with daily regularity all week has rendered the campus a lake and where the ground is not under water it is of a soupy consistency. It will require several days of sunshine to dry off the grass and ground sufficiently to enable the actors to take part in the festival.

The May fete committee first thought of having the coronation Monday, the 31st, provided the week-end was fair, but as Monday is to be celebrated as Decoration Day, the date was pushed forward to June 4.

Miss Kingan will be the first and probably the only May Qeen to ever be crowned in June.

NABORS POSTPONES TRIP.

Zoology Professor Will Wait Till the Guns Stop Roaring.

Prof. R. K. Nabors of the zoology department has postponed his trip to Europe to a future date on account of the war freight rates in the enemies' country, and the almost prohibitive chances of getting the Karakule sheep out of Russia. The sheep, 50 in number, are out of the zone of direct fighting, but to gain government permission it would be necessary to wait until much red tape was unwound, and war conditions coupled with war freight rates make the trip almost useless.

Karakule sheep are black, thick-coated animals and are used for their pelts. At present the skin is very valuable on account of the necessity of importation from Russia.

RAIN BREAKS MAY RECORDS

Rainfall Passes That of Year of Big Flood When Manhattan Was Under Water a Week.

The rainfall to date for May is 10.09 inches, passes that of 1903, which was 9.60. In 1903 the Blue and Kaw raged rampant and flooded Manhattan clear up to the College. However there is little danger now because of the new channel of the Blue.

The rainfall for Wednesday night was 2.59 inches.

Earlham to Quit Baseball.

The faculty athletic committee of Earlham College is now considering the advisability of abandoning baseball at the Quaker College after the present season is over. Definite action has not been taken by the committee, but it has become known that such a move is being seriously considered.

It is the belief of many of the faculty members and the students that Earlham is too small a college to successfully support winning teams in both branches of spring athletics, and the belief is that if either is to be abandoned it should be baseball instead of track.

MISS KINGAN IS A TOPEKA GIRL.

Will Graduate at Christmas From the Home Economics Division.

Jane Kingan, officially Jane I, is a senior in domestic science and will graduate next Christmas. She was born in 1892 in Emporia and lived there until about eight years ago when she removed to Topeka. Miss Kingan is the daughter of John Kingan of 921 Lan street. She graduated from the Topeka high school in 1912 and entered the next fall in College. Since she entered College she has been content to pull down an average of about four "Es" a term, do Y. W. C. A. committee work, and take an important part in the semi-centennial celebration in 1913.

MISS JANE KINGAN

The Ben Greet Woodland Players girl, and possesses a clear-cut personality. She is a blonde and has masses of golden hair, round eyes of liquid hazel that look you straight in the face, and red full lips. Her face is oval and the nose has a tendency towards the aquiline. Jane Kingan is one of the kindest girls that ever entered College and those who know her personally—she is very quiet—say that she is pure gold.

BEN GREETS HAVE FINE CAST

Remarkable Talent Will be Seen Today at the Auditorium in the Two Classic Plays.

The two plays, "Twelfth Night" and "The Taming of the Shrew" which are to be presented today at the Auditorium have casts made up of prominent Shakesperian stars. The number of stage folk who can play Shakesperian roles are as few in number as the charmed circle of baseball 300 hitters. It is well known that to speak the blank verse of the classic play requires a great deal of training. An ordinary actor will speak the lines with an audible meter to them while the true Shakesperian makes the meter scarcely discernable.

The Ben Greet players are Englishmen and speak the pure English with the broad accent which is rare in the west. The cast for "Twelfth Night" is:

Orsino, Duke of Illyria.....
..... Raymond Bramley
Sebastian, brother to Viola.....
..... Thomas Kelly
Antonio, a sea captain, friend to Sebastian ..... Charles Webster

Illinois to Install Depository on the Campus.

The newest addition to the University of Illinois business district is to be a bank, established primarily for students.

This new bank has been contemplated for some time and arrangements are now being completed. It will open next fall, on September 1, in the north room, now occupied by the Co-Op. The principal stockholders and backers of the new institution are the Cunningham Brothers. Those in charge of the organization state that the bank wil be strong financially and on a par with the best banks of the city. It will have a firm backing and be thoroughly reliable in every respect.

The business of the bank will be conducted according to the usual up-to-date methods, including facilities for checking accounts, savings department and safety deposit boxes. The convenience of the location will render it of considerable service to University students.

Shortridge Produces Champion.

Miss Carol Rice of Indianapolis, has been proclaimed the champion broad jumper of all those who attend girls' preparatory schools in the United States.

As a student at Lasell Academy, near Boston, Miss Rice, in competition with other students, has won the broad jump and tied Miss Mary Woodward in the high jump. Miss Woodward also is a student at the academy. The students there have not entered into any interscholastic competition.

In setting the record in the broad jump Miss Rice cleared eight feet and six inches.

A Correction.

In ranking the fraternities last week a mistake was made which gave the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity last place. The Pi Kappa Alphas were next to last with 79.68, the tailenders being the Acacias with 78.07.

DO YOU KNOW?

What girl, who worked up quite a case during the winter and spring, is stringing her steady along with the same old story, i. e. that the out of town man who has been taking her around for the last few days is a cousin?

That a senior miss who intends to teach next year has spent more than one dollar for postage stamps, for applications, already this term and she is still looking for a position

That we overheard one young gentleman tell his lady friend that the man who has been pounding holes in the west side of the auditorium this week was merely roughing up the stone so the vines could get better foothold on the walls?

That the romance started at the Lambda Farm last winter during the Short Course was not finished after all and the rustic gallant will return for commencement exercises (and other things.)?

Why a popular junior ag who belongs to an outside fraternity, resents any references to 'farewell parties'?

What blond sophomore lass is so interested in the river and the threatening flood that she has already made three trips down to the bridge to look at the situation?

In speaking of a dark haired lad who wears nose glasses, Sim Brocton remarked, "He is the kind of a fellow who thinks he is having a devil of a time when he can dress up in girl's clothes and have some one take a picture of him."

That one young lady sat on a certain porch for an hour during the recent flood, waiting for the right man to come along and offer to carry her across the street?

That the above mentioned miss had to wade home after all her planning?

Alumni Gifts.

Michigan differs from practically every large university in the country in that her alumni, up to the present time, have made comparatively few large gifts to the university. More than likely this is not because of the fact that Michigan's alumni are less affluent than those of other institutions, but rather because such a spirit for giving has never been engendered among them. True, there are prominent exceptions, such as Hill auditorium, the gymnasium, the dormitories, and Ferry field, but there is nothing like the financial responsibility existent among Michigan alumni, tha t marks the graduates of such institutions as Cornell, Princeton, Harvard, and Yale.

Michigan is a state institution, where, perhaps, these others are not. This may account for it in some measure, but we are curious to know why it should make any difference. Endowments for chairs, scholarships, fellowships and buildings of every sort may reasonably be expected from the alumni of any institution. We believe that such a spirit of financial loyalty is growing upon Michigan alumni, as shown by the evident promise of the Michigan Union campaign. The future should see a generous response from alumni all over the country.—Michigan Daily.

Appropriate, Anyway.

"This isn't a very good picture of your baby brother, is it?" said the visitor.

"No, ma'am," replied five-year-old Eloise. "But the he isn't a very good baby."—Indianapolis Star.

AGGIES LOSE TO MISSOURI

HODGSON WORKED HIS HEAD OFF ALLOWING ONLY 4 HITS TO TIGERS; MANHATTANITES GETS 6 CRACKS.

RAIN PREVENTS SECOND GAME

Lowman Crew Broke Their Hearts Trying to Win—A Winning Streak Would Have Put the Aggies at the Head of Missourri Valley.

Working like fiends, Archie Hodgson and his trained troupe of baseballists dropped probably the most important game so far played this season to the score of 2 to 0 at Columbia Tuesday.

Hodgson and Briney allowed but four bingles during the session while the Tiger two, Capp and Wikoff permitted six crashing blows to soar upward.

In the seventh inning the Aggies came near breaking into the run column when Briney hit towards the vicinity of Maryland place. A perfect relay from Woody to Farmer to Wikoff napped him on the home stretch. The Kansas State men made another try in the eighth but Capp stopped it. Frank lead off with a single to right and Capp allowed Hodgson's hit to get by him. With two on and nobody out he fanned the next two men and the third grounded out. The score:

"Twelfth Night," or "What You Will

Is a delightfully humerous comedy. The twelfth night after Christmas was anciently given up to sport and games, hence the name. The fresh, gay feeling of a whistling plowboy in June was the mood of the writer of "Twelfth Night." The scene is a seaport town of Illyria, where a sentimental young duke is fallen in to a love-melancholy over the pitiless Lady Olivia. Now, the fair Viola and her brother Sebastian—strikingly alike in feature, unknown to each other, reach the same city, Sebastian in company with his friend Captain Antonie. Viola enters the services of the duke as a page, in garments such as her brother wore. As Cesario she becomes the duke's messenger to woo Olivia by proxy. Olivia falls desperately in love with the messenger, and when the Aguecheek spies her showing him favors, he is egged on by roguish Sir Toby to write him a challenge. But Cesario is afraid of the very sight of naked steel, and Sir Andrew is an arrant coward. Sir Toby, after frightening each nearly out of his wits with stories of the other's ferocity, at length gets them for form's sake to draw their swords; when in comes Captain Antonio, and mistaking Cesario for Sebastian, takes his part. In the meantime, Olivia has married Sebastian by mistake for Cesario and the two knights both get their heads broken through a similar misunderstanding; for however it may be with Cesario, Sebastian is "a very devil incarnate" with his sword. Presently Sebastian and Cesario meet, and the mystery is solved. Viola avows her sex and marries the duke, whom she ardently loves.

ATHLETIC BALL IS FRIDAY

BEAUTIFUL MUSIC BY KORSMIER'S ORCHESTRA WILL ENLIVEN EVENING; WILL BE CONTINUATION OF MAY FETE.

PROCEEDS GO TO TRACKSTERS

Several Hundred Couples Are Expected to Third Big Dance—Good Music and a Good Floor Awaits the Dancers—Athletic Department Working.

Right after the May Fete the biggest dance of the year will be given by the athletic department, similar to that given by the military department when Major Moses was here. The principal difference is that the athletic ball will be strictly informal.

Two hundred and fifty couples are expected to be present and Korsmier's orchestra, 15 strong, will dispense dreamy waltzes and crashing two-steps for the edification of the terpsichorean couples. This orchestra played for the Junior-Senior and made a reputation for itself by the excellent time and dreaminess of the music.

The athletic ball will be the third big dance to be given this year, the other two being the military hop, and the junior senior. The athletic department is working on the floor and promises that everything will be shipshape.

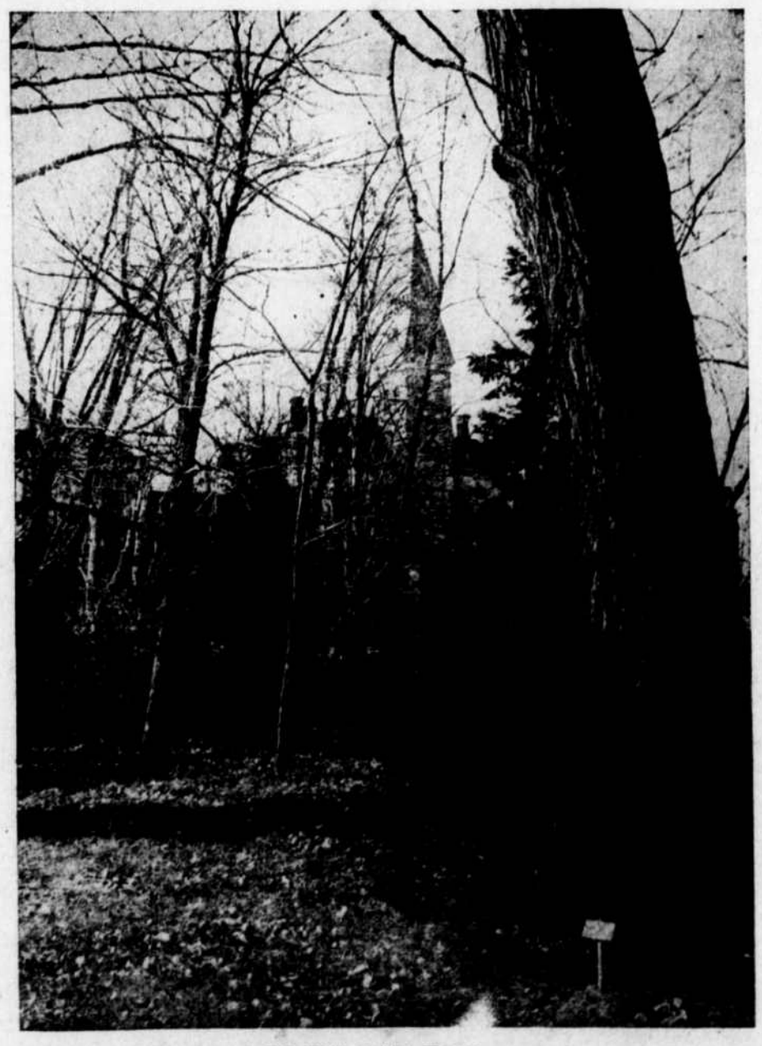

The dance furnishes an excellent opportunity for couples to continue their evening's pleasure after the May Fete in that the two events are so timed that the entertainment will be continuous.

Students who are real supporters of the athletic teams will undoubtedly attend and help pay the expenses of the track team to Missouri. We have a winning track team this year, the little old baseball aggregation isn't so bad, and the men here with red corpusels in their veins will seize the chance to help out a worthy athletic cause.

The chaperons for the evening will be President and Mrs. Waters, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Willard, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Jardine, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Potter, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ahearn, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Hamilton, and Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Lowman.

ON THE MAIN WALK

Y. W. C. A.: The Orient.

No doubt all seniors have asked themselves the question, "What shall I do next year?" There is offered an opportunity to go to India, China, or South America. Many seniors will spend next year teaching in some preparatory school. Why not spend next year in some place where travel will enter in and broaden life? There are schools that need kindergarten teachers, schools which women attend who are taught no methods in which to better their home life. Teachers of English, history, science, music, Bible, and physical training are needed. Places are open for the things you can do best and the people of the Orient are waiting for you to come to them.

There is a special opportunity for medical students as they are much needed and will gain beneficial experience. Besides benefitting themselves they will be doing Christian service to others.

This opportunity is offered to you by the educational institute of American missions. The work extends over one year and at the end of that time you may return or stay as you like. This excellent work should be taken up by many graduating students as it does not compel one to surrender their entire life to foreign missionary work. It is a way to give yourself more intensive study and a more complete preparation for life. The expenses of travel are naturally large but the salary you receive covers this item. Some boards pay a fixed salary and others pay expenses. The candidates live with missionaries or near to them. Before leaving for the Orient health requirements must be passed. The work needs you and you need the work both for your own life and for those looking to you for help. Further and more complete information can be obtained from Lewis B. Whittemore 25 Lawrence Hall, Brattle street, Cambridge, Mass., or Miss A. S. Hageman, 3515 Marwick Boulevard, Kansas City, Mo.

"ARE YOU A MASON."

Charles Frohman presents John Barrymore in "Are You A Mason?" absolutely the funniest five-reel play ever produced. Wareham Theatre, Tuesday night, June 1.

The Blues.

College students, probably more than others, have the peculiar feeling of general despondency which is fittingly termed the "blues." There probably comes times in the lives of all students, no matter how optimistic and aggressive they may appear to be, when they feel that they are absolutely worthless and of no account. They seem to be getting nowhere and undergoing considerable discomfort in getting there.

It is impossible to reason with such states of mind. Such will come and they seem to go when they get ready. A beam of sunshine from behind the clouds, an unexpected word of kindness and good feeling from an unexpected source will sometimes drive the fiend away.

The main cause of such feelings is probably the fact that the student feels that he is still in the balance that he has not found himself and proved his worth. He doubts whether he ever will. He doubts whether he is worth anything. There are types, of course, that are not a prey to such things. Probably it is not entirely to their credit for it may show a lack of sensitivity and imagination.

It is pretty safe to say that every student is good for something after all. At any rate it is a more pleasant philosophy than the alternative.—Drake Delphic.

Dainty Lace-Trimmed Flappers.

Sorority women of the University of Colorado are busy sewing dainty "track trousers," or flappers, as they are generally known. Fifty such garments are in various stages of manufacture for use by the athletes in the coming intercollegiate meet. Some of them could not forbear putting lace, bright ribbons and what not on them.

AFTER "SOUR OWL" EDITORS.

Students Connected With K. U. Scandal Paper Will Be Punished.

The recent publication of a scandal paper called the Sour Owl may result in the expulsion of students connected with it, although the fact that the university printing office printed it may cause the penalty to be lighter than it otherwise would. A disciplinary committee of the faculty has the case under consideration and probably will report early in the week.

The Sour Owl is a paper printed twice a year by a junior class secret society. The publication spreads gossip of questionable character about the men and women students of the university.

Articles are written in a satirical vein and attempts at humor are frequent. In the last issue, which appeared a week ago, several articles cast reflections on the character of co-eds, several of whose names were mentioned.

The publication is edited by a small group of men who do not represent the student body of the university. Few students have any sympathy with the publication as at present conducted and numerous protests have been made concerning it.

The Daily Kansan, the student newspaper published at the university, has protested against the Sour Owl, saying that it is an ungentlemanly and cowardly attack upon women of the university and misrepresents the students as a whole. The committee which has the case under consideration is composed of Prof. Carl Becker, chairman; Prof. J. W. Van de Vries and Prof. George Putnam. It is expected they will be severe in their action.—K. C. Star.

Dante Born 650 Years Ago.

Next year a goodly portion of the world will observe the tercentenary of Shakespeare's death; another portion, for a similar reason, will honor the memory of Cervantes; this month the 650th anniversary of the birth of Dante will be celebrated. Of the great national poets of modern times the Italian has the precedence in point of age; as regards influence, that critic would be bold indeed who would attempt to gauge the impress left upon the literatures of the world by the author of the greatest religious epic conceived by a Christian poet. Upon English letters Dante's influence has been appreciably exerted for centuries. It was not, however, until the recent era of D. G. Rossetti and the poets and painters associated with him that the art of the Florentine received full recognition in English literature. Since that time, now more than half a century ago, the study of Dante has increased with us. It is safe to say, indeed, that to the average student of literature in this country and England neither "The Iliad" nor "The Aeneid" is today more familiar than the "Divina Commedia"—and this marks a broadening in national scholarship quite inconceivable to the England and America of Johnson's day. Italy will doubtless observe the Dante centenary with the pomp and circumstance befitting so notable an occasion. The tributes paid to her idolized national poet will be followed with sympathetic appreciation in this country. Here, it is worth recording we have, in celebration of the event, perhaps the most suitable tribute that a foreign nation can offer—a new translation of the "Divina Commedia" that in several respects appears to be more adequate reflection of the spirit and letter of the original than any of the existing versions in English.—N. Y. Times.

Finances at Chicago.

Less than one-third of the expenses of the University of Chicago are met by tuition and other fees collected from the students, according to the President's report. THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN.

VOLUME 21. NUMBER 67. KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 2, 1915. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

OMICRON NU IS 2ND NAT'L

GAMMA PI GAMMA, LOCAL GRADE GETTERS, GET THE HONOR OF HAVING FIRST WOMEN'S HONORARY NATIONAL.

IS HONORARY DOMESTIC ART

Gamma Pi Gamma Was Organized 18 Months ago—Have Received the Highest Grades of Any Organization on the Hill.

Gamma Pi Gamma, the local honorary home economics sorority was installed Monday evening as the Theta chapter of Omicron Nu. Miss Agnes L. Hunt of the home economics division of the Michigan Agricultural College at East Lansing was the installing officer.

The Gamma Pi Gamma sorority was organized less than eighteen months ago by a group of nineteen senior girls. Since its organization it has ranked first in scholarship, above all other college organizations, both honorary and social. A marked improvement in the standard of scholarship, interest and good fellowship among the girls of this devision has been the result of its work.

Following the installation ceremonies a two course luncheon was served at Harrison's. Toasts were given by Miss Hunt, Mrs. Van Zile, Miss Louise Walbridge and Miss Valeda Downing. Miss Edna Barber acted as toast-mistress.

The active members of the Theta chapter are: Louise Walbridge, Rembert Harshbarger, Pauline Parkhurst, Edna St. John, Clara Willis, Jennie Shoup, Edna Barber, Berenice Wilson, Dorothy Blazer, Verma Treadway, Grace Barker, Marion Fowler, Esther Hammerli, Esther Nelson, Valeda Downing, Juanita Davis, Myrtle Blythe, Bertha Baker, Minnie Gugenhan, Jaunita Reynolds, Mildred Branson, Amy Briggs, Louise Price, Florence Smith, and Josephine Allis. Honorary and alumni members are Mrs. Mary Pierce Van Zile, dean of women, Miss Margaret Haggart, professor of domestic science, Miss Mary Faye Elliott of Leon, Mrs. Helen McClanahan Keith of Manhattan, Miss Eda Showalter of Halstead and Miss Izil Polson of Fredonia.

CADETS HIKED TO CEMETERY.

The Ceremony Went Off as in Past Years Last Monday.

Monday morning the twanging alarms of many rookies sent them marching up on the hill, the only saudents who had class work Monday. The regiment passed down Bluemont and Juliette joining the veterans and other organizations at the court house. After the death march the cadets went west on Poyntz to the cemetery, where taps were blown and three volleys fired by Company "B."

Many comparisons were drawn by the rookies of other days as to how the student militia was getting off easier than in the past, when the sweating militariasts toiled up the hill knee deep in the dust wearing the cadet gray in its blanket thickness. Cases of fainting were common; in 1908 the entire color squad falling by the wayside.

To date not a single case of fainting has been reported. The cool weather and new khaki suits account for it. The khaki suits presented a sharp contrast to the slouchy baggy heavy old eyesore that passed under the name of cadet regulation uniform.

BEN GREETS WERE LIKED.

Shakespeare is a Popular Playwright in Aggietown.

If William Shakespeare could write any new plays he would be assured of their success in Manhattan. Two of his well known productions, "Twelfth Night" and "The Taming of the Shrew" were given Saturday by the Ben Greets and won praise from a good crowd. The rain drove the players inside so the committee gathered bushes and branches and contrived to make the stage appear as woody as possible. The players were equally good although the star's, Elsie Hearndon Kearns, voice and role were features. Miss Kearns was stronger as Viola in "Twelfth Night" than as Kathrina in "The Taming of the Shrew." This is the third, though not the last appearance of the Ben Greets.

Send the Collegian home.

376,000 OF MILITARY AGE.

Kansas Also Has 11,000 Who Have Been Trained.

If the United States goes to war, says the Topeka Capital, there will be 375,000 men of military age from Kansas who could fight. Could, mind you, not would, for any such army would totally depopulate the state of men. There could be scraped up about 625 officers for these men if 100 of the local rookies were given commissions along with the graduates of the other military schools. There are 11,000 men in the state who have received military training. In case the U. S. ever has to issue a call for volunteers, say 400,000, the Kansas quota has been figured at 7,355.

GRADES LIMIT DOWRY.

Size of Marriage Sum in India Depends on Student's Ability.

The place of the student in India in social life is markedly dependent upon the stamp which his examinations leave upon him. For example, a graduate of the preparatory or secondary school who upon graduation holds a good certificate can command from his prospective wife's father a larger dowry than would be forthcoming for the uncertificated youth. So definite is this matter, economically speaking, that in a certain part of India the teachers give the information that a regular scale of dowries is in vogue. Five hundred rupees is exacted from the prospective father for a secondary school certificated husband, 1,000 rupees for a first-class A. B., with 1,000 to 2,000 rupees demanded by the youth who has an academic A. M.

INSTALL DELTA DELTA DELTA.

Second Social National Sorority Will Come This Week.

Plans are completed for the installation of a chapter of Delta Delta Delta woman's sorority at K. S. A. C.

The ceremonies and social festivities will begin on Friday, June 14 and will continue until the following Monday night when the girls of the local group known as the Eta Beta Pi sorority will give a dance complimentary to the installing officers and visiting Tri Deltas.

Delta Delta Delta was founded on Thanksgiving eve, 1888 at Boston University. Ever since its founding its growth has been steady until now it is the largest of the 18 college woman's sororities and is the most truly national, since it has 54 college chapters and over 60 alumni chapters in 34 states. The national organization is very strong, all phases of fraternity life being studied by special boards. The governing council is composed of nine members who direct the work of the fraternity between national conventions which are held once in three years. A special Delta train goes from Chicago to California in July carrying about 300 women to one of these conventions at Asilomar, California. Between conventions a conference is held in each of the three large provinces and numerous state meets and week end house parties are encouraged in order that the neighboring chapters may become well acquainted. Tri Delta has an unusually well developed publication department and aside from the Trident the official public quarterly, it publishes for the benefit of its members only a quarterly, an annual and a monthly bulletin, also a private weekly bulletin for the chapters. The scholarship of the collegiate members is well supervised by a special board, as are all other phases of college life. Tri Delt confines its activities entirely to college and fraternity affairs believing its mission to be to develop in its members greater efficiency in college life and afterwards to help solve the numerous problems attendant upon college life in general.

The girls comprising the local group are: Crystal Kelley, Yates Center; Mary Inez Man, Wichita; Dorothy Blazer, Wichita; Esther Zenninger, Wichita; Carrie Belle Gardner, Newton; D'Elsie Bryan, Wichita; Nellie Flinn, Burlingame; Grace Lyons, Manhattan; Ruth Hoffman, Newton; Hildegrade Harlan, Manhattan; Bess Pyle, Kansas City, Mo.; Mary Gurnea, Belleville; Laura Becker, Logan; Florence Waynick, Wellington; Mildred Smith, Burlingame; Mary Brackett, Jewell; Gladys Hoffman, Newton; Verma Treadway, Newton; Pauline Richards, Delphos; Alice Neiman, Whitewater; Dorothy Norris, Kansas City, Mo.; Donna Crane, Larned; Ruth Crane, Larned; Claudine Rathman, Wichita; Helen Calkins, Burlingame; Mina Jones (pledge), Dodge City

The average mean maximum temperature for 57 years at this station being 79.23. The mean minimum temperature for the month was 51.4, the average for the past 57 years being 59.6. The average temperature for May was 62.5 and the average for the past 57 years was 69.4. The highest temperature recorded was 95 on May 14, and the lowest was 35 on May 17. There were 17 clear, 11 cloudy and three partly cloudy days.

Light frosts are recorded on May 5 and 17, but no damage was done. The last killing frost of this year was on April 3, which, with the exception of March 31, 1863, is a record for an early date of the last killing frost, at this station. This is one of the few years in which no killing frost is recorded for the month of May.

WILL HAVE 15-PIECE ORCHESTRA.

Athletic Ball Promises to Be a Big Event.

The athletic ball given Friday evening promises to be a big event, judging by the number of tickets sold and the way the department is working. The floor will be in good shape and Korsmier's 15 piece orchestra has been getting together on some of the latest catchiest music out.

The athletes, new and old "K" winners are talking of wearing their new letters so that the crowd can get a social glimpse of who's who on the track team.

WILL ENTERTAIN FARMERS

College Will Hold Field Day on Agronomy Farm Today—Will Show Farmers Experiments.

Tomorrow will be known as field day on the agronomy farm of the college, at which time the college will entertain the farmers of Riley and adjoining counties in a one-day's meeting.

Picnic parties will meet on the farm in the morning and will have their basket lunch at noon. Following the picnic lunch there will be addresses by a number of the college professors. After the talks guides will show the farmers over the farm, giving them an opportunity to see the experiments with varieties of wheat and oats, a comparison of the different methods of seed-bed preparation, and some of the plots demonstrating rotation work.

L. E. Call, professor of agronomy, Cecil Salmon, professor of crops, and Ralph Kenney, assistant in farm crops, besides other members of the agricultural division staff and the extension division, will explain the work.

"LAB" TEST SHOCKS STUDENT.

Typhoid Germs In Well at Home Disclosed on Examination.

When one Washburn student who lives outside the city limits took a sample of the water from the well at his home to test in the bacteriological laboratory at the college, he had no idea that he would receive a shock.

He filled ten test tubes with water and submitted each to a test for baccilus coli, indicating the presence of the typhoid fever germ. In every tube he found the contaminating germs. The water was dangerously infected. The student did not drink any water that night when he went home.

The next day, at the suggestion of his instructor, he invested in a quantity of chloride of lime. The tank in which the water from the well is stored to supply the house was thoroughly cleaned and refilled. The student then poured in a quantity of the lime solution. Tests made of the mixture showed no germ life whatever. Now every gallon of water pumped into the storage tank is sterilized with chloride of lime before it is used.

FINDS FIFTY POSITIONS.

University of Chicago Employment Bureau Gets Places for Students.

The University of Chicago secured $210,057.68 worth of work for students during the last year. The report of the president has just been issued, giving data in every department of the University. The report also gives the number of students, in the different quarters, and the list of endowments. Only $20,000 was secured from John D. Rockefeller during the last year.

The employment bureau got jobs of of almost fifty different kinds for students who wanted to work. They gave $1,943 worth of work to students, who posed for artists and worked as models in fashion exhibitions. They paid out a little over a thousand dollars for referees, helpers, etc., for athletic meets. Waiters and salesmen were the occupations which paid most heavily. Student salesmen made $15,000, and student tutors made $13,000.

Total attendance at Chicago was 7,301 for the last year, and 5,590 of these people were students in literature and arts. Another statement in the report was that the grounds of the University of Chicago are worth $4,593,140.41, and comprise ninety acres.

SCHOOL FIGHTS DAN CUPID.

Kansas College Also Regulates Dress of Girls.

The Kansas Holiness college, situated in Hutchinson, with 177 students enrolled, has declared war on Dan Cupid and severed diplomatic relations with Dome Fashion.

It is rule 21 of the new code of discipline of this college that does the business. Here it is, as announced this week by the college faculty:

"Young people who think more of love making than of God are not wanted and need not apply in this school. Girls are not allowed to wear dresses with short sleeves or low necks, or those made of thin material exposing the body. This rule will be kindly but firmly enforced."

There are 177 students enrolled in the college at present as shown by the register, and over 100 of them are young women. There was consternation among the girls when new rule 21 was promulgated.

Some of the girls vowed and declared they'd never put up with it, but the majority approved it, after sober reflection, and agreed that it was a reasonable restriction after all.

The young men students showed a noticeable lack of enthusiasm over the rule. It was whispered about that they were ready to join the girls in a "strike" against it. But nothing of that kind occurred.

This was graduating week at the college. The class of 1915 was graduated this week. The girls all wore gowns fastening tight about the neck, and with full sleeves. There were fully dressed for the occasion.

There'll be none of this "peeka-a-boo," "x-ray," decolette business among the girls of the Hutchinson college.

Rule 21 is not the only one that has been causing comment. Other restrictions imposed in the new code of rules follow:

"Rule 1. Whatsoever ye would that others do unto you, do ye even so to them."

"Rule 5. Students should discourage friends calling upon them only as absolutely necessary, and then not receive them in their rooms, but in the reception hall."

"Rule 7. Lunching between mealts is not allowed, but fruit may be eaten in moderation."

"Rule 18. Each student is to take an half-hour walk daily or some other regular appointed form of exercise."

"Rule 20. Students are not allowed to contract debts at the stores, or borrow or lend clothing."

The catalogue issued by the college giving the code of rules, announces: "We desire the best boys and girls. Young people who think more of love-making than of God need not apply. Clothing should be serviceable, healthful, neatly and plainly made. Do not go to extra expense in making fine clothes to come to this school. Worldly dress is not allowed."

SHRINK FROM COLD STEEL.

Fearless Before Shells and Bullets, But Don't Stand English Bayonets.

Before the cold-blooded plunge of the British bayonet the gameness of the German breaks and he runs. He can stand and meet death fearlessly if it comes from an unseen bullet or a bursting cannon shell. But when the cold steel at the end of an English Tommy's rifle threatens inexorably to pierce his body his courage crumbles.

In the trench fighting along the front of La Basses the bayonet figured strongly in the victory credited to British arms, but it was in the surprise attack on the lines from Festubert to Richebourg that it proved the decisive element that gained for the allies long lines of trenches and cost the Germans thousands of men dead and prisoners.

IRIS RUSSEL WILL PITCH.

Manhattan Boosters Will Play Kansas City Team Sunday.

When the Manhattan Boosters play the Kansas City Bloomers Sunday at the local park, there will be the unique feature of a former Aggie girl, Iris Russel, pitching in a sure 'nuff ball game.

Some weeks ago Miss Russel received a writeup in the Star as being a feminine Casey at the Bat, when she signed a regular contract. Sunday Miss Russel will simply be filling that contract when she pitches against the local team.

It is expected that all the Aggie fans will warm the bleachers for a chance to see some of the talent Coach Lowman overlooked.

MISSOURI COPPED BIG MEET

AN OVERDOSE OF SIMPSON, MISSOURI'S SHINING LIGHT, PERMITTED TIGERS TO ALMOST DOUBLE THE SCORE.

AGGIES TOOK FOURTH PLACE

Thereby Nosing Out Kansas—Weaver, Frizzell, Smith, Marble, Wilder and Teeter Drew Blood in the Big Meet Two Conference Records Smashed.

The Kansas Aggies fared well in the eighth annual track and field championship meet of the Missouri Valley Conference held at Columbia, Mo., last Saturday afternoon drawing fourth place in the final standing with a total of 23 points. Missouri won the meet with 52 1-2 tallies and Ames ranked second with 26 1-2, three and one-half more than the locals counted. Drake nosed the Kansas Aggies out for third place with 24 points. William Omar Hamilton's Jayhawkers trailed along in fifth place with 21 points.

While there was some comment on Holyoyd's failure to place in either the century or the double furlong sprints yet in it there was a heap of satisfaction to the Aggies who witnessed his running. In the 100-yards event he was outclassed in the semi-finals and in the 50-second quarter reeled off by the Tiger shark, Neidorp, Holroyd ran in fifth place and beat the touted Rodkey of Kansas out for the position by more than 10 yards. In the relay Missouri and Ames fought for the pole a short distance from the marks on the first lap of the journey and Referee Grover disqualified the teams, awarding first to Kansas and second to the Aggies who would have drawn fourth had the race been final as the runners finished. Drake came in fifth and was awarded two points and third place.

"Duroc" Frizzell was the best point earner for the Aggies and started nabbing the tinware in the 120-yard hurdle race when with five in the finals, Packard of Ames running close on the wonderful Simpson's heels, fell across a hurdle and out of the race and the auburn-haired Aggie leaper scampered across the finish line in fourth place. Simpson's time was 15 flat and ties the world's record for the event. The Tiger star also copped the low hurdles in record breaking time and won first in the broad jump for a third first and individual honors for the meeting.

Frizzell went from the hurdles to the the high jump and won in handy fashion at 5 feet 9 inches. He attempted loftier heights but the take-off was laid out on the turf and the mire proved too great a handicap. Weaver gauged his sprint 200 yards too late in the mile run and Barker of Ames running with wonderful stride drew first place in 4:33 1-5.

Marble ranked third in the shot putting contest with a mark of 39 feet 10 inches and Smith hurled the Grecian platter 121 feet 3 inches for second behind Warren of Missouri who threw 125 feet 6 inches. Wilder copped a fourth in the broad jump with a leap of 20 feet 9 inches. The summary:

One-mile run—Baker, Ames, first; Weaver, Kansas Agricultural, second; Sproul, Kansas, third; Thomas, Drake, fourth. Time, 4:33 1-5.

100-yard dash: Davis, Fairmount, first; Zumwinkle, Nebraska, second; Dickinson, Ames, third; Shearer, Drake, fourth. Time, 10 3-5 seconds.

Discus throw: Warren, Missouri, first; Smith, Kansas Agricultural, second; Drumm, Missouri, third; Warnock, Drake, fourth. Distance, 125 feet 6 inches.

120-yard hurdles: Simpson, Missouri, first; Noble, Ames, second; Teas, Missouri, third; Frizzell, Kansas, fourth. Time, 15 seconds, tying world's record.

440-yard dash: Neidorp, Missouri, first; Mellor, Ames, second; Wyatt, Missouri, third; Evans, Ames, fourth. Time, 50 seconds.

Shot put: Reber, Kansas, first, Krull, Drake, second; Marble, Kansas fourth. Distance, 40 feet 7 3-4 inches.

Pole vault: Reavis, Nebraska, first; Floyd, Missouri, and Wilkins, Ames, tied for second; Campbell, Kansas, fourth. Height, 11 feet 10 1-2 inches.

Half-mile run: Watson, Drake, first; Smith, Drake, second; Murphy, Missouri, third; Scroggie, Ames, fourth. Time, 2:01 1-5.

220-yard hurdles: Simpson, Mis-

Degrees Cost High.

Bachelor degrees have cost the sum of $1,079,111 to the class of 1915 at Yale. In the freshman year the most extravagant student managed to spend $4,500, while the poorest student, with equally good management, turned in another direction, managed to get through on $200. The average cost per student in the sophomore year was $1,076.

Assumed quite an indignant peaux
And cried: "What's this!

And it hapuened right under my neaux.

POSTPONE ST. MARYS GAME.

Flooded Field Caused Date to be Set for June 4.

On account of the continued activities of J. Pluvius, Guy S. Lowman, director of athletics, was forced to again postpone the final contest of the season with St. Marys until Friday afternoon, June 4. For the first time in the history of the present athletic field water completely covered the field during last Wednesday's deluge. Professor Lowman thinks it will be in fit shape for a torrid tussle with the St. Marys organization Friday and is anxious that the Aggies take the second game.

Last week's invasion was disastrious to the financial end of the athletic department. The games at St. Louis had to be called off and the rain guarantee hardly paid the carfare. The same occurred at Columbia in Wednesday's battle when a generous downpour mired the diamond and cheated the Aggies out of the full cash stipulation.

IT DOESN'T LOOK THIS WAY NOW.

GET PRIZES FOR DRILL.

Military "O" Awarded to 16 Captains at Banquet at Columbus.

Competing with 300 of their comrades, two freshmen and three second-year men took the honors in the individual prize drill on Ohio Field Saturday afternoon. Sixteen officers who have completed a year's drill as captain were awarded the military "O" at the annual banquet of that association at the Columbus Hotel Saturday night. Sixty-five officers attended the banquet, making it the largest in the history of the organization. Fourteen officers of former years were present.—Ohio Lantern.

The Crooney Melody.

(Revised after the inspection.)

Left, right, left—right, left, right.
Listen, listen, listen, to that all-fired tread;
Gee, I wish the captain'd stop. I'm just about dead;
Left, right, left—right. left, right,
It gets me, upsets me,
That military sound follows me around;
My poor self is almost ready to drop, almost ready to drop.
Every step I take I hear it again,
Darn that captain.
Never stop till we drop,
Just because me ani you
Are on review, with a thousand others, too;
Darn that old review.

—Ohio Lantern.

The Language of War.

Language, like most everything else, is unable to escape from being conditioned and modified by war. Half our best metaphors are taken from war as it used to be, and we read of nations "taking the sword," though that is just what they never do, when "moving the howitzer" would be vastly more appropriate. Modern artillery has forced us to make a verb out of a noun and to permit our gunners to "shell" a place in defiance of all conceivable rules of grammar. We have forced "offensive" and "objective" to do duty as nouns in spite of the fact that they are plain and indubitable adjectives, and we freely "bombard" though it would be quite as reasonable for a pillow fighter to say he "pillowed."

Perhaps the most curious thing in this connection is the way in which we have been driven back upon the old verb "flee." Before the era of the Zeppelin and the areoplane we should certainly have said "the eGrman fleet 'flies' before the British;" now we say it "flees," because "flying" seems to connote motion above the surface of the earth. There are a hundred subtle differences of this sort to which war has impelled us, and from which the most pedantic purist is totally unable to escape.

From a College Student's Diary.

Monday—Broke.

Tuesday—Broker.

Wednesday—Brokest. This can't keep up.

Thursday—It is keeping up.

Friday—Forced to pull the old gag and write to dad for more money "to buy text books."

Saturday—Hope dad comes across in good shape.

Tuesday—No hope. Letter from dad says: "Have decided to buy school book publishing house and send you books direct as I figure that it will be cheaper."

The Last Drill.

(Regards to Kipling and Daniel Deever.)

"Why do the fellows yell so loud?" said the Visitor from Gade,
"Because we're through, because we're through," the Second Sergeant said;
"Why do the sophs tear up their gloves?" said Visitor from Glade,
"Because they'll need them never more," the Second Sergeant said.
The freshmen all are happy 'cause their year's work now is done,
The smiles of all the "rookies" shine out through the setting sun;
The prizes are awarded—you can hear the band now play,
The regiment had done its work, and now it's through today.

IF YOU GO CAMPING.

Here is the List of Provisions to Take Along.

Eighteen days separates the student from a vacation which will be spent in the harvest fields or playing for three months. Many Aggies will hie themselves on a camping trip for a couple of weeks. For their benefit here is a list of camping supplies as printed in the Kansas City Star. The list is for ten people.

Eggs—Fill a 5-gallon pail with eggs packed in bran.

Bacon—Two large slabs.

Coffee—Five pounds, ground.

Sugar—One dollar's worth, packed in tin or a strong sack.

Condensed Milk—One case.

Oatmeal—Six packages.

Butter—Seven pounds.

Salt—Ten cents' worth, carried in wood or glass to be kept dry.

Pepper—One small can.

Bread—Eight or ten loaves. Bake more on road.

Crackers—Ten pounds.

Cheese—Three pounds.

Potatoes—Half a sack.

Lard—Three pounds.

Flour—Fifty pounds.

Baking Powder—Two and one-half pounds.

Rice—Five pounds, carried in a strong sack.

Boneless Chicken—Ten cans.

Boneless Turkey—Ten cans.

Lunch Tongue—Eight cans.

Chipped Beef—Eight cans.

Sardines—Ten cans.

Salmon—Eight cans.

Erbswurst—Four pounds. This is soup preparation used in the German army and it comes in long, sausage shaped rolls.)

Cocoa—Two cans.

Tea—One pound.

Sirup—One gallon.

Strained Honey—One gollon.

Fresh fruit.

Dried raisins, dates and figs are good, the latter being especially nice stewed. Most of the dried fruits are easily cooked and are much less bulky and expensive than canned fruit, and can be made to serve a double purpose. For instance, take a pound of the died fruit and plenty of sugar and water, stew it until the fruit is tender, take that out, put in more sugar, boil it until it is sirupy and put it aside to cool. You then have jelly that is better than anything you can take with you. A pound of fruit and a pound of sugar will give plenty of sauce for supper and a bowl of jelly.

The dried vegetables are good if you have time to soak them and the same is true of beans and dried split peas. If you must have candy, take an extra can of chocolate and make fudge.

Have ten forks, knives and spoons, cups, plates and small bowls; also two larger plates and one vegetable dish. Take two large spoons, a long tined cooking fork and a sharp butcher's knife, one large oatmeal kettle and cover, which can be used for cooking and dishwashing. Carry two frying pans, one smaller than the other; a medium dishpan to mix bread in and to be used for nothing else. Have plenty of old clothes that may be used as dish cloths and towels.

Take three cakes of soap, matches, a small hatchet and a few nails, and a square of canvass to cover things if it rains.

Last, but most important, maintain a good temper and will power enough to take everything that comes without worry or regrets.

Corpulent Individual—But you can't give me any reason why I should not enlist.

Spouse—Well, I should miss you, dear, but the German wouldn't.—London Mail.

PUFFS 60 CIGARS A DAY.

U. of C. Student Experimenting; Apples and Coffee Offset Nicotine.

Henry R. Kraybill, a graduate student in the botany department of the University of Chicago, consumes on an average sixty cigars daily—the equivalent of one cigar five feet in length.

Kraybill is not a tobacco fiend, either. He is experimenting on tobacco, its fire holding qualities, aroma and flavor. The "smokes" are of the stogie variety. He is trying to determine what it is in the cigar of this grade that causes it to go out when a Havana will burn much longer.

He has found that the muriates in potash of the commercial fertilizer are harmful to the quality of the tobacco and that fertilizer made of carbonates of potash is beneficial and causes fire to be held much longer. Some of the cigars are treated with salt solutions; then they are lighted and timed to see how long they will burn. By this experiment he has found out that sulphates are the most practical incentive to the burning of cigars.

Kraybill has to eat part of an apple after each smoke in order to keep his taste in condition to distinguish flavors. The acid of the apple also serves as an anaidote to the nicotine. Much black coffee taken at regular intervals keeps the poison from working serious injury to the experimenter.

Start Next Fall's Work.

Plans have been made by the Y. W. C. A. whereby every new girl student registering next fall will be provided with a "Big Sister." When a prospective student sends in her high school credits, her name will be given to the Big Sister Committee. This committee will assign the newcomer to a Big Sister. It is the duty of this Big Sister to write the prospect a personal letter and if definite plans have been made to come to Manhattan, the Big Sister will keep in touch with the prospect and do everything possible in the way of getting her a room, meeting her at the train, and seeing that she gets a start in the right direction in college life.

The captains of the Big Sisters are Amy Lamberson, Vivian Herron, Sarah Patton, Amy Briggs, Lois Wemer, Stella Gould, Nina May Powel, Vilona Cutler, Charlotte Hall, Pearl Schowalter, Lina Tullos, Hannah Campbell, and Lillian Lathrop. Each captain is in charge of a committee of twelve girls.

Will Buy Scenery.

The aspiring theatrical students have been rescued by the Dramatic club. The first real stage scenery to be owned by the institution is going to be purchased by the Dramatic club and will be rented for a small price to the other student organizations until the cost is earned. All the scenery owned by the College is of the curtain type and consists of a parlor scene and a reception room scene. This will be supplimented with a "real sure enough" set of block scenery.

MISS KINGAN IS CROWNED

IS THE FIFTH MAY QUEEN

Six Maids and Twelve Men Attend Princess Jane at Coronation—Claudine Rathman Is Maid of Honor—Path Strewn With Confetti.

Queen Jane I—ruler supreme of the campus for a day!

Jane Kingan was crowned Queen of the May by Dean Van Zile Friday at the close of the May Day ceremonies which took place on the campus east of the auditorium.

At 5:30 o'clock the ceremonies started.

The Fats and Leans ball game off with the field dotted with shaky old professors. As the clean-up hitter persisted in drinking pop when up for a critical swat, the score isn't worth mentioning.

There were several booths operated by various organizations. Surrounding the field was a wire which took the place of the stern looking rookies of last year who carried guns.

The Queen's procession wound down round the campus following the confetti path marked out for them. The orchestra took the lead followed by some 300 girls, fairies, nymphs, dancers, etc. At the rear of the procession came the May Queen, attended by six girls, and with her train supported by two little boys. The Queen wore white.

The maid of honor for the royal party was Claudine Rathman. The attendants of the Queen were Ruth Hill, Amy Gould, Martha Tunstall, Margaret Fuller and Helen Crane. The twelve men who formed the guard of honor were, Lorenzo Mann, O. B. Burtis, George Ferrier, Cruger Miller, Ralph Shelly, Frank Freeto, Walter F. Smith, Harlan Sumner, M. T. Garvey, Price Wheeler, W. A. Hagan, and Tom Toothaker.

Miss Claudine Rathman sang in response to the song of the 300 dancers. At various times the May poles were wound to the strains of the orchestra.

Following the ceremonies a band concert was given in the auditorium for the spectators.

SIGMA DELTA CHI ELECTS.

Officers for Following Year Chosen on Thursday.

At the regular meeting of Sigma Delta Chi Wednesday the following officers were elected: president, E. H. Smith; vice-president, Ralph H. Heppe; treasurer, Tom Blackburn; secretary, D. P. Ricord; messenger, V. E. Bundy. Prof. N. A. Crawford of the journalism department and Prof. J. W. Searson will be the advisors of the journalistic fraternity for the following year.

Will Have Memorial.

The senior class decided in meeting to give up the custom of erecting a class memorial and to concentrate its energies on building up a strong alumni association. There will be a banquet Saturday, June 12 which will be for the purpose of better acquainting the alumni with newcomers.

Miss Alice Hulick gave a dinner party at the College Inn Wednesday evening and later a line party at the Wareham complimentary to her guest Miss Teresa Blatchley of Newton. The guests were Misses Claudine Rathmann, Esther Zeiniger, Ruth Hutchings, Evelyn Humphries, Gertrude McQuaid, and Margaret Wodard.

The largest tree in this part of the state is to be found on the north bank of the Kansas river a few hundred yards east of Manhattan. The tree which is a cottonwood measures nearly thirty feet in circumference.

Miss Laura Haney who has been visiting with Miss Jeanette Counter left for her home at Courtland Monday afternoon. Miss Haney will enter as a student in the home economics department next fall.

N. A. Crawford made a business trip to Lawrence on Friday.

Send the Collegian home.

OFFER $300 SCHOLARSHIP.

Will Be Given to Students in General Science.

Applications will be received until June 15 for the $300 scholarship offered by L. M. Crawford of Topekt in the Kansas State Agricultural College. The scholarship is offered in general science and it is the wish of Mr. Crawford that a young woman be awarded the first scholarship and that she take her electives largely in home economics.

The committee which will award the scholarship is composed of the president of the college, the deans of agriculture, general science, and home economics and a member of the faculty appointed by the president. Applicants for the scholarship should be made to J. T. Willard, dean of general science, and should include the following data:

The full name and address, the place and date of birth, high school or college training, including subjects studied and honors won, statement of financial condition and family circumstances, and the aim which the student expects to realize through a college education. The application should be accompanied by letters from persons who are acquainted with the applicant and should give information concerning scholarship, moral character, and reputation, with special reference with the applicants capacity for leadership.

SENIORS TO BANQUET THURSDAY

First Classmen Will Have a Feed and Good Time Next Week.

The senior class has decided to give a banquet to its members next Thursday evening, June 10, instead of June 12. The banquet will be followed by a dance. A notice was phoned into the Collegian office Friday night at which time the committee had not decided upon where the banquet would be held nor the time at which the dance would start.

QUILL WILL INITIATE.

Three Neophytes Will Undergo Tortures on Monday Night.

Quill will hold initiation for three neophytes who passed the acid test on Monday night. It is expected that the three unhappy victims will visit the nether regions as the Quill members, being imaginative soulful writers, have a very elaborate ritual. The four initiates are Ruth Bennett, L. C. Hiatt, Marion Quinlin and Mrs. Ethel Strother. The four were selected from fifteen applicants.

Short Course Closes.

The miller's short course class closed Friday. In the class of fifteen members seven states were represented: Missouri, Wisconsin, Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma, Nebraska, and Kansas. Three members entered last week. They are Fred Beyner of Guthrie, Oklahoma, A. K. Whittaker of Springfield, Mo., and Wenzel of Lyndon.

Are Tampering With Mail.

The post office department asks that the students always turn the combinations on their mail boxes after opening them. Recently some student has been amusing himself by seeing how many of the boxes he could open, and some complaint has been made about mail being opened.

Harper County Club Hikes.

The Harper County club hiked to Rocky Ford Monday on a fishing trip. About fifteen members were present.

GET Y. M.-Y. W. COPY IN AT ONCE.

All Student Organizations Must Turn in Their Write-Ups.

The Y. M.-Y. W. Hand Book Staff announces that the "dummy" for next year's hand book can be edited and assembled as soon as the various organizations turn over their write-up to the editors. Practically all the advertising has been secured.

Since the student staff having charge of the work must get it done by the end of the school year all organizations should get their copy in at once. Unless this is done the staff will assume that the write-up used in last year's Hand Book is satisfactory and will be used.

Writeups should be as brief as possible but should include a statement regarding the origin, nature, purpose, and qualifications for membership. As soon as finished they should be mailed to P. D. Buchanan, editor.

The hand book staff is appointed every year by the New Student Committee of the local Y. M. C. A. and serves without pay. The Y. M. has published a hand book annually for at least twenty years. The staff is composed of Editor, P. D. Buchanan; associate editor, A. J. Manglesdorf; business manager, W. L. Willhoite; assistant business managers, R. Osborn, F. B. Kelly, J. Kiene.

At present it is doubtful as to whether the College Field will be dry enough for the Alumni game commencement day. Commencement at St. Marys came last Friday, but the team planned on staying over.

American Slang Popular.

American slang and Yankeeisms are rapidly being incorporated into the speech of the people of England, owing to the vogue of American variety actors, ragtime songs and American books and plays. So one hears born and bred cockneys, who have never taken a four days' trip from London, says the Globe, tell a person that he will "fix him up" with as much conviction as a Connecticut Yankee—for the expression is a true Yankeeism and has never been current in the southern states. Educated Englishmen and women not only get off Americanisms unconsciously but seriously.

Newspaperdom has borrowed largely of its slang from the states in "story," "write up," "thrown down," "cub," "live paper" and the like.

American business men have popularized in England such phrases as "made good" and "back to the woods," and "quick lunch" restaurants have sprung up. Even on the underground railways the conductors say "step lively" instead of the old "please 'urry up."

Other bits of current slang attributable to American influence, ragtime and other wise, are: "The glad eye," "I don't think," "Some peach," 'make a date," "freeze on to," "make one tired," "surest thing you know," and kindred expressions.—Indianapolis news.

Belts and Appendicitis.

The coming of summer temperatures finds the silk shirt and belt replacing the suspender and coat in men's apparel. Detroit contemporaries report that haberdashers of that city are much worried by the statement of an eminent physician that the belt is the patron saint and inciting cause of appendicitis. But even an appendicitis-haunted public must place a ban on the suspender for a man's trousers in the warm weather, when silk shirts are displayed at their best.

Dr. Mazyk P. Ravenel of the School of Medicine of Missouri University says there need be no fear about the wearing of the belt. He says an easy-fitting belt over the crest of the hips is in no way detrimental to mankind. The tight-fitting belt is relatively as harmful as the tight-fitting corset, disturbing blood circulation and the movement of the intestines. However, the man who is lucky enough to have a belt and a silk shirt can with all confidence and assurance wear them in these pleasant days and banish thoughts of appendicitis from his mind. And the haberdasher will not need to declare a sale on that important element of the summer costume of mankind.

Running a Newspaper.

Running a newspaper is just like running a hotel, only different. When a man goes to a hotel and finds something on the table which does not suit him, he does not raise hades with the landlord and tell him to stop his old hotel. Well, hardly. He sets that dish to one side and wades into the many dishes that suit him. It is different with some newspaper readers. They find an article occasionally that does not suit them exactly and without stopping to think it may please hundreds of other readers make a grandstand play and tell the editor how the paper should be run and what should be put into it. But such people are becoming fewer every year.—Wilson World.

INVESTIGATE "TRACK MEET."

Discipline Committee Checked up the Paddle Wielders Saturday.

The chief conspirators of the May Day "track meet" were called for a friendly conference with the chairman of the Discipline Committee Saturday. The rules of the College concerning hazing were fully explained and inerprted for their special benefit. Upon being questioned by a Collegian reporter, Professor Dickens, chairman of the committee, said as follows:

"If a freshman runs the gauntlet of his own free will, there is no way that I can see, of the committee stopping him. However, if he is forced to run the gauntlet or is dragged down the line, that constitutes hazing. If any such conduct is brought to the attention of the Committee, it will be dealt with according to the College rules."

The rule concerning hazing reads: "Any personal indignity or humiliation forcibly imposed on any student, or any act or conspiracy calculated to deprive him of his liberty, shall be constructed as hazing; and the penalty for hazing may be reprimand, deprivation of privileges, suspension, or even expulsion."

President Waters stated in an interview Tuesday evening that there is to be no hazing on the hill, and that all violations of the rule will be rigidly handled.

IS THE COLLEGE WATER GOOD?

Bacteriology Class This Week Discovers Large Number of Bacilli in Samples of Local Liquid.

In the general bacteriology class last week tests were made of the College water. Amounts of one cubic centimeter, five-tenths cubic centimeter, and one-tenth cubic centimeter were poured on agar plats and incubated. When the class held its second laboratory period Saturday, some surprise was manifested at the considerable growth that covered the previously sterile agar plate.

On one of the plates which was inoculated with one cubic centimeter of College water were 67 colonies of organisms. Of these ten were of the Bacillus Coli type. The Bacilli Coli are found commonly in sewage and as they resemble many disease germs, whenever the water is full of them it is taken that the water is unfit. "There should not be so many of these organisms," said Instructor Glasco, "four would have been a large number. The excess amount may have been caused by the high water."

"SHAKY" PROFESSORS RESPOND.

Sugest Valuable Additions to the "Do You Know Column."

Believing that their rights had been outraged, the members of the faculty ball team of last Friday have mailed the Collegian some additions to the "Do you know" column. The "Do you know's" as follows.

That in the recent May Day festivities, the "leans" were not content with the simple handicap of lack of flesh that stood in their favor, but that they also had nine men in the field to the "fat's eight, and that they obtained five innings at bat to the "fat's" four.

That the members of the "fats" object to the name of "Shaky old professors" (see Collegian), and insist that an expanded girth gives a solid substantial style of movement. They believe that even if the exterior quivers pronouncedly, the center of gravity is stationary.

That this stationary center of gravity is what produced the speed, grace and action of the losing nine.

ENGLISH BOYS MAY COME.

College is Highly Commended by London Magazine.

Students from Great Britian will soon be enrolled in the Kansas State Agricultural College, if advice given by the Colonizer, a London magazine, is taken by the English youth. There are now no students in the college whose homes are in England.

The current number of the paper runs a two page article on Kansas, devoting more than three-fourths of it to the College. The article is illustrated with a picture of Anderson hall, with a big group of students in front of the building.

The sweet toother College students ate $2785 worth of ice cream and sherbert this year. Every noon numbers go over to the dairy building and buy bottles of sterilized milk right off the ice, and paper plates of ice cream or sherbet. Little tin spoons are given out with the frozen mixture and students are required to pay for all botles they take out. The ice cream and sherbet made by the senior dairy classes; they have made ice cream, lacto, strawberry, lemon, and pineapple sherbert so far. The class is probably the best paying one in College.

JOIN BEEF AND BRAINS.

Strongest Man in College Has High Scholastic Record.

Who is the strongest man in College? This question always arises where there are several thousand husky farmer boys, each of whom is proud of his wheat pitching or corn plowing record. It is not a football player that is the strongest man, either. The strongest man in the College is a 19-year-old boy who is more noted for his attainments in scholarship than for the work he has done in athletics.

His physical measurements were taken in 1914, and again after a year's work in the gymnasium, in 1915. Working in the natural way under supervision, he made a remarkable gain in strength in several respects.

His development was due largely to his work in wrestling and class gymnasium work. In the second year he made his class football team. During the summer he worked through wheat harvest. His name is J. Paul Loomis. He has just gone to a claim in Saskatchewan, Canada, 50 miles from a railway. He will return and graduate next year.

Students Make Good Nurses.

When the mothers in Boston have keep a society engagement, they hire one of the students in the Carnegie Institute of Technology to rock the cradle and sing their babies to sleep that night. It has been found that a six foot, brawny engineer is much more soothing to the baby and has much more control over it than any French governess ever had. Several students are partially paying for their courses in this way.

SPANKING FRESHMEN.

The recent paddling activities which have taken up the attention of unwilling Freshmen recently are both good and bad. Good, because they mark a return of spirit and pep to the school. Bad, for if permitted to swing to the extremes, any roughneck gang can terrorize a neighborhood and with simpering hypricracy plead school spirit when pulled up on the the carpet. The best way to do is for the freshmen to wear the caps when the rules state. Any gang who paddles a freshman when he is not disobeying the rules may righteously be kicked out of school.

A STRONG ALUMNI.

In the closing hours of the 1915 class it is hoped that they will take action in building up a strong alumni association. The greatest drawback to the College has been the rope of sand which has held the alumni association together, causing them to do nothing positive for the benefit of their school. Only once, in 1909, when the engineering department was threatened, did they act effectively. At Michigan the alumni yearly contribute towards the support of the university, recently in the shape of a magnificent memorial building. It is not buildings that the College wants old graduates to give. It is young men and women of promise to attend school, to build up the athletic and mental standards o fthe College and to boost the youngest member of the Missouri Valley Conference to a place of highest distinction. Let the '15 classmen remember when they go out over the state.

GERMAN PUBLICITY.

The teutonic forces made their great blunder politically, not when they burned, murdered, and ravaged contrary to human laws, but when they permitted their idiotic news service to reach the outside world. After a short silence at the beginning of the war when the British seized their cables, they commenced sending wireless after wireless out telling about their wonderful victories. To date the Germans have told about nothing but victories.

On the other hand the British and French, nothwithstanding their strict censorship, have been sending out tales of defeats and pinches all the time, savored with a touch of "atrocities." We shall not find out the truth till after the war concerning the exact conditions in Europe, but it is eacy to see how the different methods of sending out news has impressed the whole world with the fact that the Teuton is cruel, bullheaded and bloodthirsty, and that the peaceloving British are fighting for their very existence.

We are making a specialty of laundering athletic clothing. Give us a trial. A. V. Laundry. Phone 701.

Finds Another German Atrocity.

"Ho, here!" ejaculated honest Farmer Bentover, who had encountered in the midst of his perusal of the village newspaper, one of the linotype's playful pranks. "The editor of the Weekly Palladium and Guardian of the Hearthstone says in an editorial here The Germans have proven themselves to be entirely vbgkqjxzfiflff? bgkqjfi bgkqj xzfiflffmfwyp xzfiflff bgkqzfi. For a spell I felt pretty chartible towards the Germans, but since the sinking of the Lucy Tanner I don't care what anybody says about em!"—K. C. Star.

One on the Wife.

"What's that piece of cord tied around your finger for?"

"My wife put it there to remind me to post a letter."

"And did you post it?"

"No; she forgot to give it to me."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Emporia Normal Biggest in U. S.

Ninety-eight counties of Kansas, thirteen other states and three foreign countries have furnished a total of 3,217 students to the Kansas State Normal school at Emporia during the year closing June 1. This is the largest enrollment in the fifty years' history of the school, and is believed to be the largest normal enrollment in the country. It exceeds last year's figures by 400.

Of these 3217 students, 1,753 are of college rank; 768 are in the Normal Training high school; 200 are correspondence students; eighty-six irregular and special; 274 in the Training school; and 274 in the School of music. Deducting 117 names repeated, the total is 3,217.

Appreciative.

Two country darkies listened, awestruck, while some planters discussed the tremendous range of the new German guns.

"Dar, now," exclaimed one negro, when his master had finished expatiating on the hideous havoc wrought by a 42-centimeter shell, "jes' lak I bin' tellin' yo' niggehs al de time! Don' les' have no guns lak dem roun' heah! Why, us niggehs could start runnin' erway—run all day, git almos' home free, an' den git kilt jus' befo' suppah!"

"Dat's de trufe," assented his companion, "an' lemme tell yo' sumpin' else, Bo. All dem guns needs is jus' yo' address, dat's all; jes' giv'em de address, an' they'll git yo'."—Everybody's.

Mark Set by Normal's 'Sunflower.'

The fiftieth anniversary of the Kansas State Normal school at Emporia is unusually well commemorated by the student annual, the Sunflower. In addition to a large amount of space devoted to the student and faculty activities of the big teachers' instiution, the Sunflower is a semi-centennial record. It is dedicated in Honor of the school's first president, Lyman Beetcher Kellogg, who next Wednesday will deliver the commencement address to a class of 333 students.

College Girls Make Good Wives.

Alice V. Waite, Dean and Professor of English at Wellesley College, admits that college girls are slow to marry and do not have many children, but defends them otherwise. She says

"The girls of today is not marrying young because she does not have to marry in order to exist. She is capable of earning her own living and in many cases a better living than a husband could provide.

"The college graduate is a splendid home maker. This is proved by the fact that one seldom hears of a Wellesley girl procuring a divorce. You will find that the average woman of today has but one child. If our college woman averages two children she has more than the average. It is better to raise one healthy child and give it the proper training and attention than to raise four and neglect all.

'When a college girl receives her degree she is about twenty-two. She has passed the romantic period when most marriages that turn out to be unsuccessful are made. She has a mental poise that wil save her from an unfortunate aliances and she will select her mate intelligently."

Secret Practice.

The Japanese taught the civilized world the value of concealing military maneuvers in the Russo-Japanese War. The rigid censorship which prevails over all news from the European battle front is too well known to need comment. But it has remained for the university crew management to develop this policy to its apex by placing an absolute ban on all communications from the water front. Just what can be gained by this policy is not clear to the Crimson. Crew is not a sport in which trick formations or changed line-ups can be utilized to baffle an opponent.

The Boston papers are bound to print the news of some kind concerning the crews. If misrepresentation occurs, the management has no one to blame but itself. Moreover, it is only fair to those who are interested followers and supporters of the university oarsmen that they be kept informed as far as possible of their development. The crews have nothing to fear from publicity.—Harvard Crimson.

A Metro feature in five parts with a cast of two hundred players, staring S. Miller Kent in "The Cowboy and the Lady." WHEN THE COLLEGE WAS YOUNG Illinois Has Croquet Court.

Ring Lardner's dream of an Illinois championship in parchesi may not be a thing so far off, judging from the trend that university athletics are taking, for Ilinois now has a varsity croquet court, and it is only natural to suppose that a varsity croquet team will follow.

The introduction of croquet is something of an experiment, and for that reason only one court is being put in at this time. If the game proves popular more courts may be built next year.

Breaks Basketball Record.

In the annual track and field meet of Lake Erie College a few days ago, Miss Frances Lungerhausen broke the world's record in basketball throw. She hurled the ball 65 feet 5 1-4 inches, breaking her own record of 62 feet 10 inches.

Another co-ed record was made recently by Emma Foster, a freshman at Ohio Wesleyan who tossed the base ball 179 feet, which is ten feet better than the former world record.

K. U. Squad to Big Meet.

William Oliver Hamilton is going to take four of his cinder artists from the University of Kansas to Urbana, Ill., Thursday night to compete with the class of the west in the Western Conference meet on Friday and Saturday. Reber, Gutzmacher, Grady and Rodkey are the ones chosen from the squad to represent Kansas.

Bonnie Reber easily won the shot put at the Missouri meet this year and a comparison of his records with those of the other shot putters of the west leads Coach Hamilton to believe that Reber should place well. Grutzmacher has shown some classy broad jumping the last part of the season and has been beaten only by the Missouri star, Simpson. However, Simpson took second to Grutzmacher in the dual meet on McCook Field and Hamilton is optimistic enough to believe that the Kansan can even beat Simpson this week.

Simpson will enter the hurdle races and the braod jump; Floyd, the pole vault; Daggy, the low hurdles; Kline, the two-mile run; Niedorp, the 440-yard dash, and Warren and Drumm, the shot put and discus throw. The mile relay team will be made up of Niedorp, Murphy, Wyatt and Eaton.

Ten University of Missouri track athletes will enter the Western Conference Meet at University of Illinois, at Urbana, Saturday.

One Hundred Six Aggies Work for The College—Do Everything From Pushing Lawn Mowers to Acting as Student Pastors.

The average senior who receives spent in his senior year $319. One senior who will have spent more than any of the others required $630, or $17 a week for his senior year. These figures are based upon statements made by 50 seniors to Dr. J. V. Cortelyou, professor of German, who has conducted an investigation in the cost of obtaining an education in the college. Three hundred eighteen freshmen report that they spend an average of $288 ayear.

Professor Sortelyou received reports from a total of 970 students. Of this number 234 suported themselves entirely, 311 partly supported themselves, and only 396 were entirely dependent upon their parents for a college education. Of the 234 who supoprted themselves wholly by their own efforts, 22 earned enough money before coming to college to carry them through the year, 87 saved enough from work through vacation, and 137 worked while in school. Only six borrowed money to carry them through their college year.

Of the 311 who are partly self-suporting, seven had savings to draw upon, an the rest worked in the college year. The kinds of work done by the students at the college range from tending furnace and waiting table to acting as student pastor.

One hundred six students report that they were employed by departments of the college. By far the largest number, 37, were employed on the janitor force. Of the students who were working for board and room, 81 earned all, and 14 part, of their room rent. Ten earned their board and 23 reported that they earned part of their board. Of all the students who earned their expenses wholly or part, 347 did not work for their room while 311 did not work for their board. Those who worked at the college by the hour report that the wages paid ranged from 15 to 20 cents for all kinds of work except stenographic work and employment as draftsmen or student assistants. The 970 students earned a total of $36,584.75 during the year.

Thirty students reported that they spent nothing for amusements, such as picture shows, lyceum numbers, dances, and other parties. The average spent for amusements is shown by this report ts $3.25 a term for each student.

Six hundred twenty-six students averaged payment of $3.66 a week for board, the lowest report for board being $1 a week. Room rent averages $5 a month for 669 students where two are in a room and $5.50 for 104 who occupy single rooms.

This report shows that student expenses at the colege are much below those of the average educational institution. A larger proportion of rertinote-),.'*1234567890$..12345h1234 the students are working their way through school, wholly or in part, than in many universities and colleges.

The report is based upon 970 students, and if the entire student body of 3,200 had been canvassed approximately the same ratio would probably have been maintained. Approximately 60 per cent of the students are working their way either wholly or in part.

Summer Baseball.

In an editorial entitled "Why Not Play Summer Baseball?" the editor of the Daily Maroon, the University of Chicago student publication, declares that he thinks the summer baseball rule is ridiculous, and believes that the attitude adopted by Chicago, as well as most of the other representative universities, is characteristic of the false position athletics have obtained in the colleges.

The object of athletics, as the Midway editor sees it, should be to furnish a means of healthy exercise for the students, and intercolegiate contests should not have the place they now have of being "great gladiatorial spectacles." Amateurs, according to the writer, should be men who are not making athletics a business whether they are paid for it or not.

"If a man receives money in the summer for playing baseball, the editor continues, "we ought to be glad that many men may turn their athletic ability to account to pay their way through the university. It is largely probable that he may enter some college sport for the pure fun of it or the exercise. The only difference between the college amateur and professional athletes is that in the colleges the men are willing to work without being paid.

"The other objection is the fault of the system, which we are not making valiant efforts to stop, even while we are favoring petty summer baseball rules—a system of athletics, attended by pomp and display, which sheds story within the walls of the university on the players and which has its appeal in the spectacular interest rather than in the sincere purpose originally the basis of intercollegiate sport."

MEET CLEARED $700.

Surplus Divided Among Teams for Traveling Expenses.

The Missouri Valley Conference Track and Field meet yielded $700 above running expenses. This is a greater surplus than the meet has ever given before. The gross gate receipts were $1,004.50. This is larger than the receipts at any meet in St. Louis and has been exceeded only one year at Des Moines. The attendance, the managers say, was not so large as it would have been with warmer and fairer weatehr.

With the receipts not much different from the average, the expenses were cut down considerably, leaving the large surplus. The expenses counted out of the gross receipts is for medals, payment of officials and necessary supplies.

The surplus above expenses is apportioned to the visiting teams in proportion to the number of men in each and the distance they traveled. The surplus this year will just aboutut pay the traveling expenses of all the teams.

Sigma Nu 4; Aztex 3.

The best Pan-Hell baseball game of the year was staged Monday afternoon when the Sigma Nu met the Aztex. Neither of these teams had been defeated so far this season and their chances were equally good toward winning the contested cup. The Sigma Nu started the ball rolling in the first inning by getting one run but the Aztex came back with three in the last half. Following this spurt both teams settled and played air tight ball. However, things picked up in the beginning of the sixth and the Bluemont gang gained three more scores. After this neither team was able to score.

The Betas are the only team that the Sigma Nus have to play and they have been beaten by the Aztex. This throws all the dope in favor of the latter team and if they do win the last game the cup will become the permanent property of this fraternity.

The score by innings:

Sigma Nu	100 003 0—4
Aztex	300 000 0—3

SENIORS BANQUET IN GYM.

Toastmaster Is Kidnapped and Forced to Abstain from Feed—Serve Five Course Luncheon to Seniors.

The senior banquet and dance came off in due form Thursday evening and with a hitch here and there was a success.

There was present a small crowd possibly due to the short time allowed to get dates and to the insufficient advertisement of the affair. As the evening passed it was noticed that Lorenzo B. Mann, toastmaster for the evening, was the one thing lacking, having been kidnapped by "ruffians" and chucked into a car for a joy ride. J. W. Linn rose to the occasion.

A five course dinner was served by the ladies of the Presbyterian church. The toasts: "Alma Mater" Miss Amy Gould; "K. S. A. C. Alumni," Prof. Albert Dickens; "Associations," Prof. H. L. Kent; "The Alumni Association and Athletics," President Waters; "The Advantage of a Strong Alumni Association," D. L. Irwin.

Dean and Mrs. W. M. Jardine and Prof. and Mrs. M. F. Ahearn were the chaperones. After the banquet the seniors danced from 10:30 to 1 o'clock.

COLLEGE ENDS WEDNESDAY

EXODUS OF STUDENTS FOR HOME WILL START IMMEDIATELY AFTER FIVE O'CLOCK JUNE 16 WHEN CLASSES END.

ROOKIES HOLD OVER A DAY

Military Department Will Stage Annual Sham Battle on Commencement Afternoon—Juniors are Only Men Who Can Leave Early.

The last class for spring term of 1915 will end at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

The next train will carry a crowd of students to their homes and the exodus will be well under way by Thursday morning. By Friday the campus will be deserted except for summer school students who will number about 500.

Practically though, the only people free to leave Wednesday will be the undergraduate girls in domestic science, and the junior men. All the sophomores and freshmen men will be drafted for a day to perform in the graduation day parade and the senior men will be leaving via the sheepskin route, so probably there will not be an unusual number leave on Wednesday.

HAND OUT FAKE INFORMATION.

Miss Iris Russell Denies Ever Signing to Pitch.

The following letter was received at the Collegian office yesterday. The story which ran last week was handed us by the management of the baseball team.

Editor, Kansas State Collegian,
Manhattan, Kansas.

Dear Sir:

In your last issue of the Collegian, you ran an article saying I was to pitch in a semi-pro game between the Buffalo bloomer team and a second team. This is entirely without foundation. I have not signed to pitch with any team and am not playing professional ball of any descripttion. As a former student, I think it is due me that a correcttion be run in the Collegian immediately.

Yours truly,
IRIS RUSSELL.

WHAT THE ALUMNI REMEMBER.

ON THE FIELD NEXT YEAR.

When the new football coach, whoever he may be, calls out the 1915 squad eight letter men and six men from the 1914 reserve ranks will form the roster. The veterans are: Captain Skinner, Bert Barnes, Haucke, Hartwig, Wilder, Bernard, Wright, and Bayer. The reserves are: Henderson, P. Barnes, Slattery, Cleland, Englund, and Moore.

The rudimentary weakness for the new mentor to overcome will be finding a satisfactory pilot. There seems to be enough other material at hand to turn out a classy defensive and offensive aggregation if a fast, snappy leader can be unearthed. The only material from which a quarterback can be developed is coming from last year's freshmen. O'Sullivan, former St. Marys quarter is a likely candidate for the berth. His work with the Catholics in 1913 was creditable. Turner, another tyro from the 1914 yearlings, is speedy and is said to possess a good head,

The 1915 team will be light in comparison with teams of the last four years. Coxen, Marble, and Scanlan, will not be seen in the line next year. For centers the new coach will have "Rastus" Wright, Edwards, and Cleland, to work on. Edwards showed class with the yearlings team two years ago when by hurdling tactics he effectively blocked the majority of the varsity's plays in every scrimmage with the freshmen. Cleland has been on the reserve list two years and Wright's work needs no comment.

Bert Barnes, Haucke, Hartwig, and Henderson will form the lineup of old backfield material. Cawkins, Harwood, S. E. Barnes, and P. Barnes, are new men trying out for the positions. Enlow, Wilder, Bernard, Borthwick, Baird, Ptacek, Randel, and Slattery, will be candidates for end positions.

Captain Skinner will play one end of the line and the fight for the other berth will be torrid. Randels, of dare-devil fame on the 1913 Southwestern aggregation, bids fair to be be close to the top of the list. Slattery also is aggressive and his playing will claim recognition. Ptacek is a husky lad and fairly fast. He should show up well and all the way round the ends look to be the fastest lot assembled for the start of an Aggie season in years.

Barring "Rastus" Wright there is no veteran material at hand for the tackle positions. "Dutch" Hewey, famous as a bruiser on the 1914 stripplings organization, is a strong contender, and Doderill, Franz, Giles, and Hine, are all good men who will demand notice.

Bayer is the only "K" guard left to the squad and with Moore, England, Sawyer, and Drumm, will form the nucleus from which the new instructor will build his defense.

Six letter men will answer the call for basketball workouts in 1916. Headed by Captain Adams they are: Ramsey, guard: Reynolds, forward; MacMillan, guard; Leonard, center; and McIlrath, center. From the freshman team comes Van Trine, a forward and probably the best of the stripplings. Randel, a former Southwestern College all-around athlete, will try out for the pivot position. Gunning, a two-year reserve player will contest for one of the guard positions.

With this layout Coach Carl J. Merner will again strive to deliver a team that will rank favorably in the Valley lists. Although the 1916 schedule has not been made out it is safe to say that the Aggies will meet almost the same teams that they did during the last season. Missouri, Washington, Kansas, Ames, Nebraska, Emporia Normals, Haskell, and several other prominent fives will be played.

An even dozen veterans will face the gun at the start of the 1916 track season. They will be Frizzell, Vandenberg, Wilder, Teeter, Weaver, Osborne, Holroyd, Granfield, Essick, Crumbacker, Edwards, and Seeber. These wil be bolstered by Foreman, freshman 2-miler; Enlow, all-around; Randel, sprints and broad jump; Warner, miler: and Turner, quarter-miler.

The '16 team appears weak only in the weight events. Randel has a mark of 23 feet in the running broad jump and Turner is capable of making 53 in the 440 sprint and is equally fast over the short distances. Enlow will probably throw the discus. Apparent weakness in the hurdles will cause Coach Merner to shift Wilder to the hurdle events next season. The track mentor figures Wilder capable of good time over the sticks.

Coach Lowman will have eleven baseball veterans to open the 1916 season's workouts. They are: Hauke, Reynolds, McGalliard, McMillan, Hodson, Ferrier, Denman, Frank, Brodle, Harvey, and Freeman. The following men from this spring's freshman team will be candidates: Hewey, Brecheisen, Scott, McLeod, Miller, Slattery, DuBois, Grubb, Gaiser, Davies, and Hine.

Hodgson has one more season and will be on hand to do his share of the mound work with Ferrier, Hewey, Scott, and Brecheisen, form additional heaving material from the sttripplings. Hewey "holds something" and is billed to get away good. Scott is a likely left-hander. Newton needs no introduction to the following in the local sporting fraternity. He is regarded as one of the most dangerous clouters in this section of the baseball sphere. Van Trine is a nifty infielder as is also Grubb, a clever performing initial sacker. McLeod cracks the ball on the nose and fields with fair accuracy.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN.

VOLUME 21. NUMBER 71. KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 16, 1915. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

MUSICAL COMEDY IS TONIGHT

PIRATES OF PENZANCE IS THE BILL FOR TONIGHT AT THE AUDIORIUM AT 8:15 O'CLOCK; EXPECT LARGE CROWD.

IS THE SECOND PERFORMANCE

Same Cast and Same Scenery Plus Much Rehearsal—Large Crowd if Commencement Visitors Expected to Gilbert and Sullivan Show.

The final bow of the music department wil be made tonight at the second performance of the "Pirates of Penzance."

The cast of the play is the same with the exception of Ray Whitenack who is in Colorado. The prices for this evening are twenty-five cents instead of the four bits of last May. First curtain comes at 8:15 o'clock.

The story of the pirates is a quaint little English tale in which with true English stolidity a mix-up in apprenticing occurs and a little boy is bound to a pirate for an education. As his birthday falls on leap year more complications occur, yet the curtain falls on the final chorus with everything happy and blithesome. The play is as good as the Mikado or Pinafore and is just as spirited.

It is the farewell production of Prof. Olaf Valley who will leave for Minnesota this summer and make his home there.

LIKED THE QUESTION PLAY.

"What Hapened to Jones" Drew a Large Crowd Last Night.

The play whose name is a question drew a large crowd at the auditorium last night and the building was full to capacity. The play was lively, light and interesting and had plenty of snap and ginger. The three prominent characters, Mr. Little, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Coith were equally good and caused several enthusiasts to pound their gloves to ribbons. A large number of old graduates and relatives were present.

SENIORS ON HIKE TODAY.

Have Gone to Eureka Lake for Recreation and Rest.

The senior class hiked to Eureka Lake this morning for a farewell picnic. They caught the 6 o'clock car and were last seen moving towards Yuma street.

1915 Class Gives Prophesy and Will in chapel on Tuesday; Edna Barber and M. P. Goudy Talked.

The senior class had charge of the last chapel of the year Tuesdayt morning. About one-half of the class sat on the stage wearing their robes while the other half fanned themselves among the audience. The senior president, Don Irwin, had charge and the class prophecy was given by Miss Edna Barber. Most of the seniors were hit by the prophesy or will which was given by M. P. Goudy. The good deeds of the departing class were held up before the undergraduates' eyes and commented upon favorably. This was the second appearance of the class as a body wearing robes.

WILL HAVE PLENTY OF CARS.

THE ROYAL PURPLE IS OUT

VOLUME VII MAKES UP FOR ITS LATE APPEARANCE BY UP-TO-THE-MINUTE PHOTOGRAPHS AND DOPE.

ARE ON SALE IN MAIN HALL

Supply of Cloth Bound Copies is Exhausted But Many Leather Covered Books May Be Had—Is Best Advertiesment College Ever Had.

The advance guard of Royal Purple VII arrived Saturday and by today the entire supply of cloth bound copies has been exhausted or checked out. Leather editions may be had in Main hall until the last copy is sold.

The new classbook is equalled in printing only by the 1911 book, and has a size and dignity which surpasses many of the big eastern annuals. Every page is a specimen of three color printing and there is a number of color plates at the heads of divisions which are unusually fine. The opening pages of the volume are exquisitely hand lettered and there is an expensive portrait of Dean Jardine to whom the book is dedicated, by a prominent Kansas City artist.

The senior pages balance by openings instead of pages and every picture is true and clear. The juniors have smaller pictures and the sophomores has still further reduced halftones. The freshman class picture possibly represents one-fifth of the class.

As in last year's the athletes have individual pictures and there are many graflex pictures of the games. Somewhere the committee dug up old time photographs of the military department in the early days when the men wore blue uniforms and flat front caps. The military department has about 16 pages.

The book is divided according to the departments on the hill with a picture of each head and a short synopsis of the work which eash is doing.

Among the organizations several new ones appear, namely Xix, Sigma Delta Chi, Omicron Nu, Pi Beta Phi, and the Agricultural society.

The class book is a credit to the class and the institution and is fully equal to that of Michigan, Cornell, West Point, etc. Although it is late the pictures in it are late and up to the minute.

There is to be a conference of the educators of the state, under the auspices of the department of education, immediately after Commencement. The conference will begin on Friday, and will continue till Saturday evening.

Dr. Charles Allen Prosser, who will deliver the Commencement address on Thursday, will be in charge of the conference. The meeting is unique in that no definite program has been arranged. The work will consist of a general discussion of the problems which confront teachers in Kansas.

More than fifty men and women from the schools of the state are expected to attend. Representatives of high schools, the state normal school, and different colleges, have signified their intention of being present at the conference.

Dr. Prosser is the director of the William Hood Dunwoody Industrial Institute of the City of Minneapolis, and is one of the foremost educators of the United States.

The conference sessions will probably be held in the auditorium, though the definite details of place have not yet been arranged. The department of education believes itself fortunate in having secured Dr. Prosser for the meeting.

U., open to the amateurs of the world, and the Junior National, open to men who have not won in the senior event. The Missouri men are eligible to compete in all three meets.

Teams Elect Captains.

At a meeting of the track team last Saturday "Duroc" Frizzell was elected captain for the season of 1916. This will be Frizzel's last year on the team and it is right that he should have this position. He is a man who has worked hard to make himself a place on the team and will do well as captain.

Reynolds has been elected to captain the 1916 baseball team. Reynolds has proven himself a good athlete both in basketball and baseball and deserves the honor given him by the baseball captaincy.

TALKS TO SENIORS SUNDAY

GEORGE L. ROBINSON, DEAN OF McCORMICK THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY GIVES THE BACCALAUREATE SERMON LAST SUNDAY.

FULL HOUSE HEARS ADDRESS

Says Agricultural Prosperity Will Follow the Spread of the Gospel—Comments on Two Aggie Graduates Studying for Ministry.

Agricultural prosperity will follow the spread of the gospel. This was the theme of the baccalaureate address delivered by George L. Robinson, dean of McCormick Theological seminary before the 300 seniors at the Kansas State Agricultural College o Sunday. Twenty-five hundred people crowded the auditorium.

"'Abundance of grain'—I am arrested by that phrase. When the kingdom really comes will there be an abundance of grain? Will famine cease? This seems to me," said Doctor Robinson, "to be the psalmist's thought. The words, abundance of grain, express faith, vision, insight, judgment, imagination, and perfection. All great leaders and thinkers possess these attributes. The failure of many is due to a lack of them.

"Be ever occupied, be doing something," advised Doctor Robinson to the seniors, "have a definite purpose and never give up until you have realized your purpose, make the motto of the seal of the state of Kansas yours, 'Through the stars through difficulties,' be content with your lot, do not hurry, have faith, cultivate gratitude, be always ready to defend a good cause, be generous and sincere, and try to ever do good.

"I covet some of you for the ministry," said Doctor Robinson. "During the past year or two this school has given McCormick seminary two men who have graduated from the school. Both were christians of the princely type. I covet some of you, whom God is perhaps still calling, to go as agriculturists and engineers and practiced economists to the great destitute and uncultured regions of the world. The nations, dying of physical as well as spiritual hunger, need you."

PREPARE A "BONER'S" LIBRARY.

Many of the young men will use the list during the coming summer. Included among the recommended books are works of poetry, fiction, drama, biography, history and science.

Sigma Nu Wins Trophy.

The Sigma Nu baseball team played their last game of the season Monday and defeated the Betas by a score of 12 to 3. The winning of this game gave the Sigma Nu team the Pan-Hel championship with a standing of one thousand per cent. They will become permanent owners of the contested cup.

Although both teams played good ball, the game Monday was slow. Hewey and Van Tryne each pitched a good game.

The score by innings:

Sigma Nu	118 110 0—12
Beta	001 110 0— 3

Batteries: Hewey and Sherwood; VanTryne and Ptacek. Umpire, Ray Pollom.

SENDNG ATHLETES TO COLLEGE.

The College in the past has had fair success in athletics; in the future athletics on the same basis will be a losing game as the Missouri Valley conference puts the Aggies in a class which is the best in the west. No more will the Aggies rant over a diminutive victory in a state meet but will send their athletes against record-breakers from the north and east and—lose if unprepared. It is perfectly logical that we should enter faster company as the school has grown in the past ten years to the university class. No more wil the Aggies win from smaler schools by sheer numbers. The Kansas conference is outgrown and as we are now in Rome we should pursue the course of the original Romans and install the same systems as have the Cornhuskers or Missouri and get results from the raw material that surrounds the school. The athletic department has had successful seasons with the basketball, track and baseball teams. but how long will this success keep up if we keep letting star high school athletes slip away to eastern schools? The Aggies had a chance to get Collier, the Marquette sprinter but loafed on the job. Rodkey of Kansas was passed up although every path led toward the Aggie college. It was the same way with the star Chinese pitcher who attended school here a few years ago. These boneheads are of local origin, but the College expects you alumni coming back this week for commencement to give the schoof pointers on high school stars who are coming. This way, and this way only, is the method by which we may turn out wonderful teams as the other Missouri Valley schools are doing.

THE NEW CLASSBOOK.

The Royal Purple of the 1915 class is without doubt one of the most finished publications ever put out by any graduating body. From the handsome cover to the last advertisement in the back there is all the finish and tone that ever graced a Yale or Harvard annual. The book is dedicated to Dean Jardine. The photographs are unusually good with the exception of the snap shot section which is ordinary. There are clear sharp photos of every organization on the hill, the three upper classes are portrayed, and every page is an example of three color work. The editors and business managers have delivered the best advertisement of the College ever put out.

TO THE '15 CLASS.

If the departing class could run, it ought to be placed in the 440-yard class; run as hard as they can for half the way and sprint the other half. Perfectly ordinary race for two-thirds of the stretch; but the final terrific sprint is interesting as the class is putting everything it has into the race. In the matter of classbook dancing, and pushing the pep supply the seniors have shown distinct innovations. True, there has not been so many distinctive members as previous classes have possessed, but the fourth-year men have acted together and with so little dissention that the results have been equal.

The departing class ought somewhere on the campus to erect a little something that will call into the minds of future students the fact that their paths were walked by bygone classes. There are few things which create more academic atmosphere than the date of a bygone class cut in some mossy old stone shaded by the branches of cypress or oak and revealing to the world the story of an almost forgotten class. While the memorial need not be expensive there should be something to leave to future classmen.

DO YOU KNOW?

That after four years in college, fully one half the seniors have the idea that the professors are their worst enemies?

What tall, auburn haired girl asked a friend to take her out to the rifle range where she could do a little shooting with some high power rifles?

That the mother of one of our sweet girl graduates is a very talented woman and conducts a department in the Ladies Home Journal?

Sim Brocton, who graduates this spring, says, "I wouln't mind wearing them so much if they were a few pockets in the gown and I could ever feel sure the cap was on straight."

That one member of the Class of '15 made a vow, more than a year ago, that he would not sit on the wall in front of the court house as long as he was a student at K. S. A. C. and it looks he will make his word good, too?

That the cops are going to nab a bunch of honorable professors for riding on the sidewalks on Fairchild street if they don't look out?

Simpson Brocton, while he does not have much use for the ladies, manages to keep pretty close tab on the latest styles and he has dubbed the ribbons that so many of the weaker sex are wearing around their heads 'a la Isador Duncan' as the head ache bands.

That we heard that the young ladies were all wearing pajamas this spring and when we asked one of the popular down town clerks he said he could not help us but he had noticed that a good many of them had been making purchases for their brothers lately.

Did you ever notice the boards that are nailed to some of the electric light poles in different parts of town and wonder just what idea the electric light company had in mind when it placed them there? There are at least eight of them in Manhattan and each one deflects the rays of light from a cosy porch swing. After all it is not so much a question of who nailed the boards to the poles, for by walking by the houses between 7:30 and 8:00 on a date night you can easily locate the guilty parties but we are more interested in learning the time when the deed was committed. It would take plenty of nerve to do it in the day time and the street lights burn all night but then they say, "Love laughs at locksmiths."

That we are reminded of a certain young swain, who had a violent quarrel with his lady-love and when he discovered another paying his devotions at this sacred alter, was mean enough to tear down the board that he had so laborously placed on the pole onl a few short months before.

That rumor has it that change mentioned above is due to the presence of the little love germ?

That one young man who has come in for his share of publicity from the Spotlight feels that he has evened things up now? He bet $5 that the editors of the sheet lacked the nerve required to attach their names to the publication, and he won.

That in a write-up of a certain social function recently handed in by a sorority girl, at least one-half of the words was capitalized?

What dignified senior with a fair sister by his side, and clad in the regal robes, became so fussed that he attempted to ttip his mortar-board?

Why the attendance at the senior banquet was so slim?

That a certain sorority girl always drops her very dear friends about examination time and begins to cultivate a different group, a crowd much better fitted to give her a boost over the last barriers?

That it is a good thing that another maiden is graduating this spring for every prof. on the Hill is getting tired of that old, old bluff she has handed out when called on for a recitation? More than likely you have heard it, too—"Well, I did not get so very much out of that article, professor."

What three seniors ate their share of the banquet Thursday evening in a room over three blocks from the campus?

A SQUINT AT THE LIBRARY.

Who stole the Eta Beta Pi sign last week and then got afraid and sneaked it back a few nights later?

What certain sorority freshman is so interested in a dark haired chemistry Prof. here that she even dreams about him.

That one of the fellows who finishes his work this spring has not made a single date during all his stay on the Hill?

Which one of the senior Vets is going to disapprove the saying that "A prophet is without honor in his own country," for he expects to practice in his home town?

What fraternity man is so awkward that he poured a milk chocolate down his front in Harrison's Saturday afternoon?

Beta German.

The Beta Theta Pi fraternity will give their annual German Wednesday evening in Elks' hall. The hall will be decorated in pink and blue and garden flowers. The chaperones will be Dean and Mrs. W. M. Jardine, Prof. and Mrs. H. H. King, Prof. and Mrs. J. D. Walters, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McCampbell, and Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Smith.

Looks for Athletes.

Heber Ellis, alumni athletic manager of DePauw university, will spend most of the summer visiting prospective students of DePauw who have good athletic records in high schools. According to Ellis he has a line on high school men throughout the state who intend to enter DePauw in September and it is believed that the Methodists will be strong contenders for honors in every branch of athletics next summer.

Professionalism at Michigan.

Charges were made recently before the board in control of the University of Michigan athletics, charging four varsity baseball players with professionalism and attacking Director of Athletics P. G. Bartelme on the ground that the latter had assited players in concealing their professionalism. The players named in the charge are Captain McQueen, McNamara, Malty, and, Sheehy. Director Bartelme brands the charges as absolutely untrue. The board in control has appointed a committee to investigate them. The affair is the result of activity on the part of so-called student "athletic purity committee."

Secret Practice to be Ended.

Secret football practice in the Big Nine will practically be abolished by the edict of the faculty representative of the Conference who met at Urbana.

Beginning next fall no Conference team may hold more than two secret practices weekly. This is believed to be the first move in the campaign to do away with secrecy altogether.

The attitude of the conference is that secret practice is more or less ridiculous as it imputes to the schools a desire to take advantage of each other by sending emissaries to secure p... lays and signals.

It Was a Good Thing

"Excuse me, madam," said the gent, addressing the lady who answered his knock, "but I should like to show you a little device that I am introducing. All you have to do is simply place it in your refrigerator and it will save half the ice."

"Indeed!" exclaimed the lady. "And do you guarantee it to save half the ice?"

"Certainly, madam," he replied.

"Then why don't you boost your business by offering two of them to prospective customers?" queried the wise female. "If one saves half the ice, two would save it all."—Indianapolis Star.

Nothing Doing.

"Mama," called 4-year-old Harold from the nursery, "please come and sit by my bed until I go to sleep."

"Mamma's busy now," was the reply. "Keep quiet and the angels will be with you."

"You said that before, mama," rejoined Harold, "and I have kept quiet ever so long, but not a blamed angel has showed up."—Indianapolis Star.

Almost.

The quarter-miler neared the tape,
And then, as if by chance,
A button on his track suit broke,
And made him lose his—race.

WESTERNERS HAVE RECORDS.

Outclass Eastern Track Men in Seven Events at Urbana.

Following the record breaking performances of western college athletes in the fifteenth annual outdoor track and field meet of the Western Intercollegiate Athletic Association at Urbana Saturday, a comparison of these performances with those of the eastern intercollegiate meet shows that the west excels in seven of the thirteen events, while the eastern stars are superior in six.

Undoubtedly this is the first time athletes of the Big Nine have registered better performances than the men of the cast. There have been times when the west was as low as two events behind the eastern cracks, but this year the goal of western performers was reached.
